HERRINGSHAW'S

ENCYCLOPEDIA OF

MERICAN BIOGRAPHY

OF THE

NINETEENTH CENTURY.

ACCURATE AND SUCCINCT BIOGRAPHIES OF

OUS MEN AND WOMEN IN ALL WALKS OF LIFE WHO ARE OR HAVE BEEN THE ACKNOWLEDGED LEADERS OF LIFE AND THOUGHT OF THE UNITED STATES SINCE ITS FORMATION, ENTIRELY COVERING THE FIELD OF LITERATURE, SCIENCE, HISTORY, POLITICS, COMMERCE, AND TH MECHANICAL AND INDUSTRIAL ARTS.

ILLUSTRATED WITH PORTRAITS.

EDITED AND COMPILED UNDER THE SUPERVISION OF

THOMAS WILLIAM HERRINGSHAW,

HOME OCCUPATIONS, PROMINENT MEN AND WOMEN OF THE DAY, AIDS TO LITERARY SUCCESS MULIEROLOGY LOCAL AND NATIONAL POETS OF AMERICA, AND OTHER WORKS

ASSISTED BY A CORPS OF WELL KNOWN WRITERS

BUT THERE ARE [illegible]S WHICH SHALL NOT PASS AWAY,
AND NATURE'S THINGS [illegible]ST NOT WITHER, THOUGH THE EARTH
FORGHER FACES WITH A JUST DECAY. . . . BYRON.

CHICAGO, ILL.:
AMERICAN PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION.
1907.

E165
.A5G7
Copy 2

PREFACE.

The Nineteenth Century has been a period of activity and of hitherto unparalleled achievements that have been manifested, especially in America, by the great progress made in every line of human effort. And now that this wonderful era has drawn to a close, the time was ripe, before the passage of years had worn off the sharpness of impressions, to collect and perpetuate the names and deeds of those who merit commemoration.

In the conception of Herringshaw's Encyclopedia of American Biography, we have been influenced chiefly by the knowledge that although nearly every nation has its own Encyclopedia of Biography, the United States has not produced one distinctively its own. In all Encyclopedias of American Biography so much space has been given to extended biographies, and so much to noted men of foreign countries, that to make room for them the publishers have entirely ignored the biographies of thousands of noted American Authors, Poets, Journalists, Publishers, Clergymen, Reformers, Educators, Lecturers, Lawyers, Jurists, Soldiers, Statesmen, Musicians, Singers, Painters, Sculptors, Scientists, Philosophers, Inventors, Explorers, Successful Merchants, Manufacturers and Builders, and men and women in all walks of life, who are worthy of representation in a work of this character.

An Encyclopedia of American Biography that contains the names of but one-half of the noted personages of the United States is as inadequate to meet public requirements as a dictionary would be that contained but one-half the words of the English language. Neither is a ponderous work of several volumes suitable for the general use of the public. Hence, taking all these things into consideration, there was an open field for this work; and the close of the Nineteenth Century made the time an especially appropriate and auspicious one for its publication.

What was wanted was an Encyclopedia of American Biography that would be a standard book of biographical reference for the American people, as Webster's Unabridged Dictionary is a standard on Orthography—accurate, concise and complete. Accordingly, the design of this work has been to give in one volume a manual of reference containing in a condensed form appropriate notices of all persons who have risen to any considerable degree of prominence. Although ostensibly the work was to be confined to biographies of noted men and women who are living or have lived in the Nineteenth Century, it has been given a wider scope, in order to make it more complete, by including all the more distinguished personages from the earliest settlement of the United States.

The most attractive form of history is biography, which perpetuates the memory of individuals, and, while aptly illustrating the conduct of life, conveys important lessons. History, it has been well said, does not much regard fertile soil or material wealth; but the admirable men and women that a country produces—they are the glory of the country. In every city, town and village are men and women of character and influence, who have contributed by their enterprise and thrift, by their activity and sagacity in business, their zeal in educational, in religious, and in political matters, to the moral and spiritual advancement as well as to the material prosperity of the community in which they live.

What man has done man may do. Biographies of representative people, intimately connected with the development of the resources of their country, illustrate what energy, with a firm will and fixed purpose, has hitherto accomplished and can yet achieve.

As the failure to consider the lives of men of affairs as of historical importance is a defective feature of the great biographical works heretofore published, a special feature of this work has been to include the lives of the great pioneers, merchants, manufacturers, railroad builders, and other practical men who have developed the mines, forests and farms, built the railroads, steamboat lines and canals, set afloat and managed the shipping, organized the corporations, and introduced the new processes in science and mechanics, which have so greatly reduced the cost and promoted the comfort of living, while contributing to the power and prestige of the nation itself. They have founded the great museums, erected statues, libraries and reading rooms; and it is by them that the colleges, schools and philanthropic institutions are built and maintained; and it surely is befitting that their records should be preserved for all time.

In preparing this Encyclopedia, the compiler has restricted his description to sketches merely biographical, and has not criticised the individual, nor reviewed his attainments. But brief as are these biographical sketches, they are certainly a medium of introduction to the reader, especially when accompanied with a portrait; as from the combination of portrait and biography the utmost degree of utility and pleasure may be derived. The contemplation of a portrait creates a desire to know more of the subject; and reading of the attainments of a person, makes the reader anxious to behold his countenance—hence one supplies the absence of the other.

Herringshaw's Encyclopedia of American Biography comprises a varied collection of names that has cost infinite pains and expense to obtain, containing as it does the lives and achievements of more than twenty-five thousand famous men and women in all walks of life who are or have been the acknowledged leaders of life and thought of the United States since its formation, entirely covering the field of literature, science, history, politics, commerce, and the mechanical and industrial arts. In consequence of the almost inaccessibility of facts concerning the lives of many of the subjects contained in this work, the daily press, current magazines, and hundreds of genealogical and biographical works have been largely drawn upon for material, and thus many important facts and interesting reminiscences have been rescued from oblivion that add greatly to the value of the work.

Herringshaw's Encyclopedia of American Biography includes succinct biographies of all the Presidents and Vice-Presidents of the United States; every member of all the cabinets; every United States Senator and Speaker of the House; every United States Congressman; every member of the Supreme Court; every signer of the Declaration of Independence; the Governors of the States and Territories; all the Authors, Poets and Composers; all the eminent Clergymen, Judges, Lawyers; all the Admirals and distinguished naval officers; all the Generals and distinguished army officers; while no name eminent in Literature, Art, Music, Science or Invention has been omitted.

The courteous co-operation and words of praise received from prominent people throughout the United States, confirmed the opinion that the public was sufficiently alive to the value and importance of such a work, and the lasting benefit to be derived from placing their names, side by side with those of our most honored ones, in a volume that will be found in public libraries and reading rooms throughout the world, and which is ultimately destined to go down to posterity as an enduring record of the most eminent people of the United States; bearing in mind that without such a record some of the most illustrious names would be lost in oblivion, and their posterity deprived of the gratification and advantage of reference to so honorable an ancestry.

After three years of arduous labor we have succeeded beyond our expectations in compiling the most important and comprehensive work of the century—a monumental record which is a credit to the nation and to the world, and will prove to be more lasting than inscriptions on stone, and more enduring than shafts of marble.

We cannot conclude without reiterating our grateful acknowledgments to our numerous friends in all parts of the United States, not only for valuable information of various kinds, but still more for the generous words of encouragement which we have received from them during our long and arduous labors. We feel confident that this general expression of our gratitude will be more acceptable to most of them than a more particular and open acknowledgment of their disinterested kindness.

For the material aid and courteous co-operation of the press and public, especially contributors and their friends who have so kindly furnished genealogical works and data, clippings from newspapers and magazines, manuscripts and other material, our thanks are freely and sincerely given. Indeed, without such co-operation, Herringshaw's Encyclopedia of American Biography could scarcely have assumed its present magnitude.

THOMAS WILLIAM HERRINGSHAW.

Chicago, Ill.

ADDENDA.

ALBERGER, WILLIAM CLENDENNIN, soldier, consulting engineer, was born Dec. 18, 1837, in Buffalo, N. Y. He was educated in the public schools of his native state; and at Canandaigua academy. He served during the civil war as first lieutenant, captain, major and lieutenant-colonel in the New York volunteers; and as captain, brevet major, lieutenant-colonel and colonel in the United State volunteers; and was wounded at Antietam. He has been superintendent, chief engineer and manager of railroads; and is now chief engineer of the California rapid transit railroad company of San Francisco, Cal. In 1906-07 he was commander department of California and Nevada, grand army of the republic; and has filled various positions of trust and honor.

ALDRICH, PERLEY DUNN, educator, vocalist, author was born Nov. 6, 1863, in Blackstone, Mass. He is one of the leading authorities in America on voice production. He is the author of The Vocal Economy; Book of Songs; and numerous anthems and songs.

ALEXANDER, HARTLEY BURR, editor, author, was born April 9, 1873, in Lincoln, Neb. He is the author of The Problem of Metphysics ;and Poetry and the Individual.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM FRANKLIN, clergyman, author, was born April 22, 1860, in Morgantown, Va., now W. Va. In 1884 he graduated with the degree of A. B., from the Ohio Wesleyan university, in 1887 graduated with the degree of B. D., from Drew pheological seminary and for three years did post-graduate work in philosophy at the New York university. In 1887-89 he was pastor of the Mott Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church in New York City; in 1890-94 was pastor of St. James church of Kingston, N. Y.; in 1895-98 at Washington Square, in New York City; and in 1899-1904 he was pastor of Highland Avenue church of Ossining, N. Y. In 1898-1904 he was recording secretary of the board of education of the Methodist episcopal church; and since 1904 has been corresponding secretary. Since 1897 he has been a member of the board of managers of the missionary society of the Methodist episcopal church. He is the author of "The Compulsion of Love.

ANTHONY, BRAYMAN WILLIAM, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Feb. 16, 1854, in Leray, N. Y. Since 1877 he has been a clergyman of the Methodist Protestant Church. Since 1904 he has been president of Adrian College, Mich.

BAILEY, THOMAS FEARCE, educator, author, was born, Aug. 18, 1867, in Georgetown, S. C. Since 1887 he has been engaged in educational work; in 1903-05, he was professor of psychology at the university of Mississippi; and since 1905 professor of Psychology and education, and Dean of Dept of Education. He is the author of Love and Law.

BAKER, THOMAS STOCKHAM, educator, author, was born March 23, 1871, in Aberdeen, Md. Since 1900, he has been a lecturer of modern German literature at Johns Hopkins University. He is the author of "Lenau and Young Germany in America.

BATTEN, LORING WOART, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 17, 1859, in Gloucester county, N. J. Since 1899 he has been rector of St. Marks church of New York City. He is the author of The Old Testament from the Modern Point of View; The Hebrew Preject.

BEACH, REX ELLINGWOOD, author, playwright, was born Sept 1, 1877, in Atwood, Mich. He is the author of Pardners; and The Spoilers."

BERNARD, EMORY D., physician, surgeon, was born Sept. 7, 1873, in Serena, Ill. He was educated at the Northwestern university of Chicago, Ill.; attended the Tulane university of New Orleans, La.; graduated from the Saginaw Valley Medical college of Saginaw, Mich.; studied at the New York post-graduate school of medicine and surgery. He was surgeon to the Southern railway at Kansas City; was city surgeon; and physician to the American fisheries company. He is now physician and surgeon to the Gulf refining company of Port Arthur, Texas; surgeon to the Mexican American steamship line; and other corporations. He has attained success in the practice of his profession; is a member of the leading medical societies; and resides in Port Arthur, Texas.

BIGELOW, MAURICE ALPHEUS, biologist, educator, author, born Dec. 8, 1872, in Milford Center, Ohio. Since 1903 he has been professor of biology in Teachers College, Columbia university. Since 1904 edior of The Nature Study Review. He is the Author; The Teaching of Zoology in the Secondary school.

BOYLE, JOHN J., arist, sculptor, was born Jan. 12, 1851, in New York City. He was educated in the public schools of Philadelphia, Pa.; attended the Franklin institute of Philadelphia; studied at the Pennsylvania academy of fine arts; and at the Ecol des aux Arts in Paris, France. He is a teacher in the public art schools of New York city. He has received honors from the Paris salon, the Ecol des Beaux Arts, the World's Columbian exposition, and the Pan-American exposition. He is a member and one of the executive council of the National sculpture society; is a member of th Architectural league of New York; and for the past three years has been a member of the Fine arts commission of New York; and resides in New York Ci

BRADLEY, JOHN EDWIN, educator, college president, author, was born in Lee, Mass. In 1865 he graduated from Williams college; and has received the degrees of A. M., LL. D., and Ph. D. In 1865-68 he was principal high school of Pittsfield, Mass.; in 1868-86 was principal high school of Albany, N. Y.; in 1886-92 was superintendent of Minneapolis schools; and in 1892-1900 was president of Illinois college. Since 1901 he has been superintendent of schools for Avon, Holbrook and Randolph, Mass. In 1878 he was commissioner for the state of New York to the Paris exposition. He is the author of Science and Industry; School Incentives; Healthfulness of Intellectual Pursuits; Unconscious Education; Work and Play; and Talks With Students.

BRYAN, ENOCH ALBERT, educator, college president, author, was born May 10, 1855, in Bloomington, Ind. In 1878 he graduated from the Indiana university; and in 1893 gradnated from Harvard university, with the degree of M. A.; and in 1900 received the degree of LL.D. from Monmouth college. In 1878-82 he was superintendent of public schools for Grayville, Ill. In 1882-93 he was president of Vincennes university of Vincennes, Ind.; and since 1893 has been president of the State College of Washington. He is the author of The Mark in Europe and America.

BRUCE, WILLIAM GEORGE, publisher, author, was born March 17, 1856, in Milwaukee, Wis. In 1891 he founded and has ever since been publisher of the American School Board Journal of Milwaukee, Wis. In 1903-06 he was Tax Commissioner for the City of Milwaukee, Wis. He is the author of American School Architecture; and Bruce's Manual on School Administration.

CABELL, JAMES BRANCH, journalist, author, was born April 14, 1879, in Richmond, Va. He is the author of The Eagle's Shadow; and The Line of Love.

CANDY, ALBERT LUTHER, educator, mathematician, author, was born March 12, 1857, in Grant County, Ind. From 1893-1905 he was adjunct professor of mathematics in the University of Nebraska; since 1905 he has been Associate professor of mathematics in the University of Nebraska. He is the author of Annalytic Geometry.

CARLETON, MARK ALFRED, public official, author, was born March 7, 1866, in Jerusalem, Ohio. Since 1894 he has been cerealist for the United States Department of Agriculture. He is the author of several publications on Durum Wheats and other grains. He established the durum wheat industry in this country, which after six years has already a farm value of thirty million dollars annually.

CHESTER, FRANK DYER, American Consul-General, was born Dec. 2, 1869, in Newton, Mass. He was educated in Newton and Boston; and gradnated from Harvard University, from which institution he has received the degrees of A. B. A., A. M., and Ph D. He has attained prominence as a noted linguist. In 1893-95 he was assistant in Semitic Langnages at Harvard University. In 1897-1904 he was United States Consul at Budapest. He is also Consular-General for Cuba and Panama. Since 1897 he has been in the American Consular service; and is now Consul-General to Hungary, with headquarters at Budapest, Hungary.

COOKE, GEORGE WILLIS, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born April 23, 1848, in Comstock, Mich. He was educated at Olivet college of Michigan;

Meadville theological school of Pennsylvania; and the Liberal Institute of Jefferson, Wis. In 1872 he entered the unitarian ministry; and has filled pastorates in Wisconsin, Michigan, Massachusetts and New Hampshire. In 1899 he retired from the active ministry; removed to Wakefield, Mass.; from the active ministry; Wakefield, Mass.; devotes himself to literature and lecturing; and since 1897 has been an editorial writer on the Christian Register. He is the author of Ralph Waldo Emerson; Poets and Problems; Guide Book to the Poetic and Dramatic Writings of Robert Browning; The Spiritual Life; History of Unitarianism in America; and other works.

COX, JOSEPH P., physician, surgeon, was born May 7, 1859, in Chatham, Ontario, Canada. In 1879 he graduated from the Indiana medical college of Indianapolis, Ind. He soon attained success in the practice of his profession; and is surgeon to the Chicago St. Paul, M. and O. railroad. He is examining surgeon to the Brotherhood of railroad trainmen, American express company, Prudential insurance company, Penn. mutual insurance company, North American life insurance company, New York life insurance company, Federal life insurance company, Minnesota mutual life insurance company, Michigan mutual life insurance company, North British life insurance company; and the New York equity life insurance company. He is a member of the American medical association, State Medical society of Wisconsin; Tri-County Medical society, railway surgeons of the United States; American railroad surgeons; International Red Cross society and the Wisconsin state humane society.

CRUMBINE, S. JAY, physician, surgeon, was born Sept. 17, 1862, in Emlenton, Pa. In 1899 he graduated from the Cincinnati college of medicine and surgery; and soon attained success as a practicing physician of Kansas. He has been grand medical examiner of Ancient Order of united workmen of Kansas; and is a member of the leading medical societies. He is secretary of the Kansas state board of health; and resides in Topeka, Kan.

CUMMER, WELLINGTON WILLSON, lumberman, public official, donor was born Oct. 21, 1846, in Toronto Canada. He was educated at the high school of Waterdown, Canada; and is a prominent lumberman of Jacksonville, Fla. He has been mayor of Cadillac, Mich.; was a republican presidential elector in 1888; and a member of the school board for ten years. He made extensive investments in pine and cypress lands in Florida; owns over one-half of the stock in the the Cummer Lumber company of Jacksonville, Fla; and is a large owner of stumpage in Michigan; and a member of the firm of Cummer, Diggins and Company of Cadillac, Mich. He is interested in the Y. M. C. A., and library work; and gave thirty thousand dollars to the former, and two thousand dollars to the latter.

DAWSON, GEORGE ELLSWORTH, professor of education, was born Dec. 23, 1861, in Berkeley Springs, W. Va. In 1887 he received the degree of A. B. from the university of Michigan; in 1888-89 studied at the university of Leipzig; and subsequently received the degree of Ph D. from Clark university. In 1891-93 he was professor of English and literature at the South Dakota agricultural college; in 1893-95 was instructor of English at the university of Michigan: in 1895-97 was a fellow in psychology at Clark university; and in 1897-1901 was professor of psychology at the Hartford school of Religious pedagogy. In 1901-02 he was head of the department of history at Pratt institute; and since 1903 has been professor of education at Mount Holyoke college of South Hadley, Mass. He has contributed to American literature on educational topics; and resides in Springfield, Mass.

DELMAS, DELPHIN MICHAEL, lawyer, educator, was born April 14, 1844, in France. From 1866 to 1883 he practiced law in San Jose, Cal.; from 1883 to 1906 in San Francisco, and is now practicing in New York. He is the author of Speeches and Addresses.

DU BOIS, MARY CONSTANCE, writer, author, was born in 1879, in Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of Elinor Arden, Royalist.

DUGRO, PHILIP HENRY, lawer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 2, 1855, in New York City. He was educated at Columbia College; and is a lawyer by profession. In 1878 he was a Representative to the New York State Legislature from the City of New York; and in 1880 was elected a member of Congress from New York as a democrat. In 1886 he became Justice of the Superior Court of the City of New York; and in 1896 a Justice of the Supreme Court of the State of New York. Since 1896 he has been Justice of the State Supreme Court of New York.

DUNHAM, SAMUEL CLARK, soldier, printer, journalist, public official, was born Feb. 22, 1855, in Eureka, Ill. He was educated in the public schools of his native state. In 1877 he was a volunteer in the Bitter Root battle of Big Hole in the Nez Perce campaign. In 1897-99 he was statistical expert in the United States department of labor. In 1886-97 he was stenographer in the department of labor at Washington; and for twelve years was private secretary to the late Senator Daniel W. Voorhees of Indiana. In 1897 he was assigned to the Klondike gold fields; in 1899 was the first special agent in the twelfth United States census; and had charge of the Census for the northern district of Alaska. Since 1902 he has been editor of the Tonopah Miner of Tonopah, Nevada. He is the author of The Goldsmith of Nome; The Missing Link in Shorthand; and Dust from the Desert.

ELTZHOLTZ, CARL FREDERICK, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 10, 1840, in Denmark. Since 1906 he has been pastor of the Norwegian Methodist Episcopal Church, Cambridge, Wis. He is the author of several religious works.

FAIRFAX, ALBERT KIRBY, banker, was born June 23, 1870, in Northampton, Md. He was educated at Maupin's university school of Ellicott, city, Md. For fourteen years he was connected with Brown brothers and company of fifty-nine Wall street, New York city; and for four years was assistant manager of the London office of the International banking corporation of New York. He is now a partner of William P. Bonbright and company, bankers of London, New York City and Colorado Springs. He is the twelfth baron of the baronetcy created in 1627; and has the title of Lord Fairfax of Cameron. The sixth baron inherited nearly six million acres of land in Virginia; settled in the American colonies; was the friend and patron of George Washington; and his descendants still live in the United States.

FANNING, JOHN THOMAS, civil engineer inventor, author, was born Dec. 31, 1837, in Norwich, Conn. At the outbreak of the civil war he had completed a course of study in architecture and engineering. He enlisted in the third regiment Connecticut volunteers, served its full term, and subsequently was a field officer in the state militia. In 1862-80 he was acting engineer of Norwich, Conn.; and in 1872 moved to Manchester, N. H., to supervise the construction of the public water supply. In 1881 he was employed by a citizen's committee to report upon an additional water supply for New York, Brooklyn, and Cities of the Hudson Valley. In 1886 he was appointed chief engineer and agent of the St. Anthony Falls Water Power Co. He was appointed consulting engineer of the St. Paul, Minneapolis and Manitoba railway and of the Great Northern railway, and vice-president of Minneapolis Union railway. Among works directed from his Minneapolis office have been improvements in various water powers and public water supplies; a comprehensive plan for the drainage of 3,000 square miles of the famous hard wheat land in the valley of the Red river of the North; the construction of the water power from the Rainy river in Minnesota; the large water power on the Missouri river at Great Falls, Mont., and on the Spokane river, at Spokane, Wash., and a large water power on the Missouri river, near Helena, Mont. He is patentee of improvements in slow-burning building constructions, in turbine water steam boilers. He is the author of A Treatise on the Water Supply; and Engineering.

FISHER, CLARENCE STANLEY, historical architect, author, was born Aug. 17, 1876, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Investigations and Researches at Nippur.

FISHER, FRED D., diplomat, was born March 13, 1874, in Albany, Oregon. He was educated at Albany College; and graduated from The Holmes Business College of Portland, Oregon. In 1901-04 he was vice-consul and interpretor at the United States Consulate at Nagasaki, Japan; and is now American consul there.

FLIPPER, JOSEPH SIMEON, clergyman, college president, was born Feb. 22, 1859, in Atlanta, Ga. He received his education in the public schools of his native state; and graduated from Atlanta university. He has filled pastorates in several influential churches; has been dean of the Turner Theological seminary; and is now president of the Morris Brown college of Atlanta, Ga.

FOSTER, MABEL GRACE, lecturer, author, was born in 1869, in Boston, Mass. She is a lecturer on art, history, and Italian literature. She is the author of The Heart of the Doctor.

FRANK, JAMES H., physician, surgeon, was born Jan. 1, 1853, in Lewis county, N. Y. He was educated at the high school of Ilion, N. Y.; attended Fairfield seminary; and studied medicine at the American Medical college and at the Minnesota college hospital. He has been county physician, coroner, health commissioner, a member of the board of education; and a member of the public library board. He has attained success in the practice of his profession at Anoka, Minn.; is physician to the Anoka state asylum; and a member of the board of pension examiners.

GAERTNER, FREDERICK, physician, surgeon, microscopist scientist, author, was born July 25, 1860, at Fort Russell, Madison County, Ill. In 1866-76 he attended a country school at the old Fort Russell; in 1876-79 attended the St. Louis high school; and graduated from the Mound City commercial college. In 1882 he graduated with the degree of M. D. from the St. Louis medical college; and then studied in Berlin, Vienna, Strassburg, Paris, London and Dublin, and soon became an eminent physician, scientist and microscopist,. He has received the degrees of B. S., A. M., M. D., D. M., and LL. D. from famous universities. He subesquently began the practice of medicine and microscopy in Pittsburg, Pa. He has a collection of six thousand slides of microscopic specimens; and is frequently called into court as expert witness in medico-legal cases. Two prominent medical institutions offered him the chair of professor of pathology and histology, which he declined. He is a bold surgeon; and has undertaken several capital surgical operations with success. He is associate editor, of the Dental and Surgical Microcosm; associate-editor, of the International Journal of Mieroscopy and Natural Science; collaborator of the Bacteriological associate-editor of the Observer; and a Successful Treatment of Cancer; The Causes of Dropsies and Its Cure; The Origin of Man and His Destiny; and scores of medical and scientific Monographs.

GAY, MRS. MAUDE CLARK, writer, author, was born Sept. 28, 1876, in Waldoboro, Maine. She is the author of The Knitting of the Souls.

GERMO, THOMAS, lawyer, public official, was born May 2, 1870, in Medo, Blue Earth county, Minn. He was educated in the public schools of his native state; attended the Minnesota State normal school at Mankato; and in 1900 graduated from the law department of the State university of Minnesota. He soon attained success in the practice of law in Minnesota; is now prosecuting attorney for the county of Red Lake; and reside in Red Lake Falls, Minn.

GITTINGS, J. CLAXTON, physician, author, was born May 23, 1874, in Williamsport, Pa. Since 1895 he has practiced medicine in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the co-author of Artificial Feeding of Infants.

GOTTSCHALK, ALFRED L. M., United States consul-general to City of Mexico, was born Feb. 8, 1873, in New York city. In 1890 he graduated from Packard's business college; in 1891-94 attended Kenyon college; and in 1896 graduated from the New York university. He has been a newspaper and magazine correspondent; and in 1898 was attached to the staff of Gen. Brooks' division in the Porto Rico campaign as correspondent of the New York Herald. He engaged in sugar growing in Santo Domiugo; and in 1900 was appointed collector of customs at Monte Cristo. In 1902 he was appointed consul at San Juan del Norte, Nicaragua; in 1903 was transferred to Callao, Peru; and in 1905 was promoted to consul-general without change of post. He is the author of a volume of poems and magazine articles. He is a member of the seventh regiment national guard of New York; and resides in City of Mexico, Mexico.

GUDEMAN, ALFRED, educator, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 26, 1862, in Atlanta, Ga. In 1883 he graduated from Columbia university; and in 1888 received the degree of Ph. D. from the university of Berlin. In 1890-93 he was professor of Greek and latin at the Johns Hopkins university; in 1893-1902 filled the same chair at the university of Pennsylvania, and in 1902-04 at Cornell university. He is a noted classical philologist, and resides in Munich, Germany. He is a member of the American Philological association, and various other scientific societies. He is the author of History of Classical Philology; Tacitus' Dialognes de Oratoribus; Agricola; Agricola and Germania; Latin Literature of the Empire, in two volumes; The Sources of Plutarch's Life of Cicero; and Sallust's Catiline.

GUENTHER, RICHARD, merchant, diplomat, congressman, was born Nov. 30, 1845, in Potsdam, Prussia. In 1866-67 he was engaged as a broker of drugs and chemicals in New York City; and in 1867 engaged in business as a pharmacist in Oshkosh, Wis. For several years he was a member of the Oshkosh School Board; and in 1878-82 was State Treasurer of Wisconsin. In 1881-89 he was a member of the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth and Fiftieth Congresses from Wisconsin as a republican. In 1895-99 he was a member of the State Board of Control of Wisconsin; and president of the Board in 1898-99. In 1890-93 he was consul-general to the City of Mexico. Since 1899 he has been United States Consul-General at Frankfort-on-Main, Germany.

GULICK, EDWARD L., educator, clergyman, author, was born March 21, 1862, in the Hawaiian Islands. He was educated in St. Johnsbury, Vt., at Harvard university and Dartmouth college. He has attained eminence as a noted educator and clergyman; and for ten years was master at Lawrenceville academy of New Jersey. He is the author of several works.

HALFORD, ALBERT JAMES, journalist, anthor, was born Aug. 11, 1851, in Hamilton, Ohio. He received a thorough education in the public schools of his native state; and in 1900 was awarded the M. Dip, degree by Columbian university of Washington, D C. In his youth he learned the printer's trade; at the age of fifteen years reported the proceedings of the Indiana state legislature; and three years later was engaged as a reporter on the Indianapolis News. He filled various positions on the Indianapolis press up to managing editor until 1888; and then was called to Washington as managing editor of The Post. He has since been connected with the Associated Press and United Press; and is now also connected with the New York Sun bureau. He is the editor and compiler of The Congressional Directory, published by the United States government.

HALL, FREDERIC CLARKSON, physician, surgeon, public official, was born July, 20, 1856, in North Brookfield, N. Y. He was educated at the Waterville academy, University City, N. Y.; and at the Kansas Medical college and the medcial department of Washburn college. He was chairman of the republican central committee for Richmond, Kans.; was police judge during three terms for the city of Cuba, Kansas; has been school clerk of the city schools; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is a successful physician and surgeon of Cuba, and is a stomach specialist. He is chairman of the A. M. A.; and for many years a member of the American association for the advancement of science; and a member of all the leading medical societies.

HARRISON, WILLIAM HENRY, educator, college president, was born March 11, 1869, in Richmond, Va. He was educated at Norwood's university school of Richmond, Va.; and graduated from Richmond college. He has been principal of the Franklin academy of Virginia, instructor in mathematics and science at the Locust Dale military academy of Virginia; was professor of science at Brownsville college of Tennessee; and was vice president and professor of mathematics at the Female college of Hopkinsville, Ky. He is now president of Bethel college at Russellville, Ky.; and also professor of mathematics in that institution of learning.

HARVEY, CHARLES, journalist, author, was born Oct. 15, 1848, in Boston, Mass. He received an academic education; and soon attained success in journalism. He has been connected with newspapers in New York, St. Louis and Chicago; and since 1886 has been chief editorial writer on the Globe-Democrat of St. Louis, Mo. He is a frequent contributor on political, social and historical subjects to the Atlantic Monthly; North American Review, Putnam's Monthly, Appleton's Magazine, Metropolitan Magazine, Leslie's Weekly and other periodicals. He is a member of the American political science association, the Missouri state historical society and the Kansas state historical society. He is the author of History of the Republican Party; Handbook of American Politics; and History of Missouri.

HAYES, PHILIP CORNELIUS, soldier, journalist, congressman, was born Feb. 3, 1833, near Granby, Conn. In 1860 he graduated from Oberlin college of Ohio; in 1863 graduated fro Oberlin theological seminary; and received the degree of master of arts from Oberlin college. He served three years in the Union army during the civil war as captain, lieutenant-colonel, colonel and brigadier-general by brevet, the latter promotion dating from March 13, 1865. In 1877-81 he was a member of the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses from the seventh district of Illinois as a republican; and served on several important committees. He was a delegate to the republican national convention of 1872 which nominated Grant for president of the United States for a second term. In 1866 he bought a newspaper; and for almost thirty years followed journalism in Joliet, Ill., as proprietor, editor and publisher of his own newspaper. He is a member of grand army of the republic and of the loyal legion of Illinois. He is the author of History of the One Hundred and Third Ohio Volunteer Infantry; and Socialism and What It Means.

HEAD, JOHN FRAZIER, army surgeon, was born Jan. 9, 1821, in Boston, Mass. He served in the Mexican and civil war; and in 1885 was retired with rank of colonel. In 1904 he was advanced to the grade of brigadier-general United States army.

HENDERSON, ERNEST NORTON, educator, psychologist, was born Dec. 17, 1869, in La Salle county, Ill. He was educated at the university of California and at the Columbia universtiy. In 1892-95 he was teaching fellow in philosophy at the university of California; in 1895-97 was principal of the high school at Woodland, Cal.; and in 1897-1901 was instructor in psychology and education at the California state normal school of Chico, Cal. In 1901-02 he was fellow in education in the Teacher's college of Columbia university; in 1902 and 1906-07 was instructor in the summer session of Columbia university; and also filled the same position in 1904 at the university of North Carolina. He is now professor of psychology and education at the Adelphi college; and resides in Brooklyn, N. Y.

HUGHES, WILLIAM EDGAR, soldier, lawyer, banker, was born March 15, 1840, in Morgan county, Ill. He was educated in the Jacksonville high school; and attended Illinois college to the end of the sophomore year. In 1860 he removed to Texas; was a colonel in the confederate army; and in 1865 was admitted to the bar. In 1865-73 he practiced law in Weatherford, Texas; and in 1873 continued his profession in Dallas and also in Denver. In 1873 he organized the City bank of Dallas, now the City national bank; and became its president. In 1881 he became president of the Exchange national bank of Dallas, Texas; and since 1881 has been president of the Continental land and cattle company of Denver, Colo. In 1890 he became president of the Union trust company of St. Louis, Mo.; and removed in 1898 to Denver, where he organized the Continental trust company, of which he is president.

HYSLOP, JAMES HERVEY, educator, author, was born Aug. 18, 1854, in Xenia, Ohio. In 1877 he graduated from Wooster university; attended the Leipzig university; and in 1887 received the degree of Ph. D. from Johns Hopkins university. He has taught in Lake Forest university, Smith college, Bucknell university and is now professor of logic and ethics in Columbia university. He is also secretary of the American society for psychological research. He is the author of Elements of Logic; Ethics of Hume; Elements of Ethics; Democracy; Logic and Argument; Syllabus of Psychology; Problems of Philosophy; and Science and a Future Life.

IRISH, EDWIN M., soldier, lawyer, public official, was born June 11, 1848, in Gorham, Maine. He attended the Gorham seminary; and in 1872 graduated from the law department of the university of Michigan. Since 1872 he has practiced law in Kalamazoo, Mich.; in 1875-80 was prosecuting attorney for Kalamazoo county; and has been city attorney and a member of the Kalamazoo common council. He served twelve years in various grades in the Michigan national guard; was colonel of infantry for six years; and in 1897-98 was adjutant-general for the state of Michigan. He served in the Spanish-American war; became colonel of the Thirty-fifth regiment Michigan United States volunteer infantry; and was mustered out with his regiment in 1899. He is still actively engaged in the practice of his profession; is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his state; and resides in Kalamazoo, Mich.

JONES, J. H., judge Mason county court of Texas, was born May 27, 1869, near Griffin, Cherokee county, Tex. He received a thorough education in the public and private schools of Texas and Tennessee. For a number of years he was engaged in educational work; was principal of the Junction City public school; in 1902 he was ex-officio school superintendent; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1902 he has been judge of the county court for Mason county.

KENNON, LYMAN W. V., army officer, was born Sept. 2, 1858, in Providence, R. I. He was educated at the United States Military Academy of West Point, N. Y. He was Adjutant-General during the American occupation of Cuba; and Colonel in the Thirty-fourth Infantry, United States Volunteers, and commander of the Third Brigade of the First Division in the Eight Army Corps, during the Philippine Insurrection. Since 1902 he has held the rank of Major in the United States Army; and is now stationed at Rio Janeiro, Brazil.

KINSLEY, WILLIAM WIRT, soldier, educator, public official, author, was born Oct. 8, 1837, in Buffalo, N. Y. In 1861 he graduated from Oberlin college. In 1861 he was a member of company C, seventh regiment Ohio volunteers infantry; and in 1861-64 was professor of mathematics in the Northern Indiana college. He was in the auditor-general's office until 1872 at Lansing, Mich.; in 1872 entered the United States Pension office; and since 1881 has been a member of the board of review in the United States pension bureau. He is the author of Views an Vexed Questions; Science and Prayer; Old Faiths and New Facts; The Bronte Sisters; and other works.

KNOPF, ADOLPHUS, physician, surgeon, was born Nov. 27, 1857, in Germany. He received a thorough education; and has attained success as a noted consulting physician of New York city. He was vice-president of the Pennsylvania society ofr the prevention of tuberculosis; and in 1905 was a delegate to the international Tuberculosis congress at Paris, France. He is a director in the national association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis; and associate-director of the health department's clinic for pulmonary diseases.

KNOX, MRS. JESSIE JULIET, writer, author, was born May 14, 1860, in Cleveland, Tenn. She is the author of Little Almond Blossoms.

LANDON, MELVILLE DE LANCEY, Eli Perkins, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 7, 1839, in Eaton, Madison county, N. Y. In 1861 he graduated with the degree of A. M. from Union college of Schenectady, N. Y. in 1863 he was appointed a clerk in the United States treasury; and served in Gen. Cassius M. Clay's battalion in front of Washington. He resigned from the treasury and battalion and joined the staff of Gen. A. L. Chetlain, with rank of Major. After the civil war he traveled in Europe; and became secretary of the United States legation in Russia. He has attained world-wide renown as a humorist writer and lecturer; is president of the New York news association; and has held various positions af trust and honor. Under the nom de plume of Eli Perkins he is the author of Franco-Prussian War; Wit, Humor and Pathos; Wit and Humor of the Age; Kings of Platform and Pulpit; Thirty years of Wit; and American Humorists and Lecturers.

LARRINAGA, TULIO, was born Jan. 15, 1874, in the town of Trujillo Alto. He was educated in the Seminario Consiliar of San Ildefonso, at San Juan, where he received the degree of bachelor of arts, with the highest honors; studied the profession of civil engineer at the Polytechnic Institute of Troy and at the University of Pennsylvania, where he graduated in 1871; practiced the profession for some time in the United States, taking part in the preparation of the typographical map of Kings county, Brooklyn, and in the technical department of Badger & Co., of New York, in the construction of the Grand Central Depot in that city. In 1872 he returned to Porto Rico and was appointed architect for the city of San Juan; built the first railroad in Porto Rico in 1880, and introduced for the first time American rolling stock in the island; was for ten years chief engineer of the provincial works, and built most of the important structures (especially bridges) in the island. He was one of the founders of the Atheneum of San Juan in 1876, and of the society for the education of intelligent young men of the poor classes. In 1898 he was appointed assistant secretary of the interior under the autonomic government, serving in that capacity until some time after the American occupation of the island. He resigned the office to resume his position as chief engineer of the harbor works of San Juan; and is an ardent advocate of home rule for his country. In 1900 he was sent by the Federal party of Porto Rico to Washington as a delegate at the time the organic act for Porto Rico was being framed by Congress; in 1902 was elected member of the house of delegates of Porto Rico from the district of Arecibo. He is the president of the Society of Civil Engineers of Porto Rico. He was elected commissioner for the term of the Fifty-ninth Congress, and reelected for the Sixtieth Congress.

LATHBURY, ALBERT AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 24, 1849, in Manchester, N. Y. He received his education in the public schools of his native state; in 1866-67 attended Fort Edward Collegiate institute of New York; and studied at Baldwin university of Berea, Ohio. Since 1879 he has been a member of the New York East conference of the methodist episcopal church; and has filled several important pastorates, now in New York city. He is the author of Life in Two Worlds.

LAVERY, CHARLES J., mayor of Fort Pierre, S. D., was born Feb. 5, 1867, in Clinton, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the common and high schools of his county; attended the Starling medical college of Columbus, Ohio; and the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Chicago. He has been superintendent of the Stanley county board of health since 1891; was coroner of that county in 1895-96 and since 1894 has been physician and surgeon to the Stanley county poor. He has been a member of the South Dakota republican state central committee; and for nearly eight years was editor of Fairplay, a leading newspaper of Fort Pierre, S. D. He is senior member of the firm of Lavery and Walsh, physicians and surgeons. He is secretary of the fourth district medical society of South Dakota; and a delegate from that society in the South Dakota state medical association in 1906 and 1907. Since 1904 he has been mayor of the city of Fort Pierre, and is now serving his second term of 1906-08; and resides in Fort Pierre, S. D.

LEACH, REGINALD BARKLEY, physician, surgeon, inventor, was born April 4, 1861, in Dayton, Ohio. In 1879 he graduated from the high school of New Albany, Ind.; and in 1883 from Dartmouth Medical college. He served as assistant in the New York Polyclinic; served in the outdoor poor department of Bellevue hospital medical college; served in New York university medical college, and in the German dispensary; and in 1883 was visiting surgeon to the heart and lungs and the throat and nose department in the New York dispensary. In 1884 he was surgeon of the steamship City of Merida, and also surgeon of the steamship Capulet, with practical experience in yellow fever and small pox; and has also an equally practical experience in Asiatic cholera. He has been secretary and president of the St. Paul society of homeopathic medicine and surgery; has been secretary and is now president of the Minnesota State Homeopathic Institute; was secretary of the board of health of Paris, Texas; and has filled numerous other positions of trust and honor. He is the author of Arsenization Method of Preventing Cholera and Yellow Fever; The Proper Disposal of Garbage in large Cities; and other works.

LEWIS, CHARLES CLARKE, educator, college president, author, was born Nov. 7, 1857, in Morley, St. Lawrence county, N. Y. He was educated at the State normal school of Potsdam, N. Y., attended the Battle Creek college of Michigan; studied at Yale university; and has received the degrees of B. S., and M. S. In 1882-86 he was professor of the English language and literature at Battle Creek college; in 1887-89 was principal of the Minnesota conference school of Minneapolis; in 1891-96 was professor of English language and literature at Union college of Lincoln, Neb.; and in 1896-1902 was a principal of the Keene Industrial academy of Texas. In 1902-04 he was president of Walla Walla college; and since 1904 has been president of Union college of College View, near Lincoln, Neb. He is the author of Home and Church School Manual.

LILLEY, MIAL E., lawyer, congressman, was born May 30, 1850, in Canton, Pa. He was educated in the public and private school of his native state. In 1880 he was admitted to the bar; and soon attained success in the practice of his profession in Towanda, Pa. In 1894-1900 he was prothonotary of Bradford county, Pa.; and in 1903-05 was assistant United States attorney for the middle district of Pennsylvania. In 1905-07 he was a member of the fifty-ninth congress from the fourteenth district of Pennsylvania as a republican; and served on several important committees.

LYNCH, GERTRUDE, journalist, author, was born in New London, Conn. Since 1895 she has been engaged in journalism in New York city. She is the author of The Fighting Chance; and The Wanderers; Winds of the World.

MAIN, JOHN HANSON THOMAS, educator, college president, was born in 1859, in Toledo, Ohio. In 1880 he graduated with the degree of B. A. from Moore's Hill colllege of Indiana; and subsequently with the degree of Ph. D. from Johns Hopkins university. In 1882-87 he was professor of ancient languages at Moore's Hill college; and in 1890-91 was assistant professor of Greek and latin at the Woman's college of Baltimore, Md. Since 1892 he has been professor of Greek; in 1902-06 was dean of the faculty; and since 1906 has been president of Iowa college at Grinnell, Iowa. He is a member of the American philological association; a member of the American archaeological association; and has contributed valuable articles to various publications.

MATTHEWS, WILLIAM BAYNHAM, lawyer, journalist, author, was born in July, 1850, in Lynchburg, Va. He was educated at the University of Virginia; and at Columbia University of Washington, D. C. In 1892-96 he was attorney for the state of Idaho; and since 1898 has been Washington attorney for the Rio Grande Western Railroad Company. He is the author of Matthews' Forms of Pleading; Guide for Executors and Adminstrators: Digest of Land Decisions; and Matthews' Guide. In 1883-89 he was Chief of the Preemption Division of the United States General Land Office; and resides in Washington, D. C.

McCORMICK, JOHN NEWTON, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Feb. 1, 1863, in Richmond, Va. In 1906 he was consecrated Bishop Co-adjutor of Western Michigan. He is the author of Distinctive Marks of the Episcopal Church; the Litany and the Life; and Pain and Sympathy.

McKINLEY, WILLIAM BROWN, business man, president, congressman, was born Sept. 5, 1856, in Petersburg, Ill. He was educated in the common schools; and studied two years in the University of Illinois. He has been principally engaged in building electrical railroads; and is president of the Illinois Traction Company. He was a member of the Board of Trustees of the University of Illinois. He was elected to the Fifty-ninth Congress from the Nineteenth District of Illinois as a Republican for the term of 1905-07; received the re-election to the sixtieth Congress; and resides in Champaign, Ill.

McREYNOLDS, PETER WESLEY, clergyman, college president, was born March 16, 1872, in Kokomo, Ind. He was educated at the Kokomo high school, Indaina Central normal school, Union Christian college, and at Hillsdale and Hiram colleges. He has filled pastorates in the Christian church for eight years in the state of Michigan. He has attained eminence in the religious and educational world; and is now president of the Defiance college at Defiance, Ohio.

MEES, ARTHUR, musical director, composer, author, was born Feb. 13, 1850, in Columbus, Ohio. He graduated from Concordia college of Fort Wayne, Ind.; and studied music in Berlin and Leipzig. He was conductor of the Cincinnati May Festival Chorus; assistant conductor of the Chicago orchestra; and assistant conductor of the American Opera with Theodore Thomas. He is now conductor of the New York Mendelssohn Club; conductor of the Albany Festival association; and conductor of the Orange Mendelssohn union. He is the author of Chorus and Choral Music.

MILLER, JAMES MARTIN, journalist, diplomat, author, was born June 24, 1859, in St. Mary's, W. Va. He was educated in the public schools and at Pennington seminary of New Jersey. Since 1881 he has been engaged in journalistic work; as the representative of a syndicate has traveled in many foreign countries; has made two trips around the world, and lived in Italy, Germany and France for three years. He speaks the French and German languages fluently. In 1905 he was appointed United States consul to Germany at Aix la Chapelle; and since then has been appointed consul-general to New Zealand; and is now American consul to France at Rheims. He is the author of China, Ancient and Modern; The Trimphant Life of Theodore Roosevelt; The Martinique Disaster; and other works.

MITCHELL, EDMUND, journalist, dramatist, author, was born March 19, 1861, in Glasgow, Scotland. In 1881 he graduated with the degree of M. A. from Aberdeen university, receiving the gold medal for English literature. He was engaged in journalism as editorial writer on the staff of the Glasgow Herald, The Times of India; The Melbourne Age of Australia; and on the editorial staff of the Los Angeles Times. He has traveled over the world as special newspaper correspondent on industrial topics; and attended as special correspondent the international expositions at Chicago, Antwerp, Paris and St. Louis. He is the author of The Temple of Death; Towards the Eternal Snows; Plotters of Paris; The Lone Star Rush; Only a Nigger; The Belforts of Culben; The Despoilers; In Desert Keeping; and other works. He is now on the directorate of several large industrial companies in the United States; and resides in Los Angeles, Cal.

MOWRY, MRS. BLANCHE SWETT, writer, author, was born Jan. 4, 1870, in Garland, Maine. She is the co-author of American Pioneers; Essentials of United States History ;and First Steps in the History of England.

MUNDY, EZEKIEL WILSON, clergyman, librarian, genealogist, was born June 16, 1833, in Metuchen, N. J. In 1860 he graduated from the university of Rochester; in 1860-63 studied divinity in the Rochester Theological seminary; and has received the degrees of A. M. and Litt. D. Since 1880 he has been librarian of the Public library of Syracuse, N. Y. In 1863-66 he was pastor of the First Baptist church of Syracuse, N. Y.; in 1866-79 was pastor of the Independent church; and in 1883-93 was rector of St. Marks Church. He is a member of the Onondaga Historical society, Onondaga Genealogical society, New England historical genealogical society and the American historical association.

MUNROE, HENRY SMITH, educator, scientist, author, was born March 25, 1850, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1869 he graduated with the degree of E. M. from the Columbia School of Mines, subsequently receiving the degrees of Ph. D. and Sc. D.; and also in 1869-70 took a post graduate course in chemistry and economic geology in the same institution. In 1870-71 he was geologist to the Onio State geological survey; and also in 1870-72 was assistant chemist in the United States department of agriculture. In 1872-75 he was assistant geologist and mining engineer in the geological survey of Yesso, Japan; and in 1875-76 was professor of geology and mining in the university of Tokio. In 1877-91 he was assistant professor, and since 1891 has been professor of mining in the Columbia school of mines. Since 1895 he has been a member of the university council; and in 1897-99 was dean of the faculty of applied science. In 1881-84 he was manager, and in 1890-92 was vice-president of the American institute of mining engineers.

NYCE, BENJAMIN MARKLEY, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Dec. 5, 1869, in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1896-1904 he was pastor of the Presbyterian church of Lockport, N. Y. Since 1904 he has been president of Talladega college of Alabama.

PEARCE, HAYWOOD JEFFERSON, educator, college president, was born Aug. 26, 1871, in Columbus, Ga. He graduated with the degree of A. B. from Emory college of Georgia; received the degrec of A. M. from Chicago university; and the degree of Ph. D. from Wurzburg university of Germany. He has attained note as a successful educator; and was president of Columbus Female college of Georgia. He is now associate-president of Brenau College-conservatory of Gainesville, Ga.; and professor of Philosophy and psychology in that institution.

POELS, HENRY ANDREW, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 14, 1868, in Holland. Since 1904 he has been professor of old testament of the Catholic university of America at Washington, D. C. He is the author of several works in Dutch and French.

POPE, JOHN DUDLEY, educator, lawyer, state senator, was born Dec. 28, 1856, near Waukegan, Ill. In 1876-78 he attended Oberlin college preparatory; attended Lake Forest university in 1878-80; and in 1882 graduated from Dartmouth college. In 1882-83 he taught languages in high school of Rochester, Minn.; in 1883-84 in Cassilton, N. D.; and in 1884-85 studied law in Chicago, Ill. He then took up the practice of law in Friend, Neb.; and in 1888-98 was a member of the Nebraska state senate. In 1900 he was a republican nominee for congress from the fourth district of Nebraska. He now practices his profession in Chicago and Waukegan, Ill.

PRYOR, ROGER ATKINSON, soldier, journalist, lawyer, diplomat, jurist, congressman, was born July 19, 1828, near Petersburg, Va. In 1845 he graduated from the Hampden-Sidney college from which institution he subsequently received the degree of LL. D.; and in 1848 graduated from the University of Virginia. In 1849-58 he was an editor in Petersburg, Va. He was special minister to Greece in 1855 under President Pierce; in 1859-61 was a member of United States congress; and in 1862 was a member of the confederate congress. In 1861 he entered the confederate service as colonel; was in 1863 was breveted brigadier-general; and in 1864-65 was a prisoner of war. After the civil war he took up the practice of law in the city of New York. In 1890 he was appointed judge of the court of common Pleas; afterward was elected for the full term, of fourteen years; and by the constitution of 1894 was transferred to the supreme court of New York, retiring in 1906.

RAYMOND, ANDREW VAN VRANKEN, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 8, 1854, at Visscher's Ferry, Saratoga county, N. Y. He was educated at the Troy high school; in 1875 graduated from Union college; in 1878 from the New Brunswick theological seminary; and has received the degree of A. M., D. D. and LL. D. In 1878-81 he was pastor of the First reformed church at Paterson, N. J.; in 1881-87 was pastor at the Trinity reformed church at Plainfield, N. J.; and in 1887-94 was pastor of the Fourth presbyterian church at Albany, N. Y. Since 1894 he has been president of Union college and chancellor of Union university at Schenectady, N. Y. He is a prominent member of the Century, University, Alpha Delta Phi and Adirondack league clubs.

RAYMOND, HENRY WARREN, journalist, lecturer, public official; was born Sept. 10, 1847, in New York City. In 1869-71 he was correspondent and editor on the New York Times; became exchange editor and editorial writer on the Evening Post; and law reporter and editorial writer on the Brooklyn Union; was three years literary and musical editor of the Chicago Tribune and eighteen years editor and proprietor of the Evanston Telegraph. He has been Deputy Supervisor of the United States twice; was private secretary to the Secretary of the Navy for four years.

RAYNOLDS, JAMES WALLACE, Secretary of the Territory and Lieutenant-Governor of New Mexico, was born March 23, 1873, in Pueblo, Colo. He was educated in the local schools of Las Vegas, N. M., and at Canton, Ohio; and graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is a succesful mining engineer; and in 1901-06 was Secretary of New Mexico. He is Lieutenant-Governor of New Mexico for the term of 1906-10.

REDE, WYLLYS, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 7, 1859, in Monmouth, Ill. He has been rector of Protestant Episcopal Churches in Maine, Virginia, Maryland and Illinois; and since 1902 at Brunswick, Ga. He is the author of The Communion of Saints; Striving for the Mastery ;and is Secretary of the Diocese of Georgia.

REDFIELD, CASPER LAVATER, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 22, 1853, in Closter, N. J. He has been a machinist, teacher, clerk, draughtsman, mechanical engineer, inventor, and since 1892 a patent solicitor of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Control of Heredity.

REED, BOARDMAN, soldier physician, editor, author, was born April 30, 1842, in Scottsville, N. Y. He served in the Civil war; and became Captain of Company I Fiftieth Regiment Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry. Since 1896 he has practiced in special lines in Philadelphia, Pa, He was editor of International Med. Mag. 1898 to 1904, and is the author of Diseases of the Stomach and Intestines.

REED, HENRY ALBERT, Army Officer, author, was born June 23, 1844 in Plattsburg, N. Y. During tne Civil war he attained the rank of First Lieutenant. He then entered the regular army. In 1870 he graduated from West Point Military Academy; has filled important positions; Brigadier-General U. S. Army; and retired at his own request after one years service February 19th, 1906. He is the author of Topographical Drawing and Sketching; and Photography Applied to Surveying.

REID, GEORGE CROGHAN, soldier, was born Dec. 15, 1840, in Lorain, Ohio. He was educated in the public schools of Lorain; in 1860-63 attended Oberlin college; and in 1873 graduated from Columbian law school of Washington, D. C. In 1864 he was commissioned lieutenant in the United States marine corps; in 1864-66 served at headquarters; and in 1867 on the steamship Monongahela in the West Indies squadron. In 1869 he was made first lieutenant; became captain in 1884; adjutant and inspector with rank of major in 1894 ;and was promoted colonel in 1899. In 1904 he became brigadier-general and retired from active service. He served in the civil war, in the Spanish-American war, and in various departments of sea and barrack duty.

RICHMOND, C. E., superintendent of schools, was born Nov. 17, 1872, in Bay Port, Mich. He was educated at the Michigan State normal college; and at the Michigan agricultural college. He has been principal of the village schools; teacher of science in high schools; and principal of high schools. He is now superintendent of schools of Litchfield, Ill.; and has filled various positions of trust and honor.

RITTENHOUSE, JESSIE BELLE, critic, author, was born in Mount Morris, N. Y. In 1895-99 she was in active newspaper work as correspondent and reviewer. She is editor of The Rubaiyat of Omar Kahyyam, and Lover's Rubaiyat. She is the author of The Younger American Poets, a volume of criticism.

ROSS, ALBERT RANDOLPH, architect, was born Oct. 26, 1868, in Westfield, Mass. He is architect of many municipal buildings and memorial, the principal buildings and memorials, the princi- House of Elizabeth, N. J., public libraries of Washington, D. C.; and the public libraries of Columbus, Ohio, and Denver, Colorado.

RUOFF, HENRY WOLDMAR, journalist, author, was born Nov. 3, 1867, in Germantown, Pa. He was educated at the university of Indiana, Harvard university, Columbia university and abroad; and in 1901 received the degree of D. C. L. from Columbia university. In 1891-92 he was assistant in ethnology at the World's Columbian exposition; and in 1892-93 was a lecturer in psychology, ethics and philosophy of history at the Pennsylvania State college; in 1895-1904 he was engaged in literary work and publishing; and in 1898-1904 was chief editor of The King-Richardson company of Springfield, Mass. In 1904-06 he was associate-editor of the American Spectator; in 1906-07 was associate-editor of Ridgway's; and since 1907 has been associate-editor of the Nashville Tennessean. He has traveled extensively in Europe, Asia and Africa. He is the author of The Century Book of Facts; Woman in the Middle Ages; The Pre-Christian Family; Home and State; Leaders of Men; The Capitals of the World; and The Universal Manual of Ready Reference.

RUTH, JOHN W., business president, banker, was born Aug. 8, 1848, in East Huntington township, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools of his native state; and at Rankins school. He has for many years been engaged in the lumber business; and is the owner of a lumber mill and lumber yard. He is president of the Scottdale Savings and Trust company of Scottdale, Pa.; is interested in various other enterprizes; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his city, county and state.

SCHWEDTMAN, FERDINAND C., civil engineer, business president, was born in May, 1865, in Germany. He received a high school education in Hanover and Amsterdam. He then spent two years in South America; settled in New York in 1881; and there studied electrical and mechanical engineering. He was with the Edison electric company; and later was superintendent of water service of the Cotton Belt railway in New York city. In 1889 he moved to St. Louis, and became chief engineer of the Missouri Electric Light and Power company of that city. He was one of the organizers of the Wagner electric manufacturing company of St. Louis, and its manager until 1904. He is now president of the Lonisiana contracting company; secretary of the Citizens'' industrial association of St. Louis; and secretary to the president of the National association of manufacturers. He is a member of the American institute of electrical engineers; a member of the St. Louis engineers' club; and a member of the Mercantile club of St. Louis, Mo.

SEE, THOMAS JEFFERSON JACKSON, astronomer, mathematician, physicist, author, was born Feb. 19, 1866, near Montgomery City, Mo. He graduated from the university of Missouri with the degrees of A. B., L. B. and S. B.; and in 1902 from the university of Berlin with the degree of A. M. and Ph. D. In 1887-89 he was in charge of the observatory at the university of Missouri; and in 1893-96 organized and had charge of Yerkes observatory; and in 1896-98 was astronomer at the Lowell observatory. Since 1899 he has been professor of Mathematics in the United States navy, in charge of the naval observatory at Mare Island, Cal. He has examined two hundred thousand fixed stars; and computed about fifty orbits of double stars. He is the author of Researches on the Evolution of the Stellar Systems; and various other works and researches on astronomical subjects.

SEMPLE, ELLEN CHURCHILL, scientist, author, was born in 1863, in Louisville, Ky. She is the author of American History and Its Geographic Conditions

SHOUP, JAMES M., United States Marshall for Alaska, was born in 1849, in Armstrong County, Pa. He was educated in the public and private schools; studied law and was admitted to the bar. He filled several county offices in Idaho; was a member of the first State Senate; and in 1892 was a delegate to the Republican National Convention. Since 1897 he has been United States Marshal for the First District of Alaska, and is now serving his second term of 1904-08.

SMITH, GUY D., superintendent of schools, was born July 31, 1873, in Mason, Mich. He was educated in the rural, graded and high schools; in 1891 graduated from the high school of Mason; received the degree of A. B. from the university of Chicago in 1900. In 1891-94 he taught in the rural schools of Ingham county, Mich.; in 1898-1900 was instructor in the Lansing high school; and in 1900-03 was principal of the St. Joseph high schools. Since 1903 he has been superintendent of schools at Ludington, Mich. He has been twice secretary and twice president of the Michigan high school oratorical association; was secretary of the Michigan state superintendents association; and is now serving his second term as secretary of the Northern Michigan teachers' association.

SPIVAK, CHARLES D., educator, librarian, physician, author, was born Dec. 25, 1861, in Russia. In 1882 he left Russia on account of political views, avoiding thereby exile to Siberia. He became a laborer in New York, a mill hand in Maine, a farmer in New Jersey, and a teacher and librarian in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1890 he graduated from the Jefferson medical college; and in 1891-92 studies at the Berlin university. In 1896-1900 he was lecturer, and in 1897-98 was professor anatomy at the Denver school of medicine. In 1898-1902 he was editor of Medical Libraries; and librarian of the Denver academy of medicine. He is a member of the American Medical association and othe medical and scientific societies. He is now professor of clinical medicine at the Denver and Gross medical school, a department of the university of Denver; and is also secretary of the Colorado medical library association.

STAHL, JOHN MELOY, editor, publisher, lecturer, was born Aug. 24, 1860, in Mendon, Ill. He was educated in the country district schools and at the high school of Quincy, Ill., graduating as valedictorian in 1881. In 1883-87 he was editor of South and West of St. Louis, Mo. Since 1881 he has been editor, and since 1886 proprietor, of Farmers' Call of Quincy, Ill.; and is also an extensive farmer and land owner. In 1894-1903 he was secretary of the Farmers' national congress; and is now president of the Farmers' national congress, with headquarters in Chicago, Ill. He is a member of the executive committee and immigration committee of the National civic federation; and secretary of the national agricultural press league. He was secretary of the Illinois good road association. He was the first in 1879 to propose free delivery of mail to farmers; and was a leader in the movement until the reform was secured. He is specially known as a writer on economic-agricultural subjects; and has contributed extensively to American literature.

STANLEY, THOMAS WILLIAM, superintendent of city schools, was born July 13, 1860, in Howard county, Mo. He was educated at the Sam Houston normal school of Texas; and at the Add-Ran college of Thorp's Springs, Texas. For the past twenty years he has been engaged in educational work; and is now superintendent of city schools at Weatherford, Texas. He has filled several positions of trust and honor; and has contributed extensively to educational literature.

STOWELL, CALVIN LLEWELLYN, underwriter, financier, author was born Aug. 28, 1845, in Ansonia, Pa. He received a thorough education in private schools and academies. He began his business career in a New York banking institution; and since 1875 has been associated with the business and financial affairs of New York city and Rochester, N. Y. He became connected as director, manager, vice-president and president with nearly a score of railway and steamship companies, banks and fire insurance companies, and other corporations. He has always been interested in science and art; is a member of the American academy of political and social science; and a member of various other scientific and literary societies in the United States, Great Britain and France, and has an excellent collection of works of art. He is the author of Christian Knighthood; and his contributions to scientific and literary publications have been a valuable acquisition to current literature. The history of the family may be found in Campden's Britannia, Sir William Dugdale's Baronage, and Sir William Pool's Survey of Devon. Among the names mentioned in the pedigree are those of Sir Henry Stawal, knight of Somersetshire, 1261; Baron Stawal, of Somersetshire, 1682; Sir Geoffrey Stawal, who was a grandfather in the reign of King Henry III.; and his son Geoffrey Stawal the Younger, who died in the thirty-seventh year of the reign of Edward III,, being possessed of the lordships of Cotholston, Stawal, Stratton, Begbury and other estates in England and Wales. The present branch of the family is descended from Gerald Stawal governor of Pembroke Castle in Wales, and a great favorite of King Henry I., whose wife was Nesta, daughter of Rees, prince of South Wales. In the family are found the earl of Pembroke, conqueror of Ireland; the earls of Arundel, the barons of Dinham, and others of note. Sir John Stawall was one of the knights of the Bath at the coronation of King James I., and his son, John, one of the knights of the Bath at the coronation of Charles I. The descendants of this branch of the family came to the United States with the Puritan colonists, and settled on a large tract of land near what is now Boston Common. In England the family name was corrupted to Stowel, and in America became Stowell.

TRIBBLE, HENRY WISE, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Feb. 8, 1860, in Hanover county, Va. He was educated at the Green Springs academy, Richmond college and the Southern Baptist theological seminary. He has been pastor of the First baptist church of Jackson, Tenn.; and pastor of the First baptist church of Charlottesville, Va. He has been trustee of the Southwestern baptist university; and is now trustee of the Southern baptist theological seminary. He is president of Rawlings institute of Charlottesville, Va.; and pastor of the High street baptist church of that city. He has attained eminence in the religious and educational world; and has contributed extensively to current literature on educational and religious topics

TROBEC, JAMES, clergyman, missionary, bishop, was born July 10, 1838, in Anstria. He received a classical education in Laibach, Austria; and studied philosophy and theology at St. Vincent's college of Pennsylvania. In 1865 he was ordained priest at St. Paul, Minn.; in 1865-66 was pastor at Belle Prairie, Minn.; and in 1866-87 was pastor at Wabasha, Minn. He then organized a parish in St. Paul, Minn., and in 1887-97 was its pastor. Since 1897 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of St. Cloud, Minn.

ULKE, TITUS, mining engineer, metallurgist, author, was born Oct. 17, 1866, in Washington, D. C. In 1891-98 he served as assistant, chief chemist or head assayer for several of the leading American mining, smelting, or refining companies. In 1898-1900 he was assistant inspector of Ordnance in the United States army; metallurgist of the World's Columbian Exposition in 1893, and of the Consolidated Lake Superior Company. In 1900-03; and is now assistant examiner, United States Patent Office; he is the author of Modern Electrolytic Copper Refining.

ULMANN, ALBERT, banker, broker, author, was born July 2, 1861, in New York City. He is a successful stock broker of New York City; and a member of the New York Stock Exchange firm since 1899. He is the author of Frederick Struther's Romance Chaperoned; A Landmark History of New York, and New York's Historic Sites.

VAN CLEAVE, JAMES W., manufacturer, founder, was born in July, 1849, in Marion county, Ky. He received an academic education. For forty years he has been in the stove manufacturing business, first in Louisville and later in St. Louis; and for many years has been president of the Bucks stove and range company of St. Louis, Mo. He is president of the National association of manufacturers; president of the Citizens' industrial association of St. Louis, being one of the founders of the National organization of that order. He is a member of the Holland society; a member of the Glen Echo club; a member of the Mercantile club; and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of St. Louis, Mo.

VAN DEMAN, HENRY ELIAS, pomologist, author, educator, was born Nov. 3, 1845, in Ross County, Ohio. In 1863-65 he served as a private soldier in the First Regiment of Ohio Volunteers Heavy Artillery. In 1878-9 was Professor of Botany and Practical Horticulture in the Kansas State Agricultural College. In 1886-93 he was chief and founder of the Division of Pomology in the United States Department of Agriculture. He is president of the American Nut and Fruit Company. He is the author of Tropical and Semi-Tropical Fruits in America.

VAN LIEW, CHARLES CECIL, educator, college president, was born Feb. 15, 1862, in Aurora, Ill. Since 1899 he has been president of the California State Normal School.

VAN ZILE, PHILIP T., soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born July 20, 1843, in Osceola, Pa. During the Civil war he served in Battery E, First Ohio Artillery. In 1868-72 he was prosecuting attorney of Eaton County, Mich.; and in 1872-75 was judge of the Probate Court for that County. In 1875-78 he was Circuit Judge of the Fifth Circuit of Michigan; and in 1878-84 was United States District Attorney for Utah. Is now and has been for 15 years Dean of Faculty District College of Law. He is the author of Bailments and Carriers; and Equity Pleading and practice.

VINCENT, EDGAR LA VERE, journalist, was born Dec. 14, 1851, in Persia, N. Y. He is a printer and journalist, for two years was a representative in the New York state legislature; and since 1889 has been engaged in farming at Maine, N. Y. He is the author of "Margaret Bowlby," a political novel.

VINCENT, JOHN MARTIN, educator, author, was born Oct. 11, 1857, Elyria, Ohio. In 1895 he was made Associate Professor of History and in 1905 Professor of European History in the John Hopkins University of Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Government in Switzerland, and various other studies in history.

VOCKE, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, legislator, author, was born April 4, 1839, in Germany. He served through the civil war from private to captain in the twenty-fourth regiment Illinois volunteer infantry. In 1867 he began the practice of law in Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Administration of Justice in the United States.

VOORHIES, FRANK COREY, journalist, author, was born June 1, 1877, in Woodbury, N. J. In 1895 he graduated from the William Penn Charter school of Philadelphia, Pa.; and in 1899 graduated from Princeton university. He became a reporter on the Omaha Daily News; later became editor of The Spatuala of Boston, Mass.; and then for several years was an advertising writer of the Walter C. Lewis advertising agency of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Love Letters of an Irishwoman; Story of Lizzie McGuire; Mrs. McPiggs of the Very Old Sratch; Reflections of Bridget Mc Nulty; The Knoeker; Twisted History; That Settles the Nolans; and Twisted Biographies.

WAGNER, FRANK CASPAR, educator, mechanical engineer, was born Oct. 5, 1864, in Ann Arbor, Mich. In 1886-89 he was engaged in engineering work with the Thomson, Houston Electric Company; in 1890-96 was assistant professor of mechanical engineering at the University of Michigan; 1896-1904 associate professor of Steam and Electrical Engineering at Rose Polytechnic Institute; and since 1904, professor of Steam Engineering at that Institution.

WALKER, E. LAWTON, farmer, lawyer, state senator, was born Aug. 18, 1867, in Pierce county, Ga. He was educated at White Springs, Fla.; and is a farmer and lawyer by profession. In 1892-95 and in 1902-04 he was a Representative in the Georgia State Legislature. In 1893-94 he was a member of Town Council of Blaekshear, Ga.; and has been a member of the Pierce County Democratic Executive Committee. He is now a member of the Georgia State Senate from the Third District for the term of 1905-06.

WALKER, GUY MORRISON, lawyer, financial expert, author, was born Jan. 24, 1870, in Fort Wayne, Ind. He graduated from De Pauw university; and has received the degrees of A. B., A. M. and LL. D. from that institution. In 1891 he was admitted to the bar; has practiced his profession in New York, Michigan, Tennessee and Arkansas; and for ten years resided in China, and is an expert on Chinese matters. In 1894 he organized the Terre Haute trust company; in 1898 organized the Security trust company of Toledo; and is now a lawyer and financial expert of New York city. He is the author of Railroads and wages; What Shall We Buy; Interurban Railways; and other works.

WALLACE, EDWIN SHERMAN, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 3, 1864, in Butler County, Pa. In 1888 he became pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Aberdeen, S. D. In 1893-98 he was United States Council for Palestine; and since 1899 has been pastor of the First Presbyterian Church at Greensburg, Pa. He is the author of Jerusalem the Holy.

WATT, DAVID ALEXANDER, civil engineer, author, was born Dec. 27, 1865, in Maidstone, England. He has been engaged principally on the design and construction of locks and dams and other river improvements in the Ohio valley and elsewhere as United States Assistant Engineer.

WEBB, WALTER LORING, civil engineer, author, was born June 25, 1863, in Rye, N. Y. In 1888-92 he was instructor in civil engineering at Cornell University; and in 1893-1902 was a member of the faculty in the University of Pennsylvania. He is now a consulting engineer of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Problems in the Use and Adjustment of Engineering Instruments and "Railroad Construction. Also of two courses of instruction in Plotting and Topography and Railroad Engineering for the American School of Correspondence of the Armour Institute.

WEBBER, SAMUEL GILBERT, physician, surgeon, author, was born July 24, 1838, in Boston, Mass. In 1862-65 he was Assistant Surgeon in the United States Navy; and since 1865 has practiced his profession in Boston, Mass. He studied in Vienna 1866-67. He was Clinical Instructor in Nerveus Diseases, Harvard Medical School 1875-85; Resident Physician to Adams Nervine Asylum 1885 to 1891; Professor Neurology, Tuffs College Medical School 1893 to 1902; visiting physician Boston City Hospital, department Nervous and Renal Diseases, 1877 to 1885. He is the author of Boylston Prize Essay for 1866 on Cerebro Spinal Meningitis and of Treatise on Nervous Diseases.

WEBER, HENRY ADAM, educator, chemist, author, was born July 12, 1845, in Franklin County, Ohio. In 1874-82 he was professor of chemistry in the University of Illinois; and since 1884 has been professor of Agriculture Chemistry at the Ohio State University. He is the author of Select Course in Qualitative Analysis.

WEBSTER, JOHN CLARENCE, physician, surgeon, author, was born Oct. 21, 1863, in Canada. Since 1899 he has been professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology at the Rush Medical College of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Text Book of Diseases of Women and Other Medical Works.

WEGMANN, EDWARD, civil engineer, author, was born Nov. 27, 1850, in Rio de Jeneiro, Brazil. In 1861-66 he attended the public schools in Zurich, Switzerland; in 1866-70 studied at the Brooklyn polytechnic institute; and in 1871 graduated with the degree of C. E. from the New York university. In 1871-80 he was assistant engineer on the New York and Boston air line, New York elevated railway and other corporations. In 1880-84 he was resident engineer on the New York West Shore and Buffalo railroad; and in 1884-1904 was division engineer for the Aqueduct commission of New York city. Since 1904 he has been expert engineer and is now consulting engineer for the Aqueduct Commission of New York city. He is the author of the Design and Construction of Mason Dams; and The Water Supply of the City of New York.

WEIMER, ALBERT B., lawyer, law reporter, author, was born Jan. 5, 1857, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1882 he began the practice of law. In 1901 he became law reporter of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Railroad Law of Pennsylvania; and Corporation Law of Pennsylvania.

WEST, JAMES HARCOURT, publisher, author, was born Jan. 13, 1856, in Melrose, Mass. In youth he was a newspaper correspondent. In 1884-87 he was an Independent minister in Geneva, Ill.; and subsequently in Leicester and North Abington, Mass. Since 1888 he has been in the publishing business in Boston, Mass.; and in 1889 founded The New Ideal Magazine. He is the author of The Complete Lift; Uplifts of Heart and Will; In Love With Love; and The Ninth Paradise.

WHEELER, CHARLES GILBERT, chemist, geologist, inventor, author, was born July 23, 1836, in Canada. He has traveled extensively in Europe, Asia, and America; and in 1869 invented the Babcock Chemical fire extinguisher. He has been scientific expert for the Bell Telephone company; and president of the Chicago college of pharmacy. He is the author of Natural History Chart; The Terminative Mineralogy; Chemistry of Building Materials; and Medical Chemistry.

WHEELER, HENRY, soldier, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 22, 1835, in England. In 1855 he became a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church; and during the Civil war was Chaplain of the Seventeenth Pennsylvania Volunteer Cavalry. He is the author of Deaconesses Ancient and Modern; One Thousand Questions and Answers on Methodism The Probationer; and other Religious Works.

WHITAKER, GEORGE, clergyman, college president, was born May 14, 1836, in Boston, Mass. Since 1861 he has filled pastorates in various cities; and since 1900 has been pastor of Trinity Church of Cambridge, Mass., Now 1906 pastor of Centralville, Lowell, Methodist Episcopal Church. In 1887-91 he was president of Wiley University of Marshall, Texas; in 1891-92 was president of Willamett University and in 1899-1900 was president of the Portland Universtiy, Ore.

WHITAKER, HERBERT C., educator, mathematician, inventor, was born Oct. 31, 1862, at Cape May, N. J. Since 1888 he has been professor of Mathematics at the Central Manual Training High School of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of a Textbook on Trigonometry; and of numerous magazine articles on economics, astronomy and mathematics.

WHITE, WILBERT WEBSTER, clergyman, educator, author, was born Jan. 16, 1863, in Ashland, Ohio. He has been professor of Hebrew and Old Testament Literature in Xenia Theological Seminary; a teacher in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, Ill. Since 1900 has been President of The Winona Bible School at New York City. He is the author of Thirty Studies in the Gospel of St. John's studies in Old Testament Characters; The Natural Method of Memorizing; and Memory Training.

WHITEHEAD, RICHARD HENRY, educator, physician, author, was born July 27, in Salisbury, N. C. In 1891-1903 he was professor of Anatomy at the University of North Carolina, and professor of Anatomy and Dean of Medical Department, University of Virginia. He is the author of Anatomy of the Brain.

WHITNEY, LOREN HARPER, lawyer, soldier, author, was born Sept. 12, 1839, in Berlin, Ohio. He served through the Civil war, and was commissioned colonel of the one hundred and fortieth regiment Illinois volunteer infantry, which he had organized. He served in twelve battles and forty skirmishes; and was twice wounded. Since then he has been engaged in the practice of law in Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Parallels in the Lives of Buddha and Jesus.

WHITNEY, MILTON, scientist, author, was born Aug. 2, 1860, in Baltimore, Md. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools; and took a special three years' course in chemistry at the Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore, Md. In 1883 he became assistant chemist to the Connecticut agricultural experiment station; in 1886-88 was superintendent of the experiment farm at the North Carolina experiment station; and in 1888-91 was professor of agriculture at the university of South Carolina, and vice director of the South Carolina experiment station. In 1891-94 he was soil physicist at the Maryland experiment station; and since 1894 has been chief bureau of soils in the United States department of agriculture. He is the author of numerous Reports on Soil Physics.

WHITSON, JOHN HARVEY, author, was born Dec. 28, 1854, near Seymour, Ind. He has practiced law in Seymour, Ind.; and then entered journalism as editor and traveling correspondent. Lived several years on the Western Plains. At present a resident of Massachusetts. Now engaged in book and magazine writing. He is the author of The Young Ditch Rider; Barbara A Woman of the West; With Fremont, the Patfinder; A Courier of Empire; Campaigning with Teppecanoe; The Rainbow Chasers; Justice Wingate; Ranchman; and other stories.

WHITTEN, ROBERT HARVEY, editor, librarian, was born Oct. 9, 1873, at South Bend, Ind. Since 1898 he has been Sociology librarian and editor of the Yearbook of Legislation of the New York State Library. He is the author of Public Administration in Massachusetts.

WICKERSHAM, WILLIAM HOWARD, business man, legislator, was born Nov. 21, 1872, in Media, Pa. He received a thorough education in the public schools of Los Angeles, Cal.; and also studed under private tutors. He is manager of The Morgan Oyster Company of San Pedro, Cal.; and prominently identified with the business and public affairs of that city. He has been school trustee for the City of San Pedro; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. He is a Representative in the California State Legislature for the term of 1905-06; and resides in San Pedro, Cal.

WIGGIN, TWING BROOKS, physician, author, was born Jan. 8, 1865, in Allegheny city, Pa. Since 1901 he has been adjunct professor of the practice of medicine and clinical medicine at the College of Physicians and Surgeons. He is the author of Outlines of Physiology.

WILBUR, HENRY W., printer, journalist, author, was born May 15, 1851, in Easton, N. Y. He was educated in the public schools of New York and New Jersey; attended the high school of Vineland, N. J.; and studied in the Union village academy of Greenwich, N. Y. He is a printer by profession; and for the past thirty years has been an editor and writer. In 1876-84 he was editor of the Vineland, Independent; in 1888-91 was editor of the Hammonton Mirror; in 1896-98 was on the editorial staff of the New York Voice; and in 1901-02 was editor of Gunton's Magazine; and in 1899-1905 was editor of the New York Defender. He is recommended minister of the religious society of friends; and general secretary of the committee for the advancement of Friends' principles of friend's general conference; and resides in Philadelphia, Pa.

WILDER, HARRIS HAWTHORNE, educator, zoologist, author, was born April 7, 1864, in Bangor, Maine. Since 1892 he has been professor of zoology at Smith College of Northampton, Mass. He is the auther of Inverterbrate Zoology; Synopsis of Animal Classification; and numerous technical papers on vertebrate anatomy.

WILDMAN, EDWIN, journalist, author, was born May 9, 1867, in Corning, N. Y. In 1897, Vice and Deputy Consul General Hongkong, China. In 1898-1900 he was special war correspondent in the Phillippines; and in 1900-01 in China for the Hearst Newspapers. Later N. Y. World, Outing Magazine. He is the author of Aguinaldo a Narrative of Filipino Ambitions. Editor and President M. A. P., in America, 41 Union Sq., New York.

WILLIAMS, FRANCIS CHURCHILL, journalist, author, was born April 23, 1869 in Philadelphia, Pa. For ten years he was an editor of the Philadelphia Evening Bulletin. In 1901 he became associated with the publishing house of J. B. Lippincott Company, for which company he is literary advisor. He is the author of J. Devlin-Boss; The Captain and Stories of the Colleges.

WILLIAMS, HERBERT UPHAM, physician, pathologist, author, was born Nov. 28, 1866, in Buffalo, N. Y. Since 1889 he has practiced his profession in Buffalo, N. Y.; and since 1894 has been professor of Pathology and Bacteriology at the University of Buffalo. He is the author of Manual of Bacteriology.

WILLING, JOHN THOMSON, designer, artist, author, was born Aug. 5, 1860, in Toronto, Canada. He is a designer of book plates; and from 1900-03 has been art manager of The North American of Philadelphia, Pa.; and since 1903 art manager of the associated Sunday Magazine, and the American Lithographer Company of New York. He is the author of Some Old Time Beauties; and Dames of High Degree.

WILLIS, JOHN CALVIN, educator, college president, was born Nov. 1, 1862, in Lawrenceburg, Ky. He was educated at the Kentucky university and at the university of Wooster, Ohio. He has received the degrees of Ph. D. and M. D. He was vice-president of Kentucky university of Lexington, Ky.; and professor of psychology and psychiatry in that institution until 1906. Since 1906 he has been president of the university of Louisville, Ky. He has contributed extensively to educational and scientific journals.

WILSON, GEORGE WEST, journalist, founder, public official, was born May 10, 1859, in Boone county, Ky. He was educated in the public schools and under private instructors; his principal instructor being professor Todd, brother-in-law of Lincoln. He received the nomination for the state legislature; has always been an ardent political worker; and in 1881 founded the Orange Lake Floridan. In 1897 he took charge of the Florida Citizen, which the same years was consolidated with the Times-Union. He is president and editor of the Florida Times-Union, now one of the leading daily newspapers in Florida. For three years he was president of the Semi-Tropical exposition, in 1889 was commissioner to the Paris exposition; and for six years was president of the board of trustees of the University of Florida. He was collector of internal revenue under president Cleveland; and in 1892 was chairman of the Florida democratic state committee campaign.

WILSON, DANIEL MUNRO, clergyman, author, was born April 24, 1848, in Scotland. In 1872 he became a Pastor of the Unitarian Church at Melrose, Mass.; in 1879 pastor of First Church, Quincy, Mass,; in 1898 pastor of the Third Unitarian Congregational Church of Brooklyn, N. Y.; and is now pastor of First Church, Northfield Mass. He is the autnor of Chapel of Ease and Church of Statesmen; and Where American Independence Began.

WILSON, FLOYD BAKER, lawyer, author, was born June 23, 1845, in Watervliet, N. Y. In 1873-80 he practiced law in Chicago, Ill.; and since 1880 has practiced law in New York City, his specialty being corporation and mining law. He is the author of Up Hill, a novel; and Paths to Power; Man Limitless; works on progressive thought. He has also translated the comedy of La Coja y el Encogido.

WILSON, HUNTINGTON, diplomat, was born Dec. 15, 1875, in Chicago, Ill. He was educated in Europe and America, and graduated from Yale University. In 1901 he was charge d' Affaires of the United States at Tokio, Japan, in 1902 and again in 1903 was also United State Charge d' Affaires at the same capital; and has filled various other positions of trust and honor. Since 1897 he has been in the United States Diplomatic Service; and is now Secretary of Legation at Tokio, Japan.

WILSON, VICTOR TYSON, educator, draftsman, author, was born April 11, 1864, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1887-93 he was in business in New York City; from 1893 to 1903 he was a teacher of drawing in Sibley College of Cornell University. Since 1904 he has been Ass't Prof. General Engineering Drawing in Univ. of Illinois. He is the author of Free Hand Perspective; and Free Hand Lettering.

WILTSE, CARLOS PALMER, justice of the peace, was born Aug. 25, in Muk-wonago, Waukesha county, Wis. He was educated at the Peru state normal school of Nebraska. He is a lawyer and editor; has been postmaster of Newport, Neb.; and is now a justice of the peace of Rock county, Neb. He has filled various other positions of trust and honor; and resides in Newport, Neb.

WILSTACH, PAUL, dramatist, author, was born July 1, 1870, in LaFayette, Ind. He is the author of Solitaire, Fifty Games of Patience. His plays of Polly Primerose, A Capital Comedy; A Gay Deceiver; Rufus Rugg; and others have been produced.

WINCHELL, SAMUEL ROBERTSON, business manager, author, was born Nov. 26, 1843, in North East, N. Y. He has been editor, publisher and proprietor of various educational journals; and in 1894-97 was principal of the Winchell Academy of Evanston, Ill. Since 1892 he has been manager of Winchell's teachers' agency and lecture bureau. He is the author of Latin Prose Composition; and several other educational works.

WINSLOW, CHARLES EDWARD AMORY, educator, bacteriologist, author, was born Feb. 4, 1877, in Boston, Mass. Since 1902 he has been instructor, since 1905 Assistant Professor of Biology in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is the author of a translation of Endermann, "Magda"; and of text-books and scientific papers upon various problems in Bacteriology and sanitary science.

WINSLOW, ISAAC OSCAR, educator, author, was born Jan. 30, 1856, in Fairfield, Maine. He was educated at the Friend's school of Providence, R. I.; and graduated in 1878 and 1880 with the degrees of A. B. and A. M. from Brown university. In 1878 he became principal of the Federal street school of Providence; was instructor in the technical high schol of Providence; and since 1899 has been principal of the Thayer street school of Providence, R. I. He is the author of Principles of Agriculture; The Natural Arithmetic; and a series of Geographies and a series of Geographical Readers.

WITHERSTINE, C. SUMNER, physician, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 15, 1854, in New York City. Since 1878 he has practiced his profession in New York City and Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of International Pocket Medical Formulary.

WOLL, FRITZ WILHELM, educator, chemist, author, was born May 23, 1865, in Norway, since 1904 he has been associate professor of Agricultural Chemistry at the University of Wisconsin. He is the author of Agricultural Calender; Dairy Calender; and A Book on Silage; joint author of Testing Milk and Its products; and translator of Grotenfelt's Principles of Modern Dairy Practice.

WOOD, CASEY ALBERT, physician, author, was born Nov. 21, 1856, in Canada. In 1877-1901 he practiced medicine in Montreal, Canada; now practices his profession in Chicago, Ill.; and has been president of the Chicago Opthalmological society. He is the author of several text-books on Diseases of the Eye.

WOOD, CHARLES SEELY, clergyman, author, was born April 19, 1845 in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1869 he became a pastor of the Presbyterian Church. He is the author of Alice and Her Two Friends; On the Frontier with St. Clair; The Sword of Wayne; and Camp-Fires On The Scioto.

WOOD, THOMAS J., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Sept. 30, 1844, in Athens county, Ohio. He was educated in the high schools of Terre Haute, Ind.; and in 1868 graduated from the law department of the Michigan state university. Since 1869 he has practiced law in Crown Point, Ind.; for four years was state's attorney; and has always been prominently identified with the democratic party. For four years he was a member of the Indiana state senate; and for two years was a member of the forty-eighth congress from Indiana as a democrat. He was much talked of as a favorite for the presidential candidacy; and had the Alton B. Parker movement failed on the first ballot, Mr. Wood's name would have been placed before the convention, and he would have received thirty-nine votes on the next ballot. He is still actively engaged in the practice of law; and resides in Point, Ind.

WOODBURY, CHARLES JEPTHA HILL, civil engineer, inventor, author, was born May 4, 1851, in Lynn, Mass. Since 1894 he has been assistant engineer with the American Bell Telephone Company of Boston, Mass. In 1884 he received the Alastian Medal from the Societe Industrielle de Mulhouse for work on mill engineering. In 1885 he received the Johns Scott Medal from the city of Philadelphia for meritorious electrical inventions. He is the author of Fire Protection of Mills.

WOODFORD, ARTHUR BURNHAM, educator, economist, author, was born Oct. 7, 1861, in Winsted, Conn. Since 1897 he has been lecturer, and instructor at the Hopkins Grammar School of New Haven, Conn. He is the Author of The Economic Primer.

WOODRING, JAMES D., educator clergyman, college president, was born in 1854, in Lehigh county, Pa. He has been pastor of churches in Betlehem, Allentown, Reading and Philadelphia. Since 1902 he has been president of Albright College at Myerstown, Pa.

WOODRUFF, FRANK EDWARD, educator, was born March 20, 1855, in Eden, Vt. Superintendent of schools at Brunswick, Maine 1900-1904; since 1887 professor of Greek at Bowdoin College; author of Greek Prose Composition; and New Greek Prose Composition.

WOODRUFF, THOMAS ADAMS, physician, author, was born June 4, 1865, in Canada. Since 1890 he has practiced medicine in Chicago, Ill. He is the author of The Common Diseases of the Eye.

WOODS , ROBERT HAHN, soldier, journalist, was born April 17, 1840, in Greenville, Pa. During the Civil war he was a soldier in the Sixty-fourth Regiment Illinois Volunteer; and was twice brevetted fer gallantry on the field of battle. He is a successful journalist and editor. He was Department Commander of the Grand Army of the Republic for Illinois for the term of 1905; and resides in Chicago, Ill.

WOODWARD, FRANKLIN COWLES, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born May 27, 1849, in Virginia. In 1875 he was ordained a clergyman in the Methodist Episcopal Church South. In 1897-1902 he was president of the South Carolina College; and in 1906 Professor of English Literature in Richmond Woman's College. He is the author of English in the Schools; and English Analysis.

WOODWARD, P. HENRY, journalist, public official, banker, author, was born March 19, 1833, in Franklin, Conn. In 1862-65 he was editor of the Hartford Courant. In 1865-76 he was a special agent of the Post Office Department; and in 1881-85 had charge of the preparation of evidence in the Star Route cases. Since 1885 he has lived in Hartford, Conn.; is president of the Dime Savings Bank of that city and vice presiden of the Connecticut Life Ins. Co. He is the author of Guarding the Mail; Insurance in Connecticut; and Manufactures in Hartford..

WOOLSEY, GEORGE, physician, surgeon, author, was born May 2, 1861 in New Haven, Conn. In 1890-98 he was professor of Anatomy and clinical surgery at the New York University Medical School; and since 1898 has filled the same chair at Cornell University and Medical College in New York City. He is the author of Applied Surgical Anatomy. He is visiting Surgeon to Bellevue Hospital and associate visiting Surgeon to the Presbyterian Hospital of York City.

WORTHINGTON, EDWARD WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born May 10, 1854, in Batavia, N. Y. Since 1887 he has been rector of Grace Church of Cleveland, Ohio. He is the author of Ember Days and other Papers; The Holy Eucharist Devotionally Considered; and Occasional Officers of the Prayer Book.

WRIGHT, JOHN EDWARD, journalist, editor, was born Oct. 14, 1861, in Toulon, Ill. Since 1885 he has been engaged in journalis min Chicago, Ill. In 1892-1900 he was city editor, and since 1901 has been managing editor of the Chicago Evening Post. In 1889-90 he was president of the Press club.

WULLING, FREDERICK JOHN, educator, pharmacologist, author, was born Dec. 24, 1866, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1892 he has been Dean of the Faculty; and professor of pharmacutical chemistry in the University of Minnesota. He is the author of Medical and Pharmacutical Chemistry and Evolution of Botany.

YODER, ROBERT ANDERSON, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Aug. 16, in Lincoln county, N. C. For many years he served as pastor of St. James Church of Newton, N. C.; was president of Concordia College in 1888-91; and president of Lenoir College in 1891-1901. He is now pastor of Emmanuel's Church of Lincolnton, N. C.

YOUNG, MARTHA, writer, was born near Greensboro, Ala. She is a public reader and magazine contributor. She is the author of Plantation Songs; and Plantation Bird Legends; and Bessie Bell.

ZECKWER, RICHARD, musician, composer, author, was born April 30, 1850, in Prussia. In 1869 he became a teacher in the Philadelphia Musical Academy; and in 1876 became proprietor of that institution. He is the inventor of the Liberating of the Ring Finger for the perfection of Technique. He is the composer of Festival Overture and Bride of Messina; and the author of A Scientific Investigation of Touch.

ZEISLER, SIGMUND, lawyer, orator, was born, April 11, 1860, in Austria; in 1884 he graduated from the Northwestern University Law School with the degree of LL. B.; and has since practiced law in Chicago, Ill. In 1885 he married Fannie Bloomfield, the noted pianist of Chicago, Ill., he was Associate Counsel in 18886-87 for the defense in the Anarchist cases; and in 1893-94 was chief Assistant Corporation Counsel ofr the city of Chicago. He is distinguished as an orator; stumped the country in 1896 for McKinley on the money issue, and in 1900 for Bryan on the issue of imperialism.

ZIMMERMAN, THOMAS C., journalist, author, was born Jan. 23, 1838, in Lebanon, Pa. He learned the printing business; since 1869 has been a journalist and publisher; and is now president of the Reading Times Publishing Company of Reading, Pa. He is the author of Olla Podrida two volumes of translations, addresses, hymns and poems.

ADDENDA.

ABBOT, EDWIN HALE, railroad president, was born Jan. 26, 1834, in Beverly, Mass. He is president and treasurer of the Wisconsin Central railroad.

ABBOTT, FRANK FROST, educator, author, was born March 27, 1860, in Redding, Conn. Since 1891 he has been instructor of latin at the University of Chicago. He is the author of Repetition in Latin.

ABBOTT, MRS. MARY PERKINS journalist, author, was born Oct. 17, 1857, in Salem, Mass. Since 1893 she has been book-reviewer of the Chicago Times-Herald. She is the author of Alexia; and The Beverleys.

ABEL, JOHN J., physician, author, was born May 19, 1857, in Cleveland, Ohio. He is in charge of the department of physiological chemistry at Johns Hopkins University Medical School of Baltimore Md. He is the author of special Researches on animal tissues and fluids.

ABELL, EDITH, musician, vocalist, was born Dec. 25, 1846, in Boston, Mass. In 1868 she made her debut in Philadelphia as Arline in the Bohemian Girl and also appeared in the larger cities of the United States. She also was successful in opera in Italy and London. She prepares pupils for the concert and operatic stage in Boston, Mass.

ABERNETHY, WILLIAM ELLIS educator, college president, author, was born May 28, 1860, in Rutherford College, N. C. He has been president of Rutherford College since 1894. He is the author of a volume of lectures.

ADAMS, ANDREW N., clergyman, state senator, genealogist, author, was born Jan. 6, 1830, in Fair Haven, Vt. He has filled pastorates in Needham and Franklin, Mass.; and in 1860 retired from the ministry. Since 1861 he has been engaged in the mercantile business at Fair Haven, Vt.; and for twenty-five years a trustee of the State Normal school, and its president of the board. In 1884-85 he was a representative in the Vermont state legislature; and a member of the State Senate in 1888-89. He is the author of History of Fair Haven; and Genealogy of James and William Adams.

ADAMS, CHARLES JOSIAH, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born in New Lisbon, Ohio, Oct. 31, 1850. Since 1896 he has been rector of St. Luke's Church of Rossville, N. Y. He is the author of Is Man Alone Immortal; The Matterhorn Head, and Other Poems.

ADAMS, CYRUS CORNELIUS, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 7, 1849, in Naperville, Ill. He was first president, department of geography, Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences; and in 1889-90 made its geographical collection. Since 1884 he has been on the editorial staff of the New York Sun. He is the author of Commercial Geography for High Schools.

ADAMS, HENRY A., Jr., naval officer, was born in 1833 in Pennsylvania. He was commissioned as lieutenant in 18[illegible] and was on the Brooklyn at the passage of forts St. Philip and Jackson, and the capture of New Orleans in 1862. He volunteered for anything and everything. After the taking of Richmond he was one of the party that accompanied President Lincoln on his entry into the city. He was commissioned as commander in 1866.

ADAMS, JAMES BARTON, soldier, author, poet, was born April 17, 1843, in Jefferson county, Ohio. He served in the sixth Iowa infantry until the close of the civil war; and in 1873-77 served in the Indian wars. He is the author of Breezy Western Verse.

ADAMS, JOHN W., geologist, was born Sept. 4, 1844, in Whitesburg, Ky. He has attained a national reputation as a noted geologist of Kentucky.

ADAMS, MAUDE, actress, was born Nov. 11, 1872, in Salt Lake City, Utah. She has attained success in Little Minister. Her real name is Kiskadden.

ADAMS, ROBERT NEWTON, soldier, clergyman, was born Sept. 15, 1835, in Fayette county, Ohio. He served through the civil war and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He now fills a pastorate in the Presbyterian church at Minneapolis, Minn.

ADAMS, SMITH, jeweler, genealogist was born April 22, 1828, in Newburyport, Mass. He is a clockmaker of Milltown, Maine. He is the author of the genealogy and history of a part of the Newbury Adams Family.

ADAMSON PENRHYN STANLEY illustrator, author, was born March 19, 1877, in Scotland. He has done drawing for Life, Judge, Scribner's and Harper's. He is the author of College Girls.

ADDAMS, JANE, lecturer, social reformer, was born Sept. 6, 1860, in Cedarville, Ill. She is a well known writer and lecturer on social settlement work and social and political reforms. She is head resident of Hull House of Chicago, Ill.

ADDISON, DANIEL DULANY, clergyman, author; was born in Wheeling, W. Va., March 11, 1863. Since 1895 he has been rector of All Saints Church of Brookline, Mass. He is the author of Lucy Larcom, Life, Letters and Diary; Phillips Brooks; New England Town in the Civil War; Life and Times of Edward Bass, First Bishop of Massachusetts; All Saints Church, Brooklyn; and The Clergy in American Life and Letters.

ADLER, CYRUS, librarian, archaeologist, author, was born Sept. 13, 1863, in Van Buren, Ark. He has been president of the American Jewish Historical Society; and since 1892 librarian of Smithsonian Institution of Washington, D. C. He is the author of Told in the Coffee House, a book of Turkish Tales.

AGRAMONTE, EMILIO, musician, composer, was born Nov. 28, 1844, in Cuba During thirty years of active work in New York, he has trained many good singers. He is the composer of numerous songs and sacred compositions; and various lectures.

AIKEN, WILLIAM MARTIN, architect, was born April 1, 1855, in Charleston, S. C. In 1895-97 he was supervising architect of the United States Treasury Department; and since 1897 has been in practice in New York City. He was concerned in the designing and erection of the mint buildings at Philadelphia and Denver; and numerous postoffice and custom-house buildings.

AINSWORTH, FREDERICK CRAYTON, army surgeon, was born in Woodstock, Vt., Sept. 11, 1852. He has attained the rank of brigadier-general. He devised and introduced the index-record system, by means of which all military and medical records have been reproduced in such a way as to make the full history of any soldier immediately available. The adoption of this system resulted in saving nearly half-a-million dollars annually.

ALBERT, ARISTIDES, clergyman, orator, was born in 1853 in St. Charles parish, La. He has been a member of several Methodist conferences; and in 1881-84 was assistant editor of the Southwestern Christian Advocate, succeeding to the editorship in 1887. He was the orator of the colored people of Louisiana at the World's exposition at New Orleans in 1885.

ALBRIGHT, EDWIN, lawyer state senator, jurist, was born Nov. 8, 1838, in Lehigh County, Pa. For three years he was district attorney; and for six years was a member of the Pennsylvania state senate. Since 1878 he has been president judge of the district court of Lehigh County, Pa.

ALDEN, JOHN CARVER musician, composer, was born Sept. 11 1852, in Boston, Mass. Since 1899 he has been head of the piano department at the Quincy Mansion School of Wollaston Mass. He is the composer of pianoforte music songs and anthems.

ALDEN, MARCH, journalist, author was born Sept. 29, 1869, in Easton, Pa. Since 1891 he has been on the staff of the Philadelphia Press. He is the author of a volume upon the Philippines.

ALDERMAN, EDWIN ANDERSON educator, college president lecturer author, was born in Wilmington N. C., May 15, 1861. Since 1896 he has been president of North Carolina University. He is the author of William Hooper, Signer of the Declaration; and School History of North Carolina.

ALDRICH, EDGAR lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born in 1848 in Pittsburg N. H. In 1885 he was a member and speaker of the New Hampshire legislature. Since 1891 he has been judge of the United States for the district of New Hampshire.

ALEXANDER, JAMES WADDELL president author, was born July 19, 1839, in Princeton, N. J. He was a member of the New York bar until 1866 when he entered the Equitable life insurance Society of the United States, with which he has been since connected; and on the death of Henry B. Hyde, in 1899, succeeded to the office of president. He is known as a public speaker and is the author of Princeton, Old and New.

ALEXANDER, WILLIAM DE WITT civil engineer, author, was born April 2, 1833, in Honolulu. He has been surveyor general of Hawaiian Islands since 18[illegible] and assistant in United States Coast Survey since Feb. 1, 1901. He is the author of A Brief History of the Hawaiian People; History of the Later Years of the Hawaiian Monarchy; Hawaiian Grammar, and Introduction to L. Andrews' Hawaiian Dictionary.

ALFRIEND, EDWARD MORRISSON, dramatist, author, was born in Richmond, Va., Oct. 25, 1843. He is the author of A Woman's Ordeal; A Foregeone Conclusion; The Louisianian; Across the Potomac; The Diplomats; The Great Diamond Robbery; and His Double Life.

ALLEN, ALFRED, dramatist, author, was born in Alfred, N. Y., April 8, 1866. He is the author of The Heart of Don Vega; Judge Lynch; Chivalry; The Cup of Victory; The Triumph of Todd; and plays entitled Jack the Giant Killer; A Burglar Honeymoon; Playmates; and Head of the House.

ALLEN, AMOS L., lawyer,congressman, was born March 17, 1837 in Waterborough, Maine. He was admitted to the bar of York County in 1866; served as clerk in Treasury Department for about three years; was elected clerk of the courts for York County in 1870 and reelected three times and served twelve years; was clerk of the Judiciary committee, House of Representatives, in 1883-84; and a special examiner under the Pension Bureau for a year in 1884-85. He was a member of the Maine legislature in 1886-87; was private secretary to Speaker Reed in the Fifty-first, Fifty-fourth, and Fifty-fifth Congreses. He was elected to the Fifty-sixth Congress to fill a vacancy.

ALLEN, ANDREW HUSSEY, historian, author, was born Dec. 6, 1855, in New York City. He is chief of Bureau of Rolls and Library at Washington, D. C. He is the author of The Historical Archives of the Department of State; and various other government publications.

ALLEN, CHARLES, lawyer, jurist, author was born April 17, 1827, in Greenfield, Mass. He practised law in Greenfield till 1862, after that in Boston. In 1861-67 he was Reporter of Decisions, supreme jud. court of Mass., attorney-general of Mass. in 1867-72; chairman of Commission to Revise Statutes of Mass. in 1881. In 1882-98 he was associate justice supreme judicial court of Massachusetts. He was author of Allen's Mass. Reports in 14 vols; and Telegraph Cases.

ALLEN, CHARLES DEXTER, journalist, banker, author, was born May 8, 1865, in Windsor Locks, Conn. He is by occupation a banker; and is literary editor of Hartford Post. He is the author of American Book Plates; A Classified List of Early American Bookplates; and Ex Libris, Essays of a Collector.

ALLEN, CORNELIUS L., lawyer, jurist, was born July 17, 1800, in Lansingburgh, N. Y. For nine years he was District Attorney of Washington County, N. Y.; became judge of Court of Appeals, and subsequently a justice of the Supreme Court. In 1867 he was a delegate to the constitutional convention of New York; held many local positions; was a thirty-two degree Mason; and for fifty years was a trustee of Washington Academy. His father, David Allen, was a prominent lawyer of Rensselaer County, N. Y., and was Surrogate, Assemblyman and State Senator for many years.

ALLEN, EDWIN WEST, scientist, author, was born Oct. 28, 1864, in Amherst, Mass. He is assistant director, Office of Experiment Stations, U. S. Dept. of Agr. He is the author of various papers on agricultural chemistry and on history and work of agricultural experiment stations; and now editor Experiment Station Record.

ALLEN, ETHAN, lawyer, author, was born May 12, 1832, in Manasquau, N. J. He is a noted lawyer of New York City; and in 1896-98 was president Cuban League of the United States. He is the author of Drama of the Revolution.

ALLEN, GRACE BARTON, educator, artist, was born in Richmond, Va. She is a water-color artist; and a teacher in the New York School of Applied Design for Women. Many of her pictures have been lithographed.

ALLEN, HENRY D., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born June 24, 1854, in Henderson County, Ky. He taught in public schools until 1875; graduated from Missouri Medical College in 1877; and licensed to practice law in 1878. He was county attorney for nine years. He was elected to 56th Congress as Democrat from Morganfield, Ky.

ALLEN, HENRY FRANCIS, physician, surgeon, author, was born June 23, 1837, in Wales. He has attained success as a noted physician and surgeon of St. Louis, Mo. He has written and lectured on Economic subjects; in 1872 he addressed the International Society of St. Louis on The Need of Reform, which was a clear forecast of The Trust-Domination now obtaining; and is now engaged on a typical American play of the times, embodying all the salient features of the live economic issues of the hour. He is the author of The Key of Industrial Co-operative Government; and A Strange Voyage.

ALLEN, JAMES LANE, lawyer, author, was born March 3, 1848, in Lexington, Ky. Since 1872 he has practiced law in Chicago, and is a director of the Chicago Public Library. He is the author of Allen's Handbook of the Nebraska Code.

ALLEN, JAMES MORRILL, physician, surgeon, was born Feb. 22, 1831, in Boston, Mass. During the civil war he was acting assistant surgeon in United States Army; and in 1865-67, was medical inspector of the Metropolitan Board of Health, Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1869 he has been acting assistant surgeon of the United States marine hospital at Milwaukee, Wis.

ALLEN, JOHN, author, poet, was born in 1833 in Billingham, Mass. He is the author of Literary Art, poems, History of New Castle, N. H., Prose Idyls, and Life of Henry Dexter.

ALLEN, JOHN ROBERT, educator, author, was born in Iredell County, N. C. Since 1892 he has been professor of mental and moral philosophy, Southwestern University of Georgetown, Texas. He is the author of Man, Money and the Bible: and The Itinerant's Guide.

ALLEN, NATHAN H., musician, composer, was born in 1848 in Marion, Mass. He settled in Hartford, Conn., as organist of the Centre Church and teacher. He is the author of Church-music, songs, and part-songs.

ALLEN, OSCAR DANA, chemist, author, was born Feb. 25, 1836, in Hebron, Maine. He was graduated at the Sheffield scientific school in 1861, and ten years later he received the degree of doctor of philosophy for original investigations, having in the mean time been an assistant professor there. In 1871 he became professor of metallurgy and assaying, and in 1873 was appointed to the chair of analytical chemistry and metallurgy. His researches have been chiefly on the rare element caesium and rubidium. The latest American edition of Fresenius's Quantitative Analysis was edited and revised by him.

ALLEN, STEPHEN HALEY, lawyer, jurist, was born March 19, 1847, in Sinclairville, N. Y. In 1870 he settled in Pleasanton, Kan., was county attorney of Linn County in 1874; judge 6th judicial district in 1890-2; and associate justice supreme court of Kansas in 1892-9; now practicing law.

ALLEN, VIOLA, actress, was born in the south. She has attained note for her successful rendition of Gloria Quayle in The Christian.

ALLEN, WALTER, journalist, author, was born March 21, 1840, in Boston, Mass. In 1864-65 he was acting assistant paymaster in the United States navy. In 1866-69 he was engaged in journalistic work with the Cincinnati Gazette; and then for seventeen years with the Boston Daily Advertiser. In 1886 he became one of the editors of Webster's International Dictionary. He is the author of Governor Chamberlain's Administration in South Carolina; and Life of General Ulysses S. Grant.

ALLEN WILLARD S., business man, genealogist, was born May 12, 1841, in Eastford, Conn. He is engaged in real estate in East Boston, Mass.; has been clerk of the district court; and for fifteen years has been a member of the Boston school board. He is the author of a genealogy of the Allen Family.

ALLIN, ROGER, farmer, state legislator, governor, was born Dec. 18, 1848, in England. He lived in Canada until 1878, then in Mich. until 1879, when he settled in Dakota, filing on land he now farms. He was Member Territorial Council in 1886-9; Constitutional Convention in 1889, first legislative assembly of North Dakota in 1889; lieutenant-governor in 1890; and fourth governor of North Dakota in 1894-7.

ALLINSON, FRANCIS GREENLEAF, educator, author, was born in 1856 in Burlington, N. J. Since 1898 he has been professor of philology in Brown University He is the author of Greek Prose Composition.

ALLMOND, MARCUS BLAKELY, clergyman, educator, author, poet, was born Aug. 17, 1851; in Stanardville, Va. Since 1900 he has been professor of Latin and German at the Hampden-Sidney College. He is the author of Abraham Lincoln; The Star of Sangamon.

ALMY, FREDERIC, lawyer, composer, was born in New Bedford, Mass., Nov. 28, 1858. Since 1894 he has been secretary Charity Organization Society of Buffalo N. Y. He is joint author of libretto of two comic operas, entitled Trilby and Orpheus and Eurydice; and of The Niagara Book.

ALTSHELER, JOSEPH ALEXANDER, journalist, author, was born April 29, 1862, in Three Springs, Ky. Since leaving college he has been on Louisville Courier-Journal and New York World. He is the author of The Rainbow of Gold and The Hidden Mine; The Sun of Saratoga; A Knight of Philadelphia; A Soldier of Manhattan; The Last Rebel; A Herald of the West; and My Captive.

ALVEY, RICHARD HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born in March, 1826, in Southern Maryland. He was one of Pierce presidential electors in 1852; was a member of Maryland State Constitutional Convention in 1867; chief judge fourth judicial circuit and a judge Maryland court of appeals in 1867-83; chief justice Maryland court of appeal in 1883-93; and chief justice since 1893 of court of appeals, D. C. In 1896 he was one of the Venezuela Boundry commission.

ALVORD, HENRY CLAY, clergyman, genealogist, was born April 30, 1854. Since 1886 he has been pastor of Old South Church of South Weymouth, Mass. He is author of Descendants of Jonathan Gillet.

ALVORD, HENRY ELIJAH, soldier, educator, author, was born March 11, 1844, in Greenfield, Mass. He enlisted as a private in 1862, and passed through every grade to that of major in 1865. At the close of the war he was appointed to the regular army with the rank of captain of cavalry; and remained as such until 1872, when he became a special Indian courier. He then lectured for a time at Williston seminary of Easthampton, Mass. In 1886 he was elected professor of agriculture at the Massachusetts agricultural college, Amherst. He is the author of the American sections of Dairy Farming.

AMES, HERMAN VANDENBURG, educator, author, was born Aug. 7, 1865, in Lancaster, Mass. Since 1897 he has been instructor American constitutional history at the University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of The Proposed Amendments to the Constitution of the United States which in 1897 was awarded the prize of American Historical Association.

AMES, JAMES BARR, educator, author, was born June 22, 1846, in Boston, Mass. Since 1895 he has been dean of Harvard Law School. He has compiled collections of cases on torts, pleading, bills and notes, partnership, trusts and suretyship, and is the author of numerous articles in Harvard Law Review and other law reviews.

AMES, JOHN GRIFFITH, clergyman, public official, author, was born Dec. 11, 1834, in East Dorset, Vt. Since 1874 he has been superintendent of documents, U. S. Dept. of the Interior. He is the author of Comprehensive Index of Publications of the U. S. Government.

AMES, JOSEPH SWEETMAN, educator, author, was born July 3, 1864, in Manchester, Vt. He is professor of physics in Johns Hopkins University. He is the author of Theory of Physics; and Manual of Experiments in Physics.

AMIDON, CHARLES FREMONT, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 17, 1856, in Clymer, N. Y. In 1893 he was a member of the commission to revise codes and statutes of North Dakota. Since 1896 he has been U. S. judge for the district of North Dakota.

ANDERSON, EDWIN HATFIELD, librarian, was born Sept 27, 1861, in Zionsville, Ind. Since 1895 he has been librarian Carnegie Library, of Pittsburg, Pa.

ANDERSON, HUGH C., lawyer, banker, legislator, was born Feb. 2, 1851, in Mc Nairy County, Tenn. For two years he was city attorney of Jackson, Tenn.; and was mayor of that city for eight years. He was twice elected a member of the general assembly of Tennessee.

ANDERSON, JULIUS, lawyer, was born Aug. 25, 1849. He is a noted lawyer of Dixon, Ill. He is a direct descendant of James Anderson, who came to America in 1707, and whose Family History was published in 1893.

ANDERSON, SAMUEL, railroad manager, was born Oct. 4, 1849, in Methuen, Mass. He was councilman of Londonderry for two years; and mayor of that city for two years. He is now general agent of the New York, New Hampshire and Hudson River Railroad.

ANDREWS, ADDISON F., musician, composer, was born in Cavendish, Vt., April 2, 1857. He first engaged in newspaper work on Tribune, Telegraph, Commercial Advertiser, Graphic and other New York journals; later in musical journalism. He was assistant manager of Carnegie Hall and the Symphony Orchestra; and founded Manuscript Society of New York. He is the author of Dartmouth Songs.

ANDREWS, CHARLES, lawyer, jurist, was born May 27, 1827, in Whitestown, N. Y. He was mayor of Syracuse in 1861-62. He was chief judge in the New York court of appeals, and a member of that court for more than twenty-eight years. He was retired in 1897.

ANDREWS, GEORGE, soldier, genealogist, was born Aug. 26, 1850, in Providence, R. I. In 1876 he graduated from West Point; and as lieutenant in the twenty-fifth United States infantry, served in Texas, Dakota and Minnesota. He is the author of Genealogy of the Andrews of Taunton and Stoughton, Mass.

ANDREWS, GEORGE PIERCE, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 29, 1835, in North Bridgeton, Maine. In 1872-84 he was corporation counsel of New York City. In 1884-1901 he was associate justice of the Supreme Court of New York.

ANDREWS, MRS. GWENDOLEN FOULKE, author, was born June 26, 1863, in Chester County, Pa. She is the author of The Living Substance.

ANDREWS, JOHN NEWMAN, soldier, was born in Wilmington, Del., Sept. 16, 1838. He served through Civil war; was br'td captain, major and , lieutenant-colonel. He served in Indian country and in the Spanish-American war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general United States volunteers.

ANDREWS, LAUNCELOT WINCHESTER, educator, author, was born June 13, 1856, in Canada. Since 1885 he has been professor of chemistry in collegiate and pharmacy departments of the University of Iowa. He is the author of An Introduction to the Study of Qualitative Analysis.

ANDREWS, WILLIAM LORING, merchant author was born Sept. 9, 1837, in New York City. He is a successful merchant of New York City; and a director of the Continental Insurance Company. He is the author of A Trio of French Engravers; and Portraiture of the American Revolutionary War.

ANTHONY, GARDNER CHACE, educator, author, was born April 24, 1856, in Providence, R. I. Since 1898 he has been dean in the engineering department of Tufts College, Mass. He is the author of Elements of Mechanical Drawing; and Essentials of Gearing.

ANTIN, MARY, author, was born June 13, 1883, in Russia. She is the author of From Plotzk to Boston.

APPLETON, WILLIAM HYDE, educator, author, was born June 10, 1842, in Portland, Maine. Since 1872 he has been professor of Greek at Swarthmore College Pa. He is the author of Greek Poets in English Verse.

ARBEELY, ABRAHAM JOSEPH, physician, author, was born in 1852 in Syria. He was a founder and publisher of Kawkab America. He is the author of A Complete Self-Teaching Manual of the Arabic and English Languages.

ARCHBOLD, GEORGE, chemist, was born May 4, 1848, in Ford Flodden Field, Scotland. He came to the United States in 1881, and has since devoted his attention principally to the manufacture of starch, in which he has made important investigations.

ARCHIBALD, JAMES F. J., journalist, war correspondent, author, was born Sept. 22, 1869, in New York City. He served in Chinese-Japanese war; with Gen. Miles through labor riots, in the Sioux campaign, and the last Apache campaign; was through Spanish war; and was on Gen. McKibben's staff in Santiago campaign. He was the first man wounded in war with Spain. He is the author of Blue Shirt and Khaki, and Tales from the Trenches.

A'RENS, FRANZ XAVIER, musician, composer, was born Oct. 26, 1856, in Germany. In 1887 he was conductor of Cleveland Philharmonic Orchestra; and since 1898 has been conductor of New York Manuscript Society concerts. He is the author of The Troubadour.

ARKELL, W. J., journalist, publisher. He is publisher of Judge, Leslie's Weekly, Demorest's Family Magazine, all of New York City.

ARMISTEAD, HENRY BEAUFORD, soldier, merchant, state senator, was born in Upperville, Va., Oct. 19, 1833. In 1861-65 he served as a private in the Confederate army, and in 1874 was brigadier-general of the Arkansas militia. In 1877-79 he was a member of the Arkansas state senate, and in 1893-97 was Secretary of State.

ARMS, EDWARD WRIGHT, civil engineer, inventor, genealogist, was born Dec. 4, 1845, in For forty years he has been connected with the manufacture of civil engineers' and surveyors' instruments; and has designed instruments of precision and machinery for making them. He is the author of a genealogical record of the Arms family.

ARMSBY, HENRY PRENTISS, chemist, author, was born Sept. 21, 1853, in Northbridge, Mass. Since 1887 he has been director Pennsylvania agricultural experiment station. He is the author of Manual of Cattle Feeding.

ARMSTRONG-HOPKINS, MRS., SALENI, physician, author, was born Jan. 21, 1855, in Canada. In 1887-89 she conducted private hospital for women and children and missionary training school for nurses in Bombay, India, and now practices in Syracuse, N. Y. She is the author of Motto and Resolutions of a Little Girl, A Divine Call to Foreign Missionary Service, Seven Thoughts in Seven Gai bs, Record of Daily Work, and other works.

ARMSTRONG, WILLIAM, lecturer, author. In 1893-98 he was music critic Chicago Tribune. He is the author of Thekla, and An American Nobleman.

ARMSTRONG, WILLIAM W., journalist, public official, was born in Columbiana county, Ohio. In 1854 he purchased the Advertiser, of Tiffin, Ohio, and in 1852-65 he was secretary of state. He then purchased the Plain Dealer, which he successfully edited in Cleveland until about 1890, when he disposed of the controlling shares.

ARNOLD, ABRAHAM KERNS, soldier, was born March 24, 1837, in Bedford, Pa. In 1862 he was breveted captain for gallantry at Gaines' Mill; and major in 1864 for gallantry at Todd's Tavern; and received a congressional medal of honor for gallantry in action. He served against the Indians on the frontier; was commissioned brigadier-general United States Volunteers in 1898; served in the war with Spain in the field in 1898, and in 1899 commanded second division seventh army corps, in Cuba. He died Nov. 23, 1901.

ARNOLD, MRS. ELIZA ALMY PECKHAM, artist, author, was born May 10, 1823, in Middletown, R. I. She wrote many short stories and poems for Boston and New York periodicals. She married George B. Arnold, inventor, astronomer, of Strawberry Hill, N. J. She is the author of Life, Labor, Love.

ARNOLD, MAURICE, musician, composer, was born Jan. 19, 1865, in St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of American Plantation Dances; Dramatic Overture; and varions songs and valses.

ARNOLD, SARAH LOUISE, educator, author, was born Feb. 15, 1859, in N. Abington, Mass. She was principal of the training school at Saratoga, N. Y., for two years; supervisor schools of Minneapolis for seven years; and prominent in summer school work. She is the author of Waymarks for Teachers and Stepping Stones to Literature.

ARTHUR, ALFRED, musician, composer, was born Oct. 8, 1844, near Pittsburg, Pa. Since 1878 he has been choirmaster of the Woodland Av. Presb. Ch., of Cleveland, Ohio. He is the author of The Water-carrier; The Roundheads and Cavaliers; and Adaline.

ASHLEY, BARNAS FREEMAN, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 27, 1833, in Nova Scotia. He has been in active pastorate for nearly fifty years, of Baptist churches and later of Reformed church. He is the author of Tan-Pile Jim; Dick and Jack's Adventures on Sable Island; Air Castle Don; and other works.

ASHLEY, CHARLES SUMNER, merchant, public official, was born Sept. 5, 1858, in New Bedford, Mass. He is a successful merchant of New Bedford, Mass.; in 1891-92 and 1896-99 was mayor of that city; and its postmaster in 1893-96.

ASHLEY, WILLIAM JAMES, educator author, was born Feb. 25, 1860, in London, England. Since 1892 he has been professor of economic history at Harvard. He is the author of James and Philip van Artevelde; An Introduction to English Economic History and Theory, and other works.

ASHMEAD, WILLIAM HARRIS, entomologist, author, was born Sept. 19, 1855, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1897 he has been assistant curator in the United States National Museum at Washington, D. C. He is the author of Orange Insects; and other works.

ASHMORE, SIDNEY G., educator, author, was born April 15, 1852, in London, England. Since 1881 he has been professor of Latin language and literature in Union University at Schenectady, N Y. He is the author of Macmillau's Classical Series; and other Latin Textbooks.

ASPINWALL, MRS. ALICIA, author, She is the author of Short Stories for Short People; and The Echo Maid and Other Stories.

ATKINS, SMITH D., soldier, lawyer, journalist. At the outbreak of the civil war he was prosecuting attorney of Stephenson county, Ill. He resigned his office and was the first private soldier to enlist in the county. He raised volunteers for the ninety-second Illinois regiment, of which he was made Colonel; and in 1863 he became a brigadier-general. Since the civil war he has been editor of the Freeport Journal; was postmaster of Freeport for thirty years; and in 1901 became president of the Illinois State Press Association.

ATKINSON, GEORGE FRANCIS, botanist, author, was born in Raisinville, Mich., Jan. 26, 1854. Since 1896 he has been professor of botany and botanist of the experiment station of Cornell University. He is the author of Biology of Ferns; and Elementary Botany.

ATTERBURY, ANSON PHELPS, clergyman, author, was born in New York, June 18, 1854. He is pastor Park Presbyterian church, of New York City. He is the author of Islam in Africa.

AUCHINCLOSS, WILLIAM STUART, civil engineer, merchant, author, was born March 19, 1842. He was a commission merchant in 1879-95. He is the inventor of averaging instrument for rapid calculation of accounts. He is the author of Link and Valve Motions.

AUSTIN, OSCAR PHELPS, journalist, author, was born in Illinois. Since 1898 he has been chief bureau Statistics of the Treas. Dept. He is the author of Uncle Sam's Secrets; Uncle Sam's Soldiers; Colonial Systems of the World; and Submarine Telegraphs of the World.

AYER, JOSEPH CULLEN, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born in Newton Mass., Jan. 7, 1866. In 1891 he was lecturer on Canon Law, Episcopal Theol. School of Cambridge, Mass. He is the author of The World's Orators.

AYLESWORTH, BARTON ORLAN, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 5, 1860, in Athens, Ill. Since 1897 he has been pastor of Central church of Christ, of Denver, Col. He is the author of Thirteen and Twelve Others; and Song and Fable.

AYLSWORTH, NICHOLAS JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 15, 1843, in Lake county, Ill. He established churches in Angola and Fort Wayne, Ind. He is the anthor of Moral and Spiritual Aspect of Baptism.

AYRES, HOWARD, educator, college president, author, was born May 21, 1861, in Olympia, Wash. Since 1899 he has been president of the University of Cincinnati. He is the author of The Vertebrate Ear; and other works.

AYRES, MILAN CHURCH, journalist, author, was born May 17, 1850, in Lewiston, Ill. Since 1890 he has been editor of The Boston Daily Advertiser. He is the author of Philip Brooks in Boston.

AYRES, PHILIP WHEELOCK, educator, author, was born May 26, 1861, in Winterset, Iowa. Since 1898 he has been superintendent of the Summer School in Philanthropic Work of the New York Charity Organization Society. He is the author of Hist. Reviews in The Outlook, 1886-8; and articles in Charities Review since 1894.

AYRES, SAMUEL GARDINER, librarian, author, was born April 25, 1865, in Peru, N. Y. Since 1888 he has been librarian Drew Theol. Sem. of Madison, N. J. He is the author of Drew Theol. Sem. Record; and Fifty Literary Evenings.

BABB, CYRUS CATES, civil engineer, author, was born June 18, 1867, in Portland, Maine. He is hydrographer United States Coast Survey. He is the author of various articles in scientific journals.

BABBITT, EDWIN DWIGHT, educator, founder, author, was born Feb. 1, 1828, in Hamden, N. Y. He is dean of College Fine Forces, founded in 1883. He is the author of Principles of Light and Color; Human Culture and Cure; and Health and Power.

BABBITT, FRANK COLE, educator, author, was born June 4, 1867, in Bridgewater, Conn. Since 1899 he has been professor of Greek at Trinity College of Hartford, Conn. He is the author of Greek Grammar.

BABCOCK, WILLIAM H., lawyer, author, was born in St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 1, 1849. He is the author of Lord Stirling's Stand and Other Poems; Lays from Over the Sea; Cypress Beach; The Brides of the Tiger; An Invention of the Enemy; Cian of the Chariots; and Two Last Centuries of Britain.

BACKUS, J. BAYARD, lawyer, was born Sept. 20, 1853. He was one of the seven original founders of the Society of Mayflower Descendants, and is captain of the New York State Chapter of that society. He is a noted lawyer of New York City, and takes an active part in public affairs.

BACON, ALICE MABEL, educator, journalist, author, was born in New Haven, Conn., Feb. 26, 1858. In 1888-89 she taught in Tokyo, Japan. In 1890 she founded Dixie Hospital for training colored nurses. She is the author of Japanese Girls and Women; and Japanese Interior.

BACON, BENJAMIN WISNER, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 15, 1860, in Litchfield, Conn. In 1881 he graduated from Yale University; and since that time has filled the chair of new testament Criticism and Interpretation in his alma mater. He is the author of Genesis of Genesis; Triple Tradition of the Exodus; and Introduction to the Study of the New Testament.

BACON, EDGAR MAYHEW, author, was born June 5, 1855, in Bahamas where his father, John Bacon, was then U. S. consul. He is the author of The New Jamaica; the Pocket Piece; and Chronicles of Tarrytown and Sleepy Hollow.

BACON, JOHN MOSBY, soldier, was born April 17, 1844, in Kentucky. He is a brigadier-general of U. S. volunteers.

BACON, SELDEN, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 28, 1861, in New Haven, Conn. Since 1894 he has practiced law in New York City. He is the author of Equity Pleadings and Procedure.

BAILEY, MRS. ALICE WARD, author, poet, was born in Amherst, Mass., April 30, 1857. She is the author of Flower Fancies, in verse; and Mark Heffron, a novel.

BAILEY, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, physician, author, was born June 22, 1860, in Littleton N. H. In 1898 he became president of Sanitary Company, of Lincoln, Neb. He is the author of Present Status of Paedology.

BAILEY, EDGAR HENRY SUMMERFIELD, educator, author, was born in Middlefield, Conn., Sept 17, 1848. He is professor of chemistry at the University of Kansas. He is the author of Qualitative Chemical Analysis.

BAILEY, MRS. FLORENCE MERRIAM, author. She is the wife of Vernon Bailey of Washington, D. C. She is the author of Birds Through an Opera Glass; and Birds of Village and Field.

BAILEY, HOLLIS R., lawyer, genealogist. He is a successful lawyer of Boston, Mass.; and secretary of the Bailey-Bayley Family Association. He is the author of the Bailey Genealogy.

BAILEY, JOHN M., lawyer, jurist, was born in Dillsburg, Pa., July 11, 1839. In 1872-73 he was a member Pennsylvania Constitutional Convention. Since 1895 he has been president judge twentieth judicial district of Pennsylvania.

BAILEY, MARIE LOUISE, musician, composer, was born Oct, 24, 1876, in Nashville, Tenn. She first appeared in Carnegie Hall, N. Y., with the Damrosch orchestra; then made a long and successful tour of the United States and Canada.

BAILEY, MARK, educator, author, was born Aug. 19, 1867, in Petaluma, Cal. Since 1899 he has been professor of ancient languages at Whitworth College, of Tacoma, Wash. He is the author of The Latin Verb and Its Uses; and Latin Prepositions, the Principles of Their Use.

BAILEY, PEARCE, physician, author, was born in New York, July 12, 1865. He is a specialist on diseases of mind and nervous system. He is the author of Accident and Injury, Their Relation to Disease.

BAILEY, THOMAS WILLIAMSON military engineer, was born Sept. 21, 1826, in Kingsbury, N. Y. In 1861 he assisted in raising a company for the Engineers regiment of the west, Col. Joseph W. Bissell, and served with that organization throughout the civil war. In 1869 he became connected with the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad on the engineering staff, of which corporation he long continued.

BAILEY, VERNON, naturalist, author, was born June 21, 1863, in Manchester, Mich. He is chief field naturalist U. S. Biological Survey. He is the author of Spermophiles of Mississippi Valley, Pocket Gophers of Mississippi Valley; Revision of Voles of the Genus Evotomys; and Mammals of District of Columbia.

BAILEY, WILLIAM HENRY, lawyer legislator, author, was born in Pasquotank county, N. C., Jan. 22 1831. In 1882 he was a member of the N. C. legislature; and has lived in Texas since 1891. He is the author of The Effects of Civil War Upon the Rights of Persons and Property; Conflict of Judicial Decisions; Self-taught Law; and The Detective Faculty.

BAILEY, WILLIS J., farmer, legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 12 1854, in Carroll county, Ill. He was a member of the Kansas State board of agriculture in 1895-99, and was elected to the Kansas legislature from Nemaha county in 1898. He was elected to the Fifty-sixth Congress as a republican.

BAIN, ROBERT EDWARD MATHER business man, legislator, illustrator, was born Aug. 9, 1858, in Chicago, Ill. He is general south-west agent of the White Star Line of steamers at St. Louis, Mo. In 1881-83 he was a member of the Missouri legislature. He is well known as a successful photographer; and has traveled extensively in securing photographs for illustrating Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee; and a Romance of Palestine.

BAINES-MILLER, MRS. MINNIE WILLIS, author, poet, was born in Lebanon N. H., 1845. She is the wife of Leroy Edgar Miller of Springfield, O. She is the author of The Silent Land: His Cousin, the Doctor; and The Pilgrim's Vision.

BAKER, A. GEORGE, clergyman, author, was born in Pittsburg, Pa. He held pastorates in Philadelphia, and later became rector of St. James church of Perkiomen, Pa. He is the author of History of the Germans in America; History Knights of St. John of Malta; German-American Christianity and Protestant Episcopal Church; and Flora of Arabia and the Arabian Prophet.

BAKER, ANDREW J., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born June 6, 1832, in Marshall county, W. Va. During the civil war he was a lieutenant in the Seventeenth Iowa Infantry. In 1868-69 he was a representative in the Missouri State legislature; and in 1871-72 was attorney general of Missouri. He is now a practicing lawyer of Centerville, Iowa, and in 1885-89 was attorney-general of Iowa.

BAKER, CHARLES WHITING journalist, author, was born Jan. 17, 1865, in Johnson Vt. He is managing editor of Engineering News of New York City. He is the author of Monopolies and the People.

BAKER, FRANCIS E., lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 20, 1860, in Goshen, Ind. Since 1899 he has been judge of the Supreme Court of Indiana.

BAKER GEORGE AUGUSTUS, lawyer, author, was born in 1849, and is the son of the painter of the same name. He now practices his profession in New York City. He is the author of The Bad Habits of Good Society.

BAKER, GEORGE COMSTOCK, lawyer, genealogist was born April 29, 1868. He is deputy attorney-general of the state of New York. He is the author of a genealogy of the Baker Family.

BAKER, IRA OSBORN, educator, author, was born Sept. 23, 1853, in Linton, Ind. Since 1882 he has been professor of civil engineering at the University of Illinois. He is the author of Treatise on Masonry Construction; and Engineer's Surveying Instruments.

BAKER, ISAAC V., banker, state senator, was born in 1843. He is a banker of Comstock, N. Y.; has been a member of the New York state senate; superintendent state prison and railroad commissioner.

BAKER, MOSES NELSON, journalist, author, was born in Enosburgh, Vt., Jan. 26, 1864. He is associate editor of the Engineering News of New York City. He is the author of Sewage Purification in America and Sewerage and Sewage Purification.

BAKER, ORVILLE DEWEY, lawyer author, was born Dec. 23, 1847, Augusta Maine. He has contributed extensively to current literature. He is a noted lawyer of New England; and is now attorney-general of Maine.

BAKER, WENDELL, runner, was born Oct. 19, 1862, in Brooklyn, N. Y. During his preparation for college and subsequently until his graduation he distinguished himself by winning twenty-one championships at university and intercollegiate meetings.

BAKER, WILLIAM BLISS, artist, was born in 1859, in New York City. He took the first prize in the antique school of the academy in 1879, and was awarded the third Hallgarten prize of $100 in 1884 for his Woodland Brook. Among his recent paintings exhibited at the National Academy are In the Old Pasture.

BALCH, EDWIN SWIFT, lawyer, author, was born about 1853. He practices law in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Mountain Exploration; and Antarctic, a History of Antartic Discovery.

BALCH, GALUSHA B., physician, genealogist. He is a physician of Yonkers, N. Y. He is the author of the Balch Genealogy.

BALCH, THOMAS WILLING, lawyer, author. He is a member of the Philadelphia bar. He is the author of Some Facts about Alsace and Lorraine; and The Alabama Arbitration.

BALDWIN, CHARLES SEARS, educator, author, was born March 21, 1867, in New York City. He is assistant professor of rhetoric at Yale. He is the author of The Inflection; and Specimens of Prose Description; and The Expository Paragraph and Sentence.

BALDWIN, EVELYN BRIGGS explorer, author, was born July 22, 1862, in Springfield, Mo. In 1887-91 he was principal of the high school and superintendent of city schools, Kan.; and since 1892 has been observer United States weather bureau. In 1893-94 he accompanied Peary; and in 1898-99 was with the Wellman Polar expedition. He is the author of Search for the North Pole.

BALDWIN, FOY SPENCER, educator author, was born July 6, 1870, in Charlotte, Mich. Since 1895 he has been professor of economics at Boston University. He is the author of History of Mining Legislation in England.

BALDWIN, HENRY, custodian American History, was born in New York City, Feb. 1, 1832. In 1861 he was serg. in command of corps of engineers, 12th regiment, N. Y. State troops; and after four month's service organized corps of instruction, from which several graduated as officers in the volunteer service.

BALDWIN, JAMES, educator, author was born in Hamilton county, Ind., Dec 15, 1841. He was editor of school books for the American Book Company in 1893-1900. He is the author of The Story of Siegfried; The Story of Roland; The Book Lover; A Story of the Golden Age; Harper's Readers, in five volumes; Six Centuries of English Poetry; The Book of Elegies; The Famous Allegories; Choice English Lyrics; Fairy Stories and Fables; Fifty Famous Stories Retold; Old Greek Stories; Old Stories from the East; Guide to Systematic Readings in the Encyclopaedia Britannica; Four Great Americans; The Horse Fair; Baldwin's Readers; Discoveries of the Old Northwest; and The Conquest of the Old Northwest.

BALDWIN, JAMES FAIRCHILD, surgeon, author, was born in Orangeville, N. Y., Feb. 12, 1850. In 1900 he was surgeon and chief of staff Grant Hospital of Columbus, Ohio. He is the author of Operative Gynecology.

BALDWIN, THEODORE A., soldier, was born in New Jersey. He served throughout the civil war; in 1887 became major; and was a brigadier-general in the Spanish-American war.

BALDY, JOHN MONTGOMERY, physician, author, was born in Danville, Pa., June 16, 1860. He is consulting surgeon to Frederick Douglas Hospital, of Philadelphia. He is the author of American Text Book of Gynecology.

BALLARD, ADDISON, clergyman, educator, author, was born Oct. 18, 1822, in Framingham, Mass. He is professor of logic at the New York University. He is the author of Arrows, or Teaching a Fine Art.

BAMFORD, MARY ELLEN, author, was born in Healdsburg, California. She is the author of My Land and Water Friends, The Look About Club, Thoughts of My Dumb Neighbors, Father Lambert's Family, Up and Down the Brooks, Janet and Her Father, Talks by Queer Folks; and other works.

BANCROFT, EDGAR ADDISON, lawyer, railroad manager, author, was born Nov. 20, 1857, in Galesburg, Ill. He is vice-president and general solicitor of the Chicago and Western Indiana Railroad Company. He is the author of The Chicago Strike of 1894-95.

BANCROFT, FREDERIC, historian, author, was born in Galesburg, Ill., Oct. 30, 1860. In 1888 he lectured on political history of Civil war and reconstruction at Amherst; and then became chief of Bureau of Rolls and Library. He is the author of Life of William H. Seward; and The Negro in Politics.

BANCROFT, WILLIAM AMOS, soldier, lawyer, railroad president, was born April 26, 1855, in Groton, Mass. During 1892-96 he was mayor of Cambridge, Mass.; and in 1899 became president of the Boston Elevated Railway. He has also attained the rank of brigadier-general.

BANGS, ISAAC SPARROW, soldier, was born March 17, 1831, in Canaan, Maine. He served throughout the Civil war; and in 1865 was breveted brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious service during the war. He has been department commander of Maine, of the Grand Army of the Republic.

BANGS, TRACY R., lawyer, was born April 29, 1862, in Le Sueur, Minn. In 1890-92 he was city attorney; in 1892-94 was states attorney for his county; and in 1894-98 was United States attorney for the district of North Dakota.

BANKS, CHARLES EUGENE, journalist, poet, was born April 3, 1852, in Clinton County, Iowa. He is city editor of the Register Gazette of Rockford, Ill. He is the author of Quiet Music; Where Brooks Go Softly; Novel of the Civil War; Sword and Cross, and A Child of the Sun.

BARBER, EDWIN AT LEE, archaeologist, author, was born in Baltimore, Md., Aug. 13, 1851. In 1879-85 he was postmaster of West Philadelphia, Pa.; and is now engaged in gold dredging. He is the author of Pottery and Porcelain of the United States; and Genealogies of the Atlee and Barber Families of Pennsylvania.

BARBER, GEORGE, manufacturer. In 1847 he began the manufacture of matches, one of the first in this industry in the west.

BARBER, LAIRD HOWARD, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 25, 1848, near Mifflinburg, Pa. In 1881 he was admitted to the bar in Carbon County, Pa.; and became a noted lawyer of Mauch Chunk. He served in the fifty-sixth congress from Pennsylvania as a democrat.

BARBER, OHIO C., manufacturer, founder, was born April 20, 1841, in Middlebury, Ohio. In 1881 he arranged the consolidation of a number of leading match manufacturers, and formed the Diamond Match Company, of which he has always been president. He built up and developed the town of Barberton.

BARBOUR, ERWIN HINCKLEY, geologist, author, was born near Oxford, Ohio. Since 1891 he has been professor of geology at the University of Nebraska and acting State geologist of Nebraska. He is the author of numerous published papers on geological, paleontological and zoological subjects.

BARBOUR, RALPH HENRY, author, was born in Cambridge, Mass., Nov. 13, 1870. He is a contributor of poems and short stories to magazines under pen name of Richard Stillman Powell. He is the author of Phyllis in Bohemia; The Halfback, and For the Honor of the School.

BARDEEN, CHARLES VALDO, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 23, 1850, in Brookfield, N. Y. Since 1898 he has been justice of the supreme court of Wisconsiu.

BARDEEN, CHARLES WILLIAM, soldier, educator, publisher, author, was born Aug. 28, 1847, in Grotou, Mass. During the Civil war he served in the first regiment Massachusetts volunteers. For many years he was engaged in educational work; and in 1891-95 was director of the National Educational Association. He is the author of Manual of School Law; A System of Rhetric; and a score of other educational works.

BARKER, ALBERT SMITH, naval officer, was born March 31, 1843, in Hanson, Mass. He was promoted to lieutenant in February, 1864; commander in 1877; and captain in 1892. In the war with Spain he commanded the cruiser Newark; and in the followiug year the celebrated battle-ship Oregou; succeeding Admiral Dewey in command of the Asiatic squadron at Manila, which he retained until relieved by the arrival of Admiral Watson in 1899.

BARKER, MRS. ELLEN BLACKMER, author, was born in W. Springfield, Pa.; ed. Edinboro, Pa. She is the wife of Capt. Albert S. Barker, of the United States navy. She is the author of The Bishop's Conversion; Three Old Maids in Hawaii; and The Way of Fire.

BARKER, JAMES MADISON, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 23, 1839, in Pittsfield, Mass. In 1883 he became superior court judge; and in 1872-73 was a member of Massachusetts legislature. He is now associate justice of the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts.

BARKER, LEWELLYS FRANKLIN, educator, author, was born Sept. 16, 1867, in Canada. He is professor and head of the department of anatomy at University of Chicago. He is the author of The Nervous System and Its Constituent Neurones.

BARKER, THEODORE GAILLARD, soldier, legislator, was born Aug. 1832, in Charleston, S. C. He served throughout the Civil war; and attained the rank of major in General Hampton's Cavalry division. In 1866 he was a member of the South Carolina legislature and in 1888 was a delegate to the National Democratic Convention.

BARNARD, GEORGE GREY, sculptor, was born in Bellefonte, Pa., May 24, 1863. His works include Brotherly Love; Norway; Two Natures, in Metropolitan Museum of New York City; and The God Pan, Central Park.

BARNARD, JOB, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born in Porter County, Ind., June 8, 1844. In 1862 enlisted as private in Company K, 73d Indiana volunteer infantry, and served through Civil war, attaining the rank of first sergeant. He is now associate justice of the supreme court, D. C.

BARNES, CHARLES REID, botanist, author, was born Sept. 7, 1858, in Madison, Ind. Since 1898 he has beeu professor of plant physiology, at University of Chicago. He is the author of Plant Dissection; Keys to the Genera and Species of North American Mosses and Plant Life.

BARNITZ, ALBERT, soldier, poet, was born March 10, 1835, in Everett, Pa. He served throughout the Civil war; and afterward in the regular army until retired as brevet colonel. He is the author of a volume entitled Poems.

BARNUM, SAMUEL W., clergyman, author. In 1847 he was assistant editor of Webster's Dictionary; and was subsequently editor of The Comprehensive Dictionary of the Bible. He was the author of Barnum's English Rhymes.

BARR, ROBERT, educator, journalist, author, was born Sept. 16, 1850, in Glasgow, Scotland. For many years he was on the Detroit Free Press. He is the author of In a Steamer Chair; and other novels.

BARR, THOMAS FRANCIS, soldier, lawyer, was born Nov. 18, 1837, in Arlington, Mass. He entered the United States civil service in Washington in 1861, and resigned in 1864. He practiced law in D. C.; was appointed major and judge advocate of volunttrs in 1865; transferred to the regular army in 1867; promoted lieutenant-colonel and deputy judge advocate general in 1884; aud became judge advocate-general in 1901, with rank of brigadier-general.

BARR, WILLIAM WILSON, clergyman, editor, was born Sept. 11, 1832, near Washington, Pa. For thirty-five years he has been pastor of the Eighth U. P. Church of Philadelphia. In 1860-80 he was editor of the Evangelical Repository; and since 1882 has been editor of the Christian Instructor.

BARRETT, GEORGE CARTER, lawyer, jurist, was born July 28, 1838, in Ireland. Since 1871 he has been associate justice of the Supreme Court of New York.

BARRETT, JOHN, journalist, diplomat, author, was born Nov. 28, 1866, in Grafton, Vt. In 1894-98 he was United States Minister to Siam; and during the Spanish-American war he went to the Philippines as a war correspondent. He is the author of Admiral George Dewey; and The Far East and Siam.

BARRETT, JOHN P., electrician, inventor, was born in 1837 in Auburn, N. Y. In 1845 he settled in Chicago; was a sailor for eleven years; in 1861-76 was assistant and in 1876-94 superintendent fire alarm telegraph department of Chicago. He invented fire alarm signals; originated the fire alarm patrol system; and was first to conceive the idea of laying electric wires underground. He was chief electricity department at the World's Columbian Exposition.

BARRETT, LUTHER GUSTAVUS, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Dec. 1838, in Watertown, Mass. He received his education at Harvard College and Newton Theological Institution. He has held pastorates in various cities of the United States; and besides other professorships has been for the past six years president of Jackson College, Miss.

BARROWS, MRS. KATHERINE ISABEL HAYES, author, was born in 1846 in Vermont. She is the author of The Shaybacks in Camp, a volume of leisurely travel notes.

BARROW, WILLIAM THOMAS, farmer, legislator, was born Dec. 11, 1859, in Warren County, N. C. He was elected a member of the North Carolina State Legislature in 1897; and has been identified with Farmer's Alliance movement since its organization in that state.

BARRY, THOMAS HENRY, soldier, was born in New York City, Oct. 13, 1855. He attained the rank of brigadier-general in the United States volunteers during the Spanish-American war.

BARRYMORE, MAURICE, actor, author, was born in 1847 in India. For many years he has taken the leading part with Modjeska. He is the author of Nadjeska; The Robber of the Rhine; and other plays.

BARSTOW, AMOS CHAFEE, manufacturer, legislator, philanthropist. He was mayor of Providence in 1852; and as mayor he delivered a memorial address on Daniel Webster in Market hall, Nov. 4, 1852. The Pennsylvania house of representatives elected him speaker in 1870.

BARTCH, GEORGE WASHINGTON, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born in Dushore, Pa., March 15, 1849. He began law practice in Pennsylvania in 1884; removed to Colorado in 1886; to Salt Lake City in 1888; and practiced there until he became associate justice supreme court Utah Ty. in 1893.

BARTLETT, EDWARD T., lawyer, jurist. He is associated justice of court of appeals of N. Y., his present term expiring in 1907.

BARTLETT, FRANKLIN WEST, clergyman, poet, was born Aug. 30, 1843, in Towanda, Pa. For seven years he was instructor of Hebrew in Williams College Mass. He is a clergyman of Salem, Mass. He is the author of the American Missionary Hymn.

BARTLETT, WILLIAM H., soldier, author. He served in Union army in Civil war; and in 1899 was commander Grand Army of the Republic for Massachusetts. He is the author of Facts I Ought to Know About the Government of My Country.

BARTON, EDMUND MILLS, soldier, librarian, was born in Worcester, Mass., Sept. 27, 1838. In 1863-65 he was relief agent United States Sanitary Commission 5th corps, Army of the Potomac. Since 1883 he has been librarian American Antiquarian Society, Worcester, Mass.

BARTON, GEORGE HUNT, geologist, author, was born July 8, 1852, in Sudbury, Mass. He is professor of geology in the Boston University. He is the author of Outline of Elementary Lithology.

BARTON, WILLIAM ELEAZAR, clergyman, author, was born Sublette, Ill. June 28, 1861. Since 1899 he has been pastor of First Congregational Church of Oak Park, Ill. He is the author of Life in the Hills of Kentucky; A Hero in Homespun; A Tale of the Loyal South: The Psalms and Their Story; and Old Plantation Hymns.

BARUS, CARL, physicist, was born Feb. 19, 1856, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He entered the United States geological survey, and was given charge of certain investigations in physical geology. In 1895 he was called to the chair of physics in Brown university, which he still retains He is the author of numerous scientific monographs and papers, several of which form bulletins in the series published by the United States geological survey.

BASHORE, HARVEY BROWN, physician, author, was born in W. Fairview, Pa., July 31, 1864. Since 1889 he has been in practice of medicine at West Fairview, Pa. He is the author of Outlines of Rural Hygiene.

BASKETT, JAMES NEWTON, zoologist, author, was born Nov. 1, 1849, in Kentucky. Has resided chiefly in Missouri. He is the author of The Story of the Birds; The Story of the Fishes; The Story of the Amphibians and Reptiles; The Story of the Mammals; At You-All's House, and As the Light Led.

BASSETT, MRS. ADELAIDE FLORENCE, author, was born in Boston, Mass., Sept. 24, 1845. She is the author of Hive Hall; Dick Travers Abroad, in four volumes; Daisy at Home, in four volumes; and Father Gander's Melodies.

BASSETT, EBENEZER DON CARLOS, educator, diplomat, was born in 1833 in Litchfield, Conn. He served for fourteen years as a teacher in Philadelphia, Pa. He was United States minister to Hayti in 1869-77; and since 1879 has been Haytian consul in New York City.

BASSETT, JOHN SPENCER, educator, author, was born Sept. 10, 1867, in Tarboro, N. C. He is professor of history in Trinity College, N. C. He is the author of Constitutional Beginnings of North Carolina.

BASSFORD, WILLIAM KIPP, musician, composer, was born April 23, 1839 in New York City. After concert-tours as a pianist through the United States, he became organist at Calvary Church of East Orange, N. J.

BATCHELDER, JOHN C., musician, composer, was born in 1852, in Topsham, Vt. He is a teacher of organ and piano in Detroit Conservatory, organist of St. Paul's Episcopal Church of Detroit. He has given many public organ-recitals.

BATCHELLER, GEORGE CLINTON manufacturer, was born Sept. 27, 1834, in Grafton, Mass. He is a member of George C. Batcheller and Company, who employ one thousand hands in the manufacture of corsets and feminine attire at Bridgeport, Conn.

BATES, ALFRED ELLIOTT, soldier, author, was born July 15, 1840, in Monroe, Mich. As second lieutenant he saw much Indian service during the ten years prior to his appointment as paymaster, with the rank of major, in 1875. In 1899, he was promoted to brigadier-general, and appointed paymaster-general of the United States army. He contributed a chapter to Rodenbough's From Everglade to Canon with Second Dragoons; and was associated with the late general Emery Upton in compiling the Cavalry Tactics of 1874.

BATES, ARTHUR LABAN, lawyer, congressman, was born in Meadville, Pa., June 6,1859. He was elected city solicitor of Meadville, Pa., in 1889, 1890, 1892, 1894 serving four full terms. He was elected to fifty-seventh congress from Pennsylvania as a republican.

BATES, HENRY CLAY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born in Derby, Vt., Jan. 29, 1843. In 1864 he enlisted in 19th Massachusetts heavy artillery, which afterward became Company C, 4th regiment, Massachusetts heavy artillery. He practiced law in St. Johnsbury; and held many town and county offices; and was delegate at large to the National Republican Convention in 1900; and was lieutenant-governor of Vermont in 1890-1900. In 1901 he became judge of court of appeals, Philippine Islands.

BATES, JOHN COALTER, soldier, was born in St. Charles County, Mo., Aug. 26, 1842. He served through the Civil war; and was on staff of Gen. Meade from Gettysburg to close war; was bvtd. maj. and lt.-col. For thirty years he was stationed on west Mississippi River, chiefly Indian country. He was made brig.-gen. vols. at the outbreak Spanish-American war; and was promoted maj.-gen. vols. during Santiago campaign.

BATTEN, SAMUEL ZANE, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 10, 1859, in Swedesboro, N. J. He is pastor of the first Baptist church of Morristown, N. J. He is the author of The New Citizenship.

BATTERSHALL, FLETCHER W., lawyer, author, was born in Ravenswood, N. Y., 1866. He is a lawyer of Albany, N. Y. He is the author of A Daughter of the World; and Mists.

BATTERSHALL, WALTON WESLEY clergyman, author, was born in Troy, N. Y., Jan. 8, 1840. Since 1874 he has been pastor of St. Peter's at Albany, N. Y. He is the author of Interpretations of Life and Religion.

BATTLE, CULLEN ANDREW, soldier, lawyer, journalist. He served in the confederate army during the Civil war; and attained the rank of major-general.

BAUER, LOUIS, physician, was born in July, 1814, in Germany. He coöperated in the establishment of the Long Island college hospital, and was appointed professor of anatomy and surgeon to the new institution. In 1869 he went to St. Louis, Mo., where he founded the St. Louis College of Physicians and Surgeons. He was its dean for twelve years, and professor of the principles and practice of surgery.

BAUM, HENRY, MASON. He is editor of Record of the Past, published at Washington, D. C.

BAUM, L. FRANK, journalist, playwright, author, was born in Chittenango, N. Y., May 15, 1856. He began newspaper work in 1880, and since 1897 has been editor of The Show Window, of Chicago. He is the author of Mother Goose in Prose: By the Candelabra's Glare; Father Goose; His Book; The Wonderful Wizard of Oz; A New Wonderland; The Songs of Father Goose; The Army Alphabet; The Navy Alphabet; American Fairy Tales; Dot and Tot of Merryland; The Art of Decorating Plays; The Maid of Arran; Matches; Kilmorne; and The Queen of Kilarney.

BAUSLIN, DAVID H., clergyman, theologian, author, was born Jan. 21, 1853, in Winchester, Va. Since 1896 he has been prof. of practical theology at Wittenburg Theol. Sem. of Springfield, Ohio. He is the authir of Is the Ministry an Attractive Vocation.

BUSMAN, BENJAMIN, clergyman, author, was born in Lancaster, Pa., Jan. 28, 1824. He is the author of Wayside Gleanings in Europe; and Bible Characters.

BAYLEY, WILLIAM SHIRLEY, geologist, author, was born in Baltimore, Md., on Nov. 10, 1861. Since 1886 he has been associate editor and is professor of geology at Colby University. He is the author of Report on the Geology of the Marquette Iron District, Michigan.

BAYLISS, CLARA KERN, educator, journalist, author, was born in Kalamazoo, Mich., March 5, 1848. She is now editor Child-Study Monthly, of Springfield, Ill. She is the author of In Brook and Bayu.

BEACH, MRS. AMY MARY CHENEY, musician, composer, was born in Henniker, N. H., Sept. 5, 1867. She is a concert-pianist; President of the Board of Councillors of the New England Cons.; and Honorary Corresponding Secretary of the New York Manuscript Society. She is the author of Songs of the Sea; Across the World; The Minstrel and the King; Wandering Clouds; and other songs and anthems.

BEACH, DAVID NELSON, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 30, 1848, in Orange, N. J. Since 1899 he has been pastor of the first Congregational church of Denver, Col. He is the author of The Newer Religious Thinking.

BEACH, HARLAN PAGE, missionary, author, was born April 4, 1854, in South Orange, N. Y. Since 1895 he has been edn'l sec. Student Volunteer Movement for Foreign Missions. He is the author of The Cross in the Land of the Trident; Knights of the Labarum; and Dawn on the Hills of T'ang.

BEACH, MILES, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1840 in Saratoga county, N. Y.

He practiced law in New York City; in 1874-94 was judge Court of Common Pleas, and has been justice of the Supreme Court since 18[illegible], for term expiring in 1907.

BEADLE, SAMUEL ALFRED, author. He is the author of Sketches from Life in Dixie; and a volume of short stories.

BEADLE, WILLIAM HENRY, soldier, lawyer, college president, legislator, author, was born Jan.1,1838, in Howard,Ind. He was brevetted a brigadier-general in 1865 for services in the civil war. He then practiced law in Dakota Territory. Was surveyor-general, and a member of the legislature in 1877-78. Since 1889 he hes been president State Normal School of South Dakota. He is the author of Geography, History and Resources of Dakota Territory.

BEAL, JAMES HARTLEY, educator, author, was born in New Philadelphia, O., Sept. 23, 1861. Since 1897 he has been dean department pharmacy at Scio. College, Ohio. He is the author of Notes on Equation Writing and Chemical Arithmetic; and Pharmaceutical Interrogations.

BEALL, MRS. MARY STEVENS,author, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1895 she has been secretary of the Columbia Historical Society, of Washington, D. C. She is the author of The Military and Private Secretaries of George Washington.

BEAN, ROBERT SHARP, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 28, 1854, in Yamhill county, Ore. In 1882-90 he was circuit judge; and since 1890 has been justice of the supreme court of Oregon.

BEAN, TARLETON HOFFMAN, curator, author, was born Oct. 8, 1846, in Bainbridge, Pa. Since 1895 he has been director af the New York Aquarium. He is the author of The Fishes of Pennsylvania; and The Salmon and Salmon Fisheries.

BEARD, LINA, artist, author, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio. She is one of the authors and illustrators of The American Girls' Handy Book.

BEARD, OLIVER THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, author, was born in New York City, Nov. 13, 1832. He built railroads in South America; served in the Civil war in 1861-65 from private 71st New York volunteers to colonel 48th New York volunteers. He practiced law in Ohio and Michigan; and was editor of The Post and Tribune, Detroit. He is the author of Bristling with Thorns.

BEARD, W. D., lawyer, jurist. He is a prominent lawyer of the south; and is now associate justice of the supreme court of Tennessee.

BEARD, WOLCOTT LE CLAIR, civil engineer, author, was born Nov. 10, 1868, in New York City. During the Spanish-American war of 1898 he served through the Porto Rico campaign as first lieutenant in the first regiment United States volunteer engineers. He is the author of Sand and Cactus.

BEARDSLEE, LESTER ANTHONY, naval officer, was born in Little Falls, N. Y., Feb. 1, 1836. He participated in the capture of Confederate steam sloop Florida in Brazil in 1864, and as prize master brought her to the United States; in 1870 he took tug Palos to China, carrying on her the United States flag through the Suez canal; while commanding the U. S. S. Jamestown, 1879-80, in Alaska waters, discovered, surveyed and named Glacier Bay. He attained the rank of rear-admiral, and was retired in 1898.

BEATON, DAVID, author, was born in 1848 in Scotland. In 1888-91 he was president of Redfield College of South Dakota, and since 1891 has been pastor Lincoln Park Congregational Church, Chicago He is the author of Cyrus the Magician; and Selfhood and Service.

BEATTY, JAMES H., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born in Lancaster, Ohio. He was a member of the Idaho Territorial legislature and constitutional convention and was chief justice of Idaho in 1889-91. Since 1891 he has been United States district judge.

BEAUCHAMP, WILLIAM MARTIN, clergyman, author, was born in Coldenham, N. Y., March 25, 1830. Since 1865 he has been rector of Grace Church of Baldwinsville, N. Y. He is also an artist and scientist. He is the author of Iroquois Trail; Indian Names of New York; and New York Archaeological Bulletins.

BEAUDRY, LOUIS NAPOLEON, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 11, 1833, in Highgate, Vt. He studied in Troy University, but left without graduation, and became chaplain of the New York regiment of cavalry on Jan. 31, 1863. On June 19, 1865, he was honorably discharged. He is now professor of theology in Wesleyan theological college, Montreal. He is the author of Army and Prison Experiences with the Fifth New York Cavalry.

BEAVEN, THOMAS DANIEL, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1849, in Springfield, Mass. Since 1892 he has been R. C. bishop of Springfield, Mass.

BECK, JOHANN H., musician, composer, was born Sept. 22, 1856, in Cleveland, Ohio. He attended the Cleveland Public Schools, and the Royal Conservatorium of Leipzig. He is Director of the Beck Violin School; was Conductor of the Detroit Symphony Orchestra; and is now the Conductor of the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra.

BECKEL, JAMES COX, musician, composer, was born Dec. 20, 1811, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has occupied several positions as organist in Philadelphia, the last being the Clinton St. Church in 1875-91. He is now a music publisher of Philadelphia, Pa., and Managing Editor of The Mucistl Clipper.

BEER, WILLIAM, librarian, author, was born in 1849 in England. He is librarian of the Howard Memorial, Fisk Free and Public libraries of New Orleans La.

BEHRENS, JAMES, naturalist, was born June 30, 1824, in Germany. He settled in California, and has become a recognized anthority on entomology. He has contributed papers to seientific journals, and is a member of many scientific societies in the United States and Europe.

BELASCO, DAVID, dramatic author, was born in San Francisco, Cal. He is the author of plays entitled Zaza; The Heart of Maryland; The Wife; The Charity Ball; Lord Chumley; May Blossom; Men and Women; La Belle Russe; The Girl I Left Behind Me; Valerie; and Hearts of Oak.

BELKNAP, C. H., lawyer, jurist. He is now justice of the supreme court of Nevada.

BELKNAP, WORTH, lawyer, soldier, was born Sept. 22, 1829, in Newburgh, N. Y. He served in the Civil war and attained the rank of major-general in 1865. In 1865-69 he was collector of internal revenue; and in 1869 was appointed secretary of war.

BELL, JAMES FRANKLIN, soldier, was born Jan. 9, 1856, in Shelbyville, Ky. In 1878-94 he served on the plains; and during the Spanish-American war he was promoted from lieutenant to brigadier-general.

BELL, JAMES MONTGOMERY, soldier, was born Oct.1, 1837, in Williamsburg, Pa. He served throughout the Civil war; and in many Indian wars. During the Spanish-American war he became brigadier-general of the United States volunteers.

BELL, WILIAM HEMPHILL, soldier, was born in West Chester, Pa., Jan. 28, 1834. He took all grades in the army, after graduation, from breveted second lieutenant to brigadier-general and commissary-general U. S. army. He served during the Civil war in the line of the army, in the field, and in the subsistence department.

BELLAMY, MRS. BLANCHE WILDER, journalist, author. She is the wife of Frederick P. Bellamy, a lawyer and a brother of the late Edward Bellamy. She is vice-president of the Brooklyn Hospital Training School for Nurses. She is the author of Twelve English Poets.

BELLINGER, CHARLES BYRON, lawyer, jurist, was born in Maquon, Ill., Nov. 21, 1839. He served in Modoc campaign in the Lava Beds in 1873; was judge of the State Circuit Court in 1878-80; and United States district judge for the district of Oregon since 1893.

BELMONT, OLIVER HAZARD PERRY, New York City, was graduated from the U. S. naval academy in 1879, and for several years has taken an active part, as a Democrat, in the politics of his native city and state of New York.

BEMAN, SOLON S., architect,, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Oct. 1, 1853. He designed all the buildings that compose the town of Pullman, besides club-houses, churches and many large residences in Chicago.

BEMAN, WOOSTER WOODRUFF, mathematician, author, was born May 28, 1850, in Southington, Conn. Since 1887 he has been professor of mathematics in University of Michigan. He is the author of Higher Arithmetic; High School Algebra; and other works.

BENEDICT, MRS. ANNE KENDRICK, lecturer, author, was born in Rochester, N. Y., April 26, 1851. She was one of the organizers of Cincinnati Kindergarten Association. She is the author of My Wonder Story; Centa, The Child Violinist; The Island Story; The Fisherman's Daughter; and The Hathaway's Sisters.

BENEDICT, WAYLAND RICHARDSON, educator, author, was born Jan. 9, 1848, in Rochester, N. Y. Since 1875 he has been professor of philosophy at the University of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the author of Nervous System and Consciousness.

BENHAM, ANDREW ELLICOTT KENNEDY, soldier, was born April 10, 1832, in New York City. In 1847-51 he served in the East India squadron, and assisted in capturing piratical Chinese junk. During the Civil war he served in the South Atlantic and Western Gulf blockading squadrons; and took part in the battle of Port Royal and other engagements. He was in command in one of the divisions in the navy display near New York in 1893; in 1894 commanded the squadron at Rio de Janiero, Brazil; and forced commander of insurgent squadron to raise blockade of city and to discontinue firing upon American merchant vessels. In 1898 he was prize commissioner at Savannah, Ga. He was retired in 1894 with rank of rear-admiral.

BENJAMIN, CHARLES HENRY, mechanical engineer, author, was born Aug. 29, 1856, in Patten, Maine. Since 1898 he has been professor of mechanical engineering of Case School of Applied Science. He is the author of Notes on Heat and Steam; Notes on Machine Design; Mechanical Laboratory Practice; Evolution of the Machine Tools; Power Losses in Machine Shop; and Development of Fly Wheels.

BENNETT, ALFRED ALLEN, educator, author, was born Nov. 30, 1850, in Milford, N. H. Since 1885 he has been professor of chemistry at the Iowa State College. He is the author of Inorganic Chemistry, in two volumes.

BENNETT, CHARLES EDWIN, educator, author, was born April 6, 1858, in Providence, R. I. Since 1892 he has been professor of Latin at Cornell College. He is the author of A Latin Grammar; A Latin Composition; The Foundations of Latin; and The Quantitative Reading of Latin Poetry.

BENNETT, JOHN, illustrator, author was born in Chillicothe, O., May 17, 1865. He is the author of Master Skylark; and The Story of Barnaby Lee.

BENT, ALLEN H., business man, genealogist, was born June 5, 1867, in Gardner, Mass. He is engaged in business in Boston, Mass. He is the author of The Bent Family; and of a number of articles in current publications.

BENT, GEORGE P., manufacturer, was born June 16, 1854, in Dundee, Ill. In 1870 he entered the employ of David C. Cook of Chicago; and eight years later bought out Mr. Cook's business. He first engaged in the manufacture of sewing machines and then of organs; and now his Crown pianos and organs are known throughout America. He is a son of Judge George Bent, of Sherman county, Neb.

BENTON, ANGELO AMES, clergyman, author, was born in 1837 in Crete. In 1887-94 he was professor of dogmatic theology at the University of the South. He is the author of The Church Cyclopaedia, and The Tome of St. Leo.

BENTON, FRANK, agriculturist, author, was born in Coldwater, Mich., July 5, 1852. He spent eleven years in investigating honey-bees of Europe, Africa and Asia. He is the inventor of transport cage for sending queen bees long distance by mail. He is the author of The Honey Bee; and Bee Keeping.

BERENSON, BERNHARD, critic, historian, author, was born June 26, 1865, in Russia. He is a writer of history and criticism of Italian paintings. He is the author of Venetian Painters of Renaissance; Florentine Painters of Renaissance; Central Italian Painters of Renaissance; and The Study and Criticism of Italian Art.

—BERG, HERMAN CASPER, clergyman. He is a clergyman of the Reformed, and in 1886 was in charge of a congregation at College Point, N. Y.

BERGENGREN, MRS. ANNA FARQUHAR, journalist, author, was born in Brookville, Ind., Dec. 23, 1865. While studying vocal music in London and Paris was employed as foreign correspondent to Boston Transcript. She is the author of A Singer's Heart; and The Professor's Daughter.

BERGER WILHELM, musician, composer, was born Aug. 9, 1861, in Boston, Mass. He lives in Berlin, as a composer and well-known piano teacher.

BERLINER, EMILE, inventor, was born May 20, 1851, in Germany. In 1879-82 he was chief instrument inspector of the Bell telephone company. He invented the loose contract telephone transmitter; and the gramaphone.

BERNADOU, CHARLES BAPTISTE naval officer, author, was born in 1858 in Pennsylvania. He served in the Spanish-American war; and attained the rank of lieutenant in the United States navy. He is the author of A Trip Through Northern Korea.

BERNHEIMER, ADOLPH, merchant, was born in 1833 in Germany. He started the manufacture of dyed and cotton-printed fabrics, and may be called the pioneer of this industry in the United States.

BERRYMAN, CLIFFORD KENNEDY, cartoonist, author, was born April 2, 1869, in Versailles, Ky. He began his career as an artist for the Washington Post in 1891, and became cartoonist of that publication. He is the author of Berryman's Cartoons.

BESSELS, EMIL, scientist was born in 1847 in Germany. He is chief of the scientific department of the Polaris expedition of 1870-73, and in 1876 edited the first three volumes of scientific results of that expedition, devoted to hydrography, meteorology, and astronomy. He was also in the expedition of Dorst and Weyprecht and has edited reports of the United States naval institute.

BEVERIDGE, ALBERT JEREMIAH lawyer, United States senator, was born Oct. 6, 1862, on an Ohio farm on the borders of Adams and Highland counties. He was elected United States senator from Indiana for the term ending in 1905 and in the summer of 1899 he visited the Philippine islands and China.

BEYER, SAMUEL WALKER, was born May 15, 1865, in Clearfield, Pa. He is professor of geology at Iowa State College. He was the author of The Sioux Quartzite and Certain Associated Rocks and Geology of Boone County, Iowa.

BICKNELL, FRANK MARTIN, author, was born in Melrose, Mass., Jan. 24, 1854. He has written stories for St. Nicholas, Harper's Young People, Youth's Companion, Outing and New York Evening Post. He is the author of The City of Stories; and The Apprentice Boy.

BIDDLE, CRAIG soldier, author, jurist, was born Jan. 10, 1823, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1875 he has been presiding judge of the court of common pleas of Philadelphia, Pa. He served as private on invasion of Pennsylvania by Confederates in 1863.

BIEDERMAN, EDWARD JULIUS, musician, composer, was born Nov. 8, 1849, in Milwaukee, Wis. He has been organist in New York churches; and for thirty years has been a teacher. He is the author of a number of anthems; vocal duets and solos.

BIERCE, AMBROSE, soldier journalist, author, was born in 1842 in Ohio. He served as a line officer during the Civil war; and was breveted major for distinguished services. He contributed to Overland Monthly; and edited Argonaut and Wasp. He is the author of In the Midst of Life; Black Beetles in Amber; Fantastic Fables; and The Monk and the Hangman's Daughter.

BIGELOW, EDWARD FULLER, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 14, 1860, in Colchester, Conn. He is the author of Bigelow's Descriptive Plant Analysis.

BIGELOW, FRANK HAGAR, clergyman, scientist, author, was born Aug. 28, 1851, in Concord, Mass. For some years he was assistant astronomer in the Argentine national observatory in Cordoba, and afterwards professor of of mathematics in Racine College, Wisconsin, assistant in the national almanac office in Washington. Since 1891 he has been professor of meteorology in the U. S. weather bureau in Washington, D. C., and since 1890 has been assistant rector of St. Johns church of that city. His name is especially associated with an instrument for the photographic record of the transit of stars and with some novel studies by which the solar corona, the aurora, and terrestrial magnetism are shown to be associated. He is the author of Internal Cloud Report; and Bar on.etry of the United States.

BIGELOW, MARSHALL TRAIN, printer, author, was born Oct. 5, 1822, at Natick, Mass. He has been president of the Common Schools of Cambridge, Mass. He is the author of Punctuation and Other Typographical Matters; and Mistakes in Writing English, and How to Avoid Them.

BILL, CHARLES, publisher, was born June 7, 1840. He was a graduate of Norwich Academy, and in 1861 graduated from Yale College. For many years he was engaged in the subscription book publishing business in Chicago, Ill.; subsequently in Springfield, Mass.; and retired from active business in 1873. He traveled in all parts of the world; and was a member of the National Academy of Science, American Economical Association, and other social and scientific clubs of Springfield, Mass.

BINGHAM, HIRAM, missionary, author was born Aug. 16, 1831, [illegible] Honolulu, H. I. He is the author of [illegible] Morning Star; and Gilbertese Bible.

BINNS, CHARLES FERGUS, artist, author, was born Oct. 4, 1857, in England. In 1901 he was president of the American Ceramic Society. He is the author of Ceramic Technology; and The Story of the Potter.

BIRD, ARTHUR musician, composer, was born July 23, 1856, in Cambridge, Mass. He founded the first male chorus in Nova Scotia. His first concert in 1886 at Berlin, was successful. He is the author of the comic opera Daphne.

BISCHOFF, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 16, 1852, in New York City. Since 1896 he has been associate justice of the Supreme Court of New York.

BISHOP, IRVING PRESCOTT, educator, author, was born in Burlington Flats, N. Y., Nov. 18, 1849. Since 1896 he has been instructor in New York State Summer Institute at Chautauqua. He is the author of Salt Field of Western New York; and Geology of Erie County.

BISHOP, JUDSON WADE, soldier, civil engineer, capitalist was born June 24, 1831, in Evansville, N. Y. In 1853 he became assistant engineer of the Grand Trunk railway; later engineer in Minnesota; then surveyor at Chatfield, Minn.; and Publisher Chatfield Democrat in 1859-61. He served as captain of the 2d Minnesota regiment to bvt. brig-gen. vols. After the Civil war he built and operated railroads in Minnesota, and is now president of the St. Paul Trust Co.

BISHOP, LOUIS FANGERES, physician, author, was born in Brunswick, N. J., March 14, 1864. He is now secretary and chairman Section of Medicine at the New York Academy of Medicine. He is the author of Theory and Treatment of Rheumatism; Diagnosis and Treatment of Gout; and Important Points in the Treatment of Pneumonia.

BISPHAM, DAVID S., singer, composer, was born Jan. 5, 1857, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a favorite concert singer, and dramatic baratone.

BISPHAM, GEORGE TUCKER, lawyer, author, was born May 24, 1838, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1861 he has practiced law in Philadelphia. He is the author of Principles of Equity.

BITTINGER, LUCY FORNEY, author, was born in Cleveland, Ohio, Aug. 29, 1859. She is the author of History of the Forney Family of Hanover, Pa.; and The Germans in Colonial Times.

BJERREGAARD, CARL HENRY ANDREW, librarian, author, was born May. 24, 1845, in Fredericia, Denmark. Since 1879 he has been librarian of The Astor Library of New York City. He is the author of Mysticism and Nature Worship, in two volumes; and Being, and the Philosophical History of the Subject.

BLACK, CHAUNCEY FORWARD, lawyer, lieutenant-governor, was born Nov. 28, 1839, in Somerset, Pa. He was elected lieutenant-governor of Pennsylvania in 1882; and in 1886 was the democratic candidate for the governorship. He is a successful lawyer of York, Pa.

BLACK, GREEN V., dentist, author, was born in Scott County, Ill., Aug. 3, 1836. He is dean and professor of operative dentistry, pathology and bacteriology at Northwestern University Dental School of Chicago. He is the author of Formation of Poisons by Micro-Organisms; Periosteum and Peridental Membrane; and Anatomy of the Human Teeth.

BLACK, WILLIAM MURRAY, civil engineer, author, was born Dec. 8, 1855, in Lancaster, Pa. In 1899 he was appointed major corps of engineers, United States Army. He is in charge of engineer work at Havana. He is author of Improvement of Harbors; and Public Works of the United States.

BLACK, WINIFRED, journalist, author, was born Oct. 14, 1869, in Chilton, Wis. She helped to found the Junior Republic for Boys in New York City. She is the author of The Little Boy Who Lived on the Hill.

BLACKALL, CLARENCE HOWARD, architect, was horn Feb. 3, 1857, in New York City. He was the architect of Tremont Temple and the Colonial Theatre of Boston, Mass.

BLACKMAN, WILLIAM FREMONT educator, author, was horn Sept. 26, 1855, in North Pritcher, N. Y. Since 1893 he has been professor of sociology at Yale. He is the author of The Territory of Hawaii, a Sociological Study.

BLACKWELL, ROBERT EMORY, educator, college president, author, was born Nov. 14, 1854, in Warrenton, Va. He is the author of Were the Ancients Acquainted with America?

BLAISDELL, ALBERT FRANKLIN, physician, author, was born Aug. 31, 1[illegible] in South Hampton, N. H. In 1878 he commenced the practice of medicine in Providence, and as physician to the Rhode Island Hospital. He is the author of Study of the English Classics; Our Bodies and How We Live: How to Keep Well; Child's Book of Health; and First Steps with American and British Authors.

BLAKE, CHARLES DUPEE, musician, composer, was born Sept. 13, 1847, in Walpole, Mass. He is a church organist of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Christmas Carols and Songs.

BLAKE, FRANCIS, inventor, was horn Dec. 25, 1850, in Needham, Mass. He is the inventor of the Blake Transmitter now most frequently used on telephones.

BLAKE, HENRY T., author. He is prominent in the public affairs of New Haven, Conn.; park commissioner; and the author of several published works.

BLAKE, JOSEPH AUGUSTUS, physician, author, poet, was born in San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 31, 1864. He is the author of On the Wing; A Summer Holiday in Europe; Verses Along the Way.

BLANCHARD, HARRIS CHAMBERLIN, architect, author, was born July 22, 1847, in Baltimore, Md. He is a successful architect of New York City; and the author of several published works.

BLANCHARD, RUFUS, cartographer, author, was born in 1821, in Lyndeboro, N. H. Since 1854 he has been a maker and publisher of maps and writer of historical books. He is the author of History of Illinois; Political History of the United States; and History of the Northwest and the City of Chicago.

BLATCHLEY, WILLIS STANLEY, naturalist and geologist, was born Oct. 6, 1859, in North Madison, Conn. Since 1894 he has ben State Geologist of Indiana. He is the author of Gleanings from Nature; and Natural Resources of Indiana.

BLISS, FREDERICK JONES, explorer, author, was horn Jan. 22, 1859, in Syria. He is explorer to the Palestine Exploration Fund. He is the author of A Mound of Many Cities; and Excavations at Jerusalem.

BLODGETT, ISAAC N., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was horn March 6, 1838, in Canaan, N. H. In 1871, 1873-74 and 1878 he was a member of New Hampshire legislature; and state senator in 1879-80. In 1876 and 1889 he was a memher of the Constitutional Convention. In 1880-96 he was associate-justice; and since 1896 chief justice of the supreme court of New Hampshire.

BLOSSOM, HENRY MARTYN, insurance, author, was born in St. Louis, Mo. May 10, 1866. He is the author of The Documents in Evidence; and Checkers, a Hard-Luck Story.

BLUE, VICTOR, naval officer, was horn Dec. 6, 1865. During the war with Spain in 1898 he was ordered to the gunboat Suwanee; on June 11 he landed before Santiago and proceeded with guides to the hills overlooking the city and harbor, where he distinctly saw and located the Spanish fleet in the harbor. He then traveled ahout seventy-two miles through the enemy's country, and his report dispelled the last lingering doubt there may have heen as to the presence of Admiral Cervera's fleet in Santiago harbor. In September he was given command of one of the Spanish prizes, and in 1899 was made a lieutenant.

BLUNT, STANHOPE ENGLISH, soldier, author, was born Sept. 29, 1850, in Boston, Mass. He is commanding Rock Island Arsenal, Ill. He is the author of Firing Regulations for Small Arms.

BOARDMAN, HARRY L., educator college president, was born June 23, 1866, in Cleveland, Ohio. Since 1895 he has been president of the McMinnville College, Ore.

BOARDMAN, WILLIAM E., clergyman, author. He is the author of The Higher Christian Life.

BOAS, FRANZ, anthropologist, author, was born July 9, 1858, in Germany. In 1901 he became curator of the American Museum of Natural History. He is the author of The Central Eskimo.

BOATWRIGHT, FREDERIC WILLIAM educator, college president, author, was born Jan. 28, 1868, in White Sulphur Springs, W. Va. Since 1895 he has been president of Richmond College. He is the author of Syllabi French and German Literature.

BODY, CHARLES WILLIAM EDMUND, educator, theologian, author, was horn Oct. 4, 1851, in England. Since 1894 he has been professor of Testament literature and interpretation at General Theological Seminary of New York City. He is the author of The Permanent Value of Genesis.

BOGART, JOHN, consulting engineer, author, was born in Albany, N. Y., Feb. 8, 1836. For twelve years he was editor of Transactions of American Society of Civil Engineers; and lieutenant-colonel and chief engineer of the National Guard, New York. He is the author of Papers and Discussions.

BOGGS, CARROLL CURTIS, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 19, 1844, in Fairfield, Ill. He was state's attorney of Wayne County in 1873-77; judge in 1877-85; circuit judge in 1885-97, including six years on appellate hench in 1891-97. He is justice of the Supreme Court of Illinois for term 1897-1906.

BOGGS, WILLIAM ROBERTSON, soldier, educator, architect, was born March 18, 1829, in Augusta, Ga. He attained the rank of brigadier-general in the Confederate service during the Civil war.

BOISE, OTIS BARDWELL, musician, composer, was born Aug. 13, 1845, in Oberlin, Ohio. In 1864-70 he was organist and teacher in Cleveland, and in 1870-76 in New York City. He is the author of Symphonies and Overtures.

BOMBIANO, MRS. SOPHIA V., author, was horn in 1835 in Cincinnati Ohio. She is the author of Italian Explorers in Africa; and A Short History of the Italian Waldenses.

BONACUM, THOMAS, clergyman, bishop, was born Jan. 29, 1847, in Ireland. Since 1887 he has heen first R. C. bishop of Lincoln, Neb.

BONBRIGHT, DANIEL, educator, college president, author, was born about 1830. He is recognized as one of the most learned Latin scholars in the world. In 1900 he became president of the North western University of Evanston, Ill.

BONER, JOHN HENRY, journalist, author, was horn Jan. 31, 1845, in Salem, N. C. He is the author of Whispering Pines.

BONNER, GERALDINE, author, was born in 1870 in Staten Island, N. Y. For four years he was dramatic critic for the San Francisco Argonaut. He is the author of Hard Pan.

BONNIFIELD, M. S., lawyer, jurist. He is chief justice of the supreme court of Nevada.

BONSAL, STEPHEN, journalist, author, was born in 1863, in Virginia. He served as special correspondent of the New York Herald in Bulgarian-Servian war, also in Macedonia, in Morocco and in Cuha. He was in the U. S. diplomatic service as secretary of legation and charge d'affairs in Peking, Madrid, Tokio and Korea, in 1890-96. He is the author of Morocco As It Is; The Real Condition of Cuha; and The Fight for Santiago.

BOUVIN, LUDWIG, musician, composer, was born Feb. 17, 1850, in Switzerland. Since 1887 he has heen director of chorus and orchestra at Canisius College of Buffalo, N. Y. His puhlished works include three masses and much other sacred music.

BOOKSTAVER, HENRY W., lawyer, jurist, was born in Montgomery, N. Y., Sept. 17, 1835. He was elected judge of the court of common pleas in 1885; transferred to Supreme Court in 1895, term expiring in 1900.

BOOKWALTER, JOHN W., author, was born in 1837 in Rob Roy, Ind. He has large works in Springfield, O., manufacturing Leffel turbine wheels and Bookwalter engines. He was once Democratic candidate for governor of Ohio. He owns a famous art collection. He is the author of If Not Silver, What?

BOOKWALTER, LEWIS, clergyman, college president, author, was born Sept. 18, 1846, near Fallsville, Ohio. Since 1894 he has been president of Western College of Toledo, Iowa. He is the author of The Family, or the Home and the Training of Children.

BOOTH, MRS. MAUD BALLINGTON, missionary, author. She is the wife of Ballington Booth, the general-in-chief, Volunteers of America. She is the author of Branded; and Look Up and Hope.

BOOTH, WALTER SHERMAN, educator, publisher, genealogist, author, was born Sept. 28, 1827, in Bridgewater, Conn. He was admitted to the bar in 1861. In 1862-65 he had charge of the Rochester City Post. For many years was court commissioner and city and ward justice of Rochester, N. Y. In 1876 he sold his interest in the Rochester Post, and engaged exclusively in law publications; and his firm of Walter S. Booth and Son of Minneapolis, Minn., is well known throughout the United States. He is the author of Justices Manual; Constable's Manual; Notary's and Conveyancer's Manual; Township Manual; Highway Manual; Village Manual; and Genealogy of The Booth Family.

BORDEN, HENRY LEE, manufacturer, was born about 1837 in Texas. He is president of the New York Condensed Milk Company. Although his principal business interests are in New York he lives in Chicago, his company operating an extensive plant at Elgin, Ill. Recently, one shipment from his Elgin factory to San Francisco freighted an entire railway train.

BOERING, VINCENT, soldier, banker, congressman, was born in Washington county, Tenn. Nov. 24, 1839. He was a volunteer in Union army, Company A, 24th Kentucky infantry; and was promoted 1st lieutenant for meritorious conduct. In 1875 he founded Mountain Echo in London, Ky. He was elected county judge in 1886; since 1887 has been president Cumberland Valley Land company, and since 1888 president First National Bank of London, Ky. He was commander department Kentucky, G. A. R., in 1889. He was elected to the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congress as a republican.

BOSS, LEWIS, astronomer, author, was born Oct. 26, 1846, in Providence, R. I. Since 1876 he has been director of the Dudley Conservatory at Albany, N. Y. He is the author of Declinations of Fixed Stars.

BOSTWICK, ARTHUR ELMORE, educator, librarian, author, was born March 8, 1860, in Litchfield, Conn. Since 1895 he has been chief librarian of New York Free Circulating Library. In 1892-94 he was associate editor Standard Dictionary; and since 1891 editor. He is the author of Young Folks' Cyclopedia of Games and Sports.

BOSWORTH, FRANCKE HUNTINGTON, physician, author, was born in Marietta, Ohio, Jan. 25, 1843. He is professor diseases of the throat Bellevue Hospital Medical College, of New York City. He is the author of Hand-book of Diseases of the Throat and Nose, Treatise on Diseases of the Nose and Throat, in two volumes; and Text Book of Diseases of the Nose and Throat.

BOTSFORD, GEORGE WILLIS, educator, author, was born in 1862 in West Union, Iowa. Since 1895 he has been instructor of history of Greece and Rome at Harvard university. He is the author of The Development of the Athenian Constitution; and A History of Greece for High Schools and Academies.

BOTTOME, MRS. MARGARET, journalist, author, was born Dec. 29, 1827, in New York City. She is president of the Internat. Order Kings Daughters; and editor of department in Ladies' Home Journal. She is the author of Crumbs from the King's Table; A Sunshine Trip to the Orient; and other works.

BOURGADE, PETER, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1845 in France. He went to Arizona as missionary; and in 1885 became vicar- apostolic of Arizona, with titular rank of Bishop of Taumaco.

BOURNE, EDWARD GAYLORD, educator, author, was born June 24, 1860, in Strykersville, N. Y. Since 1895 he has been professor of history at Yale. He is the author of The History of the Surplus Revenue of 1837.

BOUVE, MRS. PAULINE CARRINGTON, journalist, author, poet, was born in Little Rock, Ark. She is a journalist of Boston, Mass. She is the author of Their Shadows Before; and a volume of Poems.

BOWEN, CLARENCE WINTHROP, publisher, author, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., May 22, 1852. He became connected with The Independent, and on death of Henry C. Bowen, his father, succeeded as its publisher. He is the author of Boundary Disputes of Connecticut, and Memorial of Contennial of Washington's Inauguration.

BOWEN, HERBERT WOLCOTT, lawyer, diplomat, author, poet, was born Feb. 29, 1856, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He practiced law in New York City; was appointed consul in 1890, and consul-general in 1895 at Barcelona. He was the last to leave when war with Spain broke out. He is the author of Verses; Losing Ground; In Divers Tones; and International Law.

BOWEN, J. E., clergyman, author. He is a clergyman of Westport, N. Y. He is the author of Bowen Genealogy.

BOWEN, JOHN WESLEY EDWARD, educator, author, was born Dec. 3, 1855, in New Orleans, La. Since 1888 he has been professor of historical geology at Gammon Theological Seminary of Atlanta, Ga. He is the author of Discussions in Philosophy and Theology.

BOWIE, SYDNEY JOHNSTON, lawyer, congressman, was born July 26, 1865, in Talladega County, Ala. He is a member of the law firm of Knox, Bowie and Blackmon, of Talladega and Anniston, Ala. He was elected the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

BOWLES, PINCKNEY DOWNIE, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born July 7, 1835, in Edgefield, S. C. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier general. For ten years he was state's prosecuting attorney; was postmaster of Evergreen, Ala.; and in 1887-98 was judge of probate.

BOWMAN, ROLAND CLAUDE, artist, was born in 1870 in Michigan. Since 1897 he has been cartoonist on the Minneapolis Tribune. He is the author of Freckles and Tan, a volume of illustrated verse.

BOWSER, EDWARD ALBERT, educator, author, was born June 18, 1845, in Canada. Since 1870 he has been professor of mathematics at Rutgers College. Since 1875 he has been in charge of the geodetic survey of New Jersey. He is the author of Academic Algebra; College Algebra; Plant and Solid Geometry; Elements of Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; Treatise on Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; Analytic Geometry; Differential and Integral Calculus Analytic Mechanics; Hydromechanics; Logarithmic Tables; and Roofs and Bridges.

BOWYER, FRANK CLAYTON, business man, public official, was born Nov. 6, 1869, in Feay's Valley, West Va. He is a prominent business man of Tampa, Fla., and was mayor of that city in 1893-1900.

BOYD, ELLEN WRIGHT, educator, author, was born Sept. 8, 1833, in Winsted, Conn. For over a quarter of a century she has been principal of St. Agnes School of Albany, N. Y. She is the author of Outlines of Religious Instruction; English Cathedrals; and Famous Art Galleries.

BOYD, JAMES E., lawyer, jurist. He is judge U. S. Dist. Court for Western Dist. of N. C.; apptd. July 11, 1900.

BOYD, JAMES P., lawyer, journalist, author, was born Dec. 20, 1836, in Lancaster County, Pa. In 1868-72 he was managing editor of the Philadelphia Press; and of the People's Journal in 1873-83. He is the author of Lives of Grant, Sheridan, Sherman, and Emperor William I.; History of the Crusades; Building and Ruling the Republic; Political History of the United States; and other works.

BOYD, WILLIAM P., author, genealogist, was born March 26, 1849. He is the author of History of Conesus; and Boyd's Genealogy.

BOYE, MARTIN H., chemist, author, was born Dec. 6, 1812, in Denmark. In 1845 he discovered and with others applied the first process of refining cotton seed oil, and specimens exhibited at the Centennial Exposition of Philadelphia in 1876 received first premium. In 1845-59 he was professor of chemistry and natural philosophy in Central High School of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Pneumatics, or the Physics of Gases; and Chemistry, or the Physics of Atoms.

BOYLAN, MRS. GRACE DUFFIE, journalist, author, poet, was born Feb. 9, 1861, in Kalamazoo, Mich. She is a sketch writer for the Chicago Journal; and a writer of dialect poetry and patriotic verse. She is the author of If Tam O'Shanter 'd Had a Wheel, and Other Poems and Sketches.

BOYLE, VIRGINIA FRAZER, author, poet, was born near Chattanooga, Tenn. She is the wife of Thomas R. Boyle, a lawyer of Memphis, Tenn. She is the author of The Other Side, an historical poem; and Brokenburne, A Southern Auntie's War Tale.

BRACE, THEODORE, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born June 10, 1835, in Maryland. In 1861-62 he was colonel of the third Missouri cavalry, second district of Missouri guard. In 1874-75 he was a member of the Missouri state senate. In 1878-79 he was judge of probate court; and judge of circuit court in 1880-86. Since 1887 he has been a judge of supreme court of Missouri, his term expiring in 1907.

BRADBURY, JOSEPH P., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Ohio.

BRADLEY, ANDREW COYLE, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 12, 1844, in Washington, D. C. He is associate justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia.

BRADLEY, CHARLES, merchant, genealogist, was born Aug. 31, 1857. He is a successful merchant of Newark, N. J.; and a director in the Newark city bank and board of trade. In 1896 he was a delegate to the Republican national convention. He edited and published his father's work on The Bradley Family.

BRADLEY, JOHN EDWIN, educator, author, was born in Lee, Mass. Since 1892 he has been president of the Illino[illegible] College. He is the author of Science and Industry; School Incentives; Healthfulness; Healthfulness of Intellectual Pursuits; and Unconscious Education.

BRADLEY, MILTON, manufacturer, author, was born Nov. 8, 1836, in Vienna, Maine. He organized the Milton Bradley Company of Springfield, Mass. He is the author of Color in the Kindergarten; and other works.

BRADSHAW, WILIAM RICHARD, journalist, author, was born Jan. 14, 1851, in Ireland. In 1886-87 he was editor of Literary Life of Chicago; and The Decorater and Furnisher in 1890-96. He is an authority on questions of decorative art. He is the author of The Goddess of Atvatabar.

BRADY, CYRUS TOWNSEND, clergyman, author, was born in Allegheny, Pa., Dec. 20, 1861. He was rector of protestant episcopal churches in Missouri and Colorado; and archdeacon of Kansas; chaplain first Pennsylvania volunteer infantry Spanish-American war. He is the author of For Love of Country; For the Freedom of the Sea; and The Grip of Honor.

BRADY, JOHN, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1840 in Ireland. In 1891 he became auxiliary bishop of Boston; and was consecrated titular bishop of Alabama.

BRADY, John G., missionary, governor, was born in 1849 in New York City. In 1897-1901 he was governor of Alaska.

BRAIN, BELLE M., artist author, was born in Springfield, O., Aug. 4 1859. In 1878-95 she was supervisor of drawing at Springfield public schools. She is the author of Fuel for Missionary Fires; Weapons for Temperance Warfare; The Morning Watch; Quaint Thoughts of an Old-Time Army Chaplain; and The Transformation of Hawaii.

BRAINARD, LUCY ABIGAIL, educator, genealogist, was born June 26, 1832 in Colchester, Conn. She assisted in the compilation of the Foote Genealogy; and is the author of the Brainard Genealogy.

BRAINE, ROBERT DYER, musician, author, was born in Springfield, Ohio, May 20, 1861. He is the author of Messages from Mars, or the Strange Revelations of the Telescope Plant.

BRANDT, HERMANN CARL GEORGE, educator, author, was born Dec. 15, 1850, in Germany. Since 1883 he has been professor of German at Hamilton College. He is the author of German Grammar for Schools and Colleges; German Reader; and German-English and English-German Dictionary.

BRANN, HENRY ATHANASIUS, clergyman author, was born Aug. 15, 1837, in Ireland. He was ordained in 1862. He was vice-president of Seton Hall college until 1864; and in 1868-72 director of the Roman Catholic seminary in Wheeling, W. Va., when he was appointed rector of St. Elizabeth's church of New York. He is also archdiocesan censor of books. He is the author of Curious Questions: Truth and Error; Essays on the Popes; The Age of Unreason; and Immortality of the Soul.

BRANNON, HENRY, lawyer legislator, jurist, was born Nov. 26, 1837, in Winchester, Va. In 1859-81 he practiced law in West Virginia, and was prosecuting attorney of Louis county in 1860-64; and member of West Virginia legislature in 1870-71. In 1880 he became circuit judge; and since 1888 has been judge of the supreme court of West Virginia.

BRANTLY, THEODORE, lawyer, educator, jurist, was born Feb. 12, 1851, in Lebanon, Tenn. Until 1889 he taught languages at the College of Montana. In 1892-98 he was district judge third district of Montana; and in 1898 became chief-justice of the supreme court of Montana for term ending in 1904.

BRANTLEY, WILLIAM THEOPHILUS, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 17, 1852 in Augusta, Ga. Since 1885 he has been professor of law school, University of Maryland. Since 1894 he has been reporter court of appeals of Maryland. He is the author of Law of Personal Property.

BRAYTON, ALEMBERT WINTHROP, physician, naturalist, author, was born in Avon, N. Y., March 3, 1848. He is the author of Birds of Indiana; Mammals of Ohio; Fishes of the Southern Allegheny Region, with 20 Species New to Science.

BREARLEY, WILLIAM HENRY, soldier, journalist, author, was born in Plymouth, Mich., July 18, 1846. In 1862-65 he served in the civil war, 17th Michigan volunteer infantry. In 1873-87 he was advertising manager, Detroit News; and proprietor of Detroit Journal in 1887-92. He founded the Detroit Museum of Art in 1883; Detroit Chamber of Commerce in 1892. He is the author of Recollections of the East Tennessee Campaign; Warned, A Copyist; and Leading Events of the American Revolution.

BREAUX, JOSEPH A., soldier, lawyer jurist, was born in 1838 in Louisiana. In 1861-65 he served in the confederate army Since 1890 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana.

BREAZEALE, PHANOR, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 29, 1858, in Louisiana. In 1892-99 he was district prosecuting attorney and elected a member of Louisiana constitutional convention in 1898. He was elected to the fifty-sixth Congress as a Democrat.

BRECKINRIDGE, JOSEPH CABELL, soldier, was born Jan. 14, 1842, in Baltimore, Md.. In 1861 he entered the Union army, was on General Nelson's and Thomas's staffs; and was given appointment in regular army for gallantry at Mill Springs, Ky. He filled every grade; was major in 1881; brigadier-general in 1889; and major-general vols. in 1898. He was in Santiago campaign.

BRECKINRIDGE, ROBERT JEFFERSON, soldier, lawyer, jurist, statesman, was born in September, 1834. He was a representative in the Confederate congress; and colonel of cavalry confederate service. He was judge court of common pleas; member of the state senate of Kentucky; and attorney-general of Kentucky.

BRECKONS, JOSEPH ALLISON, journalist, author, was born Nov. 27, 1857, in Right Problems on Bear River.
St. Clair, Pa. He is the author of Water

BREED, JOHN HOWARD, businessman, genealogist, was born May 27, 1[illegible] He is superintendent of Safe Deposit Vaults of the Real Estate Trust Company at Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of The Breed Family Record.

BRENNAN, THOMAS FRANCIS, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1853 in Ireland. In 1891 he was consecrated bishop of Dallas, Texas; was Vicar Apostolic of the Labrador in in 1893-94 and auxiliary bishop of Newfoundland in 1894-95.

BRENT, JOSEPH LANCASTER, lawyer, was born Nov. 30, 1826, in Charles City county, Md. In 1862 he was appointed chief of ordnance and artillery to General Richard Taylor, in which position he continued during the year 1863, when he was made colonel of artillery. He was appointed brigadier-general, in 1864.

BRETT, WILLIAM HOWARD, librarian, was born in 1846 in Braceville, Ohio. Since 1884 he has been librarian of Public Library of Cleveland, Ohio. In 1897 he was president of American Library Association.

BREWER, ABRAHAM T., soldier, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 20, 1841, in Monroe County, Ohio. He served three years during the civil war in the sixty-first regiment Pennsylvania volunteers He is the author of Ohio Corporations; and The Jury System.

BREWER, JOHN HYATT, musician, composer, was born Jan. 18, 1856 in Brooklyn, N. Y. For seven years he was boy-soprano in various churches; and in 1871 began his career as organist; and since 1881 has been organist and director of the Lafayette Avenue Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of duets, quartets, anthems, glees, choruses and cantatas.

BREWSTER, CHAUNCEY BUNCE, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Sept. 5, 1818 in Windham Conn. Since 1887 he has been bishop coadjutor of Connecticut. He is the autl or of Key of Life; Good Friday Addresses.

BREWSTER, WADSWORTH J., merchant, banker, genealogist, was born Feb. 10, 1846. He is the proprietor of a large department store in Hannibal, N. Y.; and also conducts a banking business. He is the author of The Brewster Genealogical Charts.

BRIDGE, NORMAN, physician, author, was born in Windsor, Vt., Dec. 30, 1844. Since 1888 he has been attending physician to Presbyterian Hospital of Chicago. In 1881-84 he was a member and twice president of Chicago Board of Education. He is the author of The Penalties of Taste and Other Essays.

BRIDGMAN, JOSEPH CLARKE, bookseller, genealogist, was born Oct. 23, 1831. He has been United States government agent in the Indian department. He is a bookseller of Hyde Park, Mass. He is the author of Genealogy of the Bridgman Family.

BRIGGS, SAMUEL, treasurer, genealogist, was born April 12, 1841. In 1879-82 he was superintendent Valley Railway of Ohio; and in 1882-86 was receiver and general manager. He is the author of The Archives of the Briggs Family.

BRIGHAM, ALBERT PERRY, geologist, author, was born June 12, 1855, in Perry, N. Y. He is the author of A Text-Book of Geology.

BRIGHAM, MRS. SARAH J., illustrator, author, was born in Manchester, N. Y., March 5, 1835. As an artist she has illustrated in color. She is the author of Under Blue Skies; and The Pleasant Land of Play.

BRINKERHOFF, RICHARD, publisher, genealogist, was born April 19, 1828. Since 1875 he has been business manager of the board of publication of the Reformed church in America at New York City. He is the author of a genealogy of the Brinkerhoff Family.

BRINSMADE, JOHN C., educator, legislator, was born April 24, 1852, in Springfield, Mass. He was principal of the Gunnery School of Washington, Conn. He was a member of the Connecticut Legislature in 1893.

BRISTOL, FRANK MILTON, clergyman, author, was born in Orleans County,

N. Y., Jan. 4, 1851. He is now pastor of the Metropolitan M. E. Church of Washington, D. C. He is the author of Providential Epochs; The Ministry of Art; and Shakespeare and America.

BRISTOL, GEORGE PRENTISS, educator, author, was born June 21, 1856, in Clinton, N. Y. Since 1898 he has been professor of Greek in Cornell University of Ithaca, N. Y. He is the author of The Teaching of Greek in Secondary Schools.

BRITTON, NATHANIEL LORD, geologist, author, was born Jan. 15, 1859, in New Dorp, N. Y. He is director New York Bothanical Garden. He is the author of The Flora of New Jersey; and illustrated Flora of the Northern United States and Canada.

BROADHURST, G. M., dramatist, author. He is the author of the plays What Happened to Jones; The House That Jack Built.

BROBST, SAMUEL R. KISTLER, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 16, 1822, in Lynn township, Pa. In 1847 he found d the Jugendfreund the first juvenile magazine published in the United States in the German language, which subsequently transformed into the Lutherische Zeitschrift. He also formed a German teachars' seminary, which became Muhlenberg college. He is the author of several works in Germany, and an annual Lutheran church almanac in German and English.

BROCK, ROBERT ALONZO, antiquarian, historian, was born in Richmond, Va., March 9, 1839. He edited its eleven volumes of Collections. He is a member of numerous learned societies in the United States, Canada and Europe.

BROCKENBROUGH, J. W., lawyer, was born in Virginia. He was appointed a judge of the United States district court for that district.

BROCKWAY, HOWARD, musician,composer, was born in Brooklyn, N. Y., Nov. 22, 1870. Since 1895 he has lived in New York City, teaching piano-forte and composition and concertizing. He is the author of Variations on an Original Theme

BROOKE, THOMAS PRESTON, musician, composer, was born in Leavenworth, Kan., June 7, 1859. Since 1893 he has conducted the Chicago Marine Band. Among the best known of his compositions are Columbian Guards March; March of the First; Popular Swing Two-step; Louisiana Buck Dance; Our Nation's Guard March.

BROOKE-RAWLE, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 29, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. During the civil war he attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He is the author of Gregg's Cavalry Fight at Gettysburg.

BROOKS, ALFRED HULSE, geologist, was born July 18, 1871, in Ann Arbor, Mich. He has been connected with the United States Survey since 1894, and is now engaged in explorations in Alaska.

BROOKS, CHRISTOPHER PARKINSON, lecturer, scientist, author, was born April 17, 1866, in England. In 1898 he organized and is managing director of New Bedford Textile School. He lectured in course of municipal lectures, city of Boston in 1899. He is the author of Cotton Manufacturing; Weaving Calculations; and Cotton. Its Uses, Varieties, Fibre Structure and Cultivation.

BROOKS, HENRY S., journalist author was born in London, England. In 1850 he was a California pioneer; editor of California Mountaineer in 1861; associate editor of The Pacific in 1862-65. He is the author of Dona Paula's Treasure; and A Catastrophe in Boemia.

BROOKS, JABEZ, educator, college president, author, was born Sept. 18, 1823, in Engand. Since 1869 he has been professor Greek at University of Minneapolis; president Minneapolis Educational Association, 1868; Methodist. He is the author of Attic Greek; a book for beginners.

BROOKS, JOHN M., soldier, educator, was born in 1820. He designed the ram Merrimac and thus revolutionized marine warfare, is still living at Lexington, Va. He is Professor Emeritus of Physics at the Virginia Military Institute.

BROOMELL, I. NORMAN, dentist, author, was born in Chester County, Pa. Nov. 25, 1858. Since 1898 he has been professor of dental histology and prosthetic dentistry at Pennsylvania College of Dental Surgery. He is the author of Anatomy and Histology of the Mouth and Teeth.

BROUN, WILLIAM LEROY, soldier educator, physician, surgeon, was born in 1827, Loundon County, Va. He filled professorships in the College of Oakland and the University of Georgia; and then organized the Bloomfield Academy. In 1861 he enlisted as a lieutenant of artillery in the confederate service; and subsequently was made commandant of the Richmond Arsenal. He then accepted the chair of natural philosophy in the University of Georgia; and in 1872 was elected president of the Georgia Agricultural and Mechanical College. In 1875-82 he filled the chair of mathematics in Vanderbilt University. He then became president of the Agricultural and Mechanical College of Alabama, which has developed under his able administration into a scientific institution of the highest rank.

BROWER, DANIEL ROBERTS, physician, author, was born in 1839 in Philadelphia, Pa.. He is now professor of mental diseases and therapeutics at Rush Medical college of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of numerous monographs; and a text book on Insanity.

BROWER, JACOB VRADENBERG soldier, legislator, explorer, author, was born in York, Mich., Jan. 21, 1844. He served in the volunteer cavalry and in the United States volunteer navy during the civil war. In 1873 he was a member of the Minnesota state legislature He charted source of the Mississippi river in 1889. He discovered mounds and ancient village site at Itasca Lake in 1894-95 and rediscovered site of Quivira in 1897-98. He is the author of The Mississippi River and Its Utmost Source; Phehistoric Man at the Head Waters of the Mississippi; and The Missouri River and its Sources.

BROWN, ARTHUR LEWIS, lawyer jurist, was born Nov. 28, 1854 in Providence, R. I.' Since 1896 he has been United States judge for district of Rhode Island.

BROWN, CALVIN LUTHER, lawyer, jurist, was born April 26, 1854, in Goshen, N. H. Since 1899 he has been judge of Supreme Court of Minnesota.

BROWN, CALVIN SMITH educator, author, was born Feb. 13 1868 in Obion County, Tenn. He is an instructor in English and Comparative literature in Uiversity of Colorado. He is the author of The Later Eglish Drama.

BROWN, CHARLES REYNOLDS, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 1, 1862, in Bethany, W. Va. Since 1899 he has been special lecturer in Ethics at Stanford University of California. He is the author of Two Parables; and The Main Points.

BROWN, ERNEST WILLIAM, educator, author was born Nov. 29, 1866, in Hull, England. Since 1891 he has been professor of applied mathematics at Haverford College. He is the author of Treatise on the Lunar Theory.

BROWN, FRANK, farmer, legislator, governor, was born in Carroll County, Md., Aug. 8, 1846. He was a member of the Maryland legislature in 1876-78. He is a stock raiser on a large scale. He was president of Maryland State Agricultural and Mechanical Association in 1880-92; and postmaster of Baltimore in 1886-90. In 1892-96 he was governor of Maryland.

BROWN, JOHN HOWARD, journalist author, was born Nov. 8, 1840, in Rhinebeck, N. Y. He was a student at Rhinebeck Academy, Fort Edward Institute, and Eastman College; and studied law in New York City. He was newspaper correspondent in 1863-65 in Washington, D. C.; and in 1868-71 was real estate agent and news correspondent in Georgia. During 1871-85 he was a publisher of popular subscription books in New York City; in 1885-87 was traveling correspondent for New York Star; and in 1890-95 was editor of National Encyclopedia of American Biography of New York City. In 1896-99 he was editor of the Encyclopedia of American Biography published in Boston, Mass., the title of which is now Lamb's Biographical Dictionary of the United States. He is also the author of American Naval Heroes; and other works.

BROWN, JOHN MARSHALL, soldier, financier, legislator, was born Dec. 14, 1838, in Portland, Maine. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1899 he was a member of the Maine legislature.

BROWN, LILLIE WEST, dramatic critic, author, was born in West Burlington, Iowa, Oct. 11, 1860. She is the author of Amy Leslie at the Fair; and Some Players.

BROWN, OBADIAH BUREN, musician, composer, was born July 2, 1829, in Washington, D. C. He was a teacher of music in State Normal Schools at Salem, Bridgewater, and Framingham, Mass. He was organist in Boston and Malden He is the author of several popular collections of school songs.

BROWN, THOMAS JEFFERSON, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born July 24, 1836, in Jasper county, Ga. In 1888-92 he was a member of the Texas legislature; and judge of the State district court in 1892-93. Since 1893 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Texas.

BROWN, WEBSTER E., lumberman, congressman, was born July 16, 1871 in Peterboro, N. Y. Since 1875 he has been engaged in the lumber business at Rhinelander, Wis. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Wisconsin as a Republican.

BROWN, WILLIAM GARROTT, lecturer, author, was born April 24 1868 in Marion, Ala. Since 1892 he has been assistant in Harvard Library. He is the author of Official guide to Harvard University; and A History of Alabama.

BROWN, WILLIAM LEE, journalist state senator, was born Dec. 25, 1840, in Vermont. He is joint proprietor of the New York Daily News with Benjamin Wood. For two terms he was a state senator of New York. In 1893 he was candidate for Congress.

BROWN, WILLIAM MONTGOMERY clergyman, bishop, author, was born Nov 6, 1855, near Orrville, Ohio. Since 1899 he has been Protestant Episcopal bishop coadiutor of Arkansas. He is the author of The Church for Americans.

BROWN, WILLIAM THURSTON, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 20, 1861, in Medusa, N. Y. He is the pastor Plymouth Church of Rochester, N. Y. He is the author of the Real Religion of Today.

BROWNE, BENNET BERNARD, physician, was born June 11, 1842, in Wheatlands, Md. He holds professorships in the medical college of Baltimore, in the polytechnic and post-graduate medical school of that city, and is president of the Baltimore clinical society. He has successfully introduced a new operation for chronic inversion of the uterus; and has written extensively for the medical journals on obstetrical and gynaecological subjects.

BROWNELL, CLARENCE LUDLOW, journalst, author, was born June 6 1864, in Hartford, Conn. He is the author of Tales from Tokio.

BROWNING, WILLIAM CHARLES, merchant, was born Nov. 13, 1833, in New York city. In 1868 he, with partners, established the firm of Browning, King and Co., to represent the manufacturing and retail interests of their clothing trade, their wholesale business being carried on in Chicago under the name of Henry W. King and Co. They are the largest manufacturers of clothing in the world, and have retail branches in Chicag Louis, Kansas City, St. Paul, Omaha, New York, Minneapolis, Brooklyn, Boston, Lincoln, Providence and Cleveland.

BROYDE, ISAAC, Arabist, author, was born Feb. 23, 1867, in Russia. He is the author of several Arabic works.

BRUBAKER, ALBERT P., educator, author, was born Aug. 12, 1852, in Somerset, Pa. Since 1893 he has been lecturer on Anatomy and Physiology at Drexel Institute at Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Compend of Physiology.

BRUCE, HORATIO WASHINGTON, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Feb. 22, 1830, in Lewis County, Ky. He was a member of the Kentucky legislature; and a member of the confederate congress He has been circuit judge in Kentucky; and chancellor Louisville Chancery court. He is now chief attorney of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company.

BRUHL, GUSTAVUS, physician, was born May 31, 1826, in Prussia. He was physician of St. Mary's hospital, lecturer on laryngoscopy in Miami medical college; and one of the founders and first president of the Peter Claver society for the education of colored children. In 1869 he edited the German Pioneer; and in 1871 was nominated by the democrats for state treasurer of Ohio. In 1874 he was one of the examiners of public schools in Cincinnati.

BRUNCKEN, ERNEST, horticulturist, author. He was secretary of the Wisconsin State Forestry Commission. He is the author of North American Forests.

BRUNER, LAWRENCE, educator, author, was born in 1856 in Catasaqua, Pa. He is professor of entomology and ornithology at University of Nebraska. He is State entomologist of Nebraska. He is the author of Introduction to Study of Entomology; and Destructive Locust of Argentina.

BRYAN, CHARLES PAGE, lawyer, legislator, diplomat, was born June 12, 1856, in Chicago, Ill. In 1879-83 he practiced law in Colorado; and was a member of the Colorado state legislature. He made two tours of Europe for the Columbian Exposition. He served four terms as a member of the Illinois state legislature; and was colonel on the military staffs of Governors Fifer, Oglesby and Altgeld. Since 1898 he has been United States Minister to Brazil.

BRYAN, GEORGE D., soldier, lawyer, public official, was born Sept. 26, 1845, in Charleston, S. C. During the civil war he served in the Confederate navy. During 1878-87 he was corporation counsel of his native city; was mayor in 1887-91; and collector of customs in 1894-98.

BRYAN, WILLIAM LOWE, educator, author, was born Nov. 11, 1860, near Bloomington, Ind. Since 1893 he has been professor of philosophy and vice-president since 1893 at Indiana University. He is the author of Plato the Teacher; Selections from Plato; and The Republic of Plato, with Studies for Teachers.

BRYANT, DAVID E., lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 19, 1849, in La Rue County Ky. Since 1890 he has been United States district judge for the eastern district of Texas.

BRYANT, JOHN HOWARD, farmer, legislator, poet, was born July 22, 1807, in Cummington, Mass. In 1842 and 1858 he was a member of the Illinois legislature. In 1854 he was a free-soil candidate for congress. He is the author of Life and Poems.

BRYANT, WILLIAM CULLEN, journalist, was born Aug. 1, 1849, in New York City. Since 1875 he has been publisher of the Brooklyn Times.

BUCHANAN, ANDREWS HAYS, educator, civil engineer, author, was born June 28, 1828, in Washington County, Ark. In 1861-65 he was military topographical engineer in the confederate service. Since 1869 he has been professor of mathematics and civil-engineering in Cumberland University of Lebanon, Tenn.

BUCHANAN, ROBERDEAU, civil engineer, genealogist, author, was born in 1839, in Philadelphia, Pa. As civil engineer he was connected with the construction of the Charleston waterworks; and subsequently was chief-engineer of various enterprises. He was connected with the United States patent office; and since 1878 has been connected with the Nautical Almanac and the United States Naval Observatory at Washington. He is the author of a Report on Bridge Construction; Genealogy of the Roberdeau Family; and other works.

BUCK, CARL DARLING, educator, author was born Oct. 2, 1866, in Bucksport, Maine. Since 1892 he has been professor of Sanskirt and comparative philology at University of Chicago. He is the author of Hale-Buck Latin Grammar.

BUCK, GEORGE M., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 28, 1843, in Skaneateles, N. Y. He was circuit court commissioner of Kalamazoo County, Mich., for five years; prosecuting attorney for four years; United States commissioner for three years; Judge of Probate Court for eight years; and for the past twelve years has been Circuit Judge for the ninth judicial circuit of Michigan.

BUCK, GERTRUDE, educator author, was born in Kalamazoo, Mich., July 14 1871. Since 1897 she has been an instructor of English at Vassar College. She is the author of A Course in Expository Writing; and The Metaphor.

BUCK, LEFFERT LEFFERTS, soldier, civil engineer, designer, was born in Canton, N. Y., in 1837. In 1861-65 he served in Union army, in 60th New York volunteers. He was chief engineer of New East River bridge; and designer and engineer of arch bridge at Niagara Falls.

BUCKINGHAM, EBENEZER, banker, was born Jan. 16, 1829, in Zanesville, Ohio. In 1866, with his brother, John, he bought the grain elevators in Chicago connected with the Illinois Central railroad, and continued in that business twenty-five years. In 190 he was elected president of the Northwestern national bank; and is also president of the Traders' Insurance company.

BUEHLER, HUBER GRAY, clergyman, educator, author, was born Dec. 3, 1864, in Gettysburg, Pa. He is a teacher at Hotchkiss School of Lakeville, Conn. He is the author of Practical Exercises in English.

BUELL, MARCUS DARIUS, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 1, 1851, in Wayland, N. Y. Since 1884 he has been professor of New Testament Greek; and since 1889 dean of the theological faculty of Boston University. He is the author of Studies in The Greek Text of the Gospel of Mark.

BUFFINGTON, JOSEPH, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 5, 1855, in Kittanning. Since 1892 he has been United States judge for the western district of Pennsylvania.

BUGG, LELIA HARDIN, author, was born in Ironton Mo. She is the author of The Correct Thing for Catholics; A Lady; and The Prodigal's Daughter.

BULKLEY, L. DUNCAN, physician, author, was born in New York City, Jan. 12, 1845. He is consulting physician of New York Hospital. He is the author of Manual of Diseases of the Skin; and Acne and Its Treatment.

BULLARD, FREDERICK FIELD, musician, composer, was born Sept. 21, 1864, in Boston, Mass. He settled in Boston as a teacher of composition. He was musical critic for Time and the Hour. He has published about 40 songs.

BULLITT, JOHN C., lawyer, was born in Jefferson County, Ky., Feb. 10, 1824. He was receiver of the Schuylkill Bank gaining reputation by skillful management and settlement of its affairs. He was leading counsel for Gen. Fitz. John Porter before advisory board of officers at West Point. He is the owner of the large Bullitt Bldg. in Philadelphia, Pa.

BULLOCH, JOSEPH GASTON BAILLIE, physician, genealogist, was born about 1850. For many years he practiced medicine in Florida, where he assisted in organizing several medical societies. He assisted in organizing the Sons of the Revolution of Georgia, and was vice-president. He has filled numerous government medical positions; and is now superintendent of the Indian School service at Cheyenne Agency, S. D. He is the author of The Bulloch Family and Connections, and other genealogical works. He is also the author of various medical and sanitary articles; The Indian Question; and articles on good government.

BULLOCK, CHARLES JESSE, educator, author, was born May 21, 1869, in Boston, Mass. He is professor of economics at Williams College. He is the author of The Finances of the United States; Introduction to the Study of Economics.

BUMPUS, HERMAN CAREY, educator, author, was born May 5, 1862, in Buckfield, Maine. Since 1892 he has been professor of comparative anatomy in Brown University. He is the author of A Laboratory Course in Invertebrate Zoology.

BUNCE, FRANCIS MARVIN, soldier, was born Dec. 25, 1836, in Hartford, Conn. During the Civil war he was executive officer of Penobscot. He served on Pawnee and had charge of naval part in attack and capture of Morris island, S. C. In 1891-94 he commanded Naval Training Station at Newport, R. I.; North Atlantic Station in 1895-97; navy yard of New York in 1897-99. He attained the rank of rear-admiral in 1898.

BURBANK, LUTHER, naturalist, originator, was born March 7, 1849, in Lancaster, Mass. He was always devoted to the study of nature, especially plant life; conducts Burbank's Experiment Farms at Santa Rosa, Cal. He was the originator of the Burbank potato; Gold, Wickson, Apple, October Purple, Chalco, America and Climax plums; Giant, Splendor and Sugar prunes; Peachblow, Burbank and Santa Rosa roses; Giant and Fragrance callas; and various new apples, peaches, nuts, berries and other valuable trees, fruits, flowers and vegetables.

BURCHARD, CHARLES AUSTIN, legislator, was born Jan. 1, 1810, in Granby, Mass. In 1843 he settled in Waukesha, Wis. In 1846 he was elected a delegate to the first constitutional convention of Wisconsin; and in 1854 moved to Beaver Dam. In 1856 he was elected a member of the Wisconsin State Assembly.

BURDICK, FRANCIS MARION, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 1, 1845, in De Ruyter, N. Y. Since 1891 he has been Dwight professor of law, at Columbia University. He is the author of Burdick's Cases on Torts; Cases on Sales; The Law of Sales; Cases on Partnership; and The Law of Partnership.

BURGESS, EDWARD SANDFORD, educator, author, was born Jan. 19, 1855, in Little Valley, N. Y. Since 1895 he has been professor of natural science at Normal College of New York. He is the author of Monographs Upon Species of North American Asters.

BURGESS, FRANK GELETT, illustrator, author, was born Jan. 30, 1866, in Boston, Mass. He is an illustrator of San Francisco, Cal. He is the author of The Lark Almanac; and other works.

BURGESS, GAVON D., lawyer, jurist, He is associate justice of the supreme court of Missouri.

BURGESS, GEORGE FARMER, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 21, 1861, in Wharton, Texas. He is a successful lawyer of Gonzales, Texas. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Texas.

BURK, HENRY, congressman, was born Sept. 26, 1850, in Germany. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Pennsylvania.

BURKE, CHARLES H., lawyer, congressman, was born April 1, 1861, in Genesee County, N. Y. He was a member of the North Dakota legislature in 1882 and was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

BURKE, MILO DARWIN, civil engineer, author, was born in Ashland County, O., Aug 23, 1841. He has general practice in engineering work; and constructed four incline planes for passenger traffic. He is the author of Brick for Street Pavements.

BURKE, THOMAS MARTIN ALOYSIUS, clergyman, bishop, was born Jan. 10 1840, in Ireland. He was theologian in 3d Plenary council in 1884; became vicar-general, administrator, and finally bishop of Albany.

BURKET, JACOB F., lawyer, banker, jurist, was born March 25, 1837, in Perry County, Ohio. Since 1887 he has been president American National Bank of Findlay, Ohio. Since 1893 he has been judge of the supreme court of Ohio; his BURKETT, CHARLES WILLIAM, educator, author, was born Jan. 3, 1873, in Thornville, Ohio. He is professor of agriculture at New Hampshire College of Agriculture. He is the author of History of Ohio Agriculture.

BURKS, MARTIN PARKS, educator, author. He is professor of common and statute law at Washington and Lee University. He is Reporter for Supreme Court of Appeals of Virginia. He is the author of The Property Rights of Married Women in Virginia.

BURLEIGH, CLARENCE BLENDON journalist, author, was born Nov. 1, 1864, in Linneus, Maine. Since 1887 he has been editor of the Kennebec Journal; and State printer since 1897. He is the author of The National Editorial Association in Florida; and The Smugglers of Chestnut.

BURLESON, ALBERT SIDNEY, lawyer, congressman, was born June 7, 1863, in San Marcos, Texas. For eight years he was district attorney. He was elected to the 56th congress from Texas as a dem

BURNHAM, A. ROLLINS, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 24, 1849, in Manchester, England. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Kentucky as a Republican.

BURNETT, JOHN LAWSON, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1854, in Cedar Bluff, Ala. He was elected to the Alabama legislature in 1884; and to the State senate in 1886. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Alabama as a democrat.

BURNHAM, DANIEL HUDSON, architect, was born in Henderson, N. Y., Sept. 4, 1846. He was the architect of the Rookery, Calumet Cluh, The Temple, Masonic Temple, Illinois Trust Bank, Great Northern Hotel, and many other buildings in Chicago and elsewhere, including the Mills Building of San Francisco, Ellicott Square of Buffalo, Society for Savings of Cleveland, and Land Title Building of Philadelphia, Pa. He was chief and director of works at the World's Columbian Exposition.

BURNHAM, HENRY EBEN, lawyer, United States Senator, was born Nov. 8, 1844, in Dumharton, N. H. In 1876-79 he was judge of probate at Manchester, N. H. He was elected United States senator from New Hampshire for term of 1901-07.

BURR, WILLIAM HENRY, stenographer, author, was born in Gloversville, N. Y., April 15, 1819. He became reporter of the official record, United States Senate; later court reporter of New York. He is the author of Self-Contradictions of the Bible; and The Quest of Mr. East.

BURRELL, DAVID JAMES, clergyman, author, was born in Mount Pleasant, Pa., Aug. 1, 1849. Since 1891 he has been pastor of Marble Collegiate Church of New York City, the oldest church on the continent and founded in 1628. He is the author of The Religions of the World: Hints and Helps, in three volumes; The Gospel of Gladness; The Morning Cometh; The Religion of the Future; The Early Church; and The Wondrous Cross.

BURROWS, JEROME B., lawyer, jurist. He is an eminent lawyer of Painesville, Ohio; and now a judge of the circuit court of Ohio.

BURT, HORACE GREELEY, railroad president. President Union Pacific Railroad. He was chief engineer Chicago & Northwestern Railway at Chicago; and later general manager Fremont, Elkhorn & Missouri Valley and Sioux City & Pacific railroads.

BURT, STEPHEN SMITH, physician, author, was born in Oneida, N. Y., Nov. 1, 1850. He is professor of medicine and physical diagnosis at New York Post-Graduate Medical School. He is the author of Exploration of the Chest in Health and Disease.

BURTON, CLARENCE MONROE, lawyer, author, was born in California, Nov. 18, 1853. He devoted his spare time to study of history of Detroit and the Northwest, and the collection of one of the largest libraries of America in the West, including about eleven thousand volumes, twenty thousand pamphlets and one hundred thousand unpublished documents, copies of archives in France, Canada and United States. He is the author of Sketch of the Life of Antoine de la Mothe Cadillac, founder of Detroit.

BURTON, JOSEPH RALPH, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born Nov. 16, 1851, near Mitchell, Ind. He was a member of Kansas legislature for three terms; and has campaigned from Maine to Colorado. He was elected United States senator from Kansas for term of 1901-07.

BURWELL, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, lawyer, jurist, was born April 15, 1866, in Armstrong County, Pa. For term of 1896-1902 he was asociate justice of the Supreme Court of Oklahoma.

BUSBEY, L. WHITE, journalist, author, was born Nov. 22, 1852, in Vienna, Ohio. Since 1896 he has been Washington correspondent of the Chicago Inter-Ocean. He is the author of The Battle of 1900.

BUSCH, CARL, musician, composer, was born March 29, 1869, in Denmark. In 1901 he was conductor of First May Festival at Kansas City, Mo. He is the author of Orchestral Prologue to Tennyson; and a number of songs and choruses.

BUSH, T. G., soldier, manufacturer, legislator, was born in 1847 in Pickensville, Ala. He was cadet at University of Alabama until 1864, then resigned and entered Confederate army as adjt., 62d Alabama; and was captured by Federal troops in 1865. In 1886 he was a member of the Alabama legislature. Since 1886 he has been president of Mobile and Birmingham Railway Company; president of Clifton Iron Company, of Ironton, Ala., and Shelby Iron Company of Shelby, Ala.

BUSSMEYER, HUGO, pianist, musician, composer, was born Feb. 26, 1842, in Brunswick. In 1860 he went to Mexico, and then settled in New York. He is the author of several pianoforte compositions.

BUTLER, AMOS WILLIAMS, naturalist, author, was born Oct. 1,1860,in Brookville, Ind. Since 1897 he has been secretary of Indian board of State charities. He is the author of Birds of Indiana.

BUTLER, CHARLES HENRY, lawyer, author, was born June 18, 1859, in New York City. In 1898 he was legal expert for the American-Canadian Commission. He is the author of Cuba Must be Free; and The Voice of the Nation.

BUTLER, EDWARD HUBERT, journalist, was born Sept. 5, 1850, in LeRoy, N. Y. In 1873 he established the Buffalo Evening News, of which he is sole proprietor. He was Republican presidential elector of New York in 1896; president of State Editorial Association in 1891; and president of Republican State Editorial Association in 1898.

BUTLER, NATHANIEL BUTLER, educator, college president, author, was born May 22, 1853, in Eastport, Maine.

Since 1895 he has been president of Colby College of Waterville, Maine. He is the author of Bellum Helveticum, a latin textbook.

BUTLER, THOMAS AMBROSE, clergyman, author, poet, was born March 21, 1837, in Dublin, Ireland. He was engaged in missionary work in Kansas in 1867-75; and later was appointed pastor of St. James's church of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of The Irish on the Prairies, and Other Poems; and Kansas and Irish Immigration.

BUTTERFIELD, DANIEL, soldier, banker, author, was born Oct. 31, 1831, in Oneida County, N. Y. During the Civil war he attained the rank of major-general of volunteers; and subsequently was breveted brigadier-general and major-general in the regular army. He received a medal of honor from congress for gallantry at Gaines Mill. He is president of the National Bank of Cold Spring-On-Hudson, N. Y. He commanded the great centennial parade of one hundred thousand men in New York City. He is the author of Treatise on Camp and Outpost Duty.

BYNUM, WILLIAM PRESTON, lawyer, jurist, was born in 18[illegible] in McDowell county, N. C. He practiced law until elected judge. He was a candidate for state senator. He was presidential elector of the Republican ticket in 1892; and was elected solicitory in 1894. He was judge of the superior court of North Carolina in 1898; and is now special attorney for United States.

BYRNE, CHARLES ALFRED, dramatist, author, was born in 1848, in London, England. In 1871 he founded the Dramatic Times; and in 1870 founded Truth. He is the author of the comic operas entitled Coward Conscience; Pearl of Pekin; Castles in the Air; Venus; Princess Nicotine; Isle of Champagne; The Normandy Wedding; and Isle of Gold.

BYRNE, THOMAS SEBASTIAN, clergyman, bishop, was born July 19, 1843, in Hamilton, Ohio. He devoted [illegible] to literature and teaching in Mt. St. Mary's Seminary; and later had charge of the Cathedral at Cincinnati. Since 1894 he has been bishop of Marshville, Tenn.

BYRNE, WILLIAM, R. C. clergyman, author, was born in 1856 in Ireland. He is vicar-general of the archdiocese of Boston. He is the author of Catholic Doctrine.

CABANISS, ELDRIGDE GERRY, soldier, merchant, was born in 1845 in Forsyth, Ga. He served in the Confederate army and surrendered at Appottamox. He is now a successful mrchant of Savannah, Ga.

CABANISS, GEORGE AUGUSTUS, soldier, lawyer. During 1861-65 he served in the confederate Army. He is now president of Southern Home Building and Loan Association of Atlanta, Ga.

CABANISS, JOSEPH WARREN, soldier, banker, was born in 1842 in Forsyth, Ga. He served in the Confederate army; was wounded at Petersburg, Va.; and captured and imprisoned until the close of the war at Elmira. He is prominent in the public affairs of Macon, Ga.; and president of the Exchange Bank of that city.

CABELL, JAMES ALSTON, lawyer, legislator, author, was born in Richmond, Va. In 1893-97 he was a member of the Virginia legislature. He is the author of numerous historical and scientific papers.

CABELL, WILLIAM LEWIS, soldier, lawyer, was born Jan. 1, 1827, in Danville, Va. He graduated from West Point in 1850; and during the Civil war attained the rank of brigadier-general in the confederate service. He was four times mayor of Dallas, Texas; and in 1885-89 was United States marshal for the northern district of Texas.

CADWALADER, JOHN LAMBERT, lawyer, was born Nov. 17, 1836, near Trenton, N. J. His legal studies were made with Daniel Lord in New York City, and subsequently he practised his profession in that place. In 1874-76 he was assistant secretary of state.

CADWALADER, RICHARD McCALL, lawyer, author, was born in Trenton, N. J., Sept. 17, 1839. He practices law in Philadelphia. He is the author of The Law of Ground Rents.

CADY, HERRICK D., lawyer, jurist, was born April 12, 1846, in Esperance, N. Y. He has been corporation counsel of Albany, N. Y. He is now supreme court justice of New York.

CAJORI, FLORAN, educator, author, was born Feb. 28, 1859, in Switzerland. Since 1898 he has been professor of mathematics at Colorado College. He is the author of The Teaching and History of Mathematics in the United States; A History of Mathematics; A History of Elementary Mathematics; and A History of Physics.

CALDWELL, AUGUSTINE, clergyman, antiquarian, author, was born Jan. 23, 1836. He is the author of memories of Major Soule; The Caldwell Records; The Caldwell Chronicles; and Ipswich Antiquarian Papers.

CALDWELL, BEN FRANKLIN, banker, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 2, 1848, in Greene County, Ill. For four years he was a member of the Illinois legislature and a member of the state senate for four years. He is president of Caldwell State Bank of Chatham, Ill. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

CALDWELL, HOWARD WALTER, educator, author, was born Aug. 26, 1858, in Bryan, Ohio. Since 1893 he has been professor American history and jurisprudence at University of Nebraska. He is the author of History of the United States, 1815-1861; Studies in History; A Survey of American History; Some Great American Legislators; Life of Henry Clay; and Expansion of the United States.

CALDWELL, JOSHUA WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born in Athens, Tenn., Feb. 3, 1856. He is the author of Constitutional History of Tennessee; and Bench and Bar of Tennessee.

CALDWELL, W. C., lawyer, jurist. He is associate judge supreme court of Tennessee.

CALDWELL, WILIAM, educator, author, was born Nov. 10, 1863, in Edinburgh, Scotland. Since 1894 he has been professor of moral and social philosophy at Northwestern University. He is the author of Schopenhauer's System in its Philosophical Significance.

CALL, RICHARD ELLSWORTH, curator, author, was born May 13, 1856, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1898 he has been curator of the Children's Museum of Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of The Life and Writings of Rafinesque; and other works.

CALLAHAN, JAMES MORTON, educator, author, was born in Bedford, Ind., Nov. 4, 1864. Since 1898 he has been lecturer on American diplomatic history at Johns University. He is the author of Neutrality of the American Lakes; and Cuba and International Relations.

CALLAWAY, MORGAN, educator, author, was born Nov. 3, 1862, in Cuthbert, Ga. Since 1898 he has been professor of English in the University of Texas. He is the author of The Absolute Participle in Anglo-Saxon.

CAMPBELL, ALBERT JAMES, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 12, 1857. In 1896 he was elected to the Montana legislature. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

CAMPBELL, JAMES M., clergyman, lecturer, author, was born in Scotland, May 5, 1840. He is a lecturer on Biblical themes. He is the author of Clerical Types; Unto the Uttermost; and The Indwelling Christ.

CAMPBELL, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born in Monroe County Ind., Sept. 13, 1853. He practiced law for five years at Colorado Springs, Colo; and was district judge there six years. In 1885 he was a member of the general assembly of Colorado; and in 1887 was a member of the state senate.

CAMPBELL, JOHN LORNE, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 14, 1845, in Canada. Since 1889 he has been pastor of Lexington Avenue Baptist Church of New York City. He is the author of Sanctification.

CAMPBELL, JOHN TENBROOK, civil engineer, inventor, author, was born May 21, 1833, near Montezuma, Ind. For ten years he was a county surveyor and since Civil war has been surveyor and civil engineer. He invented improvements in engineering instruments and several machines; and was the first to discover and published the peculiar slope of the hills in the glacial drift area. He is the author of National Finances; and Labor Reform.

CAMPBELL, MICHALL QUINN, inventor, was born June 17, 1849, in Ireland. He received his education in the public schools of Massachusetts. He is the inventor of the National Cash Register, which was patented in 1882; and also of the Signal Apparatus in 1890.

CAMPBELL, WILLIAM SHAW, traveler, diplomat, was born July 26, 1818, in New York City. In 1840-42 he traveled throughout eastern Europe, and an account of his travels was published with the title of Letters from the Heart of Europe. In 1843 he was appointed United States consul at Rotterdam, Holland; and for nearly forty years was in the United States consular service in Holland, Germany, and England, retiring in 1897. He now lives in Washington, D. C.

CAMPBELL, WILIAM WALLACE, astronomer, author, was born April 11, 1862, in Hancock County, Ohio. Since 1891 he has been astronomer in Lick Observatory on Mount Hamilton, Cal. He is the author of The Elements of Practical Astronomy.

CANDAGE, RUFUS GEORGE FREDERICK, marine inspector, legislator, genealogist, was born July 28, 1826, in Blue Hill, Maine. As master of a ship in the foreign trade he visited the East and West Indies, South America, Europe, China, Australia, and the principal countries and sea ports of the world. In 1867 he retired from the sea; and became marine inspector at Boston. In 1882-83 he was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature. He is president of the Farmer's National Congress; trustee of the Brooklyn Library; and a member of a number of genealogical and historical societies. He is the author of a genealogy on the Cavendih, Cavendish, Candish, or Candage Family.

CANDEE, HELEN CHURCHILL, journalist, author, was born in 1861, in Brooklyn, N. Y. She is now editorial writer for New York Mail and Express. She is the author of Susau Truslaw; Not on the Flag; and How Women May Earn a Living.

CANNON, GEORGE LYMAN, JR., geologist, author, was born March 10, 1860, in New York City. Since 1887 he has been instructor geology and biology in Denver High School. He is the author of Geology of Denver; Quaternary of Platte Valley; and Nature Studies About Denver.

CANNON, JAMES GRAHAM, banker, author. He is vice-president of the Fourth National Bank of New York City. He is the author of Clearing Houses: Their History, Methods and Administration.

CANTY, THOMAS, lawyer, jurist, was born April 25, 1854, in London, England. In 1890-1900 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Minnesota.

CAPEN, EDWARD, librarian, was born Oct. 20, 1821, in Dorchester, Mass. He was librarian of the Boston Public library for twenty-two years; and in 1874 was elected to the office of librarian of the public library of Haverhill, Mass.

CARDWELL, RICHARD HENRY soldier, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born in Madison, N. C., Aug. 1, 1846. He entered the Confederate army in 1863, serving until close of war. Since 1869 he has practiced law in Hanover, Va.; and in 1887-94 was a member of the Virginia legislature. Since 1895 he has been judge of the supreme court of Virginia.

CAREY, EDWARD COLBY, soldier, was born April 20, 1871, in Santa Fe, N. M. He served with his regiment in the war with Spain; and was engaged in the assault on San Juan Hill, July 1, 1898. In 1899-1900 he served in Philippine Islands as major forty-second United States volunteers.

CARHART, DANIEL, civil engineer, author, was born Jan. 28, 1839, in Clinton, N. J. Since 1882 he has been dean collegiate and engineering depts. at Western University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Plane Surveying; and Field Book for Civil Engineers.

CARL, WILLIAM CRANE, musician, composer, was born March 2, 1865, in Bloomfield, N. J. Since 1892 he has been organist and choirmaster of the Old First Presbyterian Church. He was the founder of American Guild of Organists.

CARLAND, JOHN EMMETT, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 11, 1853, in Oswego County, N. Y. In 1885 he was appointed United States Attorney for Dakota Territory. In 1888 he became justice of the supreme court of Dakota Territory; and since 1896 has been United States District judge for the district of South Dakota.

CARLTON, CALEB H., soldier, was born in Ohio. He served in the regular army during the civil war; and attained the rank of lieutenant colonel. In 1897 he became a brigadier-general; and was retired the same year after forty years of service.

CARLISLE, JAMES HENRY, educator college president, author, was born May 4, 1825, in Winnsboro, S. C. Since 1875 he has been president of Wofford College at Spartanburg, S. C. He is the author of Lives of Ascham and Arnold and The Young Astronomer.

CARMAN, EZRA AYRES, soldier, mathematician, was born Feb. 27, 1834, in Metuchen, N. J. During the Civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1877-85 he was chief clerk in the United States department of agriculture.

CARNAHAN, JAMES RICHARDS, soldier, lawyer, was born Nov. 18, 1840, in Tippecanoe, Ind. During the Civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general. He is a successful lawyer of Indianapolis, Ind.

CARPENTER, FRANK GEORGE, journalist, author, was born in Mansfield, Ohio, May 8, 1855. In 1888-89 he made a trip round the world for newspaper syndicate and Cosmopolitan Magazine; and in 1891 a newspaper tour to Mexico; to Russia, Germany and England in 1892; to China, Japan and Java in 1894; spent 1898 in South America; spent 1900 in Philippines, China, Java, Australia and New Zealand. He is the author of Through Asia with the Children; Through North America with the Children; and South America.

CARPENTER, FRANK OLIVER, educator, lawyer, author, was born in Milford, Mass., March 23, 1858. He is the author of French Grammar for High Schools.

CARPENTER, GEORGE RICE, educator, author, was born Oct. 25, 1863, on coast of Labrador. Since 1893 he has been professor of rhetoric at Columbia University of New York City. He is the author of Latham's Letters of Dante; and American Prose.

CARPENTER, GILBERT SALONSTALL, soldier, author, was born in Medina, Ohio, April 17, 1836. During the Civil war in 1861-66, he was in the 18th United States infantry; and was breveted captain for gallantry, battle Stone River. He served in Indian campaigns; was major of 4th United States infantry; and lieutenant colonel 7th infantry. Since 1898 he has been Brigadier-general of volunteers for gallantry at El Caney.

CARPENTER, JAMES EDWARD soldier, lawyer, author, was born March 6, 1841, in Kent County, Md. He participated in the campaigns of the Army of the Potomac until his discharge in 1864, having attained the rank of captain in 1863. He received the brevet of major in 1865. After the war he studied law, and was admitted to the bar in Philadelphia. He is the author of A List of the Battles, Engagements, Actions, and Important Skirmishes in which the 8th Pennsylvania Cavalry participated during the War of 1861-65.

CARPENTER, JOHN THOMAS, surgeon, was born June 27, 1833, in Pottsville, Pa. At the opening of the Civil war he was commissioned surgeon of the thirty-fourth Pennsylvania volunteers; in 1863 became president of the army medical Board at Cincinnati, Ohio; and in 1864 became medical inspector and superintendent of hospitals in the district of Kentucky. At the close of the war he settled in practice of his profession at Pottsville, Pa.

CARPENTER, LOUIS GEORGE, mathematician, was born March 28, 1861, in Orion, Mich. In 1881 he was made instructor of mathematics at Michigan agricultural college.

CARPENTER, LOUIS HENRY, soldier, was born Feb. 11, 1839, in Glassboro, N. J. He served in Army of the Potomac; was aide to General Sheridan; and colonel of volunteers in 1865. Remained in regular army as captain 10th United States cavalry; participated in numerous campaigns; and received six brevets and a medal of honor. In 1899 became brigadier-general of volunteers. He served in Spanish-American war.

CARPENTER, WILLIAM LEWIS, soldier, naturalist, was born Jan. 13, 1844, in Dunkirk, N. Y. In 1867 he was promoted to a second lieutenancy in the 9th infantry, United States army; and in 1873 to the rank of first lieutenant. In 1873 he became naturalist to the United States geological survey; and two years later was called to a similar office on the geographical survey.

CARPENTER, WILLIAM THOMAS, railroad president was born Feb. 14, 1850, in Clarke county, Ill. He is president of the Little Brook Cliff railway, at Grand Junction, Colo.

CARR, EUGENE ASA, soldier, was born March 20, 1830, in Concord, N. Y. He attained the rank of brigadier-general and brevet major-general, U. S. A.; and was retired in 1893.

CARR, EZRA SLOCUM, educator, author, was born March 19, 1819. He was called to the chair of chemistry and natural philosophy at the University of Wisconsin in 1856, where he was appointed a regent of that institution by the legislature, and one of the state commissioners to carry forward the geological survey of the state, in which capacity he enriched the university with a complete collection of the soils, minerals, and productions of Wisconsin, thus forming one of the most perfect cabinets of the kind in the world. In 1861-65 he was professor of chemistry in Rush Medical College. In 1869-75 he was professor of chemistry and agriculture in the University of California. He was then elected state superintendent of public instruction for four years. He is the author of Child Culture. The Genesis of Crime, Claims and Condition of Industrial Education, and Patrons of Husbandry on the Pacific Coast.

CARRERE, JOHN MERVEN, architect, was born Nov. 9, 1858 of American parents in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil. The firm were architects of the Ponce de Leon and Alcazar hotels of St. Augustine, Fla. He is now architect for the New York Public Library.

CARROLL, MITCHELL, educator, author, was born in Wake Forest, N. C., June 2, 1870. He is professor of classical philosophy at Columbian University or Washington, D. C. He is the author of Aristotle's Poetics, c. xxv., in the Light of the Homeric Scholia.

CARRUTH, FRANCIS WESTON, author, was born in Newton, Mass., July 12, 1867. He is the author of Those Dot Girls; and The Way of Blinda.

CARRUTH, FRED HAYDEN, journalist, author, was born in 1852 in Lake City, Minn. He is the author of The Adventures of Jones; and The Voyage of the Rattletrap.

CARRYL, GUY WETMORE, author, was born March 4, 1873, in New York City. He is Paris representative of Harper and Brother. He is the author of Fables for the Frivolous.

CARSKADON, T. R. farmer, orator, author, was born in 1837, in Mineral County, W. Va. In 1859 he was a member of the Constitutional Convention of West Virginia. He was subsequently United States assessor; and was presidential elector for both Grant and Hayes. In 1894 he was placed in nomination as vice-president by the national prohibition convention. He is an old southern abolitionist; an able orator, and the author of a number of agricultural works.

CARSON, HOWARD ADAMS, civil engineer, was born Nov. 28, 1842, in Westfield, Mass. During 1894-98 he was chief engineer of the Boston Subway; and for six years was superintendent construction Boston main drainage.

CARTER, BERNARD, lawyer. For many years this eminent lawyer of Baltimore has been recognized leader of the bar in Marylaud.

CARTER, FRANCIS BEAUREGARD lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 12, 1861, in Jackson County, Fla. Since 1897 he has been justice supreme court of Florida.

CARTER, JAMES, clergyman, author, was born in New York, Oct. 1, 1853. Since 1889 he has been pastor Church of the Covenaut of Williamsport, Pa. He is the author of Songs of Work and Worship.

CARTER, JAMES MADISON GORE soldier, physician, author, was born in Johnson county, Ill., April 15, 1843. In 1861-65 he served in company K, 60th Illinois volunteers; was at Island No. 10, Corinth, Nashville, Murfreesboro, Chattanooga to Atlanta, with Sherman to the sea, through Carolinas to Rockingham, N. C., where he was captured and taken to Libby Prison. He is the author of Outlines of Medical Botany of the United States; Catarrhal Diseases of the Respiratory Organs; and Diseases of the Stomach.

CARTER, JOSEPH NEWTON, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born March 12, 1843, in Hardin County, Ky. Since 1869 he has practiced law in Quincy, Ill.; and in 1878 and 1881 was a member of the Illinois legislature. Since 1894 he has been judge supreme court of Illinois.

CARTER, WILLIAM H., soldier, author, was born about 1848 in Nashville, Tenu. In 1873-97 he served on frontier; and since 1897 in the war department. He received the medal of honor for distinguished bravery in action against Apache Indians at Cibicu Creek in 1881. He is the author of Horses, Saddles and Bridles; and Historical Sketch Sixth United States Cavalry.

CARTWRIGHT, JAMES HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 1, 1842, in Maquoketa, Iowa. He practiced law at Oregon, Ill.; was circuit judge in 1888-95; and since 1895 has been judge of the supreme court of Illinois.

CARUS, PAUL, journalist, author, was born July 18, 1852, in Germany. He is editor of The Open Court and The Monist of Chicago. He is the author of The Ethical Problem; Fundamental Problems; The Soul of Man; Primer of Philosophy; Science, a Religious Revelation; The Gospel of Buddha; Karma; Homilies of Science; The Idea of God; and Buddhism and Its Christian Critics.

CAREY, ELISABETH LUTHER, translator, author, was born in 1867, in Brooklyn, N. Y. She is the author of His Homes, His Friends and His work; Robert Browning, Poet and Man: The Rossettis, Dante Gabriel and Christina. He has also translated numerous works.

CASEY, THOMAS L., civil engineer, was born Feb. 19, 1857, in New York City. He has been identified with much important engineering work; and was occupied during the Spanish-American war as engineer in chief in building fortifications and laying mines for the defense of Hampton Roads, Va.; and became major in 1898. He is the author of numerous papers on entomology.

CASLER, JOHN OVERTON, soldier, author, was born in Frederick County, Va., Dec. 1, 1838. In 1861-65 he served as a private in the Confederate army; and was in first battle of Bull Run and nearly all campaigns of Army of Northern Virginia under Generals Lee and Jackson. He is the author of Four Years in the Stonewall Brigade; Lillian Stuart, the Heroine of the Rappahannock.

CASSIDY, P. ORRIN, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born July 20, 1846 in Canada. In 1872 he was admitted to the bar, and the same year was elected prosecuting attorney for Wood County, Wis. In 1875 he moved to Iowa, and there practiced law for twelve years. In 1893 he was appointed judge of the superior court of Guthrie.

CASSON, HERBERT N., clergyman, lecturer, author, was born in 1869 in Canada. In 1894 he founded the first labor church in America, at Lynn., Mass. He is the author of The Red Light; a collection of addresses.

CASTLE, FREDERICK ALBERT, physician, author, was born April 29, 1842, in Fabius, N. Y. From 1863 till the close of the war he was acting assistant surgeon in the navy. He is the author of Wood's Household Practice of Medicine, Hygiene and Surgery, in two volumes.

CASWELL, THOMAS HUBBARD, lawyer, author, was born in Exeter, N. Y., Aug. 10, 1825. He was judge eight years Nevada county, California; moved to San Francisco 1878. In 1878-99 he was grand recorder of Grand Commandery, Knights Templars of California. He is the author of Hand Book of the Chapter.

CATENHUSEN, ERNST, musician, was born in 1841 in Germany. In 1862-81 he was musical conductor at a number of German opera houses successively. In the latter year he became musical conductor of the Thalia Theatre in New York city. In 1884 he accepted the place of conductor of the Milwaukee musical society.

CATHELL, DANIEL WEBSTER, physician, author, was born Nov. 29, 1839, in Worcester county, Maryland. He is the author of The Physician Himself, and Things that Concern His Reputation and Success.

CATLIN, CHARLES ALBERT, chemist, author, was born in Burlington, Vt., May 10, 1849. He is the inventor and patentee of chemical processes and applications, many of which relate to manufacture of phosphates for dietetic purposes. He is the author of Baking Powders.

CATLIN, HENRY GUY, mining engineer, soldier, author, was born in Burlington, Vt., July 21, 1843. He served during the civil war in the twelfth Vermont volunteers. Since 1870 he has been engaged in mining. He is the author of Yellow Pine Basin.

CATLIN, LOUISE ENSIGN, author, was born in Lockport, N. Y., May 9, 1861. She is the author of Marjory and Her Neighbors.

CESSNA, HOWARD, lawyer, educator, genealogist, was born Oct. 27, 1870, near Rainsburg, Pa. He was assistant principal of the Masonic Academy of Clifton, Tenn. He has practiced law since 1894, and is now engaged in editing Family Genealogy of the House of Cessna.

CHAFFEE, ADRIA ROMANZA, soldier, was born in Orwell, Ohio, April 14, 1852. He served through the civil war and attained the rank of major. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier general United States volunteers; served in Santiago campaign, and in 1898 was promoted to major general, United States volunteers.

CHAINEY, GEORGE, clergyman, author, was born in 1851 in England. He is pastor of the Unitarian Church at Williams Bay, Wis. He is the author of Foundation Stones; The New Version; Discourses on the Bible in Boston and The Ten Commandments.

CHAMBERLAIN, ALEXANDER FRANCIS, anthropologist, author, born Jan. 12, 1866, in England. He is now lecturing on anthropology at Clark university of Worcester, Mass. He is the author of The Child and Childhood in Folk-Thought.

CHAMBERLAIN, FRANK, soldier, manufacturer, was born in December, 1826, in Seneca county, N. Y. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier general. He is a successful miller of Albany, N. Y. He was one of the charter members of the First National Bank, and has been president of the board of trade of Albany, N. Y.

CHAMBERLAIN, HENRY, farmer, legislator, founder, was born March 17, 1824, in Pembroke, N. H. In 1849 he was a member of the Michigan legislature, and in 1850 founded the village of Three Oaks, Mich. In 1872 he was grand master of Masons in Michigan. He has received the votes of the Democratic party three times for congress, three times for United States senator and once for governor.

CHAMBERLAIN, HENRY RICHARDSON, journalist, author, was born Aug. 25, 1859, in Illinois. Since 1892 he has been London correspondent of the New York Sun. He is the author of Six Thousand Tons of Gold.

CHAMBERLAIN, JOSHUA LAWRENCE, soldier, educator, author, was born Sept. 8, 1828, in Brewer, Maine. In 1865 he became brevet major-general, and was president of Bowdoin College in 1871-83. He is the author of Maine, Her Place in History; Sovereignty and Sacrifice; The Two Souls; American Ideals; and The New Nation.

CHAMBERLAIN, MONTAGUE, soldier, merchant, author, was born April 5, 1844, in Canada. He is the author of Canadian Birds; and The Penobscot Indians.

CHAMBERLIN, WILLIAM HENRY, soldier, journalist, author, was born Oct. 19, 1833, in Ross county, Ohio. He served in the civil war as major of the Eighty-first volunteer infantry during 1861-65; was recorder of Commandery State of Ohio, Military Order of the Loyal Legion of the United States in 1895-98; and was also agent of the Associated Press. He is the author of History of the Eighty-first Ohio.

CHAMBERS, ALEXANDER, soldier, was born about 1832 in New York. He served in the Tennessee and Mississippi campaign in 1862, having been twice wounded in the battle of Shiloh, and was promoted brevet major. He was a brigadier-general of volunteers in 1863. He was at Omaha as judge advocate of the district of Nebraska in 1866. He became major of the Twenty-second infantry in 1867.

CHAMBERS, JULIUS, journalist, author, was born Nov. 21, 1850, in Bellefontaine, Ohio. In 1872 he discovered Elk Lake, Minn., now recognized as the source of the Mississippi. He is the author of A Mad World and Its People; Chats on Journalism; and other works.

CHAMBLISS, WILLIAM PARHAM, soldier, author, was born March 20, 1827, in Chamblissburg. In 1850-55 he practiced law in Pualski, Tenn.; and in 1852-55 edited the Citizen. He was a member of the Tennessee legislature in 1853-54. He entered the regular army as first lieutenant in the Second cavalry in 1855; and was engaged in Texas against hostile Indians most of the time till 1861. He was made major in the Fourth cavalry is 1864; and was with his regiment in Texas till 1867, when he resigned and became president and general manager of the Cobourg railway and mining company, Canada. He is the author of a pamphlet on General McClellan and the Presidency.

CHAMPNEY, BENJAMIN, artist, author, was born Nov. 20, 1817, in New Ipswich, N. H. For sixty years his pictures have gone far and wide and been extensively copied in chromo and other styles of reproduction. He is the author of Sixty Years' Memories of Arts and Artists.

CHAMPNEY, MRS. ELIZABETH WILLIAMS, author, was born Feb. 6, 1850, in Springfield, Ohio. She is the author of In the Sky Garden, a book of astronomical fables; all Around a Palette; Bourbon Lilies and other tales and sketches, besides a novel called Sebia's Tangled Web and Three Vassar Girls in South America.

CHANDLER, ALBERT BROWN, lawyer, manager, was born Aug. 20, 1840, in West Randolph, Vt. Since 1887 he has been president Postal telegraph cable company of New York city.

CHANDLER, CHARLES FREDERICK, chemist, was born Dec. 6, 1836, in Lancaster, Mass. He is a noted chemist of New York city.

CHANDLER, FRANCIS WARD, soldier, architect, author, was born Sept. 30, 1844, in Boston, Mass. In 1862-63 he served in the Fifty-third Massachusetts volunteers. Since 1888 he has been professor of architecture at the Massachusetts Inst. Technology. He has been advisory architect to the mayor of Boston since 1896. He is the author of Construction Details, Notes on Limes, Cements, Mortars and Concretes.

CHANDLER, FRANK WADLEIGH, educator, lecturer, author, was born June 16, 1873, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1901 he has been professor of literature and history at the Polytechnic Inst. of Brooklyn N. Y. He is the author of Romances of Roguery.

CHANDLER, MRS. IZOVA C., artist, She is an illustrator for various publishers, and is art and music critic tor The Christian Advocate of New York city. She is the author of Anthe: Methodist Episcopalism; Three of Us; and A Dog of Constantinople, illustrated by herself.

CHANFRAU, HENRIETTA BAKER actress, was born in 1837 in Philadelphia, Pa. Her first appearance on the boards of a regular theatre was at the city museum in her native place in 1854 as Miss Apsley in The Willow Copse. She married Mr. Chanfrau in 1858.

CHANLER, WILLIAM ASTOR, soldier, legislator, congressman, author, was born June 11, 1867, in Newport, R. I. He was elected to the New York legislature in 1897, and was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat. He went to the front in the Spanish war; took part in the battle and siege of Santiago and received special commendation from General Shafter. He is the author of Through Jungle and Deserts, and Travels in Eastern Africa.

CHANNING-STETSON, MRS. GRACE ELLERY, author, was born in Providence, R. I., Dec. 27. 1862. She is the author of Dr. Channing's Note Book; The Sister of a Saint; Sea Drift; and The Fortune of a Day.

CHANUTE, OCTAVE, consulting engineer, author, was born in 1832 in France. He is president of the Chicago Tie Preserving Company. He is the author of Kansas City Bridges and Progress in Flying Machines.

CHAPIN, JOHN BASSETT, physician, author, was born Dec. 4, 1829, in New York city. He was resident physician of the New York hospital and in 1854 was appointed assistant physician to the New York lunatic asylum of Utica. In 1869-84 he was superintendent and physician of the Willard asylum at Seneca Lake, N. Y.; and in 1884 became physician-in-chief to the Pennsylvania hospital for the insane in Philadelphia. He is the author of Compendium of Insanity, for Physicians and Students.

CHAPMAN, J. WILBUR, clergyman, author, was born June 17, 1859, in Richmond, Ind. He is pastor Fourth Presbyterian church of New York City. He is the author of The Lost Crown; The Surrender of Life; and other works.

CHAPMAN, JOHN JAY, lawyer, author, was born in 1862 in New York city. He is the author of Emerson and Other Essays; and Causes and Consequences.

CHAPMAN, JOHN T., educator, horticulturist, legislator, was born Nov. 1, 1839, in Crawfordville, Ga. He has been a member of the board of education and a member of the legislature of Florida.

CHAPMAN, WILLIAM, soldier, was born Jan. 22, 1810, in St. John's, Md. He served on frontier duty at Fort Mackinac in 1831-32; on the Black Hawk expedition in 1832; was instructor at West Point in 1832-33; and with his regiment at various posts on the frontier until 1845. During the civil war he had command of a regiment in the defenses of Washington in 1862; and was with the army of the Potomac during the peninsular campaign. He was retired from active service in 1863 with the rank of lieutenant colonel, and assigned to the command of the draft rendezvous at Madison, Wis.

CHAPPLE, JOSEPH MITCHELL, journalist, publisher, author, was born in La Porte City, Iowa, July 18, 1867. In 1897 he took charge of The Bostonian, afterwards changed to The Nation Magazine. He is the author of The Minor Chord and Boss Burt, Politician.

CHASE, WALDO K., manufacturer, was born in 1847 in Stillwater, N. Y. He acquired an interest in the manufacturing business and entered into partnership with two others. The firm developed rapidly, and is now one of the leading concerns of the United States in the manufacture of malleable iron. He is also vice president of the Troy and Bridgeport companies.

CHASE, WILLIAM MARTIN; lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 28, 1837, in Canaan, Conn. Since 1891 he has been judge of the supreme court of New Hampshire.

CHAUVENET, WILLIAM MARC, mining engineer, chemist, was born in Annapolis, Md., March 4, 1855. In 1882-85 he was assistant United States geological survey, Lake Superior division. He is the author of Notes on Minnesota Geology on Northern Boundary.

CHEEVER, DAVID WILLIAMS, physician, surgeon, author, was born Nov. 10, 1831, in Portsmouth, N. H. He began practice in Boston in 1858; has been connected with Harvard university since 1860 as professor of chemical surgery and in 1893 was made professor of surgery emeritus. He has contributed extensively to medical journals, and has edited three volumes of the Medical and Surgical Reports of the Boston City Hospital.

CHENEY, FRANK WOODBRIDGE, soldier, manufacturer, was born June 5, 1832, in Providence, R. I. He volunteered for the civil war in 1862 and became lieutenant colonel of the Sixteenth Connecticut volunteers. He led his regiment of recruits in a skirmish that proved preliminary to the battle of Antietam; in which engagement he was severely wounded, which obliged him to retire from service Dec. 24, 1862. He traveled in Europe, China and Japan, studying the silk industries of those countries, and became a member of the house of Cheney Brothers, and its treasurer.

CHENOWETH, MRS. CAROLINE VAN DUSEN, journalist, author, was born Dec. 29, 1846, near Louisville, Ky. She has founded two chapters of the Society of Daughters of the Revolution and Daughters of the American Revolution, and has been regent for seven years. She is the author of Stories of the Saints; Child Life in China; and School History of Worcester.

CHESSMAN, SAMUEL, merchant, genealogist, was born June 16, 1812. He was a mechanic and merchant, and raised the first money to begin the preliminary survey of what is now the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago railway. He is the author of The Chessman Family Record; and Leach Family Record.

CHESTER, COLBY MITCHELL, naval officer, was born Feb. 29, 1844, in New London, Conn. In 1866 he became a master, in 1867 a lieutenant and in 1896 received his commission as captain. He commanded the Galena in 1886. In 1890-94 he was commandant of cadets at Annapolis; in 1897 was in command of the Asiatic squadron; and during the war with Spain was in command of the Cincinnati. In 1899 he was assigned to the command of the new and powerful battleship Kentucky.

CHESTNUT, VICTOR KING, botanist, author, was born June 28, 1867, in Nevada City, Cal. He is assistant botanist in charge of poisonous plant investigation in the United States department of agriculture. He is the author of Thirty Poisonous Plants of the United States.

CHETLAIN, ARTHUR HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born April 12, 1849, in Galena, Ill. Since 1894 he has been judge of the superior court of Cook county, Illinois.

CHEYNEY, EDWARD POTTS, educator, author, was born Jan. 17, 1861, in Wallingford, Pa., He is a professor in the University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Social Changes in England in the Sixteenth Century.

CHILD, FRANK SAMUEL, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born in Exeter, N. Y., March 20, 1854. He is a lecturer on literary and historical subjects. He is the author of An Old New England Town; The Colonial Parson of New England; A Colonial Witch; A Puritan Wooing; The House with Sixty Closets; and An Unknown Patriot.

CHILDERS, WILLIAM BURR, lawyer, was born March 20, 1854, in Pulaski, Tenn. He was mayor of Abuquerque in 1887; member of the city council in 1892-93, United States attorney for New Mexico and president of the board of regents of Territorial university.

CHILDRESS, JOHN WHITSITT, lawyer, jurist, was born near Murfreesboro, Tenn., April 20, 1845. In 1861-65 he served in the Confederate army. He has been chairman of the democratic state executive committee. He is judge of the circuit court of Nashville, Tenn.

CHILDS, GEORGE THEODORE, soldier, journalist, legislator, was born in Charlestown, Mass., Sept. 7, 1842. He served in the civil war and was a prisoner of war at Libby, New Orleans and Salisbury for one year. He then engaged in newspaper work at St. Albans, Vt.; has been department commander, Grand Army of the Republic. He has been a member of the Vermont legislature and judge advocate general of Vermont.

CHILDS, THOMAS S., clergyman, author, was born in Springfield, Mass. He has filled pastorates in Hartford and Norwalk,Conn.; and professorships in Wooster university, Hartford theological seminary. He is the author of Heritage of Peace; Christ His Own Witness; The Lost Faith; and Difficulties of Scripture Tested by Laws of Evidence.

CHISHOLM, WILLIAM, manufacturer, was born May 22, 1843, in Canada. Since the death of his father he has been president of the Union rolling mills of Cleveland, Ohio. Under his management these mills have grown into an industry of the first importance. The capital stock is four million dollars.

CHRISTIAN, JOHN T., clergyman, author, was born Dec. 14, 1849, in Fayette county, Kentucky. He is pastor of the East Baptist Church of Louisville, Ky. He is the author of Immersion; Close Communion; Did They Dip; and The Baptist Vindicated.

CHRISTIE, ALEXANDER, clergyman, bishop. Since 1899 he was been archbishop for the See of Oregon.

CHRISTIE, WILLIAM WALLACE, mechanical engineer, author, was born in 1866 in Paterson, N. J. Since 1882 he has been in practice as mechanical engineer. He is the author of Chimney Formulae and Tables; Chimney Design and Theory.

CHURCH, ARCHIBALD, physician, author, was born in 1861 in Fond du Lac, Wis. He is professor of nervous and mental diseases and medical jurisprudence at Northwestern university medical school. He is the author of Text-Book on Nervous and Mental Diseases.

CHURCHILL, WINSTON, author, was born in St. Louis, Nov. 10, 1871. He is the author of The Celebrity; and Richard Carvel.

CHURCHMAN, WILLIAM H., educator, was born in 1818 in Baltimore, Md. In 1840 he was appointed assistant teacher of music and other branches in the institution for the blind at Columbus, Ohio. He was superintendent of the Indiana insitution for the blind at Indianapolis in 1847-53. In 1855 he was appointed superintendent of the Wisconsin institute for the blind at Janesville.

CILLEY,GREENLEAF, soldier, was born Oct. 27, 1829, in Thomas, Maine. He was commissioned as lieutenant in 1855; and was connected with the sloop Saratoga in 1856-58; and subsequently served on various other vessels. In 1862 he was made lieutenant commander, and during the civil war was in command of the Unadilla; and later of the monitor Catskill.

CLAGHORN, KATE HOLLADAY; author, was born in Aurora, Ill., Dec. 12, 1863. She is the author of College Training for Women.

CLAPP, MOSES E., lawyer, United States senator, was born in Delphi, Ind., in 1851. He was reared and educated in Wisconsin; and removed to Minnesota in 1881. In 1886-92 he was attorney general of Minnesota. He became United States senator in 1901 for term expiring in 1905.

CLARK, ANSON LUMAN, legislator, physician, surgeon, author, was born in Carksburg, Mass., Oct. 12, 1836. He was a member Illinois house of representatives, twenty-seventh general assembly. Since 1872 he has been president board of trustees Bennett college of eclectic medicine and surgery of Chicago. He is the author of Clark's Diseases of Women.

CLARK, CHARLES DICKSON, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 14, 1847, in Laurel Cove, Tenn. In 1864 he entered the Confederate army and served on the staff of General Dibrell, under the command of General Wheeler. In 1876-83 ne practiced law in Manchester, Tenn., and since 1883 in Chattanooga. Since 1895 he has been United States district judge for the eastern and middle districts of Tennessee.

CLARK, EDWARD, architect, was born in 1824 in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1864 he has ben architect, United States capitol. He completed the Washington monument; has served on various other commissions for government work.

CLARK, EDWARD L., clergyman, author. He is pastor of the Central congregational church of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Israel in Egypt.

CLARK, HORACE SPENCER, soldier, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Aug. 12, 1840, in Huntsburg, Ohio. During the civil war he attained the rank of first lieutenant. He was judge of Mattoon City court; in 1880-84 he was a member of the Illinois state senate; and in 1891 was commander Grand Army of the Republic for Illinois.

CLARK, IMOGEN, author, was born in New York City. She is the author of The Victory of Ezry Gardner; Will Shakespeare's Little Lad; The Heresy of Parson Medlicott and God's Puppets.

CLARK, J. SCOTT, educator, author, was born Sept. 23, 1854, in Copenhagen, N. Y. Since 1892 he has been professor of English language at Northwestern university, of Evanston, Ill. He is the author of A Practical Rhetoric; A Briefer Practical Rhetoric; The Art of Reading Aloud; and A Study of English Prose Writers.

CLARK JAMES G., educator, author, was born in Virginia. Since 1873 he has been professor of mathematics at William Jewell college. He is the author of The Calculus, a text book.

CLARK, JOHN SPENCER, publisher author, was born in Victor, N. Y., Oct. 5, 1835. He is co-author of The Prang Course in Art Instruction for Ungraded Schools; and similar works.

CLARK, LEWIS HERVY, educator, genealogist, was born Sept. 11, 1827, in Lodus, N. Y. For twenty years he was principal of colleges, schools and academies. He has held numerous public offices in his native town, county and state. He is the author of several county histories and the Clark Genealogy.

CLARK, LEWIS WHITEHOUSE, lawyer, jurist, was born in Barnstead, N. H., Aug. 19, 1828. In 1851-77 he practiced law in Manchester, N. H. Since 1877 he has been justice of the supreme court of New Hampshire.

CLARK, RUFUS WHEELWRIGHT, clergyman, author, was born May 29, 1844, in Portsmouth, N. H. Since 1877 he has been rector of St. Paul's church of Detroit, Mich. He is the author of The Church in Thy House.

CLARK, SOLOMON HENRY, educator, orator, author, was born about 1865. He is a reader and lecturer, and professor of public speaking in the University of Chicago. He is the author of How to Read Aloud; and Practical Public Speaking.

CLARK, VICTOR SELDEN, educator, journalist, author, was born in Portageville, N. Y., June 12, 1868. He is superintendent of public instruction and president insular board of education of Puerto Rico under the military government. He is the author of Teachers' Manual; and Studies in the Latin.

CLARK, WILLIAM ANDREWS, merchant, manufacturer, banker, United States senator, was born Jan. 8, 1839, near Connellsville, Pa. He owns the street railways of Butte, Mont., and is president of the United Verde Copper company of Arizona. In 1884 and 1889 he was president of the constitutional convention, and seved as a major of Butte battalion. He was elected United States senator from Montana for the term of 1901-07.

CLARKE, CHARLES W., soldier, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Aug. 19,1840, in Danville, Vt. He served nearly five years during the civil war in the Forty-second Ohio regiment, and was commissioned captain of volunteers. He was a member of the constitutional convention of Mississippi; has been judge of common pleas and probate court; for tweve years was district attorney, and served as a member of the Mississippi legislature. He is a successful lawyer; the manager of the Bankers' Life Insurance company of Kansas City, Mo.; and in 1896 was elected a member of the Missouri state legislature.

CLARKE, CRESTON, actor, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 20, 1865. He is the author of The Last of His Race.

CLARKE, DANIEL B., capitalist, was born March 3, 1825, in Washington, D. C. He was elected a member of the city council; is director of the Metropolitan Railroad company, and of the United States Electric Light company. He is also president of the Franklin Insurance company; and since 1877 has been president of the National Bank of the Republic of Washington, D. C.

CLARKE, HUGH ARCHIBALD musician composer, was born Aug. 15, 1839, in Canada. Since 1875 he has been professor of the science of music in the University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of a treatise on Harmony; and textbooks.

CLARKE, JAMES P., lawyer, state senator, governor, was born in Yazoo City, Miss., Aug. 18, 1854. In 1886-87 he was a member of the Arkansas legislature,and in 1888-92 was a member of the state senate. In 1893-94 he was attorney general of Arkansas, and in 1895-97 was governor of Arkansas.

CLARKE, JOHN PROCTOR, lawyer, jurist, was born in Florence, Italy. Since 1900 he has been justice of the supreme court of New York.

CLARKE, JOSEPH IGNATIUS CONSTANTINE, journalist, author was born July 31, 1846, in Ireland. In 1883-95 he was managing editor New York Morning Journal, and since 1898 has been editor of The Criterion. He is the author of the dramas, Heartsease; The First Violin; Her Majesty; and Robert Emmet.

CLARKE, WILLIAM HORATIO, musician, composer, was born March 18, 1840, in Newton, Mass. In 1878-87 he was organist at Tremont Temple, of Boston, Mass. He has built a chapel of music in Reading, Mass. He is the author of Outline of the Structure of the Pipe Organ;

CLARKE, WILLIAM NEWTON, theologian, author, was born Dec. 2, 1841, in Cazenovia, N. Y. Since 1890 he has been professor of Christian theology in Colgate university. He is the author of Outline of Christian Theology, and several other theological works.

CLARKSON, RICHARD PERKINHON, soldier, journalist, was born in 1840, in Brookville, Ind. He is editor and principal owner of the Iowa State Register. He served in the Union army throughout the Civil war; and spent seven months in a Confederate prison. With his father, Coker F., and brother, Jas. S., he bought the State Register; the sons bought the father's interest in 1872; and in 1889 James S. sold his interest to R. P. Clarkson, who, with his sons, conducts the paper.

CLARKSON, THADDEUS STEVENS soldier, public official, was born April 26, 1840, in Gettysburg, Pa. In 1861-65 he served as private in ,the 1st Illinois to major in the 3d Ark. cavalry, U. S. volunteers. He moved to Omaha in 1866; and in 1896-99 was commander-in-chief of the G. A. R. He was postmaster of Omaha in 1890-95.

CLAYTON, BERTRAM TRACY, civil engineer, congressman, was born in Clayton, Ala, Oct. 19,1862. In 1888 he entered business as civil engineer in Brooklyn, N. Y. During the Spanish-America war he commanded a troop guard. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

CLAYTON, HENRY HELM, meteorologits, author, was born March 12, 1861, in Murfreesboro, Tenn. Since 1894 he has been meteorologist of Blue Hill Meteorological Observatory. He is the author of Discussions of the Cloud Observations at Blue Hill; Exploration of the Air by Means of Kites; and The Lawrence Tornado.

CLAYTON, WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, lawyer jurist. He is now judge of the United States district court of Indian Territory.

CLEMENT, CLAY, actor, playwright, author, was born in Woodford county, Ill. Dec. 21, 1863. Since 1883 he has been an actor and playwright. He is the author of A Southern Gentleman; and The New Domination.

CLEMENTS, FREDERIC EDWARD, botanist, author, was born Sept. 16, 1874, in Lincoln, Neb. He has been president of the Bot. Seminary; and secretary of Bot. Survey of Nebraska; and since 1894 has been an instructor of botany in University of Nebraska. He is the author of The Phytogeography of Nebraska.

CLENDENIN, FRANK MONTROSE clergyman, author, was born in Washington, D. C., Sept. 17, 1853. Since 1887 he has been rector of St. Peter's church of West Chester, N. Y. He in the author of Idols by the Sea, and Other Sermons.

CLENDENIN, WILLIAM WALLACE, educator, author, was born in Audrain county, Mo., April 5, 1862. In 1887-93 he was assistant mineralogy and geology at Missouri University; and in 1893-97 was professor of mineralogy and geology at Louisiana State University, and geologist Louisiana Agricultural and Geological Survey. He is the author of Louisiana Supplement to Hinman's Geography.

CLEVELAND, ABNER COBURN, stockman, miner, legislator, was born in Maine, Nov. 17, 1839. In 1869 he was a member of the Nevada legislature; and a member of the State Senate in 1870-74. In 1894 he was candidate for governor of Nevada; a delegate to the Republican National Convention in 1892; and independent candidate for United States Senate in 1898.

CLEVELAND, FRANCIS FOLSOM, wife of President Grover Cleveland, was born in 1864 in Buffalo, N.Y. She is the youngest of the many mistresses of the White House. She is also the first wife of a president married in the White House, and the first to give birth to a child there, their second daughter having been born in the executive mansion.

CLIFFORD, MRS. MARY SCOFIELD, educator, artist, poet, was born July 19, 1846, in Columbia, S. C. She is principal of Clifford Seminary of Union, S. C. She has contributed to the Youth's Companion and other prominent publications.

CLOUGH, DAVID MARSTON, lumberman, state senator, governor, was born in Lyme, N. H., Dec. 27, 1846. In 1880 he was at the head of one of the largest lumber firms of Minnesota. In 1885 he was a member, and later became president of the city council of St. Paul, Minn. In 1887-91 he was State senator; was elected lieutenant-governor in 1892 and 1894; and governor in 1895-99.

CLOUS, JOHN WALTER, soldier, was born in 1837 in Germany. He is a brigadier-general of volunteers, lieutenant colonel and deputy judge advocate general, United States army. He was twice breveted for gallant conduct at Gettysburg. He served on frontier and in Indian campaigns in 1868-86; served as judge advocate in many important trials and cases in 1862-86, and was appointed judge advocate, United States army, in 1886, on staff Major General Miles while in field during Spanish-American war.

CLOVER, SAMUEL TRAVERS, journalist, author, poet, was born Aug. 13, 1859, in London, England. Since 1894 he has been managing editor Chicago Evening Post. In 1880 he began his newspaper career by making a trip around the world. He is the author of Paul Traver's Adventures; and poems and stories of Western life.

CLUTE, WILLARD NELSON, curator, author, was born in Painted Post, N. Y., Feb. 26, 1869. He was editor and publisher of The Fern Bulletin and founder of the Linnaean Fern Chapter. He is the author of A Flora of the Upper Susquehanna Valley.

CLYDE, JOHN CUNNINGHAM, clergyman, author, was born in White Deer Valley, Pa., Oct. 22, 1841. Since 1879 he has been pastor at Bloomsburg N. J. He is the author of History of the Irish Settlement of Pennsylvania; Reminiscences of the Irish Settlement; Life of Professor James H. Coffin; The Christian Temper and Scientific Thought, and History of the Churches of Newton Presbytery.

COALE, ISAAC, author, philanthropist, was born June 2, 1861, in Baltimore, Md. He is an insurance agent and the author of the Sambo Books.

COATES, GEORGE MORRISON, merchant, publisher, was born Aug. 20, 1817, in Philadelphia, Pa. His great-great-grandfather, Thomas Coates, removed from England to Pennsylvania in 1683, and became a prosperous merchant of Philadelphia. George Morrison Coates was also a successful merchant of Philadelphia, and in 1869 became a partner in the publishing house of Porter & Coates, which attained a national reputation. During the civil war he was especially active in the organization and equipment of Union regiments; was a presidential elector in 1862, 1868 and 1872, and filled numerous positions of honor. He died May 21, 1893, in Philadelphia, Pa. Henry T. Coates, his son, now conducts the publishing business as Henry T. Coates & Co.
GARRISON.

COBB, ANDREW JACKSON, lawyer, jurist, was born in Athens, Ga., April 12, 1857. In 1887-91 he was city attorney of Athens, Ga., and dean of Atlanta law school, Georgia, in 1893-98. In 1896-1903 he was associate justice supreme court of Georgia.

COBB, HENRY IVES, architect, was born in Brookline Mass., Aug. 19, 1859. He was architect for Chicago opera house, Newberry library, University of Chicago, Church of the Atonement, and many of the most prominent residence, business and public buildings in Chicago and other cities.

COBLENTZ, VIRGIL, chemist, author, was born in Springfield, Ohio, in March, 1862. Since 1891 he has been professor of chemistry and physics at New York college of pharmacy. He is the author of Medical and Pharmaceutical Chemistry; Handbook of Pharmacy; and The Newer Remedies.

COE, EDWARD BENTON, clergyman, author, was born in Milford, Conn., June 11, 1842. Since 1899 he has been senior minister without charge of specfiic congregation. In 1898 he was president general synod. He is the author of Life Indeed.

COE, GEORGE ALBERT, educator, author, was born March 26, 1862, in Monroe county, N. Y. Since 1893 he was been John Evans professor of philosophy at Northwestern University, of Evanston, Ill. He is the author of The Spiritual Life; and Studies in the Science of Religion.

COFFEY, JAMES VINCENT, lawyer, jurist. In 1899 he was candidate for United States senate from California. He is now judge of the superior court of San Francisco, Cal.

COFFIN, OWEN VINCENT, business man, state senator, governor, was boru in Mansfield, Duchess county, N. Y., June 20, 1836. He was president Brooklyn Y. M. C. A.; has lived in Middletown since 1864; was secretary-treasurer and director Farmers and Mechanics' savings bank in 1864-78; and since 1883 has been president Middlesex Fire Assurance company. In 1872-73 he was mayor of Middletown, Conn.; was state senator in 1887-91; and governor of Connecticut in 1895-97.

GOGGESHALL, JESSIE, diplomat, was born Sept. 22, 1851, in Wadsworth, Ohio. She accompanied her father to Ecuador as secretary of legation, and had entire charge of the office for four months after his death.

COGHLAN, JOSEPH BULLOCK, naval officer, was born Dec. 8 1844, in Frankfort, Ky. In 1866 he was promoted to lieutenant, and was made lieutenant commander in 1868. He was promoted to commander in 1882 and captain in 1896. Since 1897 he has commanded the Raleigh on the Asiatic station, taking part in the brilliant naval battle of Manila bay

COHEN, SOLOMON SOLIS, physician, author, poet, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. Sept. 1, 1857. Since 1890 he has been professor clinical medicine and therapeutics Philadelphia Polyclinic and College for Graduates in Medicine. He is the author of Therapeutics of Tuberculosis; Essentials of Diagnosis.

COHN, ADOLPHE, educator, author, was born May 29, 1851, in Paris, France. Since 1891 he has been professor of romance, languages and literature at Columbia university. He is the author of Voltaire's Prose; and Le Sage's Gil Blas.

COLBY, FRANK MOORE, journalist, educator, author, was born in Washington, D. C., Feb. 10, 1865. In 1895 1900 he was professor of economics at New York university. He was on the editorial staff of Johnson's Cyclopaedia. He is the author of Outlines of General History.

COLE, BENJAMIN JAMES, manufacturer, legislator, was born Sept. 28, 1814, in Franconia, N. H. In 1836 he succeeded his father in the foundry business in Guilford, N. H., and in 1873 organized the Cole Manufacturing company. In 1849-50 he was a member of the New Hampshire state legislature; was a delegate to the national republican convention in 1864; and a presidential elector in the following election.

COLE, CHARLES CLEAVES, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born in Hiram, Maine, May 22, 1841. He served as private to captain in Company I, 17th Maine Infantry, in the civil war. In 1879-93 he practiced law in Washington, D. C.; and since 1892 has been associate justice supreme court of District of Columbia.

COLE, FRANK THEODORE, lawyer, educator, author, was born June 22, 1853 in Brattleboro, Vt. In 1880 he was admitted to the bar. He is now principal of the Columbus Latin school, and of the University school of Columbus, Ohio. He is the author of Cole Genealogy; and Gleason Genealogy.

COLE, GEORGE WATSON, lawyer, librarian, bibliographer, was born in Warren, Conn., Sept. 6, 1850. In 1888-90 he was librarian Pratt library of Chicago; in 1891-95 librarian Free Public library of Jersey City, N. J., and then resigned to devote himself to bibliographical work. He has been president New Jersey State Library association and New York Library club.

COLE, JOHN ADAMS, civil engineer, was born Dec. 16, 1838. in Westmoreland, N. H. In 1862 he was a delegate of the United States Christian commission, and went to the Army of the Potomac; and in 1863 was appointed general field agent. In 1872 he removed to Chicago; constructed a water tunnel under Lake Michigan over one mile in length for the Hyde Park waterworks; and for many years was city engineer of Hyde Park.

COLE, LAWRENCE THOMAS, clergyman, author, was born April 24, 1869, in Ann Arbor, Mich. Since 1899 he has been warden at St. Stephen's college of Annandale N. Y. He is the author of The, Basis of Early Christian Theism.

COLE, SAMUEL WINKLEY, musician, author was born in Meriden, N. H., Dec. 24, 1848. Since 1833 he has been teacher, and now superintendent, of the department of sight-singing at New England Conservatory of Music. He produced Haydn's Creation with Dedham High School in 1890; Handel's Messiah in 1891, this being probably the first successful attempt in the United States to do a complete oratorio with high school pupils. He is the author of Child's First Studies in Music; New England Course in General Sight-Reading; aud compiled New England Conservatory Course in Sight-Singing, in three volumes.

COLE, SETH BEACH, educator, lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born Dec. 25, 1820, in Prattsburg, N. Y. He was principal of the Franklin academy, of Prattsburg, for nine years; and was a member of the New York state legislature in 1855-96. In 1860 he was a delegate to the national republican convention from Brooklyn. Since 1867 he has practiced law in Nyack, N. Y., and has been district attorney, judge and surrogate.

COLE, WILLIAM MORSE, educator, author was born in Boston, Mass., Feb. 10, 1866. In 1890-93 he was instructor of political economy at Harvard university, and university extension lecturer in 1895-98. He is the author of An Old Man's Romance.

COLEMAN, CHARLES CARYLL, painter, was born in 1840 in Buffalo, N. Y. In 1866 he went to Europe, and has since resided there, painting chiefly in Paris, London and Rome, where his studio was in 1886. He is a member of the London Art club, and since 1881 has been an associate member of the National academy of New York. His principal works are Troubadour; Nuremberg Towers; Bronze Horses of St. Mark's; Venice, Ancient and Modern.

COLEMAN, MRS. KATHLEEN BLAKE, journalist, author, was born May 16, 1864, in Ireland. She was the first woman war correspondent duly accredited in the world, going with United States troops to Tampa and Cuba. She is the author of To London for the Jubilee.

COLER, BIRD SIM, financier, author, was born in New York. He is comptroller of New York city. He is the author of Municipal Government.

COLLIE, GEORGE LUCIUS, geologist, author, was born Aug. 11, 1857, in Delavan, Wis. Since 1892 he has been professor of geology at Beloit college. He is the author of Supplement to Frye's Geography; and Use of Governmental Maps.

COLLIER, PRICE, clergyman, author, was born May 25, 1860. For nine years he was a Unitarian minister. He served through Spanish-American war as naval officer. He is the author of Mr. Picket Pin and His Friends; and America and the Americans from a French Point of View.

COLLINS, MICHAEL F., journalist, educator, state senator, was born Sept. 27, 1854, in Troy, N. Y. In 1886-87 he was a member of the New York assemby; and a member of the state senate in 1888-90 and 1894-95. Since 1879 he has been editor and proprietor of the Troy Observer.

COLLINS, WILLIAM H., astronomer, author, was born in 1859 in Peekskill, N. Y. Since 1892 he has been director of Haverford College astronomical observatory. He is the author of Proceedings of Haverford College Observatory.

COLLIS, CHARLES H. T., soldier, lawyer, was born Feb. 4, 1838. in Ireland. During the civil war he attained the rank of major general. He served two terms as city solicitor of Philadelphia, Pa. For several years he was commissioner of public works in New York city.

COLLITZ, HERMANN, educator, author, was born Feb. 4, 1855, in Germany. Since 1897 he has been professor of comparative philology and German at Bryn Mawr college. He is the author of several German works.

COLTON, ARTHUR WILLIS, author, was born in Washington, Conn., May 22, 1868. He is the author of Bennie Ben Cree.

COLTON, JULIA M., author, was born in New York city. She is the author of Annals of Switzerland.

COLVOCORESSES, GEORGE PARTRIDGE, naval officer, was born April 3, 1847, in Norwich, Vt. He has served on most of the foreign naval stations, and in the hydrographic office at Washington, and in 1886 was assistant instructor in drawing at the United States Naval academy.

COMBA, RICHARD, soldier, was born in Ireland. During the civil war he received the brevets of major and lieutenant colonel. He enlisted as private in 1855. He served in the Santiago campaign and was made brigadier-general of volunteers in 1898 for distinguished service in Cuba.

COMBS, GILBERT RAYNOLDS, musician, composer, was born Jan. 5, 1863, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was for years organist and choirmaster in some of the leading Philadelphia churches; became a capable orchestral conductor, and an excellent performer on stringed instruments. In 1885 he founded the Broad Street Conservatory of Music of Philadelphia, Pa., of which he is director.

COMPTON, ALFRED GEORGE, mathematician, author, was born Feb. 1, 1835, in London, England. He is professor of applied mathematics at College City of New York. He is the author of A Manual of Logarithmetic Computation; First Lessons in Woodworking; First Lessons in Metal-Working; The Speed Lather; and Some Common Errors of Speech.

COMPTON, CHARLES E., soldier, was born in Mauricetown, N. J., Jan. 28, 1831. He served throughout the civil war, and attained the rank of lieutenant colonel. He was then transferred to the regular army and in 1890 was made colonel for distinguished services in leading gallant charge against Indians on Red river, Texas. He was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers in 1898 in the war against Spain.

COMSTOCK, ANTHONY, soldier, reformer, was born March 7, 1844, in Canaan, Conn. He served throughout the civil war. Since 1872 he has been secretary and special agent of the New York Society for the Suppression of Vice, and in that capacity and as postoffice inspector has brought nearly three thousand criminals to justice and destroyed eighty tons of obscene literature and pictures.

CONANT, CHARLES ARTHUR, journalist, author, public official, was born July 2, 1861, in Winchester, Mass. He became Washington correspondent of the Boston Post in 1886, and of the Commercial Bulletin in 1889. He was candidate to the legislature in 1886 and candidate for congress in 1894. He is the author of

A History of Modern Banks of Issue, with An account of the Economic Crises of the Present Century.

CONANT, FREDERICK ODELL, merchant, genealogist, was born Oct. 1, 1857, in Portland, Maine. He is a successful merchant of Portland, Maine, and a director in various corporations. He has ben councilman and alderman, and is a member of the Maine Historical society. He is the author of History and Genealogy of the Conant Family.

CONKLIN, JULIA STOUT, author, was born in Hamilton county, Ind., April 27, 1854. She is trustee of Indiana Soldiers' Orphans' home. She is the author of Young People's History of Indiana.

CONLEY, WILLIAM MAXWELL, lawyer, jurist, was born in Maxwell Creek Cal., July 17, 1866. He moved to Madera in 1892, and assisted in county division in legislature. He was judge of the superior court of California in 1893-98.

CONNELLY, MRS. CELIA LOGAN, playwright, author, poet, was born in 1837 in Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of Her Strange Fate; and Sarz, a Story of the Stage.

CONNELLY, JAMES H., soldier, journalist, author, was born in 1840 in Pittsburg, Pa. He was first lieutenant 145th New York volunteers in the civil war. He is the author of My Casual Death; and other novels, dealing wth theosophic and occult subjects.

CONNELLEY, WILLIAM ELSEY, author, was born in Johnson county, Kentucky, March 15, 1855. Since 1892 he has been connected with banking interests in Kansas City, Kan. He is the author of The Provisional Government of Nebraska Territory; Wyandot Folk-Lore; and Kansas Territorial Governors.

CONNER, JACOB ELON, educator, author, was born in Wilmington, Ohio. Since 1900 he has been fellow in sociology at State university of Iowa. He is the author of Uncle Sam Abroad.

CONNER, JAMES PERRY, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in Delaware county, Ind., Jan. 27, 1851. In 1885 he was judge Thirteenth judicial district of Iowa, and later elected judge Sixteenth judicial district of Iowa. He was a delegate to the republican national convention in 1892. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress as a republicau.

CONNERY, THOMAS BERNARD JOSEPH, journalist, author, was born Oct. 13, 1838, in Irelaud. He filled nearly every position except that of financial editor on the New York Herald in 1869-84. He is the author of Black Friday; That Noble Mexican; All the Dog's Fault; Hisotry of American Comic Journalism; and My Trip to Mars.

CONNOR, LARTUS, physician, surgeon, author, was born Jan. 29, 1842, in Coldenham, N. Y. In 1871-72 he was lecturer on Chemistry in Detroit Medical college, and in 1872-79 professor of physiology and clinical medicine in the same institution. In 1881-94 was ophthalmic and aural surgeon to Harper hospital of Detroit and consulting opthalmologist since 1894. In 1871-95 he edited the American Lancet. In 1877-78 and 1888-89 he was president Detroit Academy of Medicine; president of the American Academy of Medicine in 1888-89; and in 1894 was president of the American Medical Editors' association. He is the author of a score of valuable medical works.

CONVERSE, FLORENCE, author, was born in New Orleans, La., April 30, 1871. She is the author of Diana Victrix.

CONVERSE, JAMES B., clergyman, author, was born in Philadelpha, Pa., April 8, 1844. In 1890-95 he is editor of the Christian Patriot. He is the author of A Summer Vacation Abroad; and Uncle Sam's Bible.

CONWAY, JAMES A., congressman. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress.

COOK, FRANCIS AMES, naval officer, was born May 10, 1843, in Northampton, Mass. He became a master in 1866, a lieutenant commander two years later and a commander in 1881. He was appointed a captain in 1896, and soon after assigned to the command of the Brooklyn, flagship of Commodore Schley, commanding the flying squadron, which played so important [illegible] he naval battle and victory of Santiago in 1898.

COOK, FRANCIS AUGUSTUS, naval officer, was born May 10, 1843, in Northampton, Mass. He attended the United States Naval academy; served in the navy during the civil war; and in 1881 was promoted to commander. During the Spanish-American war he commanded the Brooklyn, and received the surrender of the Spanish warship Cristobal Colon. In 1899 he was appointed to the United States naval examining board.

COOK, FREDERICK ALBERT, physician, explorer, author, was born in Sullivan county, N. Y., June 10, 1865. He was surgeon of the Peary Arctic expedition in 1891-92, and surgeon of the Belgium Antarctic expedition in 1897-99. He is the author of Through the First Antarctic Night.

COOK, WILLIAM WILSON, lawyer, author, was born in Hillsdale, Mich., April 16, 1858. He is general counsel for the Postal Telegraph Cable company and Commercial Cable company. He is the author of Cook on Corporation; and Cook on Stock and Stockholders.

COOKE, LORRIN ALANSON, business man, state senator, governor, was born in New Marlboro, Mass., April 6, 1831. In 1856 he was elected to the Connecticut legislature, and was state senator in 1882-83. He was lieutenant governor in 1885-87 and 1895-97, and governor of Connecticut in 1897-99.

COOKMAN, JOHN EMORY, clergyman, was born June 8, 1836, in Carlisle, Pa. He joined the New York conference in 1861, and has spent his ministry mostly in the vicinity of New York, with the exception of three years as pastor of Tremont Street church, Boston. In 1886 he became pastor of the Bedford street M. E. church, New York city.

COOLEY, LYMAN EDGAR, educator, civil engineer, author, was born in Canandaigua, N. Y., Dec. 5, 1850. In 1890-91 he was president Western Society of Engineers. He was consulting engineer Chicago sanitary district drainage canal; was a member international deep waterawys commission in 1895-96; and consulting engineer on contractors and engineers' trip to Nicaragua in 1897-98. He is the author of The Lakes and Gulf Waterway.

COOLIDGE, LOUIS ARTHUR, journalist, author, was born in Natick, Mass., Oct. 8, 1861. He was editor of the Congressional Directory, and indexer of the Congressional Record. He is the author of The Show at Washington; and Klondike and the Yukon Country.

COOLIDGE, THOMAS JEFFERSON merchant, diplomat, was born Aug. 26, 1831, in Boston. He began business as an East India merchant, later becoming interested in New England cotton mills. He was presideut of, and is now a director in, the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railway. In 1892 President Cleveland appointed him minister to France, where he remained for four years. In 1899 Mr. Coolidge was made a member of the commission to adjust disputes between the United States and Canada.

COOMBS, CHARLES WHITNEY, musician, composer, was born Dec. 25, 1859, in Bucksport, Maine. In 1892 he took charge of the music in the Church of the Holy Communion of New York city. He is the author of The Vision of St. John; Hymn of Peace; and Song of Judith.

COOMBS, FRANK L., lawyer, diplomat, congressman, was born in Napa, Cal., Dec. 27, 1853. In 1879-84 he was district attorney of Napa county, Cal. In 1887-91 he was a member of the state legislature and speaker of assembly in 1891. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from California as a republican

COOPER, HENRY H., business man, public official, was born Nov. 1, 1857, in Buffalo, N. Y. He is now engaged in the boat business in Buffalo; and was mayor of the city of Jamestown, N. Y.

COOPER, JACOB, soldier, educator, clergyman, author, was born in Butler county, Ohio, Dec. 7, 1830. In 1862-63 he was chaplain Third Kentucky regiment infantry. Since 1893 he has been professor of philosophy and logic at Rutgers. He is the author of The Natural Right to Make a Will; and The Passage from Mind to Matter.

COOPER, JAMES WESLEY, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 6, 1842, in New Haven, Conn. Since 1878 he has been pastor of South Congregational church, New Britain, Conn. He is the author of Gospel Truth.

COOPER, OSCAR HENRY, educator, college president, author, was born Nov. 22, 1852, in Texas. He is president of Baylor university of Waco, Texas. He is the author of History of Our Country; Monographs; Compulsory School Laws; and Universities and Schools.

COOPER, PHILIP HENRY, naval officer, was born Aug. 5, 1844, in New York city. He received his commission as lieutenant commander in 1868, and was assigned to duty at the United States naval academy. He ws made commander in 1879; and for several years employed at the bureau of navigation in Washington. He then commanded the Swatara in the Asiatic squadron. In 1886 he was made commandant of the Norfolk navy yard.

COPELAND, ROYAL SAMUEL, physician, author, was born Nov. 7, 1868, in Dexter, Mich. Since 1895 he has been professor of ophthalmology and otology at University of Michigan. He is the author of Refraction Text Book.

COPLIN, WILLIAM M. L., physician, author, was born in Clarksburg, W. Va., Nov. 1, 1864. He is professor of pathology and bacteriology at Jefferson Medical college. He is the author of Manual of Pathology; and Text Book of Practical Hygiene.

CORBIN, PHILIP, manufacturer, state senator, was born Oct. 26, 1824, in Wilmington, Conn. In 1849, with his brother Frank, he started a shop of his own, which has grown into the remarkably prosperous hardware manufactory of P and F. Corbin. The firm are now incorporated, with Philip Corbin as president. He was a member of the legislature in 1844; state senator in 1889; and republican elector for Connecticut in 1892.

CORLISS, WILLIAM, manufacturer, inventor, was born Nov. 5, 1835, in Greenwich, N. Y. He was elected vice-president of the Corliss Steam Engine company; and in 1863 was its treasurer. While treasurer of The Corliss Company he began the construction of the Corliss safe, which stands to-day a perfect structure.

CORN, SAMUEL THOMPSON, lawyer, jurist, was born in Nicholasville, Ky., Oct. 8, 1840. In 1886-90 he was justice of the supreme court of Wyoming; practiced law in 1890-96; and since 1897 has been justice of the supreme court of Wyoming.

CORNELIUS, MRS. MARY ANN, philanthropist, author, was born, in Pontiac, Mich., Sept. 25, 1827. She has been extensively engaged in philanthropic work. She is the author of Little Wolf, Uncle Nathan's Farm; and Thite Flame.

CORNING, CHARLES ROBERT, lawyer, jurist state senator, author, was born in Concord, N. H., Dec. 20, 1855. In 1889 he was a member of the New Hampshire state senate. He is now probate judge. He is the author of historical subjects and various Monographs.

CORNING, JAMES LEONARD, physician, author, was born in Stamford,Conn., Aug. 28, 1855. He is specially distinguished as neurologist.and discovered spinal anaesthesia in 1885. He is the author of Brain Rest; Brain Exhaustion; Local Anaesthesia; Hysteria and Epilepsy; and A Treatise on Headache and Neuralgia.

CORRIGAN, SEVERINUS JOHN, astronomer, physician, author was born in Troy, N. Y., Jan. 8, 1852. He made special studies in electrical science; and advanced new Kinetic theory of gases. He is the author of The Constituton anid Function of Gases, the Nature of Radiance and the law of radiation.

CORSON, MRS. CAROLINE ROLLINS, translator, author, was born in France. She is the wife of Prof. Hiram Corson, of Ithaca, N. Y. She is the author of articles on Faust, Machiavelli, and Victor Hugo; besides translations.

CORSON, DIGHTON, lawyer, jurist, was born in Somerset county, Maine. He was a member of the South Dakota Constitutional Convention. Since 1900 he has been presiding judge of the supreme court of South Dakota.

CORSON, EUGENE R., physician, author. He is a member of the Electro-Therapeutic Association. He is a writer on the Negro Question.

CORTELYOU, GEORGE BRUCE, educator, secretary, was born July 26, 1862, in New York City. He was stenographer and private secretary to President William McKinley.

CORTISSOZ, MRS. ELLEN MACKAY, journalist, author, poet, was born in New York City. She is a literary writer on the staff of the New York Tribune. She is the author of Songs and Lyrics.

CORY, CHARLES BARNEY, ornithologist, author, was born in Boston, Mass., Jan. 31, 1867. He is the author of A Naturalist in the Magdalen Islands; Birds of the Bahama Islands; The Beautiful and Curious Birds of the World; Birds of Haiti and San Domingo; Catalogue of West Indian Birds; Hunting and Fishing in Florida; The Birds of Eastern North America; How to Know the Ducks, Geese and Swans of North America; The Birds of the West Indies; Key to the Water Birds of Florida; and Hunting and Fishing in Florida.

CORY, HARRY THOMAS, civil engineer, author, was born May 27, 1870, in La Fayette, Ind. Since 1900 he has been dean and professor of civil engineering in the University of Cincinnati. He is the author of Manual of United States System of Land Surveying.

COSBY, GEORGE BLAKE, soldier, public official, was born Jan. 19, 1830, in Louisville, Ky. He joined the Confederate army as captain of cavalry in 1861; was promoted to brigadier-general in 1863; and commanded a brigade of cavalry under Gen. Stephen D. Lee in the south. After the close of the war he was adjutant-general of California four years, and is at present receiver of public moneys of California at Sacramento.

COSTELLO, FREDERICK H., author, was born in Bangor, Maine, Sept. 24, 1851. He is local agent for R. G. Dunn & Co.'s Commercial Agency. He is the author of Master Ardick, Buccaneer; Under the Rattlesnake Flag; and On Fighting Decks in 1812.

COTTER, JOSEPH B., clergyman, bishop, was born in 1844, in Liverpool, England. In 1871-79 he was pastor of St. Thomas church of Winona, Minn; and was consecrated first bishop of the newly erected see of Winona in 1889.

COTTON, CHARLES STANHOPE, naval officer, was born Feb. 15, 1843, in Milwaukee, Wis. He graduated from the United States naval academy; and attained the rank of rear-admiral. He is now president naval retiring board at Washington, D. C.

COURTENAY, ASHMEAD, manufacturer, philanthropist. At the time of the earthquake he was mayor of Charleston, S. C.; and his wise administration attracted national attention.

COURTNEY, WALTER, physician, surgeon, was born Sept. 18, 1855, in Canada. Since 1899 he has been chief surgeon of the North Pacific railroad company at Brainerd, Minn. In 1900 he became president of the Minnesota State Medical Society.

COVILLE, FREDERICK VERNON, botanist, author, was born March 23, 1867, in Preston, N. Y. Since 1892 he has been chief botanist U. S. Department of Agriculture. He is the anthor of Botany of the Death Valley Expediuon.

COWAN, JAMES, soldier, author, was born March 8, 1841, in Westfield, Mass. He enlisted in the Union army and was wounded in the battle of Winchester on Sept. 19, 1864. During the past years he has been chiefly engaged in mercantile and literary work. He is the author of a book entitled Daybreak, A Romance of an Old World.

COWARD, EDWARD FALES, broker, playwright, author, was born in New York City, Sept. 6, 1862. He is best known as amateur actor; for thirty years played continuously a total of one hundred and twenty-seven roles; and for two years was dramatic editor and critic New York Evening Sun. He is the author of Hearts Are Trumps; The Lady From Chicago; and Around New York in Eighty Minutes.

COWLES, ALFRED ABERNETHY manufacturer, was born Sept. 28, 1845, in Torrington, Conn. In 1867 he entered the employment of the Ansonia Brass and Copper company, gave close attention to the business, took charge of the New York office, and has risen to be vice-president and executive manager of the company. The Ansonia Clock company, which he took an active part in organizing in 1879, is now the largest establishment of its kind in the world. He is also president of the Birmingham Water Power company.

COWLES, JAMES LEWIS, economist, author, was born in Farmingham, Conn., Sept. 14, 1843. He has devoted attention to the solution of the railroad problem and to the study of the postal service. He is the author of A General Freight and Passenger Post.

COX, MRS. MARY McHENRY, philanthropist, was born Sept. 3, 1827, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since its foundation in 1865 she has been First Directress of Lincoln Institution of Philadelphia, Pa., organized as a soldiers' orphans home, from which also another institution sprang, The Educational Home, of which she is and always has been First Directress. She has personally collected about one hundred and fifty thousand dollars for these institutions. In 1883 the Lincoln Institution was changed into an Indian school. These institutions have cared for about twelve hundred white children, and nearly one thousand Indian children.

COX, MILLARD, F., lawyer, jurist, author, was born Feb. 25, 1856, near Noblesville, Ind. In 1890-94 he was judge of the criminal court of Indianapolis, Ind. He is the author of The Legionaries, a Story of the Great Raid.

COX, WILLIAM VAN ZANDT, lawyer, financier, author, was born in Zanesville, Ohio, June 12, 1852. He was financial officer of the Smithsonian Institution and the United Satates National Museum at the World's Columbian Exposition at Chicago in 1893; Cotton States Exposition of Atlanta in 1896; Trans-Mississippi Exposition of Omaha in 1898; and Pan-American Exposition in Buffalo in 1901. He is the author of Life of Samuel S. Cox.

COXE, WILLIAM ELLERY C., manufacturer, merchant, was born June 12, 1837, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is president and General Manager Montour Iron and Steel company, of Toledo, Ohio; and prominent in the public and business affairs of his city, county and state.

COY, ELIAB WASHBURN, educator, was born in 1832, in Thorndike, Maine. He has been principal of the public schools in Peoria, Ill.; principal of the high school department State Normal University, Normal, Ill.; principal of Hughes High Schools of Cincinnati, Ohio; president of National Council of Education in 1893-94; and Editor of the Illinois Teacher.

COY, N. B., educator, public official. He is connected with Colorado College of Colorado Springs.

COYLE, HENRY, journalist, poet. He was editor of the Weekly Bouquet of Boston, Mass.; and the author of a volume of poems entitled The Promise of the Morning.

CRAFTS, MRS. ANNIE STRATFORD, author, was born March 16, 1856, in Chicago, Ill. She is the author of Jupiter Jingles.

CRAGIN, EDWARD BRADFORD, physician, surgeon, author, was born Oct. 23, 1859, in Colchester, Conn. He is the author of Essentials of Gynecology; and is one of the authors of American Text-Book on Gynecology.

CRAIG, ALFRED M., farmer, lawyer, jurist. In 1861-65 he was judge of Knox County, Ill.; was a delegate to Illinois Constitutional Convention in 1870. Since 1873 he has been justice of the supreme court of Illinois.

CRAIG, JAMES ALEXANDER, linguist, author, was born March 5, 1855, in Canada. Since 1893 he has been professor of Semitic languages and literatures in the University of Michigan. He is the author of Hebrew Word Manual; and other works.

CRAIGHILL, WILLIAM, PRICE, civil engineer,author,was born in Charlestown, Va., July 1, 1833. He built the defenses of Pittsburg in 1863; was breveted lieutenant-colonel in 1865 for services at Cumberland Gap; and afterward engaged on defenses of New York and Baltimore. In 1895 he was made brigadier-general and chief of engineers U. S. army. He is the author of Army Officers' Pocket Companion.

CRAIGIE, MRS. PEARL MARY. John Oliver Hobbes, author, was born in Boston, Nov. 3, 1867. She is the wife of Reginald Walpole Craigie. She is the author of Some Emotions and a Moral; The Sinner's Comedy; A Study in Temptations; A Bundle of Life; Journey's End in Lovers Meeting; The Gods, Some Mortals and Lord Wickenham; The Herb Moon; and School for Saints. Her plays are The Ambassador; and A Repentance.

CRAM, WILLIAM EVERETT, farmer, author, was born in Hampton Falls, N. H., June 22, 1871. He is he uthor of Little Beasts of Field and Wood; and More Little Beasts.

CRAMER, FRANK, educator, author, was born Nov. 4, 1861, in Wausau, Wis. He was professor of Natural History and Geology at Larence university in 1886-91; and principal Manzanita Hall, Palo Alto, California, in 1893-99. He is the author of Method of Darwin; and On the Cranial Characters of the Genus Sebastodes.

CRANE, BRUCE, painter, was born in 1857 in New York. His principal works are Old Mill-Pond on Long Island; On Shrewsbury River; After the Rain; Moor in Nantucket; Inlet on the Jersey Shore; Blossom Time; Winter; The Waning Year; and Indian Summer.

CRANE, FRANK, clergyman, author, was born May 12, 1861, in Urbana, Ill. He is pastor of the Hyde Park Methodist Church of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of The Religion of To-morrow.

CRANSTON, EARL, soldier, clergyman, was born in Athens, Ohio, June 27, 1840. He served in Ohio volunteer infantry to end of war as first sergeant, first lieutenant, adjutant and captain. He entered the Methodist ministry in Ohio Conference in 1867; and was publishing agent for Methodist church in 1884-96. In 1896 he became bishop.

CARTER, LEWIS, soldier, educator, was born Aug. 9, 1843. During the civil war he was in thirty-two engagements; and was promoted to adjutant captain. Since 1887 he has been treasurer of the Reading Steam, Heat and Power Company. He is the author of History of the Carter Family.

CRATTY, ROBERT IRVIN, farmer, educator, botanist, was born Feb. 5, 1853, in Pennsylvania. In 1875-95 he was a teacher in the public schools of Illinois and Iowa. He has made an extensive collection of Iowa and Minnesota plants; and has a herbarium of six thousand species. He has written extensively on the Flora of Iowa.

CRAWFORD, JOHN WALLACE, poet, scout, was born March 4, 1847, in Ireland. He joined the 48th Pennsylvania volunteers; and was severely wounded. He became government scout in the west; and served under General Crook in Sitting Bull campaign; and in 1876 was appointed chief of scouts. He served in campaigns against Apaches in New Mexico; and retired from army life in 1886. He is the and Story; Campfire Sparks; and Tat, a author of The Poet Scout; A Book of Song Drama in Three Acts.

CRAWFORD-FROST, WILLIAM ALBERT, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 29, 1863, in Canada. Since 1896 he has been pastor of Memorial Church of the Holy Comforter at Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Old Dogma in a New Light.

CRAWLEY, EDWIN SCHOFIELD, civil engineer, mathematician, author, was born July 31, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1899 he has been Thomas A. Scott professor of mathematics at the University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Elements of Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; and Tables of Logarithms.

CRAWSHAW, WILLIAN HENRY, educator, author, was born Nov. 6, 1861, in Newburgh, N. Y. Since 1887 he has been professor of English literature and dean of Colgate University. He is the author of Literature; and Dryden's Palamon and Arcite.

CREIGH, THOMAS A., business man, genealogist. He is president of the O. F. Davis Company of Omaha, Neb. He is the author of an early history of his family; and has nearly ready for the press The Creigh Genealogy.

CREIGHTON, JAMES EDWIN, educator, author, was born in 1861 in Nova Scotia. Since 1892 he has been professor of logic and mathematics at Cornell University. He is the author of An Introductory Logic.

CROCKER, FRANCIS BACON, electric engineer, inventor, author was born July 4, 1861, in New York City. He was an inventor and practicing electric engineer in 1882-89; and vice-president of Crocker-Wheeler Electric Company since 1888. He is the author of Practical Management of Dynamos and Motors; and Electric Lighting.

CROLLY, MRS. JANE CUNNINGHAM, (Jennie June) journalist, author, was born Dec. 19, 1831, in England. She aided in starting Demorest's Illustrated Magazine, of which she was editor for twenty-seven years. She is the author of Talks of Women's Topics; For Better or Worse; and Three Manuals of Work.

CROMER, GEORGE WASHINGTON, lawyer, congressman, was born in Madison County, Ind., May 13, 1856. In 1886-90 he was prosecuting attorney, 46th circuit; and was mayor of Muncie in 1894. He was elected a member of the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

CROMWELL, BARTLETT JAMES, naval officer, was born March 28, 1841, in Nebraska. His first extensive trip was when he was commander, and was assigned to the navigation of Admiral Schufeldt's flagship the Ticonderoga on its trip around the globe in 1879. In 1895 he ws a member of the examining and retiring board of the navy department, being promoted to the rank of commodore in 1898. He succeeded to the rank of rear admiral when the naval personnel bill went into force in 1899. He is commandant of the naval station at Havana.

CRONDAHL, JENS K., journalist, was born Dec. 3, 1869, in Eidsvold. He is editor of the Red Wing Daily Republication; the Red Wing Daily Independent; City; and the Wordsjernen. He served in the state legislature during the years 1894-98; and is now the president of the Minnesota Republication Press Association.

CRONIN, DAVID EDWARD, soldier, lawyer, journalist, artist, was born July 12, 1839, in Greenwich, N. Y. He enlisted in the Union army during the civil war, and was breveted major. He then practiced law until 1872, when he began the publication of the Binghamton Times. In 1876 it was consolidated with the Binghamton Republican.

CROOKER, JOSEPH HENRY, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 8, 1850, in Foxcroft, Maine. In 1881-91 he was Unitarian clergyman at Madison, Wis., and built large Unitarian church, established a strong Unitarian congregation at Helena, Mont., in 1891-97; since then at Ann Arbor. He is the author of Jesus Brought Back; Problems in American Society; and The Growth of Christianity.

CROSBY, ERNEST HOWARD, lawyer, legislator, reformer, author, was born Nov. 4, 1856, in New York city. In 1878-89 he was in law practice in New York city; and a member of New York assembly in 1887-91. In 1889 he was appointed judge international court at Alexandria, Egypt. In 1894 he was one of the founders and first president Social Reform club. He is the author of Plain Talk in Psalm and Parable; and War Echoes.

CROSBY, MRS. FRANCES JANE, hymn writer, author, was born March 24, 1820, in South East, N. Y. In 1858 she married Alexander Vanalstyne, a teacher of music in New York city, and blind, like herself. The best known of her hymns are Safe in the Arms of Jesus; Pass Me Not, O Gentle Savior; Jesus is Calling; Rescue the Perishing; Blessed Assurance; Saved by Grace; Jesus, Keep Me Near the Cross; and I Am Thine, O Lord. She was the author of The Blind Girl, and other poems; Monterey; Pilgrim Fathers; and A Wreath of Columbia's Flowers.

CROSBY, STEPHEN MOODY, soldier, lawyer, state senator, banker, was born Aug. 14, 1827, in Salisbury, Mass. He served through the civil war, reaching brevet rank of lieutenant colonel. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature in 1869; and state senator in 1870-71. Since 1883 he has been president of the Massachusetts Loan and Trust company of Boston, Mass.

CROSS, WILBUR LUCIUS, educator, author, was born April 10, 1862, in Mansfield, Conn. Since 1897 he has been assistant professor of English in Yale university. He is the author of Development of the English Novel.

CROTHERS, THOMAS DAVISON, physician, author, was born Sept. 21, 1842, in West Charlton, N. Y. Since 1880 he has been president and superintendent Walnut Hill asylum of Hartford, Conn. He is the author of Disease of Inebriety.

CROWELL, FREDERIC, artist, was born Nov. 27, 1845, in Boston, Mass. His first work exhibited in public was an allegorical portrait group sent to the Paris salon of 1878. In 1879 he was instructor in the art school connected with the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston.

CROWLEY, JOSEPH BURNS lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 19, 1858, in Coshocton, Ohio. In 1886-93 he was county judge of Crawford county, Ill. He was a representative to the fifty-sixth congress from Illinois.

CROWNINSHIELD, ARENT SCHUYLER, naval officer, was born March 14, 1843, in New York. He was attached to the steam sloop Ticonderoga and participated in both attacks on Fort Fisher. He was made lieutenant in 1866, lieutenant commander in 1868, and commander in 1880.

CROWNINSHIELD, MRS. MAR BRADFORD, author, was born in New England. She is the wife of Arrant Schuyler Crowninshield. She is the author of Where the Trade Wind Blows; All Among the Lighthouses; The Lighthouse Children Abroad; Plucky Smalls; and San Isidro.

CROZIER, WILLIAM, army officer, inventor, was born in 1855 in Ohio. He served three years in Western campaigns against Sioux and Bannocks. Since 1890 he has been connected with the ordnance department, and was promoted captain in 1890. With General Buffington he invented the Buffington-Crozier disappearing gun carriage, now in general use in American coast-defense works. He is also inventor of the wire-wrapped rifle, a 10-inch gun. He was major general and inspector general, United States volunteers, in the Spanish-American war.

CRUTCHER, THEOPHILUS WILBURN, business man, public official, was born Sept. 18, 1855, in Maury county, Tenn. He has held the office of city comptroller of Nashville, Tenn., and is now a well-known fire insurance agent of that city.

CULBERSON, CHARLES A., United States senator, governor. He was governor of Texas in 1894-98. He is the eldest son of David B. Culberson, for twenty-two years a member of congress from Texas. He removed to Texas in 1856. He was United States senator from Texas in 1899-1905.

CULBERTSON, JAMES COE, physician, journalist, author, was born Dec. 19, 1840, in Miami county, Ohio. Since 1873 he has been editor and publisher of the Cincinnati Lancet-Clinic. He is the author of Luke, the Beloved Physician.

CULIN, STEWART, anthropologist, author, was born July 13, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is curator of the Museum of Science and Art of the University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Korean Games.

CULLEN, EDGAR MONTGOMERY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 4, 1843, in Brooklyn, N. Y. During the civil war he was second lieutenant First United States infantry, and colonel Ninety-sixth New York volunteers. He was engineer-in-chief, with rank of brigadier general, on staff of Governor Tilden, in 1875. In 1880 he was elected supreme court justice for a term of fourteen years, and was re-elected in 1894.

CUMMING, GILBERT W., soldier, lawyer, was born in 1817 in Delaware county, N. Y. In 1861 he raised the Fifty-first Illinois regiment, and was appointed its colonel. He was afterward assigned to the command of a brigade, and did good service in Island No. 10, New Madrid, and Corinth.

CUNFORT, TIFFANY CHARLES, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 5, 1829, in Baltimore, Md. He is a clergyman of New York city. He is the author of History of the Protestant Episcopal Church; and the Prayer-Book and the Life.

nock School of Oratory at Northwestern university of Evanston, Ill. He is the author of Choice Readings for Public and Private Entertainment; and School Speaker.

CUNNINGHAM, ALBERT BAXTER, journalist, author. He is editor of Cum-

CUNNINGHAM, JOHN F., clergyman, bishop, was born in July, 1842, in Ireland. In 1898 he was consecrated bishop of Concordia, Kan.

CURRIE, WILLIAM J., farmer, public official, was born April 3, 1846, in Robinson county, North Carolina. He was a member of the North Carolina legislature in 1897; and was for some years postmaster of Maxton, N. C.

CURRIER, AMOS NOYES, educator, author, was born Oct. 13, 1832, in Canaan, N. H. Since 1887 he has been dean of the College of Liberal Arts in the University of Iowa. In 1898-99 he was president of the Iowa State Teachers' association. He is the author of Latin Suffixes.

CURRIER, CHARLES WARREN, clergyman, bishop, author, was born March 22, 1857, in the West Indies. Since 1900 he has been pastor of St. Mary's church of Washington, D. C. He is the author of Carmel in America; Historical Romance; History of Religious Orders; and other works.

CURTIS, CHARLES BOYD, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 24, 1827, in Penn Yan, N. Y. He served in the civil war as captain of the Fifty-seventh regiment, New York volunteers. He is the author of Rembrandt's Etchings.

CURTIS, CYRUS, publisher, was born June 18, 1850. He became publisher of the Tribune and Farmer of Philadelphia and afterward established the Ladies' Home Journal. He is now head of the Curtis Publishing company.

CURTIS, GEORGE LENOX, physician, author, was born April 19, 1854. He is successor to Prof. James E. Garrotson of Philadelphia, Pa. He is professor and ex-clinical instructor in oral and facial surgery, to which he confines his practice.

CURTIS, H. HOLBROOK, physician, author, was born Dec. 15, 1856, in New York city. He is a specialist in laryngology, and restored the voice of Campanini, the famous tenor. He is the author of Voice Building and Tone Placing.

CURTIS, JOHN GREEN. In 1873 he became adjunct professor of anatomy in the College of physicians and surgeons, of New York city.

CURTIS, MATTOON MONROE, educator, author, was born Oct. 19, 1858, in Rome, N. Y. Since 1891 he has been professor of philosophy of Western Reserve university of Cleveland, Ohio. He is the author of Locke's Ethics; Philosophy and Physical Science; Philosophy in America; and other works.

CURTISS, SAMUEL IVES, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 5, 1844, in Union, Conn. He is professor of Biblical literature, Chicago Theological seminary. He is the author of The Name Mackabee; The Levitical Priests; Ingersoll and Moses; and The Date of Our Gospels.

CUSACK, THOMAS, business man, congressman, was born Oct. 5, 1858, in Ireland. He was a member of the Chicago board of education in 1891-98; and was colonel on Governor Altgeld's staff. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Illinois as a democrat.

CUSHING, HARRY ALONZO, educator, author, was born in 1870 in Lynn, Mass. He is now in the department of history at Columbia university, of New York city. He is the author of History of the Transition from Provincial to Commonwealth Government in Massachusetts; and King's College in the American Revolution.

CUSHING, SAMUEL TOBEY, soldier, was born Sept. 14, 1839, in Providence, R. I. He served throughout the civil war, and attained the rank of captain. He has been an instructor in West Point. Since 1898 he has been a brigadier-general and commissary-general in the United States army.

CUSHMAN, AUSTIN SPRAGUE, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 9, 1828, in Duxbury, Mass. In 1852 he was private secretary to President Fillmore. During the civil war he attained the rank of major. In 1867 he was United States registrar in bankruptcy. He was the first post commander in New England of the Grand Army of the Republic, and the first department commander of Massachusetts. He is the author of La Crise Financiere, and editor of Early History of Massachusetts Grand Army of the Republic.

CUSHMAN, FRANCIS W., lawyer, congressman, was born May 8, 1867, in Brighton, Iowa. Since 1891 he has been engaged in the practice of law in Tacoma, Wash. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Washington as a republican.

CUSHNY, ARTHUR ROBERTSON, physician, author, was born March 6, 1866, in Scotland. Since 1893 he has been professor of materia medica and therapeutics in the University of Michigan. He is the author of The Action of Drugs in Health and Disease.

CUTLER, NAHUM SAWIN, manufacturer, legislator, genealogist, was born April 7, 1837, in Vernon, Vt. He is a successful shoe manufacturer of Greenfield, Mass., and a director in the Franklin County National bank and other corporations. In 1889-90 he was a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives. He is the author of The Cutler Memorial; and History of the Town of Bernardston.

DABOLL, CHARLES MINER, inventor, was born Oct. 14, 1823, in Groton, Conn. He is the inventor of the cast-iron bottom jack screw barrel, now in full operation for twenty-five years; as has also his oval slide parallel bench vise. He has invented also a breast drill, a self-centering brace for bits, a mowing machine, and the Daboll bushing. He is United States government inspector for Connecticut and Rhode Island of boilers on steam vessels.

DABOUR, JOHN, artist, was born in 1837 in Smyrna, Asia. Fifteen years of his professional life were spent in the United States, painting portraits, which are to be found in the principal cities, but chiefly in Baltimore. Among the more prominent of those that have been sitters in his studio are Archbishop Spaulding of Baltimore, Archbishop Purcell of Cincinnati; Senator Cameron of Pennsylvania, Senator Davis of Virginia, and Governor Groome of Maryland.

DA COSTA, JOHN CHALMERS, surgeon, author, was born Nov. 15, 1863, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1895 he has been surgeon to Philadelphia hospital. He is the author of A Manual of Modern Surgery.

DAGGETT, MRS. MARY STEWART, author, was born May 30, 1856, in Morristown, Ohio. She is the author of The Broad Isle.

DALE, ALAN—Alfred J. Cohen—journalist, author, was born May 14, 1861, in Birmingham, England. Since 1895 he has been dramatic critic of the New York Journal. He is the author of Jonathan's Home; A Marriage Below Zero; An Eerie He and She; My Footlight Husband; Miss Innocence; Familiar Chats with Queens of the Stage; An Old Maid Kindled; A Moral Busybody; and Conscience on Ice.

DALE, FRANK, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 26, 1849, in De Kalb county, Ill. In 1880-85 he was prosecuting attorney of Wichita, Kan. In 1893 he became associate justice of Oklahoma, and in 1893-98 was chief justice.

DALE, THOMAS NELSON, geologist, author, was born Nov. 25, 1845, in New York city. He is on United States geological survey, and instructor in geology and botany at Williams college. He is the author of The Outskirts of Physical Science; Mount Greylock, Its Areal and Structural Geology; and The Rensselaer Grit Plateau in New York.

DALLAS, GEORGE MIFFLIN, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 7, 1839, in Pittsburg, Pa. Since 1892 he has been United States circuit judge of the third circuit of Pennsylvania. He was a delegate to the constitutional convention which framed the present constitution of Pennsylvania.

DAMON, WILLIAM EMERSON, naturalist, author, was born Nov. 15, 1838, in Windsor, Vt. He is superintendent of the credit department of Tiffany & Co. of New York city. He is well known as a naturalist. He is the author of Ocean Wonders.

DAMROSCH, FRANK, musician, composer, was born June 22, 1859, in Breslau. In 1897 he was appointed supervisor of music in the New York city public schools. He is the author of Popular Method of Sight Singing.

DANA, FRANCIS, author, was born March 4, 1866, in the East Indies. He is the author of Leonora of the Yawmish.

DANA, STEPHEN WINCHESTER, clergyman, was born Nov. 17, 1840, in Canaan, N. Y. In 1866-68 he was pastor of a Presbyterian church in Belvidere, N. J.; and then was called to the Walnut Street church in West Philadelphia.

DANA, WILLIAM HENRY, musician, composer, was born June 10, 1846, in Warren, Ohio. He was a founder of the American Music Teachers' National association, and director of Dana's Musical Institute of Warren, Ohio. He is the author of Practical Thorough-Bass; Orchestration; Instrumentation for Military Bands; and Practical Harmony.

DANA, WILLIAM PARSONS WINCHESTER, artist, was born Feb. 18, 1833, in Boston, Mass. His first pictures were marine views, but subsequently he treated genre subjects with success, and has been happy in painting children, horses and dogs. Some of his principal works are Chase of the Frigate Constitution; Waiting for the Fishing Boat; Maternal Care; Land of Nod; and Gathering Seaweed.

DANIELL, MOSES GRANT, educator, author, was born Sept. 9, 1836, in Boston, Mass. He is now in the editorial department of Ginn & Co. of Boston. He is the author of Exercises in Latin Composition; New Latin Composition; Exercises in Greek Composition; and First Year Latin.

DANIELS, WINTHROP MORE, educator, author, was born Sept. 30, 1867, in Dayton, Ohio. Since 1892 he has been professor of political economy in Princeton university. He is the author of Elements of Public Finance.

DANNREUTHER, EDWARD, musician, composer, was born Nov. 4, 1844, in Strassburg. He was an active promoter of the Wagner festival in 1877. He is the author of Richard Wagner, His Tendencies and Theories; and Musical Ornamentation.

DANNREUTHER, GUSTAV, musician, composer, was born July 21, 1853, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1882-84 he was director of the Buffalo Philharmonic Society; and in 1884 he founded the Beethoven string quartette of New York city. He is the author of a set of Chord and Scale Studies for Young Players.

DARRAGH, ARCHIBALD B., soldier, banker, legislator congressman, was born Dec. 23, 1840, in Monroe county, Mich. In 1882 he enlisted as a private vate in the United States volunteers; and was discharged as a captain in 1865. Since 1870 he has been a banker of St. Louis, Mich. In 1883-84 he was a member of the Michigan legislature. He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh congress.

DARROW, CLARENCE S., lawyer, author, was born April 13, 1857, in Kinsman, Ohio. He was at one time attorney for the Northwestern railway. He has been identified with many prominent cases; and recently in litigation against the gas trust in Chicago. He is the author of Persian Pearl.

DARWIN, MRS. GERTRUDE BASCOM, author, was born May 19, 1855, in Middlebury, Vt. Since 1899 she has been treasurer general of the National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She is the author of Report of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

DASKAM, JOSEPHINE DODGE, author, poet, was born Feb. 17, 1876, in Stamford, Conn. She is the author of Smith College Stories; and Sister's Vocation and Other Girls' Stories.

DAVENPORT, CHARLES, manufacturer, was born May 25, 1812, in Newton, Mass. As car builders, his was not only the pioneer firm of the United States, but for the twenty-two years during which he carried on the business his was the largest car establishment in America. In 1838-39 he built the first eight-wheel car, to seat sixty; and in 1840 the first sixteen-wheel car, to carry seventy-six passengers.

DAVENPORT, CHARLES BENEDICT, zoologist, author, was born June 1, 1866 in Stamford, Conn. Since 1899 he has been professor of zoology in the University of Chicago. He is the author of Statistical Methods in Biological Variation.

DAVENPORT, HERBERT JOSEPH, educator, author, was born Aug. 10, 1861, in Wilmington, Vt. He is the author of Outlines of Economic Theory; and Principles of Grammar.

DAVENPORT, HOMER CALVIN, artist, author, was born March 8, 1867, in Silverton, Ore. He originated the Mark Hanna $-mark suit of clothes. His work caused an attempt to pass an anti-cartoon bill in New York in 1897. He is the author of Davenport's Cartoons; The Bell of Silverton, and Other Short Stories of Oregon.

DAVENPORT, STANLEY W., lawyer, congressman, was born July 21, 1861, in Plymouth, Pa. In 1893-96 he was register of wills of Luzerne county, Pa. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

DAVES, GRAHAM, soldier, genealogist, was born July 16, 1836, in New Bern, N. C. In 1859-61 he was private secretary to Governor John W. Ellis of North Carolina; and during the civil war was captain and major in the Confederate army. He is president of the Roanoke Colony Memorial association at New Bern, N. C. He is the author of The Life of Major John Daves, his grandfather.

DAVIDSON, HARLAN PAGE, educator, college president, was born Sept. 15, 1838, in Hookset, N. H. He is founder and president of Northwestern Military Academy of Highland Park, Ill.

DAVIDSON, JAMES WHEELER, journalist diplomat, author, was born June 14, 1872, in Austin, Minn. In 1895 he was a war correspondent with the Chinese army. Since 1898 he has been United States consul for Formosa, Japan. He is the author of The Island of Formosa; and Formosa Camphor and Its Future.

DAVIES, JOHN FRANCIS, librarian, educator, was born Oct. 2, 1858, in Rockland, Maine. He was assistant librarian of the St. Louis Public library in 1883-92; and in 1892 became librarian of the Butte Free Public library, Montana.

DAVIS, ARTHUR POWELL, civil engineer, author, was born Feb. 9, 1861, in Decatur, Ill. In 1884-94 he was topographer United States geological survey, conducting surveys and explorations in Arizona, New Mexico and California. Since 1898 he has been hydrographer in charge of hydrographic examination of Nicaragua and Panama canal routes. He is the author of Elevation and Stadia Tables; Progress of Stream Measurements; Hydrography of Nicaragua; and Irrigation Investigation in Arizona.

DAVIS, CHARLES BELMONT, diplomat, author, was born Jan. 24, 1866, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was United States consul at Florence, Italy. He is the author of The Borderland of Society.

DAVIS, EDWARD PARKER, physician, surgeon, was born Sept. 16, 1856, in Baldwinsville, N. Y. In 1890-98 he was editor of the American Journal of the Medical Sciences; and since 1898 has been professor of obstetrics in Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Treatise on Obstetrics; and other works.

DAVIS, GEORGE RUSSELL, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 13, 1861, in Huntsville, Ohio. In 1897-1901 he was associate justice supreme court of Arizona.

DAVIS, GEORGE WHITEFIELD, soldier, was born July 26, 1839, in Thompson, Conn. He entered the Eleventh Connecticut infantry Nov. 27, 1861, as quartermaster's sergeant, and rose to major and quartermaster. He was appointed captain Fourteenth United States infantry in 1867; promoted major Eleventh infantry in 1894; lieutenant colonel in 1898; and was then appointed brigadier-general of volunteers, commanding division. In 1899 he became governor general of Puerto Rico.

DAVIS, HARRIET RIDDLE, author. She is the author of In Sight of the Goddess; and other works.

DAVIS, JOHN D., educator, author, was born March 5, 1854, in Pittsburg, Pa. He is the author of Genesis and Semitic Tradition; and A Dictionary of the Bible.

DAVIS, JOHN PATTERSON, lawyer, author, was born May 27, 1862, in Niles, Mich. In 1894-95 he was assistant in history and economics, University of Michigan; and since then in law practice in Idaho. He is the author of The Union Pacific Railway, a Study of Political and Economic History.

DAVIS, JOHN WILLIAM, educator, civil engineer, state senator, governor, was born March 7, 1826, in Rehoboth, Mass. In 1844-50 he was in mason and civil engineering work, teaching school winters; and in 1850-90 was in the grain trade at Providence, R. I. He was state senator in 1885, 1886 and 1893; and governor of Rhode Island in 1887 and 1890. He was mayor of Pawtucket in 1897.

DAVIS, NATHAN SMITH, physician, author, was born Sept. 5, 1848, in Chicago, Ill. He is a son of Dr. Nathan Smith Davis, the noted physician and author. He is the author of Consumption; and other medical works.

DAVIS, OSCAR KING, journalist, author, was born Jan. 13, 1866, in Baldwinsville, N. Y. He is a noted war correspondent on the staff of the New York Sun. He is the author of Our Conquests in the Pacific.

DAVIS, RAYMOND CAZALLIS, librarian, author, was born in June, 1833, in Cushing, Maine. In 1849-51 he made a voyage around the world. He is the author of Reminiscences of a Voyage Around the World.

DAVIS, MRS. VARINA HOWELL JEFFERSON, author, was born May 7, 1826, in Natchez, Miss. In 1845 she was married to Jefferson Davis, who became president of the Confederacy. She is the author of Jefferson Davis, Memoir by His Wife.

DAVIS, WILLIAM THOMAS, lawyer, state senator, author, was born March 3, 1822, in Plymouth, Mass. In 1858-59 he was a member of the Massachusetts state senate; was republican presidential elector in 1872; and delegate republican national convention in 1876. He is the author of History of Plymouth; Ancient Landmarks of Plymouth; and History of Bench and Bar of Massachusetts.

DAVIS, WILLIAM ZEPHANIAH, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born June 10, 1839, in Loydsville, Ohio. He served three months' enlistment in the Fourth Ohio regiment in 1861, and re-enlisted in the Ninety-sixth Ohio volunteers, remaining in service until physically disabled and honorably discharged. In 1864-1900 he practiced law at Marion, Ohio. Since 1900 he has been judge of the supreme court of Ohio.

DAWES, CHARLES GATES, comptroller, author was born Aug. 27, 1865, in Marietta, Ohio. He was the leader of the McKinley movement in Illinois resulting in instructions for McKinley at the Springfield, Ill., convention of April, 1896. In 1898 he was appointed comptroller of the currency. He is the author of The Banking Systems of the United States.

DAWSON, MILES MENANDER, actuary, author, was born May 13, 1863, in Viroqua, Wis. He is a translator from Norwegian and a writer and speaker on economics, ethics and reform movements. He is the author of Practical Lessons in Actuarial Science; Elements of Life Insurance; Assessment Life Insurance; and Principles of Insurance Legislation.

DAWSON, WILLIAM M. O., lawyer, state senator, was born May 21, 1853, in Bloomington, Md. In 1881-89 he served two terms as a state senator in the Maryland legislature. Since 1892 he has been chairman of the West Virginia republican state and central executive committee; and is a successful lawyer of Kingwood, W. Va.

DAY, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, naval officer, was born in Ohio. During the civil war he attained the rank of lieutenant commander. In 1891 he became rear admiral; and in 1897-1900 was a member of the naval examining board.

DAY, HOLMAN F., journalist, poet, was born Nov. 6, 1865, in Vassalboro, Maine. He is editor of the Lewiston Daily Sun. He is the author of Up in Maine, in verse.

DAY, OSCAR FAYETTE GAINES, journalist, author, was born Oct. 7, 1860, in Chicago, Ill. He is the author of A Mistaken Identity; and a volume of poems.

DAY, WILLIAM RUFUS, lawyer, jurist, was born April 17, 1849, in Ravenna, Ohio. In 1886-90 he was judge of the court of common pleas. In 1898 he succeeded John Sherman as secretary of state.

DAYAS, WILLIAM HUMPHRIES, musician, composer, was born Sept. 12, 1864, in New York. He was organist of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian church; then of St. Andrew's church of New York city. He is the author of Organ Sonatas and Waltzes.

DEAN, BASHFORD, zoologist, author, was born Oct. 28, 1867, in New York city. He is the author of Fishes, Living and Fossil.

DEAN, JOHN, lawyer, author. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

DEAVER, JOHN B., surgeon, author. He is surgeon to the Children's Hospital of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Surgical Anatomy, in three volumes.

DEEMER, ELIAS, congressman. He is a member of the fifty-seventh congress from Pennsylvania.

DEEMER, HORACE EMERSON, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 24, 1855, in Bourbon, Ind. In 1887-94 he was judge of the district court of the fifteenth district of Iowa; and in 1894-98 was judge of the supreme court. Since 1898 he has been chief justice of the supreme court of Iowa.

DE GARMO, JAMES M., educator, business man, microscopist, author, was born Dec. 22, 1838, in Pleasant Valley, N. Y. He has spoken in every presidential campaign but one since 1856. He has a large collection of butterflies; also birds, geological specimens, and birds' eggs. He is the author of The Hicksite Quakers and Their Doctrine.

DE GOESBRIAND, LOUIS, clergyman, bishop. He is Roman Catholic bishop of Burlington, Vt.

DE HASS, WILLS, physician, scientist, author, was born July 4, 1817, in Washington county, Pa. He recruited the Seventy-seventh Ohio regiment for the civil war; and commanded the advance in Sherman's division at Shiloh. He is the author of History of West Virginia; The Mound Builders; and other works.

DE KOVEN, MRS. ANNA FARWELL, author, was born Nov. 19, 1860, in Chicago, Ill. She is the wife of Louis Reginald de Koven, composer. She is the author of A Sawdust Doll; and a translation of An Iceland Fisherman.

DE KOVEN, HENRY LOUIS REGINALD, musician, composer, was born April 3, 1859, in Middletown, N. H. He is musical critic on various New York publications. He is the author of operas entitled The Begum; Don Quixote; Robin Hood; The Fencing Master; The Tzigane; The Mandarin; The Highwayman; and The Three Dragoons.

DE LEON, THOMAS COOPER, soldier, journalist, playwright, author, was born May 21, 1839, in Columbia, S. C. In 1861-65 he was in the Confederate service. In 1873-96 he was owner and editor of The Gossip and The Gulf Citizen, of Mobile. He organized the Mobile Mardi Gras Carnival and managed it twenty-five years. He invented and designed carnivals of Pensacola, Vicksburg, Bi-Centennial and other celebrations. He is the author of Cross Purposes; and other works.

DEMING, CLARENCE, journalist, author, was born Oct. 1, 1848, in Litchfield, Conn. He is the author of By-Ways of Nature and Life.

DENMAN, LEROY GILBERT, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 31 1855, in Guadalupe county, Texas. Since 1894 he has been associate justice of the of the Buffalo Philhamonic cociety, and in 1884 he founded the Beethoven String quartette, of New York city. He is the ausupreme court of Texas.

DENNEY, JOSEPH VILLIERS, educator, author, was born Jan. 9, 1862, in Leroy, Ill. Since 1891 he has been professor of Rhetoric of English language in the Ohio State university. He is the author of Composition Rhetoric; and Elementary English Composition.

DENNIS, JAMES SHEPARD, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 15, 1842, in Newark, N. J. In 1873-91 he was principal and professor in Theological seminary Beirut, Syria. He is the author of Foreign Missions After a Century; and Christian Missions and Social Progress.

DENNISON, WALTER, educator, author, was born Aug. 9, 1869, in Saline, Mich. He is associate professor of Latin at Oberlin college. He is the author of a Junior Latin Book; and Some New inscriptions.

DENNY, COLLINS, lawyer, clergyman, educator, was born May 28, 1854, in Winchester, Va. He practiced law in Baltimore for several years. He was chaplain to the University of Michigan; and is now professor of mental and moral philosophy in Vanderbilt university.

DENNY, GEORGE HUTCHESON, educator, author, was born Dec. 3, 1870, in Hanover county, Va. Since 1899 he has been professor of Latin in the Washington and Lee university. He is the author of The Subjunctive Sequence After Adjective and Substantive Predicates and Phrases.

DENNY, JAMES W., soldier, educator, congressman, was born in 1842 in Virginia. He enlisted in Company A, Thirty-ninth Virginia battalion of cavalry, in which company he served until in 1863 he was detailed for service at General R. E. Lee's headquarters, where he continued until the surrender at Appomattox Court House. Since 1868 he has practiced law in Baltimore, Md. He was a member of the house of delegates of Maryland in 1888; and Governor Jackson conferred on him the rank of colonel on his staff. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Maryland

DENSMORE, EMMET, physician, author, was born May 19, 1837, in Crawford county, Pa. Since 1880 he has practiced almost exclusively hygienic in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of Nature Food of Man; and How Nature Cures.

DENT, MARMADUKE HERBERT, lawyer, jurist, was born April 18, 1849, in Morgantown, W. Va. He is judge of West Virginia supreme court of appeals.

DE PEYSTER, FREDERIC JAMES lawyer, lecturer, was born Feb. 5, 1839, in New York city. Since 1889 he has been president of the Archaeological society of New York city; and is a lecturer on history and archaeological subjects.

DEPUE, DAVID A., lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 27, 1826, in Northampton county, Pa. Since 1866 he has been justice of the supreme court of New Jersey.

DE PUY, E. CORA, journalist, author, was born in Mount Morris, N. Y. In 1892 she founded, edited and published The Literary Century. She is the author of Temperance Work of the World; Pebbles and Pearls; and several novels.

DERBY, ORVILLE ADELBERT, geologist, explorer, was born July 23, 1851, in Kelloggsville, N. Y. In 1873-75 he was instructor in geology in Cornell, and resigned to serve on the geological commission to Brazil. In 1878 he was appointed curator of the National museum, and arranged the collection which he had gathered in Brazil. He has explored nearly every part of that country, and is regarded as the greatest living authority on the geology and physical geography of Brazil.

DESSAR, LEO CHARLES, lawyer, legislator, jurist, author, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1870 he was a member of the New York State assembly; and in 1885 became a civil justice. He is the author of A Royal Enchantress.

DEUTSCH, GOTTHARD, educator, author, was born Jan. 31, 1859, in Austria. He is professor of Hebrew at Union college of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the author of Symbolik in Cultus; Theory of Oral Tradition; and Philosophy of Jewish History.

DEVEREUX, MARY, author. She is the author of From Kingdom to Colony.

DE VILLIERS, CHARLES A., soldier, was born in 1826. He became a brigadier-general for service in the civil war. He received his discharge from the army in 1862, and returned to France.

DEVINE, EDWARD THOMAS, clergyman, author, was born May 6, 1867, in Union, Iowa. He is general secretary of the Charity Organization society of New York. He is the author of Economics.

DEVOORE, ANN—Mrs. Walden—author, was born Sept. 16, 1872, in New York city. She is the author of Oliver Iverson, His Adventures During Four Days and Nights in the City of New York.

DEWEY, MRS. BYRD SPILMAN, author, was born Feb. 16, 1856, in Covington, Ky. She is the author of Bruno.

DEWEY, DAVIS RICH, educator, author, was born April 7, 1858, in Burlington, Vt. He is professor of economics and statistics at Massachusetts Institute Technology. He is the author of Syllabus on Political History Since 1815; and several reports.

DEWEY, JOHN, educator, author, was born Oct. 20, 1859, in Burlington, Vt He is professor of philosophy at the University of Chicago. He is the author of Psychology; Critical Theory of Ethics; Study of Ethics; and Psychology of Number.

DEWHURST, FREDERIC ELI, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born April 20 1855, in Bradford, Maine. He is pastor of Plymouth Congregational church of Indianapolis, Ind. He is a lecturer in economics and sociology. He is the author of Dwellers in Tents.

DEXTER, MORTON, journalist, author, was born July 12, 1846, in Manchester, N. H. Since 1890 he has been proprietor of the Congregationalist of Boston, Mass. He is the author of The Story of the Pilgrims.

DICK, CHARLES, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 3, 1858, in Akron, Ohio. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Ohio as a republican.

DICK, SAMUEL MEDARY, clergyman, author, was born April 4, 1857, in Pickaway county, Ohio. He is pastor of Mathewson Street M. E. church of Providence, R. I. He is the author of Short Talks on Our National Flag; and The Principle of Synthetic Unity in Berkeley and Kant.

DICKERT, DAVID AUGUSTUS, soldier, planter, author, was born Aug. 2, 1845, in Lexington, S. C. In 1861 he entered the Confederate states army; was in all great battles, and surrendered with Johnson at Greensboro in 1865. He is the author of History of Kershaw's Brigade, Longstreet's Corps.

DICKINSON MARTHA GILBERT, author, was born in Amherst, Mass. She is the author of Within the Hedge.

DICKINSON, MRS. MARY LOWE, educator, author, poet, was born in 1839 in Fitchburg, Mass. After the death of her husband she was professor of belles lettres, emeritus professor and lecturer at Denver university. She was president of the Woman's National Indian association, and is now honorary president National Council of Women United States association. She is the author of a volume of poems, and several works of fiction.

DICKSON, FREDERICK STOE[illegible] lawyer, author, was born June 24, 1850, in Utica, N. Y. Since 1873 he has practiced law in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of An Analysis of Blackstone's Commentaries; An Analysis of Kent's Commentaries; and Blackwood's History of the United States.

DICKSON, HARRIS, lawyer, author, was born July 21, 1868, in Yazoo City, Miss. Since 1896 he has practiced law in Vicksburg, Miss. He is the author of The Black Wolf's Breed.

DIEHL, WILLIAM JOHN, public official, was born Jan. 22, 1845, in Pittsburg, Pa. He has held the office of deputy sheriff, record examiner, and is at present secretary and treasurer for the Wheeling Natural Gas company. In 1899-1902 he was mayor of Pittsburg, Pa.

DIGGS, MRS. ANNIE L., librarian, author, was born in 1853 in Canada. Since 1898 she has been state librarian of Kansas. She is the author of Little Brown Brothers.

DILLINGHAM, WILLIAM PAUL, lawyer, legislator, banker, governor, was born Dec. 12, 1843, in Waterbury, Vt. In 1876 and 1884 he was a member of the Vermont legislature; state senator in 1878-80; and commissioner of state taxes in 1882-88. In 1888-90 he was governor, and in 1900 was elected to the United States senate. He has been president of Waterbury National bank.

DINWIDDIE, WILLIAM journalist, photographer, author, was born Aug. 23, 1867, in Charlottesville, Va. Since 1895 he has been illustrator and correspondent of the New York Herald. He is the author of War Sketches in Truth; and Our New Possessions.

DITHMAR, EDWARD AUGUSTUS, journalist, author, was born May 22, 1854, in New York city. Since 1871 he has been on the staff of the Evening Post and New York Times. He is the author of John Drew, a biographical sketch.

DITMARS, RAYMOND LEE, journalist, zoologist, author, was born June 20, 1876, in Newark, N. J. For five years he was assistant curator of entomology at the American Museum of Natural History. He is the author of Snakes Found Within Fifty Miles of New York City.

DIX, EDWIN ASA, lawyer, author, was born June 25, 1860, in Newark, N. J. He traveled in all parts of the world. He is the author of A Midsummer Drive Through the Pyrenees; and Deacon Bradbury, a novel.

DIXON, FRANK HAIGH, educator, author, was born Oct. 8, 1869, in Winona, Minn. Since 1898 he has been assistant professor of economics at Dartmouth college. He is the author of State Railroad Control.

DIXON, J., lawyer, jurist. He is a lawyer of Trenton N. J.; and now associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey.

DIXON, SAMUEL GIBSON, physician, bacteriologist, author, was born March 23, 1851, in Philadelphia. Since 1896 he has been curator and president of the Academy Natural Sciences, of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Physiological Notes; and many articles in medical journals; and the proceedings of the Academy of Natural Sciences on bacteriological, hygienic and other subjects.

DIXON, MRS. SUSAN BULLITT, author, was born Feb. 20, 1829, in Oxmoor, Jefferson county, Ky. She is the wife of the late Archibald Dixon, United States senator and author of Repeal of the Missouri Compromise. She is the author of The True History of the Missouri Compromise and Its Repeal.

DIXON, THOMAS, lawyer, lecturer, legislator, author, was born Jan. 11, 1864, in Shelby, N. C. In 1884-86 he was a member of the North Carolina legislature. He then entered the Baptist ministry. He is the author of Living Problems in Religion and Social Science; Sermons on Ingersoll; and The Failure of Protestantism in New York.

DOAN, FLETCHER MORRIS, lawyer, jurist, was born July 21, 1846, in Circleville, Ohio. Since 1897 he has been associate justice of the supreme court and judge of the second judicial district of Arizona.

DODGE, CHARLES WRIGHT, educator, author, was born Jan. 15, 1862, in Cape Vincent, N. Y. He is professor of biology at University of Rochester. He is the author of Introduction to Elementary Practical Biology.

DODGE, GRACE HOADLEY, reformer. In 1886 she was appointed by the mayor of New York city one of the board of school commissioners. She has been a prominent member of the New York state charities association; is president of the Working Girls' society; and vice president of the Industrial Education association.

DODGE, HENRY LEE, merchant, was born Jan. 31, 1825, in Montpelier, Vt. In 1847-49 he studied law, but abandoned it to seek his fortune on the Pacific coast. He arrived in San Francisco in 1849, and after working in the mines he obtained the appointment of clerk in the alcalde's court, and was made clerk of the ayuntamiento, or town council, of San Francisco, Cal.

DODGE, HENRY NEHEMIAH, dentist, antiquarian, poet, was born May 19, 1843, in New York city. Since 1870 he has practiced his profession in New York city. He is the author of Christus Victor, a poem.

DODGE, JOSHUA ERIC, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 25, 1854, in Cambridge, Mass. In 1891-92 he was a member of the Wisconsin legislature. Since 1898 he has been justice of the supreme court of Wisconsin.

DODGE, RAYMOND EDEY, journalist, author, was born Feb. 24, 1854, in Troy, N. Y. Siuce 1896 he has been editor of the Money Magaziue of New York City. He is the author of Republican Reference Book; and Necessary Monetary Reforms; and American Currency.

DODGE, RAYNAL, soldier, machinist, botanist, was born Sept. 9, 1844, in Newburyport, Mass. He served through Banks' campaign in Louisiana during the civil war. He is the author of Ferns and Fern Allies of New England.

DODGE, RICHARD ELWOOD, educator, author, was born March 30, 1868, in Wenham, Mass. Since 1897 he has been professor of geography in Columbia university of New York city. He is the author of Reader in Physical Geography for Beginners.

DOGGETT, SAMUEL BRADLEE, genealogist. He is the author of The Doggett-Daggett Family.

DOHERTY, ROBERT REMINGTON, journalist, author, was born Dec. 24, 1848. In 1889 he was one of the founders of the Epworth League at Cleveland, Ohio. He is the author of Illustrative Notes; A Guide to the Study of the International Lessons, published annually since 1891.

DOLE, SANFORD BALLARD, laywer, jurist, was born April 23 1844, in Hawaiian Islands. He engaged in practice of law in Honolulu;; in 1884 and 1886 he was a member of the legislature; a leader in reform movement in 1887; and judge of the supreme court in 1887-93. He was placed at the head of provisional government in 1893; became president by provision of constitution of 1894 that he should hold that office until 1901.

DONALD, E. WINCHESTER, clergyman, author, was born in Andover, Mass., July 31, 1848. Since 1892 he has been Rector of Trinity Church of Boston. He is the author of The Expansion of Religion.

DONALDSON, HENRY HERBERT neurologist, author. Since 1892 he has been professor of neurology in the University of Chicago. He is the author of The Growth of the Brain; and The Physiology of the Central Nervous System.

DONLEVY, MRS. MARRIET FARLEY, journalist, author, was born Feb. 18, 1871, in Claremont, N. H. She has lectured extensively on The Laws of Life. She is the author of Shells from the Strand of the Sea of Genius; and Christmas Stories.

DONOHUE, PATRICK JAMES, lawyer, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1851 in Englaud. Since 1894 he has been R. C. bishop of Wheeling, W. Va.

DOOLITTLE, CHARLES LEANDER, astronomer, author. Since 1895 he has been professor of astronomy in the University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Practical Astronomy as Applied to Geodesy and Navigation.

DORLAND, WILLIAM ALEXANDER NEWMAN, physician, author, was born Dec. 26, 1864, in Hilton Head, S. C. He is assistant demonstrator of obstetrics at Uuiversity of Pennsylvania; and since 1893 surgeon 2d troop Philadelphia City cavalry. He is the author of A Cluster of Pearls; A Syllabus of Gynecology: Modern Obstetrics; The American Pocket Medical Dictionary; and The American Illustrated Medical Dictionary.

DORNER, ARMIN W., musician, composer, was born June 22, 1852, in Marietta, Ohio. He is now professor in Ciucinnati College of Music. He is the author of Technical Exercises.

DOS PASSOS, JOHN R., soldier, lawyer, author, was born in 1845, in Philadelphia, Pa., of Portuguese-American descent. He managed the defense of Edward S. Stokes, charged with murder of James Fisk, Jr.; and had other notable cases. For years past he has turned attention specially to banking, corporation and financial law, becoming prominent in formation of large business amalgamations, including the so-called Sugar Trust, American Thread Company, and many others. He is the author of Treatise on the Law of Stock Brokers and Stock Exchanges; and The Interstate Commerce Act.

DOSTER, FRANK, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 19, 1849, in Virginia. He served two years in 11th Indiana cavalry during the Civil war. Since 1871 he has practiced law in Kansas. For four years he was judge of the district court; and is now Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Kansas.

DOUBLEDAY, MRS. FRANK NELSON, author, was born Oct. 23, 1865, in Chicago, Ill. She is the author of The Piegan Indians; Bird Neighbors; Birds that Hunt and are Hunted; Nature's Garden; and Our Wild Flowers and Their Insect Visitors.

DOUBLEDAY, RUSSELL, publisher, author, was born May 26, 1872, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He served in the United States navy during the Spanish-American war from New York, in battalion naval militia. He is the author of A Gunner Aboard the Yankee; and Cattle Ranch to College.

DOUGHERTY, JOHN, lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born Feb. 25, 1857, in Platt county, Mo. In 1881-86 he was city attorney of Liberty, Mo.; was editor of the Liberty Tribune in 1885-88; and in 1888-94 was prosecuting attorney of Clay county. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

DOUGLAS, JAMES, educator, mining engineer, author, was born in Canada. He has been identified with the copper industry of Arizona; and is now president of the Copper Queen Consolidated Mining Company. He is the author of Canadian Independence; and Imperial Federation and Annexation.

DOUGLAS, WILLIAM H., traveler, congressman, author, was born Dec. 5, 1853, in New York City. He has visited many parts of Europe, Egypt, Ceylon, Australia and New Zealand. He is a member of the Chamber of Commerce of New York City. He was elected a member from New York to the fifty-seventh congress.

DOUGLAS, WILLIAM W., soldier, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Nov 26, 1841, in Providence, R. I. In 1861-64 he served in the United States volunteer service; and was United States commissioner in 1874-90. In 1871-73 he was a member of the Rhode Island general assembly; and of the state senate in 1890. Since 1891 he has been justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

DOW, JESSE ERSKINE, educator, public official, was born Jan. 21, 1809, in Thompson, Conn. He went to sea with Commodore Elliott in 1835 as professor of mathemathics; and later became clerk in the United States patent office at Washington, D. C. He has been a correspondent of various periodicals; and has written frequently in prose and verse.

DOWD, JEROME, journalist, educator, author, was born March 18, 1864, in Moore county, N. C. Since 1893 he has been professor of political economy and sociology at Trinity College, N. C. In 1893 he was president of the North Carolian Press Association. He is the author of Sketches of Prominent Living North Carolinans; and Life of Braxton Craven.

BOWLING, ALEXANDER, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1839 in Virginia. He is associate justice af the Supreme Court of Indiana for term of 1898-1904.

DOWNEY, JOHN F., mathematician, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 10, 1846, in Hiramsburg, Ohio. Since 1880 he has been professor of mathematics in the University of Minnesota. He is a lecturer on popular and scientific subjects. He is the author of Elements of Differentation and Integratiou and Higher Algebra.

DOWNING, ANDREW, soldier, journalist, poet, was born March 11, 1838, in Mount Carroll, Ill. He served as a soldier in the Union army during the Civil war; and became first lieutenant in the seventeenth Kansas cavalry. He was subsequently special examiner in the United States Pension Bureau. In 1873-83 he was editor of the Boone Republican; and has been postmaster and mayor of Boone, Iowa. He is the author of The Trumpeter and other Poems.

DOYLE, C. W., physician, author, was born Aug. 29, 1852, in India. In 1875-88 he practiced in England; and since then in California. He is the author of The Taming of the Jungle; and The Shadow of Quong Lung.

DOZIER, ORION T., physician, inventor, author, poet, was born Aug. 18, 1848, in Marion county, Ga. In 1892 he was the origiuator and organizer of the Regents of the White Shield; and since 1876 he has held office of Supreme Regent Commander. He is the inventor and patentee of hame for harness, portable elevator, and mailing machine. He is the author of Foibles of Faucy and Rhymes of the Times; and Poems Patriotic.

DRACHMAN, BERNARD, rabbi, author, was born June 27, 1861, in New York City. Since 1889 he has been rabbi of the Congregation Zichron Ephraim of New York City. He is the author of The Place and Importance of Jehuda Hajjug in the History of the Hebrew Grammar.

DRAHMS, AUGUST, clergyman author, was born March 4, 1849, in Prussia. He served as a private in the Civil war in the seventh regiment, Illinois cavalry. He is resident chaplain of the state prison of San Quentin, Cal. In 1900 he was national chaplain in chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. He is the author of The Criminal, His Personnel and Environments.

DRAKE, LOUIS STOUGHTON, importer, genealogist, was born Aug. 5, 1865. He is an importer and exporter of East India and China products at Boston, Mass. He is the author of The Drake Family in England and America.

DRAPER, WILLIAM H., congressman. He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh congress from the state of New York as a republican.

DREISER, THEODORE, journalist, author, was born Aug. 27, 1871, in Terre Haute, Ind. He is the author of Studies of Contemporary Celebrities; and poems.

DRESSER, HORATIO WILLIS, journalist, educator, author, was born Jan. 15, 1866, in Yarmouth, Maine. Since 1899 he has been associate editor of the Arena of Boston, Mass.; and since 1893 has been a lecturer on practical philosophy. He is the author of The Power of Silence; The Perfect Whole; The Heart of It; In Search of a Soul; Voices of Hope; and Methods and Problems of Spiritual Healing.

DREXEL, GEORGE W. CHILDS, philanthropist, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. He is editor and publisher of The Public Ledger of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the son of the late Anthony Joseph Drexel, banker and philanthropist.

DRIGGS, EDMUND HOPE, civil engineer, congressman, was born May 2, 1865, in Brooklyn, N. Y. For many years he has been engaged in the fire insurance business. He has been a member of congress from New York to the fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth congresses as a democrat.

DROMGOOLE, WILLIAM ALLEN, public official, author, was born in 1860 in Murfreesboro, Tenn. He was engrossing clerk of the Tennessee house of representatives and senate in 1883-89. He is the author of Heart of Old Hickory; Valley Path; The Farrier's Dog and His Fellow; Further Adventures of the Fellow; Three Little Crackers From Down in Dixie; Hero-Chums; Rare Old Chums; A Boy's Battle; Cinch, and Other Tales of Tennessee; The Moonshiner's Son; A Notch on a Stick; Harum-Scarum Joe; and Little Brass Buttons.

DROPPERS, GARRETT, educator, college president, author, was born April 12, 1860, in Milwaukee, Wis. Since 1898 he has been president of the University of South Dakota. He is the author of Translation of Schopenhauer's Essays.

DROUET, ROBERT, actor, playwright, author, was born in 1870 in Clinton, Iowa. For the past five years he has been leading man in several stock companies in Philadelphia and Chicago. He is the author of plays entitled The White Czar; Montana; Tomorrow; An Idyll of Virginia; Fra Diano; and Captain Bob.

DRUM, RICHARD COULTER, soldier, was born May 28, 1825, in Pennsylvania. He served in Mexico in 1847; served in the Mexican war; breveted first lieutenant for bravery; transferred to artillery; served in expedition against Sioux, and in Kansas troubles of 1856. During the civil war he attained the rank of assistant adjutant general, United States army; captain May 14, 1861; major August 3; brigadier-general for services during war; and became full colonel in 1869; and in 1880 became adjutant-general of army, with rank of brigadier-general.

DRYSDALE, WILLIAM, journalist, author, was born July 11, 1852, in Lancaster, Pa. For twenty years he was on the staff of the New York Times. He is the author of Proverbs from Plymouth Pulpit; In Sunny Lands; Outdoor Life in Nassau and Cuba; The Princess of Montserat; The Mystery of Abel Forefinger; The Young Reporter; The Fast Mail; The Beach Patrol; The Young Supercargo, and Cadet Standish of the St. Louis.

DU BOIS, CONSTANCE GODDARD, author, was born in Zanesville, Ohio. She is president of the Waterbury branch of the Woman's National Indian Association. She is the author of Martha Corey; A Tale of the Salem Witchcraft; Columbus and Beatriz; and A Modern Pagan.

DUBOIS, EDWARD CHURCH, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 12, 1848, in London, England. In 1894-97 he was attorney general of Rhode Island. Since 1899 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

DUBOIS, PATTERSON, educator, journalist, author, was born Oct. 10, 1847, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1886-1900 he was associate editor of The Sunday School Times of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Beckonings from Little Hands; The Point of Contact in Teaching; and Chat-Wood.

DU BOSE, JOEL CAMPBELL, educator, author, was born Dec. 17, 1855, in Gaston, Ala. He is the author of Sketches of Alabama History.

DU BOSE, JOHN WITHERSPOON, soldier, planter, author, was born March 5, 1836, in Darlington, S. C. He served in the Confederate states army. He is a successful cotton planter of Birmingham, Ala. He is the author of Life and Times of Yancey; Mineral Wealth of Alabama; and other works.

DU BOSE, WILLIAM PORCHER, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1836 in Winnsboro, S. C. He is professor and dean of theological department in University of the South. He is the author of The Soteriology of the New Testament; and The Ecumenical Councils.

DUDLEY, MRS. LUCY BRONSON, author, musician, was born May 1, 1848, in Peninsula, Ohio. As an organist she was received by Queen Victoria and the Prince of Wales in Windsor Castle in 1895; and has spent twenty-four years in the dynagraph and track indicator car, traveling all over the United States. She is the author of Contributions to the Knowledge of the Semites; Letters to Ruta; and A Royal Journey.

DUDLEY, PLIMMON HENRY, civil engineer, inventor, was born May 21, 1841, in Freedom, Ohio. In 1883 he designed the first five-inch steel rail used in the United States. He is the inventor of the dynagraph, track indicator and other railroad devices.

DUFFIELD, SAMUEL PEARCE, physician, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 24, 1833, in Carlisle, Pa. In 1858 he began to practice medicine at Detroit, giving special attention to toxicology and medical jurisprudence. He soon became known as an analytical chemist, and has been frequently called upon to testify in the courts as an expert. He arranged the chemical laboratory for the Detroit Medical college, and delivered the opening address there in 1868. He is the author of Ventilation of Sewers; Contamination of Drinking Water; Analysis of Malt by Polarization; and Aconite Poisoning.

DUGAN, CARO ATHERTON, educator, author, was born in Brewster, Mass. She is the author of The King's Jester; and Other Short Plays for Small Stages.

DUGMORE, ARTHUR RADCLIFFE, artist, author, was born Dec. 25, 1870, in England. He is a successful painter and illustrator by photography of South Orange, N. J. He is the author of Bird Homes.

DUGUE, CHARLES OSCAR, journalist, poet, was born May 1, 1821, in New Orleans, La. In 1852 he became editor of a daily paper in New Orleans; and afterward was a member of the bar. He is the author of Essais Poetiques, consisting of descriptions of southern scenery, and occasional poems; two dramatic works on subjects drawn from the romantic legends of Louisiana; and an Indian plot.

DU HAMEL, WILLIAM, journalist, author, was born in Newark, Del. Since 1888 he has been editor of the Church Bells of New York city. He is author of First Millennial Faith.

DUMAS, WILLIAM THOMAS, educator, poet, was born Oct. 17, 1858, in Barnesville, Ga. He is the author of Golden Day and Other Poems.

DUNCAN, NORMAN, journalist, author, was born July 2, 1871, in Canada. He is now on the editorial staff of the New York Evening Post. He is the author of The Soul of the Street.

DUNLAVY, JAMES, soldier, physician, was born Feb. 4, 1844, in Decatur county, Ind. He enlisted as a private in the Thirtieth Iowa cavalry; in 1863 re-enlisted in the Third Iowa Cavalry, and served in Tennessee, Missouri and Georgia until the close of the civil war. He is now practicing his profession in Iowa.

DUNNE, EDWARD J., clergyman, bishop. For many years he was a priest in Chicago, Ill.; and since 1893 has been Roman Catholic bishop of Dallas, Texas.

DUNNE, FINLEY PETER, journalist, author, was born July 10, 1869, in Chicago, Ill. Since 1897 he has been editor of the Chicago Journal. He is the author of Mr. Dooley in Peace and in War.

DUNNELL, MARK BOOTHBY, educator, lawyer, author, was born June 28, 1864, in Buxton, Maine. In 1889-92 he was deputy consul general at Shanghai, China. He is the author of Minnesota Trial Book; and Minnesota Pleading.

DUNNING, EDWIN JAMES, dentist, author, was born July 19, 1821, in Camillus, N. Y. He practiced dentistry in Ithaca, Syracuse and New York city in 1838-74; lost his sight in 1877 and took up literature. He is the author of Genesis of Shakespeare's Art, a study of His Poems and Sonnets.

DUNNING, WILLIAM ARCHIBALD, educator, author, was born in Plainfield, N. J. He is professor of history in Columbia University of New York city. He is the author of Essays on the Civil War and the Reconstruction.

DUNTON, FRANK HOLT, journalist, author, was born in December, 1827, in Phillipston, Mass. In 1876 he founded Dunton's Spirit of the Turf of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of How to Train Trotters; and Dunton's Turf Register.

DURAND, EDWARD DANA, educator, author, was born Oct. 18, 1871, in Romeo, Mich. Since 1900 he has been secretary of the United States industrial commission. He is the author of Finances of New York City.

DURAND, JOHN, art critic, author, was born May 6, 1822, in New York city. He edited for several years a monthly publication called The Crayon. He translated several of Taine's works, including Ideal in Art; Italy, Rome and Naples; Italy, Florence and Venice; Philosophy of Art; and Art in the Netherlands.

DURAND, MARIE, singer, was born about 1850 in Charleston, S. C. In 1883 she made her first appearance at the royal Italian opera in London; was then engaged for the entire opera season in St. Petersburg; and in 1884 returned to London to sing in Covent Garden.

DURAND, WILLIAM FREDERI[illegible] marine engineer, educator, author, was born March 5, 1859, in Bethany, Conn. Since 1891 he has been professor of marine engineering at Cornell university. He is the author of Resistance and Propulsion of Ships.

DU RELLE, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 18, 1852, in York, N. Y. In 1882-86 and 1889-91 he was United States attorney for Kentucky. Since 1895 he has been judge of the court of appeals of Kentucky.

DURIER, ANTOINE, missionary, bishop, was born Jan. 3, 1833, in France. Since 1885 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Natchitoches, La.

DURYEA, HIRAM, soldier, manufacturer, was born April 12, 1834, in Manhasset, N. Y. In 1855 he became a partner in the firm of H. V. Duryea & Son, starch manufacturers, which later merged with Glen Cove Starch Manufacturing company, of which he was vice president, and later president, until it was absorbed in 1890 by the National Starch company, of which he was president for nearly two years. He served in the civil war from captain to colonel, resigning in 1862 because of permanent injuries. He was breveted brigadier-general, United States volunteers, for distinguished service.

DUTTON, SAMUEL TRAIN, educator, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 16, 1849, in Hillsboro, N. H. He is superintendent of Teachers' college school in Columbia university of New York city. He is the author of Morse Speller; and Social Favors of Education.

DYER, CHARLES GIFFORD, artist, was born in 1846 in Chicago, Ill. He has spent most of his professional life in Munich and in Paris. Among his more important works are On Linden when the Sun was Low; Historical Still Life of the Seventeenth Century; and Among the Domes of St. Mark's.

DYER, MRS. D. B., donor, author, was born in Illinois. She has presented to the board of education of Kansas City a valuable collection of Indian curios. She is the author of Fort Reno, Ill.

DYER, ELISHA, governor. In 1897-1901 he was governor of Rhode Island.

DYER, GEORGE HERBERT, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 15, 1849, in Mendon, N. Y. He was presiding elder of the Methodist Episcopal Church in 1888-94, and was a member of the general conference in 1898. He is the author of Manual for Official Members; and History of the Christian Church.

DYER, NEHEMIAH MAYO, naval officer, was born June 18, 1839, in Provincetown, Mass. He served in the navy during the civil war, and in 1868 was commissioned lieutenant-commander. In 1898 he took part in the battle of Manila bay, and attained the rank of rear-admiral.

DYER, OLIVER, educator, journalist, author, was born April 26, 1824, in Porter, N. Y. In 1848 he was a reporter in the United States senate. He was on the reportorial staff of the New York Tribune, and subsequently on editorial staff New York Sun. He is the author of The Wickedest Man in New York; and Great Senators of the United States Forty Years Ago.

EAGAN, CHARLES PATRICK, soldier, was born Jan. 1, 1841, in Ireland. He entered the army in 1862. Served through grades of major, lieutenant colonel and colonel to brigadier general and commissary general, in which capacity he served during the Spanish-American war.

EAMES, WILBERFORCE, librarian, bibliographer, was born Oct. 12, 1855, in Newark, N. J. In 1885 he became assistant at Lenox library; was assistant librarian in 1892, and librarian since 1893. He edited volumes fifteen to twenty of Sabin's Dictionary of Books Relating to America. He made important contributions to Pillings' Indian Bibliographies.

EARL, ROBERT, lawyer, founder, jurist, was born Sept. 10, 1824, in Herkimer, N. Y. He has held various town and village offices; was county judge of Herkimer county in 1855-59. He was one of the founders, and now president, of the Herkimer county Hospital Society. Together with his wife, he founded Herkimer Free library, and gave it about $30,000 worth of property. In 1869-95 he was judge of the court of appeals of New Jersey.

EARLE, ALICE MORSE, author, was born April 27, 1853, in Worcester, Mass. She is the author of Home Life in Colonial Days; Customs and Fashions of Old New England; The Sabbath in Puritan New England; China Collecting in America; Curious Punishments of Bygone Days; The Life of Winthrop; Child Life in Colonial Days; and Tavern and Stage Coach Days.

EARLE, MORTIMER LAMSON, philologist, author was born Oct. 14, 1864, in New York city. Since 1900 he has been professor of classical philology in Barnard college, of New York city. He is the author of an Edition of Sophocles' Odipus Tyrrannus.

EASTMAN, AUSTIN VITRUVIUS, soldier, lawyer, business man, was born Aug. 27, 1839, in Broome county, N. Y. During the civil war he was first lieutenant in Company H, First regiment New York volunteers. He is a successful lawyer of Lake Charles, La., and business manager of a large English land company.

EASTMAN, CHARLES ALEXANDER physician, author, was born in 1858 in Redwood Falls, Minn. He is government physician at Crow Creek, S. D. He is the author of An Indian Boyhood.

EATON, ARTHUR WENTWOR[illegible] HAMILTON, educator, clergyman, poet was born in Nova Scotia. He was chief master of English literature in the Cutler school, New York city, for eleven years. He is a clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal church in New York city. He is the author of poems, essays and stories.

EATON, JAMES W., lawyer, author, was born May 14, 1856, in Albany, N. Y. In 1892-95 he was district attorney of Albany county; and since 1891 has been lecturer in Albany law school. He is the author of Domestic Relations; Bankruptcy; and Equity.

EATON, SEYMOUR, educator, author, was born May 7, 1859, in Canada. For five years he has been professor in Drexel Institute of Philadelphia. He was editor of The Home Study Library. He is the author of How to Do Business; and The New Arithmetic.

ECKARD, LEIGHTON W., clergyman, author, was born in 1845 in Savannah, Ga. For five years he was a missionary in China; and since 1891 has been pastor of the Brainerd-Union Presbyterian church of Easton, Pa. He is the author of A History of Abington Church.

ECKERT, THOMAS THOMPSON, soldier, telegraph president, was born April 23, 1825, in St. Clairsville, Ohio. During the civil war he was general superintendent of the military telegraph, with rank of major; reached brevet rank of brigadier-general; and in 1864-66 assistant secretary of war. In 1875-81 he was president of the Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph company; in 1880-81 was president of the American Union Telegraph Company; and since 1881 has been general manager and since 1892 president of the Western Union Telegraph company.

ECKSTROM, MRS. FANNY HARDY, author, was born June 18, 1865, in Brewer, Maine. She is the author of The Bird Book; and The Woodpeckers.

EDDINS, EDGAR FREEMAN, educator, legislator, was born June 25, 1857, in Eagle Rock, N. C. He was principal of the Franklin academy for two years, and has been principal of the Yadkin Mineral Springs academy for twelve years. He was elected county superintendent for two years. He served in the North Carolina legislature in 1897-98.

EDMANDS, JOHN, librarian, author, was born Feb. 1, 1820, in Framingham, Mass. Since 1856 he has been chief librarian of the Mercantile library of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1877 he devised a system of library classification and numbering. He has prepared bibliographies of Junius, and a list of historical prose fiction.

EDMONDSON, THOMAS WILLIAM, educator, author, was born June 26, 1869, in England. Since 1896 he has been assistant professor of physics at New York university. He is the author of Worked Examples in Co-ordinate Geometry; and Mensuration and Spherical Geometry.

EDSALL, SAMUEL COOK, clergyman, bishop, was born March 4, 1860, in Dixon, Ill. He was admitted to the priesthood in 1889, and the following year took charge of St. Peter's parish of Chicago, where he met with much success and remained until elected missionary bishop of North Dakota in 1898.

EDWARDS, CHARLES LINCOLN, educator, author, was born Dec. 3, 1863, in Oquawka, Ill. He is professor natural history at Trinity college of Hartford, Conn. In 1899 he was president of the American Folk-Lore society. He is the author of Bahama Songs and Stories.

EDWARDS, LANDON BRAME, soldier physician, founder, was born Sept. 20, 1845, in Prince Edward county, Va. In 1863 he enlisted in the artillery corps of the Confederate army, in which he served until the end of the war. In 1870 he was largely instrumental in founding the Medical Society of Virginia, of which he is recording secretary. In 1874 he established the Virginia Medical Monthly.

EDWARDS, THOMAS C., clergyman, author, was born Dec. 6, 1848, in Wales. He was professor of elocution for ten years in the Wyoming seminary of Kingston, Pa., and is now pastor of the Congregational church of Edwardsdale, Pa. He is the author of one volume of poetry and two volumes on Elocution and Oratory.

EGBERT, JAMES CHIDESTER, educator, author, was born in 1859 in New York city. Since 1900 he has been professor of Roman archaeology and epigraphy at Columbia university. He is the author of MacMillan's Shorter Latin Course; and Introduction to the Study of Latin Inscriptions.

EGBERT, SENECA, educator, author, was born Feb. 17, 1863, in Petroleum Centre, Pa. Since 1893 he has been professor of hygiene and dean since 1898 at the Medico-Chirurgical college of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of A Manual of Hygiene and Sanitation.

EHRICH, LOUIS R., financier, author, was born Jan. 23, 1849, in Albany, N. Y. He makes a specialty of mining investments. He is the author of The Question of Silver.

EICKEMEYER, RUDOLF, banker, inventor, was born Oct. 18, 1831, in Bavaria In 1854 he began the construction of hat-making machinery at Yonkers, N. Y., and these inventions effected a complete revolution in the manufacture of hats. He has also made numerous other inventions. He has been a director of the First National bank of Yonkers since 1878.

EIS, FREDERICK, clergyman, bishop, was born Jan. 20, 1843, in Arbach, near Coblentz. In 1899 he became bishop of Sault Ste. Marie and Marquette, Mich.

ELKIN, WILLIAM LEWIS, astronomer, was born April 29, 1855, in New Orleans, La. In 1884 he became an astronomer at the observatory of Yale university. His investigations at this place have included a triangulation of the Pleiades with the heliometer, and other researches with that instrument, the only one of its kind in America; also researches on the parallaxes of northern stars.

ELLICOTT, JOHN MORRIS, naval officer, author, was born Sept. 4, 1859, in St. Inigoes, Md. In 1894-96 he was instructor in ordnance at United States Naval academy. He took part in the battle of Manila bay May 1, and was present at the surrender of Corregidor, blockade and capture of Manila, in 1898. He received a medal from congress for service at Manila, and received the rank of lieutenant. He is the author of Justified a novel; and For Cuba.

ELLIOTT, BYRON K., lawyer, jurist, author, was born Sept. 4, 1835, in Hamilton, Ohio. During the civil war he served as captain in the One Hundred and Thirty-second Indiana volunteers. In 1865-69 he was city attorney of Indianapolis, Ind. In 1876 he was elected judge of the supreme court; and in 1880-92 was judge of the supreme court of Indiana. He is the author of General Practice, in two volumes; and The Law of Railroads.

ELLIOTT, GEORGE, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 14, 1851, in Licking county, Ohio. Since 1900 he has been pastor of Central Methodist Episcopal church of Detroit, Mich. He is the author of The Abiding Sabbath.

ELLIOTT, ORIN LESLIE, educator, registrar, was born March 8, 1860, in Centerville, N. Y. In 1886-91 he was Instructor in English; and since 1891 has been registrar of Leland Stanford Junior university.

ELLIS, ANNA M B.—Max Elliot—journalist, critic, author, was born in Ohio. He founded the Boston Amusement Gazette and edited it the first year. He is now London correspondent of the Boston Herald. He is the author of Bermuda Romance; A Tragic Marriage; Part of a Summer; New Edinburgh Notes; Actors at Home; Clubs Are Trumps; and Sketches in Bermuda.

ELLIS, ERASTUS R., physician, surgeon, genealogist, was born in 1832. In 1873-75 he was college professor in the Detroit Homeopathic college. He is the author of Genealogy of the Ellis Family.

ELLIS, WILLIAM ARBA, educator, civil engineer, author, was born June 8, 1869, in Granville, Vt. He is a civil engineer of Meriden, Conn. He is the author of History of Norwich University.

ELLISON, MATTHEW, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 10, 1804, in Monroe county, Va. He became a Baptist minister in Virginia; traveled over wide districts in that vocation, and organized twenty-five churches. He is the author of Dunkerism, a Plea for the Union of Baptists; and other controversial works on the subject of baptism.

ELMENDORF, JOACHIM, clergyman, author, was born March 26, 1827, in Rochester, N. Y. Since 1853 he has held pastorates in the Dutch Reformed church in Poughkeepsie, Syracuse, Albany and New York city. He was elected a trustee of Rutgers college in 1869. He is the author of Memoirs of Richard Varick De Witt and Alice Justina De Peyster.

ELSON, HENRY WILLIAM, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born March 29, 1857, in Muskingum county, Ohio. He resigned the ministry and became a writer and lecturer of the University Extension society of Philadelphia. He is the author of Side Lights on American History, in two volumes; Four Historical Biographies for Children; and Elson's History of the United States.

ELWELL, FRANK EDWIN, sculptor, was born June 15, 1858, in Concord, Mass. He was the first American sculptor to model a statue in America that was erected in Europe. He received a medal at the World's Columbian exposition, a gold medal twice from the Art club of Philadelphia, and a medal from the King of Belgium for a study in architecture. Among his better known works are Death of Strength; Awakening of Egypt; monument to Edwin Booth at Mt. Auburn, Cambridge; Dickens and Little Nell, at Fairmount Park, Philadelphia.

EMBREE, CHARLES FLEMING, author, was born Oct. 1, 1874, in Princeton, Ind. He is the author of A Dream of a Throne.

EMERSON, EDWIN, soldier, journalist, author, was born in Dresden, Saxony. During the Spanish-American war he went to the front as war correspondent for Leslie's Weekly. He was engaged in successful exploration of Puerto Rico, and was secret agent United States military information. He joined Roosevelt's Rough Riders in Cuba, served through the regiment's engagement at San Juan, and in the trenches before Santiago. He is the author of College Yell Book; Pepy's Ghost; In War, In Peace; and Tales Drolatick.

EMERSON, HENRY P., educator, author, was born Jan. 12, 1847, in Lynnfield, Mass. Since 1893 he has been superintendent of education of Buffalo, N. Y. He is the author of Latin in High Schools; and A Summer in Europe.

EMERSON, LOUIS W., manufacturer, banker, congressman, was born July 25, 1857, at Warrensburg, N. Y. Since 1878 he has been engaged in the banking and manufacturing business. He was state senator for two terms, commencing in 1891. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

EMERSON, OLIVER FARRAR, educator, author, was born May 24, 1860, in Traer, Iowa. Since 1896 he has been professor of rhetoric and English philology at Western Reserve university. He is the author of A Brief History of the English Language.

EMERY, HENRY CROSBY, educator, author, was born Dec. 21, 1872, in Ellsworth, Maine. He is professor of political economy in Yale university. He is the author of Speculation on the Stock and Produce Exchanges of the United States.

EMERY, LUCILIUS A., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born July 27, 1840, in Carmel, Maine. In 1874, 1875 and 1881 he was a member of the Maine state senate. In 1876-79 he was attorney general of Maine. Since 1883 he has been justice of the supreme judicial court of Maine.

EMMET, ROBERT TEMPLE, soldier, wasborn Dec. 13, 1854, in New York city. He served with distinction as commander of Indian scouts through the four years' campaign against the Apaches.

EMMETT, DANIEL DECATUR, soldier, musician, composer, was born in 1815 in Mt. Vernon, Ohio. He was a negro minstrel and song writer. In his youth he joined the regular army; in 1835 became a member of Oscar Brown's Circus company; and in 1842, with Frank Brown, William Whitlock and Richard Phelam, formed what was the first negro minstrel company. In 1859 he wrote the famous song of Dixie. In 1865 he became independent manager and in 1878 he returned to Mt. Vernon, Ohio. He is the author of hundreds of songs, including Old Dan Tucker, Boatman's Dance, The Road to Richmond, and many old-time favorites.

EMMONS, HALMER HULL, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1815 in Glens Falls, N. Y. In 1870 he was appointed circuit judge for the state of Michigan, but he exercised a much wider jurisdiction.

ENDLICH, GUSTAV ADOLF, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Jan. 29, 1856, in Berks county, Pa. Since 1890 he has been judge of the twenty-third judicial district of Pennsylvania. He is the author of The Law of Building Associations; The Law of Affidavits of Defense in Pennsylvania; Woodward's Decisions; Commentaries on the Interpretation of Statutes; and Rights and Liabilities of Married Women in Pennsylvania.

ENGLISH, JOHN NELSON, pioneer, legislator. He took a prominent part in the formation and early settlement of the southern part of Illinois; and served in the legislature of Illinois for four terms.

ENGLISH, JOHN W., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of West Virginia.

ENGLISH, WILLIAM FRY, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 6, 1863, in Tuftonboro, N. H. He is pastor of the First Congregational Church of East Windsor, Conn. He is the author of Evolution and the Imminent God.

ENTWISTLE, JAMES, naval officer, was born in 1837 in Paterson, N. J. He entered the United States navy in engineer service in 1861, and was commissioned lieutenant in 1866. In 1899 he became rear admiral, and was retired. He took part in the battle of Manila May 1, 1898; was highly commended by Admiral Dewey, and awarded Dewey medal.

ERBEN, HENRY, naval officer, was born in 1832 in New York city. In 1857 he was promoted lieutenant, and served through the civil war. He was promoted to rear admiral in 1894.

ERICH, AUGUSTUS FREDERICK, physician, was born May 4, 1837, in Germany. In 1868 he was elected a member of the Baltimore special dispensary, and became professor of chemistry in the college of physicians and surgeons of Baltimore in 1873.

ERNST, HAROLD CLARENCE, scientist, author. He is professor of bacteriology in Harvard Medical school, of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Infection and Immunity.

ESCH, JOHN JACOB, lawyer, congressman, was born March 20, 1861, near Norwalk, Wis. Since 1887 he has practiced law in La Crosse, Wis. He organized the Sparta rifles, afterwards known as Company I, Third regiment, Wisconsin National guard, and was commissioned captain, retaining the office until 1887. Upon his removal to La Crosse he helped to organize Company M of the same regiment, being first lieutenant, and afterwards captain; in January, 1894, was commissioned acting judge advocate general, with the rank of colonel. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

ESHLEMAN, ISAAC STAUFFER, physician, was born May 22, 1820, in Lancaster county, Pa. He claims to be among the first to use stimulants in pneumonia, and also to have proved that blisters are not revellents, but stimulants. He found that cerebro-spinal meningitis yielded to free depletion if made use of early in the stage, and followed by chloroform taken internally. This experience prepared him for the use of chloral, which he has successfully prescribed in every form of convulsion. He is the author of papers showing originality of practice in placenta previa.

ESHNER, AUGUSTUS A., physician, author, was born Nov. 17, 1862, in Memphis, Tenn. He is a noted physician and scientist of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Essentials of Diagnosis; and Hand-Book of Fevers.

ESTABROOK, ARTHUR FREDERICK, banker, philanthropist, was born May 17, 1847. He is a successful banker of Boston, Mass.; and built the Estabrook school near Boston, Mass.

ESTABROOK, WILLIAM BOOTH, lawyer, jurist, genealogist, was born Jan. 27, 1856. He has been special county judge of Tompkins county, N. Y. He is the author of Estabrook Genealogy.

ESTEE, MORRIS M., lawyer, author. He is one of the leading lawyers of the Pacific coast; active in politics, and was republican candidate for United States senator in 1899. He is the author of Estee's Pleading and Forms.

ESTES, CHARLES, genealogist. He is the author of Genealogy of the Estes Family.

ESTES, DANA, soldier, publisher, author, was born March 4, 1840, in Gorham, Maine. He served in the Union army from 1861 until the second battle of Bull Run, where he was three times wounded, and disabled from further service. In 1872 he became partner in Estes & Lauriat, succeeded in 1898 by Dana Estes & Co., of which he is head. He edited Half-Hour Recreations in Popular Science.

ESTES, WILLIAM ROSCOE GREENE, soldier, merchant, journalist, author, was born Nov. 22, 1830, in Durham, Maine. He was lieutenant-colonel on the staff of Governor Garcelon. In 1888-93 he was postmaster of Skowhegan; and in 1884 was grand master of Masons in Maine. He is the author of History of Durham, Maine; and Genealogy of the Estes Family.

EVANS, CLEMENT ANSELM, soldier, lawyer, state senator, author, was born in Georgia. He was judge of the county court; and in 1859 a member of the Georgia state senate. He served in Confederate army as major, colonel, brigadier-general and acting major-general in the army of northern Virginia. He is the author of Military History of Georgia.

EVANS, LAWRENCE BOYD, educator, author, was born Feb. 3, 1870, in Radnor, Ohio. Since 1900 he has been professor of history in Tufts college, Mass. He is the author o Civil Government in the United States.

EVE, JOSEPH ADAMS, physician, founder, was born Aug. 1, 1805, in Charleston county. He was one of the founders in 1832 of the Medical college of Georgia.

EVERHART, OLIVER T., physician, genealogist, was born May 18, 1832. He is a noted physician of Hanover, Pa.; and has been assistant surgeon in the United States army. He is the author of History of Everhart and Shower Families.

EVERMANN, BARTON WARREN, naturalist, author, was born Oct. 24, 1853,in Monroe county, Iowa. For ten years he was teacher and superintendent of schools in Indiana; professor of biology in Indiana State Normal school in 1886-91 !and since 1891 ichthyologist, United States fish commission. He is the author of Studies of the Salmon of the Pacific Coast of America; The Fishes of North and Middle America, in four volumes; and The Natural History of Puerto Rico.

EWERS, EZRA P., soldier, was born in New York city. In 1862-66 he served in the Nineteenth infantry from private to captain. He was appointed brigadier general, United States volunteers, in 1898, and assigned to command of troops in San Luis, Cuba.

EWING, MRS. EMMA PIKE, educator, lecturer, author, was born in July, 1838, in Broome county, N. Y. She has taught and lectured throughout the United States and Canada. She is the author of The Art of Cookery.

EYERMAN, JOHN, geologist, author, was born Jan. 15, 1867, in Easton, Pa. He is associate editor of The American Geologist. He is the author of The Mineralogy of Pennsylvania; The Genus Temnocyon; Mineralogy at the Columbian Exposition; A Study in Genealogy; and Mineralogy of the French Creek Mines.

EYRE, WILSON, architect, was born Oct. 30, 1858, in Florence, Italy. He has built many buildings in Philadelphia and New York city; several buildings for Newcomb Memorial college, of New Orleans, and the Detroit club.

FABER, J. EBERHARD, manufacturer, was born March 14, 1859, in New York city. He entered the office of his father, the well-known lead pencil manufacturer, and in 1879 took charge of the business in America. His factory in Brooklyn is conducted under the name of the E. Faber Pencil company.

FABER, WILLIAM FREDERIC, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 27, 1860, in Buffalo, N. Y. He is rector of Grace Episcopal church of Lockport, N. Y. He is the author of Thoughts for Thoughts; and The Church for the Times.

FAELTEN, CARL, musician, composer, was born Dec. 21, 1864, in Ilmenau, Thuringia. In 1885-97 he was with the N. E. Cons, of Boston, Mass. He founded the Faelton Pianoforte-School at Boston. He is the author of The Conservatory Course for Pianists.

FAIRBANKS, HAROLD WELLMAN, geologist, was born in Western, N. Y. He is a well known geologist of Berkeley,

FAIRCHILD, EDWIN MILTON, lecturer, founder, author, was born Nov. 7, 1865, in Lansing, Mich. He proposed visual instruction in ethics as a method for use in Sunday and public schools, which was first tried in 1898. He is the author of The Function of the Church; Commandments Father Wisdom Taught the Child He Loved; The Educational Church Marriage Service; and Ethical Instruction in School and Church.

FAIRCHILD, GEORGE THOMPSON, educator, author, was born Oct. 6, 1838, in Brownhelm, Ohio. Since 1898 he has ben vice-president and professor of English literature in Berea College, Ky. He is the author of Rural Wealth and Welfare.

FAIRCHILD, MRS. SALOME CUTLER, librarian, author, was born June 21, 1855, in Dalton, Mass. She has held important positions in the American Library Association since 1889; and editor of its catalogue. She is the author of Home Libraries; and Scientific Study of Philanthropy.

FALCONER, JOHN M., artist, author, was born May 22, 1820, in Scotland. He proposed the first exhibition of engravings in the United States; and organized the first chronological exhibition of American art in the United States. In water colors he produced the William Penn Mansion; and a series of Historic Houses in enamel on porcelain, now in the possession of the Long Island historical society. He is the author of Sketch of the History of Water-Color Painting.

FARLEY, JOHN MURPHY, clergyman, bishop, was born April 20, 1842, in Ireland. In 1895 he was appointed auxiliary bishop of New York. He assists Archbishop Corrigan in episcopal labors and acts as his vicar-general.

FARMER, FANNIE M., educator, lecturer, author, was born March 23, 1857, in Boston, Mass. She is Instructor in the Boston Cooking School; and Principal of the Boston Cooking School. She is the author of The Boston Cooking School Book; and Chafing Dish Possibilities.

FARMER, JAMES EUGENE, educator, author, was born July 5, 1867, in Cleveland, Ohio. He is teacher of English literature at St. Paul's School, of Concord, N. H. He is the author of Essays on French History; and The Grenadier.

FARMER, WILLIAM WALLACE, manufacturer, was born Jan. 12, 1851, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1892 the present firm of A. D. Farmer & Company was established, manufacturers of all classes of type. He is president of the Empire Typesetting Machine Company of New York city.

FARNHAM, CHARLES HAIGHT, musician, author, was born May 25, 1841, near, Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He is the author of Life of Francis Parkman.

FARNHAM, HENRY PHILIP, lawyer, author, was born April 5, 1863, in Palmyra, N. Y. He is a well known lawyer of Rochester, N. Y. He is Associate Editor of Lawyers' Reports, Annotated.

FARNSWORTH, MOSES FRANKLIN. soldier, genealogist, was born Feb. 5, 1834, in Edinburg, Ind. In 1857 he was first lieutenant of the Nauvoo Legion; recorder St. George Temple in 1877; and at Manti in 1888. He is the author of the Farnsworth Memorial; and History of Manti, Utah.

FARQUHAR, EDWARD, librarian, author, was born Sept. 2, 1843, in Sandy Springs, Md. Since 1865 he has been assistant librarian in the United States patent office. He is the author of Elements of Unity in Homeric Poems.

FARQUHAR, NORMAN VON HELDREICH, naval officer, was born April 11, 1840, in Pottsville, Pa. In 1862-63 he was executive officer of the steamer Mahaska, of the North Atlantic squadron. He was commandant of cadets at the United States naval academy in 1881-86; and in 1899 became commandant of the Norfolk Navy Yard.

FARR, GEORGE H., soldier, lawyer, state senator, was born July 27, 1843, in Niagara county, N. Y. In 1861 he enlisted in the Adrian Cadets, and was in the first battle of Bull Run. He then enlisted in the United States artillery, and served through the war. He was a member of the Michigan state senate in 1878-82. He was appointed Collector of Customs for the District of Michigan in 1897.

FARRINGTON, OLIVER CUMMINGS, geologist, author, was born Oct. 9, 1864, in Brewer, Maine. Since 1894 he has been curator of geology at Field Columbian Museum, of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Meteorites; and The Vocanoes of Mexico.

FARRINGTON, WILLIAM GEORGE, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 15, 1832, in New York city. In 1863 he organized Christ church of Hackensack, N. J., of which he was rector till 1870. He was the author of The Historical Church; and has edited the Church Almanac since 1867.

FASSETT, JAMES HIRAM, educator, author, was born Jan. 11, 1869, in Nashua, N. H. He is superintendent of schools at Nashua, N. H. He is the author of Colonial Life in New Hampshire.

FAVILLE, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born July 7, 1847, in Milford, Wis. He is president of the Wisconsin Anti-Saloon League. He is the author of The Problem of Authority in Religion.

FEELY, JOHN JOSEPH, lawyer, clergyman, was born Aug. 1, 1875, in Will county, Ill. He is a lawyer of Chicago, Ill. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Illinois as a democrat.

FELL, DAVID NEWLIN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 4, 1840, in Buckingham, Pa. He served in 122d Pennsylvania volunteers during the civil war. In 1876-94 he was judge of the court of common pleas at Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1894 he has been justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

FELL, SARAH MOORE, educator, genealogist, was born May 30, 1824. Her life work has been teaching in the public schools of Delaware. She is the author of the Fell Family.

FENLEY, D. E., congressman. He was elected to the fifty-sixth dongress from South Carolina as a demorrat.

FENN, WILLIAM WALLACE, clergyman, theologian, author, was born Feb. 12, 1862, in Boston, Mass. In 1901 he became professor of systematic theology in Harvard Divinity school. He is the author of The Flowering of the Hebrew Religion.

FENOLLOSA, MRS. MARY McNIEL, author, poet, was born in Alabama. In 1897-1900 she resided in Japan. She is the author of A Flight of Verses; and Children's Verses on Japanese Subjects.

FERGUSON, FREDERICK S., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born May 2, 1841, in Huntsville, Ala. He served as lieutenant and captain of artillery in the Confederate army until captured at Ft. Morgan in 1864. In 1866 and 1892 he was a member of the Alabama legislature.

FERGUSON, HENRY, educator, clergyman, author, was born in Stamford, Conn. Since 1883 he has been professor of history and political economy at Trinity College of Hartford, Conn. He is the author of Four Periods in the Life of the Church; and Essays on American History.

FERGUSSON, ARTHUR WALSH, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 4, 1859, in Benicia, Cal. Since 1897 he has been chief translator of the Bureau of American Republics at Washington, D. C. He is the author of Handbook of Mexico.

FERNOW, BERTHOLD, soldier, journalist, author, was born Nov. 28, 1837, in Prussian Poland. In 1862 he was a private in 4th Missouri cavalry, and a lieutenant in 3d United States infantry, colored troops in 1863; and topographical engineer, coast division, Department of the South in 1864. He is the author of Albany, and its place in the History of the United States; and Ohio Valley in Colonial Days.

FERRIS, MRS MARY LANMAN DOUM, founder, author, was born May 22, 1855, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. She was the founder and secretary of the Daughters of the Cincinnati; and was instrumental in establishing the museum maintained by the Colonial Dames of New York. She is the author of Dutch Nursery Rhymes; History of Fort Crails; The Van Cortlandt Mansion; Colonial Dames; and Legend of New Year's Eve.

FERRIS MORRIS PATTERSON, lawyer, historian, was born Oct. 3, 1855, in New York City. He is a successful lawyer of New York city. He is president of Yonkers Historical Library Association; and treasurer of the Society of American Authors.

FESSENDEN, JOSHUA ABBE, soldier, was born in Rockland, Maine. He was appointed second lieutenant in the 1st United States cavalry in 1862; first lieutenant in 1865; and captain in 1882. He was wounded at Chickamauga.

FESSENDEN, MRS. LAURA DAYTON, journalist, author, was born in New York City. She represented Harper's Bazar at World's Columbian Exposition; and is president of the Chicago Newspaper Women's Club. She is the author of Essie; Beth; A Puritan Lover; A Colonial Dame; and Bonnie Mackirby.

FEZANDIE, CLEMENT, educator, author, was born Sept. 15, 1865, in New York city. He was instructor of mathematics and natural sciences in New York schools. He is the author of Through the Earth.

FIELD, ALLEN W., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 28, 1853, in La Salle, Ill. In 1886 he was city attorney of Lincoln, Neb.; and in 1887-91 was district judge. In 1899 he was a candidate for the United States senate.

FIELD, B. RUSH, soldier, physician, author, was born Nov. 3, 1861, in Easton, Pa. In 1890 he founded the Easton Medical Society; was physician to the Northampton county prison in 1886-87; and is frequently called as an expert in medico-legal cases. In 1893-95 and 1899-1902 he was mayor of Easton, Pa. He is major of the third battalion National Guards. He is the author of Medical Thoughts of Shakespeare; Fieldiug's Unconscious Use of Shakespeare; and other works.

FIELD, EDWARD, public official, author, was born Oct. 4, 1858, in Providence, R. I. Since 1891 he has been record commissioner of the City of Providence, R. I. He is the author of Tax Lists of the Town of Providence During the Administration of Sir Edmund Andros, and His Council, 1686-89; Revolutionary Defenses in Rhode Islaud, with maps, plans and illustratious; The Colonial Taverns; Esek Hopkins, Commander-in-Chief of the Continental Navy During the American Revolution; and Diary of Col. Israel Angel.

FIFER, JOSEPH W., soldier, lawyer, governor, was born Oct. 28,1840, in Stauntou, Va. In 1861-64 he served in the army in Co. C, 33d Ill. infantry volunteers; and was wounded in the battle at Jackson, Miss. In 1889-93 he was governor of Illiuois.

FINE, HENRY BURCHARD, educator, author, was born Sept. 14, 1858, in Chambersburg, Pa. He is professor of mathematics at Princeton. He is the author of The Number System of Algebra.

FINK, LOUIS MARTIA, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1834, in Bavaria. He established a convent and built a church in Covington, Ky., and then became pastor of St. Joseph's, of Chicago. In 1871 he became bishop of Kansas.

FINLAYSON, WILLIAM DANIEL, merchant, legislator, was born Nov. 23, 1855, in Gadsen county, Fla. He is a well known merchant of Cedar Keys, Fla. He was elected to the Florida state legislature; and has been mayor of his city.

FINDLEY, DAVID EDWARD, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb 28, 1861, in Trenton, Ark. He was a member of the house of representatives of South Carolina in 1890-91; and of the State senate in 1892-96. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

FINLEY, JOHN HUSTON, journalist, educator, college president, was born Oct. 19, 1863, in Grand Ridge, Ill. In 1892-99 he was president of Knox college. In 1899 he was editor of Harper's Weekly, and in 1899-1900 was with the McClure publishing Company. He now fills the chair of politics in the Princeton University.

FINN, FRANCIS JAMES, priest, educator, author, was born Oct. 4, 1859, in St. Louis, Mo. Since 1893 his time has been spent at Marquette college of Milwaukee; St. Mary's college of Kansas; and St. Xavier's college of Cincinnati. He is the author of ten books for the young.

FISH, PIERRE AUGUSTINE, educator, author, was born Feb. 17, 1865, in Chatham, N. Y. He is assistant professor of physiology and pharmacology at Cornell university. He is the author of Comparative Physiology.

FISH, WILLIAM HANSELL, lawyer, jurist, was born May 12, 1849, in Macon Ga. In 1891-96 he was circuit judge. Since 1896 he has been justice of the supreme court of Georgia.

FISHBACK, GEORGE WELTON, soldier, government official, was born Nov. 18, 1860, in Smithland, Ky. Since 1898 he has been major and paymaster in the United States volunteers. He served in the Spanish-American war at Santiago.

FISHER, ALBERT KENRICH, biologist, author, was born March 21, 1856, in Sing Sing, N. Y. He is a biologist in the United States Department of Agriculture. He is the author of The Hawks and Owls of the United States in Their Relation to Agriculture; and Ornithology of the Death Valley Expedition of 1891.

FISHER, CHARLES E., physician, surgeon, author, was born March 7, 1853, in North Benton, Ohio. In 1893-96 he was professor of obstetrics and surgery at Herring Medical college of Chicago; and in 1898-1900 was professor of obstetrics at Hahnemann Medical college of Chicago. He is the author of Fisher's Disease of Children, and Homeopathic Text Book of Surgery.

FISHER, IRVING, educator, author, was born Feb. 27, 1867, in Saugerties, N. Y. He is the editor of the Yale Review. He is the author of Mathematical Investigation in the Theory of Value and Prices; Application and Interest; and Introduction to Calculus.

FISHER, MARY, educator, author, was born April 12, 1858, in Marshall county, Ill. She is the author of Twenty-five Letters on English Authors; A Group of French Critics; and A Biographical and Critical Review of American Literature.

FISHER, WILLIAM ARMS, journalist, musician, composer, was born April 27, 1861, in San Francisco, Cal. Since 1897 he has been editor for Oliver Ditson Company, of Boston, Mass. He is the author of a volume of Children's Songs; numerous anthems; and an elegie for violin and piano.

FISKE, AMOS KIDDER, lawyer, author, was born May 12, 1842, in Whitefield, N. H. For twenty years he was on the staff of the New York Times He is the author of Midnight Talks at the Club: Beyond the Bourn; The Jewish Scriptures; The Myths of Israel; The Story of the Philippines; and The West Indies.

FISKE, DANIEL WILLARD, journalist, educator, lecturer, was born Nov. 11, 1831, in Ellisburg, N. Y. In 1868-81 he was professor of European languages and chief librarian of Cornell university. He has written extensively in many languages

FISKE, GEORGE McCLELLAND, clergyman author, was born Oct. 21, 1850, in East Windsor, Conn. In 1870-73 he was head master of Burlington college; and in 1874-76 missionary of St. Mark's of Hammonton, N. J., and of Christ church, Waterford, N. J. He has been rector of St. Stephen's, Providence, R. I., since 1884. He is the author of A Memorial Sermon on General Grant; and An Uncorrupt Life.

FISKE, STEPHEN, journalist, author; was born Nov. 22, 1840, in New Brunswick, N. J. He is editor of Rutger's college. He is the author of English Photographs; Holiday Tales; and Off-Hand Portraits of Prominent New Yorkers.

FISKE, WILLIAM MEAD LINDSLEY, physician, was born May 10, 1841, in New York city. He has invented and made numerous improvements in surgical instruments the most important of which is known as the episiotomotome.

FITZGERALD, ADOLPHUS LEIGH, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 27, 1840, in Rockingham county, N. C. He practiced law in Nevada until 1886; and was district judge in 1886-1901. Since 1901 he has been justice of the supreme court of Nevada.

FITZGERALD, EDWARD, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1833, in Ireland. Since 1867 he has been bishop of Little Rock, Ark. In 1857 he was pastor at Columbus, Ohio.

FITZGERALD, JAMES N., clergyman, bishop, was born July 27, 1837, in Newark, N. J. In 1880-88 he was recording secretary of the missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal Church; and since 1888 has been bishop.

FITZGERALD, JOHN JOSEPH, lawyer, congressman, was born, March 10, 1872, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

FITZHUGH, EDWARD C., lawyer, jurist, was born in Virginia. He was an early emigrant to Washington territory, and was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for that territory.

FITZMAURICE, JOHN F., clergyman, bishop. Since 1897 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Erie, Pa.

FITZPATRICK, F. W. He is well known as an art critic; and has written extensively on architecture.

FLAGLER, ISAAC VAN VLECK, publisher, musician, composer, was born May 15, 1844, in Albany, N. Y. He has been church organist in Chicago, Albany and Auburn, N. Y. He is now a publisher of musical books. He is the author of the Organists' Treasury; and Flagler's New Collection of Organ Music.

FLANDRAU, CHARLES EUGENE lawyer, jurist, was born July 15, 1828, in New York city. He was a member of the territorial council of Minnesota in 1856; United States Indian agent for the Sioux tribe in 1856-57; and a member of the Constitutional convention of Minnesota in 1857. He was judge of the supreme court of the territory and state of Minnesota in 1857-64. In 1867 he was elected president of the first board of trade of Minneapolis.

FLATHER, JOHN JOSEPH, educator, author, was born June 9, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1898 he has been professor of mechanical engineering in the University of Minnesota. He is the author of Dynamometers and the Measurement of Power; Rope Driving; and Steam Boilers.

FLEMING, WILLIAM HANSELL, lecturer, author, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 23, 1844. For several years he has been secretary of the Shakespeare Society of New York city. He is the author of A Bibliography of First Folios in New York and How to Study Shakespeare.

FLETCHER, HORACE, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 10, 1849, in Lawrence, Mass. He has traveled in all parts of the world for thirty-five years and engaged in numerous occupations. Since 1895 he has devoted his attention to sociology. He is the author of Menti-culture; Happiness: That Last Waif; Nature's Food Filter; The Mind Power-Plant; and Industrial Symphony.

FLETCHER, ROBERT HOWE, soldier, author, clergyman, was born July 21, 1850, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He served on the Indian frontier and in California until 1886, when he was retired for disabilities contracted in line of duty. He was first lieutenant and brevet captain for services in Nez Perces Indian war. Since 1899 he has been curator of Mark Hopkins institution of Art at San Francisco. He is the autnor of A Blind Bargain; The Johnstown Stage; Marjorie and Her Papa; and numerous short stories and essays.

FLETCHER, WILLIAM ISAAC, librarian, author, was born April 28, 1844, in Burlington, Vt. He is member, councilor and ex-president of American Library Association. He is the author of Public Libraries in America.

FLICK, ALEXANDER, CLARENCE, educator, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 18, 1869, in Galion, Ohio. Since 1899 he has been professor of history in Syracuse university. He is the author of Loyalism in New York; and History of New York.

FLING, FRED MORROW, educator, author, was born in 1860 in Portland, Maine. For twelve years he was engaged in preparing a Life of Mirabeau. In 1897 he founded the association of Nebraska Teachers of History. He is the author of Outline of Historical Method; and Studies in Greek Civilization.

FLINT GROVER, journalist, author. He has been a war correspondent. He is the author of Marching With Gomez.

FLINT, JAMES MILTON, navy surgeon, was born Feb. 7, 1838, in Hillsboro, N. H. During the civil war he was assistant-surgeon in the United States navy; became surgeon in 1874; medical inspector in 1893; and was medical director in 1897-1900 when he was retired with the rank of rear-admiral.

FLINT, WESTON, lawyer, author, was born July 4, 1835, in Pike, N. Y. Since 1898 he has been librarian and secretary of the board of trustees of the Public Library at Washington, D. C. He is the author of Catalogue of the Library of the United States Patent Office; Catalogue of Additions to the Library of the United States Patent Office; and Statistics of Libraries in the United States and Canada.

FLOODY, ROBERT JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 1, 1859, in Canada. He is now pastor of Shawmut Congregational church of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Scientific Basis of Sabbath and Sunday.

FLOYD-JONES, DE LANCEY, soldier, author, was born Jan. 20, 1826, in Queens county, N. Y. In 1846 he was commissioned second lieutenant of the seventh infantry. He served through the Mexican war and was breveted first lieutenant for gallant and meritorious conduct in the battle of Molino del Rey. He served during the Civil war as major of the eleventh United States infantry, and rose to the rank of Colonel in 1863. He is the author of Letters from the Far East.

FLUEGEL, MAURICE, author. He is the author of Thoughts on Religious Rights and Views; Spirit of Biblical Legislation; The Messiah-Ideal; Israel the Biblical People; and other works.

FOEDERER, R. H., congressman. He served in the fifty-seventh congress from Pennsylvania as a republican.

FOLGER, WILLIAM MAYHEW, naval officer, was born May 19, 1844, in Ohio. He served during the Civil war as a midshipman, and was promoted to the grade of master in 1866. Two years later he became a lieutenant, and passing through the intermediate grades he was promoted to the rank of captain in 1898; and commanded the protected cruiser New Orleans in the war with Spain.

FOLK, EDGAR ESTES, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 6, 1856, in Haywood county, Tenn. He has held pastorates in Murfreesboro, Tenn., Millersburg, Ky., and Albany, Ga. He is the author of Plan of Salvation; and various pamphlets and lectures.

FOLKMAR, DANIEL, sociologist, anthropologist, author, was born Oct. 28, 1861, in Roxbury, Wis. Since 1898 he has been professor of anthropology at Brussels, Belgium. He is the author of Introduction to Philosophical Anthropology.

FOLSOM, CHARLES WILLIAM, soldier, civil engineer, was born April 17, 1826, in Cambridge, Mass. He served in the national army during the civil war; was receiver of rail roads in Virginia and Tennessee for the United States government in 1869; and in 1870-73 was superintendent of Mount Auburn cemetery, near Boston. He has been employed in the sewer department of Boston since 1876.

FOLSOM, NORTON, physician, author, was born April 15, 1842, in Boston, Mass. He was surgeon of the forty-fifth colored troops in 1864-65, and acting medical director of the 25th army corps, receiving the brevet of lieutenant-colonel. He was resident physician at the Massachusetts general hospital in Boston in 1869-76; and since then has practiced his profession in that city. He is the author of Essays on the Senses of Smell and Taste; and Plans and Suggestions for Johns Hopkins Hospital of Baltimore.

FONTAINE LAMAR, soldier, civil engineer, poet, was born Oct. 10, 1829, in Washington county, Tex. In the civil war he held the commission of major of cavalry in the Confederate army. He is the author of Oenore; and Only a Soldier.

FOOTE, JOHN BARTLETT, clergyman, genealogist, was born July 1, 1826. He has held over fifty national camp meetings in twenty different states; and is now chaplain of penitentiary in Syracuse, N. Y. He was secretary of the New York state convention that started Syracuse university. He is the author of Genealogy of the John Foote Family; and a number of published sermons.

FORD, HENRY JONES, journalist, author, was born Aug. 25, 1851, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1890 he has been managing editor of the Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph. He is author of the Rise and Growth of American Politics.

FORD, ISAAC NELSON, journalist, author, was born June 11, 1848, in Buffalo, N. Y. Since 1870 he has been engaged in newspaper and literary work. He is the author of Tropical America.

FORD, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, author, was born July 28, 1862, in Knowlesville N. Y. He is the author of Pocket Cyclopaedia of Protection.

FORD, JOHN DONALDSON, soldier, civil engineer, was born in Maryland. In 1862 he entered the United States navy as third assistant engineer, and in 1890 became chief engineer. He served with distinction through the civil war and later through the Spanish war. He is the author of Several Pamphlets on Manual Training in Public Schools; and An American Cruise in the East.

FORD, MARY HANFORD, lecturer, author, was born in 1856 in Meadville, Pa. She is author of Otto's Inspiration; and The Message of the Mystic.

FORDNEY, JOSEPH W., business man, congressman, was born Nov. 5, 1853, in Blackford county, Ind. He has been extensively engaged in the lumber business for many years; and owns an ice plant at Hartford, Ind. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

FORMENTO, FELIX, physician, author, was born March 16, 1837, in New Orleans, La. He was surgeon in the Franco-Sardinian army in 1859; and chief surgeon Louisiana Confederate Hospital, Richmond, Va., during the civil war. He is now president of the Conference of State and Provincial Boards of Health of North America. He is the author of Notes and Observations of Army Surgery; Cremation; and School Hygiene.

FOREST, J. A., clergyman, bishop. In 1895 he was consecrated bishop of San Antonio, Tex.

FORRESTER, HENRY, clergyman, author, was born July 6, 1841, in England. He served during the civil war in the Confederate army. In 1878 he was ordained priest, and served in parishes at Summit and Osyka, Miss. He is the author of Christian Utility and the Historic Episcopate; Christian Unity and the Holy Eucharist; and The Mission Manual.

FORSYTH, GEORGE ALEXANDER, soldier, author, was born Nov. 7, 1837, in Muncy, Pa. During the civil war he attained the rank of brevet brigadier-general. In 1866-90 he was on the staff and frontier service. He is the author of Thrilling Days in Army Life; and the Story of the Soldier.

FORT, JOHN FRANKLIN, lawyer, jurist, was born March 20, 1852, in Pemberton, N. J. In 1878-86 he was judge of the district court of Newark, N. J. In 1896-1900 he was presiding judge Common Pleas of Essex county, N. J. Since 1900 he has been justice of the supreme court of New Jersey.

FOSTER, ADDISON G., business man, United States senator, was born in 1837 in Belchertown, Mass. In 1859-75, he was engaged in grain and real estate business; and later was county auditor and surveyor of Wabasha, Minn. He was elected a member of the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

FOSTER, DAVID JOHNSON, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 27, 1857, in Barnet, Vt. In 1886-90 he was state's attorney of Chittenden, county, Vt. In 1892-94 he was state senator; and is now serving as congressman for Vermont for the term of 1901-03.

FOSTER, MRS. ELLEN HORTON, lawyer, temperance advocate, was born Nov. 3, 1840, in Lowell, Mass. Since 1875 she has been a successful leader in the temperance cause, and has lectured in almost every state and territory of the Union. She has also been counsel for the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of the United States.

FOSTER, GEORGE P., lawyer congressman. He has been justice of the peace at Chicago, Ill., and is now a member of the fifty-sixth congress from Illinois.

FOSTER, ROGER, lawyer, author, was born in 1857 in Worcester, Mass. In 1896-98 he was special counsel for the board of health of New York city. He is the author of A Treatise on Federal Practice; and Commentaries on the Constitution.

FOWLER, DAVID, lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the court of appeals of Maryland.

FOWLER, FRANK, artist, author, was born July 12, 1852, in Brooklyn N. Y. He painted the portraits of Governors Samuel J. Tilden and Roswell P. Fowler, now in executive chamber at Albany, N. Y. He is the author of Portrait and Figure Paintings.

FOWLER, JESSIE A., phrenologist, editor, author, lecturer, was born July 11, 1856, in New York city. She has lectured throughout the Australian Colonies and the British Isles in connection with her father, Prof. L. N. Fowler. She is president of the Fowler Institute in London, which has for its object the study of anthropology in all its branches.

FOX, ALANSON J., lumberman, railroad president. He is president of the Chicago Lumbering Company; and president of the Manistique and Northwestern Railway.

FOX, CHARLES JAMES, soldier, merchant, lumberman, was born in 1842. In 1861 he graduated from Union college; and served in the civil war as lieutenant, captain, and major of the one hundred and seventh New York volunteers. He is secretary of the Chicago Lumbering company.

FOX, JOHN, author. He is the author of Hell for Sartin; The Last Stetson; The Kentuckians; A Mountain Europa; Cumberland Vendetta; Crittenden; Bluegrass; and Rhododendron.

FOX, LUTHER, AUGUSTINE, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1843 near Greensboro, N. C. He is the author of History of Sunday Schools.

FOX, WALTER DENNIS, journalist, author, was born July 4, 1867, near Murfreesboro, Tenn. He is the author of Sam Davis; The Confederate Scout; Father Carolan; and One Mid-Year's Madness.

FOX, WILLIAM FREEMAN, soldier, author, was born in 1840. He has been captain, major, nd lieutenant-colonel in the one hundred and seventh regiment of New York volunteers; and is now superintendent of forests of the State of New York. He is the author of Regimental Losses in the Civil War; and New York at Gettysburg; and Short Talks on Forestry.

FOXCROFT, FRANK, journalist, author, was born Jan. 21, 1850, in Boston, Mass. Since 1895 he has been editorial writer and department editor The Youth's Companion. He is the author of Transcript Pieces; and other works.

FRALEY, FREDERICK, merchant, founder, state senator, was born in Philadelphia, Pa., May 28, 1804. In 1824 he was one of the founders of the Franklin institute, and was for many years its treasurer. In 1837 he was elected by the Whigs to the state senate. He was active in the movement that culminated in 1854 in the consolidation of the city with all the districts within the bounds of the county. He was chosen as delegate to the commercial convention held in Boston for the establishment of a National board of trade and was its president until 1887. He was one of the most active promoters and organizers of the Centennial exposition of 1876, and in 1873 was elected treasurer of the Centennial board of finance.

FRANCIS, JOSEPH MARSHALL, clergyman, educator, bishop, was born in Eaglesmere, Pa. In 1864 he filled pastorates in Milwaukee and Greenfield, Wis. In 1898 he was rector of St. Paul's Cathedral, Evansville, Ind.; and in 1899 was elected bishop of Indiana.

FRANKLIN, WILLIAM SUDDARDS, civil engineer, educator, author, was born Oct. 27, 1863, in Geary City, Kan. Since 1897 he has been professor of physics and electrical engineer in the Lehigh University of Bethlehem, Pa. He is the author of Elements of Physics; and The Elements of Alternating Currents.

FRASER, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, author, was born March 24, 1859, in Nova Scotia, March 24, 1859. He has traveled much; lived nine years in India and speaks Hindustani; is mining engineer by profession, but now devotes his entire time to writing. He is the author of Eye of a God; Mooswa; and Others of the Boundaries The American Animal Book; and The Outcast.

FREAR, WALTER FRANCIS, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 29, 1863, in Grass Valley, Cal. Since 1900 he has been chief justice of the supreme court of Hawaii. He is the author and composer of The Cocoa Palm and Other Songs.

FRECHETTE, MRS. ANNIE HOWELLS, author, was born in Hamilton, Ohio. She was for a time literary editor of the Chicago Inter Ocean. She is the author of On Grandfather's Farm; The Farm's Little People; and Popular Sayings from Old Iberia.

FREEDLEY, ANGELO TILLINGHAST, lawyer, author, was born Nov 12, 1850, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is now counsel for Philadelphia Clearing House, and for several banks, members thereof. He is the author of The General Corporation Law of Pennsylvania; and Limited Partnership Association Laws of Pennsylvania.

FREEMAN, HENRY VARNUM, soldier, lawyer, jurist author, was born Dec. 20, 1842, in Bridgeton, N. J. During the civil war he attained the rank of captain. In 1893-98 he was justice of the Illinois appeal court and became presiding justice in 1898. In 1898 he was president of the Chicago Literary Club. He is lecturer of medical jurisprudence in Rush Medical College. He is the author of The Town Meeting in Illinois; Military Essays and Recollections; and Some Battle Recollections of Stone River.

FREER, PAUL CASPAR, educator, author, was born March 27, 1862, in Chicago, Ill. Since 1889 he has been professor of general chemistry in the University of Michigan. He is the author of The Elements of Chemistry.

FREER, ROMEO HOYT, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 9, 1847, in Bazetta, Ohio. In 1862-65 he served in the Union army. In 1868 he was admitted to the bar and in 1868-70 and 1873-77 he was assistant prosecuting attorney for Kanawha county, W. Va. In 1873-77 he was United States consul to Nicaragua. In 1896-99 he was judge of the fourth judicial district. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

FRENCH, CHARLES W., educator, author, was born April 5, 1858; in Woodstock, Vt. In 1896-1900 he was a member of joint commission on English requirements for admission to college. He is now principal of the Hyde Park High School of Chicago. He is the author of Life of Lincoln; Words of Lincoln; and Introduction to the Study of Browning.

FRENCH, FERDINAND COURTNEY, educator, author, was born Dec. 14, 1861, in Berkeley, Mass. Since 1894 he has been professor of philosophy in Vassar College. He is the author of The Concept of Law in Ethics.

FRETZ, ABRAHAM JAMES, clergyman, genealogist, was born Feb. 7, 1849, in Bucks county, Pa. He fills a pastorate in Milton, N. J. He is the author of Genealogies of the Fretz, Kratz, Wismer, Moyer, Stover, Funk, Rosenberger, Beidler, and Oberholtzer Family.

FREVET, WILLIAM ALFRED, soldier, architect, was born Jan. 19, 1833, in New Orleans, La. At the outbreak of the civil war he entered the Confederate army as a private in the Washington artillery from New Orleans. He was promoted from time to time, finally reaching the rank of lieutenant-colonel of engineers. In 1866-68 he was state engineer for Louisiana and for several years after that he had charge of the construction of the public schools of the McDonough fund, some sixteen in number. He served as supervising architect of the United States government in 1887-90, when he resigned. He designed the reconstruction of the state house at Baton Rouge; and was the architect for the buildings of the state university at Pineville, La., and the University of Alabama at Tuscaloosa.

FRICK, HENRY CLAY, manufacturer, was born Dec. 19, 1849, in West Overton, Pa. He began business life as a clerk for his grandfather, a flour merchant and distiller. He later embarked in a small way in a coke business, which grew to be larger than all others in the United States combined. He is now president of the H. C. Frick Coke Company; also president of the Carnegie Steel Company.

FRIEDENWALD, HERBERT, author, was born Sept. 20, 1870, in Baltimore, Ohio. Since 1897 he has been superintendent of the manuscript department in the Library of Congress. He is the author of The Continental Congress; and The Journal and Papers of the Continental Congress.

FRIEDMAN, ISAAC KAHN, educator, author, was born Nov. 3, 1870, in Chicago, Ill. For three years he was in the florist business with his brother; and since then has been writer on Chicago newspapers. He is the author of The Lucky Number; and Poor People.

FRISBEE, SAMUEL H., clergyman, college president, author, was born July 10, 1840, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1880-85 he was president of St. Francis Xavier college. He is the author of a work entitled Interior of Jesus and Mary.

FROST, ARTHUR BURDETTE, illustrator, artist, author, was born in 1851 in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1900 he was an exhibitor at the Paris Exposition. He is the author of Golfers' Alphabet; and Sports and Games in the Open.

FROST, WILLIAM ALBERT CRAWFORD, clergyman, author, was born in 1863, in Canada. He has filled pastorates in Canada; and since 1896 has been pastor of the Church of the Holy Comforter of Baltimore, Maryland. He is the author of Old Dogma in a New Light.

FROST, WILLIAM HENRY, journalist, author, was born March 18, 1863, in North Providence, R. I. He has been a member of the staff of the New York Tribune since 1887. He is the author of the Wagner Story Book; The Court of King Arthur; The Knights of the Round Table, and Fairies and Folk of Ireland.

FROTHINGHAM, ARTHUR LINCOLN, JR., educator, lecturer, author, was born June 21, 1859, in Boston, Mass. He is now professor of ancient history and archaeology in Princeton; and founded Princeton College Bulletin. He is the author of A History of Scripture; and Medieval Art Inventories of the Vatican.

FRUIT, JOHN PHELPS, educator, author, was born Nov. 22, 1855, in Pembroke, Ky. He has held numerous professorships in Kentucky and Tennessee; and since 1897 has been professor of English languages and literature in William Jewell College. He is the author of The Mind and Art of Poe's Poetry; Editor of Lycidas; and The Ancient Mariner.

FRY, JACOB, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 9, 1834, in Trappe, Pa. Since 1891 he has been professor of homiletic and sacred oratory in the Lutheran Theological Seminary of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Elementary Homiletics.

FRYER, JOHN, educator, author, was born Aug. 16, 1839, in Kent, Eng. Since 1896 he has been professor of Oriental languages and literature in the University of California. He is the author of Educational Directory for China; and Translator's Vade-Mecum.

FUERTES, JAMES HILLHOUSE, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 10, 1863, in Puerto Rico. He has been connected with the design and construction of numerous works for the sewerage, drainage, refuse disposal and water supply of cities in the United States, Canada, Hawaiian Islands and Brazil. He is the author of Water and Public Health; and European Sanitary Engineering Series in Engineering Record.

FULLER, HULBERT, physician, author, was born Dec. 22, 1865, in Baldwinsville, N. Y. He practiced in Tustin and Los Angeles, California, and Chicago. He is the author of Vivian of Virginia; and God's Rebel.

FULLER, JESSE FRANKLIN, educator, genealogist, was born March 4, 1832, in Middleton, Mass. For five years he was superintendent of schools in Appleton, Wis. He is the author of Fuller Genealogy.

FULLER, WILLIAM OLIVER, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Feb. 3, 1856, in Rockland, Maine. He is treasurer of the Rockland Publishing Company and is a writer of numerous sketches. He is the author of What Happened to Wigglesworth.

FULLLERTON, ANNA M., physician, author. She is at present superintending the establishing of medical missions of North Indian Medical School, Lodiana, The Punjab, India. She is the author of Obstetric Nursing; and Surgical Nursing.

FULERTON, MARK A., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 13, 1858, in Salem, Ore. Since 1898 he has been judge of the supreme court of Washington.

FUNK, ISAAC KAUFMAN, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 10, 1839, in Clifton, Ohio. In 1861-72 he filled various pastorates. In 1880 he founded The Voice. He was editor-in-chief of the Standard Dictionary; and is author of The Homiletic Review.

FUNSTEN, JAMES BOWEN, lawyer, missionary, clergyman, was born March, 1858, in Clark county, Va. For a time he practiced law; but later he studied for the ministry; and in 1899 he was consecrated P. E. missionary bishop of Boise City, Idaho.

FUNSTON, FRED, soldier, botanist, was born Nov. 9, 1865, in Ohio. In 1891 he was botanist United States Death Valley Expedition; and in 1893 commander of the Department of Agriculture to explore Alaska and report on its flora. In 1896 he joined the insurgent army in Cuba and later went to the Philippines where he was promoted to brigadier-general, for acts of bravery.

FURCHES, DAVID MOFFITT, lawyer, jurist, was born April 21, 1832, in Davie county, N. C. In 1857 he was admitted to the North Carolina bar. In 1892 was republican candidate for governor of North Carolina. Since 1894 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of North Carolina.

FYLES, FRANKLIN, critic, author. He is dramatic critic for the New York Sun. He is the author of Cumberland '61; and other works.

GALBERT, WILLIAM H., lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 12, 1849, in Scott county, Iowa. In 1883-93 he practiced law in Telluride, Col.; and in 1893-97 was judge of the seventh district. Since 1897 he has been judge of the supreme court of Colorado.

GAGE, H. T., governor. In 1899-1903 he was governor of California.

GAINES, REUBEN REID, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 30, 1836,. in Sumter county, Ala. He practiced law in Texas until 1876. In 1877-85 he was judge of the sixth judicial district of Texas. In 1885-94 was associate justice of the supreme court of Texas; and chief justice since 1894.

GALBRAITH, CLINTON ALEXANDER, lawyer, jurist, was born March 6, 1860, in Hartsville, Ind. In 1900-04 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Hawaii.

GALE, GEORGE, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 14, 1845, in Galesville, Wis. He has been county attorney and judge municipal court of Berlin, Wis.

GALE, STEPHEN FRANCIS, merchant, was born March 8, 1812, in Exeter, N. H. In 1835 he went to Chicago, then a small frontier town; and was Chicago's first bookseller. His half-brothers, Augustus H. and Charles Burley, joined him under the nrm name of S. F. Gale & Co., and they conducted a large business as pubishers and booksellers.

GALLY, MERRITT, artist, inventor, was born Aug. 15, 1838, near Rochester, N. Y. He invented engraving tools; painted portraits; and ordained Presbyterian minister; lost his voice, and then devoted his attention to mechanics. He invented the Universal printing press, machine for making linotypes, and other printing machinery; also musical instruments, including the Orchestrone, the Back Vent system for tubuar church organs; the Counterpoise pneumatic system of the Aeolian, Pianola, Symphony and other automatic musical instruments.

GANNON, ANNA, author, poet, was born June 6, 1876, in Philadelphia, Pa., the author of A Dream of Shakespeare's Women; and The Song of Stradella and Other Songs.

GANONG, WILLIAM FRANCIS, botanist, author, was born Feb. 19, 1864, in Canada. Since 1894 he has been professor of botany in Smith college of Northampton, Mass. He is the author of The Teaching Botanist.

GANTT, JAMES BRITTON, soldier, lawyer, jurist was born in Putnam county, Ga. During the civil war he served in the confederate army. In 1880-86 he was circuit judge of Henry circuit of Missouri; and judge of the supreme court of Missouri since 1890; and became chief justice in 1898.

GANTVOORT, ARNOLD J., musician, composer, was born Dec. 6, 1857, in Amsterdam, Holland. In 1894 he became head of department for preparing public school for music teachers in the college of music at Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the author of a series of music readers for public school children.

GARDENER, MRS. HELEN HAMILTON, author, was born Jan. 21, 1858, in Winchester, Va. She is the author of Men, Women and Gods; Facts and Fictions of Life; A Patriot; and Historical Sketches of our Navy.

GARDINER, ASA BIRD, soldier, lawyer, was born Sept. 30, 1839, in New York city. He was professor of law at the United States military academy for four years; and later served as judge-advocate on the staff of General Hancock, commanding the division of the Atlantic. He was retired from the army at his own request in 1888 and resumed the practice of law. In 1898 he became district attorney of New York.

GARDNER, CELIA EMMELINE, author, poet, was born Nov. 4, 1814, in Sharon, Conn. She is the author of Stolen Waters, a story in verse; Broken Dreams; Tested; Rich Medways Two Loves; Every Inch a King; Compensation; A Twisted Skein; Seraph or Mortal; Won Under Protest; and A Literary Tramp.

GARDNER, GEORGE WARREN, clergyman, college president, was born Oct. 8, 1828, in Pomfret, Vt. In 1876-78 he was pastor of the First Baptist Church in Cleveland, Ohio; and in 1881-85 was president of the Central university of Iowa. In 1870 he visited Europe, extending his travels to Egypt, Palestine, and Greece.

GARDNER, MILLS, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 30, 1830, in Russellville, Ohio. He was prosecuting attorney of Fayette county for four years; and was a member of the state senate of Ohio in 1862-64. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1866-68. He was elected to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

GARDNER, WASHINGTON, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born in Morrow county, Ohio. He served in the ranks of the Sixty-fifth Ohio volunteer infantry in 1861-65. He served twelve years in the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal church. In 1888 he was commander of the Department of Michigan, Grand Army of the Republic; and was made professor in and public lecturer for Albion college in 1899. For several years he was secretary of state. He was elected to the Fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

GARDNER, WILLIAM HENRY, physician, surgeon, author, was born April 7, 1837, in Fayetteville, N. C. In 1861 he entered the United States army; became surgeon in 1882; lieutenant-colonel and deputy surgeon-general in 1896; and was retired in 1898. He is the author of The Curious Case of General Delaney Smythe.

GARLINGTON, ERNEST A., soldier, author, was born Feb. 20, 1853, in Newberry Court House, S. C. He commanded the Greely Relief Expedition in 1883. In 1890 he was severely wounded in battle with hostile Indians at Wounded Knee Post Office and was awarded congressional medal of honor for distinguished gallantry in that action. In 1898 he was inspector-general in Cuba; and was present at battle, siege and surrender of Santiago de Cuba. He is the author of Historical Sketches of the Seventh Cavalry Regiment; A Catechism; and Cavalry Outposts, Advance and Rear Guards, Reconnoissance.

GARNETT, JAMES MERCER, soldier, philologist, author, was born April, 24, 1840, in Aldie, Va. He served in the Confederate army in 1861-65, becoming captain of artillery. In 1882-96 he was professor of English language and literature at University of Virginia. He is the author of Translation of Baewulf; and Elene and Other Anglo Saxon Poems.

GAROUTTE, CHARLES H., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of California.

GARRETSON, ARTHUR SAMUEL, railroad builder, was born Nov. 7, 1851, in Morgan county, Ohio. He built several railroads; and was for some years president of the Sioux City & Northern Railroad; and of Sioux City, O'Niell & Western. In 1898 he was democratic candidate for congress.

GARRETT, WILLIAM ROBERTSON, educator, college president, author, was born in Williamsburg, Va. He served through civil war; attained the rank of captain. In 1868-73 he was president of Giles College of Pulaski, Tenn.; in 1891-93 was state superintendent of public instruction; and since 1899 has been dean in Peabody Normal College of Nashville, Tenn. He is the author of The South as a factor in the Territorial Expansion of the United States.

GARRISON, FRANCIS JACKSON, publisher, author, was born Oct. 29, 1848, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of William Lloyd Garrison; and The Story of His Life Told by His Children.

GARRISON, GEORGE PEARCE, educator, author, was born Dec. 19, 1853, in Carrollton, Ga. Since 1897 he has been professor of history in the University of Texas. He is the author of The Civil Government of Texas.

GARVER, WILLIAM LINCOLN, architect, author, was born Jnue 5, 1867, in Martinsburg, W. Va. In 1891 he became associated with a school of theosophy. He is the author of Associated Communities and Proportional Industries; and Brother of the Third Degree.

GARVIN, LUCIUS FAYETTE CLARK, physician, soldier, legislator, was born Nov. 13, 1841, in Knoxville, Tenn. He served as a private in the civil war. Since 1883 he has been a member of the Rhode Island legislature, having been elected fifteen times. He has been a democratic candidate for congress four times during 1894-1900.

GARY, EUGENE BLACKBURN, lawyer, jurist, lieutenant-governor, was born Aug. 22, 1854, in Cokesburg, S. C. In 1889 he was a member of the South Carolina legislature; 1890-93 was lieutenant-governor of South Carolina. Since 1893 he has been associate-justice of the supreme court of South Carolina.

GARY, JOSEPH EASTON, lawyer, jurist, was born July 9, 1821, in Potsdam, N. Y. In 1844-49 he practiced law in Springfield, Mo., then at Los Vegas until 1886. In 1856-63 he practiced law in Chicago, Ill. He presided in celebrated Anarchist trial; and in second trial of Leutgert for wife-murder. Since 1863 he has been judge of the superior court of Cook county, Ill.

GAST, FREDERICK AUGUSTUS, clergyman, educator, was born Oct. 17, 1835, in Lancaster county, Pa. In 1867 he became rector of the academy of Franklin and Marshall college; and in 1871 he was appointed tutor in the theological seminary, when he was transferred from Mercersburg to Lancaster. In 1873 he was elected professor of Hebrew and Old Testament theology.

GASTON, ATHELSON, manufacturer, congressman, was born April 24, 1838, in Castile, N. Y. Since 1873 he has been a manufacturer and dealer in lumber; He was twice mayor of Meadville, Pa.; and president of the Cassadaga Lake Free Association, at Lily Dale, for ten years. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

GASTON, JAMES McFADDEN, physician, surgeon, author, was born Dec. 27, 1824, near Chester, S. C. In 1861-65 he was surgeon and medical director in the Confederate service. Since 1884 he has been professor of surgery in Southern Medical College of Atlanta, Ga. In 1895 he was president of the American Academy of Medicine. He is the author of Hunting a Home in Brazil.

GATES, MRS. ELLEN M. HUNTINGTON, author, poet, was born in Torrington, Conn. She is the author of Treasures of the Kurium, a collection of her poems.

GATES, LOUIS EDWARD, educator, author, was born March 23, 1860, in Warsaw, N. Y. Since 1896 he has been assistant professor of English at Harvard University. He is the author of Selections from Jeffrey; Selections from Newman; Selections from Matthew Arnold; and Three Studies in Literature.

GATES, W. FRANCIS, musician, composer, author, was born March 18, 1865, in Zanesville, Ohio. He is director of Western College of Conservatory of Music, of Toledo, Iowa. He is the author of Musical Mosaics; Anecdotes of Great Musicians; Pipe and Strings; and In Praise of Music.

GATSCHET, ALBERT SAMUEL, linguist, author, was born Oct. 3, 1832, in Switzerland. He is linguist at the Bureau of American Ethnology, Smithsonian Institute. He is the author of The Klamath Indians of Southwestern Oregon; and A Creek Migration Legend.

GAUL, GILBERT WILLIAMS, artist, was born March 31, 1855, in Jersey City, N. J. He was made an associate of the National academy of design in 1879; and was elected an academican in 1882. Among his works are Stories of Liberty to the Confined; Charging the Battery; Holding the Line at All Hazards; and With Fate Against Them.

GAY, EDWARD, artist, was born in 1838, in Dublin, Ireland. In 1887 he took the Metropolitan Prize of $2,000 for the picture Broad Acres presented to the Metropolitan Museum of New York City.

GAY, WINCKWORTH ALLAN, landscape arust, was born Aug. 18, 1821, in West Hingham, Mass. He has traveled the world over; and has attained note as one of ne foremost artists of America.

GAYLE, JUNE W., public official, congressman, was born Feb. 22, 1865, in New Liberty, Ky. He served as deputy sherin for several years; and in 1892 was high sheriff of Owen county. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress at the special election.

GAYLEY, CHARLES MILLS, educator, author, was born Feb. 22, 1858, in China. Since 1889 he has been professor of English language and literature at the university of California. He is the author of Songs of Yellow and Blue; Guide to Literature of Aesthetics; and Classic Myths in English Literature.

GAYNOR, WILLIAM JAY, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1851, in Whitestown, N. Y. In 1893 he became judge of the supreme court at Brooklyn, N. Y.

GEER, THEODORE THURSTON, farmer, legislator, governor, was born March 12, 1851, at Waldo Hills, Oregon. He was a member of the Oregon State legislature in 1880, 1889, 1891 and 1896. He is now governor of Oregon for term of 1899-1903; republican.

GEMUNDER, AUGUST, manufacturer, was born March 22, 1814, in Germany. He was the founder of the famous house of August Gemunder and Son, of New York city, makers of the finest violins. He died Sept. 7, 1895, in New York city. His son, August Gemunder, is the present head of the house.

GEORGE, HENRY, journalist, reformer, author, was born Nov. 3, 1862, in Sacramento, Cal. He is the eldest son of the late Henry George. Since 1881 he has been engaged in newspaper work. He was secretary of his father on lecturing tour in Great Britain. He is the author of a biography of his father.

GERHARDT, KARL, sculptor, was born Jan. 7, 1853, in Boston, Mass. His notable works include busts of General U. S. Grant, Henry Ward Beecher, Samuel L. Clemens; and statues of Nathan Hale and John Fitch.

GERRISH, FREDERIC HENRY, physician, author, was born March 21, 1845 in Portland, Maine. In 1879-91 he was visiting surgeon Maine General Hospital of Portland; and consulting surgeon since 1892. He was president of Maine state board of health in 1885-89; and president American Academy of Medicine in 1887-88. He is the author of Antiseptic Surgery; Prescription Writing; and other works.

GIBBS, HENEAGE, physician, author. He is professor of pathology at University of Michigan. He is the author of Practical Pathology and Morbid Histology.

GIBBON, JOHN, soldier, was born April 20, 1827, near Holmesburg, Pa. He served at the City of Mexico and Tuloca until the close of the Mexican war. He commanded a brigade through the Northern Virginia, Maryland, Rappahannock, and Pennsylvania campaigns in 1862-63. He was brevetted brigadier-general and major-general in the United States army. Since the civil war he has commanded various posts; and had charge of the Yellowstone expedition against Sitting Bull in 1876; and in 1877 he commanded in the action with the Nez Perces Indians at Big Hole Pass. In 1886 he was promoted to brigadier-general. He is the author of The Artillerist's Manual.

GIBBONS, WILLIAM CEPHUS, lecturer, scientist, author, was born April 7, 1834, in Bermuda. He entered the temperance lecture field in 1878. He is the author of The Heart of Job.

GIBBS, GEORGE, illustrator, artist, author, was born March 8, 1870, in New Orleans, La. He is the author of Pike and Cutlass; and Hero Tales of Our Navy.

GIBSON, MRS. EVA KATHERINE CLAPP, author, poet, was born in Bradford, Ill. She is the author of Her Bright Future; A Lucky Mishap; Mismated; A Woman's Triumph; A Dark Secret; Songs of Red Rose Land; Patriotic Songs; and The Anthem of the Free.

GIBSON, ROBERT ATKINSON, clergyman, bishop, was born July 9, 1846, in Petersburg, Va. In 1878-87 he was rector of Trinity church at Parkersburg, W. Va.; and rector Christ church of Cincinnati in 1887-97. In 1897 he became protestant episcopal bishop of Virginia.

GIEGERICH, LEONARD ANTHONY, lawyer, jurist, was born May 20, 1855, in Bavaria. In 1886 he was a member of the New York assembly; and collector of internal revenue, New York, in 1886-89. In 1890 he was judge city court; and in in 1891-95 was judge court of common pleas. Since 1896 he has been justice of the supreme court of New York for term ending 1906.

GIESY, S. HERBERT, lawyer, jurist, was born July 25, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a lawyer of Washington, D. C. He was appointed by President McKinley a justice of the peace for the District of Columbia.

GILBERT, BENJAMIN DAVIS, journalist, author, was born Nov. 21, 1835, in Albany, N. Y. Since 1877 he has been secretary and treasurer of Utica Dairy Board of Trade. He is the author of Cheese Industry of the State of New York.

GILBERT, CASS, architect, was born Nov. 24, 1859, in Zanesville, Ohio. He was architect of the new state capitol and many other buildings in St. Paul; and the Chambers building of New York City.

GILBERT, CHARLES BENAJAH, educator, lecturer, author, was born March 9, 1855, in Wilton, Conn. In 1897-1900 he was lecturer at Teachers' College, Columbia University. Since 1901 he has been superintendent of schools at Rochester, N. Y. He is the author of Stepping Stones to Literature.

GILBERT, CHARLES CHAMPION, soldier, was born March 1, 1822, in Zanesville, Ohio. In 1861 he was inspector-general of the Department of Cumberland; and of the Army of the Ohio until 1862. He was promoted to brigadier-generalship of volunteers in 1862; became acting major-general in command of the Army of Kentucky; and for his galantry at Perryvile was brevetted colonel in the regular army. He became lieutenant-colonel of the 7th infantry, in 1868; colonel of the 17th infantry in 1881; and was retired from active service in 1886.

GILBERT, FRANCES FREIOT, author. She is the author of Annals of My College Life.

GILBERT, GEORGE GILMORE, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 24, 1849, in Spencer county, Ky. In 1876-80 he was attorney for Spencer county, Ky.; in 1886-88 was a member of the state senate; and in 1896 was a delegate to the national convention. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Kentucky as a democrat.

GILBERT, GEORGE HOLLY, theologian, author, was born in Cavendish, Vt. For many years he was professor of New Testament literature at Chicago Theological seminary. He is the author of The Poetry of Job; The Student's Life of Jesus; and Revelation of Jesus.

GILBERT, WILLIAM BALL, lawyer, jurist, was born July 4, 1847, in Fairport county, Va. Since 1892 he has been United States circuit judge at Portland, Oregon.

GILBERT, WILLIAM LEWIS, manufacturer, legislator, philanthropist, was born Dec. 30,1806, in Northfield, Conn. He was a member of the Connecticut legislature in 1848 and 1868; treasurer of the Connecticut western railroad for ten years, and has been its president since 1883. He holds the same office in five manufacturing companies in Winsted, Conn. In 1887 he gave four hundred thousand dollars to provide a home for friendless children in Winsted and vicinity, and a like sum for a free high school in that place.

GILCHRIST, FREDERICKA, author, was born in 1846, in Oswego, N. Y. She is the author of The True Story of Hamlet and Ophelia, a study and new interpretation of Shakespeare's play.

GILDER, JOSEPH B., journalist, critic, author, was born in Flushing, N. Y. In 1881 he founded with his sister, Jeannette L. Gilder, The Critic of New York City. He is the author of Essays from the Critic; and Authors at Home.

GILDERSLEEVE, HENRY ALGER, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 1, 1840, in Duchess county, N. Y. He served as captain and major during the civil war; and was breveted lieutenant-colonel for gallantry and meritorious services in the Georgia and Carolina campaigns. He was secretary and president of the National Rifle Association. In 1876-89 he was judge of court of general sessions; and in 1891-94 judge of the superior court. Since 1894 he has been justice of the supreme court of New York.

GILL, AUGUSTUS HERMAN, educator, author, was born Aug. 1, 1864, in Canton, Mass. Since 1894 he has been assistant professor of oil and gas analysis at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is the author of Gas and Fuel Analysis for Engineers; and A Short Handbook of Oil Analysis.

GILL, HENRY Z., physician, surgeon, author, was born Oct. 6, 1831, in Richboro, Pa. He was in the volunteer army as assistant surgeon of the eleventh regiment; and later surgeon ninety-fifth regiment Ohio volunteers. He was surgeon of United States volunteers in 1864, and was surgeon-in-chief 1st division, 20th army corps, during the Atlanta campaign and until the close of the war. For some time he was professor of histology, microscopy and bacteriology at the Kansas medical college of Topeka, Kan. He is the author of Report on the Prisons of the United States.

GILL, JOSEPH A., journalist, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 17, 1854, in Wheeling, W. Va. Since 1899 he has been United States judge for the Northern district of Indian Territory.

GILL, JOSEPH J., lawyer, manufacturer, congressman, was born Sept. 21, 1846, in Barnesville, Ohio. He practiced law at the Jefferson county bar; and subsequently engaged in banking and later in manufacturing and iron mining. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Ohio as a republican.

GILL, WILLIAM HUGH, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 27, 1841, in Ireland. He is pastor of the Evangelical church of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of The Temple Opened; What Presbyterians Do Believe; The Junior's Jesus; A Catechism for Youth; and The Bible Catechist.

GILLESPIE, GEORGE LEWIS, army officer, was born in 1841, in Kingston, Tenn. During the civil war he was chief engineer in the army of the Shenandoah; was twice breveted for gallantry; and received congressional medal for bravery. During the Spanish-American war of 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general.

GILLETT, EZRA HALL, clergyman, educator, author. For many years he was professor in New York university. He is the author of several published works.

GILLETT, FRANCIS MORELLO, railroad president, was born Feb. 14, 1850, in Upper Sandusky, Ohio. He is president of the Stuttgart and Orleans River railroad; and also of the Pine Bluff and Eastern railroad of Arkansas.

GILMAN, BRADLEY, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 22, 1857, in Boston, Mass. Since 1892 he has had charge of the Congressional society of Springfield, Mass. He is the author of The Kingdom of Coins; Kibboo Ganey; The Drifting Island; and The Musical Journey of Dorothy and Delia.

GILMAN, MRS. CHARLOTTE PERKINS, lecturer, author, poet, was born in 1860 in Hartford, Conn. She is a lecturer and advocate of equality for women. She is the author of Women and Economics; In This Our World; The Yellow Wallpaper; and Concerning Children.

GILMAN, MRS. MARY REBECCA FOSTER, author, was born in 1859, in Worcester, Mass. She is the wife of Rev. Bradley Gilman. She is the author of Life of St. Theresa, in Famous Women series.

GILMAN, THEODORE, banker, author, was born Jan. 2, 1841, in Alton Ill. He is a successful banker of New York city. He is the author of A Graded Banking System; and Federal Clearing Houses.

GINN, EDWIN, publisher, philanthropist, was born Feb. 14, 1838, in Orland, Mass. Since 1886 he has been head of the firm of Ginn and Company, publishers of school and college text books. He is president of the John Howard Home for Discharged Prisoners; and is especially interested in the housing of the poor.

GIST CHRISTOPHER, scout. He was a noted scout during the war.

GIVEN, JOSIAH, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 31, 1828, in Westmoreland county, Pa. He was admitted to the bar in 1851, and for two years was states attorney. He served with distinction through the Mexican war; and was brigadier-general in the civil war. He was a member of the Iowa house of representatives; and for the last twenty years has been justice of the supreme court of Iowa.

GLASS, HENRY, naval officer, was born in Kentucky. During the civil war he attained the rank of lieutenant; and became captain in 1894. Since 1899 he has been commandant of the United States naval training station at San Francisco Cal.

GLENN, THOMAS L., soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 2, 1847, in Ballard county, Ky. During the civil war he was in the Confederate service. In 1874-82 he was clerk of Ballard county, Ky.; and was state senator in 1887-91. He then practiced law in Idaho. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Idaho as a populist.

GLENNON, JOHN JOSEPH, clergyman, bishop, was born June 14, 1862, in Ireland. In 1896 he was appointed coadjutor bishop of Kansas City, Mo., with right of succession, and consecrated titular bishop of Pinara.

GLOVER, JAMES NETTLE, banker, founder, was born March 15, 1837, in Lincoln county, Mo. He was the founder of Spokane, Wash., and the founder of the First National bank of Spokane, and its president in 1882-93.

GLYNN, MARTIN H., lawyer, journalist, lecturer, congressman, was born Sept. 27, 1871, in Kinderhook, N. Y. He is a practicing lawyer; and also managing editor of the Albany Times-Union. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from New York as a democrat.

GODDARD, LUTHER M., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 27, 1840, in Palmyra, N. Y. In 1872 he was a member of the Kansas legislature. In 1882-90 he was district judge of the 5th judicial district of Colorado; and in 1890-1901 was associate justice of the supreme court of Colorado.

GODOWSKI, LEOPOLD, musician, composer, was born Feb. 13, 1870, in Poland. Since 1895 he has been head pianoforte department in Chicago Conservatory of Music. He is the author of valses and and songs.

GOEPP, PHILIP HENRY, musician, author, was born June 23, 1864, in New York city. He was one of the founders and secretary for several terms of the Manuscript Music society of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Symphonies and Their Meaning.

GOETSCHIUS, PERCY, musician, composer, was born Aug. 30, 1853. He is the author of The Theory and Practice of Tone-relations; Models of the Principal Music forms; Syllabus of Music History; and The Homophonic Forms of Music Composition.

GOLDBECK, ROBERT, musician, composer, was born Aug. 19, 1839, in Potsdam. He is the author of two operas entitled Saratoga and Newport.

GOMPERS, SAMUEL, labor advocate, founder, was born Jan. 27, 1850, in England. He is a cigarmaker by trade. He is one of the founders of the American Federation of Labor, and editor of its official magazine. He has written a number of pamphlets on the labor question and the labor movement. Since 1882 he has been president of the American Federation of Labor.

GOOCH, D. LINN, congressman, was born in 1853 in Rumsey, Ky. He is president of the Cincinnati Drug and Chemical Company; governor-general of Colonial Wars; and governor of Order of Descendants of Colonial Governors. He is congressman for the sixth Kentucky district for the term 1901-03.

GOODALE, GEORGE POMEROY, journalist, author, was born Aug. 12, 1843, in Orleans, N. Y. Since 1865 he has been dramatic editor of the Detroit Free Press. He is the author of Signor Max Papers.

GOODE, WILLIAM ATHELSTANE MEREDITH, soldier, journalist, author, was born June 10, 1875, in Newfoundland. Since 1894 he has been connected with the Associated Press, which he represented on the flagship New York during the Spanish-American war. He is the author of With Sampson Through the War.

GOODELL, THOMAS DWIGHT, educator, author, was born Nov. 8, 1854, in Ellington, Conn. Since 1888 he has been professor of Greek at Yale university. He is the author of The Greek in English; and Greek Lessons.

GOODENOW, MRS. ALICE SMITH, artist, was born July 21, 1852, in Tompkins county, N. Y. Early in life she developed a talent for painting; and her works have become quite noted.

GOODRICH, ALFRED JOHN, musician, composer, was born May 8, 1847, in Chilo, Ohio. He is a writer and teacher of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Music as a Language; The Art of Song; Complete Analysis; Analytical Harmony; and Theory of Interpretation.

GOODRICH, CASPER FREDERICK, naval officer, was born Jan. 7, 1847, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was naval attache on the staff or Sir Garnet Wolseley during the Tel-el-Kebir campaign of 1882; and commanded the Jamestown Constellation and Concord. In 1897 he was president of the naval war college. During the Spanish-American war he commanded the cruiser St. Louis and the United States steamship Newark, rendering important services on both of those vessels. In 1899 he was assigned to the command of the battleship Iowa.

GOODRICH, WILLIAM W., lawyer, jurist, was born Aug 23, 1833, in Havana, N. Y. Since 1896 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of New York.

GOODWIN, J. CHEEVER, dramatist, author, poet, was born July 14, 1850, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of about forty plays, the principal of which are Evangeline; Wang; The Merry Monarch; and The Lion Tamer.

GORDON, FRED GEORGE RUSS, shoemaker, socialist, author, was born Sept. 4, 1860, in Walden, Vt. In 1895 he was secretary of the great Boston Shoemakers' Convention. He is the author of The Cause and Cure; Hard Times; Government Ownership of Railroads; and Municipal Socialism.

GORDON, GEORGE WASHINGTON, soldier, lawyer, educator, was born Oct. 5, 1836, in Giles county, Tenn. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general in the Confederate service. In 1885-89 he was employed in the Interior Department at Washington, D. C. In 1892 he was elected superintendent of city schools of Memphis, Tenn.

GORDON, JOSEPH CLAYBAUGH, educator, author, was born March 9, 1842, in Piqua, Ohio. Since 1897 he has been superintendent of Illinois Institution for Education of the Deaf. He is the author of Education of Deaf Chidren; and Notes and Observations on the Education of the Deaf.

GORDON, ROBERT BRYARLY, merchant, congressman, was born Aug. 6, 1855, in Auglaize county, Ohio. He succeeded his father in the general grain business. He was auditor of Auglaize county in 1889-95. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Ohio as a democrat.

GORDON, WILLIAM W., soldier, merchant, legislator, was born Oct. 14, 1834, in Savannah, Ga. He served in the Confederate army during the civil war. Since 1868 he has been in the cotton business in Savannah, Ga. For six years he was a member of the Georgia legislature. He was four times in command of troops to suppress riots; and was a member of the evacuation commission for Porto Rico. Has been president of the Savannad Cotton Exchange. During the Spanish-American war he attained the rank of brigadier-general.

GORDY, J. P., educator, author, was born in 1851 in Maryland. From 1896 to 1901 he was professor of education at the Ohio State University; in 1901 he accepted the professorship of the History of Education in New York University. He is the author of The Growth and Development of the Normal School Idea in the United States; Text-book on Psychology; and History of Political Parties in the United States in four volumes.

GORDY, WILBUR FISK, educator, author was born June 14, 1854, near Salisbury, Md. He is supervising principal of public schools at Hartford, Conn. He is the author of A School History of the United States.

GOSS, CHARLES FREDERIC, clergyman, author, was born June 14, 1852, in Meridian, N. Y. In 1885-90 he was pastor of Moody Church, Chicago, Ill; and since 1894 has been pastor of the Avondale Presbyterian Church of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the author of The Optimist; The Philopolist; and Hits and Misses.

GOSS, WILLIAM FREEMAN MYRICK, educator, author, was born Oct. 7, 1859, in Barnstable, Mass. Since 1890 he has been professor of experimental engineering and director engineering laboratory at Purdue University. He is the author of Bench Work in Wood.

GOTTHEIL, GUSTAVE, clergyman, author, was born May 28, 1827, in Prussia. He has been active as a leader in the reform branch of the Hebrew Church of New York. He is the author of Hymns and Anthems.

GOTWALD, LUTHER ALEXANDER, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 31, 1833, in York Springs, Pa. He has held pastorates at Shippensburg and Lebanon, Pa., Dayton, Ohio, Chambersburg and York, Pa., and Springfield, Ohio. He is the author of Church Orders, or the Necessity of a Right Call to the Office of the Ministry.

GOULD, ELGIN RALSTON LOVELL, educator, philanthropist, author, was born Aug. 15, 1860, in Canada. In 1895-96 he was professor at University of Chicago. He retired from academic pursuits to become president City and Suburban Homes Co., an enterprise designed to improve living environment of New York wage earners and at same time provide remunerative commercial investment. He is the author of Housing of Working People; Popular Control of the Liquor Traffic; The Gothenburg System of Liquor Traffic; and The Social Condition of Labor.

GOULD, GEORGE MILBRY, physician, surgeon, editor, author, was born Nov. 8, 1848, in Auburn, Maine. In 1892-95 he was editor of the Medical News; and is now editor of the Philadelphia Medical Journal. He is the author of American Year-Book of Medicine and Surgery; Borderland Studies; The Meaning and the Method of Life; and other medical works.

GOULD, HELEN MILLER, philanthropist, was born June 20, 1868, in New York City. When the war with Spain began she gave the United States government one hundred thousand dollars; was an active member of the Women's national war relief association, contributing freely to its work; and personally cared for sick and convalescent soldiers at Fort Wykoff, Long Island, giving twenty-five thousand dollars for needed supplies; at the Windsor hotel fire in 1899, she opened her house on Fifth avenue for the relief of the dying and injured.

GOW, GEORGE COLEMAN, musician, author, was born Nov. 27, 1860, in Ayer, Mass. In 1889-95 he taught music at Smith College. He is the author of Structure of Music.

GOWIE, JOHN, inventor. He first invented and obtained a patent for making artificial ice.

GRABAU, AMADEUS W., geologist, author, was born Jan. 9, 1870, in Cedarburgh, Wis. He is professor of biology at Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute. He is the author of Geology and Palentology of Eighteen Mile Creek and the Lake Shore of Erie County, N. Y.; and Guide to the Geology and Palentology of Niagara Falls.

GRACE, THOMAS, clergyman, bishop, was born Aug. 2, 1841, in Ireland. Since 1896 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Sacramento, Cal.

GRADLE, HENRY, physician, author, was born Aug. 17, 1855, in Germany. He was professor of physiology and is now professor of diseases of the eye and ear at Northwestern University medical school. He is the author of Bacteria and the Germ Theory of Disease.

GRAHAM, GEORGE EDWARD, journalist, author, was born Nov. 15, 1866, in Albany, N. Y. During the Spanish-American war he was correspondent of the associated press on the flagship Brooklyn; and stood beside Admiral Schley on the bridge during the destruction of Cervera's fleet. He is the author of Fighting with Schley.

GRAHAM, LAWRENCE PIKE, soldier, was born in 1815 in Amelia county, Va. In 1842 he served in campaign against Seminoles; was brevetted major for gallantry in Mexican war; and brevetted brigadier-general for meritorious services in Civil war in 1865. In 1862 he raised and commanded a cavalry brigade in the Army of Potomac.

GRAHAM, WILLIAM HARRISON, soldier, business man, congressman, was born Aug. 3, 1844, in Allegheny, Pa. In 1861-65 he served in the second Virginia infantry and fifth West Virginia cavalry. He is president of Mercantile Trust Co. and Central Accident Insurance Co. of Pittsburg, Pa. For four terms he was a member of the Pennsylvania legislature. He was elected to fill vacancy and served in fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

GRAHAM, WILIAM MONTROSE, soldier, was born Sept. 28, 1834, in Washington, D. C. In 1855 he entered army as lieutenant, first United States artillery; was brevetted major for gallant service in Peninsular campaign; and made lieutenant-colonel for gallant conduct at Antietam. He was made colonel for gallant conduct at Gettysburg; and brigadier-general for gallant conduct in the field during the war. He organized and commanded the second army corps for service against Spain.

GRAMMER, JULIUS E., clergyman, was born Oct. 6, 1831, in Washington, D. C. For twenty-seven years he was pastor of St. Peter's Protestant Episcopal Church; and is now rector of Trinity Church of Baltimore, Md.

GRANDGENT, CHARLES HALL, educator, author, was born Nov. 14, 1862, in Dorchester, Mass. Since 1896 he has been professor of Romance languages and chairman of Romance department since 1899 at Harvard university. He is the author of Italian Grammar; Italian Composition; and Materials for French Composition.

GRANGER, CHARLES TRUMBULL, soldier, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 9, 1835, in Monroe county, N. Y. He served in company K, 27th Iowa infantry; and was its captain to close of war. In 1869-72 he was district attorney for tenth judicial district of Iowa. He was circuit judge in 1872-86; and district judge after change of judicial system in 1886-89. In 1889-1900 he was judge of the supreme court of Iowa.

GRANGER, MOSES MOORHEAD, soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 22, 1831, in Zanesville, Ohio. During the Civil war he was captain 18th United States infantry and lieutenant-colonel of 122d Ohio volunteers; and was brevetted colonel for meritorious conduct. Since 1865 he has had law practice in Zanesville, Ohio; was city solicitor; prosecuting attorney; judge common pleas; and chief judge Ohio Supreme Court Commission. He is the author of Washington Versus Jefferson; and The Case Tried by Battle in 1861-65.

GRANINGER, CHARLES ALBERT, musician, composer, was born Jan. 2,1861, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Since 1891 he has been director of the Orpheus Club of Cincinnati, Ohio; and is also professor in Cincinnati College of Music.

GRANT, CLAUDIUS BUCHANAN, soldier, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 25, 1835, in York county, Maine. In 1862-65 he served in Civil war as captain to colonel in the 20th Michigan volunteers. In 1870-74 he was a member of the Michigan legislature. He was circuit judge in 1881-89; and since 1889 has been chief justice of the supreme court of Michigan.

GRANT, LEWIS ADDISON, soldier, lawyer, was born Jan. 17, 1829, in Bennington county, Vt. He served throughout the Civil war; and in 1864 became brigadier-general of volunteers. In 1890-93 he was assistant secretary of war. He now practicces law in Minneapolis Minn.

GRANT, ULYSSES SHERMAN, geologist, author, was born Feb. 14, 1867, in Moline, Ill. Since 1899 he has been professor of geology and curator of the museum in the Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill. He is the author of Preliminary Report on the Copper-bearing Rocks of Douglas County, Wis.

GRAU, MAURICE, operatic manager, was born Dec. 20, 1849, in Austria. In 1872 he became manager of Aimee; and since that time has continued his career as a successful operatic and theatrical manager. He is now managing director of the Maurice Grau opera company of New York City; and of the Royal opera-house of London. In 1899 he was made a knight of the Legion of honor, in recognition of his work on behalf of French art.

GRAVES, FRANK PIERREPONT, educator, author, was born in 1869 in New York City. He is president of the University of Washington. He is the author of Burial Customs of the Ancient Greeks; and The State University Ideal.

GRAVES, HENRY SOLON, educator, author, was born May 3, 1871, in Marietta, Ohio. Since 1900 he has been professor of forestry and director of Yale Forest School of New Haven, Conn. He is the author of The White Pine.

GRAY, DAVID, journalist, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 8, 1870, in Buffalo, N. Y. In 1897 he was managing editor of Buffalo Center. He is the author of The Sphinx; and Gallops, a volume of sketches.

GRAY, JOHN CLINTON, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 4, 1844, in New York City. In 1866-88 he practiced law in New York City. He is judge of the New York court of appeals.

GRAY, JOHN HENRY, educator, author, was born March 11, 1859, in Charleston, Ill. Since 1892 he has been professor of political and social science at Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill. He is the author of several works in German.

GRAY, WILLIAM C., journalist, author, was born Oct. 17, 1830, in Butler county, Ohio. Since 1871 he has been editor of The Interior of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Campfire Musings.

GRAYBIEL, MARY, missionary, was born Feb. 6, 1846, in Williamsville, N. Y. In 1812 she became a missionary to Hindostan under the care of the foreign missionary society of the denomination of Disciples. She settled in the mission at Bilaspur, and having secured an appropriation of four thousand dollars built a stone and wood church for the use of the natives, herself planning and superintending the erection of the building.

GRAYDON, JAMES WEIR, soldier, civil engineer, inventor, was born Jan. 18, 1848. He served in volunteer army in Civil war under Grant and Sherman. He is the inventor of Graydon dynamite gun; Graydon gigantic wheels; Graydon aerial torpedo; Graydon cable system of torpedoes; and Graydon railway carriage heater.

GREELEY, EDWIN SENECA, soldier, banker, was born May 20, 1832, in Nashua, N. H. At the beginning of the Civil war he served as first lieutenant; advanced through all grades to colonel of 10th Connecticut volunteers and was brevetted brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious services. Since 1897 he has been vice-president of the Yale National Bank of New Haven, Connecticut.

GREEN, ANDREW HASWELL, lawyer, was born Oct. 6, 1820, in Worcester, Mass. During his career in New York City he has filled many positions as trustee and executor of estates, and among the latter that of Samuel J. Tilden. He was a commissioner of education and president of the board in 1856; president of the Central Park board in 1857-70; and comptroller of the city in 1871-76.

GREEN, CHARLES R., soldier, antiquarian, genealogist, was born Nov. 8, 1845, in Milan, Ohio. During the Civil war he was a private in the one hundred and first Ohio infantry, Army of the Cumberland, and served three years. He eventually settled in Kansas, and is interested in horticulture near Lyndon. He is member of the Kansas State Historical Society; and author of Genealogy of Ezra Green.

GREEN, HENRY DICKINSON, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born May 3, 1857, in Reading Pa. He has attained success in the practice of law in his native city. He was a representative in the Pennsylvania state legislature in 1883-86; and a member of the state senate in 1889-96. During the Spanish-American war he was captain Company G ninth regiment, Pennsylvania volunteers. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Pennsylvania as a democrat.

GREEN, HETTY HOWLAND ROBINSON, capitalist, was born Nov. 21, 1835, in New Bedford, Mass. By careful investment she has become a large holder of stock in sound railroad companies in the west and south, in the Chemical National bank, and in business blocks and other real estate in Chicago and other parts of the United States.

GREEN, JONATHAN H., lecturer, author, was born in 1815, near Lawrenceburg, Ind. For twelve years he led a wandering life, travelling up and down the the Mississipi, under feigned names, and engaging in gambling as a profession. He reformed in 1842, and the next year began a lecturing tour, in which he revealed the vices of gambling. He is the author of Gambling Unmasked, an Autobiography; and Secret Band of Brothers.

GREEN, NATHAN, lawyer, educator, autnor, was born Feb. 19, 1827, in Winchester, Tenn. He has been a law professor since 1866; and since 1873 chancellor of Cumberland University. He is the author of Hall Man of Winton; and Sparks from a Black Log.

GREENE, CHARLES LYMAN, physician, author, was born Sept. 21, 1862, in Gray, Maine. He is clinical professor of medicine and physical diagnosis at University of Minnesota. He is the author of The Medical Examination for Life Insurance, and Its Associated Clinical Methods.

GREENE, DANIEL CROSBY, missionary, author, was born Feb. 11, 1843, in Roxbury, Mass. Since 1869 he has been a congregational missionary in Japan. He is the author of Chinese New Testament, prepared for Japanese readers.

GREENE, GEORGE FRANCIS, clergyman, author, was born June 5, 1858, in North Greenbrush, N. Y. Since 1885 he has been pastor of the Presbyterian church of Cranford, N. J. He is the author of The Many-Sided St. Paul.

GREENE, HENRY COPLEY, author, was born Nov. 21 1871, in Vienna, Austria. He is the author of The Children's Crusade; Theophile, a Miracle Play; and Plains and Uplands of Old France, a Book of Prose and Verse.

GREENE, JAMES DURELL, soldier, inventor, was born in 1828. During the Civil war he attained the rank of brevet brigadier-general. He was the inventor and manufacturer of breech-loading rifles.

GREENE, RICHARD GLEASON, clergyman, author, was born June 29, 1829, in East Haddam, Conn. He was editor of Library of Universal Knowledge, in sixteen volumes; and Columbian Cyclopedia, in thirty-two volumes.

GREENE, ROBERT HOLMES, surgeon, author, was born April 27, 1861, in Brunswick, Maine. Since 1900 he has been surgeon to Work House Hospital of New York City. He is the author of Healthy Exercise.

GREENE, THOMAS L., author. He is manager of The Audit Co. of New York; and a writer on finance. He is the author of Corporation Finance.

GREENE, WILLIAM STEDMAN, business man, congressman, was born April 28, 1841, in Tremont, Ill. He has been in the real estate and insurance business since 1866 in Fall River, Mass. He was president common council in 1877-79; mayor in 1880-81, 1886 and 1895-97. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

GREENLEAF, MRS. GEORGE H. FRANK, founder, author, was born Nov. 12, 1849, in Baltimore, Md. She started relief work on Pacific coast during the Spanish-American war. She is the founder and director of the American Library at Manila, P. I. She is the author of My Life Among the Indians.

GREENOUGH, FRANCIS BOOTT, physician, was born Dec. 24, 1837, in Boston, Mass. In 1871-75 he was an instructor in Harvard Medical School.

GREENSLET, FERRIS, journalist, author, was born June 30, 1875, Glens Falls, N. Y. He is the author of Joseph Glanvill; A Study in English Thought and Letters of the Seventeenth Century.

GREENWOOD, ISAAC J., genealogist, author. He has been a prolific writer on history and genealogy in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, and the New York Genealogical and Biographical Record. He is the author of The Circus, Its Origin and Growth Prior to 1835; Greenwood Colonial and Revolutionary Services; and The Life of Captain John Manley, of the revolutionary navy.

GREGORY, JOHN GOADBY, journalist, author, poet, was born July 11, 1856, in Milwaukee, Wis. He is editorial writer on the Evening Wisconsin. He is the author of A Beauty of Thebes, in verse.

GREGORY, S. S., lawyer. He is a successful lawyer of Chicago, Ill.; and president of the Chicago Bar.

GREINER, TUISCO, journalist, author, was born June 16, 1846, in Germany. Since 1880 he has been engaged in writing on agriculture. He is the author of Money in Potatoes; How to Make the Garden Pay; New Onion Culture; Practical Farm Chemistry; Onions for Profit; Young Market Gardener; and The Garden Book.

GRESLEY, WILLIAM STUKELEY, mining engineer, author, was born Nov. 7, 1852, in England. He is the author of Glossary of Coal Mining Terms; and Different Methods of Working Coal in Various Countries.

GRIFFIN, MARTIN IGNATIUS JOSEPH, journalist, author, was born Oct. 23, 1842, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1873 he has been editor and publisher of Griffin's Journal of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of History of Commodore John Barry; Bishop Egan; Thomas Lloyd; Thomas Fitz Simmons; and other Catholic American Historical works.

GRIFFIN, APPLETON PRENTISS CLARK, librarian, author, was born in Wilton, N. H. Since 1897 he has been assistant librarian of Library of Congress at Washington, D. C. He is the author of Discovery of the Mississippi; and Index of Articles Upon American Local History in Collections.

GRIFFIN, THOMAS MUSGROVE, civil engineer, inventor, was born April 23, 1823, in New York city. He assisted in the preliminary surveys of the Panama railroad; built the suspension bridge at Hamilton, Canada; and the first bridge over the Mississippi river in 1854. He was mechanical engineer under Admiral Francis H. Gregory during the civil war.

GRIFFITH, FRANCIS MARION, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 21, 1849, in Switzerland county, Ind. In 1886-94 he was state senator; was elected to congress to fill vacancy; and was re-elected to the fifty-fifth and fifty-sixth congresses as a democrat.

GRIFFITH, J. P. CROZER, physician, author, was born Jan, 5, 1856, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since the year 1891 he has been clinical professor of diseases of children at University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of The Care of the Baby.

GRIGGS, EDWARD HOWARD, educator, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 9, 1868, in Owatonna, Minn. Since 1899 he has been a public lecturer. He is the author of The New Humanism.

GRIMMELL, JULIUS C., clergyman, author, was born May 30, 1847, in Germany. He is president of the Cleveland Baptist City Mission Society. He is the author of Bible Lands in Sunshine and Shadow; and a book of hymns.

GRIMSLEY, GEORGE PERRY, geologist, author, was born February, 1868, at Granville, Ohio. Since 1895 he has been professor of geology and natural history at Washburn College of Topeka, Kan. He is the author of Studies of Granites of Cecil county, Md.; Gypsum Deposits of Kansas; and Microscopical Study of Limestones of Ohio; and Mineral Resources of Kansas.

GRINNELL, FREDERICK, mechanical engineer, was born Aug. 14, 1836, in New Bedford, Mass. In 1869 he became president, manager and mechanical engineer of the Providence steam and gas pipe company. He introduced and has done much to perfect the automatic fire extinguisher and alarm, taking out about forty patents in connection with it.

GROSS, CHARLES, educator, author, was born Feb. 10, 1857, in Troy, N. Y.; married Miss Annie Smith, of London, England, July 15, 1889. Since 1888 he has been an instructor at Harvard university. He is the author of The Gild Merchant; Select Cases from the Coroners' Rolls; Bibliography of British Municipal History.

GROSS, HALLER ALBERT, lawyer, author, was born March 18, 1844, in Louisville, Ky. In 1868 he was appointed United States attorney for New Mexico. He was elected in 1882 a member of the select council of Philadelphia. In 1885 he declined the United States consulship at Athens, Greece. He is the author of Autobiography of his father; and a work on Cremation.

GROSSCUP, PETER STENGER, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 15, 1852, in Ashland, Ohio. In 1874-83 he practiced law at Ashland, Ohio; and was city solicitor for six years. In 1882-92 he practiced law in Chicago, Ill. Since 1892 he has been United States judge for the northern district of Illinois. Among his notable judicial acts are included his opinion upon the application to close up the World's Columbian Exposition on Sundays; also the injunction issued by him against Eugene V. Debs and other officers of the American Railway Union.

GROSSMAN, LOUIS, rabbi, author, was born Feb. 24, 1863, in Vienna, Austria. Since 1898 he has been rabbi of the Congregation of B'nai Yeshurun of Cincinnati; and also professor of ethics, theology and pedagogics at Hebrew Union College. He is the author of Judaism and the Science of Religion; and The Jewish Pulpit.

GROUT, ABEL JOEL, botanist, author, was born March 24, 1867, in Newfane, Vt., Since 1899 he has been a teacher of botany in Boys' High School of Brooklyn, N. Y. He has made a specialty of Mosses. He is the author of Mosses with a Hand-Lens.

GROWOLL, ADOLF, journalist, author, was born in 1850 in New York city. He is managing editor of The Publishers' Weekly of New York city. He is the author of The Bookseller's Library and How to Use It; The Profession of Bookselling; Handbook of Practical Hints for the Apprentice and Bookseller, in two volumes; and a Bibliography of American Books.

GRUBB, IGNATIUS C., lawyer, jurist, author, was born April 12, 1841, in Grubbs Landing, Del. Since 1897 he has been associate judge-at-large of the supreme court of Delaware. He is the author of Colonial and State Judiciary of Delaware.

GUERBER, HELENE ADELINE, educator, author. She is the editor of French and German text-books. She is the author of Myths of Greece and Rome; Myths of Northern Lands; Legends of the Middle Ages; Legends of the Rhine; Legends of the Virgin and Christ; Stories of the Wagner Operas; Stories of Famous Operas; Story of the Chosen People; Story of the Greeks; Story of the Romans; Story of the English; Story of the Thirteen Colonies; and Story of the Great Republic.

GUFFY, BAYLESS L. D., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 24, 1832, in Muhlenberg county, Ky. In 1862-70 he was county judge; and in 1876 was a greenback candidate for congress. In 1878-86 he was judge of Butler county, Ky.; and since 1894 has been judge of the court of appeals of Kentucky.

GUILFORD, SIMEON HAYDEN, dentist, scientist, author, was born April 11, 1841, in Lebanon, Pa. In 1862-63 he served as a private in the civil war. Since 1872 he has practiced dentistry in Philadelphia, Pa.; has been professor in Philadelphia Dental College since 1881; and dean of same since 1895. He is the author of Nitrous Oxide and Orthodontia.

GULICK, JOHN THOMAS, missionary, author, was born March 13, 1832, in Hawaiian Islands. Since 1864 he has been missionary of American Board of Commissioners of Foreign Missions. He is the author of The Diversity of Evolution under One Set of External Conditions; Divergent Evolution through Cumulative Segregation; Intensive Segregation; Divergent Evolution and the Darwinian Theory; and The Inconsistencies of Utilitarianism.

GUMMERE, W. S., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of New Jersey.

GUNTON, GEORGE, journalist, author, was born Sept. 8, 1845, in England. In 1890 he established Gunton's Magazine of New York city. He is the author of Wealth and Progress; Principles of Social Economics; and Trusts and the Public.

GUTHRIE, WILLIAM DAMERON, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 3, 1859, in San Francisco, Cal. He is a prominent orator and constitutional lawyer; and argued Illinois inheritance tax and oleomargarine cases in United States supreme court. He is the author of Lectures on the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution.

GUTHRIE, WILLIAM NORMAN, lecturer, author, poet, was born March 4, 1868, in Scotland. Since 1898 he has been lecturer of comparative literature at University of Cincinnati. He is the author of Modern Poet Prophets; Essays Critical and Interpretative; To Kindle the Yule Log; and A Booklet of Verse.

GUY, SEYMOUR JOSEPH, artist, was born Jan. 16, 1824, in England. He came to New York in 1854, where he still resides. His subjects are chiefly scenes and incidents drawn from child-life. He exhibited at the academy The Good Sister; After the Shower; The Little Stranger; The Little Orange Girl; and See-Saw, Margery Daw.

HAACKE, HENRY, journalist, author, was born Oct. 22, 1838, in Germany. Since 1872 he has been editor of Cincinnati Volksfreund. He is the author of a volume of Poems.

HAAS, JOHN A. W., clergyman, author, was born Aug. 31, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1896 he has been pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church of New York city. He is the author of Commentary on the Gospel of Mark in Lutheran Commentary.

HACKETT, FRANK WARREN, lawyer, author, was born April 11, 1841, in Portsmoutth, N. H. Since 1873 he has practiced law in Washington, D. C.; and since 1900 has been assistant secretary of the navy. He is the author of The Geneva Award Acts; and The Gavel and the Mace.

HACKH, OTTO CHRISTOPH, musician, composer, was born Sept. 30, 1852, in Stuttgart. Since 1895 he has been teacher in New York and Brooklyn, N. L. He is the author of some two hundred pieces.

HACKLEY, CHARLES H., lumberman, philanthropist, was born Jan. 3, 1837, in Michigan City, Ind. He worked in mill as laborer and foreman; went to commercial school; became bookkeeper and subsequently partner in mill firm. He bought a square in Muskegon, removed the buildings, turned it into a park and in the center built soldiers' monument. He gave the park to the city; also gave the city a two hundred thousand dollar public library, a sixty thousand dollar high school and a seventy-five thousand dollar central school.

HACKNEY, LEONARD J., lawyer, jurist, was born March 29, 1885, in Johnson county, Ind. In 1878-80 he was prosecuting attorney of Shelby and Johnson counties, Ind.; and in 1888-93 judge of circuit court. Since 1893 he has been judge of the supreme court of Indiana.

HADLEY, JOHN VESTAL, soldier, lawyer, state senator, jurist, author, was born Oct. 31, 1842, in Hendricks county, Ind. He served nearly four years during the civil war. In 1869-72 he was a member of the Indiana state senate. In 1888-97 he was circuit judge; and since 1899 has been chief justice of the supreme court of Indiana. He is the author of Seven Months A Prisoner.

HAGEN, JOHN GEORGE, educator, author, was born March 6, 1847, in Austria. Since 1880 he has been director of Observatory at Georgetown College, D. C. He is the author of several works in German.

HAID, LEO, R. C. Bishop, was born July 15, 1849, in Latrobe, Pa. In 1872-85 he was chaplain and a professor at St. Vincent's abbey; and in 1885 became abbot of St. Mary Help abbey. He still fills the offices of abbot of the abbey and vicar apostolic of North Carolina.

HAIGHT, ALBERT, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 20, 1842, in Ellicottville, N. Y. In 1872 he became county judge of Erie county, N. Y.; and in 1876-94 was justice of the supreme court. Since 1894 he has been associate judge New York court of appeals.

HAILMANN, WILLIAM NICHOLAS, educator, author, was born Oct. 20, 1836 in Switzerland. In 1894-98 he was national superintendent of Indian schools; and since 1898 has been superintendent of instruction of Dayton, Ohio. He is the author of a System of Object Teaching; History of Pedagogy; and Kindergarten Culture.

HAINER, BAYARD T., lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 31, 1860, in Columbia, Mo. Since 1898 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Oklahoma; admitted to bar, supreme court, Michigan; practiced law at Larned, Kan., till 1889. He is the author of The Modern Law of Municipal Securities.

HAINES, ELMER P., railroad builder, was born Aug. 25, 1860, in Medusa, N. Y. He is a member of the Haines' Railway Systems of Kinderhook, N. Y. He was democratic candidate for congress in 1896; is president of the Champlain Graphite Mining company; and also of several railroads.

HAINES, WILLIAM T., lawyer, state senator, was born in Maine. He was county attorney in 1882-86; and in 1888-92 was a member of the Maine state senate. Since 1896 he has been attorney-general of Maine.

HAINS, PETER CONOVER, soldier, was born July 6, 1840, in Pennsylvania. He served throughout the civil war and was several times breveted; served on light-house duty and as secretary light-improvement in Washington, and various house board; had charge Potomac Flats harbor and river improvements and fortifications; was member board of engineers, New York; is member board of ordiuance and fortifications. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier general of volunteers; and served in the war against Spain.

HALE, EDWARD EVERETT, educator author, was born Feb. 18, 1863, in Boston, Mass. He is a son of Edward Everett Hale, the eminent divine and author. Since 1895 he has been professor of rhetoric in Union College of Schenectady, N. Y. He is the author of Constructive Rhetoric.

HALE, IRVING, soldier, scientist, was born Aug. 28, 1861, in North Bloomfield, N. Y. In 1884 he was made second-lieutenant of engineers; and was steadily promoted, and became brigadier general in 1898. In 1898-99 he was engaged in service against the Filipino insurgents; and was recommended major-general by brevet for gallant and meritorious services throughout the campaign. He resigned Oct. 1, 1899; and is now manager Rocky Mountaiu District General Electric Company at Denver, Colo.

HALE, PHILIP, musician, composer, was born March 5, 1854, in Norwich, Vt. Since 1897 he has been editor of the Boston Musical Record. He has given lectures on musical subjects at Columbia university of New York city; and in various other cities.

HALE, RICHARD WALDEN, lawyer, author. He is the author of The Dreyfus Story.

HALE, WILLIAM, physician, author, poet, was born Jan. 18, 1856, in Dover, N. H. He is a noted physician of Gloucester, Mass. He is the author of Shore Life in Song.

HALE, WILLIAM GARDNER, educator, author, was born Feb. 9, 1849. Since 1892 he has been professor of Latin in the University of Chicago. He is the author of The Art of Reading Latin; and The Hale-Buck Latin Grammar.

HALE, WILLIAM THOMAS, lawyer, journalist, author, poet, was born Feb. 1, 1857, in Liberty, Tenn. He practiced his profession in 1880-93; since which time he has been connected with the Commercial Appeal of Memphis, the Post-Dispatch of St. Louis, the American of Nashville, and the Sentinel of Knoxville. He is the author of Divorce and Land Laws of Tennessee; Showers and Sunshine, a volume of poems; The Backwoods Trail, Stories of the Indians and Pioneers; An Autumn Lane, and Other Poems.

HALL, BOLTON, lawyer, lecturer, author, was born in 1854 in Ireland. He is a university extension lecturer. He is the author of Even as You and I; and other works.

HALL, CHARLES HARRIS, lawyer, merchant, was born March 19, 1860, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He studied law in his father's office; and subsequently engaged in mercantile business.

HALL, CHARLES MARTIN, manufacturer, inventor, was born Dec. 6, 1863, in Thompson, Ohio. In 1886 he invented the electrolytic power for the manufacture of aluminum now universally used.

HALL, CHARLES SAMUEL, lawyer, author, was born May 10, 1827, in Middletown, Conn. In 1831 he removed to Buffalo with his parents; the family settled in Binghamton in 1837. He was admitted to the bar in 1851; in 1856 became United States commissioner, and since 1879 has been master and examiner in chancery. As village attorney it fell to his lot to make a draft of a city charter for Binghamton in 1857, which he perfected ten years later. For four years he was a member of the board of education; and during that time revised the city school law and the methods of keeping the school accounts. During the civil war he was active in the enlistment of recruits for the army, and administered the oath of allegiance to nearly every member of three companies. He is the author of Hall Ancestry; Why the Missouri Compromise Should be Repealed; and various other articles on political and educational subjects.

HALL, EDWARD HAGAMAN, journalist, author, was born Nov. 3, 1858, in Auburn, N. Y. He is the author of Financial Red Book of America.

HALL, EDWIN HERBERT, educator, author, was born Nov. 7, 1855, in Gorham, Me. Since 1895 he has been professor of physics at Harvard. He is the author of A Text-Book of Physics; and Lessons in Physics.

HALL, GEORGE HENRY, artist, was born in 1825, in Boston, Mass. He is a painter of figures, especially of Italian and Spanish peasants. Also paints still life pictures, especially fruit. His principal works are Precious Lady; The Four Seasons; and The Roman Fountain.

HALL, JAMES KNOX POLK, lawyer, financier, congressman, was born Sept 30, 1844, in Milesburg, Pa. He was district attorney of Elk county in 1867-76; retired from practice in 1883; and has since devoted himself to his coal, lumber, railroad and banking interests. He was elected to the Fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

HALL, JOHN LESSLIE, educator, author, was born March 2, 1856, in Williamsburg, Va. He is professor of English language and literature at William and Mary College. He is the author of Translation of Beowulf; and Old English Idyls.

HALL, PRESCOTT FARNSWORTH, lawyer, author, was born in 1868, in Boston, Mass. In 1896 he was a delegate to Indianapolis convention. He is the author of Reference List of Wills Construed by the Supreme Court in Massachusetts.

HALL, ROBERT HENRY, soldier, author, was born Nov. 15, 1837, in Detroit, Mich. He served through the civil war; and attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel. He was a brigadier-general during the Spanish-American war; and is now serving in the Philippines. He is the author of History of the Flag of the United States; and History of United States Infantry Tactics.

HALL, RUTH, journalist, author, was born April 10, 1858, in Schoharie, N. Y. She originated and edited Between Us Women column in New York Mail and Express in 1893-95. She is the author of In the Brave Days of Old; The Boys of Scrooby; and The Black Gown.

HALL, SAMUEL HOLDEN PARSONS, capitalist, was born Oct. 10, 1868, in Binghamton, N. Y. He is prominent in the business and public affairs of Ballston, N. Y., where he has charge of a large estate.

HALL, THEODORE PARSONS, banker, grain broker, genealogist, author, was born Dec. 15, 1835, in Rocky Hill, Conn. In 1856 he graduated from Yale; and in his class were Judges Brewer and Brown of the United States supreme court, Chauncey M. Depew and Prof. Packard. He studied law for awhile in his brother's office, but finally engaged in the banking business. For thirty years he was engaged in the grainshipping business under the well-known firm name of Gillette and Hall of Detroit, Mich. In 1880 he established Tonnancour, twelve miles from Detroit, where he has laid out a beautiful park overlooking Lake St. Claire. In 1886 he published a series of geneaological notes relating to the families of Gov. Lyman Hall of Georgia, Hon. Samuel Holden Parsons Hall of Binghamton, and Hon. Nathan Kelsey Hall of Buffalo. In 1892 he published family records of Theodore Parsons Hall and Alexandrine Louise Godfrey of Tonnoncour, Grosse Point.

HALL, THOMAS CUMING, theologian, author, was born Sept. 25, 1858, in Ireland. Since 1898 he has been professor of theology at Union Theological Seminary. He is the author of The Power of An Endless Life; The Social Significance of the Evangelical Revival in England; and The Synoptic Gospels.

HALL, WILLIAM T., lawyer, jurist, author. He is a police magistrate and justice of the peace of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of several published works.

HALLAM, MRS. JULIA CLARK, educator, author, was born Jan. 7, 1860, in Portage, Wis. She taught in high schools of Madison and La Crosse, Wis. She is the author of The Relation of the Sexes from a Scientific Standpoint.

HALLECK, REUBEN POST, educator, author, was born Feb. 8, 1859, in Rocky Point, N. Y. Since 1896 he has been principal of the Male High School at Louisville, Ky. He is the author of Psychology and Psychic.

HALLOCK, JOSEPH NEWTON, journalist, clergyman, author, was born in 1834, in Franklinville, N. Y. Since 1880 he has been editor-in-chief and proprietor of The Christian Work of Brooklyn, N. Y. He is director in several large corporations. He is author of A History of Southampton; First Impressions of Europe; Twice Across the Continent; The Christian Life; and Family Worship.

HALLOWELL, MRS. ANNA DAVIS, author, was born April 21, 1838, in Philadelphia. She is the wife of Richard Price Hallowell. She is the author of James and Lucretia Mott, Their Life and Letters.

HALLOWELL, RICHARD PRICE, merchant, author, was born Dec. 16, 1835, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a successful wool merchant of Boston, Mass. He is the author of The Quaker Invasion of Massachusetts; and The Pioneer Quakers.

HALSEY, FRANCIS WHITING, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 15, 1851, in Unadilla, N. Y. Since 1880 he has been editor on the staff of the New York Times. He is the author of Two Months Abroad; and An Old New York Frontier, Its Indian Wars, Pioneers and Land Titles.

HALSEY, FREDERICK A., journalist, civil engineer, author, was born July 12, 1856, in Unadilla, N. Y. Since 1895 he has been associate editor of American Machinist of New York city. He is also well known as a successful consulting engineer. He is the inventor of the premium plan of paying for labor. He is the author of The Locomotive Link Motion.

HALSEY, JACOB LAFAYETTE, insurance, was born Aug. 18, 1828, in New York city. Since 1846 he has been connected with the New York Life Insurance company, of which he is vice-president. His name is associated with nearly the entire period of the development of life insurance in America.

HAMBLEN, HERBERT ELLIOTT, civil engineer, author, was born Dec. 24, 1849, in Ossippee, N. H. He is now employed by New York city aqueduct department. He is the author of On Many Seas; The General Manager's Story; Tom Benton's Luck; The Story of a Yankee Boy; We Win; Scotty; and A Modern Sea Rover.

HAMER, THOMAS R., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born May 4, 1864, in Vermont, Ill. He was elected to the state legislature of Idaho from Fremont county. During the Spanish-American war he raised a company of infantry, and was commissioned captain. While serving in the Philippine Islands he was appointed provost judge in Manila. He was wounded at the battle of Coloocan; was commissioned lieutenant-colonel; and is now military governor of the island of Cebu.

HAMERSLEY, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 9, 1838, in Hartford, Conn. In 1865-68 he was city attorney of Hartford, Conn.; and in 1868-88 was states attorney. In 1893-94 he was judge of the superior court; and since 1894 has been associate judge of the Conecticut supreme court of errors.

HAMILTON, PETER JOSEPH, lawyer, author, was born March 19, 1859, in Mobile, Ala. He has been city attorney of Mobile, Ala. He is the author of Colonial Mobile; and Ramblers in Historic Lands.

HAMMELL, GEORGE MILTON, educator, clergyman, author, was born July 20, 1852, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He was for many years instructor in Nelson's College. He was a member of the Cincinnati conference; and has been literary editor Western Christian Advocate. He is now professor of political science and economics in the American Temperance University of Tennessee. In 1899 he was nominated governor of Tennessee on the prohibition ticket.

HAMMOND, JASON E., educator, author, was born May 17, 1862, in Hillsdale county, Mich. Since 1897 he has been superintendent of public instruction of Michigan. He is the author of Revised State Manual and Course of Study.

HAMMOND, JOHN WILKES, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Dec. 16, 1837, in Mattopoisett, Mass. In 1866-86 he practiced law at Cambridge, Mass.; was city solicitor in 1873-86; justice superior court of Massachusetts in 1886-98; and a member of the house of representatives of Massachusetts in 1872-73. Since 1898 he has been justice of the supreme court.

HAMMOND, JOSEPH, educator, legislator, genealogist, was born April 5, 1809, in Swanzey, N. H. For nearly sixty years he has been justice of the peace. In 1850-51 he was a member of the New Hampshire state legislature; and for twenty years was engaged in educational work. He is the author of Swanzey Hammonds.

HANAFORD, MRS. PHEBE ANNE, minister, lecturer, author, poet, was born May 6, 1829, in Nantucket, Mass. She was the first woman minister ordained in New England. She is the author of Life of Abraham Lincoln; Life of George Peabody; Lucretia, the Quakeress; Leonette, or Truth Sought and Found; The Best of Books and its History; Frank Nelson, the Runaway Boy; The Soldier's Daughter; Field, Gunboat and Hospital; Women of the Century; The Captive Boy of Tierra del Fuego; Life of Dickens; Heart of Siasconset; and From Shore to Shore and Other Poems.

HANCOCK, HARRY IRVING, author. He is the author of Detective Johnson of New Orleans; What One Man Saw; His Evil Eye; Inspector Henderson; and Aguinaldo's Hostage.

HANECY, ELBRIDGE, lawyer, jurist, was born March 15, 1852, in Massachusetts. He was clerk in the dry goods house of Field, Leiter & Company to 1871; and subsequently with J. V. Farwell & Company. He was a member of the law firm of Hanecy and Merrick. In 1893-95 he was judge of the circuit court of Cook county, Ill; and then was assigned as a chancellor of the same court. In 1[illegible] he was candidate for mayor of Chicago.

HANUS, PAUL HENRY, educator, author, was born March 14, 1855, in Prussia. Since 1891 he has been assistant professor of education at Harvard university. He is the author of Elements of Determinants; Geometry in the Grammar School; and Educational Aims and Educational Values.

HAPGOOD, NORMAN, journalist, author, was born March 28, 1868, in Chicago, Ill. He is dramatic critic of the New York Commercial Advertiser and The Bookman. He is the author of Literary Statesmen; Daniel Webster; and Abraham Lincoln, the Man of the People.

HARALSON, JONATHAN, lawyer, jurist, was born in Lowndes county, Ala. In 1876-92 he was judge of the city court of Selma, Ala.; and since 1892 has been justice of the supreme court of Alabama. Since 1888 he has been president of the Southern Baptist Convention.

HARBEN, WILLIAM NATHANIEL, author, was born July 5, 1858, in Dalton, Ga. He is the author of White Marie; Almost Persuaded; A Mute Confessor; The Land of the Changing Sun; From Clue to Climax; The Caruther's Affair; The North Walk Mystery; and the Woman Who Trusted.

HARDENBERGH, HENRY JANEWAY, architect, was born Feb. 6, 1847, in New Brunswick, N. J. He was one of the founders of the American Fine Arts Society and Mutual Art Society. He erected from his designs the Dakota Hotel, Waldorf-Astoria, Manhattan Hotel, and American Fine Arts Society Building.

HARDIN, GEORGE A., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Aug. 17, 1832, in Winfield, N. Y. In 1861 he was a member of the New York state senate. Since 1884 he has been presiding justice of the 4th department appellate division of the supreme court of New York.

HARDIN, MARTIN D., soldier, lawyer, lecturer, author, was born June 26, 1837, in Jacksonville, Ill. During the civil war he attained th rank of brigadier-general. Since 1870 he has practiced law in Chicago, Ill. He has lectured extensively on military subjects. He is the author of History of the Twelfth Regiment Pennsylvania Reserves.

HARDIN, WILLETT LEPLEY, chemist, author, was born Dec. 8, 1868, in Lima, Ohio. Since 1896 he has been lecturer in physical chemistry at University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of The Rise and Development of the Liquefaction of Gases; and translated Traube's Physico-Chemical Methods.

HARDING, JOHN W., journalist, author, was born Oct. 30, 1864, in England. He fills an important position on a New York newspaper. He is the author of A Bachelor of Paris; The Strolling Piper of Brittany; The Conjurer of Phantoms; and translated The Memoirs of Victor Hugo.

HARDING, MYRON HOLLY, physician, was born Aug. 7, 1810, in Williamson, N. Y. He has served as United States pension surgeon since his appointment in 1862.

HARDY, D. H., lawyer, public official, was born March 4, 1857, in Athens, Miss. He is a successful lawyer of Waco, Tex.; was presidential elector in 1896; and is now secretary of state.

HARE, HOBART AMORY, physician, author, was born Sept. 20, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1891 he has been editor of the Therapeutic Gazette, of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Text-Book of Practical Therapeutics; Practical Diagnosis; and a System of Therapeutics, in four volumes.

HARKNESS, WILLIAM, surgeon, astronomer, physicist, was born Dec. 17, 1837, in Scotland. In 1862 he was appointed aide at the Untied States naval observatory; and also served as surgeon in the United States army at the second battle of Bull Run and during the attack on Washington in 1864. He was commissioned professor of mathematics in the United States navy, with the relative rank of lieutenant-commander, in 1863, and stationed at the naval observatory at Washington, D. C. In 1865-67, during a cruise in the Monadnock, he made an extensive series of observations on terrestrial magnetism at the principal ports in South America. In 1899 he was retired with the rank of rear admiral.

HARLAN, HENRY DAVID, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 23, 1858, in Churchville, Md. Since 1888 he has been chief judge of the supreme bench of Baltimore, Md.

HARLAND, EDWARD, soldier, lawyer, banker, state senator, was born June 21, 1832, in Norwich, Conn. In 1863 he attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1869 he was a member of the Connecticut legislature; and in 1870 a member of the state senate. In 1862-76 he was presiding judge of probate. He is the president of the Norwich Savings Bank.

HARNISCH, ALBERT ERNEST, sculptor, was born Feb. 14, 1842, in Philadelphia, Pa. He early showed a taste for art, and while still a lad modeled his first work, a Cupid. In 1878 he executed a model for an equestrian statue of Gen. Robert E. Lee, which is said to be remarkable in respect to its simplicity.

HARPER, GEORGE McLEAN, educator, author, was born Dec. 31, 1863, in Shippensburg, Pa. Since 1894 he has been professor of romance languages at Princeton university. He is the author of The Legend of the Holy Grail.

HARPER, SAMUEL H., lawyer, jurist. He was a judge of the United States court for the district of Louisiana.

HARPER, WILLIAM ST. JOHN, illustrator, artist, was born Sept. 8, 1851, in Rheinbeck, N. Y. He is a painter and book-illustrator. In 1881-83 he was president of the Art Student's League; and received the Clark prize in 1892 for painting Autumn. He has illustrated fine holiday editions of standard poets, romances, and school books and historical works.

HARRINGTON, KARL POMEROY, educator, musician, author, was born June 13, 1861, in Somersworth, N. H. Since 1899 he has been professor of Latin at university of Maine. In 1899 he was president of Bangor Festival Chorus. He is the author of Helps to the Intelligent Study of College Preparatory Latin.

HARRINGTON, JOHN WALKER, journalist, author, was born July 8, 1868, in Plattsburgh, Mo. He is now on the staff of the New York Herald. He is the author of The Jumping Kangaroo and the Apple Butter Cat.

HARRIS, CICERO RICHARDS, clergyman, bishop, was born Aug. 25, 1844, in Fayetteville, N. C. He is of African descent. He became principal of Livingston college in 1880; and was professor of mathematics there in 1882-88. He was general secretary of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church in 1880-84; and its general steward in 1880-88, when he became a bishop.

HARRIS, GEORGE B., railroad president, was born in 1848, in Brookline, Mass. Since 1901 he has been president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad.

HARRIS, MAURICE HENRY, clergyman, author, was born in London, England. In 1883 he became rabbi of the Temple Israel of Harlan, N. Y. He is the author of Selected Addresses, in three volumes.

HARRIS, WILLIAM CHARLES, soldier, journalist, author, was born May 30, 1830, in Baltimore, Md. He served as a soldier throughout the civil war. He is now editor and publisher of The American Angler. He is the author of The Fishes of North America, with colored lithographic plates of fishes; The Trouts of America; Game Fishes of the West; Game Fishes of the Atlantic Coast; and Sportsmen's Guide.

HARRIS, WILLIAM H., naval officer. He served throughout the civil war as engineer; and in 1883 became chief engineer. In 1890 he was retired by age limitation with rank of rear admiral.

HARRIS, WILLIAM VICTOR, musician, composer, was born April 27, 1869, in New York city. He is a vocal instructor, accompanist, and composer of New York city. He is the author of several songs and an operetta.

HARRISON, MRS. BELLE RICHARDSON, educator, poet, was born Oct. 20, 1856, in Camden, Ala. She is the author of Poems.

HARRISON, GEORGE M., lawyer, jurist. He is associate judge of the supreme court of Virginia.

HARRISON, RALPH C., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of California.

HARRISON, T. O. C., lawyer, jurist. He is chief justice of the supreme court of Nebraska.

HARSHBERGER, JOHN WILLIAM, educator, author, was born Jan. 1, 1869, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is instructor in botany at university of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Botanical and Economic Study; The Botanists of Philadelphia and Their Work.

HART, BURDETT, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 16, 1821, in New Britain, Conn. He is the author of Biblical Epochs; Studies of the Model Life; Aspects of Heaven; Always Upward; and The Crown Lost and Restored.

HART, CHARLES ARTHUR, entomologist, author, was born Oct. 12, 1859, in Quincy, Ill. He is a specialist in Aquatic Insect Life. He is the author of The Entomology of the Illinois River.

HART, EDWARD, chemist, author, was born in Doylestown, Pa. He is professor of chemistry in Lafayette college of Easton, Pa. He has taken out four chemical patents. He is the author of Chemistry for Beginners.

HART, HENRY MARTYN, clergyman, author, was born March 3, 1838, in England. He is dean of St. John's cathedral of Denver. He is the author of Elementary Chemistry; A Book of Family Prayer; and A Way that Seemeth Right.

HART, PERCIE W., author, was born in 1870 in Nova Scotia. He is the author of A Tale of Nova Scotia; The Flying Cloud; Torpedo Boat Captured; The First Law of the Service; Sandals and Sabots; Ye Windmlil of Wall Street; Ye Key of Ye Broadway Gate; Ye Battle of Maiden Lane; and The Crimsoning of the High Seas.

HARTMANN, ARTHUR, musician composer, was born July 23, 1882, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has played the violin with success in London, Paris and Vienna.

HARTSHORN, ORVILLE. NELSON, educator, college president, author. He settled in Mount Union, Iowa, in charge of a school which developed into Mount Union college in 1858. For forty-one years he was president of the institution. He is the author of a treatise entitled The Supremacy of the Law.

HARTZELL, JOSEPH CRANE, missionary, bishop, was born June 1, 1842, in Illinois. In 1896 he was elected missionary bishop to Africa; and has since labored in building up missions there.

HARTZLER, HENRY BURNS, clergyman, author, was born March 23, 1840, in York county, Pa. He is the author of Moody in Chicago.

HARVEY, CORNELIUS BURNHAM, educator, soldier lawyer, genealogist, was born Oct. 20, 1839, in Enfield, N. Y. He taught school for awhile; and in 1862 he enlisted as a private in the fourteenth regiment, New Jersey volunteers. He has a large practice in Jersey City. He has given many years to historical and genealogical research. He is the author of the Buck Genealogy of the Harvey Family; and a Biographical and Genealogical History of Bergen and Hudson Counties.

HARVEY, HEZEKIAH, clergyman, educator, author, was born Nov. 27, 182[illegible] in England. He came to the United States in 1830. In 1849-57 he was pastor of the Baptist church in Homer, N. Y.; and since that time he has been a professor in the Hamilton theological seminary. He is the author of Memoir of Rev. Alfred Bennett; The Church, its Polity and Ordinances; and The Pastor, His Qualifications and Duties.

HASBROUCK, HENRY C., soldier, was born Oct. 26, 1839, in Newburgh, N. Y. During the civil war he attained the rank of captain. He became major for gallant service in action against Indians in Sorass Lake, Cal. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general of the United States volunteers, serving in volunteer army as commander of the second brigade, second division, seventh army corps.

HASKINS, CARYL DAVIS, civil engineer, inventor, author, was born May 22, 1867, in Walton, Mass. In 1893 he invented the auto-dirigible torpedo. He volunteered for Spanish war and placed second in charge of submarine mining operations in Boston district; and in 1898 commanded the volunteer electric corps, Boston battalion. He is the author of papers on electric subjects, and on coast defense and torpedo warfare.

HASKINS, KITTREDGE, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born April 8, 1836, in Dover, Vt. During the civil war he attained the rank of first lieutenant. In 1872-73, and 1896-99 he was a member of the Vermont general assembly; and in 1892-93 was a member of the state senate. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Vermont as a republican.

HASSAM, CHILDE, artist, was born in 1859 in Boston, Mass. He has received numerous medals for art exhibitions in Paris, Boston, Philadelphia, Cleveland and Chicago.

HASSLER, MRS. ELIZABETH EMILY, author, was born Jan. 27, 1865, in Batavia, Ill. She is the wife of Dr. Ferdinand A. Hassler. Since 1883 she has been engaged as a writer of fiction for magazines and newspapers.

HASTINGS DANIEL HARTMAN, lawyer, governor, was born Feb. 26, 1849, in Salona, Pa. In 1875-88 he practiced law, and has since been largely interested in coal mines and banking. In 1888 he was a delegate at large to National republican convention. In 1895-99 he was governor of Pennsylvania.

HASTINGS, RUSSELL, soldier, legislator, was born May 30, 1835, in Greenfield, Mass. Early in the civil war he enlisted as a private, and was soon promoted to be a lieutenant in the 23d Ohio regiment. He was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1865. He was elected a member of the Ohio legislature in 1865; and while there was appointed United States marshal for the northern district of Ohio, serving until 1874.

HASTINGS, THOMAS, architect, was born March 11, 1860, in New York city. He is an architect of New York city; and one of the designers of the New Consolidated library; Academy of Designs; and other buildings.

HASTREITER, MRS. HELEN, musician, composer, was born Nov. 14, 1858, in Louisville, Ky. Her home is in Genoa. She is a great favorite in Italy; some of her leading roles are Orfeo, Euridice, Dalilah, Senta, and Ortrud.

HATCH, JOHN PORTER, soldier, was born Jan. 9, 1822, in Oswego, N. Y. He served in the Mexican war; and in 1861 became general of volunteers.

HATFIELD, JAMES TAFT, educator, author, was born June 15, 1862, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1890 he has been professor of German literature at Northwestern university of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Elements of Sanskrit Grammar; Materials for German composition; and German Lyrics and Ballads.

HATTSTAEDT, JOHN J., musician, composer, was born Dec. 29, 1851, in Monroe, Mich. Since 1886 he has been director of the American Conservatory of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Manual of Musical History.

HAUCK, MINNIE, musician, composer, was born Nov. 16, 1852, in New York city. She has sung repeatedly in all European capitals, and in America. In 1881 she married Ernst von Hesse-Wartegg, the traveler. Her principal roles are Zerlina, Mignon, Rosine, Margaretha, Aida, Fille du Regiment, and Carmen.

HAUGEN, GILBERT N., legislator, banker, congressman, was born April 21, 1859, in Rock county, Wis. He was elected to the Iowa state legislature, serving in the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth general assemblies. In 1890 he was one of the organizers of the Northwood Banking company, now operating banking institutions in Northwood and Kensett, Iowa, of which concern he is president. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Iowa as a republican.

HAUSER, SAMUEL THOMAS, miner, banker, governor, was born June 10, 1833, in Falmouth, Ky. In 1865 he opened a bank at Virginia City, Mont.; and since 1866 he has been president of the First National Bank of Helena, Mont. He built the first smelter and silver mill in Montana. In 1886-88 he was governor of Montana.

HAVEMEYER, HENRY OSBORNE, sugar refiner, philanthropist, was born Oct. 18, 1847, in New York city. In 1891 he organized and ever since has been president of the American Sugar Refining Company, with a capital of seventy-five million dollars. He presented a public school-house, costing $250,000 to Greenwood, Conn.

HAWKINS, HAMILTON S., soldier, was born in 1834, in Charleston, S. C. In 1865 he was brevetted major; promoted through the grades, becoming colonel of the twentieth infantry in 1894. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers; major-general in 1898; and was retired from the army.

HAWLEY, WILLIAM DICKINSON, genealogist, philanthropist, was born Jan. 11, 1838, in Northampton, Mass. For nearly forty years he has been chief clerk State Auditor's department at Boston, Mass. He is the author of Genealogy of the Hawley Family of Marblehead.

HAY, HELEN, author, poet, was born in New York city. She is the author of Some Verses; Beasts and Birds; The Little Boy Book; and The Rose of Dawn.

HAYDEN, HORACE EDWIN, soldier, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 18, 1837, in Catonsville, Md. In 1861-65 he served as private in the Confederate army. Since 1879 he has been assistant minister at St. Stephen's church of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He is the author of History of the West Virginia Soldiers' Medals; Virginia Genealogies; Massacre of Wyoming; Pollock Memorial; and Weitzel Memorial.

HAYES, ELLEN, educator, author, was born Sept. 23, 1851, in Granville, Ohio. Since 1897 she has been professor of applied mathematics at Wellesley college. She is a lecturer on educational and sociological questions. She is the author of Higher Algebra; and Trigonometry.

HAYES, JOHN RUSSELL, educator, author, poet, was born June 25, 1866, in West Chester, Pa. Since 1893 he has been assistant professor of English at Swarthmore college. He is the author of The Old-Fashioned Garden and Other Verses; and Swarthmore Idylls.

HALFORD, JOHN FILMORE, civil engineer, author, was born May 19, 1868, at Rouse Point, N. Y. Since 1898 he has been expert computer and geodetist of the Coast and Geological survey. He is the author of Goedetic Astronomy.

HAYMOND, CREED, lawyer, state senator, was born April 22, 1836, in Beverly, Va. He served as chairman of the code commission of California; and with his associate prepared the first complete code that was adopted by any state in the Union. He was a member for two terms of the state senate of California.

HAYNES, NATHANIEL SMITH, soldier, clergyman, author, was born March 7, 1844, in Washington, Ky. He is minister of the Christian Church of Disciples at Eureka, Ill. He served in eighty-sixth and one hundred and thirty-ninth Illinois voluntary infantry in the civil war. He is the author of Children's Question Book.

HAYWOOD, MARSHALL DE LANCEY, journalist, author. He is the author of a number of works on colonial subjects connected with North Carolina.

HAZARD, M. C., journalist, author, was born June 28, 1839, in Bradford, Pa. He is editor of the Sunday-school and Publishing Society. He is the author of The Tearless Land.

HAZELRIGG, JAMES HERVEY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 6, 1848, in Montgomery county, Ky. He served in the Confederate army in 1864-65; and practiced law in 1875-92. Since 1892 he has been chief justice of the court of appeals of Kentucky.

HAZELTON, GEORGE COCHRAN, lawyer, author, was born in Boscobel, Wis. In 1898-1900 he practiced corporation law in Philadelphia, Pa.; and now practices in New York city. He is the author of The National Capitol; and several dramas.

HAZEN, ALLEN, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 28, 1869, in Hartford, Conn. In 1898-99 he was chief engineer in building the Albany water filtration plant. He is the author of The Filtration of Public Water Supplies.

HAZEN, CHARLES DOWNER, educator, author, was born March 17, 1868, in Barnet, Vt. Since 1894 he has been professor of history at Smith college of Northampton, Mass. He is the author of Contemporary American Opinion of the French Revolution.

HAZEN, MARSHMAN WILLIAMS, lawyer, author, was born in 1845, in Beverly, Mass. He now practices in New York. He is the author of Observation, Thought and Expression, in two volumes; Government; and a series of readers and United States histories.

HEADLEY, PHINEAS CAMP, clergyman, author, was born June 29, 1819, in Walton, N. Y. He is the author of Women of the Bible; Half-Hours in Bible Land; and Public Men of Today.

HEARD, W. W., governor, In 1901-04 he was governor of Louisiana.

HEARST, MRS. PHOEBE, philanthropist, was born in 1840. She became a teacher. In 1861 she married George F. Hearst, late United States senator from California. She has established and endowed five kindergarten classes for poor children, and a manual training school in San Francisco; several kindergartens and a kindergarten training school in Washington, D. C.; and has made donations to the American university of Washington. She gave two hundred thousand dollars to build the National Cathedral School for Girls; has established working girls' clubs in San Francisco; maintains schools for mining engineers at university of California as memorial to her husband; and built, endowed and gave thousands of volumes to free libraries at Lead City, Anaconda, and other mining towns. Her life work is being devoted to a greater university of California.

HEARST, WILLIAM RANDOLPH, journalist, philanthropist, was born in San Francisco. Since 1895 he has been editor and proprietor of the New York Journal. He is a son of the late George F. Hearst, United States senator from California. He became proprietor of the San Francisco Examiner, which he still owns; bought the New York Journal and removed to New York.

HEATH, DANIEL COLAMORE, publisher, was born Oct. 26, 1843, in Salem, Maine. He is president of Heath & Co., publishers of text-books for schools and colleges.

HEATH, PERRY SANFORD, journalist, author, was born Aug. 31, 1857, in Muncie, Ind. In 1878-80 he was editor of Muncie Times; and in 1881 established the Aberdeen Pioneer, of South Dakota. He was identified with framing the constitutions for division of South Dakota and government of the two proposed states of North Dakota and South Dakota. In 1894-96 he was president and general manager of the Cincinnati Commercial Gazette. Since 1897 he has been first assistant postmaster-general. He is the author of A Hoosier in Russia.

HEATON, AUGUSTUS GEORGE, artist, author, was born April 28, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa. He painted Washington at Fort Duquesne; The Recall of Columbus; and painted portrait of Bishop Bowman for Cornell college. He is the author of The Heart of David, The Psalmist King; and sundry poems, letters of travel and numismatic articles.

HEATON, JOHN LANGDON, journalist, author, was born Jan. 29, 1860, in Canton, N. Y. He is the author of The Story of Vermont; The Book of Lies; The Quilting Bee and Other Poems; and Stories of Napoleon.

HEBERT, LOUIS, soldier, engineer, state senator, was born March 12, 1820 in Iberville parish, La. He was made brevet lieutenant of engineers in 1845; but resigned in 1846. He served two terms in the state senate of Louisiana; and was engineer of the state. He was commissioned colonel of the third Louisiana infantry in the Confederate army in 1861; and brigadier-general in 1862. He is a representative of the old French or Creole people of Louisiana; and is still active in the management of his sugar plantation.

HECKER, JOHN VALENTINE, manufacturer, was born Dec. 25, 1848, in New York city. He became president of the George V. Hecker company, and subsequently effected an organization of the flour mills of New York into the Hecker-Jones-Jewell Milling company, of which he is president.

HEDGE, THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born June 24, 1844, in Burlington, Iowa. He served as a private in Company E, and as second lieutenant in Company G, one hundred and sixth New York infantry in 1864. Since 1869 he has been engaged in the practice of law in Burlington, Iowa. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

HEERMANS, FORBES, journalist, author, was born Oct. 25, 1856, in Syracuse, N. Y. Since 1880 he has been engaged in journalism. He is the author of Thirteen Stories of the Far West; Love by Induction and Other Plays; The Rancho of Heavenly Rest; and The Vagabond, a play in which Felix Morris starred in 1893-1900.

HEILL, FREDERICK STANHOPE, naval officer, journalist, author, was born Aug. 4, 1829, in Boston, Mass. In 1861-65 he was an officer in the United States navy; was with Farragut at the capture of New Orleans and at Vicksburg, and in command on coast of Texas and in the Mississippi squadron. He is secretary of the Massachusetts Nautical Training school. He is the author of Twenty Years at Sea, or Leaves from My Old Log-books.

HEISTAND, HENRY OLCOT SHELDON, soldier, was born April 30, 1856, in Richwood, Ohio. He entered West Point as a cadet in 1874. On graduating he was appointed government inspector and instructor of the Ohio national guard in 1892. In 1896 he was confidential secretary to Major McKinley during his presidential campaign. He is the author of Alaska, Its History and Description.

HEKTOEN, LUDVIG, educator, author, was born July 2, 1863, in Wisconsin. Since 1895 he has been professor of pathology at Rush Medical college of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Postmortem Technique.

HEMMETER, JOHN COHN, physician, author, was born April 25, 1864, in Baltimore, Md. He is clinical professor of medicine in the University of Maryland. He is the author of Diseases of the Stomach; and other medical works.

HEMMINGWAY, MARY A., educator, philanthropist. She established the Study of History in the Old South church. She established kindergartens; and gave a large fortune to organizations to benefit society and the nation.

HEMPL, GEORGE, educator, author was born June 6, 1854, in Whitewater, Wis. Since 1889 he has been professor of English philology and general linguistics, at the University of Michigan. He is the author of Whist Scores and Card-Table Talk; Old-English Phonology; Chaucer's Pronunciation; German Orthography; English Nursery Rhymes in German; and German Grammar.

HEMSTREET, CHARLES, journalist, author, was born Sept. 20, 1866, in New York city. He is the author of Nooks and Corners of Old New York; and The Calendar of Old New York.

HENDERSON, CHARLES HANFORD, educator, author, was born Dec. 30, 1861, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a science teacher; and in 1898-99 was director in Pratt Institute of Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of Elements of Physics.

HENDERSON, CHARLES RICHMOND, educator, author, was born Dec. 17, 1848, in Covington, Ind., Since 1892 he has been professor of sociology at the University of Chicago. He is the author of Introduction to Study of Dependents, Defectives and Delinquents; Development of Doctrine in the Epistles; Social Spirit in America; Social Elements; and Social Settlements.

HENDERSON, JOHN JOSEPH, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 23, 1843, in Allegheny county, Pa. In 1862-65 he served in the Union army. In 1873-76 he was district attorney of Meadville, Pa.; and in 1888-98 was presiding judge of the thirtieth district of Pennsylvania.

HENDRY, THOMAS, clergyman, author. He is a clergyman of Los Angeles, Cal.; and the author of a published work of selections.

HENNESSY, ROLAND BURKE, journalist, author, was born Jan. 30, 1870, in Milford, Mass. He is editorially connected with Broadway Magazine. He has written several songs, including The Songs of Long Ago. He is the author of Tales of the Heart, and Tales of Broadway.

HENROTIN, ELLEN M., was born July 1, 1847, in Portland, Maine. In 1893 she was vice-president of the Congress Auxiliary of the World's Columbian Exposition. In 1894-98 she was president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, at Chicago, Ill.

HENRY, JAMES ADDISON, clergyman, was born Oct. 28, 1835, in Cranbury, N. J. He is president of the Pennsylvania Industrial Home for Blind Women. He has visited Europe ten times and represented the Presbyterian church in several Pan-Presbyterian councils. He has published numerous sermons and addresses.

HENSHAW, F. W., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of California.

HENSLEY, MRS. SOPHIA ALMON, lecturer, author, was born May 31, 1866, in Nova Scotia. She is president of the Society for the Study of Life, of New York city; identified with Mothers' Congress work; and lectures on The Child of the Tenements. She is the author of Woman's Love-letters; and Souls.

HERBERT, VICTOR, musician, composer, was born Feb. 1, 1859, in Dublin Ireland. He is a grandson of Samuel Lover, the famous Irish novelist. In 1894 he was appointed bandmaster of the famous twenty-second regiment band, succeeding P. S. Gilmore; and since 1898 has been conductor of the Pittsburg orchestra. He is the author of several works for orchestra; and songs; and an oratorio, The Captive.

HERFORD, OLIVER, journalist, author, poet. He is on the staff of The Criterion, of New York city. He is the author of The Bashful Earthquake, and Other Fables and Verses.

HERREID, CHARLES N., lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Oct. 20, 1857, in Wisconsin. He settled as lawyer in McPherson county, Dakota; has held office of state's attorney; and was judge of the county court. In 1892-96 he was lieutenant-governor of South Dakota; and governor in 1901-03.

HERRICK, CHARLES JUDSON, zoologist, author, was born Oct. 6, 1868, in Minneapolis, Minn. Since 1898 he has been professor of zoology in Dennison university, of Granville, Ohio. He is the author of The Cranial and First Spinal Nerves of Menidia.

HERRICK, CLARENCE LUTHER, college president, scientist, author, was born June 21, 1858, in Minneapolis, Minn. He served on geological survey of Minnesota; has been professor of biology at University of Chicago; and is now president of the University of New Mexico. He is the author of Mammals of Minnesota; Entomostraca of Minnesota; Waverly Group of Ohio; and also sources of papers on neurological, geological and psychological subjects.

HERRICK, FRANCIS HOBART, educator, author, was born Nov. 19, 1858, in Woodstock, Vt. He is professor of biology, at Adelbert college, Western Reserve university. He is the author of The American Lobster, a Study of Its Habits and Developments, with fifty-four plates.

HERRICK, FREDERICK WILLIAM, artist, was born Nov. 24, 1821. He studied art with his father and Henry Inman, and devotes his attention to portrait painting.

HERRICK, GEORGE FREDERIC, missionary, author, was born April 19 1834, in Milton, Vt. A large part of his life has been spent in Constantinople, where he has been much engaged in literary work for the mission. He was one of the revisers of the Turkish translation of the Bible and has published in Turkish commentaries on Matthew, Mark, and The Acts. Since 1870 he has been professor of church history in the theological seminary in Marsovan, Turkey. He is the author of History of the Christian Religion and Church; and Belief and Worship.

HERRICK, LUCIUS CARROLL, physician, genealogist, was born Sept. 2, 1840, in Randolph, Vt Since 1882 he has practiced medicine at Columbus, Ohio. He is the author of Herrick Genealogy.

HERRICK, MYRON T., soldier, financier. He is president of the Cleveland Society of Savings. He was aid to Governor McKinley's staff; and presidential elector in 1896 and in 1900.

HERRIMAN, EDWARD CURRY, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 31, 1869, in Massachusetts. He is a lawyer of Chicago. He is the author of The Law of Contracts.

HERSEY, AMOS SHARTLE, educator, author, was born July 11, 1867, in Hecksersville, Pa. Since 1895 he has been assistant professor of political science at the Indiana state university.

HERVEY, WALTER LOWRIE, educator, author, was born Sept. 28, 1862, in Mt. Vernon, Ohio. Since 1894 he has been examiner of the board of education at New York; and dean Chautauqua school of Pedagogy. In 1892 97 he was president of Teachers college. He is the author of Picture Work.

HESLIN, THOMAS, clergyman, bishop, was born in April, 1847, in Ireland. Since 1888 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Natchez, Miss.

HESS, JOHN H., farmer, genealogist, was born Sept. 24, 1828, in Warwick township, Pa. He was a successful farmer He is the author of the Hess Genealogy.

HEWINS, CAROLINE MARIA, librarian, author, was born Oct. 10, 1846, in Roxbury, Mass. Since 1892 she has been librarian of Hartford public library. She has done editorial work for Literary News, Library Journal, and Babyhood. She is the author of Books for the Young and Books for Boys and Girls.

HEYDECKER, EDWARD LE MOYNE, lawyer, author, was born June 12, 1863 in New York city. Since 1886 he has practiced law in New York city. He is the author of Commentary on Mechanics' Liens; and War Revenue Law, Annotated.

HEYWOOD, CHARLES, marine officer, was born Oct. 3, 1839, in Maine. He was on board the Cumberland during its fight with the Merrimac, and was specially mentioned for his bravery. He served throughout the civil war, was fleet marine officer on board the Hartford; took part in the battle of Mobile bay; and the capture of Forts Morgan, Gaines, and Powel, and other engagements in the gulf. For gallantry in presence of the enemy he was brevetted major and lieutenant-colonel. In 1888 he was promoted to lieutenant-colonel, and in 1891 he was made commandant of the United States marine corps, with the rank of brigadier-general, and saw active service during the Spanish-American war.

HIBBEN, JOHN GRIER, educator, author, was born April 19, 1861, in Peoria, Ill. He is professor of logic at Princeton university. He is the author of Inductive Logic; and The Problems of Philosophy.

HICHBORN, PHILIP, naval constructor, was born March 4, 1839, in Charlestown, Mass. In 1860 he went to California, and soon became master shipwright of the Marc island navy-yard. In 1863 he was appointed assistant naval constructor, with the station rank of lieutenant in the navy. In 1884, having received his commission, as a naval constructor in 1875, he was sent to Europe on special duty. In 1884 he was ordered to the navy department as assistant chief of bureau; and in 1893 was appointchief constructor of the navy, and reappointed in 1897. In 1890 he prepared an important article upon Sheathed or Unsheathed Ships.

HIGGINS, MICHAEL, manufacturer, public official, was born June 28, 1855, in Constantia, N. Y. He is a manufacturer of carriage springs and axles in Racine, Wis. He was elected alderman in 1889; and was mayor in 1899-1901.

HIGGINSON, HENRY LEE, soldier, banker, was born Nov. 18, 1834, in New York city. He served in the civil war, being major and brevet lieutenant-colonel of first regiment Massachusetts cavalry. He is a successful banker of Boston, Mass; and a patron of music and of Harvard university.

HILD, FREDERICK H., librarian, was born in Chicago. Since 1887 he has been librarian of the Chicago public library.

HILDEBRANT, CHARLES Q., merchant, congressman, was born Oct. 1864, in Wilmington, Ohio. In 1891 he became clerk of courts at Wilmington Ohio. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Ohio as a republican.

HILL, MRS. GRACE LIVINGSTON, author, was born April 16, 1865, in Wellsville, N. Y. She is the wife of Rev. Thomas Guthrie Hill, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of Chautauqua Idyl; The Parkerstown Delegate; A Little Servant; Katherine's Yesterday; In the Way; Lone Point; and A Daily Rate.

HILL, MRS. JANET McKENZIE, lecturer, author, was born in December, 1852, in Westfield, Mass. Since 1896 she has been editor of the Boston Cooking School magazine. She is the author of Salads, Sandwiches and Chafing Dish Dainties.

HILL, JOHN ALEXANDER, publisher, author, was born Feb. 22, 1858, near Bennington, Vt. He ran a locomotive eight years. He is the author of Progressive Examinations for Locomotive Engineers and Firemen; Stories of the Railroad; and Jim Skeever's Object Lessons.

HILL, JOHN EDWARD, civil engineer author, was born Nov. 9, 1864, in New York city. He is professor of civil engineering at Brown university. He is the author of A Text Book on Shades and Shadows and Perspective.

HILL, JOHN ETHAN, educator, author, was born Oct. 15, 1865, in Mystic, Conn. Since 1898 he has been professor of mathematics in the University of West Virginia. He is the author of Bibliography of Surfaces and Twisted Curves.

HILL, JUNIUS WELCH, musician, composer, was born Nov. 18, 1840, in Hingham, Mass. He now devotes himself to teaching. He is the author of Treasures of Lyric Art; Arabesque; Mosaiques; and Characteristic Piano Pieces.

HILL, ROBERT THOMAS, geologist, author, was born Aug. 11, 1858, in Nashville Tenn. Since 1886 he has been in the service of the United States geological survey. He is the author of On Occurrence of Artesian and Underground Waters in Texas, Eastern New Mexico and Indian Territory.

HILL, THOMAS, artist, was born Sept. 11, 1829, in England. He opened a studio in Boston in 1867, but returned soon to San Francisco spending a portion of each year in the Yosemite valley and at studio in Mariposa county. His principal works are The Yosemite Valley; The White Mountain Notch; Donner Lake; The Great Canon of the Sierras; the Heart of the Sierras; The Driving of the Last Spike; and The Yellowstone Canon.

HILL, THOMAS EDIE, journalist, author, was born Feb. 29, 1832, in Sandgate, Vt. In 1866 he founded the Herald of Aurora, Ill.; and was mayor of Aurora in 1876. He is the author of Hill's Manual of Social and Business Forms; Hill's Album of Biography; Condensed Political History; Money Found; and Ways of Cruelty.

HILLEBRAND, WILLIAM FRANCIS chemist, was born Dec. 12, 1853, in Hawaiian Islauds. In 1879 he opened an assay office in Leadville, Col., but a year later entered the service of the United States geological survey, and in 1880 was sent to Denver to establish a chemical laboratory for Rocky Mountain division of the survey. For five years he remained in charge of this laboratory, and then was transferred to the chief laboratory in Washington, where he has since remained.

HILLEGAS, HOWARD CLEMENT journalist, author, was born Dec. 30, 1872, in Pennsburg, Pa. In 1899-1900 he was war correspondent of the New York World in South Africa. He is the author of Oom Paul's People; The Boers in War; and With the Boer Forces.

HILLIS, NEWELL DWIGHT, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 2, 1858, in Magnolia, Iowa. He is pastor of Plymouth church of Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of The Investment of Influence; A Man's Value to Society; How the Inner Light Failed; and Foretokens of Immortality.

HIMES, JOHN ANDREW, educator, author, was born June 3, 1848, in McAllisterville, Pa. He is professor of English literature and political science at Pennsylvania college. He is the author of A Study of Milton's Paradise Lost.

HINDS, JOHN IREDELLE DILLARD educator, author, was born Dec. 13, 1847, in Davidson county, N. C. Since 1893 he has been dean of college faculty and professor of chemistry at Cumberland university. He is the author of Uses of Tobacco; Charles Darwin; and American System of Education.

HINDS, WILLIAM ALFRED, stenographer, author, was born Feb. 2, 1833, in Enfield, Mass. He is the author of Mutual Criticism; and American Communities.

HINES, EDWARD W., lawyer, was born Jan. 15, 1869, in Woodbury, Ky. He is a lawyer of Frankfort, Ky.; and was reporter of circuit court of appeals of Kentucky in 1886-97.

HINMAN, GEORGE WHEELER, journalist, was born Nov. 19, 1863, in Mt. Morris, N. Y. Since 1897 he has been editor-in-chief of the Chicago Inter Ocean.

HINMAN, RUSSELL, civil engineer, author, was born Jan. 23, 1853, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He has charge of the editorial office of the American Book company, of New York city. He is the author of Eclectic Elementary Geography; Eclectic Complete Geography; and Eclectic Physical Geography.

HINRICHS, GUSTAVUS DETLEF, chemist, author, was born Dec. 2, 1836, in Germany. For twenty-five years he was professor of physical science in the State university of Iowa; and since 1889 professor of chemistry at College of Pharmacy at St. Louis. He is the author of Introduction to General Chemistry; Elements of Physics; Elements of Atom Mechanics; Principles of Pure Crystallography; Principles of Physical Sciences; and First Course in Qualitative Analysis.

HINSDALE, MRS. GRACE WEBSTER, author, was born May 17, 1832, in Hanover, N. H. She is the wife of Theodore Hinsdale, a New York lawyer. She is the author of Coming to the King; and Thinking Aloud.

HINTENACH, ANDREW, clergyman, bishop, was born May 12, 1844, in Germany. In 1861 he joined the Benedictine order, and was ordained priest in 1867. Since then he has been occupied successively as professor in the college, master of novices, and prior to the monastery until 1888, when he was chosen abbot of St. Vincent's abbey.

HINTON, RICHARD JOSIAH, journalist, author, was born Nov. 25, 1830, in London, England. In 1856 he went to Kansas and became co-worker with John Brown. He served in the Union army in 1861-65; and was the first white man legally commissioned and mustered in to recruit and command colored troops. He is the author of Life of Abraham Lincoln; Life of William H. Seward; English Radical Leaders; Handbook of Arizona; Life of Gen. P. H. Sheridan; John Brown; and The Making of the New West.

HITCHCOCK, ETHAN ALLEN, diplomat, cabinet officer, was born June 12, 1835, in Mobile, Ala. He became president of several manufactories in St. Louis, Mo., also acquiring large railway interests. Early in 1897 he was appointed minister at St. Petersburg; and in 1898 he was made a member of President McKinley's cabinet, with the portfolio of the secretary of the interior.

HOBAN, MICHAEL JOHN, clergyman, bishop, was born June 6, 1853, in Waterloo, N. J. In 1896 he was consecrated titular bishop of Alalis, and appointed coadjutor bishop of Scranton, Pa.

HOBBS, CHARLES AUSTIN, educator, author, was born Sept. 3, 1857, in Exeter, N. H. He is a mathematical master in the Volkman school of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Hobbs' Academic Arithmetic; and Hobbs' Elements of Geometry.

HOBSON, EDWARD HENRY, soldier banker, railroad president, was born July 11, 1825, in Greensburg, Ky. He was a director of the branch bank of Kentucky in 1853, and served as president in 1857-61. He then organized and became colonel of the thirteenth Kentucky volunteers, and became a brigadier-general. In 1887 he became president of the Southern division of the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad company.

HOBSON, RICHMOND PEARSON, naval constructor, author, was born Aug. 17, 1870, in Greensboro, Ala. He commanded the collier Merrimac and sunk her in the harbor of Santiago. He is inspector of Spanish wrecks; in charge of operations to save same; and was successful with Teresa. He is the author of A Study of the Situation and Outlook in Europe; The Disappearing Gun Afloat: The Yacht Defender, and the Use of Aluminum in Marine Construction; and The Sinking of the Merrimac.

HODDER, ALFRED, author, was born Sept. 18, 1866, in Celina, Ohio. He is the author of The Powers that Prey; and The Specious Present.

HODGE, CLIFTON FREMONT, educator, author, was born Oct. 16, 1854, in Janesville, Wis. Since 1892 he has been assistant professor of biology at Clark university of Worcester, Mass. He is the author of Biology of Common Toad; and Nature Study and Life.

HODGE, EDWARD B., educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 5, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is corresponding secretary of the Presbyterian board of education, at Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Instructions Preparatory to Baptism and the Lord's Supper; and Tracts and Sermons.

HODGE, SAMUEL, clergyman, educator, author, was born June 7, 1829, in Fork, Tenn. In 1866-82 he was president of Lenox institute, Iowa. He is the author of The Centennial of New Bethel Presbyterian Church.

HODGES, JOHN SEBASTIAN BACH H., clergyman, was born in 1830, in England. He is rector of St. Paul's church of Baltimore, Md. He is also a fine organist.

HODGKINS, HOWARD LINCOLN, educator, author, was born Jan. 23, 1862, in Elgin, Ill. Since 1887 he has been professor of mathematics and since 1900 dean of Columbian university, of Washington, D. C. He is the author of Historical Catalogue of Columbian University.

HOEBER, ARTHUR, artist, author, was born July 23, 1854, in New York city. He is a successful landscape and art critic of New York city. He is the author of Treasures of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

HOFFMAN, FREDERICK, clergyman, was born Nov. 18, 1834, in New York city. In 1872 he was called to All Angel's church in New York city. In 1888 he erected a new church for his parish, on the west side of Central Park, at a cost of one hundred thousand dollars.

HOFFMAN, FRANK SARGENT, educator, author, was born Feb. 9, 1852, in Sheboygan Falls, Wis. Since 1855 he has been professor of philosophy at Union college. He is the author of The Sphere of the State; and The Sphere of Science.

HOFFMAN, FREDERICK LUDWIG, statistician, author, was born May 2, 1865, in Germany. He is statistician of the Prudential Insurance company of America. He is the author of Race Traits and Tendencies of the American Negro; and Report on the Sanitary Condition of the Trinity Tenements.

HOFFMAN, GEORGE, W. S., railroad president, was born Nov. 30, 1840, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1890 he has been president of the Gunpowder Valley railroad.

HOFFMAN, FRANCIS ARNOLD, journalist, author, was born June 5, 1822, in Prussia. In 1860 he was elected lieutenant-governor of Illinois. For nearly twenty years past he has been editor of The Haus and Bauerfreund of Milwaukee, Wis. He is the author of Hand-book on the Cultivation of Grasses and Other Fodder Plants.

HOGAN, MRS. LOUISE E. SHIMER, critic, author, was born Nov. 27, 1855, in Shimersville, Pa. In 1898 she made a personal study of Camp Alger and Camp Wykoff and of the army and navy food question. She is the author of How to Feed Children; and A Study of a Child.

HOGE, PEYTON HARRISON, clergyman, author, was born Jan 6, 1858, in Hampton, Sidney, Va. Since 1899 he has been pastor of the Warren Memorial church of Louisville, Ky. He is the author of Moses Drury Hoge.

HOGUE, ADDISON, educator, author, was born in 1849, in Athens, Ohio. Since 1893 he has been Corcoran professor of Greek at Washington and Lee university. He is the author of Irregular Verbs of Attic Prose.

HOHLFELD, ALEXANDER RUDOLF, educator, author, was born Dec. 29, 1865, in Germany. Since 1892 he has been professor of German languages at Vanderbilt university. He is the author of a work in German.

HOKE, ROBERT FREDERICK, soldier, railroad persident, was born May 27, 1837, in Lincolnton, Neb. He was appointed brigadier-general in the Confederate army in 1863; and major-general in 1864. He was at one time in command of the district of North Carolina. Since the civil war he has been actively engaged in business in North Carolina, and is now president of the Seahoard air line, Georgia, Carolina, and Northwestern railroad company.

HOLABIRD, SAMUEL BECKLEY, soldier, author, was born June 16, 1826, in Canaan, Conn. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general. After the civil war he became brigadier-general and quartermaster-general in the United States army. He is the author of Translation of General Jomini's Treatise on Grand Military Operations.

HOLCOMBE, CHESTER, diplomat, author, was born Oct. 16, 1844, in Winfield, N. Y. In 1880 he was a member of the commission for the negotiation of new treaty with China; and assisted in negotiating treaty with Corea in 1882; and since 1885 has been concerned in extensive commercial and financial questions in China. He is the author of The Real Chinaman.

HOLDER, PHEBE A., educator, author, poet, was born Nov. 27, 1824, in Berlin, Mass. She has taught school in the high schools of Lee and Hinsdale for many years; and has devoted much time to literature.

HOLLAND, JAMES WILLIAM, educator, author, was born in 1849, in Nashville, Tenn. Since 1887 he has been dean of faculty at Jefferson Medical College of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Treatises on Diet for the Sick.

HOLLANDER, JACOB H., financier, author, was born July 23, 1871, in Baltimore, Md. He is treasurer of Porto Rico; and associate professor of finance at Johns Hopkins University. He is the author of The Financial History of Baltimore.

HOLLIDAY, E. S., congressman. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Indiana as a republican.

HOLLS, GEORGE FREDERICK WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born July 1, 1857, in Zelienople, Pa. He is the author of Sancta Sophia and Troitza.

HOLLY, JAMES THEODORE, clergyman, bishop, was born Oct. 3, 1829, in Washington, D. C. He was ordained a colored missionary bishop of Haiti in 1874; and in 1878 was a delegate to Lambeth Conference, England.

HOLMES, OLIVER WENDELL, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born March 8, 1841, in Boston, Mass. He is a son of Dr. O. W. Holmes, the poet and essayis He served three years in the Massachnsetts volunteers. Since 1882 he has been justice of the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts. He is the author The Common Law, Lectures at Lowell Institute; Speeches; and edited Kent's Commentaries.

HOLT, ADONIRAM JUDSON, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 1, 1847, in Somerset, Ky. He is State Secretary of Missions in Nashville, Tenn. He is the author of Miriam Heth and Parthenia.

HOLT, ERASTUS EUGENE, oculist, aurist, founder, was born June 1, 1849, in Peru, Maine. He was founder of Maine Eye and Ear Infirmary; and founder of Maine Academy of Medicine and Science. He was also the founder and editor of Journal of Medicine and Science of Portland, Maine; and the author o scores of valuable medical papers.

HOLT, HENRY, publisher, author, was born Jan. 3, 1840, in Baltimore, Md. He is now senior member of Henry Holt & Company of New York City.

HOOKER, JOHN, lawyer, author, was born April 19, 1816, in Farmington, Conn. He is a lawyer of Hartford, Conn.; and in 1858-94 was reporter of the Connecticut supreme court. He published thirty-six volumes of Law Reports. He is the author of Some Reminiscences of a Long Life.

HOPKINS, CYRIL GEORGE, chemist, author, was born July 22, 1866, in Chatfield, Minn. Since 1900 he has been professor of chemistry in the University of Illinois. He is the author of Chemistry of the Corn Kernel.

HOPKINS, HENRY, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 30, 1837, in Williamstown, Mass. In 1864-65 he was chaplain in field, with one hundred twentieth New York volunteers; and took ambulance corps, under flag of truce, on the battlefields of Chantilly and Bull Run. Several of his addresses on municipal and educational subjects have been published.

HOPKINS, MRS. MARGARET SUTTON BRISCOE, author, was born Dec. 7, 1864, in Baltimore, Md. She is the author of Perchance to Dream; Links in a Chain; Jimty and Others; and The Sixth Sense, and Other Stories.

HOPKINS, MRS. PAULINE BRADFORD, author, was born in 1874 in Fairfield, Conn. She is the wife of Dr. Herbert Hopkins, professor of Latin. She is the author of A Story of Valley Forge; A Story of Witchcraft; and A Georgian Actress.

HOPPIN, JOSEPH CLARK, educator author, was born May 23, 1870, in Providence, R. I. Since 1899 he has been associate classical art and archaeology at Bryn Mawr College. In 1893-98 he resided in Greece; and took part in the excavation of the Heraeum at Argos. He is the author of Euthymides, a Study in Attic Vase Painting.

HOPPIN, THOMAS FREDERICK, artist, was born Aug. 15, 1816, in Providence, R. I. He made the designs of the four evangelists which compose the great chancel window of Trinity church in New York City. A figure of a dog that was modeled by him is supposed to have been the first piece of sculpture cast in bronze in the United States.

HORNBROOK, ADELIA ROBERTS, educator, author, was born March 1, 1846, in Boston, Mass. She was a teacher of mathematics and psychology. She is the author of Concrete Geometry; Hornbrook's Arithmetics; and Laboratory Methods in Teaching Mathematics.

HORNER, FRANK A., lawyer, state senator, author, was born April 18, 1849, in Washington County, Ind. He was a member of the Indiana State Senate in 1896-1900; and was states attorney in 1890-94. He is the author of Horner's Revised Statutes; Horner's Criminal Forms of Indiana; and Horner's Manual of Newspapers Advertising Laws.

HORR, ASA, physician, scientist, was born Sept. 2, 1817, in Worthington, Ohio. In the civil war he was examining surgeon in the recruiting service; and since 1869 has been president of the Iowa Institute of science and arts, of which he was one of the founders. In 1875 he was appointed examining surgeon to the United States pension bureau. In 1864 he established a private astronomical observatory at Dubuque, Iowa; and was the first to determine accurately the longitude of that city.

HORR, NORTON TOWNSHEND, lawyer, author, was born April 26, 1862, in Huntington, Ohio. He is the author of Municipal Police Ordinances; and compiled Bibliography of Card-Games and of the History of Playing Cards.

HORSFORD, CORNELIA, archaeologist, author, was born Sept. 25, 1861, in Cambridge, Mass. She is the daughter of the late Professor Eben Norton Horsford of Harvard University; and continued her father's archaeological researches after his death, 1893. In 1893 she sent out archaeological expedition to Iceland to examine ruins of the Saga-Time; also in British Isles, in 1895-97, to examine ruins of open-air amphitheatres and forts. She is the author of Graves of the Northmen: An Inscribed Stone; Dwellings of the Saga-Time in Iceland, Greenland and Vinland; and Vinland and Its Ruins.

HORTON, EDWARD AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 28, 1843, in Springfield, Mass. Since 1892 he has been president Benevolent Fraternity of Churches and Unitarian Sunday-School Society of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Story of Israel; Great Thoughts of Israel; Scenes in the Life of Jesus; Teaching of Jesus; Beginning of Christianity; and Beacon Lights of Christian History.

HORTON, GEORGE, journalist, diplomat, author, was born in 1859, in Fairville, N. Y. He is literary editor of the Chicago Times-Herald. He is the anthor of Songs of the Lowly; In Unknown Seas; Aphroessa; and Constantine.

HORTON, OLIVER H., lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 20, 1835, in Cattaraugus county, N. Y. He was corporation counsel of Chicago under Mayor Roche; and since 1887 judge of circuit court. He is now judge of the appellate court for first district of Illinois.

HOTCHKIN, SAMUEL FITCH, clergyman, author, was born April 2, 1833, in Sauquoit, N. Y. He is now rector of St. Luke the Beloved Physician at Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Ancient and Modern Germantown; Early Clergy of Pennsylvania and Delaware Rural Pennsylvania; Dark Care Lightened; A Splendid Inheritance; The Unseen Christ; and The Living Savior.

HOTCHKISS, J. ELIZABETH, metaphysician, author, was born in Elmira, N. Y. In 1895-96 she was literary editor of the Metaphysical Magazine. She is the author of Psycho-Therapeutics.

HOUGH, EMERSON, explorer, author, was born June 28, 1857, in Newton, Ia. In 1895 he explored the Yellowstone Park; and the act of Congress protecting the Park buffalo was due to this trip. He is the author of The Singing Mouse Stories; The Story of the Cowboy; and The Girl at the Halfway House.

HOUSTON, DAVID FRANKLIN, educator, author, was born Feb. 17, 1866, in Monroe, N. C. Since 1897 he has been associate professor of political science at University of Texas. He is the author of A Critical Study of Nullification in South Carolina.

HOUSTON, EDWIN JAMES, electric engineer, author, was born July 9, 1844, in Alexandria, Va. He was one of the inventors of the Thomson-Houston system of arc lighting. He is the author of Elements of Physical Geography; Dictionary of Electrical words, Terms and Phrases; and Elements of Physics.

HOVEY, CARL, journalist, author, was born Oct. 2, 1875, in Boston, Mass. He is the anthor of Life of Stonewall Jackson.

HOWARD, CHARLES HENRY, soldier, journalist, was born in 1834 in Leeds, Maine. He served in the civil war; and attained the rank of brevet brigadier-general in 1865. For many years he was inspector Indian agencies. He was editor of The Advance of Chicago for many years; and later was editor of The Farm, Field and Fireside of Chicago, founded by Thomas William Herringshaw.

HOWARD, CLIFFORD, author, was born Oct. 12, 1868, in Bethlehem, Pa. He is the author of Sex Worship, An Exposition of the Phallic Origin of Religion, a dramatic poem of the Zuni.

HOWARD, GEORGE ELLIOTT, educator author, was born Oct. 1, 1849, in Saratoga, N. Y. Since 1891 he has been professor of history and history of institutions at Leland Stanford University. He is the anthor of Introduction to the Constitutional History of the United States, in two volumes; and Development of the King's Peace and the Local Peace Magistracy.

HOWARD, JAMES LELAND, manufacturer, merchant, lieutenant-governor, was born Jan. 10, 1818, in Windsor, Vt. The firm of J. L. Howard and Company was one of the first in the United States to engage in the manufacture of railway car trimmings, and to this business the firm devoted its entire energies and resources with marked success. In 187 he was chosen to the office of lieutenant-governor of Connecticut.

HOWARD, JOHN RAYMOND, soldier, publisher, author, was born May 25, 1837, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1861-65 he served as captain and aide United States volunteers. Since 1867 he has been in the publishing business as Fords, Howard & Hulbert. He is the author of H. W. Beecher, A Study.

HOWARD, JOSEPH, journalist, author, was born June 3, 1833, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1860 he has been a newspaper editor, correspondent and special writer for leading newspapers. In 1868-76 he was editor and proprietor of New York Star. Since 1895 he has been president of the New York Press Club. He is the anthor of Life of H. W. Beecher.

HOWARD, TIMOTHY EDWARD, soldier, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born near Ann Arbor, Mich. He enlisted in the civil war; and was wounded at Shiloh in 1862. In 1886-92 he was a member of the Indiana state senate. Since 1892 he has been a judge and is now chief justice of the supreme court of Indiana.

HOWE, CLARA E., educator, philanthropist. For twenty years she has been a member and secretary of the School Committee in Gardner, Mass.; and is prominently identified with various educational, religious, and charitable institutions of that city.

HOWE, EDWARD GARDNER, educator, author, was born Aug. 11, 1849, in Brookline, Mass. Since 1893 he has been principal of the Preparatory School University of Illinois. He is the author of Systematic Science Teaching, in two volumes.

HOWE, JAMES LEWIS, educator, author, was born in August, 1859, in Newburyport, Mass. He is professor of chemistry at Washington and Lee University. He is the author of A Bibliography of the Metals of the Platinum Group; and Inorganic Chemistry According to the Periodic Chemistry According ing to the Periodic Law.

HOWE, MALVERD ABIJAH, civil engineer, author, was born Dec. 9, 1863, in Northfield, Vt. He is professor of civil engineering at Rose Polytechnic Institute. He is the author of Retaining Walls for Earth; Sabula Draw by Graphics; and a treatise on Arches.

HOWE, MAUD, author, was born Nov. 9, 1855, in Boston, Mass. She is the wife of John Elliott, an English artist. She is the author of San Rasario Ranch; A Newport Aquarelle; and Atlanta in the South.

HOWE, REGINALD HEBER, ornithologist, author, was born April 10, 1875, in Quincy Mass. He is the author of Every Bird; On the Birds' Highway; The Birds of Rhode Island, and The Birds of Massachusetts.

HOWELL, EVAN P., journalist, lawyer, state senator, was born Dec. 10, 1839, in Milton county, Ga. He became president of the company and editor-in-chief of the Atlanta Constitution. In 1872-78 he was state senator; was solicitor-general of the Atlanta circuit; and a member of the State legislature afterward.

HOWELL, JOHN THOMAS, clergyman, publisher, author, was born May 12, 1855, in Ramer, Ala. He is now publisher and proprietor of The Citizens' Journal of Troy, Ala; and of the Methodist Protestant Telephone. He is the author of The History of the Methodist Protestant Church in Alabama.

HOWISON, HENRY LYCURGUS, naval officer, was born Oct. 10, 1837, in Washington, D. C. He served throughout the civil war. He is now rear-admiral and commandant Boston Navy Yard since 1897.

HOWLAND, ALFRED CORNELIUS, lanscape painter, was born Feb. 12, 1838, in Walpole, N. H. His works are in Yale University, Leighton Art Gallery of Milwaukee, and in many galleries of America and England.

HOWLAND, MRS. FRANCES LOUISE, journalist, author, was born in Lockport, N. Y. She writes under the pen name of Kenyon West. She has been dramatic correspondent and critic of the San Francisco Call; and other papers. She is the author of Broken Bonds; Onward; and several translations.

HOWLAND, MRS. MARY WOOLSEY, poet. She is known as the author of a short poem Requiescam, also entitled In the Hospital, which was believed for a long time to have been found under the pillow of a soldier who died at Port Royal in 1864.

HOY, ALBERT HARRIS, physician, authur. He served in United States army as acting assistant surgeon during the Civil war. He is now professor of diseases of digestive system at Northwestern College Dental Surgery. He is the author of Eating and Drinking.

HOY, PHILO ROMAYN, physician, educator, naturalist, was born Nov. 3, 1816, in Mansfield, Ohio. He has devoted much time and study to natural science. His local collection of birds, reptiles, fish, and insects is widely known. He was for three years president of the Wisconsin academy of science, arts, and letters; has been professor physiology and zoölogy in Racine college; and naturalist to the geological survey of Wisconsin.

HOYT, DAVID WEBSTER, educator, genealogist, was born April 16, 1833. He is principal of the high school at Providence, R. I. He is the author of the Hoyt Genealogy; Hoyt, Haigh, and Hight Families; and Old Families of Salisbury and Amesbury.

HUBBARD, RICHARD WILLIAM, artist, was born Oct. 15, 1810, in Middletown, Conn. He is president of the Artists' Fund society and of the Brooklyn Art association; and has traveled and studied extensively in France and England. Among his earlier works are Mansfield Mountain at Sunset; Showery Day at Lake George; Meadows near Utica; Twilight; High Peak; North Conway; and Vermont Hills.

HUDSON, SANFORD AMOS, lawyer, jurist, genealogist, was born May 16, 1817. He has been associate justice of the supreme court of Territory of Dakota. He is the author of the Hudson Genealogy.

HUFFCUT, ERNEST WILSON, educator, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 21, 1860, in Kent, Conn. Since 1893 he has been professor of law at Cornell University. He is the author of Elements of Law of Agency; Cases on Agency, and Law of Negotiable Instruments.

HUGGINS, ELI LUNDY, soldier, was born in Illinois. He served through the civil war; on the plains; and the Spanish-American war. He is now major in the United States army.

HUGHES, AARON K., naval-officer, was born March 31, 1822, in Elmira, N. Y. He is a rear-admiral of United States navy, retired in 1884.

HUGHES, CHARLES HAMILTON, physician, author, was born May 23, 1839, in St. Louis, Mo. He is president of the faculty and professor of nervous diseases, Barnes Medical College of St. Louis, Mo. He was editor and founder of the Alienist and Neurologist. He is the author of Reflex: Shuttle Pulse; Patriot's Prayer; Up With the Flag; Symposium on the Maine; and The Great of Humble Birth in History.

HUGHES, LOUIS C., journalist, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born May 15, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa. He assisted in organizing and was a member of first lodge in United States of A. O. U. W. He began the practice of law in Tucson, Ariz., was district attorney two terms; and was probate judge; and attorney-general of Arizona. In 1893-96 he was governor of Arizona.

HUGHES, ROBERT P., soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. He served in the civil war from private to lieutenant-colonel. He was then commissioned captain in the regular army; was appointed brigadier-general in 1898; and asigned to duty as provost-marshal of Manila, P. I.

HUGHES, RUPERT, journalist, anthor, was born Jan. 31, 1872, in Lancaster, Mo. He is assistant editor of The Criterion. He is the author of The Lakerim Athletic Club.

HUGHES, THOMAS ALOYSIUS, educator, author, was born Jan. 24, 1849, in Liverpool, England. He is professor of literature and philosophy at St. Xavier's College of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the author of The Acolyte, or a Christian Scholar; Anthropology and Biology; and Loyola, or the Educational System of the Jesuits.

HUGHES, THOMAS PATRICK, clergyman, orientalist, author, was born March 26, 1838, in England. He is the author of Notes on Muhammadanism; Poems of Abdur Rahman; Government Text-Books in Afghan Language; A Dictionary of Islam; Ruhainah, the Maid of Herat; American Ancestry; Heroic Lives in Foreign Fields; and The Stage from a Clergyman's Standpoint.

HUIDEKOPER, RUSH SHIPPEN, physician, author, was born May 3, 1854, in Meadville, Pa. In 1878-91 he was major and brigadier-surgeon in the national guard of Pennsylvania. He is coroner's physician of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Age of Domestic Animals; and The Veterinary Blue Book.

HULSKAMP, HENRY, manufacturer, was born in Westphalia. In 1850 he established a piano manufactory at Troy, N. Y.; and gained prizes in New York and London. In 1866 he moved the factory to New York City.

HUME, THOMAS, educator, author, was born in Portsmouth, Va. He is professor of English language and literature at University of North Carolina. He is the author of Helps to the Study of Hamlet; and Shakespeare's Moral Teaching.

HUMPHREY, CHARLES FREDERICK, soldier, was born in New York state. In 1863-66 he served as private to second lieutenant. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers; and assigned to duty as chief quartermaster at Havana, Cuba.

HUMPHREYS, DAVID CARLISLE, civil engineer, author, was born in Hill, Va. He is now professor of civil engineering in Washington and Lee University. He is the author of Notes on Rankines Civil Engineering.

HUMPHREYS, FRANK LANDON, clergyman, author was born June 16, 1858, in Auburn, N. Y. He is canon in cathedral of St. John the Divine of New York City. He is the author of Evolution of Music; Mystery of the Passion; Carols and Caroling; and Men of Understanding.

HUNEKER, JAMES GIBBONS, journalist, author, was born Jan. 31, 1859, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1885 he has been associate editor of The Musical Courier. He is the author of Mezzotints in Modern Music; and As Man and Musician.

HUNT, CHARLES WALLACE, civil engineer, inventor, was born Oct. 13, 1841, in Candor, N. Y. During Civil war he was special agent of the War Department to care for freedmen as they escaped from the Confederate into the Union lines. He has done much engineering work in construction of wharves, docks, storage warehouses, power stations; is president of several corporations; and president of Staten Island Chamber of Commerce.

HUNT, JAMES S. J., educator, miner, was born in Indiana. He was engaged in educational work; and became president of the state Agricultural College of Iowa. He went to China and next to Corea and developed mining property said to be worth twenty-million dollars.

HUNT, RICHARD HOWLAND, architect, was born March 14, 1862, in France. He assisted his father, as architect on the work of the United States Military Academy at West Point and on Vanderbilt's estate at Biltmore, N. C.

HUNT, ROBERT WOOLSTON, metallurgist, inventor, was born Dec. 9, 1838, in Fallsington, Pa. In 1860 he established the first analytical laboratory connected with any iron or steel works iu the United States. In 1873 he was called to the charge of the Bessemer steel works Troy, N. Y., Albany and Rensselaer iron and steel company in 1875; and in 1885 of its successor, the Troy steel and iron company. He has obtained patents for improvements in bottom casting of steel ingots for making special soft Bessemer steel; for a recarburizer for Bessemer steel; also a series relating to automatic tables for rolling-mills.

HUNT, WILLIAM HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 5, 1857, in New Orleans, La. Since 1894 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Montana. Since 1900 he has been secretary of Porto Rico.

HUNTING, FRED S., electrical engineer, was born Sept. 30, 1867, in East Templeton, Mass. He was chief engineer in engineering department with the Fort Wayne Electrical Corporation; and is now treasurer and sales manager of the Fort Wayne Electric Works.

HUNTING, TENNIS D., merchant, genealogist, was born Sept. 22, 1848. He is a hardware merchant of Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of The Hunting or Huntting Family in America.

HUNTINGTON, ARCHER MILTON, author, poet, was born March 10, 1870, in New York City. He is a son of the late Collis P. Huntington. He is the author of A Note Book in Northern Spain.

HUNTINGTON, DANIEL, artist, was born Oct. 14, 1816, in New York City. At thirty-seven years of age he began the study of art and became distinguished as a portrait painter. His most notable paintings were A Toper Asleep; The Bar-Room Politician and Views of the Hudson.

HUNTINGTON, DE WITT CLINTON, clergyman, theologian, author, was born April 27, 1830, in Townsend, Vt. Since 1898 he has been chancellor of Nebraska Western University. He is the author of The Puritans; and Work on Sin and Holiness.

HUNTINGTON, GEORGE, educator, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 5, 1835, in Brooklyn, Conn. Since 1879 he has been professor of rhetoric and logic at Carleton College of Northfield, Mass. He is the author of Shining Hours; Outlines of Congressional History; Chubby Ruff; Nakoma; Kings and Cupbearers; The Rockanock Stage; and Maud Brayton.

HUNTLEY, ELIAS DEWITT, clergyman, college president, was born April 19, 1840, in Elmira, N. Y. He was presiding elder of the Madison district; and in 1879-83 was president of Lawrence university, when he resigned to become pastor of the Metropolitan church of Washington, D. C. In 1883 he was transferred to the Baltimore conference and also elected chaplain of the United States senate, which office he held until 1886.

HUNTLEY, MRS. FLORENCE, journalist, author, was born in Alliance, Ohio. She is the wife of Stanley Huntley, the author of the Spoopendyke Papers. At his death in 1886 she entered journalism. She is the author of The Dream Child: and Harmonics of Evolution.

HURD, HARVEY BOSTWICK, lawyer, founder, was born Feb. 14, 1828, in Huntington, Conn. Since 1862 he has been professor of Chicago Law School. He was the first president village of Evanston, Ill. He was official reviser of general statutes of Illinois; has since edited twelve editions. He was the originator of the great Chicago drainage canal scheme; and author Torrens Act of Illinois for registration of land titles.

HURD, HENRY MILLS, physician, author, was born May 3, 1843, in Union City, Mich. Since 1889 he has been superintendent of Johns Hopkins Hospital of Baltimore, Ind. Since 1897 he has been editor American Journal of Insanity. He is the author of Hints to Hospital Visitors: and Hispitals, Dispensaries and Nursing.

HURLL, ESTELLE M., educator, author, was born July 25, 1863, in New Bedford, Mass. In 1884-91 she was a teacher of ethics at Wellesley College. She is the author of Child Life in Art; The Madonna in Art; and Life of Our Lord in Art.

HUSMANN, GEORGE, vineyardist, author, was born Nov. 4, 1827, in Germany. He has been professor of Pomology and Forestry in the State University of Missouri at Columbia; and is now state statistical agent for California of the United States Department of Agriculture. He is the author of three works on Grape Culture and Wine Making and one of the oldest living vineyardists in the United States, having planted a vineyard in Missouri in 1847; and now owns one in Napa county, Cal.

HUSS, GEORGE J., musician, composer, was born Sept. 25, 1828 in Bavaria. In 1858-68 he was organizer of the University Place Presbyterian Church of New York City. He is principally engaged as a pianoforte teacher. He is the author of various sacred and secular compositions.

HUSS, HENRY HOLDEN, musician, composer, was born June 21, 1862, in Newark, N. J. He now lives in New York City as a teacher of pianoforte, composer, and instrumentation. He is the author of Ave Maria, songs, and rhapsodies.

HUSTON, A., chemist, author, was born April 20, 1858, in Damariscotta, Maine. Since 1888 he has been chemist for Indiana in the United States Agricultural Experimental Station; and professor of agricultural chemistry at Purdue University. He is the author of Reports of Indiana Weather Service; and Reports Indiana State Chemist.

HUSTON, JOSEPH WALDO, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born April 10, 1833, in Painesville, Ohio. In 1855-57 he was clerk in the United States Treasury Department. In 1861-62 he was lieutenant of third Michigan cavalry; and major of fourth Michigan cavalry in 1862-63. In 1869-78 he was United States attorney for Idaho. In 1890-1900 he was justice of the supreme court of Idaho.

HUSTON, THAD, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born April 15, 1846, in Washington county, Ind. He served in Union army in Civil war in company C, 137th Illinois volunteer infantry as first sergeant. In 1901 he became judge of the superior court of Pierce county, Wash.

HUTCHINSON, JOHN, vocalist, was born Jan. 4, 1821, in Milford, N. H. Among his songs and those of his son Henry were Will the New Year come To-Night, Mother; Bingen on the Rhine; The Newfoundland Dog; The Bridge of Sighs; and the People's Advent.

HUTTON, MANCIUS HOLMES, clergyman, was born Oct. 13, 1837, in New York City. He is a clergyman of the Reformed Church in America. Since 1896 he has been president of the American Board of Foreign Missions.

HYDE, AMMI BRADFORD, educator, author, was born March 13, 1826, in Oxford, N. Y. He is professor of languages at University of Denver. He is the author of The Story of Methodism.

HYDE, MARY CAROLINE, author, was born in Plainfield, Vt. She is the author of Guy and Gladys; Gootsie; Under the Stable Floor; and Yan and Nochie of Tappan Sea.

HYDE, SOLON, merchant, author, was born Nov. 12, 1838, in Rushville, Ohio. In 1861-65 he served in the United States volunteers. He taught school a number of years and is now a successful merchant of San Jacinto, Ind. He is the author of A Captive of War.

HYLLSTED, FREDERICK FERDINAND AUGUST, musician, composer, was born June 17, 1858, in Sweden. He has been the holder of several honorable positions in the musical organization of America. For a number of years he was Assistant Director of the Piano Department Chicago Musical College; and afterward Director Piano Department at the Gottschalk School. During his stay abroad he enjoyed the unusual distinction of playing before almost all the reigning royal courts of Europe. He is the author of several compositions.

IDE, MRS. FANNIE OGDEN, author, was born in 1853, in Long Island, N. Y. She is the author of His Little Royal Highness; A Loyal Little Red-Coat; A Little Queen of Hearts; Courage; A Little Homespun; and Loyal Hearts and True.

IDE, HENRY CLAY, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 18, 1844, in Barnet, Vt. In 1882-85 he was a member of the Vermont State senate and president Republican State Convention of 1884. He was United States commissioner to Samoa in 1891; and chief justice under joint appointment, England and Germany.

ILES, GEORGE, author, was born June 20, 1852, in Gibraltar. He is the author of Flame, Electricity and the Camera.

INGALS, E. FLETCHER, physician, author, was born Sept. 29, 1848, in Lee Center, Ill. He is a specialist in diseases of the throat and chest; and lectures on that subject in the Rush Medical College of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Diseases of the Chest, Throat, and Lungs; and other medical works.

INGALLS, HERBERT, public official, author, was born May 9, 1834, in Rindge, N. H. He has been a clerk in the United States Treasury Department; Cashier of the International Revenue; and Treasurer and Cashier of Railroad Corporations. He is the author of a published work.

INGALLS, JAMES MONROE, soldier, author, was born Jan. 25, 1837, in Sutton, Vt. He is a lieutenant-colonel in United States army and retired. He founded Department of Ballistics at United States Artillery School at Fort Monroe in 1882; and was principal instructor until school suspended operation in 1898 at outbreak of war with Spain. He is the author of Exterior Ballistics; Ballistic Machines; Handbook of Problems in Exterior Ballistics; and Interior Ballistics.

INGLE, EDWARD, journalist, author, was born May 17, 1861, in Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Southern Sidelights; The Negro in the District of Columbia; Local Institntions of Virginia; Parish Institutions of Maryland; Capt. Richard Ingle, the Maryland Pirate and Rebel; and In the Maze.

INGRAHAM, GEORGE LANDON, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 1, 1847, in New York City. In 1893 he became judge of the supreme court of the City of New York. He is now jnstice appellate division of the Supreme Court of New York.

INGRAHAM, JOHN PHILLIPS THURSTON, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 29, 1817, in Hallowell, Me. In 1862-64 he was chaplain in army in Tennessee. Since 1881 he has been rector Grace Church of St. Lonis, Mo. He is the author of Why We Believe the Bible; Mother's Talks with Her Little Folks; and The Christian Faith Traced Down from the Garden of Eden.

INNES, GEORGE, artist, was born May 1, 1825, in Newburg, N. Y. Among his best known works are A View from the Delectable Mountains; Delaware Gap; Joy After the Storm; and A Passing Storm.

INVILLERS, EDWARD VINCENT geologist, anthor, was born Ang. 2, 1857, in Germantown, Pa. He is a geologist and consnlting engineer of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Geology of Berks county, Pa.; and other geological works.

IRELAND, ALEYNE, lectnrer, author, was born Jan. 19, 1871, in England. In 1900 he was appointed lecturer in politics in the University of Chicago. He is the anthor of Tropical Colonization; China and the Powers; and other works.

IRELAND, JOSIAS ALEXANDER, physician, was born Sept. 15, 1824, in Jefferson county, Ky. He became professor of obstetrics in the Kentucky school of medicine in 1864; professor of clinical medicine in the University of Lonisville in 1866; and in 1867 returned to his former chair in the Kentucky school of medicine. In 1872 he was elected professor of the diseases of women and children in the Louisville medical college; and was afterward chosen dean of that institution.

IRVING, JOHN DUER, genealogist, author, was born Aug. 18, 1874, in Madison, Wis. He is the author of Stratigraphical Relations of Brown's Park Beds of Utah; and Eruptive Rocks of the Northern Black Hills and Their Associated Ore Bodies.

IRWIN, SAMUEL D., soldier, lawyer, genealogist. He served in the civil war; and took part in the Arkansas Expedition in 1864-65, principally with the engineers and scouts. In 1868 he published the Pioneer History of Forest County, Pa. He has been three times elected district attorney of Forest connty. He is the author of History of the Irwin Family.

ISAACS, ABRAHAM SAMUEL, educator, rabbi, anthor, was born Aug. 30, 1852, in New York City. He is professor of German literature in University of New York and he is also rabbi of the Barnet memorial temple of Paterson, N. J. Since 1878 he has been editor of the Jewish Messenger, is interested in benevolent and educational work, and is a popular lecturer on literary topics. He is the author of Moses Chaun Luzzatto, a Modern Hebrew Poet, and Stories from the Rabbis.

ISHAM, RALPH N., physician, surgeon, founder, was born March 16, 1831, in Manheim, N. Y. In 1859 he was one of the founders of the old Chicago Medical College, which institution subsequently became the medical school of Northwestern University. He was an instructor in surgical anatomy in that school, and in 1896 was placed on the emeritus list. During the civil war he was surgeon in the marine hospital in Chicago. He was one of the originators of the United States sanitary commission. He has been a wide traveler and has accumulated a valuable biographical and historical library.

IVES, FREDERIC EUGENE, scientist, inventor, was born Feb. 17, 1856, in Litchfield, Conn. In 1878 he invented the first practically successful process of half-tone photo-engraving; and in 1886 invented the half-tone photo-engraving process now universally employed.

IVISON, DAVID BRINKERHOFF, publisher, was born June 28, 1835, in Auburn, N. Y. He entered the house of Ivison, Blakeman, Taylor & Company, schoolbook publishers, founded by his father, Henry Ivison, and in which he later became a partner, and eventually the senior. When in 1890 the firm was consolidated with other houses in the American book company, Mr. Ivison became president of that important corporation.

JACK, SUMMERS MELVILLE, lawyer, congressman, was born July 18, 1852, in Summersville, Pa. In 1888-89 he was district attorney for Indiana county. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Pennsylvania as a republican.

JACKMAN, HOWARD HILL, civil engineer, was born Feb. 9, 1852, in Liverpool, Ohio. In 1893 he was judge of award at the World's Columbian Exposition. Since 1900 he has had charge of the five city waterworks cribs of Chicago, Ill.

JACKMAN, WILBUR SAMUEL, educator, author, was born Jan. 12, 1855, in Mechanicstown, Ohio. Since 1901 he has been dean and head of department of natural science in the University of Chicago. He is the author of Nature Study for Common Schools; and Nature Study for the Grammar Grades.

JACKSON, A. M., congressman. He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh congress from Kansas as a democrat.

JACKSON, ABRAHAM VALENTINE WILLIAMS, linguist, author, was born Feb. 9, 1862, in New York City. Since 1895 he has been professor of Indo-Iranian languages at Columbia University of New York City. He is the author of A Hymn of Zoroaster; An Avesta Grammar; An Avestan Reader; and Zoroaster, the Prophet of Ancient Iran.

JACKSON, DUGALD CALEB, civil engineer, inventor, author, was born Feb. 13, 1865, in Kennett Square, Pa. He has designed, built and operated many of the largest electric railway and lighting plants; and is now advising engineer and expert for several large corporations. He is the author of A Text-book on Electricity and Magnetism and the Construction of Dynamos; and Electricity and Magnetism.

JACKSON, EDWARD, surgeon, author, was born March 30, 1856, in Goshen, Pa. In 1900 he was ophthalmologist to Arapahoe County Hospital of Denver, Col. He is the author of Essentials of Diseases of the Eye, and Manual of Diseases of the Eye.

JACKSON, GABRIELLE EMILIE, author, was born Oct. 13, 1861, in New York City. He is the author of Denise and Ned Toodles; and Pretty Polly Perkins.

JACKSON, JOHN HENRY, physician, state legislator, was born April 19, 1844, in Canada. Since 1865 he has been a successful physician of Barre, Vt.; and since 1882 professor of physiology in University of Vermont. In 1878-80 he was a member of the Vermont state legislature; and in 1896 was a democratic candidate for governor of Vermont.

JACKSON, MARY ANNA, author. She is the wife of Gen. Thomas Jonathan J. Stonewall Jackson, deceased. She is the author of Memoirs of Stonewall Jackson.

JACKSON, RICHARD HENRY, soldier, was born July 14, 1830, in Ireland. After serving in Florida and the west, he passed his examination for a second lieutenancy, receiving his commission in 1859. He afterward served as assistant inspector-general, and was also acting chief of artillery on Morris and Folly islands during the operations against Fort Sumter, and then chief artillery of the tenth and twenty-fifth corps, Army of the James. He was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1865; and was commissioned full brigadier-general of volunteers in 1865, and brevet major-general the same year. He was promoted major in 1880, and is now in command of Fort Schuyler, N. Y.

JACKSON, SAMUEL MACAULEY, educator, author, was born June 19, 1851, in New York City. He is a professor of church history in New York University. He is the author of Concise Dictionary of Religions Knowledge; Heroes of the Reformation, in nine volumes; and the series of Handbooks for Practical Workers in Church and Philanthropy, in twelve volumes.

JACKSON, WILLIAM H., congressman. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Maryland as a republican.

JACOBI, ABRAHAM, physician author, was born May 6, 1830, in Westphalia. He is the author Dentition and Its Derangements; Infant Hygiene; Diptheria; Therapeutics of Infancy and Childhood, and Infant Diet.

JACOBS, JOHN ADAMSON, educator, was born Nov. 6, 1839, in Cass county, Mich. He removed to Danville, Ky., where, at twenty years of age, he was appointed assistant teacher in the deaf and dumb asylum. In 1862 he entered the National army, and served through the civil war. In 1865 he resumed his position as teacher in the asylum; and in 1869, was unanimously chosen by the trustees as superintendent of the institution.

JACOBS, JOSEPH, journalist, author, was born Aug. 29, 1854, in Sydney, New South Wales. In 1900 he removed to America to take part in the editing of Funk & Wagnalls' Jewish Encyclopaedia. He is the author of Studies in Jewish Statistics; Celtic Fairy Tales; Indian Fairy Tales;and a score of other works.

JAMES, FRANK LOWBER, physician, journalist, author, was born Aug. 27, 1842, in Mobile, Ala. Since 1887 he has been editor of The National Druggist of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of Elementary Microscopical Technology.

JAMES, GEORGE WHARTON, explorer, ethnologist, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 27, 1858, in England. He has devoted years to geography, geology, ethnology, and archaeology researches in California, Nevada, Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico. He is the author of The Lick Observatory; Tourists' Guide to Southern California; Nature Sermons; Scenic Mount Lowe; Picturesque Southern California; The Missions and Mission Indians of California; From Alpine Snow to Semi-Tropical Sea; and In and Around the Grand Canyon.

JAMES, HENRY B., soldier, author. He served with distinction through the civil war. He is the author of a volume concerning the civil war.

JANVERS, MRS. CATHARINE DRINKER, artist, translator, author, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. Her principal paintings are Binding on the Shoes; The Guitar Player; Daniel at Prayer; and The Violinist. She is the author of Popular Keramics; and The Reds of the Midi; and other works.

JARROLD, ERNEST, author, was born in 1850 in England. He is the author of Odds and Ends; Mickey Finn Idylls; and Tales of the Bowery.

JASTROW, JOSEPH, educator, author, was born Jan. 30, 1863, in Poland. Since 1888 he has been professor of psychology in the university of Wisconsin. He is the author of Time-Relations of Mental Phenomena; and Fact and Fable in Psychology.

JASTROW, MORRIS, JR., linguist, librarian, author, was born Aug. 13, 1861, in Europe. He is professor of Semitic languages and librarian of the university of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Religion of the Babylonians and Assyrians.

JEFFERSON, CHARLES EDWARD, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 29, 1860, in Cambridge, Ohio. He is now pastor of Broadway Tabernacle of New York city. He is the author of Quiet talks with Earnest People in My Study.

JENKINS, BURRIS ATKINS, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Oct. 2, 1869, in Kansas City, Mo. He has been pastor of Third Christian church, Indianapolis professor in Butler college, Indianapolis; and is now president of the university of Indianapolis.

JENKINS, HOWARD MALCOLM, journalist, author, was born March 30, 1842, in Gwynedd, Pa. In 1881-91 he was managing editor of The American of Philadelphia, Pa., which position he filled for ten years. Since 1885 he has edited The Friends' Intelligencer of Philadelphia. He is the author of Historical Collections Relating to Gwynedd, a work of local history, involving Welsh research; Memorial History of Philadelphia; and The Family of William Penn.

JENKINS, JAMES GRAHAM, lawyer, jurist, was born July 18, 1834, in Saratoga Springs, N. Y. For four years he was city attorney of Milwaukee, Wis.; was defeated on democratic ticket for governor of Wisconsin in 1879; received the democratic vote in the legislature for United States senator in 1881. He was United States judge of the district of Wisconsin in 1888-93; and was promoted to circuit bench.

JENKINS, WILLIAM M., lawyer, governor, was born April 25, 1856, in Alliance, Ohio. In 1897-1901 he was secretary of Oklahoma Territory. In 1901-03 he was governor of Oklahoma Territory. .

JENKS, TUDOR, journalist, author, was born May 7, 1857, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He studied art in Paris; and in 1881-87 practiced law in New York city. Since 1887 he has been on the editorial staff of St. Nicholas Magazine. He is the author of Century World's Fair Book; and Boys' Book of Explorations.

JENNEY, WILLIAM LE BARON, soldier, architect, was born Sept. 25, 1832, in Fairhaven, Mass. He served throughout the civil war; and in 1864 was brevetted major. In 1870-71 he was landscape engineer for West Chicago Parks; and in 1883 invented and first used in Home Insurance Building the skeleton construction now generally used for tall buildings.

JENNINGS, EDWIN B., civil engineer, lecturer, author, was born in 1855, in New York city. He engaged in practice as civil engineer, and for some time taught in Cooper Union school; was twelve years in charge of Hawkins Bridge and Iron works; and since 1895 has been known as lecturer and writer on trust questions. He is the author of People and Property.

JENNINGS, JOHN JOSEPH, journalist, author, was born March 1, 1853, in St. Louis, Mo. He is the editor of the New York Evening World. He is the author of Theatrical and Circus Life.

JERVIS, WILLIAM PERCIVAL, manufacturer, author, was born Dec. 28, 1851, in England. In 1898 he founded the Baltimore Ceramic Company, of which he is the president. He is the author of Rough Notes on Pottery; and A Book of Pottery Marks.

JESSUP, SAMUEL, missionary, author, was born Dec. 21, 1833, in Montrose, Pa. In 1862 he was ordained by the presbytery of Montrose, and has since been engaged in mission work in Syria, having charge of the mission printing establishment and publishing house in that city. He is the author of Husn Sulayman.

JEWELL, THEODORE FRELINGHUYSEN, naval officer, was born Aug. 5, 1844, in Georgetown, D. C. He served on all the foreign stations, was in command of the naval torpedo station for three years, and for the same period was superintendent of the naval gun-factory; and during the war with Spain commanded the United States protected cruiser Minneapolis.

JEWETT, JOHN HOWARD, soldier, journalist, author, was born Jan. 19, 1843, in Hadley, Mass. He served through the civil war; and in 1864 resigned with rank of assistant quartermaster and ordnance officer. He is the author of The Bunny Stories.

JOHNS, CLAYTON, musician, composer, was born Nov. 24, 1857, in New Castle Del. Since 1884 he has lived in Boston, Mass., as a concert-pianist, composer and teacher. He is the author of about one hundred songs.

JOHNSON, BRADLEY TYLER, soldier, lawyer, state senator, author, was born Sept. 29, 1829, in Frederick, Md. He served from captain to brigadier-general in the Confederate army through the civil war. In 1865-79 he practiced law in Richmond, Va.; and in Baltimore in 1879-90. He was a member of the National Democratic Convention in 1872, and a member of the Virginia state senate in 1875-79. He is the author of Chase's Decisions; ; The Foundation of Maryland; Memoir of Joseph E. Johnston; Life of General Washington; and The Confederate History of Maryland.

JOHNSON, CHARLES SUMNER, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born in 1854, in Jones county, Ia. He was a member of the Nebraska legislature in 1883-84; and United States district attorney for Alaska in 1889-94. Since 1897 he has been United States judge for the district of Alaska.

JOHNSON, ELIAS FINLEY, lawyer, legislator, jurist, author, was born June 24, 1861, in Vanwert, Ohio. In 1883-87 he was a member of the Ohio legislature; and a member of the law faculty of the university of Michigan in 1890-1901. Since 1901 he has been judge in the Philippine Islands. He is the author of Johnson on Bills and Notes.

JOHNSON, HALE, lawyer, statesman, was born Aug. 21, 1847, in Montgomery county, Ind. In 1877 he began the practice of his profession at Newton, Ill. In 1896 he was nominated for vice-president, with Joshua Levering of Maryland for president, by the majority of narrow gauge section of the Prohibition party at the convention held in Pittsburg, Pa.

JOHNSON, JESSE, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 20, 1842, in Bradford, Vt. In 1889-93 he was district attorney of the eastern district of New York; and in 1897-98 was justice of the supreme court of New York. He is the author of Testimony of the Sonnets as to the Authorship of the Shakespearian Plays and Poems.

JOHNSON, JOHN, soldier, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 25, 1829, in Charleston, S .C. In 1861-65 he served as lieutenant captain and major of engineers in the Confederate army, in the Carolinas and Georgia. He was for fifteen months engineer in charge of Fort Sumter during the heavy and prolonged bombardments and was twice wounded there. Since 1871 he has been rector of St. Philip's church of Charleston. He is the author of The Defense of Charleston Harbor, 1863-65.

JOHNSON, JOSEPH TRAVIS, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 28, 1858, in Brewerton, S. C. Since 1883 he has practiced law in Spartansburg, S. C. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from South Carolina as a democrat.

JOHNSON, MORTIMER L., naval officer, was born June 1, 1842, in Nahant, Mass. He attained the rank of lieutenant during the civil war. He was then placed on various duties and services; was promoted to rear admiral in 1901; and now is commander of naval station at Port Royal, S. C.

JOHNSON, OTIS C., chemist author, was born Sept. 11, 1839 in Kishwaukee, Ill. Since 1889 he has been professor of applied chemistry in the university of Michigan. He is the author of Qualitative Chemical Analysis.

JOHNSON, OWEN, journalist, author, was born Aug. 27, 1878, in New York City. He was the founder and first editor of the Lawrenceville Literary Magazine. He is the author of Arrows of the Almighty.

JOHNSON, PHILANDER CHASE journalist, author, poet, was born Feb. 6, 1866, in Wheeling, W. Va. He is now editorial writer and dramatic editor o the Washington Star. He is the author of Sayings of Uncle Eben; and Now-a-Day Poems.

JOHNSON, WILLIAM HENRY, soldier, clergyman, author, was born March 29, 1845, in Beaufort, S. C. He served in the Confederate army as an officer in the regiment which garrisoned Fort Sumter. He is the author of The World's Discoverers.

JOHNSON, WILLIAM MARTIN, journalist, author, was born Dec. 12, 1862, in Boston, Mass. He is art editor of the Ladies' Home Journal. He is the author of Inside of One Hundred Homes.

JOHNSON, WILLIAM WOOLSEY, educator, mathematician, author, was born June 23, 1841, in Owego, N. Y. Since 1891 he has been professor of mathematics in the United States naval academy. He is the author of Differential Calculus; An Elementary Treatise on the Integral Calculus; and other works.

JOHNSTON, MRS. ANNIE FELLOWS author, poet, was born in 1863, in Evansville, Ind. She is the author of Big Brother; The Little Colonel; A Boy of Galilee; Old Mammy's Torment; and other works.

JOHNSTON, CHARLES, author, was born Feb. 17, 1867, in Ballykilbeg, County Down, Ireland. He is the author of The Memory of Past Births.

JOHNSTON, DAVID E., soldier, lawyer, State senator, congressman, was born April 16, 1845, in Virginia. In 1861 he entered the Confederate army; and was twice wounded. In 1878 he was elected to the West Virginia state Senate; and in 1880-88 was judge of the circuit court. He was elected a member of the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

JOHNSON, ELIZABETH, BRYANT lecturer, author, was born in Mason county, Ky. She is a lecturer and dialect reader of Washington, D. C. She is the author of Visitor's Guide to Mount

JONES, RICHARD, educator, author. Since 1899 he has been professor of literature in the Vanderbilt university of Nashville, Tenn. He is the author of Vernon; and The Days That Are No More.

JOHNSTON, MRS. HARRIET LANE, was born in 1833, in Mercersburg, Pa. During the administration of her uncle, President James Buchanan, she was mistress of the White House, over which she presided with grace and dignity, receiving, among other distinguished guests, the Prince of Wales and his party. In 1866 she married Henry Elliott Johnston of Maryland.

JOHNSTON, HUGH, clergyman, author, was born in Canada. Since 1898 he has been pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church of Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Toward the Sunrise, sketches of travel in Europe and the Holy Land.

JOHNSTON, JOSEPH FORNEY, soldier, lawyer, banker, governor, was born in 1843, in Lincoln county, N. C. In 1861-65 he served in the Confederate army from private to captain and was four times wounded. In 1866-84 he practiced law at Selma, Ala.; since then he has lived in Birmingham. He was president of the Alabama National bank in 1884-94. In 1896-1900 he was governor of Alabama.

JOHNSTON, MARY, author, was born Nov. 21, 1870, in Buchanan, Va. She is the author of Prisoner of Hope; and To Have and To Hold.

JOHNSTON, NATHAN ROBINSON, clergyman, missionary, author, was born Oct. 8, 1820, in Harrison county, Ohio. He was co-worker with William Lloyd Garrison and Wendell Phillips in anti-slavery cause. In 1875 he went to Oakland, Cal., as missionary to the Chinese. He is the author of Looking Back from the Sunset Land.

JOHNSTON, WILLIAM AGNEW, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born July 24 1848, in Canada. In 1872-84 he practiced law in Kansas; was elected to the legislature in 1875; and to the state senate in 1876. In 1880-84 he was attorney-general of Kansas; and since 1884 has been justice of the supreme court of Kansas.

JOHNSTON, WILLIAM ANDREW, journalist, author, was born Jan. 26, 1871, in Pittsburg, Pa. Since 1900 he has been on the editorial staff for the New York World. He is the author of History Up to Date.

JONAS, ALBERTO, musician, founder, composer, was born June 8, 1868, in Madrid. In 1894 he became head of the pianoforte department of the University of Michigan School of Music. He is director, president and founder of the Michigan Conservatory of Music of Detroit. He is composer of several dances and romances.

JONES, CHARLES HENRY, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 13, 1837, in Reading Pa. In 1863 he settled in Philadelphia, Pa.; and was soon appointed counsel for the Fairmount park commission. He is the author of A Pedestrian Tour Through Switzerland; Recollections of Venice; Memoir of William Rodman; The Campaign for the Conquest of Canada in 1776; and a Genealogy of the Rodman Family.

JONES, DANIEL WEBSTER, soldier, lawyer legislator, governor, was born Dec. 15, 1839, in Bowie county, Texas. In 1861 he entered the Confederate army and became colonel of the twentieth Arkansas infantry in 1862; and was commanding a brigade of infantry at the close of the war. In 1884-88 he was attorney general of Arkansas; a member of the legislature in 1901; and governor in 1896-1900.

JONES, FRANCIS COATES, artist, was born July 25, 1857, in Baltimore, Md. He is a successful figure painter of New York City.

JONES, GARDNER MAYNARD, librarian, author, was born June 27, 1850, in harlestown, Mass. Since 1889 he has been librarian of Salem public library. He is the author of List of Subject Headings for Use in Dictionary Catalogues.

JONES, GEORGE JAMES, clergyman, college president, lecturer, author, was born in 1856 in Wales. In 1895-97 he was president of Gale college, Wis. He is the author of The Province of Philosophy; American Church, and Public Lectures.

JONES, GEORGE WILLIAM, mathematician, author, was born Oct. 14, 1837, in East Corinth, Maine. Since 1887 he has been professor of mathematics in Cornell university. He is the author of Drill-Book in Algebra; and Drill-Book in Trigonometry.

JONES, HARRY CLARY, chemist, author, as born Nov. 11, 1865, in New London, Md. He is associate professor of physical chemistry in Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Freezing Point, Boiling Point, and Conductivity Methods.

JONES, IRA B., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Dec. 29, 1851, in Newberry, S. C. In 1890 he was elected a member of the South Carolina state legislature, and became speaker of the house. He received the re-election in 1892 and 1894, and in 1896-1902 was associate justice of the supreme court of South Carolina.

JONES, ISAAC THOMAS, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Dec. 2, 1838, in West River, Md. In 1868 he was a member of the Maryland legislature. He was elected judge of the circuit court fifth judicial circuit twice for fifteen years each; and became chief judge of the circuit.

JONES, JOHN DIVINE, business man, philanthropist, was born Aug. 15, 1814, in Cold Springs, N. Y. He was placed in the office of his uncle, and under his guidance filled all the offices of the Atlantic company, of which he has been president since 1855. He has been a liberal benefactor of many public institutions, especially to the Protestant Episcopal church of New York city and Long Island, and to the Historical Society of New York.

JONES, MRS. KATE EMERY SANBORN, librarian, author, was born June 23, 1860, in Henniker, N. H. She is the author of The Cutter-Sanborn Author Table.

JONES, MARCUS EUGENE, botanist, geologist, author, was born April 25, 1852, in Jefferson, Ohio. He is now engaged as botanist, geologist and mining expert. He is the author of Excursion Botanique; Ferns of the West; Salt Lake City; Some Phases of Mining in Utah; and Botany of the Great Plateau.

JONES, NELSON EDWARDS, physician, surgeon, author, was born Sept. 20, 1821, in Ross county, Ohio. Since 1852 he has practiced at Circleville. In 1864 he was commissioned surgeon of the board of enrollment, twelfth district of Ohio, serving to the end of the war. He served thirty-one years as examining surgeon for pensions. He is the author of The Squirrel Hunters of Ohio.

JONES, RICHARD, educator, author. Since 1899 he has been professor of literature in the Vanderbilt university of Nashville, Tenn. He is the author of The Growth of the Idyls of the King; and College Entrance English.

JONES, RICHARD CHANNING, soldier, lawyer, state senator, was born April 12, 1841, in Brunswick county, Va. He served in the Confederate army as line and staff officer; and resumed practice at Camden, Ala., after the war. In 1882-85 he was a member of the Alabama state senate

JONES, RUFUS MATTHEW, educator, author, was born Jan. 25, 1863, in South China, Maine. He is professor of philosophy in Haverford College, Pa.; and editor of the American Friend. He is the author of Life of Eli and Sibyl Jones; and A Dynamic Faith.

JONES, SAMUEL M., inventor, reformer, was born in 1846, in Wales. In 18[illegible] he went to Titusville, Pa., worked in the oil fields; became an oil producer in Pennsylvania and later in West Virginia and in Ohio. He invented improved oil well appliance and established in Toledo the Acme Sucker Rod Factory of which he is owner, and in which he has introduced various reforms in labor conditions. He was elected mayor of Toledo in 1897; and 1899; and was noted for opposition to monopolies, and advocacy of municipal ownership, direct legislation and the eight-hour day.

JONES, SINGLETON THOMAS WEBSTER, clergyman, bishop, was born March 8, 1825, in Wrightsville, Pa. In 1846 he was licensed to preach in Allegheny, Pa.; became a member of the Allegheny conference in 1849; and in 1851 was ordained an elder. He was elected a bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church in 1868.

JONES, MRS. VIRGINIA SMITH, artist, author, was born Sept. 9, 1827, in New London, Conn. She is the author of Illustration of the Nests and Eggs of Birds of Ohio, with sixty-eight hand-colored plates.

JORDAN, CONRAD N., banker, was born April 20, 1830, in New York city. In 1885-87 he was treasurer of the United States at Washington; and devised a new form of silver bullion certificate.

JORDAN, ELIZABETH GARVER, journalist, author, was born May 9, 1867, in Milwaukee, Wis. He is editor of Harper's Bazar. He is the author of Tales of the City Room.

JORDAN, FRANCIS, merchant, antiquarian, author, was born Aug. 28, 1843, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is an importer of chemicals of Philadelphia, Pa. He is also well-known as a numismatic and antiquarian. He is the author of The Remains of an Aboriginal Town of Renobeth, Del.

JORDAN, JULES, musician, composer, was born Nov. 10, 1850 in Williamantic, Conn. He is highly successful as conductor and teacher of Providence, R. I. He is the composer of Rip Van Winkle a romantic comedy-opera.

JORDAN, WILLIAM GEORGE, journalist author, was born March 6, 1864, in New York City. Since 1898 he has been editor-in-chief of the Saturday Evening Post of Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1884 he has been engaged in preparation of Jordan's Guide to Poetry and Prose.

JOSEFFY, RAFAEL, musician, composer, was born July 3, 1853, in Hungary. In delicacy of touch he is unexcelled. Since 1879 he has lived in New York City; and now teaches in the National Conservatory. He has composed about a score of salon-pieces for piano.

JOUETT, JAMES EDWARD, naval officer, was born Feb. 27, 1828, in Lexington, Ky. He took a prominent part in entrance to Mobile bay under Farragut in 1864; and was promoted in course to rear admiral and commanded North Atlantic squadron. In 1885, when rebels closed the transit across the Isthmus of Panama, he opened the transit and restored peace, for which he was thanked by president of the United States of Columbia.

JOY, JAMES RICHARD, journalist, author, was born Oct. 16, 1863, in Groton, Mass. He is the author of The Greek Grammar; Grecian History; and Twenty Centuries of English History.

JOYCE, ISAAC W., clergyman, bishop, was born Oct. 11, 1836, in Hamilton county, Ohio. Since 1888 he has been Methodist Episcopal bishop at Minneapolis, Minn.

JUDD, CHARLES HUBBARD, educator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1873, in British India. Since 1898 he has been professor of Psychology in the University of New York. He is the author of Outlines of Psychology.

JULIEN, ALEXIS ANASTAY, geologist, naturalist, was born Feb. 13, 1840, in New York City. He has attained a national reputation as a successful geologist and naturalist; and many of his collections of birds and land shells are in the Smithsonian institution.

JUNGER, AEGIDIUS, missionary, bishop, was born April 6, 1838, in Prussia. In 1862 he was stationed as a missionary at Walla Walla, Washington territory. In 1864 he ws attached to the cathedral at Vancouver; and in 1879 became second bishop of the diocese of Nesqually.

JUSTICE, NOAH, business man, jurist, was born Oct. 16, 1836 in Clarksburg, Ohio. He is engaged in the business of realestate in LaFayette, Ind. He has been justice of the peace for eight years; and mayor of that city.

KAHN, JULIUS, actor, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 28, legislature. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

KAHN, MRS. RUTH WARD, lecturer, author, poet, was born Aug. 4 1872, in Jackson, Mich. She has lectured in twenty states. She is the author of The First 1861, in Germany. After leaving school he entered the theatrical profession. He became a lawyer of San Francisco, Cal.; and in 1892 was elected to the California Quarter, collected poems.

KAIN, JOHN JOSEPH, clergyman, archbishop, was born May 21, 1841, in Martinsburg, W. Va. In 1875 he was consecrated bishop of Wheeling; in 1893 he became coadjutor archbishop of St. Louis; and archbishop in 1896.

KANTER, EDWARD, banker, state legislator, founder, was born Aug. 14, 1824, in Silesia. The German-American bank was founded by him in 1868, and he held the presidency until 1894. He served as a member of the state legislature in 1857.

KARR, MRS. ELIZABETH, author, was born in Geneva, N. Y. She is the wife of Gen. Charles W. Karr, a Cincinati lawyer. She is the author of The American Horsewoman.

KEARNEY, BELLE lecturer, author, was born near Vernon, Miss. She has lectured extensively in the United States, Canada and Europe. She is the author of a Slaveholder's Daughter.

KEARNS, THOMAS, miner United States senator, was born in 1862 in Canada. He is part owner of Silver King mine of Utah, one of the richest silver mines in the world. In 1901 he was elected from Utah to the United States senate for term ending in 1907.

KEATON, JAMES R., educator, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 10, 1861, in Carter county, Ky. Since 1896 he has been associate justice of the supreme court and ex-officio judge of the third judicial district of Oklahoma.

KEELEY, JAMES, journalist, was born Oct. 14, 1867, in London, England. Since 1898 he has been managing editor of the Chicago Tribune.

KEELY, ROBERT NEFF, physician, author, was born in 1860 in Pennsylvania. He is the author of In Arctic Seas.

KEEN, GREGORY BERNARD, clergyman, librarian, author, was born March 3, 1844, in West Philadelphia, Pa. In 1871 he was appointed professor of mathematics in the theological seminary of St. Charles Borromeo at Overbrook, Pa. In 1873-76 he devoted himself to the study of Greek literature. In 1887 he was elected librarian of the University of Pennsylvania.

KEENAN, THOMAS JOHNSTON, soldier, journalist, founder, was born Nov 22, 1859, in Pittsburg, Pa. He was president and founder of the Publishers' Press Association; was vice-president of League American Wheelmen in 1898, and president of same in 1899. In 1884 he founded the Pittsburg Press, of which he has always been editor.

KEENER, JOHN CHRISTIAN, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Feb. 7, 1819, in Baltimore, Md. In 1861-64 he was superintendent of chaplains in Confederate army West of Mississippi river. Since 1870 he has been bishop of the Methodist-Episcopal church South. In 1873 he founded a mission in Mexico. He is the author of The Post Oak Circuit.

KEENER, WILLIAM ALBERT, lawyer, lecturer, author, was born March 10, 1856, in Augusta, Maine. He is dean of School of Law and Kent professor of law at Columbia University of New York City. He is the author of Treatise on Quasi-Contracts.

KEESE, WILLIAM LINN, business man, author, was born Feb. 25, 1835, in New York City. He is the author of John Keese, Wit and Litterateur; and William E. Burton, Actor, Author and Manager.

KEHOE, JAMES N., lawyer, jurist congressman, was born July 15, 1862, in Maysville, Ky. In 1893 was city attorney of Maysville; and in 1893-1900 master in chancery of Mason Circuit court. He was elected to fifty-seventh congress from Kentucky as a democrat.

KEILEY, BENJAMIN J., clergyman, bishop, was born Oct. 13, 1847, in Petersburg, Va. Since 1900 he has been Roman Catholic Bishop of Savannah, Ga.

KEISER, EDWARD HARRISON, educator, author, was born Nov. 20, 1861, in Allentown, Pa. He is professor of chemistry at Washington University of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of Laboratory Work in Chemistry.

KEITH, JAMES, lawyer, jurist. He is presiding judge of the supreme court of appeals at Richmond, Va.

KEITH, NATHANIEL SHEPARD, electrical engineer, author, was born July 14, 1838, in Boston, Mass. In 1884 he was the organizer and first secretary of American Institute Electrical Engineers. He is now mining and metallurgic expert with Arlington Copper Company, Arlington, N. J. He is the author of Magnetic and Dynamo-Electric Machines.

KELLAR, HARRY, magician, was born July 11, 1849, in Erie, Pa. He has played through South America, Africa, Australia, India, China, Philippine Islands and Japan; and since 1884 he has performed in leading American cities.

KELLEN, WILLIAM VAIL, lawyer author, was born July 3, 1852, in Truro, Mass. He is the author of Index-Digest of Massachusetts; and New Index to Public Statutes of Massachusetts.

KELLERMAN, WILLIAM ASHBROOK, botanist, author, was born May 1, 1850 in Ashville, Ohio. Since 1890 he has been professor of botany in Ohio State University. He is the author of Flora of Kansas; Elementary Botany; Phytotheca; and Spring Flora of Ohio.

KELLEY, DAVID CAMPBELL, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 25, 1833, in Leeville, Tenn. In 1890 he was a candidate for governor of Tennessee on Prohibition ticket. He was projector of the scheme from which came Vanderbilt University and the Nashville College for Young Ladies. In 1898-99 he was presiding elder Nashville district of Tennessee and was six times elected to general conference. He is the author of Modern Doubt.

KELLEY, EDGAR STILLMAN, musician, composer, was born April 14, 1857 in Sparta, Wis. He was organist in Oakland and San Francisco, Cal., and in 1890-91 conducted a comic-opera company in the Eastern States. He has taught pianoforte, organ and composition in various schools in California and New York; and recently in the New York College of Music. He is the author of numerous compositions.

KELLOGG AMOS, MARKHAM, journalist, author, was born June 5, 1832, in Utica, N. Y. Since 1874 he has been editor of School Journal of New York City. He is the author of School Management; and How to Teach.

KELLOGG, EDGAR ROMEYN, soldier was born March 25, 1842, in New York City. During the civil war he attained the rank of captain. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general in the United States volunteers. He commanded the tenth United States infantry at battle of San Juan Hills.

KELLOGG, MRS. EVA MARY CROSBY, author was born March 20, 1860, in Neponset, Ill. She is the author of Australia and the Islands of the Sea; and Grandma's Darlings.

KELLOGG, VERNON LYMAN, educator, author, was born Dec. 1, 1867, in Emporia, Kan. He is professor of entomology in the Leland Stanford University of California. He is the author of Common Injurious Insects of Kansas; and Elementary Zoology.

KELLY, MRS. FLORENCE FINCH, journalist, author, was born March 27 1848, in Girard, Ill. She is the author of With Hoops of Steel.

KELLY, HOWARD ATWOOD, physician, author was born Feb. 20, 1858, in Camden, N. J. He is professor of gynecology and obstetrics at Johns Hopkins university. He is the author of Operative Gynecology.

KEMP, JAMES FURMAN, geologist, author, was born in 1859 in New York City. He is professor of geology in Columbia University of New York City. He is the author of Ore Deposits of the United States and Canada.

KEMPFF, LOUIS, naval officer, was born Oct. 2, 1841, near Belleville, Ill. During the civil war he attained the rank of lieutenant-commander. In 1896-99 he was in command of receiving ship Independence; and in 1899 became rear admiral.

KENDRICK, JOHN MILLS, clergyman, bishop, was born in Gambier, Ohio. Since 1889 he has been presiding bishop of Arizona.

KENEALY, AHMED JOHN, journalist, author, was born April 13, 1854, in England. He joined staff of New York Herald. He is the author of Yacht Races for the America's Cup; Boat Sailing in Fair Weather and Foul; and Yachting Wrinkles.

KENNARD, JOSEPH SPENCER, lawyer, artist, author, was born in 1859, in Bridgeton, N. J. He has several times been juror of awards on paintings; and in 1900 was a commissioner to the Paris exposition. He is the author of Contemporary Italian Romance; When the Printer's Art Was Young; and The Friar in Fiction.

KENNEDY, MRS. SARA BEAUMONT, author. She is the author of Joscelyn Cheshire, a Story of Revolutionary Days in the Carolinas.

KENNEDY, WALKER, journalist, author, was born June 8, 1857, in Louisville, Ky. Since 1896 he has been on the editorial staff of the Commercial Appeal of Memphis, Tenn. He is the author of In the Dwellings of Silence; and Javan ben Seir.

KENNICOTT, CASS LANGDON, chemist, author, was born Feb. 25, 1871, in Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Dust Explosions; Chicago's Milk Supply; Ice; Water Analysis; and Food Adulterations.

KENNY, ALBERT SEWALL, naval officer, was born Jan. 19, 1841, in Des Moines, Iowa. He entered the navy as assistant paymaster in 1862, being promoted to paymaster in 1865, pay inspector in 1884, and pay director in 1897. For six years he was general storekeeper of the Brooklyn navy yard. In 1899 he was appointed paymaster-general of the United States navy with the rank of rear-admiral.

KENT, CHARLES FOSTER, educator, author, was born Aug. 13, 1867, in Palmyra, N. Y. Since 1895 he has been professor of biblical literature and history in Brown University. He is the author of Outlines of Hebrew History; The Wise Men of Ancient Israel and Their Proverbs; A History of the Hebrew People; The United Kingdom; A History of the Hebrew People; the Divided Kingdom; The Messages of the Earlier prophets; and A History of the Jewish People.

KENT, CHARLES W., educator, author, was born Sept. 27, 1860, in Virginia. Since 1893 he has been professor lettres at Linden Kent Memorial School of English literature in the University of of Virginia. He is the author of Teutonic Antiquities in Andreas and Elene; Shakespears Note Book; and Graphic Representations of English and American Literature.

KENT, JACOB FORD, soldier, was born Sept. 14, 1835, in Philadelphia, Pa. During the civil war he attained the rank of colonel. In 1898 he was made major-general; and served as such in the Spanish-American war.

KENT, WALTER HENRY, chemist, author, was born March 29, 1851, in Levant N. Y. He is chemist and assistant professor in Brooklyn College of Pharmacy. He is the author of a published work in German.

KENT, WILLIAM, civil engineer author, was born March 5, 1851, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1890 he has been a consulting engineer of New York City; and since 1895 associate editor of the Engineering News. He is the author of Strength of Materials; The Mechanical Engineer's Pocket Book; and Steam Boiler Economy.

KEPHART, CYRUS JEFFRIES, educator, college president, author, was born Feb. 23, 1852, in Clearfield county, Pa. Since 1897 he has been president of Avalon College of Trenton, Mo. He is the author of Public Life of Christ; Jesus the Nazarene; and Life of Jesus for Children.

KEPHART, ISAIAH LAFAYETTE, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 10, 1832. In Clearfield county, Pa. In 1885-89 he was president of Westfield College, Ill., and then became editor of The Religious Telescope, the organ of the United Brethren Church. He is the author of Biography of Rev. Jacob F. Kessler; and Evils of the Use of Tobacco by Christians.

KERLIN, ROBERT THOMAS, educator, author, was born March 22, 1866, in Newcastle, Mo. In 1890-94 and since 1900 he has been professor of practical theology Valley College. He was chaplain of 3d Missouri volunteers in Spanish-American war. He is the author of Mainly for Myself; The Lyrical Diversions of a Village Parson; and The Camp Life of the Third Regiment.

KERN, JOHN ADAM, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 23, 1846, in Frederick county, Va. Since 1899 he has ben profesor of practical theology in Vanderbilt University. He is the author of Ministry to the Congregation.

KERNAN, WILL HUBBARD, journalist, poet, was born in November, 1845, in Mac-o-chee Valley, Ohio. He is the author of The Flaming Meteor, a volume of poems.

KERR, JAMES M., lawyer, author. He is a successful lawyer of Ohio; and is assistant editor of the Ohio Legal News. He is the author of Homicide; and Mortgages.

KESTER, PAUL, dramatist, author, was born Nov. 2, 1869, in Delaware, Ohio. He is the author of Tales of the Real Gypsy; The Countess Roudine, produced by Mme. Modjeska; Zamar, produced by late Alexander Salvini; a dramatization of When Knighthood was in Flower, produced by Miss Julia Marlowe.

KEY, JOSEPH STAUNTON, clergyman, bishop, was born July 18, 1829, in La Grange, Ga. He is bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church South..

KEYES, CHARLES ROLLIN, geologist author. In 1894-97 he was director of Missouri geological survey. He is the author of Geological Formations; Coal Deposits; Organization of Geological Surveys; Palaeontology of Missouri; and Maryland Granites.

KEYES, WINFIELD SCOTT, mining engineer, author, was born Nov. 17, 1839, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1876 he was a member of the board of judges at Centennial Exposition of Philadelphia, Pa.; and was honorary commissioner to Paris Exposition in 1878. He is the author of Resources of California; and Resources of Montana.

KEYSER, CHARLES SHEARER, lawyer, author, was born June 18, 1825, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a noted lawyer of Philadelphia, Pa.; and is best noted for his work in the formation of Fairmount Park; and the restoration of Independence Hall. He is the author of Independence Hall; The Liberty Bell; Fairmount Park; Paris Treaty; and Genealogy of the Keyser Family.

KEYSER, EDWARD LAWRENCE, physician, educator, author, was born Aug. 28, 1843, in Charleston, S. C. In 1867 he settled in practice in New York

City. He became lecturer on dermatology in Bellevue hospital medical college in 1871; was made professor of that branch in 1872; and since 1875 has been also adjunct professor of surgery. He is the author of Genito-Urinary Diseases with Syphilis; and Venereal Diseases.

KIDDER, FRANK EUGENE, architect, author, was born Nov. 3, 1859. He is the author of Architect and Builders' Pocket Book; Churches and Chapels; and Building Construction and Superintendence.

KIDDER, JEROME HENRY, surgeon, scientist, was born Oct. 26, 1842, in Baltimore county, Md. In 1862 he entered the National army; and served till the close of the war as a medical cadet in the military hospitals. He was appointed an assistant surgeon in the United States navy, and surgeon in 1876.

KILLEBREW, JOSEPH BUCKNER, railroad manager, author, was born May 29, 1831, in Montgomery county, Tenn. He has been president of the Industrial League and promoter of several large industrial establishments in the South. He is the author of Resources of Tennessee: Grasses of Tennessee; Tobacco Leaf; and other industrial works.

KIMBALL, ARTHUR REED, journalist, author, was born Feb. 1, 1855, in New York City. Since 1881 he has been assistant editor of Waterbury American, Conn. He is the author of The Blue-Ribbon Life of F. E. Murphy.

KIMBALL, BENJAMIN AMES, mechanical engineer, manufacturer, financier, legislator, was born Aug. 22, 1833 in Boston, Mass. He entered the employ of the Concord Railroad as draftsman, and in 1858 succeeded his brother John as master mechanic. This position he occupied until 1865 when he resigned to become a member of Ford and Kimball of Concord, manufacturers of car wheels and brass and iron castings. In 1870 he was member of the New Hampshire house of representatives; and in 1876 was a member of the constitutional convention; and filled various other public offices of trust. He was president and trustee of the Concord Savings Bank; and is now president of the Mechanics' National Bank. He is also a director in the Concord Railway; and various other corporations.

KIMBALL, GEORGE CLIFTON, educator, was born March 28, 1863, in Farmington, N. H. He is now instructor in Latin and Greek in Brewster Academy, Wolfeborough, N. H.

KIMBALL, JOHN, mechanic, financier, state senator, genealogist, was born April 13, 1821, in Canterbury, N. H. In 1850-58 he was master mechanic Concord railroad; in 1856-57 was president city council; and in 1858-59 was a member of the New Hampshire state legislature. For seven years he was collector of internal revenue; was mayor of Concord in 1872-75; and in 1876 was a member of the constitutional convention to revise the constitution of the state. In 1880 he became president of the Concord Gas Light Company; and in 1881 became a member of the New Hampshire state senate; and was elected its president. Since 1870 he has been treasurer of the Merrimack County Savings Bank; and is a director in various corporations. He is the author of Genealogy of The Joseph Kimball Family.

KIMBALL, WILLIAM SMITH, mechanical engineer, manufacturer, was born March 31, 1837, in Boscawen, N. H. In 1862-63 he had charge of the United States naval machine shops at Port Royal, S. C. He is one of the foremost manufacturers of Rochester, N. Y.; and prominent in public and business affairs of that state.

KINEALY, JOHN HENRY, mechanical engineer, author, was born March 18, 1864, in Hannibal, Mo. Since 1892 he has been professor of mechanical engineering at Washington University of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of Steam Engines and Boilers; Charts for Low Pressure Steam Heating; and Formulas and Tables for Heating.

KING, ALBERT FREEMAN AFRICANUS, author, was born Jan. 18, 1841, in England. He is consulting physician at Children's Hospital of Washington, D. C. He is the author of A Manual of Obstetrics.

KING, FRANKLIN HIRAM, educator, author, was born June 8, 1848, in Whitewater, Wis. Since 1888 he has been professor of agricultural physics at University of Wisconsin. He is the author of Economic Relations of Wisconsin Birds; The Soil; Elementary Lessons in the Physics of Agriculture; and Principles of Agricultural Irrigation and Farm Drainage.

KING, HAMILTON, clegyman, lecturer, diplomat, author, was born June 4, 1852, in Newfoundland. Since 1898 he has been United States minister resident and consul-general in Siam. He is the author of Greek Reader; and Outlines of United States History.

KING, HENRY CHURCHILL, educator, author, was born Sept. 18, 1858, in Hillsdale, Mich. Since 1897 he has been professor of theology at Oberlin College. He is the author of Outline of Erdmann's History of Philosophy; and Outlines of the Microcosmus of Hermann Lotze.

KING, MRS. JULIE RIVES, musician, composer, was born Oct. 31, 1859, in Cincinnati, Ohio. She is a noted concert-pianist. In 1878 she married Frank H. King. She has played in over two hundred concerts with Theodore Thomas; and frequently with eminent conductors in the United States and Europe.

KING, MARY PERRY, author, was born in 1865, in Oswego, N. Y. She is director of Gymnasium for Women of New York city. She is the author of Comfort and Exercise: and The Basis of Beauty.

KING, SAMUEL ARCHER, aeronaut, was born April 9, 1828, in Philadelphia Pa. Since 1851 he has made about three hundred ascensions, passing through many perils and adventures.

KING, WILBURN HILL, farmer, lawyer, author, was born June 10, 1839, in Cullodenville, Ga. He is the author of A History of the Texas Rangers.

KING, WILLIAM BASIL, clergyman, author, poet, was born in 1859 in Prince Edwards Islands. He is an episcopal clergyman of Cambridge. He is the author of The Daily Song; Thoughts on the Offices for Morning and Evening Prayer; and Griselda.

KINGMAN, EBEN, business man, genealogist, was born Nov. 16, 1826, in Waltham, Maine. He has been a successful farmer and lumberman, and filled numerous local offices in Otis, Maine. He is the author of the Genealogy of the Kingman Family.

KINGSLEY, MRS. FLORENCE MORSE, author, was born July 14, 1859, near Medina, Ohio. She is the author of Titus, a Comrade of the Cross; Stephen; Paul; and Prisoners of the Sea.

KINGSLEY, JOHN STERLING, zoologist, author, was born April 7, 1854, in Cincinnatus, N. Y. Since 1882 he has been professor of zoology at Tufts College. He is the author of Elements of Comparative Zoology.

KINKEAD, ELEANOR TALBOT, author, was born in Kentucky. She is the author of 'Gainst Wind and Tide; Young Greer of Kentucky; and Florida Alexander.

KINKEAD, ELIZABETH SHELBY, educator, lecturer, author, was born in Fayette county, Ky. Since 1897 she has been lecturer on English literature. She is the author of A History of Kentucky.

KINLEY, DAVID, educator, author, was born Sept. 2, 1861, in Scotland. Since 1894 he has been professor of economics, and dean at university of Illinois. He is the author of The Independent Treasury of the United States.

KINNE, LA VEGA G., lawyer, jurist, nalist, author, was born Nov. 5, 1846, in Syracuse, N. Y. In 1892-97 he was judge of the supreme court of Iowa; and since 1897 has been chief justice. Since 1897 he has also been law lecturer in the Iowa College of Law of Des Moines. He is the author of Kinne's Pleading and Practice.

KINNEY, ABBOT, farmer, scientist, author, was born Nov. 16, 1850, in Brookside, N. Y. He has been major of California National Guard; and is now chairman of commission to manage Yosemite Valley. He is president of Southern California Academy Sciences; and president Southern California Pomological Society. He is president of five mercantile corporations. He is the author of Conquest of Death; Tasks by Twilight; and Eucalyptus.

KINSOLVING, LUCIEN LEE, clergyman, bishop, was born May 14, 1862, in Loudoun county, Va. He is presiding elder missionary bishop of Rio Grande do Sul, Brazil.

KIRK, MAY, was born 1864 in Nova Scotia. She is the wife of E. W. Scripture. She is the author of The Baldwin Primer.

KIRKUS, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born May 9, 1830, in England. He is the editor of American Literary Churchman. He is the author of Christianity, Theoretical and Practical; Miscellaneous Essays; Orthodoxy, Scripture and Reason; Religion a Revelation and a Rule of Life.

KISER, SAMUEL ELLSWORTH, journalist, author was born February 2, 1862, in Shippensville, Pa. He is now special and editorial writer of the Chicago Record-Herald. He is the author of Budd Wilkins at the Show and Other Verses.

KITCHELL, JOSEPH GRAY, artist, author, was born April 25, 1862, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1900 he produced the Kitchell Composite Madonna, a blend of the most important Madonnas painted by the great masters during three centuries. He is the author of American Supremacy.

KITCHIN, CLAUDE, congressman, was born March 24, 1869, in Scotland Neck, N. C. He is a lawyer of his native city. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from North Carolina as a democrat.

KITTREDGE, ALFRED B., lawyer, United States senator, was born March 26, 1861, in Cheshire county, N. H. Since 1885 he has practiced law in Sioux Falls, S. D. In 1890-93 he was a member of South Dakota state senate. In 1901-03 he was United States senator to fill a vacancy.

KITTRIDGE, WALTER, musician, composer, was born Oct. 8, 1834, in Merrimack, N. H. In 1863 he composed his most successful song, Tenting on the Old Camp Ground, which a Boston publisher declined at the price of fifteen dollars. A year later, when it was issued, ten thousand copies were sold in three months, and it became among the most popular of the civil war songs; and from it the composer still receives a liberal copyright. For forty years he gave concerts. He is the author of When They Come Marching Home; No Night There; and many other favorite melodies; and has published several popular song-books.

KLAUSER, JULIUS, musician, composer, was born July 5, 1854, in New York City. He lives in Milwaukee, Wis., as a music-teacher. He is the author of the Septonate and the Centralization of the Tonal System.

KLEIN, BRUNO OSCAR, musician, composer, was born June 6, 1858, in Hanover. Since 1884 he has been head of the pianoforte department at the Convent of the Sacred Heart. He is the author of Kenilworth, grand opera in three acts.

KLEIN, JOSEPH FREDERIC, civil engineer, author, was born Oct. 10, 1849, in Paris, France. Since 1881 he has been professor of mechanical engineering in Lehigh university. He is the author of Elements of Machine Design; and Design of a High-speed Steam Engine.

KLINE, JACOB, soldier, was born Nov. 5, 1840, in Pennsylvania. He served through the civil war; and was brevetted major in 1864 for gallantry in Atlanta campaign. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general of volunteers.

KLUTTZ, THEODORE FRANKLIN, railroad manager, banker, congressman, was born Oct. 4, 1848, in Salisbury, N. C. He was presidential elector in 1880 and 1896. He has been identified with banking and industrial interests. He was elected to fifty-sixth congress by largest majority ever given congressman in North Carolina as Democrat.

KNAPP, ADELINE, journalist, author, was born March 15, 1860, in Buffalo, N. Y. She is the author of One Thousand Dollars a Day.

KNAPP, HERMAN, physician, founder, author, was born March 17, 1832, in Prussia. He has practiced in New York since 1868; professor ophthalmology, New York university Medical College. In 1869 he founded New York Ophthalmic and Aural Institute. He is th author of Intra-Ocular Tumors.

KNEISEL, FRANZ, musician, composer, was born 1865 of German parentage. In 1886 he organized the now world-renowned Kneisel Quartett which has not only played in leading American towns, but also in London, and is in the front rank of similar organizatons today.

KNIGHT, JESSE, lawyer, jurist, was born July 5, 1850, in Boonville, N. Y. He is justice of the supreme court of Wyoming.

KNOWLES, DANIEL CLARK, soldier, clergyman, college president, author, was born Jan. 4, 1836, in Yardville, N. J. In 1861 he was captain company D, 48th New York volunteers. He is the author of A Life that Speaketh.

KNOWLTON, FRANK HALL, botanist, author, was born Sept. 2, 1860, in Brandon, Vt. In 1887-96 he was professor of botany in the Columbian University of Washington, D. C.; and since 1900 palaeontologist on the United States geological survey. He is the author of Fossil Wood and Lignite of the Potomac Formation; and Fossil Flora of Alaska.

KNOX, JOHN ARMOY, journalist, author, was born Aug. 10, 1851, in Ireland. He became editor of Texas Siftings, a comic newspaper which was published in Dallas, Texas, but subsequently removed to New York city. He is the author of Sketches from Texas Siftings; Three Dozen Good Stories; and On a Mexican Mustang through Texas from the Gulf to the Rio Grande.

KOBBE, WILLIAM A., soldier, was born May 10, 1840, in New York. In 1862-65 he served in the civil war; and in the Spanish-American war as brigadier-general. He is military governor of the Hemp ports, and is military governor and department commander of Mindanao and Jolo.

KOCH, THEODORE WESLEY, bibliographer, author, was born Aug. 4, 1871, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1895-1900 he was engaged in the preparation of annotated catalogue of the rich Danté collection presented by Professor Willard Fiske to Cornell university library. He is the author of Danté in America.

KOEMMENICH, LOUIS, musician, composer, was born Oct. 4, 1866, in Germany. Since 1890 he has been an active conductor of singing societies in New York city; and teacher of pianoforte and singing. His compositions consist chiefly of part-songs for male chorus, a cantata, and songs.

KOHLER, MAX J., lawyer, author, was born May 22, 1871, in Detroit, Mich. In 1894-98 he was assistant U. S. district attorney of New York city. He is the author of Methods of Review in Criminal Cases in the United States.

KOHLSAAT, CHRISTIAN C., judge, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 8, 1844, in Edwards county, Ill. Since 1893 he has been judge of the United States district court for Northern district of Illinois.

KOLLE, FREDERICK STRANGE, educator, author, was born Nov. 22, 1871, in Germany. He is chief instructor in department of electro-therapeutics at the Electrical Engineering Institute of New York city. He is the author of Roentgen Discovery; and Medico-Surgical Radiography.

KOREN, JOHN, statistician, author, was born March 3, 1861, in Decorah, Iowa. He is in State and municipal service. He is the author of Economic Aspect of the Liquor Problem, and The Liquor Problem in its Legislative Aspects.

KOTTHOFF, LAWRENCE, musician, composer, was born Dec. 11, 1862, in Germany. He is a Bach specialist, a critic, and a successful teacher of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of Scripto-Analysis of Music.

KOTZSCH'MAR, HERMAN, musician, composer, was born July 4, 1829, in Germany. He was organist at the First Parish Church for forty-seven years; and is at present organist of the State street Church of Portland, Maine. He is the author of numerous vocal quartets.

KRAUS-BOELTE, MARIA, educator, author, was born Nov. 8, 1836, in Germany. She is principal for Kraus seminary for Kindergartners of New York city. She is the author of Kindergarten Guide.

KRAUSE, LYDA. FARRINGTON, journalist, author, was born in 1864. She is the author of We Ten, or the Story of the Roses; A Lovable Crank, or More Leaves from the Roses; Derick; A Little Turning Aside; and Ingleside.

KRAUTBAUER, FRANCIS XAVIER, clergyman, bishop, was born Jan. 12, 1824, in Batavia. In 1875 he was consecrated Roman Catholic bishop of Green Bay, Wis.

KREMERS, EDWARD, educator, author, was born Feb. 23, 1865, in Milwaukee, Wis. He is professor in school of Pharmacy at University of Wisconsin. He is the author of The Volatile Oils.

KROEH, CHARLES FREDERICK, educator; author, was born March 28, 1846 in Germany. Since 1871 he has been professor of languages in Stevens Institute of Technology. He is the author of First German Reader; The Pronunciation of French; The Pronunciation of Spanish in Spain and America; and The Living Method of Learning How to Think in German, French and Spanish.

KROUT, CAROLINE VIRGINIA, author, was born in Crawfordsville, Ind. She is the author of Knights in Fustiau.

KROUT, MARY H., journalist, author, was born Nov. 3, 1857, in Crawfordsville, Ind. She is the author of Hawaii and a Revolution; A Looker-on in London; Alice in the Hawaiian Islands and The China of To-day.

KRUEGER, PAUL FERDINAND JULIUS, poet, was born Feb. 1, 1873, in Milwaukee, Wis. He is a stenographer of Milwaukee, Wis. He has written over one hundred and fifty poems on the late Spanish war, and a number of lyrics.

KUHNS, OSCAR, educator, author, was born Feb. 21, 1856, in Columbia, Pa. Since 1890 he has been professor of modern languages in Wesleyan university. He is the author of Selections from Alfred De Musset; The Treatment of Nature in Dante's Divina Commedia; and Revised Edition of Cary's Translation of Danté.

KYLE, THOMAS P., congressman. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Ohio.

LACHMAN, ARTHUR, chemist, author, was born Dec. 4, 1873, in San Francisco, Cal. Since 1897 he has been professor of chemistry in the University of Oregon. He is the author of The Spirit of Organic Chemistry.

LADD, HERBERT WARREN, soldier, merchant, governor, was born Oct. 15, 1843, in New Bedford, Mass. He served through the civil war. He is the president of The H. W. Ladd Company dry goods merchants of Providence, R. I. He founded the Commercial club. In 1890-92 he was governor of Rhode Island.

LADD, SCOTT M., lawyer, jurist, was born June 22, 1855, in Sharon, Wis. Since 1897 he has been judge of the supreme court of Iowa.

LA FETRA, MRS. SARAH B., philanthropist, was born in Clinton, Ohio. She is prominent in temperance and philanthropic movements; has been called the mother of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Washington, D. C., of which she was for many years its president. She spent many years in building up the Hope and Help Home, which was recently merged into the Florence Chittenton Mission.

LAFFERTY, JOHN J., soldier, clergyman inventor, author, was born in 1837, on the Roanoke, in Virginia. He served in civil war as colonel Confederate cavalry. For twenty years he was state curator of Virginia Medical College. He is the inventor of a process of milling a white whole wheat flour. He is the author of Geography of Virginia; and Sketches of Virginia Methodist Ministers.

LA FLESCHE, FRANCIS, public official, author, was born about 1860, in Omana Reservation, Neb. Since 1881 he has been clerk in United States Indian Bureau. He is the author of The Middle Five.

LAHEE, HENRY CHARLES, business man, author was born July 2, 1856, in London, England. In 1899 he established Yesterday and Today; Famous Violinists of Yesterday and Today; and Famous Pianists of Yesterday and Today.

LAIRD, WASHINGTON ROBERT, clergyman, author, was born April 22, 1855, in Danville, Vt. Since 1892 he has been pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of West Chester, Pa. He is the author of Sermons and Addresses on Moral Responsibility of Nations; and Keswick and Northfield as Factors in Christian Work.

LAKES, ARTHUR, journalist, author, was born Dec. 21, 1844, in England. He is assistant Western editor of Mines and Minerals of Denver, Colorado. He is the author of Geology of Colorado and Western Ore Deposits; Prospecting for Gold and Silver in North America; and Geology of Colorado Coal Deposits.

LAMBERT, REV. LOUIS A., journalist, author, was born April 13, 1835, in Chaleroi, Pa. Since 1894 he has been editor-in-chief of the New York Freeman's Journal. He is the author of Thesaurus Biblicus, or Hand-Book of Scripture Reference; and Notes on Ingersoll.

LAMBERTON, BENJAMIN PEFFER, naval officer, was born March 10, 1845, in Pennsylvania. In the famous battle of Manila bay he served aboard the flagship Olympia as chief of staff to Commodore Dewey, and was promoted to the rank of captain in 1898. When Capt. Gridley was invalided to his home, Lamberton succeeded to command of the flagship; and accompanied Admiral Dewey in the Olympia on her return to the United States.

LAMPTON, WILLIAM JAMES, journalist, author, was born in Lawrence county, Ohio. For several years he has been engaged in writing Yawps for New York Sun. He is the author of Yawps and Other Things.

LAMSON-SCRIBNER, F., scientist, author, was born April 19, 1851, in Cambridgeport, Mass. Since 1894 he has been chief of division Agrostology in the United States Department of Agriculture. He is the author of Fungus Disease of Plants; The Fungus Diseases of the Grape Vine; The Fungus Diseases of the Grape and Other Plants and Their Treatment; Ornamental and Useful Plants of Maine; Grasses of Tennessee; and American Grasses, Illustrated.

LANDRETH, OLIN HENRY, civil engineer, author, was born July 21, 1852, in Addison, N. Y. Since 1894 he has been professor of engineering in Union college of Schenectady, N. Y. He is the author of Metric Tables.

LANE, MRS. ANNA EICHBERG KING, author, poet, was born in 1856, in Geneva, Switzerland. She is the author of Brown's Retreat; and Kitwyk Stories.

LANE, JAMES HENRY, soldier, college president, was born July 28, 1833, in Matthews county, Va. He was assistant professor of mathematics in the Virginia military institute; professor of mathematics in the state seminary at Tallapoosa, Fla., and professor of natural philosophy and instructor of military tactics in the North Carolina military school at Charlotte. He was appointed brigadier-general in the Confederate army in 1862. He is now at the head of the Agricultural and Mechanical college of Alabama, at Auburn.

LANE, JOSEPH R., lawyer, congressman, was born May 6, 1858, in Davenport, Iowa. Since 1880 he has been in practice of law at Davenport, Iowa. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Iowa as a republican.

LANE, WILLIAM COOLIDGE, librarian, was born July 29, 1859, in Newton, Mass. He was assitant in Harvard library in 1881-93; and in 1893-98 was librarian of the Boston athenaeum, when he was appointed librarian of Harvard university. His works consist of bibliographical contributions, such as The Dante Collections in the Harvard College and Boston Public Libraries; and Index to the Subject Catalogue of Harvard College Library.

LANGENBECK, KARL, chemist, ceramist, author. He was superintendent of Mosaic Tile Company of Zanesville, Ohio. He is the author of Chemistry of Pottery.

LANGFORD, MRS. LAURA CARTER HOLLOWAY, author, was born in 1848, in Nashville, Tenn. For twelve years she was associate editor of the Brooklyn Daily Eagle. She is the author of The Ladies of the White House; The Hearthstone or Life at Home; Mothers of Great Men and Women; Famous American Fortunes and the Men Who Have Made Them; The Home of Poetry; Songs of the Master; Chinese Gordon; Howard, The Christian Hero; The Woman's Story; and The Buddhist Diet Book.

LANGWORTHY, CHARLES FORD, chemist, author, was born Aug. 9, 1864, in Middlebury, Vt. Since 1895 he has been editor of Experiment Station Record. He is the author of Digest of Metabolic Experiment.

LANZA, GAETANO, scientist, author, was born Sept. 26, 1848, in Boston, Mass. He is professor of theoretical and applied mechanics, in charge of the department of mechanical engineering at Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is the author of Applied Mechanics.

LASSIGER, FRANCIS RIVES, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Feb. 18, 1866, in Petersburg, Va. In 1893-97 he was United States district attorney at Petersburg, Va. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Virginia as a democrat. He is the author of Notes on Arnold's Raid.

LATCHAW, JOHN ROLAND HARRIS, clergyman, college president, author, was born Sept. 7, 1851, in Venango county, Pa. Since 1896 he has been president of Defiance college. He is the author of Outlines of Psychology, Its Method and Matter. Citizenship in the Northwest Territory; Outline Lectures in Theology; and Theory and Art of Teaching.

LATHERS, RICHARD, merchant, philanthropist, was born abont 1820 in Georgetown, S. C. In 1847 he opened a commission business in New York; and ultimately became president of the Great Western marine insurance company, retiring in 1867. In 1897 he presented to William college a fund, the interest of which shall be used to defray the cost of a gold medal to be awarded annually for the best essay advocating The Duty of Christians to Government. He has nearly completed an account of his active career entitled Notes of a Life of Sixty Years.

LATHROP, JOHN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 8, 1835, in Boston, Mass. During the civil war he was a captain. In 1874-88 he was reporter of decisions of the supreme court. In 1888-91 he was justice of the superior court; and since 1891 has been justice of the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts.

LAUBACH, CHARLES, geologist, author, was born Aug. 29, 1836, in Durham, Pa. He began scientific investigations, 1865, and has devoted principal attention to them since 1870. He is the author of Prehistoric Man in the Delaware Valley.

LAUGHLIN, NAPOLEON B., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born July 24, 1844, in Grand Tower, Ill. In 1864 he served in 15th Mo. regt., Confederate army. He has been a member lower house of New Mexico, and in 1894-98 was associate justice supreme court and judge 1st judicial district court of New Mexico.

LAWRENCE, WILLIAM, clergyman, bishop, was born May 30, 1850, in Boston, Mass. He was rector of Grace church, of Lawrence, Mass., and professor and dean in the Episcopal Theological School, Cambridge. He is now bishop of Massachusetts.

LAW, JAMES, veterinarian, author, was born Feb. 13, 1838, in Edinburgh, Scotland. In 1869-96 he was consulting veterinarian to the New York State Agricultural Society. He is the author of General and Descriptive Anatomy of Domestic Animals; Farmers' Veterinary Adviser; and Text Book of Veterinary Medicine.

LAWLER, THOMAS G., soldier, merchant, was born April 7, 1844, in Liverpool, England. He served in the civil war; for several years was colonel of the third Illinois infantry and in; 1876 organized the Rockford Rifles. He is a coal and lumber merchant of Rockford, Ill.; was postmaster of Rockford in 1877-85 and 1889-93, and in 1894-95 was commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

LAWRENCE, ABRAHAM RIKER, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 19, 1832, in New York City. Since 1873 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of New York.

LAWRENCE, GEORGE PELTON, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born May 19, 1859, in Adams, Mass. In 1885-93 he was judge of district court Northern Berkshire; and in 1895-97 was a member of Massachnsetts state senate. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Massachusetts as a republican.

LAWRENCE, ISAAC, lawyer, diplomat, author, was born in 1828 in American legation, London, where his father was charge d' affairs. In 1872-76 he was United States consular agent at Port Hope, Canada. In 1878 he was candidate for governor of Rhode Island. He is the author of Life of W. B. Lawrence, Governor of Rhode Island

LAWRENCE, ROBERT MEANS, physician, author; was born May 14, 1847, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of The Magic of the Horse Shoe; and Historical Sketches of Some Members of the Lawrence Family.

LAWS, SAMUEL SPAHR, clergyman, educator, college president; was born March 23, 1824, in Ohio county, Virginia. In 1876-89 he was president of Missouri state university. He was the inventor and introducer of system of simultaneous telegraphing of market reports, called tickers.

LAWSON, JOHN DAVISON, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 29, 1852, in Canada. In 1890-95 he was judge of civil court; and is now professor common and international law, University of Missouri. He is the author of Injuries from Intoxicating Liquors; Railroad Fires; Contracts o Common Carriers; Usages and Customs; The Power of Usage and Custom; Hints on Advocacy; and other works.

LEACH, JOSIAH GRANVILLE, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born July 27, 1842, in Cape May, N. J. He enlisted in the civil war, and served as sergeant, sergeant-major, and lieutenant in the Twenty-fifth New Jersey regiment. In 1866 he was graduated in law at the University of Pennsylvania, and admitted to the Philadelphia bar. He has served in the legislature of Pennsylvania; and in 1881-82 was one of the leaders of the independent republican movement in Pennsylvania.

LEARNED, MARION DEXTER, educator, author; was born July 10, 1857, near Dover, Del. Since 1895 he has been professor of German in University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of The Pennsylvania German Dialect; and The Saga of Walther of Aquitaine.

LEASE, MRS. MARY ELIZABETH, lecturer, author, was born in Ridgway Pa. She was appointed president of Kansas State Board of Charities, being first woman to hold such a position in United States; and in 1893 she had a large following for United States senator. She is the author of The Problem of Civilization Solved.

LEAVENWORTH, FRANCIS P., astronomist, author; was born Sept. 3, 1858, in Mt. Vernon, Ind. Since 1892 he has been professor of astronomy in University of Minnesota. He is the author of Double Star Observations; and Parallax.

LEDERER, CHARLES, cartoonist, artist, was born in 1856 in Lowell, Mass. Since 1875 he has been cartoonist and illustrator for Frank Leslie's, Harper's New York World, Chicago Record, Chicago Chronicle, and other leading publications.

LEDYARD, ERWIN, soldier, journalist, legislator, author; was born in Nashville, Tenn. He served in the civil war in 3d Alabama regiment, Confederate service. In 1879-91 he was associate editor of the Mobile Register; and is now editor of Mobile Herald. He served two terms in the state legislature. He is the author of John Holden, Unionist.

LEE, ALBERT, journalist, author, was born May 11, 1868, in New Orleans, La. In 1895-99 he was editor of Harper's Round Table; and since 1899 has been managing editor of Harper's Weekly. He is the author of The Knave of Hearts; and other works.

LEE, ALFRED EMORY, soldier, journalist, legislator, diplomat, was born Feb. 17, 1838, in Barnsville, Ohio. He entered the Union army as a private; rose to a captaincy in the Eighty-second Ohio volunteers; and was severely wounded at Gettysburg. He served in the Ohio legislature in 1867-69; became collector of United States internal revenue for the eighth district of Ohio in 1870; was private secretary to Gov. Rutherford B. Hayes in 1876; and in 1877-82 was United States consul-general at Frankfort, Germany.

LEE, ELMER, physician, lecturer, author, was born March 12, 1856, in Piqua, Ohio. In 1892 he visited Russia and Germany to study cholera; and proposed a new method of treatment, which was approved by Virchow and others. He served as a surgeon in the Spanish-American war. He is the author of Treatise on Asiatic cholera; and other medical works.

LEE, FRANK THEODOSIUS, clergyman, author, was born March 23, 1847, in Kenosha, Wis. For some time he was on the editorial staff of the Congregationalist of Boston, Mass. He has filled pastorates at Sparta and Whitewater, Wis.; at Salt Lake City, Utah; at Muscatine, Iowa; and at Douglas Park Congregational Church of Chicago in 1894-99. He is the author of Popular Misconceptions as to Christian Faith and Life; and Popularizing the Bible.

LEE, FREDERIC SCHILLER, educator, author, was born June 16, 1859, in Canton, N. Y. Since 1895 he has been professor of physiology in Columbia Univeristy of New York City. He is the author of Physiology, the Vital Processes in Health.

LEE, GERALD STANLEY, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 4, 1861, in Brockton, Mass. He gives courses of lectures on The Reading Habit, and Life of the Spirit in Modern Times. He is the author of The Shadow Christ; A Paper Civilization; Between Books; and About an Old New England Church.

LEE, GUY CARLETON, educator. Since 1900 he has been a lecturer on comparative politics at Columbia university; and since 1901 literary editor of the Baltimore Sun. He is the author of Public Speaking; and The World's Orators, in ten volumes.

LEE, JAMES WIDEMAN, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 28, 1849, in Gwinnett county, Ga. He traveled in Palesti. with R. E. M. Bain, artist, gathering material for Earthly Footsteps. He is the author of The Making of a Man; and The Romance of Palestine; and The Earthly Footsteps of the Man of Galilee.

LEE JOHN, legislator, railroad president, was born March 11, 1826, in Montgomery county, Ind. In 1879 he was elected president of the Anderson and St. Louis railroad. He was chosen by the legislature in 1879 as one of the board of directors of the northern state prison; and at its first meeting was selected by the board as its president.

LEE, JOHN STEBBINS, theologian, author, was born Sept. 23, 1820, in Vernon, Vt. Since 1869 he has been professor of church history and biblical archaeology in Canton Theological School of Canton, N. Y. He is the author of Nature and Art in the Old World; and Sacred Cities.

LEE, LEONARD, soldier, manufacturer, traveler, genealogist, was born March 5, 1820, in Southington, Conn. In 1844 he removed to Kenosha, Wis., where for twenty-three years he improved and occupied a large prairie farm; and during 1867-90 was engaged in manufacturing in Kenosha. He has been alderman of his city, and held various local offices. During the civil war he served in the thirty-ninth regiment Wisconsin infantry, in ordnance department. He has traveled in the principal countries of the world. He is the author of Genealogy of John Lee, of Farmington, Conn., and Descendants; and a supplement to the same some years later. He retired from active business in 1890.

LEE, LUCIUS ORREN, educator, clergyman, missionary, was born Jan. 12, 1845, in Kenosha, Wis. He engaged in educational work for several years; was pastor at Oswego, Mich., for five years; and since 1880 has been missionary at Marach, Asiatic Turkey in connection with Marach Theological Seminary, and also superintending other educational work in the city. He was present at the Turkish massacre of Armenians in 1895.

LEE, MARGARET, author, was born Nov. 27, 1845, in New York City. Her first novel took a prize of one thousand dollars offered by James G. Bennett, of New York Herald. She wrote memoria. for perpetual copywright, numerously signed and presented in United States senate, in Dec., 1899. She is the author of Dr. Wilmer's Love; Lorimer and Wife; Marriage; Lizzie; Divorce; Adriance; Since First I Saw Your Face; Missing Marriage Certificate; A Brighton Night; A Brooklyn Bachelor; The Story of a Story; and One Touch of Nature.

LEE, WILLIAM WALLACE, machinist, expert, legislator, was born July 20, 1828, near Barkhamsted, Conn. During the civil war he was a lieutenant in the state militia. He served four years as alderman; and in 1885-86 was a member of the Connecticut state assembly. He is secretary of the Lee Association of Cornell. He is much interested in genealogical researches.

LEFAVOUR, HENRY, educator, author, was born Sept. 4, 1862, in Salem, Mass. Since 1897 he has been dean in Williams college of Williamstown, Mass. He is the author of Physics Lecture Notes.

LEFFINGWELL, ALBERT, physician, author, was born Feb. 13, 1845, in Aurora, N. Y.. He has traveled in Japan, China, Burmah, India, Africa, Spain, Palestine and Egypt. He is the author of Rambles in Japan Without a Guide; Influence of Seasons Upon Conduct; and Vivisection in America.

LEFFMAN, HENRY, author, was born Sept. 9, 1847, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is emeritus professor of chemistry in Philadelphia Polyclinic. He is the author of First Steps in Chemical Principles; Compend of Organic Chemistry; Compend of Chemistry; Analysis of Water; and Analysis of Milk and Milk Products.

LEHMANN, GEORGE, violinist, musician, composer, was born July 31, 1865, in New York City. He traveled until 1893 as a soloist and with his quartet party, the Lehmann Quartet. He lives in New York as a soloist, teacher, editorial writer, and critic on the staff of Musical America. He is the author of True Principles of the Art of Violin-playing.

LEIGHTON, JOSEPH ALEXANDER, educator, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 2, 1870, in Canada. Since 1897 he has been professor of philosophy and chaplain in Hobart College of Geneva, N. Y. He is the author of Some Modern Conceptions of God.

LEITER, JOSEPH, business man, was born Dec. 4, 1868, in Chicago, Ill. He is a son of Levi Z. Leiter. In 1897 bought wheat on Chicago Board of Trade to such an extent as to make him, at beginning of 1898, the largest individual holder of wheat in the history of the grain trade. He is a director of Chicago Edison Company; Chicago and South Side Rapid Transit Elevated Railway Company, and Chicago City Railway Company.

LEITER, LEVI ZEIGLER, merchant, capitalist, was born in 1843 in Leitersburg, Md. In 1865 he and Field sold their interests in their old firm to John V. Farwell, and bought controlling interest in dry goods business of Potter Palmer. The firm became Field, Palmer and Leiter, the Field, Leiter and Company until 1881, when he sold his interest and retired. Since then he has given attention to buying and improving business properties in Chicago, Ill.; and has large interests in corporations.

LEMLY, HENRY ROWAN, soldier, author, was born Jan. 12, 1851, in North Carolina. In the Spanish-American war he commanded light Battery C, 7th artillery; and in Porto Rico campaign he served as captain. He is the author of Among the Arapahoes; The Story of Feather-Head; Santa Fé de Bogota; A West Point Romance; Padre Anselmo; Uncle 'Man; and A Queen's Thoughts.

LEMLY, SAMUEL CONRAD, naval officer, was born March 14 1855, in Salem, N. C. He is judge-advocate-general in the U. S. N.

LEMMON, GEORGE THOMAS, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 17, 1866, in Troy, N. Y. He entered the Methodist Episcopal ministry in 1890 in the Troy Conference, and at once took rank as a preacher; this led him to the lecture platform where he has scored many notable triumphs. He is the author of Better Things for Sons of God; An Eternal Building; and Cuba Libre; A History of the Pearl of the Antilles from its Discovery to its Liberation.

LENIHAN, THOMAS MATHIAS, clergyman, bishop, was born May 12, 1845. Since 1897 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Cheyenne, Wyo.

LENSKI, RICHARD CHARLES HENRY, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 14, 1864, in Prussia. Since 1892 he has been pastor of Springfield, Ohio. He is the author of His Footsteps; Studies for Edification from the Life of Christ.

LEONARD, ABIEL, clergyman, author, was born June 26, 1845, in Fayette, Mo. Since 1888 he has been presiding elder bishop of Salt Lake, Utah.

LEONARD, MRS. AGNES, author, poet, was born Jan. 20, 1842, in Louisville, Ky. She has gained note as a lecturer. She is the author of Myrtle Blossoms; Vanquished, a novel and Heights and Depths.

LEONARD, JOHN WILLIAM, journalist, lawyer, author, was born June 6, 1850, in London, England. He has traveled in Europe, Africa, East Indies, Australia and America. He engaged in journalism; came to United States 1868; admitted to Texas bar 1870; and practised in Texas, Arizona and Illinois. He has edited several daily and weekly newspapers; and held various local offices. In 1898 he was Democratic nominee for congress, eighth Illinois district. He is the editor of Who's Who in America; Brehm's Life of Animals; Best Things by Chauncey M. Depew; He is the author of Gold Fields of Klondike; Centennial Review of Cincinnati; and other works.

LEONARD, JONAH F. R., soldier, educator, jurist, was born Dec. 10, 1832, near Waynesburg, Pa. He enlisted under Jim Lane in the Kansas war for free state. He was county surveyor; county superintendent of schools; and justice of the peace. He enlisted Co. C, ninety-third Illinois volunteers in civil war; and mustered out, 1865. He was first abolitionist, then republican, prohibitionist, now of the United Christian party, which he helped to organize at Davenport, Iowa in 1898. He was candidate lieutenant-governor of Iowa in 1899; and for president in 1900.

LEONARD, MARY, author, was born in Louisville, Ky.,. She is the author of The Story of the Big Front Door.

LESLEY, MRS. SUSAN INCHES, philanthropist, author, was born in Northampton, Mass. She was long actively identified with work of organized charities in Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of Mrs. Annie J. Lyman.

LESLIE, MRS. FRANK, journalist, publisher, was born in 1851 in New Orleans, La., of a French Creole family. She married Frank Leslie, the New York publisher, who died in 1880. She succeeded to his business, then badly involved; personally managed it and put it on a paying basis. She is president of the Frank Leslie Publishing House and editor of Frank Leslie's Monthly.

LETCHWORTH, WILLIAM PRYOR, merchant, philanthropist, author, was born May 26, 1823, in Brownville, N. Y. In 1848-69 he was a manufacturer in Buffalo, N. Y. Since 1869 he has devoted his entire time to charitable work. He secured the passage of a New York law providing for the removal of children from almshouses and other pauper establishments. He also devoted much attention to the care of the insane, and other reforms. He is the author of The Care of the Insane in Foreign Countries.

LEUPP, FRANCIS ELLINGTON, journalist, author, was born Jan. 2, 1849, in New York City. He is the author of How to Prepare for a Civil Service Examination.

LEUSCHNER, ARMIN OTTO, astronomer, author, was born Jan. 16, 1868, in Detroit, Mich. Since 1898 he has been associate professor of astronomy and geodesy, and director Student Observatory, in University of California. He is the author of numerous papers on astronomical subjects.

LEVERETT, FRANK, geologist, author, was born March 10, 1859, in Denmark, Iowa. His lines of investigation are glacial geology and water resources. He is the author of Water Resources of Illinois; Water Resources of Indiana and Ohio; and The Illinois Glacial Lobe.

LEVERING, JOSHUA, merchant, was born Sept. 12, 1845, in Baltimore, Md. In 1860 he entered into the coffee importing business of his father in Baltimore, Md., at first as an employee, but later as a member of the firm, conducting the business with his brother Eugene after the death of his father in 1870.

LEVERMORE, CHARLES HERBERT, educator, college president, author, was born Oct. 15, 1856, in Mansfield, Conn. Since 1896 he has been president of Adelphi College of Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of The Republic of New Haven; Syllabus of Lectures Upon Political History Since 1815; and The Academy Song Book.

LEVY, JEFFERSON M., lawyer, congressman, was born in New York city. He studied law with the late Clarkson N. Potter; and was associated with him in various important litigations. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from New York city as a democrat.

LEVY, LOUIS EDWARD, scientist, inventor author was born Oct. 1°, 1846 in Bohemia. He is a photo-chemist; and his experiments in 1873-74 resulted in his invention in photo-chemical engraving, called the Levytype. He is the author of Business, Money and Credit.

LEWIS, ALFRED HENRY, journalist, author. In 1898 he established The Verdict, a humorous weekly of New York city. He is the author of Episodes of Cowboy Life; and other works.

LEWIS, ARTHUR GORDON, railroad official, author, was born March 25, in London, England. He is southern passenger agent of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, at Norfolk, Va. He is the author of Life Without Love; Lights that Have Gone Out; Sunshine Thro' the Rain; and various other works.

LEWIS, CHARLES L., lawyer, jurist, was born March 8, 1852, in Ottawa, Ill. In 1893-96 he was district judge at Duluth, Minn. Since 1900 he has been justice of the supreme court of Minnesota.

LEWIS, CHARLTON MINER, educator, author, was born March 4, 1866, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1899 he has been professor in English literature in Yale university. He is the author of The Foreign Sources of Modern English Versification; and The Beginning of English Literature.

LEWIS, EDWIN HERBERT, educator, author, was born about 1860. Since 1896 he has been associate professor of rhetoric in University of Chicago. He is the author of A First Book in Writing English; and An Introduction of the Study of Literature.

LEWIS, HENRY HARRISON, journalist, author, was born March 29, 1863, in Anderson, Ind. In 1899 he was associate editor of Munsey's Magazine; and in 1900 established Lewis' Literary Syndicate. He is the author of A Gunner Aboard the Yankee.

LEWIS, HENRY THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 21, 1847, in Oxford, Ga. Since 1897 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Georgia. He was in the Confederate service with Georgia cadets and remained until war ended.

LEWIS, LUNSFORD LOMAX, lawyer, jurist, was born March 17, 1846, in Rockingham county, Va. He was commonwealth's attorney for Culpeper county in 1870-74; was soon afterward appointed United States district attorney for the eastern district of Virginia; and in 1882 was elected a judge of the state supreme court, becoming the following year its president.

LEWIS, ROBERT J., congressman. He was elected member of the fifty-seventh congress from Pennsylvania as a democrat.

LEWIS, WILLIAM DRAPER, lawyer, dean, author, was born April 27, 1867 in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1896 he has been dean of law department in University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Federal Power Over Commerce and Its Effect on State Action; and Our Sheep and the Tariff.

LEYBURN, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born April 25, 1814, in Lexington, Va. He became secretary of the Presbyterian board of publication, changing the character of its publications and enlarging its operations. After the civil war he settled in Baltimore, where he was pastor for twenty years of an independent Presbyterian church, of which he is now pastor emeritus. He is the author of The Soldier of the Cross; and Hints to Young Men from the Parable of the Prodigal Son.

LICHENBERG, LEOPOLD, musician, composer, was born Nov. 22, 1861, in San Francisco, Cal. A successful tour in Holland was followed by a season in

New York and other cities with Theodore Thomas. In 1899 he became head of the violin-department in the National Conservatory of New York city.

LIDDELL, MARK HARVEY, educator, author, was born April 1, 1866, in Clearfield, Pa. Since 1897 he has been professor of English in University of Texas He is the author of Middle English.

LIEBER, GUIDO NORMAN, soldier, author, was born May 21, 1837, in Columbia, S. C., Since 1895 he has been judge-advocate-general in United States army. He is the author of Remarks on the Army Regulations; and The Use of the Army in Aid of the Civil Power.

LIEBLING, EMIL, musician, author, was born April 12, 1851, in Silesia. He has been in America since 1867; and in Chicago since 1872, actively engaged as a concert-pianist, teacher, and contributor to several papers. He is the author of songs Adieu; and Dost Thou Remember; and piano pieces.

LIGHTBURN, JOSEPH ANDREW JACKSON, soldier, legislator, was born Sept. 21, 1824, in Westmoreland county, Pa. He organized the fourth Virginia regiment of the national army; was made its colonel in 1861; and was promoted to brigadier-general of volunteers in 1863. In 1866-67 he was a member of the West Virginia legislature.

LIGHTON, WILLIAM RHEEM, lawyer, author, was born July 13, 1866, Lycoming county, Pa. He published several monographs on geological themes in scientific journals. He is the author of Sons of Strength, a Romance of the Kansas Border Wars.

LILLARD, BENJAMIN, journalist, publisher, author, was born Jan. 5, 1847, in Harrodsburg, Ky. Since 1895 he has been editor and publisher of the The Practical Druggist and The Popular Science News of New York city. He is the author of Practical Hints and Formulas; and Druggists' Pocket Price Book.

LILLARD, JOHN F. B., physician, author, was born May 14, 1854, in Harrisburg, Ky. He is the author of The Medical Muse; and Poker Stories.

LILLEY, GEORGE, mathematician, author, was born Feb. 9, 1854, in Kewanee, Ill. Since 1897 he has been professor of mathematics in the University of Oregon. He is the author of Elements of Algebra; and Higher Algebra.

LINCOLN, DAVID FRANCIS, hygienist, author, was born Jan. 4, 1841, in Boston, Mass. He has resided in Boston since 1893. He is the author of Electro-Therapeutics; School and Industrial Hygiene; and Hygienic Physiology, text-book for use of schools.

LINCOLN, CHARLES Z., lawyer, author, was born Aug. 5, 1848, in Grafton, Vt. Since 1895 he has been chairman of the New York Statutory Revision Commission and legal adviser to the governor. He is the author of History of the Bench and Bar of Cattaraugus county, N. Y.

LINCOLN, JAMES RUSH, soldier, was born Feb. 3, 1845. He served in Confederate army during the civil war. He was appointed United States army at outbreak of Spanish-American war; and became brigadier general of volunteers.

LINCOLN, JOSEPH CROSBY, journalist, author, poet, was born Feb. 13, 1870, in Brewster, Mass. In 1896-99 he was associate editor of the League American Wheelmen Bulletin. He is the author of Cape Cod Rhymes and Other Verse.

LINDSAY, MRS. ANNA ROBERTSON BROWN, author, was born Feb. 20, 1864 in Washington, D. C. She is the author of The Victory of Our Faith; Culture and Reform; and Giving What We Have.

LINDSAY, GEORGE, congressman. He was elected a member of the fifty seven congress from New York as a democrat.

LINDSAY, SAMUEL McCUNE, educator, author, was born May 10, 1869, in Pittsburg, Pa. He is assistant professor of sociology in University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Social Aspects of Philadelphia Relief Work; and articles on silver question and on the Eleventh Census.

LINDSEY, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born Sept. 4, 1835, in Rockbridge county, Va. At the opening of the civil war he entered the Confederate army as lieutenant; and was soon made captain in the twenty-second Tennessee infantry. In 1867 he was elected to the Kentucky state senate. In 1870 he was chosen to the highest judicial bench in the state, and in 1876 became chief justice of Kentucky.

LINSLEY, JOSEPH HATCH, physician, author, was born May 29, 18 in Windsor, Vt. In 1881-84 he was city physician of Burlington; and he was health officer in 1885-88, when he was appointed instructor in chemical microscopy in the New York post-graduate medical school. He is the author of a Hand-Book of Microscopy.

LINK, THEODORE CARL, architect, was born March 17, 1850, in Germany He won the first prize in competition for St. Louis Union Station which was built from his plans and under his supervision. He was consulting architect for St. Louis City Hall, and was architect for many churches, public buildings in St. Louis and vicinity.

LIONBERGER, ISAAC H., lawyer, author, was born Aug. 30, 1854, in St. Louis, Mo. He is professor of law of corporations in St. Louis law school. He is the author of Law of Corporations.

LIPPINCOTT, CRAIGE, publisher, was born Nov. 4, 1846, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is president of J. B. Lippincott Co., publishers, of Philadelphia, Pa.

LISTEMANN, FRANZ, musician, comcator, author, was born Nov. 25, 1865, Germany. In 1874 he founded the Boston Philharmonic Club; toured the country until 1878; then organized the Boston Philharmonic Orchestra. Since 1893 he has been head of the violin-department in the Chicago College of Music. He is the author of Method for Violin.

LISTEMANN, FRANZ, musician, composer, was born Dec. 17, 1873, in New York city. He is a teacher, soloist, and quartet-player of New York city. His Stradivarius-cello formerly belonged to Hollmann, the noted Dutch 'cellist.

LISTEMANN, FRITZ, musician ,composer, was born March 25, 1839, in Germany. Since 1884 he has devoted his time to teaching, and occasional tours with the Listemann Concert Company. He is the author of Grosse Polonaise; and Idylle.

LISTEMANN, PAUL, musician, composer, was born Oct. 24, 1871, in Boston, Mass. He has toured America as soloist of the Redpath Grand Conce Company.

LITTLE, CHARLES EDGAR, educator, author, was born Nov. 25, 1865, near Eatonton, Ga. Since 1899 he has been professor of latin in the University of Nashville. He is the author of A Grammatical Index.

LITTLE, CHARLES EUGENE, clergyman, author, was born April 7, 1838, in Waterbury, Vt. He has filled pastorates in the Methodist Episcopal Church in the states of New Hampshire, New York, Vermont, and New Jersey, and now fills a pastorate in Jersey City, N. J. He is the author of Biblical Lights; Historical Lights and Side Lights; and the Cyclopedia of Classified Dates.

LITTLE, CHARLES JOSEPH, clergyman, educator, was born Sept. 21, 1840, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1882-85 he was state librarian of Pennsylvania; and later he held the chair of the history of philosophy in Syracuse university. In 1891 he was appointed president of the Garrett biblical institute.

LITTLE, GEORGE O., clergyman, author, was born May 2, 1839, in Madison, Ind. He is the author of The Royal House of Israel and Judah: An Interwoven History and Harmony.

LITTLE, GILBERT FRANCIS, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 2, 1845, in Pennsylvania. He is United States circuit judge, Territory of Hawaii.

LITTLE, JAMES CAIN, railroad president, was born in 1840, in Louisville, Ky. Since 1888 he has been president of the Louisville and Wadley railroad.

LITTLEHALES, GEORGE W., civil engineer, author, was born Oct. 14, 1860 in Schuylkill county, Pa. He is chief of chart construction in United States navy. He is the author of The Development of Great Circle Sailing; The Methods and Results of the Survey of Lower California; Submarine Cables; and The Magnetic Dip or Inclination.

LIVINGSTON, CRAWFORD, railroad builder, was born May 6, 1848, in New York city. With Henry Villard he built the Little Falls and Dakota Railway; then built and was one of the owners of the James River Valley Railway and the Duluth-Manitoba Railroad.

LLOYD, ALFRED HENRY, educator, author, was born Feb. 21, 1858, in Lovington, Ill. Since 1895 he has been junior professor of philosophy in University of Michigan. He is the author of Citizenship and Salvation: Dynamic Idealism; and Philosophy of History.

LOCHREN, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born April 3, 1832, in Ireland. He served from private to first lieutenant first Minnesota volunteers in the civil war. In 1869-70 he was state senator; and judge in 1881-93. Since 1896 he has been judge of the United States district court of Minn.

LOCKHART, CLINTON, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 21, 1858, in Lobington, Ill. Since 1895 he has been president of the Christian university of Canton, Mo. He is the author of Laws of Interpretation; and Critical Commentary on Book of Nahum.

LOCKWOOD, THOMAS DIXON, civil engineer, author, was born Dec. 30, 1848, in England. He is an authority on telephony and telegraphy. He is the author of Information of Telephonists; and Electricity, Magnetism, and the Electric Telegraph.

LODGE, GONZALES, educator, author, was born Dec. 19, 1863, in Fort Littleton, Pa. He is the author of Latin Grammar; and managing editor of Gildersleeve-Lodge Latin Series.

LOEB, JACQUES, educator, author, was born April 7, 1859, in Germany. He is professor of physiology and experimental biology in University of Chicago. He is the author of Physiological Morphology.

LOGAN, CELIA, journalist, was born Dec. 17, 1839, in Philadelphia, Pa. She became a correspondent of American journals and wrote for magazines. During the civil war of 1861-65 she resided in Milan, Italy, translating the war news for newspapers. Afterward she settled in Washington, where she became associate editor of The Capital. She has written several dramas, including An American Marriage. In 1872 she married James F. Connelly.

LOGAN, JOHN DANIEL, educator, author, was born May 2, 1869, in Canada. Since 1899 he has been professor of English and philosophy in the State university of South Dakota. He is the author of The Structural Principles of Prose Style.

LOGAN, MRS. MARY SIMMERSON CUNNINGHAM, author, was born Aug. 15, 1838, in Petersburg, Mo. She is the wife of John A. Logan, general and United States senator, now deceased. Since 1886 she has edited The Home Magazine; and written articles for magazines and newspapers.

LOMAX, LINDSAY LUNSFORD, soldier, was born Nov. 4, 1835, in Newport R. I., He served through the civil war in confederate service; and attained the rank of major-general. For some years past he has been employed in the war records office.

LOMAX, THOMAS HENRY, clergyman, bishop, was born Jan. 15, 1832, in Cumberland county, N. C. He united with the Methodist Episcopal church, and was licensed to preach in the African Zion church in 1864. He was ordained deacon in 1867; and elder in 1868; and in 1876, was ordained a bishop of the general conference at Louisville, Ky.

LOMBARD, LOUIS, musician,financier, author, was born Dec. 15, 1861, in France. He was founder and former director of the Utica, New York Conservatory of Music and School and Languages. He is the author Observations of a Bachelor; Observations of a Traveler; The Vicious Virtuoso; The Art Melodious; and is the composer of Juliet, comic opera.

LONDON, JACK, author, was born Jan. 12, 1876, in San Francisco, Cal. He tramped throughout the United States and Canada for social and economic study in 1894. He is the author of The Son of the Wolf.

LONG, JOHN HARPER, educator, author, was born Dec. 1, 1856, near Steubenville, Ohio. Since 1881 he has been professor of chemistry in Medical School Northwestern university of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Elements of General Chemistry; A Text Book of Analytical Chemistry; and Laboratory Manual of Physiological Chemistry.

LONG, JOHN LUTHER, author. He is the author of Madam Butterfly; Miss Cherry-Blossom of Tokyo; Fox-Woman; and The Prince of Illusion.

LONG, WILLIAM JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born April 3, 1867, in North Attleboro, Mass. He is the author of Ways of Wood Folk; Beasts of the Field; and Fowls of the Air.

LONGFORD, WILLIAM G., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 10, 1834, in Greene county, Ohio. In 1856 he served as a volunteer in the Indian war. In 1863 he removed to Walla Walla, Wash., where he remained until 1867. In 1864-67 he was a representative in the territorial legislature. In 1875 he located at Lewiston, Idaho. He was elected to the upper house of the Idaho legislature; at the expiration of his term of service removed to Walla Walla, Washington territory, and was elected city attorney, and was four times re-elected. In 1885 he was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of Washington territory.

LONGHEAD, MRS. FLORA HAINES, journalist, dramatist, author, was born July 12, 1855, in Milwaukee, Wis. She is the author of Libraries of California; The Man Who Was Guilty; The Abandoned Claim; The Black Curtain; The Man from Nowhere; Santo's Brother.

LONGINO, ANDREW H., lawyer, state senator, governor, was born May 16, 1855, in Lawrence county, Miss. In 1880 he was elected to the state senate of Mississippi; in 1888 was appointed United States district attorney for two years; and in 1894 was appointed chancellor of the seventh district. In 1899 was elected governor of Mississippi.

LOOMIS, BENJAMIN BLOOMFIELD, journalist, author, was born Oct. 6, 1836, in Bridgewater, N. Y. He is editor of New Jersey Methodist. He is prseident of Round Lake Summer Institute. He is the author of Studies in the Book of Acts.

LOOMIS, CHARLES BATTELL, author, poet, was born Sept. 16, 1861, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of Just Rhymes; The Four-masted Catboat; and Yankee Enchantments.

LORD, EDWIN CHESLEY ESTES, geologist, author, was born May 7, 1868, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of Dissertation on Basalts of the Fichtelgebirge, Bavaria.

LORD, ELEANOR LOUISA, educator, author, was born July 27, 1866, in Salem, Mass. Since 1897 she has taught in Woman's College of Baltimore. She is the author of Industrial Experiments in the British Colonies of North America.

LORD, NATHANIEL WRIGHT, chemist, author, was born Dec. 26, 1854, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is professor of metallurgy and mineralogy in Ohio state university. He is the author of Notes on Metallurgical Analysis.

LORENZ, JULIUS, musician, composer, was born Oct. 1, 1862, in Hanover. Since 1895 he has been conductor of the Arion of New York city. He is the author of an opera, piano-music, choruses and songs.

LORIMER, GEORGE HORACE, journalist, author, was born Oct. 6, 1868, in Louisville, Ky. He is literary editor of the Saturday Evening Post. He is the author of Behind the Veil of Isis.

LORING, AUGUSTUS PEABODY, lawyer, merchant, author, was born Dec. 10, 1857, in Boston, Mass. He is president of the Plymouth Cordage Company of Boston, Mass. He is the author of A Trustee's Handbook.

LORING, WILLIAM CALEB, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 24, 1851, in Beverly, Mass. Since 1899 he has been associate justice of the supreme judiciary court of Massachusetts.

LOTHROP, THORNTON KIRKLAND lawyer, author, was born in 1830 in New Hampshire. He is a noted lawyer of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Life of William H. Seward.

LOTTA—Charlotte Crabtree—actress, was born in 1847 in New York city. Her first stage appearance was at six years of age at Petaluma, Cal. She has played in England and United States for thirty years; as the Marchioness in Little Nell, and in Firefly, Topsy, Musette, Bob, Nitouche, The Little Detective.

LOUBAT, JOSEPH FLORIMUND, philanthropist, author, was born Jan. 21, 1831, in New York city. He inherited a large fortune and has made many gifts to public institutions, including an endowment of property worth one million dollars to the Columbia university library, besides gifts of books and manuscripts. He is the author of Medallic History of the United States.

LOUNSBERRY, ALICE, botanist, author, was born in New York city. She is the author of A Guide to the Wild Flowers; A Guide to the Trees; and Southern Trees, Flowers and Shrubs.

LOUNSBURY, GEORGE E., governor. In 1899-1901 he was governor of Connecticut.

LOUNSBURY, PHINEAS CHAPMAN, soldier, financier, legislator, governor, was born Jan. 10, 1841, in Ridgefield, Conn. He entered seventeenth Connecticut volunteers as private, but was compelled to retire by serious illness. He engaged in financial business in New York and was for years president of the Merchants' Exchange National Bank of New York city. For several terms he was a member and speaker in Connecticut legislature. In 1887-88 he was governor of Connecticut.

LOVE, ALFRED HENRY, merchant, was born Sept. 7, 1830, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has been president of Universal Peace Union since 1866.

LOVING, JOHN WHEELER, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 16, 1860, in Virginia. He has been pastor of various Baptist churches in Kentucky. He is the author of The Doctrine of Sin in John.

LOWE, JOHN, naval officer, was born Dec. 11, 1838, in Liverpool, England. He served through the civil war and through the Corean war. In 1884 he was a member of Greeley Relief Expedition. He attained the rank of rear admiral.

LUCAS, THOMAS JOHN, soldier, was born Sept. 9, 1826, in Lawrenceburg, Ind. He enlisted for the Mexican war as a drummer-boy in the fourth Indiana volunteers, and rose to be lieutenant and adjutant. He was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1864. In 1881-85 he was postmaster of Lawrenceburg, Ind; and in 1886 was an unsuccessful candidate for congress.

LUCCOCK, NAPHTALI, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 28, 1853, in Kimbolton, Ohio. He is pastor Union Methodist Episcopal church of St. Louis, Mo.; and editor of The American Illustrated Methodist Magazine. He is the author of Christian Citizenship; and Living Words from the Pulpit.

LUCKEY, GEORGE WASHINGTON ANDREW, educator, author, was born in 1855, near Decatur, Ind. He is professor of education in University of Nebraska. He is the author of The Professional Training of Secondary School Teachers in the United States.

LUDDEN, PATRICK ANTHONY, clergyman, bishop, author, was born in 1838 in Ireland. Since 1887 he has been first Roman catholic bishop of Syracuse, N. Y. He is the author of Church Property.

LUDINGTON, MARSHALL INDEPENDENCE, soldier, was born July 4, 1839, in Smithfield, Pa. He served through the civil war. He is now brigadier-general and quartermaster-general U. S. A.

LUDLOW, NICOLL, naval officer, was born Sept. 11, 1842, in Islip, N. Y. During the civil war he attained the rank of lieutenant. During the Spanish-

American war he commanded the Terror; and attained the rank of rear admiral.

LUKENS, HERMAN T., educator, author, was born Jan. 29, 1865, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1898 he has been head training teacher at State Normal school of California, Pa. He is the author of Herbert's Psychological Basis of Teaching; and The Connection Between Thought and Memory.

LUMMUS, HENRY TILTON, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 28, 1876, in Lynn, Mass. He practices law in his native city. He is the author of a treatise on The Law of Mechanics' Liens upon Real Estate in Massachusetts.

LUQUER, LEA McILVAINE, educator, author, was born in 1864, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is instructor at Columbia university of New York city. He is the author of Minerals in Rock Sections.

LURTON, HORACE HARMON, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1844, in Kentucky. Since 1893 he has been judge of the United States court, sixth judicial circuit of Tennessee.

LUSH, CHARLES KEELER, journalist, author, was born Dec 5, 1861, in La Crosse, Wis. He is the author of The Federal Judge.

LYDSTON, G. FRANK, surgeon, author, was born in 1858 in Tuolumne, Cal. He is the author of Stricture and Urethra; Text Book on Genito-Urinary and Venereal Diseases; and Varicocele and Treatment.

LYNDE, FRANCIS, railroad service, author, was born Nov. 12, 1856, in Lewiston, N. Y. He is the author of A Question of Courage; A Romance in Transit; The Helpers and a Private Chivalry.

LYNES, FRANK, musician, composer, was born May 16, 1858, in Cambridge, Mass. He has held positions as organist in various churches of Boston, Mass. He is conductor of the Cantabrigia Choral Class. He is the author of about fifty songs and pianoforte pieces.

LYON, FRANK EMORY, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 20, 1864, in Lawn Ridge, Ill. He is the originator and now national lecturer and superintendent of the American Health Propaganda, Chicago. He is the author of The Art of Living; and Social Evangelism.

LYON, WILLIAM PENN, soldier, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 28, 1822, in Chatham, N. Y. In 1859-60 he was a member and speaker of the Wisconsin assembly. He served through the civil war; and was breveted brigadier-general in 1865. In 1866-71 he was judge of the first circuit of Wisconsin; and in 1871-94 was justice of the supreme court of Wisconsin.

LYONS, JUDSON WHITLOCKE, lawyer, was born Aug. 15, 1858, in Burke county, Ga. He is in the law practice in Augusta, Ga. He was a member of the Republican national convention of 1888, 1892, and 1896; and in the latter year was elected on the Georgia national committee. In 1898, he removed to Washington, having been appointed at that date register of the United States treasury.

LYONS, SAMUEL ROSS, soldier, clergyman, educator, was born April 28, 1849, in uoSth arolina. He served in the one hundred and fifty-fouth Illinois volunteers in the civil war. In 1898 he was elected president of Monmouth college of Boomington, Ind. He has been a trustee of Indiana university since 1892.

LYTE, ELIPHALET ORAM, educator, lecturer, author, was born June 29, 1842, in Bird-in-Hand, Pa. Since his graduation he has devoted himself especially to the study of language and philosophy. He has been a member of the faculty of the Millersville state normal school since 1868; and in 1887 was elected its principal. He is the author of Forms of Parsing and Analysis; Practical Book-keeping; The School Song Book; and Grammar and Composition.

MABRY, MILTON HARVEY, lawyer, lieutenant-governor, jurist, was born June 17, 1851, in Pickens county, Ala. In 1883-84 he was a member of the Florida legislature; and in 1884-88 was lieutenant-governor. Since 1891 he has been justice of the supreme court of Florida.

MAC ALISTER, JAMES, educator, author, was born April 26, 1840, in Scotland. In 1873 he was superintendent of public schools in Milwaukee, Wis.; and in 1878-83 was regent of normal schools in Wisconsin. He was then appointed first superintendent of public schools of Philadelphia. He is the author of Manual of Primary Instruction; Manual of Instruction in United States History and Civil Government; and Catalogue of Pedagogical Library, with Bibliographical Notes.

MAC ARTHUR, ARTHUR, soldier, was born in Massachusetts. In 1862-65 he served in the civil war from first lieutenant to breveted colonel of the twenty-fourth Wisconsin infantry. In 1866 he entered the regular army as first lieutenant; in 1898 was appointed brigadier-general of United States volunteers; and in 1899 was promoted to major-general commanding the second division eighth army corps on special duty in Havana, Cuba.

MACARTHUR, WALTER, journalist, author, was born March 9, 1862, in Glasgow, Scotland. Since 1891 he has been associate editor of Coast Seamen's Journal of San Francisco, Cal. He is the author of The Red Record.

MACBRIDE, THOMAS HOUSTON, botanist, author, was born July 31, 1848, in Rogersville, Tenn. Since 1884 he has been professor of botany in the state university of Iowa. He is the author of Botany, a text-book.

MAC CAULEY, CLAY, Unitarian clergyman, author, was born May 8, 1843, in Chambersburg, Pa. He is the author of Christianity in History; Introductory Course in Japanese; and Japanese Literature.

MAC CORKLE, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, lawyer, governor, was born May 7, 1857, in Lexington, Va. In 1880-89 he was prosecuting attorney of Charleston, W. Va. In 1892-97 he was governor of West Virginia.

MAC DILL, DAVID, educator, author, was born Aug. 10, 1826, in Morning Sun, Ohio. Since 1885 he has been professor of apologetics at Xenia Theological seminary. He is the author of The Bible a Miracle; and Pre-Millennialism Discussed.

MAC DONALD, ARTHUR, educator, author, was born July 4, 1856, in Caledonia, N. Y. He is a specialist in education in the United States bureau of education. He is the author of Abnormal Man; Criminology; Education and Patho-Social Studies; Abnormal Children; and Experimental Study of Children.

MAC DONALD, JAMES WILSON ALEXANDER, sculptor, was born Aug. 25, 1824, in Steubenville, Ohio. His earliest production in marble was a bust of Thomas H. Benton. Later he made his earliest ideal work, a bust of Joan of Arc, which he followed by a full-length figure called Italia.

MACDOUGAL, DANIEL TREMBLY, botanist, author, was born March 16, 1865, in Liberty, Ind. Since 1899 he hes been director in New York Botanical Garden. He is the author of Experimental Plant Physiology; and Living Plants.

MAC DOWELL, EDWARD ALEXANDER, musician, composer, was born Dec. 18, 1861, in New York city. In 1896 he was appointed professor of music in Columbia university of New York city. He is a concert pianist of marked ability; and a composer of strong individuality.

MACE, WILLIAM HARRISON, educator, author, was born Nov. 27, 1852, near Lexington, Ind. Since 1891 he has been professor of history in Syracuse university. He is the author of A Working Manual of American History; and Method in History.

MACFADDEN, BERNARD ADOLPHUS, journalist, lecturer, inventor, was born Aug. 16, 1868, near Mill Springs, Mo. He is editor of Physical Culture, of New York city. He is inventor of various devices for exercise; and was an athlete of considerable prominence in the wrestling arena in 1890-93. He is the author of The Athlete's Conquest; and McFadden's Physical Training.

MACFARLANE, ALEXANDER, mathematican, author, was born April 21, 1851, in Scotland. He is general secretary of the International Association for Promoting Space-analysis. He is the author of Physical Arithmetic; and Elementary Mathematical Tables.

MACFARLANE, JOHN MUIRHEAD, educator, botanist, author, was born Sept. 28, 1855, in Scotland. Since 1893 he has been professor of botany in University of Pennsylvania. In 1895-99 he developed the botanical gardens of the University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of numerous papers on Cell structure, Insectivorous Plants, and Movement of Sensitive Plants.

MAC GRATH, HAROLD, journalist, author, was born Sept 4, 1871, in Syracuse, N. Y. He is the author of Arms and the Woman.

MACKAY-SMITH, ALEXANDER, clergyman, bishop, was born June 2, 1850, in New Haven, Conn. He was rector of Grace church of South Boston in 1877-80; and in 1880 became assistant rector of St. Thomas's church of New York city. In 1887 he became first archdeacon of New York.

MACKENZIE, ARTHUR STANLEY, educator, author, was born Sept. 26, 1865, in Canada. He is professor of physics in Bryn Mawr college, Pa. He is the author of The Law of Gravitation.

MACKENZIE, JOHN NOLAND, physician, critic, was born Oct. 20, 1853, in Baltimore, Md. He was appointed clinical assistant in Bellevue hospital, and afterward a member of the house staff of that institution. He occupies the position of literary critic on various journals both in America and abroad. He is surgeon to the Baltimore eye, ear, and throat charity hospital; and vice-president of the American laryngological association.

MACKENZIE, WILLIAM DOUGLAS, educator, theologian, author, was born July 16, 1859, in Africa. He is professor of theology in Chicago Theological Seminary. He is the author of The Ethics of Gambling; The Revelation of the Christ; and Christianity and the Progress of Man.

MACKIE, PAULINE BRADFORD, author, was born July 5, 1873, in Fairfield, Conn. She is the author of Mademoiselle de Berny, a Story of Colonial Times; and Ye Lyttle Salem Maide, a Story of Witchcraft.

MACKUBIN, ELLEN, author, was born in Chicago, Ill. She is the author of The King of the Town.

MACLAY, EDGAR STANTON, journalist, author, was born April 18, 1863, in China. He is the author of The History of the United States Navy; Reminiscences of the Old Navy; and The History of American Privateers.

MACLOSKIE, GEORGE, educator, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 14, 1834, in Ireland. He is professor of biology in Princeton university. He is the author of Elementary Botany.

MAC MILLAN, CONWAY, botanist, author, was born Aug. 26, 1867, in Hillsdale, Mich. Since 1891 he has been state botanist of Minnesota. He is the author of Twenty-two Common Insects of Nebraska; The Metaspermae of the Minnesota Valley; and Minnesota Plant Life.

MAC MONNIES, FREDERICK, sculptor, was born Sept. 20, 1863, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1896 he was decorated with the Legion of Honor by the French government. He is the author of Three life-size bronze angels at St. Paul's church of New York city; army and navy groups for soldiers' and sailors' monument in Indianapolis, Ind.; and bronze doors and statue of Shakespeare in Library of Congress.

MAC QUEARY, THOMAS HOWARD, clergyman, educator, author, was born May 27, 1861, near Charlottesville, Va. He is superintendent of the Parental school of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of The Evolution of Man and Christianity.

MAC VANE, SILAS N., educator, author. He is professor of ancient and modern history in Harvard university. He is the author of Working Principles of Political Economy.

MAC VEAGH, WAYNE, lawyer, legislator, diplomat, was born April 19, 1833, in Phoenixville, Pa. In 1859-64 he served as district attorney for Chester county, Pa. In 1870-71 he was United States minister to Turkey; and in 1872-73 was a member of the Pennsylvania constitutional convention. In 1881 he was appointed United States attorney-general in the cabinet of President Garfield, but resigned, with the other members on the accession of President Arthur, and resumed his law practice in Philadelphia, Pa.

MAGEE, HARRIET CECIL, educator, was born Sept. 28, 1854, in New Brunswick. In 1884 she became the director of the art department of the State Normal school at Oshkosh, Wis.; and it is owing to her wise leadership that it is recognized as the representative art club of Wisconsin.

MAGIE, WILLIAM J., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Dec. 9, 1832, in Elizabeth, N. Y. In 1876-78 he was a member of the New Jersey state senate; and in 1880-97 was associate justice of New Jersey; and since 1897 chief justice.

MAGONE, DANIEL, lawyer, public official, was born Jan. 26, 1829, in Oswegatchie, N. Y. He became a member of the New York state canal commission in 1875; and was appointed collector of the port of New York in 1886. He was chairman of the New York state democratic committee in 1876; and a delegate to the national Democratic convention in 1876 and 1884.

MAGRUDER, BENJAMIN DRAKE, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 27, 1838, in Jefferson county, Miss. In 1859-61 he practiced law in Memphis, Tenn.; and in 1861-85 practiced in Chicago, Ill. In 1868-85 he was master in chancery. Since 1885 he has been justice of the supreme court of Illinois, his present term ending in 1906.

MAGRUDER, DANIEL R., lawyer, jurist. For many years he was judge of the Maryland court of appeals.

MAGUIRE, MATTHEW, machinist, was born in 1850, in New York. He moved to Paterson, N. J., and took an active part in municipal, state, and national politics. He has served as alderman of Paterson. He was nominated in 1896, for vice-president by the Socialist-Labor party at its convention in New York city; and in 1898 was nominated by his party for governor of New Jersey.

MAHONEY, WILLIAM F., congressman, was born in Chicago, Ill. For five terms he was a member of the Chicago city council. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Illinois.

MAISCH, HENRY CHARLES CHRISTIAN, chemist, author, was born Sept. 29, 1862, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He has lectured on botany and materia medica at Chicago College of Pharmacy, and Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Maisch's Manual of Materia Medica.

MALLET, JOHN WILLIAM, chemist, was born Oct. 10, 1832, in Ireland. In 1867-83 he held the professorship of analytical, industrial and agricultural chemistry in the University of Virginia. In 1883 he became professor of chemistry and physics in the recently organized university of Texas; and the equipment of these departments was selected by him

MALLORY, FRANK B., physician, author. He is a successful physician of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Pathological Technique.

MALTBIE, MILO ROY, journalist, author, was born April 3, 1871, in Hinckley, Ill. Since 1897 he has been editor of the Municipal Affairs of New York city. He is the author of English Local Government of Today; and Municipal Functions.

MALTBY, MRS. GEORGIA LORD MOREHOUSE, genealogist, was born April 22, 1854, in New Haven Conn. She is the author of Maltby-Morehouse Family Record.

MAJOR, CHARLES, lawyer, author, was born July 25, 1856, in Indianapolis, Ind. He is engaged in practice at Shelbyville, Ind. He is the author of When Knighthood was in Flower.

MANATT, JAMES IRVING, educator, author, was born Feb. 17 1845, in Millersburg, Ohio. Since 1892 he has been professor of Greek literature and history in Brown university. He is the author of The Mycenaean Age.

MANLEY, HENRY DE HAVEN, naval officer, was born Dec. 20, 1839, in Chester, Pa. He was promoted lieutenant-commander in 1866; served on the flag-ships of the European and Brazilian stations; was commissioned as commander in 1874; and circumnavigated the globe in command of the Ranger and the Alert in 1878-79. He was retired from active service in 1883 on account of loss of hearing and failure of health.

MANLY, LOUISE, teacher, author, was born July 10 1857 in Richmond, Va. She has taught in Alabama, Kentucky, Florida and North Carolina. She is the author of Southern Literature; and History of Alabama for Children.

MANN, CAMERON, clergyman, author, was born in 1853, in New York city. Since 1882 he has been rector of Grace church of Kansas City, Mo. He is the author of Future Punishment; and Comments at the Cross.

MANN, CHARLES HOLBROOK, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 11, 1839, in Syracuse, N. Y. In 1870 he invented and patented the reactionary litter. He is the author of Interior Spiritual Living; Sermons on Marriage; What God Hath Cleansed; The Christ of God; Psychiasis, or Healing Through the Soul

MANNING, HENRY PARKER, educator, author, was born Oct. 3, 1859, in Woodstock, Conn. He is assistant professor of mathematics in Brown university. He is the author of Non-Euclidean Geometry.

MANSFIELD, RICHARD, actor, was born in 1857, in Heligoland. He studied for East Indian civil service, but opened a studio in Boston, Mass.; and later took to the theatrical profession. He is head of his own company and has created such parts as Beau Brummel Prince Karl Baron Chevrial, and the titular roles in Dr. Jekyl and Mr. Hyde.

MANTON, WALTER PORTER, physician, author, was born Aug 3, 1857, in Providence, R. I. He is a successful physician of Detroit, Mich. He is the author of A Syllabus of Lectures on Human Embryology.

MARCEAU, JAMES HERBERT, musician, composer, was born Oct. 31, 1859, in Canada. He is now head of vocal department at Quincy Mansion school of Wollaston, Mass.

MARCH ALDEN, jouralist, author, was born Sept. 29, 1869, in Easton, Pa. Since 1891 he has been connected with the Philadelphia Press. He is the author of Conquest of The Philippines and Our Other Island Possessions.

MARGOLIS MAX LEOPOLD, was born Oct. 15, 1866, in Russia. Since 1898 he has been associate professor of Semitic languages and literatures in university of California. He is the author of An Elementary Text-Book of Hebrew Accidence.

MARIS, GEORGE LEWIS, educator, genealogist, author, was born April 16, 1842, in Chester county, Pa. He is principal of the George school of Buck's county, Pa. In 1877 he was president of the Pennsylvania State Teachers' Association. He is the author of Normal English Grammar; and Maris Family Record.

MARKHAM, EDWIN, journalist, author, poet, was born April 23, 1852, in Oregon city, Ore. He has written poems since early boyhood in California papers and received recognition of best Eastern magazines; and was principal and superintendent of schools in Calfornia until 1899. He is the author of The Man With the Hoe, and Other Poems; The Man With the Hoe, with Notes by the Author; and Lincoln, and Other Poems.

MARKS, WILLIAM DENNIS, civil engineer, author, was born Feb. 26, 1849, in St. Louis, Mo. He is president of the Edison Electric Light company of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of The Relative Proportions of the Steam Engine.

MARSHALL, CHARLES ALEXANDER, soldier, legislator, was born May 2, 1809, in Mason county, Ky. He served in the Kentucky legislature in 1840, 1855 and 1857. He was a determined friend of the Union; recruited the sixteenth Kentucky infantry in 1861; was at the head of that regiment and led the advance of General William Nelson in his campaign in eastern Kentucky.

MARSHALL, JOHN AUGUSTINE, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 5, 1854, in Fauquier county, Va. In 1892 he was a member of the Utah assembly. Since 1896 he has been United States judge for the district of Utah.

MARSHALL, LEONARD B., educator, musician, was born Aug. 9, 1847, in Boston, Mass. He is an instructor in music in Dorchester, Mass.; and is a member of the faculty of the American Institute of Normal Methods.

MARSHALL, THOMAS F., civil engineer, banker, state senator, congressman, was born March 7, 1854. For four years he was mayor of Oakes, N. D. For four years he was a member of the North Dakota state senate. In 1899 he was a candidate for the United States senate. He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh congress as a republican.

MARSHALL, WILLIAM CHAMPE, lawyer, orator, jurist, was born Nov. 15, 1849, in Vicksburg, Miss. In 1895-98 he was president of the Missouri State Bar association. In 1898 he was judge of the supreme court of Missouri for the term ending in 1909.

MARSTON, NATHAN W., merchant, jurist, genealogist, was born Jan. 25, 1827. He is a successful merchant and noted jurist of Lubec, Maine. He is the author of the Marston Genealogy.

MARTIN, ELORA E., lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 23, 1834, in Newport, N. Y. Since 1896 he has been judge of the New York court of appeals.

MARTIN, CHALMERS, clergyman, college president, author, was born Sept. 7, 1859, in Ashland, Ky. Since 1900 he has been president of Pennsylvania College for Women. He is the author of Apostolic and Modern Missions.

MARTIN, CHARLES CYRIL, civil engineer, was born Aug. 30, 1831, in Springfeld, Pa. He was superintendent of the laying of the forty-eight-inch water-main along Atlantic avenue to the Ridgewood reservoir, through which the water supply of Brooklyn has since been obtained. He then became chief engineer of Prospect park, and there introduced a system of road-building and sub-drainage sewers that has proved eminently successful, also bringing to a completion the great park well, then the largest in the world. On the accomplishment of this work he became assistant engineer of the New York and Brooklyn bridges, and after the structure was thrown open to the public in 1883, was made chief engineer and superintendent.

MARTIN, DANIEL HOFFMAN, author, was born Feb. 5, 1859, in Martindale, N. Y. Since 1890 he has been pastor of Clinton avenue Reformed church of Newark, N. Y. He is the author of A Young Man's Perplexities with His Bible; Concerning Them that are Asleep; and Save America to Save the World.

MARTINELLI, SEBASTIAN, Roman Catholic archbishop, was born Aug. 20, 1848, in Italy. In 1894 he visited the United States as superior-general of the Augustinians; in 1896 he was appointed apostolic delegate; was consecrated archbishop of Ephesus in August of that year; and has since resided in Washington as the successor of Satolli as the pope's representative in the United States.

MARTYN, CARLOS, clergyman, author, was born in 1843 in New York city. He is the author of Christian Citizenship; Life of John Milton; English Puritans; Pilgram Fathers; History of the Huguenots; Dutch Reformation; and several biographical works.

MARVIN, JOSEPH BENSON, physician, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 3, 1852, in Monticello, Fla. He is professor of medicine and president of the medical department in the University of Kentucky. He is the author of Lectures in International Clinics.

MARVIN, WILLIAM T. R., publisher, genealogist, was born Dec. 30, 1832, in Boston, Mass. He is editor of American Journal of Numismatics, of Boston, Mass. He is the author of The Marvin Monographic, a genealogical work.

MARZO, EDUARDO, musician, composer, was born Nov. 29, 1852, in Italy. He is specially distinguished for sacred compositions. He has composed eight masses, four vespers, and many songs for the Catholic church.

MASON, MRS. CAROLINE ATWATER, author, was born July 10, 1853, in Providence, R. I. She is the author of A Titled Maiden; A Minister of the World; The Minister of Carthage; The Quiet King; and A Wind Flower.

MASON, HARRIET L., educafor, author, was born Sept. 15, 1862, in Keene, N. H. Since 1893 she has been instructor of English language and literature in Drexel institute of Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of Students' Reading and Questions in English Literature.

MASON, HARRISON DENNING, business man, genealogist, was born Jan. 27, 1855, in Allegheny City, Pa. He is purchasing agent of the Allegheny Valley railroad of Pittsburg. He is the author of Genealogy of the Mason and Denning Families.

MASON, MARY AUGUSTA, author, poet, was born in Windsor, N. Y. She is the author of With the Seasons, a volume of colonial poems.

MASON, RUFUS OSGOOD, physician, author, was born Jan. 22, 1830, in Sullivan, N. H. In 1861-64 he was acting assistant surgeon in the United States navy. He is the author of Sketches and Impressions, Musical, Theatrical and Social, including a sketch of the Philharmonic Society of New York; and Telepathy and the Subliminal Self.

MASON, WILLIAM PITT, chemist, author, was born Oct. 12, 1853, in New York city. He is professor of chemistry in Renssalaer Polytechnic Institute of Troy, N. Y. He is the author of Water Supply; and Notes on Qualitative Analysis.

MASSEY, W. A., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Nevada.

MASSEY, WILBUR FISK, horticulturist, botanist, author, was born Sept. 30, 1839, in Accomac county, Va. He is professor of horticulture and botany in the North Carolina college of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. He is the author of Crop Growing and Crop Feeding.

MATCHETT, CHARLES HORATIO, electrician, was born May 15, 1843, in Needham, Mass. In 1886 he entered into the employment of the New Jersey telephone company. He was prominent in the Knights of Labor movement; and since 1885 has taken an active part in the Socialist-Labor party, being nominated for mayor of Brooklyn, governor of New York, vice-president of the United States, and in 1896 for president.

MATHEWS, EDWARD, journalist, genealogist, author, was born Feb. 9, 1837, in New Britain, Pa. He is the author of History of Thomas Family; Rosenberger Family; and several local histories.

MATHEWS, FERDINAND SCHUYLER, artist, author, was born May 30, 1854, in New Brighton, N. Y. His specialty is decorative design. He is the author of The Golden Flower; Familiar Flowers of Field and Garden; Familiar Trees and Their Leaves; Familiar Features of the Roadside; Familiar Life in Field and Forest; and The Beautiful Flower Garden.

MATHEWS, FRANCES AYMAR, dramatist, author, was born in New York city. She is the author of One Man in Ten Thousand; To-night at Eight; His Way and Her Will; A Married Man; The New Yorkers; and A Little Tragedy at Tientsin; and other plays.

MATHEWS, JOSEPH McDOWELL, physician, surgeon, author, was born May 1, 1847, in New Castle, Ky. He is president of the Kentucky state board of Health. He is the author of Mathews on Diseases of the Rectum and Sigmoid Flexure.

MATHEWS, SHAILER, educator, author, was born May 26, 1863, in Portland, Maine. He is professor of New Testament history and interpretation in University of Chicago. He is the author of Select Mediaeval Documents; and The Social Teachings of Jesus.

MATTESON, CHARLES, lawyer, jurist. He is chief justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

MATTHEWS, BRANDER, author, was born Feb. 21, 1852, in New Orleans, La. He was one of the founders of the New York authors' club, and also took a conspicuous part in organizing the American copyright league and the Dunlap society. He is the author of The Theatres of Paris; French Dramatists of the Nineteenth Century; The Last Meeting; A Secret of the Sea; and Pen and Ink. His plays include Margery's Lovers; and other works.

MATTHEWS, EDMUND ORVILLE, naal officer, was born Oct. 24, 1836, in Baltimore, Md. During the civil war he was lieutenant-commander. In 1897 he became rear-admiral; and was president of the examining board when retired.

MATTOCKS, CHARLES PORTER, soldier, state legislator, was born Oct. 11, 1840, in Danville, Vt. In 1865 he was breveted brigadier-general. In 1880-84 he was a member of the Maine legislature. He served in the Spanish-American war.

MAURICE, ARTHUR BARTLETT, journalist, author, was born April 10, 1873, in Rahway, N. J. Since 1899 he has been editor of The Bookman of New York city. He is the author of New York in Fiction.

MAXEY, THOMAS F., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 1, 1846, in Brandon, Miss. He served in the Confederate army one year; and in 1870 was a member of the Mississippi legislature. Since 1888 he has been United States judge for the western district of Texas.

MAXIM, HIRAM STEVENS, inventor, was born Feb. 5, 1840, in Sangerville, Maine. He has patented many electric inventions including incandescent lamps and self-regulating current machines. He invented the Maxim gun, which makes the recoil of the gun serve as the power for reloading.

MAY, MITCHELL, lawyer, congressman, was born July 11, 1871, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is actively engaged in practice of law in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

MAYNARD, GEORGE WILLIAM, mining engineer, was born June 12, 1839, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1868-72 he was professor of mining and metallurgy at Rensselaer polytechnic institute. In 1873-79 he was consulting engineer for iron, steel and copper works in England, Germany, and Russia. Since that time he has been engaged as a consulting mining and metallurgical engineer with an office in New York city.

MAYNARD, H. L., congressman. He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh congress from Virginia as a democrat.

MAYO, EARL WILLIAMS, journalist, author, was born May 5, 1873, in Springville, N. Y. He is editor of McClure's syndicate supplying stories and special articles to newspapers and magazines. He is the author of A Border Rivalry.

MAYO-SMITH, RICHMOND, educator, author, was born in 1854, in Ohio. Since 1883 he has been professor of political economy in Columbia University of New York city. He is the author of Emigration and Immigration; and Sociology and Statistics.

MAZET, ROBERT, lawyer, legislator, was born May 15, 1857, in Pittsburg, Pa. He began the practice of his profession in New York city. He took an active interest in the affairs of the National guard of the state; serving as first lieutenant in the seventh regiment: and also serving as republican member of the legislature in 1897-99.

McADAM, DAVID, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 6, 1838, in New York city. Since 1896 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of New York.

McALLISTER, DAVID, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 25, 1835, in New York city. He is the author of Manual Christian Civil Government; and Poets and Poetry of the Covenant.

McALLISTER, W. K., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Tennessee.

McANDREWS, JAMES, congressman. He is a member of the fifty-seventh congress from Illinois as a democrat.

McATEE, JOHN L., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Oklahoma.

McCABE, CHARLES C., clergyman, bishop, was born Oct. 11, 1836, in Athens, Ohio. Since 1896 he has been Methodist Episcopal bishop.

McCAGG, EZRA BUTLER, soldier, lawyer, was born Nov. 22, 1825, in Kinderhook, N. Y. Since 1847 he has practiced in Chicago, Ill. He was a member of the United States sanitary commission; and president of the Northwestern sanitary commission during the civil war. He was the first president of the Lincoln park trustees. He has a large library and art collection.

McCALLA, BOWMAN H., naval officer, was born June 19, 1844, in Camden, N. J. He served throughout the civil war; and in 1866 was promoted master. He served during the war with Spain; and as colonel he commanded a division of six cruisers and gunboats on the coast of Luzon. In 1900, with officers and men from the Newark, he formed part of a column in an attempt to relieve legations in Pekin, China.

McCAMMON, JOSEPH KAY, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 13, 1845, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Report on Indian Service; Report on Councils with Bannock and Shoshone Indians; Report on Councils with Flathead and Other Indians; and Arguments in Cases Affecting Pacific and Other Railroads.

McCARROLL, JAMES, inventor, journalist, author, was born Aug. 3, 1814, in Ireland. He is the author of various inventions, the last of which increases the light and flame in the chimney of an Argand gas-burner, or of any other burner, to double their volume by retarding the escape of unconsumed carbon through the chimney. He is well known as a poet; and has published in book-form his humorous letters, under the pen-name of Terry Finnegan, to Thomas D'Arcy McGee; The New Gauger; The Adventures of a Night; and The New Life-Boat.

McCARTHY, D. F., journalist, poet. He is editor of Sacred Heart Review of East Cambridge, Mass. He is the author of a volume of poems.

McCAWLEY, CHARLES GRYMES, naval officer, was born Jan. 29, 1827, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was appointed from Louisiana second lieutenant in the marine corps in 1847. He served with the army in Mexico, being present at the storming of Chapultepec and the capture of the city of Mexico, for gallantry in which action he was brevetted first lieutenant in 1847. In 1862 he was sent to reoccupy the Norkolk navy yard with a force of two hundred men, and hoisted the National flag on behalf of the navy. In the boat attack on Fort Sumter in 1863 he led a detachment of 100 men and officers, and received a brevet as major for his bravery on that occasion. Since 1876 he has been in command of the marine corps with rank of colonel.

McCHESNEY, DORA GREENWELL, author, was born Oct. 1, 1871, in Chicago, Ill. She is the author of A Romance of the Great Rebellion; A Summer Tragedy in Rome; and Rupert, By the Grace of God.

McCHESNEY, MRS. ELIZABETH STUDDIFORD, author, was born April 29, 1841, in Monroe, Mich. She is the author of Under Shadow of the Mission, a Memory of Santa Barbara.

McCLAIN, EMLIN, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Nov. 28, 1851, in Salem, Ohio. In 1873-81 he practiced law in Des Moines, owa; and in 1890-1900 was chancellor of the law department of the University of Iowa. Since 1901 he has been judge of the supreme court of Iowa. He is the author of McClain's Annotated Statutes of Iowa; Outlines of Criminal Law and Procedure; Cases on the Law of Carriers; A Treatise on the Criminal Law as Now Administered in the United States; and A Selection of Cases on Constitutional Law.

McLELLAN, THOMAS NICHOLAS, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Feb. 23, 1853, in Limestone county, Ala. In 1872 he began the practice of law in Athens, Ala. In 1880-84 he was a member of the Alabama state senate; and in 1884-89 he was attorney-general of Alabama. In 1889-98 he was associate justice of the supreme court of Alabama; and since 1898 has been chief justice.

McCLINTOCK, JOHN NORRIS, journalist, civil engineer, was born May 12, 1846, in Winthrop, Maine. He has served in the United States coast survey; has been an instructor in Bowdoin college; and editor Granite Monthly. He is now president of the American Sewerage Disposal company of Boston, Mass.

McCLURE, JAMES GORE KING, clergyman, college president, author, was born Nov. 24, 1848, in Albany, N. Y. Since 1897 he has been president of Lake Forest university, Ill. He is the author of Possibilities; and The Man Who Wanted to Help.

McCONNELL, ANDREW M., journalist, educator, poet, was born in 1873, in Blount county, Ala. He is lecturer of Atlanta, Ga. He is the author of Echoes from the Heart, a volume of poems. His wife is also the author of a volume of poems.

McCONNELL, MRS. MARION DANIEL, educator, poet, was born in Newman, Ga. She is the author of Sheaves of Song.

McCORVEY, THOMAS CHALMERS, educator, author, was born Aug. 18, 1852, in Monroe county, Ala. Since 1888 he has been professor of history and philosophy in university of Alabama. He is the author of The Government of the People of the State of Alabama.

McCOWEN, JOHN PORTER, soldier, was born about 1820, in Tennessee. He became first lieutenant in 1843; was regimental quartermaster in 1847-48; and was brevetted captain for bravery at Cerro Gordo, in 1847. He resigned from the United States army in 1861, and became a brigadier-general in the Confederate service. He commanded at New Madrid, Mo., in 1862, but evacuated the town after its invasion by Gen. Pope.

McCRADY, EDWARD, soldier, lawyer, legislator, author, was born April 8, 1833, in Charleston, S. C. During the civil war he attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel in the Confederate service. In 1880-90 he was a member of the South Carolina legislature. He is the author of The History of South Carolina under the Proprietary Government; The History of South Carolina under the Royal Government; and The History of South Carolina in the Revolution.

McCREATH, ANDREW S., chemist, author, was born March 8, 1849, in Scotland. For ten years he was chemist geological survey of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Mineral Wealth of Virginia; and The New River-Cripple Creek Mineral Region.

McCRILLIS, HERBERT ORIN, educator, genealogist, was born May 15, 1854, in Grafton, Mass. He taught school for awhile; and is now head book-keeper of the Youths' Companion company. He is the author of McCrillis' Records.

McCULLAGH, JOHN, missionary, was born in 1811 in Scotland. In 1834 he emigrated to the United States, connected himself with the American Sunday-school union as a volunteer, and labored at first among the so-called bark peelers of Sullivan county, N. Y., then in southern Illinois; and after 1839 in Henderson, Ky. In 1852-84 he was superintendent of missions in the south.

McCULLUM, J. BREWSTER, lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

McCUMBER, PORTER J., lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born Feb. 3, 1856, in Crete, Ill. Since 1880 he has practiced law in North Dakota. He was a member of the Territorial legislature in 1885 and 1887; and state's attorney of Richland county. He became United States senator in 1899 for term ending 1905.

McCURDY, RICHARD ALDRICH, lawyer, insurance president, was born Jan. 29, 1835, in New York city. In 1860 he became attorney of the Mutual Life insurance company; became its vice-president in 1865; and since 1885 has been president of the corporation.

McCURDY, STEWART LEROY, physician, author, was born July 15, 1859, in Bowenston, Ohio. He is professor of anatomy and surgery, and trustee and secretary of Pittsburg Dental Department of Western University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Manual of Orthopaedic Surgery; and Oral Surgery, a text book on general medicine and surgery as applied to dentistry.

McCUTHEON, GEORGE BARR, journalist, author, was born July 26, 1866, in Tippecanoe county, Ind. Since 1893 he has been city editor of Lafayette Courier. He is the author of Graustark.

McCUTHEON, JOHN TINNEY, illustrator, journalist, artist, author, was born May 6, 1870, in South Raub, Ind. Since 1889 he has been connected with the Chicago Record, now the Chicago Record-Herald. He started on a trip around the world on the despatch boat McCulloch; and was on board that vessel during the destruction of the Spanish fleet in Manila Bay. He is the author of Stories of Filipino Warfare.

McDERMOTT, ALLAN L., congressman. He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh congress from New Jersey

McDONALD, MARSHALL, fish commissioner, scientist, was born June 26, 1835, in Romney, W. Va. He was a professor at the Virginia military institute for fourteen years; and since 1875 has been Virginia commissioner of fisheries. He became attached to the United States fish commission in 1879; for several years was in charge of the distribution of young fishes; and was later chief of the division of fish culture. He invented the automatic hatching jars in 1881 that are now in use in the general United States fish commission and in Japan and Europe; and developed in 1882 the tidal apparatus now in use for hatching the floating eggs of cod, halibut, and other marine species, by which the work of distribution has been developed, its methods perfected, and its cost cheapened.

McDONALD, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born March 1, 1820, in Belmont, Maine. He has made an evangelistic tour of England and India, and the Holy Land. He is the author of History of Methodism in Providence, R. I.; Spir- New Testament Demonology and Modern itualism Identical with Ancient Sorcery; Witchcraft; Scripture Way of Holiness; Saved to the Uttermost; Wesley and His Doctrine; Another Comforter; and The People's Wesley.

McDONNELL, CHARLES EDWARD, clergyman, bishop, was born June 26,1854, in New York city. Since 1892 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Brooklyn, N. Y.

McDOUGALL, WALTER HUGH, artist, author, was born Feb. 10, 1858, in Newark, N. J. He introduced the illustration of news and cartooning in the daily newspaper. He is the author of The Hidden City; and other works.

McELROY, MRS. MARY ARTHUR, was born in 1842, in Greenwich, N. Y. She is the sister of Chester A. Arthur. In 1861 she married John E. McElroy of Albany, N. Y. During the administration of her brother as president of the United States she made her home in Washington in the winter season, and dispensed the hospitalities of the White House with rare social tact.

McELROY, WILLIAM H., journalist, lecturer, author, was born in Albany, N. Y. He is a lecturer on literary, educational and other topics. He is the author of Matthew Middlemas' Experiment; and An Overture to William Tell.

McFARLAND, MRS. AMANDA R., missionary, was born about 1837. In 1857 she married David F. McFarland, a Presbyterian clergyman, and in 1867 removed to Santa Fe to engage in mission work in New Mexico. Here she organized and conducted a successful mission-school among Mexican children. In 1873 they removed to California and established an academy at San Diego; and in 1875 they conducted missions among the Nez Perces Indians. After her husband's death in 1876 his wife removed to Portland, Ore., and in 1877 took charge of a school at Fort Wrangell, Alaska. Her efforts resulted in the establishment of a training-school for Alaskan girls which is called The McFarland Home of which institution she now has charge.

McFARLAND, JOSEPH, bacteriologist, author, was born Feb., in 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is professor of pathology and bacteriology in Medico-Chirurg. college of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Pathogenic Bacteria.

McFARLAND, THOMAS B., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of California.

McFAUL, JAMES AUGUSTINE, clergyman, bishop, was born June 6, 1850, in Ireland. Since 1894 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Trenton, N. J.

McGAVICK, ALEXANDER, clergyman, bishop. Since 1899 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Chicago, Ill.

McGEE, MRS. ANITA NEWCOMB, physician, was born Nov. 4, 1864, in Washington, D. C. In 1888 she married W. J. McGee, ethnologist in charge of the Washington bureau of American ethnology. She practiced medicine in Washington, D. C.; and was director of the Daughters of the American revolution hospital corps, which selected the trained women nurses for both the army and navy service in the war with Spain. In 1898 she was appointed acting assistant surgeon in the United States army; and is the only woman possessing an army commission. She is stationed in the surgeon-general's office, in charge of nurses.

McGILL, DAVID FRAZIER, clergyman, author, was born March 22, 1857, in West Alexander, Pa. Since 1885 he has been pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church of Allegheny, Pa. Since 1891 he has been associate editor of the United Presbyterian. He is the author of The Young Christian in Prayer; and Suggestions for Committees.

McGILL, JOHN THOMAS, chemist, author, was born Oct. 13, 1851, in Monroe county, Tenn. Since 1900 he has been professor of organic and physical chemistry and dean of the department of pharmacy in Vanderbilt university. He is the author of Introduction to Qualitative Chemical Analysis; and Laboratory Experiments in General Chemistry.

McGINNIS, GEORGE FRANCIS, soldier, was born March 19, 1826, in Boston, Mass. He served during the Mexican war as captain of Ohio volunteers; in the civil war as lieutenant-colonel and colonel of the eleventh Indiana infantry; and was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862.

McGOLRICK, JAMES, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1844 in Ireland. Since 1889 he has been first Roman Catholic bishop of Duluth, Minn.

McGONIGLE, THOMAS GEORGE, clergyman, was born Dec. 1, 1857, in Ireland. He is an Episcopal clergyman of Hammond, Ind.; and a well known theological writer.

McGOVERN, JOHN, author, poet, was born Feb. 18, 1850, in Troy, N. Y. For sixteen years he was compositor, proof-reader and night editor of the Chicago Tribune; and has been engaged in literary work. He is the author of Empire of Information; Golden Censer; Toiler's Diadem; Pastoral Poem; Daniel Trentworthy; Burritt Durand; David Lockwin; Geoffrey; King Darwin; Jason Hortner; Golden Legacy; Fireside University; The Dream City; Famous Women of the World; American Statesmen; and Histories of Wheat, Money, Paint and Market Places.

McGREGORY, JOSEPH FRANK, chemist, author, was born April 11, 1855, in Wilbraham, Mass. Since 1884 he has been professor of chemistry and mineralogy in Colgate university of Hamilton, N. Y. He is the author of Lecture Notes on General Chemistry; and Qualitative Analysis.

McHENRY, MARY, philanthropist, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. She married J. Bellargee Cox of Philadelphia, Pa. She aided in founding the Church home in 1856; the Soldiers' reading room in 1862, which she aided in maintaining until the close of the civil war; the Lincoln institution in 1865; and the Educational home in 1871; with all of which, except the second named, she is still connected, and has been active in fostering. Since 1873 she has been president of the board of lady visitors of the Soldiers' home, Philadelphia. She was appointed in 1876 by the Centennial commission one of the thirteen women to represent the thirteen original states.

McILVAINE, CHARLES, soldier, author, was born May 31, 1840, in Chester county, Pa. During the civil war he attained the rank of major. He is the author of A Legend of Polecat Hollow; The Continent; and One Thousand American Fungi.

McINTOSH, BURR, playwright, author. He is the author of The Little I Saw of Cuba; and Boy of the Twentieth.

McIVER, HENRY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 25, 1826, near Society Hill, S. C. In 1848 he began law practice at Cheraw, S. C.; was prosecuting attorney for the state in 1853-68; and in 1861-65 was an officer in the Confederate army. In 1877-91 he was associate justice, and since 1891 chief justice of the supreme court of South Carolina.

McKEE, WILLIAM JAMES, soldier, merchant, was born Dec. 12, 1853, in Madison, Ind. He has been identified with the national guard of Indiana in which he became brigadier-general. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general in the United States volunteers; and served as commanding third brigade, first division, first army corps, during the Spanish-American war.

McKIBBIN, CHAMBERS, soldier, was born Nov. 2, 1841, in Chambersburg, Pa. During the civil war he attained the rank of captain. In 1898 he was made brigadier-general of United States volunteers, and assigned to command the first brigade, first division, second corps. He took part in the battle of Santiago; and was appointed military governor of Santiago de Cuba.

McKIM, JOHN, missionary, bishop, was born in Pittsfield, Mass. Since 1893 he has been bishop of Tokyo, Japan.

McKINLEY, CARLYLE, journalist, author, was born Nov. 22, 1857, in Newnan, Ga. Since 1884 he has been editorial writer on Charleston News and Courier.

McKINLEY, RUSSELL AUSTIN, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Nov. 19, 1847, in Franklin, Pa. Since 1895 he has filled a pastorate in Steubenville, Ohio. He is prominent in the affairs of his church; a popular lecturer; and the author of a published work.

McKINNEY, MRS. IDA SCOTT TAYLOR, composer, poet, author, was born in Springfield, Ill. She studied music and painting. She married William E. McKinney, of Jacksonville, Ill. She is the author of Story of Columbus Told in Rhyme; Baby's Journal; Year Book of American Authors; and Year Book of English Authors.

McKINNEY, MRS. KATE SLAUGHTER, author, poet, was born Feb. 6, 1857, in London, Ky. She is the wife of James I. McKinney, superintendent of L. & N. railroad. She is the author of Katydid's Poems.

McKOWEN, JOHN CLAY, soldier, physician, antiquarian, author, was born in March, 1842, in Jackson, La. He served in the Confederate army to lieutenant-colonel. He has a noted collection of arms, curious, pictures, books, antique statues, marbles and inscriptions. He discovered new disease and remedy; and published discovery under title Aromatic Toxins. He is the author of Capri, historical, archaeological and ethnological study.

McLAIN, FRANK ALEXANDER, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 29, 1853, in Amite county, Miss. In 1880 he commenced the practice of law in Liberty, Miss.; was a member of the state legislature in 1881-83; and district attorney for his judicial district in 1883-95. He was a member of the fifty-sixth congress to fill a vacancy; and was re-elected to the fifty-seventh congress.

McLAUGHLIN, HUGH, public official, was born April 2, 1827, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1857 he accepted the position of master mechanic, or general superintendent of all the workmen, in the Brooklyn navy yard. In 1860 he was a candidate for sheriff of Kings county and was defeated. In 1861 he was elected register of the county, and he was subsequently twice re-elected. It was largely due to his untiring efforts that the Brooklyn bridge and Prospect park became accomplished facts.

McLAUGHLIN, MARY LOUISE, artist, author, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio. She began making porcelain called Losanti ware, and exhibited in the Paris exposition. She is the author of China Painting; Pottery Decoration; and Suggestions to China Painters.

McLEAN, GEORGE P., governor. In 1901-03 he was governor of Connecticut.

McLEAN, JOHN, missionary, author, was born Oct. 30, 1852, in Scotland. In 1874-89 he did special work among the Blackfoot Indians in Fort MacLeod, Northwest Territory. In 1889 he left the Indian work and served at various stations in the Northwest Territory, where he acted as inspector of schools and as member of the board of education and board of examiners. He is the author of American Indian Literature; The Cree Language; and Indian Languages and Literature.

McLEAN, NATHANIEL COLLINS, soldier, was born Feb. 2, 1815, in Warren county, Ohio. He married a daughter of Judge Jacob Burnet in 1838 and began practice in Cincinnati, where he attained success at the bar. He entered the Union army in 1862 as colonel of the seventy-fifth Ohio volunteers; and was soon commissioned brigadier-general.

McLEAN, SIMON JAMES, educator, author, was born June 14, 1871, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1897 he has been professor of economics and sociology in University of Arkansas. He is the author of Tariff History of Canada.

McLELLAN, C. M. S., dramatist, author, was born Sept. 4, 1865, in Bath, Maine. He is the author of plays entitled Puritania; The Lady Slavy; In Gay New York; The Whirl of the Town; An American Beauty; The Belle of New York; The Telephone Girl; and Yankee Doodle Dandy.

McLEOD, ARCHIBALD LORENZO, lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 27, 1859, in Jackson, Miss. He is a lawyer of Selma, Ala.; was a member of the Alabama legislature in 1888-89; and mayor or Selma in 1889-1901.

McMAHAN, MRS. ANNA BENNESON, lecturer, author, was born July 24, 1846, in Quincy, Ill. She is the author of The Study Class; and A Guide to the Student of English Literature.

McMANUS, BLANCHE—Mrs. M. F. Mansfield—illustrator, artist, author, was born in Louisiana. She made twelve color illustrations for Kipling's Ballads and Ditties; poster designs; and illustrator on books and magazines. She is the author of The True Mother Goose; Childhood's Songs of Long Ago; and Colonial Monographs, in five volumes.

McMICHAEL, CLAYTON, soldier, public official, was born June 30, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1862 he was commissioned second lieutenant in the United States army. He resigned in 1865 with the brevet rank of major in the regular army. In 1872 he was appointed commissioner of the International exposition at Vienna; and in 1882 became United States marshal for the District of Columbia.

McMILLAN, CHARLES, engineer, educator, journalist, was born March 24, 1841, in Moscow, Russia. Adopting civil engineering he aided in building the new reservoir in Central park, New York city. He was professor geodesy and topographical drawing in Rensselaer polytechnic institute in 1865; and later added the instruction in road engineering to his duties. In 1875 he became professor of civil engineering and applied mathematics in Princeton; and consulting engineer in Troy, N. Y., Bethlehem, Pa., and Princeton, N. J. Since 1885 he has been the editor of Smith's Topographical Drawing

McMURRICH, JAMES PLAYFAIR, educator, author, was born Oct. 16, 1859, in Canada. He is professor of anatomy in the university of Michigan. He is the author of Invertebrate Morphology, a text book.

McMURRY, CHARLES ALEXANDER, educator, author, was born Feb. 18, 1857, in Crawfordsville, Ind. He is the author of Special Method in Literature and History; Special Method in Geography; Special Method in Natural Science; Pioneer History Series; and Course of Study in the English Grades.

McNAIR, ANTOINE REILHE, naval officer, was born Sept. 15, 1839, in Louisiana. In 1862 he was promoted lieutenant; and engaged in the attack on Fort Sumter and the defences of Charleston, the capture of the batteries on Morris Island, in the capture of Fort Fisher, and other minor engagements on the Atlantic seaboard. In July, 1866, he was promoted lieutenant-commander. He was then appointed equipment-officer and inspector of supplies of the Norfolk navy-yard, but was retired in 1872, in consequence of an injury that he received in the West Indies in 1868.

McNEILL, GEORGE EDWIN, organizer, author, was born Aug. 4, 1837, in Amesbury, Mass. In 1867-69 he was the founder and president of the Workingmen's Institute; in 1869-73 was president of the Boston Eight-hour League. He is the author of The Labor Movement the Problem of a Day; History of Co-Operation in Massachusetts; History of the Development of the Shoe Industry; History of Shoemakers' Unions; and Eight-Hour Primer.

McPHERSON, JOHN BAYARD, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 5, 1846, in Harrisburg, Pa. In 1882-99 he was common pleas judge; and since 1899 has been United States judge for the eastern district of Pennsylvania.

McPHERSON, JOHN HANSON THOMAS, educator, author, was born Oct. 30, 1865, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1891 he has been professor of history and political science in University of Georgia. He is the author of A History of Liberia; and The Civil Government of Georgia.

McPHERSON, LOGAN GRANT, journalist, author, was born Aug. 11, 1863, in Circleville, Ohio. He is the author of The Meaning of Corporations and Trusts; and The Monetary and Banking Problem.

McPHERSON, SMITH, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 14, 1848, in Morgan county, Ind. Since 1870 he has practiced law in Red Oak, Iowa; in 1874-80 was district attorney of third district of Iowa; and in 1884-85 was attorney-general of Iowa. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

McSHERRY, JAMES, lawyer, jurist. He is chief justice of Maryland court of appeals.

McSWEENEY, MILES BENJAMIN, governor, was born in Charleston, S. C. In 1899-1901 he was governor of South Carolina.

McVICKAR, WILLIAM NEILSON, clergyman, bishop. Since 1898 he has been coadjutor Protestant Episcopal bishop of Rhode Island.

McWHINNEY, THOMAS MARTIN, theologian, author. He is now non-resident professor of Christian ethics and psychology. He is the author of Heavenly Recognition; Reason and Revelation; Crime Legalized; Eighth Wonder; Ethical Science; and Christ Our Creed.

MEAD, GEORGE WHITEFIELD, clergyman, author, was born May 27, 1865 in Norwalk, Ohio. Since 1898 he has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church of New York city. He is the author of Modern Methods in Church Work.

MEAD, OLIVE, musician, composer, was born Nov. 22, 1874, in Cambridge, Mass. He is a talented concert-violinist; and has played in many concerts in New England cities.

MEAD, WILLIAM LEON, journalist, author, poet, was born April 27, 1861, in Margaretville, N. Y. He has been associate editor of Truth; and editor of Tom Nast's Weekly and Form Magazine. He is the author of In Thraldom, a Pshychological Romance; Catherine's Coquetries; Valentine; The Bow-Legged Ghost, and Other Stories; and Wild Cat Ledge.

MEAD, WILLIAM RUTHERFORD, architect, was born Aug. 20, 1846, in Brattleboro, Vt. His firm were the architects of Columbia university, university of City of New York, university of Virginia, Boston Public library, Metropolitan university and Century clubs, and private houses of Villard, Vanderbilt and Tiffany.

MEADE, RICHARD KIDDER, chemist, author, was born Nov. 28, 1874, in Charlottesville, Va. Since 1897 he has been professor of chemistry in Lafayette college of Easton, Pa. He is the author or the Chemists' Pocket Manual.

MEARS, DAVID OTIS, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 22, 1842, in Essex, Mass. Since 1895 he has been pastor of Fourth Presbyterian church of Albany, N. Y. He is the author of Life of Edward Norris Kirk; and The Deathless Book.

MEARS, LEVERETT, educator, author, was born May 19, 1850, in Essex, Mass. Since 1888 he has been professor of chemistry in Williams college. He is the author of Lecture Notes on Chemistry; and Qualitative Analysis.

MEARS, MARY M., author, was born Jan. 2, 1871, in Oshkosh, Wis. She is the author of Emma Lou, Her Book.

MECHEM, FLOYD RUSSELL, lawyer, author, was born May 9, 1858, in Nunda, N. Y. Since 1892 he has been Tappan professor of law in University of Michigan. He is the author of Cases in Agency; Cases on Partnership; Cases on Damages; and other legal works.

MEEK, EDWARD R., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 23, 1865, in Davenport, Iowa. Since 1898 he has been United States district judge for the Northern district of Texas.

MEEKINS, LYNN ROBY, journalist, author, was born Nov. 14, 1862, in Salem, Md. Since 1899 he has been managing editor of the Saturday Evening Post of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of The Robb's Island Wreck; and Some of Our People.

MEERSCHAERT, THEOPHILE, clergyman, bishop, was born Aug. 24, 1847, in Belgium. In 1891 he was appointed first vicar apostolic of the Indian Territory, comprising Oklahoma and Indian Territories, with the title of bishop of Sidyma.

MEES, ARTHUR, musician, composer, was born Feb. 13, 1850, in Columbus, Ohio. Since 1896 he has been chorus-conductor and assistant-conductor of the Thomas orchestra in Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Piano Studies.

MEES, THEOPHILUS MARTIN, clergyman, educator, author, was born July 13, 1848, in Columbus, Ohio. In 1874 he became a Lutheran minister. Since 1888 he has been president of the Teachers' Seminary of Woodville, Ohio. He is the author of School Government and Methods.

MEIGS, ARTHUR VINCENT, physician, author, was born in 1850 in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Milk Analysis and Infant Feeding; and The Origin of Disease.

MEIGS, WILLIAM MONTGOMERY, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 12, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Life of Josiah Meigs; and Life of Charles Jared Ingersoll.

MELL, PATRICK HUES, geologist, botanist, meteorologist, author, was born May 24, 1850, in Penfield, Ga. Since 1878 he has been professor of geology and botany in Alabama Polytechnic Institute. He is the author of Auriferous Slate Deposits Southern Region; Southern Soapstones and Fireclays; Wild Grasses of Alabama; Microscopic Study of Cotton Plant; Climatology of Alabama; Climatology of Cotton Plant; Improvement of Cotton Plant by Crossing; and Botanical Laboratory Guide.

MELLEN, CHARLES SANGER, was born Aug. 16, 1851, in Lowell, Mass. Since 1896 he has been president of the Northern Pacific railway; and since 1897 president of the Seattle and International railway, and Washington and Columbia River railway.

MELVILLE, HENRY, soldier, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 25, 1858, in Nelson, N. H. He was associated with United States senator Roscoe Conkling until the latter's death. In 1898 he was captain of Company A in the eighth regiment of the New York volunteers in service during the war with Spain. He is the author of Ancestry of John Whitney.

MENDES, FREDERICK DE SOLA, clergyman, author, was born July 8, 1850, in West Indies. Since 1874 he has been rabbi of West End Synagogue of New York city. In 1879 he founded the American Hebrew. He is the author of Jewish School Books; Child's First Bible; Outlines of Scripture History; and A Hebrew's Reply to the Missionaries.

MERCER, ALFRED CLIFFORD, physician, author, was born July 5, 1855, in Syracuse, N. Y. Since 1893 he has been professor of clinical pediatrics in Syracuse university. He is the author of An Experimental Study of Aperture as a Factor in Microscopic Vision.

MERCER, HENRY CHAPMAN, anthropologist, archaeologist, author, was born June 24, 1856, in Doylestown, Pa. He is now curator and secretary of American and prehistoric archaeology in University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Hill Caves of Yucatan; Lenape Stone; Antiquity of Man; and Tools of the Nation Maker.

MERINGTON, MARGUERITE, playwright, author. She is the author of Daphne; Captain Letterblair; and Love Finds the Way.

MERIWETHER, COLYER, educator, author, was born at Clark's Hill, S. C. He is secretary and treasurer of the Southern Historical association of Washington, D. C. He is the author of History of Higher Education in South Carolina.

MERRIAM, FLORENCE AUGUSTA author, was born Aug. 8, 1863, at Locust Grove, N. Y. She is the author of Birds Through an Opera Glass; My Summer in a Mormon Village; A Birding on a Bronco; and Birds of Village and Field.

MERRIAM, HENRY C., soldier, inventor, was born Nov. 13, 1837, in Maine. In 1897 he became brigadier-general in the United States army; and major-general of United States volunteers in 1898. He is the inventor of the Merriam infantry pack.

MERRILL, CYRUS STRONG, oculist, was born Sept. 21, 1847, in Bridgeport, Vt. In 1874 he settled in Albany, N. Y.; became ophthalmic and aural surgeon to St Peter's hospital and to the Child's hospital; ophthalmic and aural surgeon to the Albany hospital; and professor of the diseases of the eye and ear in Albany medical college.

MERRILL, GEORGE A.,merchant,state senator, was born in Plymouth, N. H. In 1849-54 he was master of transportation; and in 1855-60 superintendent of the Connecticut and Passumsic Rivers railway company, St. Johnsbury, Vt. He was a member of the Vermont state legislature in 1857-58; secretary of civil and military affairs of Vermont in 1860-61. In 1869-70 he was a member of the state senate of Vermont.

MERRILL, GEORGE EDMANDS, clergyman, college president, author, was born Dec. 19, 1846, in Charlestown, Mass. Since 1899 he has been president of the Colgate university of Hamilton, N. Y. He is the author of The Story of the Manuscripts; Crusaders and Captives; The Reasonable Christ; and The Parchments of the Faith.

MERRILL, JAMES GRISWOLD, clergyman, college president, author, was born Oct. 20, 1840, in Montague, Mass. He is acting president of Fisk university of Nashville, Tenn. He is the author of Two Volumes of Children's Sermons.

MERRIMAN, MRS. HELEN BIGELOW, artist, author, was born July 14, 1844, in Boston, Mass. She is the author of What Shall Make Us Whole.

MERRIMAN, TITUS MOONEY, clergyman, author, was born April 23, 1822, in Canada. In 1864-95 he was professor in La Salle seminary of Auburndale, Mass. He is the author of Trial of History; Historical System; and William, Prince of Orange.

MERRITT, EDWIN ATKINS, soldier, civil engineer, legislator, diplomat, was born Feb. 26, 1828, in Sudbury, Vt. He moved to New York in 1841 and after holding local offices he was elected to the lower branch of the legislature as a republican in 1859, and re-elected in 1860. At the beginning of the civil war he became quartermaster of the sixtieth New York regiment. He was made quartermaster-general of the state of New York; and he superintended the Soldiers' home in New York city. In 1869-70 he was naval officer of the port of New York. In 1877 he became surveyor of the port of New York; and in 1878 he was appointed collector in place of Chester A. Arthur. He was United States consul-general in London in 1881-85.

MERRY, WILLIAM LAWRENCE, merchant, diplomat, author, was born in 1842, in New York city. Since 1897 he has been United States minister to Nicaragua, Salvador and Costa Rica. He was a commander of steamships on Atlantic and Pacific oceans in California trade under the American flag. He is the author of The Nicaragua Canal the Gateway Between the Oceans.

MERWIN, HENRY CHILDS lawyer, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 5, 1853, in Pittsfield, Mass. He is a lecturer in Boston university Law school. He is the author of Patentability of Inventions; and Road, Track and Stable.

MERWIN, SAMUEL, author, was born Oct. 6, 1874, in Evanston, Ill. He is the author of The Short Line War; and The Road to Frontenac.

MESTREZAT, STEPHEN LESLIE, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 19, 1818, in Mapletown, Pa. In 1894-99 he was judge of the district court; and since 1900 has been justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania for twenty-one-year term.

METCALF, VICTOR HOWARD, was born Oct. 10, 1853, in Utica, N. Y. In 1876 he was admitted to practice in the supreme court of Connecticut; and in the supreme court of New York in 1877. He practiced law in Utica for two years, and then moved to Oakland, Cal. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from California as a republican.

METCALFE, JAMES STETSON, critic, author, was born June 27, 1858, in Buffalo, N. Y. He is dramatic critic of Life of New York City. He is the author of Mythology for Moderns; and The American Slave.

MEYERS, ROBERT C. V., author, poet, was born May 1, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Sixty Years a Queen; The Colonel's Christmas Morning; and a number of poems.

MICHAEL, ARTHUR, chemist, was born Aug. 7, 1853, in Buffalo, N. Y. Since 1881 he has filled the chair of chemistry in Tufts college. His investigations in organic chemistry include researches on the dehydration of organic acid anhydrides; on a new method of forming aromatic sulphones; on the formation of aldol from ethyl aldehyde; synthetical researches in the glucoside group; on the action of aldehydes on phenols; on the action of aromatic oxyacides on phenols; on the action of phosphorus pentachloride on the ethers of organic acids; on alloisomerism; and some new reactions with sodium malonic ether and analogous derivatives.

MICHAELS, RICHARD C., journalist, publisher, author, was born Sept. 1, 1839, in Germany. In 1871 he founded and has since been editor and publisher of the Chicago Freie Presse. He is the author of Looking Further Forward, An Answer to Bellamy's Looking Backward.

MICHAUD, JOHN STEPHEN, clergyman, bishop, was born Nov. 24, 1843, in Burlington, Vt. Since 1892 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Burlington, Vt.

MIFFLIN, LLOYD, artist, author, was born Sept. 15, 1846, in Columbia, Pa. He is the author of The Hills; At the Gates of Song; and The Slopes of Helicon and Other Poems.

MILBURN, GEORGE ROSZELLE, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 15, 1850, in Washington, D. C. In 1889 he was district judge of the seventh district of Montana; and since 1901 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Montana.

MILES, EVAN, soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. He entered the navy in 1861 as first lieutenant; and became captain in 1866. He was appointed brigadier-general in United States volunteers for service in the Spanish-American war.

MILLARD, HARRISON, musician, composer, was born Nov. 27, 1830, in Boston, Mass. He is a tenor concert-singer; and toured Great Britain with Catherine Hayes. In 1865 he settled in New York city as a singer, composer and vocal instructor. He is the author of the four-act Italian opera Deborah; Grand Mass; Church-services; and published over three hundred songs.

MILLARD, JOSEPH H., banker, United States senator, was born in 1836, in Canada. He was the founder and president of Omaha National bank; and was for many years a director of the Union Pacific railway. He was elected United States senator from Nebraska for term of 1901-07.

MILLER, ALFRED BRASHEAR, college president, scientist, author, was born Oct. 16, 1829, in Brownsville, Pa. He is president emeritus of Waynesburg college, Pa.; of which he was president in 1858-99. He is the author of Doctrines and Genius of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church.

MILLER, CHARLES ARMAND, clergyman, author, poet, was born March 4, 1864, in Shepherdstown, W. Va. In 1888-96 he was pastor of the College Church or Roanoke, and since 1896 has been pastor of the Church of Holy Trinity of New York city. He is the author of Ad Astra and Other Verses on Sacred Themes; and The Way of the Cross.

MILLER, EDMUND HOWD, educator, author, was born Sept. 12, 1869, in Fairfield, Conn. Since 1901 he has been adjutant professor of analytical chemistry and assaying in Columbia university of New York city. He is the author of Notes on Assaying; and Calculations of Analytical Chemistry.

MILLER, JAMES MONROE, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in Three Springs, Pa. In 1880-82 and 1884-88 he was attorney for Morris county, Kan. In 1894 he was a member of the Kansas legislature. He was elected to the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congresses as a republican.

MILLER, JOHN, merchant, governor, was born Oct. 29, 1843, in Dryden, N. Y. He is a successful grain commission merchant of Duluth, Minn. He was a member of the territorial council of Dakota; and the first governor of the state of North Dakota, serving in 1889-91.

MILLER, MARCUS P., soldier, was born in Massachusetts. He served through the civil war; and became colonel of artillery in 1897. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general of United States Volunteers.

MILLER, MERRILL, naval officer, was born in Ohio. During the civil war he attained the rank of lieutenant. In 1900 he became a rear-admiral.

MILLER, MRS. MAY HALSEY, lecturer, author, was born July 2, 1865, in Brooklyn, N. Y. She is a lecturer on history and economics. She is the author of Raoul and Iron Hand, or Winning the Golden Spurs; and The Maid of Bocasse.

MILLER, SAMUEL LLEWELLYN, soldier, journalist, was born March 25, 1844, in Waldoboro, Maine. During the civil war he served three years in the army. For twenty-two years he has been postmaster of his native town. He is the author of The Country Newspaper.

MILLER, WALTER, educator, author, was born May 5, 1864, in Ashland county, Ohio. Since 1892 he has filled a professorship in Stanford university. He is the author of Excavations Upon the Akropolis at Athens; The Theatre of Thoricus; Latin Prose Composition for College Use; Pronunciation of Greek and Latin Proper Names; Scientific Names of Latin and Greek Derivation; The Roman Religion; The Old and New; and Steller's Great Sea Beasts.

MILLETT, JOSHUA H., lawyer, manufacturer. He is the founder and president of the Crosby Steam Gauge and Valve company of Boston, Mass.

MILLS, ALBERT LEOPOLD, soldier, was born May 7, 1854, at Washington Heights, New York city. He served in the campaign against the Sioux Indians in 1891 and in other Indian wars; and for four years he was adjutant of his regiment. At the outbreak of the war with Spain he was appointed captain and assistant adjutant-general; and was made chief of staff to Gen. Young's brigade. At the battle of San Juan, on July 1, he was severely wounded, a ball entering his left cheek-bone and making its exit at the outer angle of his right eye. He was then ordered to Washington, and in 1898 was appointed superintendent of the United States military academy at West Point, N. Y., with rank and emoluments of colonel.

MILLS, ANSON, soldier, inventor, was born Aug. 31, 1834, in Boone county, Ind. During the civil war he was never absent, either on leave or from sickness, but was present in all engagements of his regiment; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He participated in most of the Indian wars; commanding United States troops at the battle of Slim Butts in 1876. He invented the woven cartridge belt and loom for its manufacture now exclusively used in the United States army and navy. Since 1893 he has been a member of the Mexican Boundary commission.

MILLS, BENJAMIN FAY, clergyman, author, was born June 4, 1857, in Rahway, N. J. Since 1897 he has been pastor of the independent congregation at Hollis Street Theatre of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Power From on High; A Message to Mothers; and Victory Through Surrender.

MILLS, HERBERT ELMER, educator, author, was born Aug. 8, 1861, in Salem, N. H. Since 1890 he has been professor of economics in Vassar college. He is the author of French Revolution in San Domingo; Practical Economic Problems; and Labor Problem.

MILLS, WILLIAM JOSEPH, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Jan. 11, 1849, in Yazoo city, Miss. Since 1898 he has been chief justice of the supreme court of New Mexico. He has been a member of both branches of the Connecticut legislature.

MILLSPAUGH, CHARLES FREDERIC, botanist, author, was born June 20, 1854, in Ithaca, N. Y. Since 1894 he has been curator in the department of botany in Field Columbian museum of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of American Medical Plants; Weeds of West Virginia; and Flora of West Virginia.

MILNE, JAMES M., educator, lawyer, author, was born in 1850 in Scotland. He has been an institute lecturer; president of the New York State Educational Association; and is now lawyer of Cortland, N. Y. He is the author of An English Grammar.

MILVANE, JOHN R., banker, philanthropist, was born July 6, 1835, in New Comerstown, Ohio. He is president of Bank of Topeka; president of Missouri and Kansas Telephone company; and a director in several large corporations.

MINER, J. A., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Utah.

MINOR, THOMAS CHALMERS, physician, author, was born July 6, 1846, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1878-79 he was health officer of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the author of Medicine in the Middle Ages; and Medicine and Morals of Ancient Rome According to Latin Poets.

MINSHALL, T. A., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Ohio.

MINTON, MAURICE M., insurance, author, was born Jan. 31, 1859, in France, of American parents. In 1894-98 he was connected with Equitable Life Insurance society; and since 1899 has been conducting Life Insurers' Information Bureau. He is the author of The Road of the Rough; and Country Lanes and City Pavements.

MINTY, ROBERT HORATIO GEORGE, soldier, was born Dec. 4 1831, in Ireland. He came to the United States in 1853 and settled in Michigan. He became major of the second Michigan cavalry and then lieutenant-colonel of the third at the beginning of the civil war. At the close of the war he received the brevets of brigadier-general and major-general of volunteers.

MITCHELL, JOHN J., banker, was born in 1854 in Alton, Ill. Since 1880 he has been president of the Illinois Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, Ill.

MITCHELL, MARGARE, JULIA, actress, was born 1832 in New York city. In 1851 she made a successful appearance as Julia in The Soldier's Daughter. In 1862 she introduced part of Fanchon at the Olympic theatre in New York city; and she also appeared in Mignon, Pearl of Savoy, Little Barefoot, and Jane Eyre. Since then she has traveled extensively through the United States as a star, under the management of Henry Paddock, whom she married in 1868.

MITCHELL, STUART, cleryyman, author, was born about 1825 in Bucks county, Pa. During 1872-88 he filled pastorate in the Presbyterian church of Bloomsburg, Pa.; and since 1888 has filled a pastorate at Mount Carmel, Pa. He is the author of the Healing Spring; The Church, its Constitution and Government; and Jonah, the Self-Willed Prophet.

MIXTER, WILLIAM, lawyer, merchant, state senator, was born April 5, 1809. He was a merchant for several years, in the store formerly occupied by his father, from which he retired with a plentiful estate. He was a member of the Massachusetts state senate in 1857; and has been a justice of the peace since 1845.

MOELLER, HENRY, clergyman, bishop, was born Dec. 11, 1849, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Since 1900 he has been a Roman Catholic bishop of Columbus, Ohio.

MOFFETT, SAMUEL ERASMUS, journalist, author, was born Nov. 5, 1860, in St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of Tariff, What It is and What It Does; and Suggestions on Government.

MOHR, CHARLES THEODORE, botanist, author, was born Dec. 28, 1824, in Germany. Since 1884 he has been botanist in the Geological Survey of Alabama. He is the author of The Timber Pines of the Southern United States; and Plant Life of Alabama.

MOLDENKE, RICHARD GEORGE GOTTLOB, metallurgist, author, was born Nov. 1, 1864, in Watertown, Wis. He is a consulting metallurgist of New York city. He is the author of Two Strings to His Bow; Bryan Maurice; and The Mocking Bird, a poem.

MOLINEUX, MARIE ADA, lecturer, author, was born in California. She has lived in Boston from childhood. She is a bacteriologist, teacher of psychology; and a lecturer on literary, artistic and scientific topics. She is the author of A Phrase Book from the Poetic and Dramatic Works of Robert Browning.

MOLLENHAUER, EMIL, musician, composer, was born Aug. 4, 1855, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is a noted violinist; and assumed the conductorship of the Gremania and Boston Festival orchestras, touring the country every year with the latter with famous vocal and instrumental soloists. In 1899 he was elected conductor of the Boston Handel and Haydn Society.

MOMBERT, JACOB ISIDOR, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 6, 1829, in Germany. In 1859-70 he was rector at St. James church of Lancaster, Pa. He is the author of Great Lives; Short History of the Crusades; and other works.

MONAGHAN, JOHN JAMES, clergyman, bishop, was born May 23, 1856, in Sumter, S. C. Since 1897 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Wilmington, Del.

MONFORT, JOSEPH GLASS, clergyman, was born Dec. 9, 1810, in Warren county, Ohio. He was a founder and editor of the Louisville Presbyterian Herald in 1836-37. He has been trustee of Hanover college, Ind.; a director of the Theological seminary of the northwest; and a trustee of Lane theological seminary.

MONKS, LEANDER JOHN, lawyer, jurist, was born July 10, 1843, in Winchester, Ind. In 1878-94 he was judge of circuit court; and since 1894 has been judge of the supreme court of Indiana.

MONROE, FRANK ADAIR, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 30, 1844, in Annapolis, Md. Since 1899 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana.

MONTAGUE, ANDREW JACKSON, lawyer, was born Oct. 3, 1862, in Virginia. He was United States district attorney of western district of Virginia under the second Cleveland administration; and attorney-general of Virginia in 1898-1902.

MONTAGUE, ANDREW PHILIP, educator, college president, author, was born Sept. 27, 1854, in Essex county, Va. Since 1897 he has been president of Furman university. He is the author of Selected Letters of Cicero; and Selected Letters of Pliny.

MONTGOMERY, EDWARD EMMET, physician, author, was born May 15, 1849, in Newark, Ohio. He has been president of the Philadelphia Clinical society. He is the author of Practical Gynecology.

MONTGOMERY, FRANK HUGH, physician, author, was born Jan. 6, 1862, in Minnesota. He holds a professorship in Rush Medical college of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of A Practical Treatise on Diseases of the Skin.

MONTGOMERY, GEORGE, clergyman, bishop, was born in Kentucky. Since 1894 he has been Roman Catholic coadjutor bishop of Los Angeles, Cal.

MONTGOMERY, ROBERT M. lawyer, jurist, was born May 12, 1849, in Eaton Rapids, Mich. In 1890-1900 he was justice of the supreme court of Michigan.

MONTGOMERY, W. A., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of North Carolina.

MOODY, MRS. HELEN WATTERSON, author, was born in Cleveland, Ohio. She is the author of The Unquiet Sex.

MOODY, JAMES H., congressman. He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh congress from North Carolina as a republican.

MOODY, MALCOLM A., banker, congressman, was born Nov. 30, 1854, in Brownsville, Oregon. He entered business at The Dalles with his father, Zenas F. Moody, ex-governor of Oregon. In 1887 the mercantile business was merged into The Dalles National bank, of which he was elected cashier. In 1885-89 he was a member of the city council of The Dalles; and in 1889 was elected mayor, serving two terms. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Oregon as a republican.

MOODY, WILLIAM VAUGHN, educator, author, poet, was born July 8, 1869, in Spencer, Ind. He is an instructor of English literature in the University of Chicago. He is the author of The Masque of Judgment; and a volume of poems.

MOORE, CHARLES, journalist, author, was born Oct. 20, 1855, in Ypsilanti, Mich. Since 1891 he has been clerk of the United States senate committee. He is the author of Charities of the District of Columbia; and The Northwest Under Three Flags.

MOORE, CLARENCE BLOOMFIELD, archaeologist, author, was born Jan. 14, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has traveled in nearly every part of Europe, in Egypt, Syria, Asia Minor, Greece, Turkey. He is the author of Certain Sand Mounds of the St. Johns River, Florida; and Certain Sand Mounds of Duval County, Florida.

MOORE, EDWARD CHARLES, silversmith, was born Aug. 30, 1827, in New York city. He learned the trade of silversmithing from his father, John C. Moore. He succeeded to the business in 1854; and in 1861 transferred his silver works to Tiffany and company, of which he has since had charge.

MOORE, EDWARD MOTT, surgeon, was born July 15, 1814, in Rahway, N. J. He has attained success in his profession in New Jersey; and contributed valuable papers to medical literature.

MOORE, FRANK A., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Oregon.

MOORE, GEORGE FOOT, educator, author, was born Oct. 15, 1851, in West Chester, Pa. Since 1883 he has been professor of Hebrew in Andover Theological seminary, Mass. He is the author of Commentary on Judges; and other works on biblical literature.

MOORE, JAMES E., surgeon, author, was born March 2, 1852, in Clarksville, Pa. In 1888 he gave up general practice to take up surgery as a specialty. He is the author of Moore's Orthopaedic Surgery.

MOORE, JAMES HOBART, lawyer, promoter, was born June 14, 1852, in Berkshire, N. Y. He located in Chicago in 1873. He was the promoter of large industrial corporations including Diamond Match, New York Biscuit, American Tin Plate, and other combinations of capital.

MOORE, JAMES W., physician, educator, was born June 14, 1844, in Easton, Pa. He is the author of The Elements of Natural Philosophy.

MOORE, JOHN, surgeon, was born Aug. 16, 1826, in Indiana. He entered the United States army as assistant surgeon in 1853; served in Florida, in Utah expedition in 1857; in Cincinnati Marine hospital in 1861-62; was promoted surgeon in 1862; was medical director in Central Grand division of the Army of the Potomac in 1862-63. He was with Sherman at Atlanta and march to the sea; and attained the rank of brigadier-general. He was retired in 1899.

MOORE, JOHN, clergyman, bishop, was born June 27, 1835, in Ireland. He has been Roman Catholic bishop of St. Augustine since 1877.

MOORE, JOHN BASSETT, publicist, author, was born Dec. 3, 1860, in Smyrna, Del. In 1898 he was assistant secretary of state. He is the author of Extradition and Interstate Rendition; American Notes on the Conflict of Laws; and History and Digest of International Arbitrations, in six volumes.

MOORE, JOHN C., soldier, educator, was born Feb. 28, 1824, in Hawkins county, Tenn. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general in the Confederate service. He has since been engaged in educational work in Texas.

MOORE, JOHN JAMISON, clergyman, bishop, was born Oct. 19, 1814, in Martinsburg, Va. In 1839 he united with the Philadelphia conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church. In 1852 he went to California, where he established several churches and took an active part in contending for the rights of his race. He returned to the east in 1868; was elected bishop in that year; and undertook missions to England and to British America. He is the author of a pamphlet on Universalism; and History of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion Church of America.

MOORE, JOHN LEVERETT, educator, author, was born June 6, 1859, in New York city. Since 1891 he has been professor of Latin at Vassar university. He is the author of Latin Prose Exercises.

MOORE, JOHN TROTWOOD, educator, author, was born Aug. 26, 1858, in Marion, Ala. For ten years he taught school and edited papers; and then took up the rearing of fine stock on a stock farm near Columbia, Tenn. He is the author of Stories from Tennessee; and A Summer Hymnal, a Tennessee Romance.

MOORE, THOMAS JOSEPH, business man, poet, was born May 1, 1864, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is agent of American Strawboard company. He is the author of Elecampane, a volume of poems.

MOORE, WILLIS LUTHER, meteorologist, was born Jan. 18, 1856, in Scranton, Pa., but passed most of the time between birth and the age of nineteen at Binghamton, N. Y. In 1876 he entered the United States signal-corps, and ten years later was promoted to the grade of observer sergeant in recognition of his skill in devising new mechanical appliances. During the next five years he was employed as a meteorological clerk for making the synopsis charts for the study of official forecasters. On the organization of the weather bureau on a civil basis in 1891, he was appointed local forecast official in charge of the meteorological office in Milwaukee. In 1895 Mr. Moore entered an open competitive examination for the place of professor of meteorology in the United States weather bureau, and successfully defeated twenty-three contestants. On account of his demonstrated ability as a forecaster he became official for the upper lakes with headquarters in Chicago, where he remained until July, 1895, when without effort by himself or friends, President Cleveland recognized his scientific attainments and executive ability by appointing him chief of the weather bureau in Washington, which office he now occupies.

MORA, FRANCIS, clergyman, bishop, was born Nov. 25, 1827, in Spain. In 1854 he volunteered for the California mission under Bishop Amat, by whom he was ordained in 1856; and was appointed to the pro-cathedral of Los Angeles in 1863. In 1865 he was appointed vicar-general of the diocese; in 1873 was consecrated bishop of Mossinopolis and coadjutor of Bishop Amat with the right of succession. On the death of the prelate in 1878 he succeeded to the see of Monterey and Los Angeles.

MOREHOUSE, GEORGE READ, physician, was born March 25, 1829, in Mount Holly, N. J. In 1862-65 he was acting-assistant surgeon in charge of the special hospitals for nervous diseases in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Researches on the Anatomy and Physiology of Respiration in the Chelonia; and Gunshot Wounds and Other Injuries of the Nerves.

MORELAND, WILLIAM HALL, clergyman, author, was born April 9, 1861, in Charleston, S. C. Since 1899 he has been Protestant Episcopal bishop of Sacramento, Cal. He is the author of What Is Christianity; and The Church or the Churches, Which?

MORGAN, ANNIE EUGENIA FELICIA, educator, author, was born Oct. 3, 1845, in Oberlin, Ohio. Since 1878 she has been professor of philosophy in Wellesley college, Mass. She is the author of Scripture Studies on the Origin and Destiny of Man; and The White Lady.

MORGAN, CAROLINE STARR, author, was born April 15, 1859, in Houndsville, N. Y. She is associated with her husband in literary work. She is the author of Ways That Win; Esther Lawrence; Charlotte's Revenge; Marmarduke Multiply Stories; and numerous short stories for children.

MORGAN, DAVID E., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 8, 1849, in Coalport, Ohio. In 1885-1901 he was judge of the district court. Since 1901 he has been judge of the supreme court of North Dakota.

MORGAN, GEORGE, journalist, author, was born Oct. 10, 1854, in Concord, Del. He is on the editorial staff of the Philadelphia Times. He is the author of John Littlejohn.

MORGAN, HARRIET, author. She is the author of The Sand Man; and The Island Impossible.

MORGAN, JOHN PIERPONT, banker, was born April 17, 1837, in Hartford, Conn. In 1871 he became a member of the firm of Drexel, Morgan and Company, now J. P. Morgan and Company, leading private bankers of the United States. He has been prominent in the largest reorganizations of railroad and industrial consolidations of recent years.

MORGAN, JOHN LIVINGSTON RUTGERS, chemist, author, was born June 27, 1872, in New Brunswick, N. J. Since 1901 he has been professor of physical chemistry in Columbia university of New York city. He is the author of The Elements of Physical Chemistry.

MORGAN, MICHAEL RYAN, soldier, was born Jan. 18, 1833, in Canada. He served at various frontier posts until 1859. He was captain in the United States army in 1861; and advanced to brevet rank of brigadier-general in United States army during the war. After the war he was in the commissary service and promoted in regular order to brigadier-general; was commissary-general of subsistence United States army when retired in 1897.

MORGAN, STEPHEN, educator, congressman, was born Jan. 25, 1854, in Jackson county, Ohio. He taught in the public schools of Jackson county for a number of years; was school examiner for nine years; and principal of the Oak Hill school for fifteen years. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

MORGAN, THOMAS HUNT, educator, author, was born Sept. 25, 1866, in Lexington, Ky. He is professor of biology in Bryn Mawr college. He is the author of Development of the Frog's Egg.

MORLEY, MARGARET WARNER, educator, author, was born Feb. 17, 1858, in Montrose, Iowa. She has been professor of biology in Armour institute of Chicago, Ill. She is the author of A Song of Life; Life and Love; A Few Familiar Flowers; and Flowers and Their Friends.

MORRIS, MRS. ALICE A. PARMELEE—Mrs. Robert C. Morris—author, was born in New Haven, Conn. She is the author of Dragons and Cherry Blossoms.

MORRIS, EDWARD PARMELEE, educator, author, was born Sept. 17, 1853, in Auburn, N. Y. Since 1891 he has been professor of Latin in Yale university. He is the author of The Mostellaria of Plautus, with notes; The Pseudolus of Plautus, with introduction and notes; and The Captives and Trinummus of Plautus, with introduction and notes.

MORRIS, MARTIN F., lawyer, jurist, author, was born Dec. 3, 1834, in Washington, D. C. He is associate justice of the court of appeals of District of Columbia. He is the author of Lectures on the History of the Development of Constitutional and Civil Liberty.

MORRISON, HARRY STEELE, lecturer, author, was born Nov. 26, 1880, in Mattoon, Ill. He has lectured in larger cities of the East. He is the author of A Yankee Boy's Success.

MORRISON, HENRY CLAY, clergyman, bishop, was born May 30, 1842, in Montgomery county, Tenn. Since 1898 he has been bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church South at Louisville, Ky.

MORRISON, JOSEPH, physician, surgeon, astronomer, author, was born in 1848. He is the author of Treatise on Trigonometry.

MORRISON, MRS. MARY J. WHITNEY, author, poet, was born June 13, 1832, in Saccarappa, Maine. She is the author of Stories True and Fancies New.

MORRISON, SARAH ELIZABETH, author, was born in Indiana. She is the author of Chilhowee Boys; Chilhowee Boys in War Time; Chilhowee Boys at College; and Chilhowee Boys in Harness.

MORRISON, THEODORE NEVIN, clergyman, bishop, was born Feb. 18, 1850, in Ottawa, Ill. In 1876-99 he was pastor of the Church of the Epiphany of Chicago, Ill. Since 1899 he has been Protestant Episcopal bishop of Iowa.

MORROW, WILLIAM C., author. He is the author of Bohemian Paris of To-day; and other works.

MORSE, CHARLES HENRY, musician, composer, was born Jan. 5, 1853, in Bradford, Mass. He is an excellent organist and chorus conductor; and teacher of organ-playing and voice-building in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of a Christmas Carols; and several valuable compilations.

MORSE, FRANK ROGERS, clergyman, lecturer. For many years he has been pastor of Calvary Baptist church of New York city. He has attained great popularity as a lecturer, principally on religious subjects.

MORTON, AGNES H., author. She is the author of Our Conversational Circle; Etiquette; Letter Writing; and Quotations.

MORTON, FREDERICK W., journalist, author, was born Dec. 2, 1859, in Canada. He removed to Chicago in 1887; and was reporter, critic, and editor in 1888-99. He is the author of Woman in Epigram; Men in Epigram; Love in Epigram; and The Revolt of the Countess.

MORTON, JAMES M., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme judicial court of Massachusetts.

MOSELEY, EDWARD AUGUSTUS, lawyer, legislator, author, was born March 23, 1846, in Newburyport, Mass. He is secretary of the interstate commerce commission. He has been a member of the Massachusetts legislature. He is the author of Arbitration as Applied to Railways and Their Employees; Safe Appliances on Railroads; and One Hundred Years of Interstate Commerce.

MOSES, ALFRED JOSEPH, educator, author, was born July 25, 1859, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1897 he has been professor of mineralogy in Columbia university of New York city. He is the author of Mineralogy, Crystallography; Blowpipe Analysis; and Characters of Crystal.

MOSES, BERNARD, educator, author, was born Aug. 27, 1846, in Burlington, Conn. Since 1876 he has been professor of history and political economy in University of California. He is the author of Federal Government in Switzerland; Democracy and Official Growth in America; and Establishment of the Spanish Rule in America.

MOSES, THOMAS FREEMAN, physician, author, was born June 8, 1836, in Bath, Maine. During the civil war he was acting assistant surgeon in the United States army, in charge of government transports and hospitals; and after 1864 he settled in practice in Hamilton county, Ohio. He was elected professor of natural sciences in Urbana university of Ohio in 1870; and in 1886 became acting president of that institution. He is the author of an annotated edition of Emile Saigey's Unity of Natural Phenomena.

MOSS, FRANK, lawyer, author, was born March 16, 1860, in Cold Spring, N. Y. In 1897 he was president of the board of police of New York city; and associate counsel to Lexow Investigating committee. He is the author of The American Metropolis, a history of New York, in three volumes.

MOULTON, FRANK PRESCOTT, educator, author, was born June 11, 1851, in Parsonsfield, Maine. He has been a teacher since 1874; and in Hartford High school since 1890. He is the author of Preparatory Latin Composition.

MOUNT, WALLACE, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Jan. 16, 1859, in Oregon. In 1889-92 he was judge of the superior court; and was a member of the Washington legislature in 1899. Since 1901 he has been justice of the supreme court of Washington.

MOWBRAY, HARRY SIDDONS, artist, was born Aug. 5, 1858. He has produced some effective figure-pieces, among which are The Alchemist; Lalla Rookh; Rose Festival; and Evening Breeze.

MOWRY, ARTHUR MAY, educator, author, was born Jan. 19, 1862, in Providence, R. I. He was professor of Science in Gloucester High school; and in Salem High school, Mass. He is the author of History of the United States; First Steps in History of Our Country; and Constitutional History of Rhode Island.

MOXOM, PHILIP STAFFORD, soldier, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 10, 1848, in Canada. He served in the Union army during the civil war. Since 1894 he has been pastor of the South Congregational church of Springfield, Mass. He is the author of The Aim of Life; and The Church in the First Three Centuries.

MUELLER, FRANZ, musician, composer, was born Aug. 1, 1853, in Newark, Ohio. He is professor of music and one of the founders of the Illinois college of music of Bloomington, Ill. The comic opera, The White Fawn, was composed and produced by him at Spokane in 1895.

MUELLER, HERMAN, educator, author, poet, was born Oct. 24, 1860, in Germany. Since 1894 he has been professor of German in Providence high schools. He is the author of A Collection of Poems for High Schools.

MUHLEMAN, MAURICE LOUIS, financier, author, was born Nov. 27, 1852, near Alton, Ill. Since 1888 he has been deputy assistant treasurer of the United States at New York City. He is the author of Money of the United States; and Monetary Systems of the World.

MUIR, JERE T., educator, lecturer, lawyer, college president, author, was born in Trimble county, Ky. He has been superintendent of schools; and is now president of the La Grange college, Mo. He is the author of Orthoepy.

MULDOON, PETER J., clergyman, bishop was born in 1863 in Columbia, Cal. Since 1901 he has been Roman Catholic auxiliary bishop for Chicago diocese.

MULLANY, JOHN FRANCIS, clergyman, author, was born July 19, 1853, in Utica, N. Y. He is now pastor of St. John the Baptist church of Detroit, Mich. He is a contributor to periodicals; and has published numerous translations from the Italian and French.

MUNGER, WILLIAM HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 12, 1845, in Bergen, N. Y. In 1875 he was a member of the constitutional convention of Nebraska. Since 1879 he has been United States judge for the district of Nebraska.

MUNN, CHARLES CLARK, author, was born in 1848, in Southington, Conn. For thirty years he has been a commercial traveler. He is the author of Pocket Island; and Uncle Terry, a Story of the Maine Coast.

MUNN, ORSON DESAIX, publisher, was born June 11, 1824, in Monson, Mass. In 1846 he bought the Scientific American, then six months old, of which he is still at the head. In 1876 he established Scientific American Supplement; and a monthly Architects' and Builders' edition in 1885. For over fifty years he has been also at the head of Munn & Company, doing the largest business as patent solicitors in the world.

MUNROE, JAMES PHINNEY, financier, author, was born June 3, 1862, in Lexington, Mass. Since 1897 he has been treasurer of Monroe Felt & Paper Co. of Boston, Mass. He is the author of A Sketch of the Munro Clan.

MUNSELL, FRANK, publisher, genealogist, author, was born June 19, 1857, in Albany, N. Y. He is a retired publisher of Albany, N. Y. He edited American Ancestry, 1887-1900; Genealogical Index; and American Genealogist. He is the author of Bibilography of Albany; and Munsell Genealogy.

MUNSON, WALTER D., soldier, merchant, capitalist, was born Feb. 18, 1843, in Cheshire, Conn. In 1861-66 he served as a soldier in the Union army and was mustered as a commissioned captain in the regular army. He is a successful shipping merchant; and is noted as having built up the Munson Steamship Line to Cuba, Mexico, and West Indies.

MUNSTERBERG, HUGO, educator, author, was born June 1, 1863, in Danzig, Germany. Since 1892 he has been professor of psychology in Harvard University. He is the author of Psychology and Life.

MURDOCK, GEORGE J., inventor, was born April 17, 1858, in New Berlin, N. Y. He invented a dynamo electric machine; an arc lamp, the carbon-saving globe now in use, and the automatic bolt machine. He is also known as a song composer and verse writer.

MURDOCK, JOSEPH BALLARD, naval officer, author, was born Feb. 13, 1851, in Hartford, Conn. During the Spanish-American war he attained the rank of lieutenant-commander. He is the author of Notes on Electricity and Magnetism.

MURPHY, JOHN B., physician, inventor, was born Dec. 21, 1857, in Appleton, Wis. He is distinguished for the invention of the anastomosis button, a valuable appliance for abdominal surgery.

MURRAY, GEORGE BRINTON, merchant, author, was born May 31, 1863, near Olney, Ill. He is a successful hardware merchant of Olney, Ill; and prominent in the business and political affairs of his city, county and state. He is the author of A Boy's Journey Around the World.

MUSGRAVE, GEORGE CLARKE, soldier, author, was born May 1, 1873, in England. He is the author of West African Fetish; The Cuban Insurrection; Under Three Flags in Cuba; and In South Africa with Buller.

MUTCH, WILLIAM JAMES, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 7, 1858, in Hillsboro, Wis. He served the Howard Avenue Church of New Haven Conn. He is the author of The Testing of A Soul; and Christian Teachings.

MUTCHLER, HOWARD, congressman. He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh congress from Pennsylvania.

MYER, ISAAC, lawyer, author, was born March 5, 1836, in Philadelphia. He is the author of Presidential Power Over Personal Liberty; The Waterloo Medal; and Scarabs, The Oldest Books in the World.

MYERS, CORTLAND, clergyman, author, was born June 3, 1864, in Kingston, N. Y. He is pastor of the First Baptist Church of Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of a published work.

MYERS, MRS. MINNIE WALTER, author, was born in 1852, in Holly Springs, Miss. She is identified with philanthropic work. She is the author of Romance and Realism of the Southern Gulf Coast.

NADAL, EHRMAN SYME, author, was born in 1843 in Greenbrier county, Va., In 1887-83 he was one of the secretaries of United States legation, London. He is the author of Impressions of London Social Life; Essays at Home and Elsewhere; and Notes of a Professional Exile.

NAEGELE, CHARLES FREDERICK, artist, was born May 8, 1857, in Knoxville, Tenn. In 1892 he received prize for Columbus medal design. He has painted portraits of Peter Cooper; Charles L. Tiffany; Gov. Roswell P. Flower; Gen. Joseph D. Bryant; and others.

NANCREDE, CHARLES BEYLARD, physician, surgeon, author, was born Dec. 30, 1847, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is professor of surgery and clinical surgery and surgeon of University Hospital in University of Michigan. He was recommended for brevet lieutenant-colonel for attending wounded under fire before Santiago. He is the author of Essentials of Anatomy.

NAPHEN, HENRY FRANCIS, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1847, in Ireland. Since 1880 he has devoted himself to the practice of his profession in Boston, Mass. He was state senator in 1885-86. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

NASH, CHARLES ELLWOOD, clergyman, college president, author, was born in 1855, in Alamuchy, N. J. Since 1895 he has been president of Lombard University of Galesburg, Ill. He is the author of The Savior of the World.

NASH, GEORGE KILBON, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 4, 1842, in York, Ohio. He edited for a year the Ohio State Journal; became chief clerk in the office of secretary of state of Ohio; was prosecuting attorney of Franklin county for three years; in 1883 he was elected judge for the state supreme court; and served as attorney-general of Ohio.

NASH, WILLIAM HOIT, soldier, was born June 22, 1834, in Gallipolis, Ohio. He entered the military service as telegraph operator in 1861. In 1898 he was appointed commissary-general subsistence with rank of brigadier-general; and retired from active service.

NASON, FRANK LEWIS, mining engineer, author, was born May 12, 1856, in New London, Wis. In 1888-90 he was assistant state geologist of New Jersey; and also of Missouri in 1890-92. He is the author of Iron Ores of Missouri.

NEFF, ELIZABETH CLIFFORD, genealogist, was born Aug. 24, 1851. She is the author of the Neff History; a pamphlet on Heraldy; and other works.

NEIDLINGER, WILLIAM HAROLD, musician, composer, was born July 20, 1863, in Brooklyn, N. Y. His compositions include a mass; other church music; mixed and male choruses; and numerous songs.

NEIL, EDWARD WALLACE, clergyman, author, was born in Newark, N. J. In 1883 he was founder and since then rector of Church St. Edward the Martyr of New York City. He is the author of Faithful Woman.

NEILSON, WILLIAM GEORGE metallurgical engineer, was born Aug. 12, 1842, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1871 he was appointed general manager of the Logan iron and steel company; and since 1877 has been manager of the Standard steel company. His services were called for by the Baldwin locomotive-works in 1878 in order to aid them in their shipment of locomotives to Russia. He published in 1868 a chart illustrative of the material progress of the United States, showing the costs of certain staple products during a series of years.

NELSON, CHARLES EUGENE, physician, journalist, inventor, was born March 28, 1837, in Montreal, Canada. In 1883 he became editor of the New York Planet; in 1885 assistant editor of the Eastern Medical Journal of Worcester, Mass.; and in 1886 its editor. He has founded the Robert Nelson gold medal in connection with the medical school of Lennoxville university, Canada. He has invented a rectal bougie, which bears his name.

NELSON, EDWARD BEVERLY, educator, was born May 20, 1850, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. In 1873 he was appointed professor in the New York city institution for the instruction of deaf-mutes. In 1876 he was appointed principal of the Central New York institution for deaf-mutes at Rome. Under his care the institution has been put upon an independent basis, and the number of teachers, instructors, and pupils greatly increased.

NELSON, EDWARD WILLIAM, naturalist, author, was born May 8, 1855, in Manchester, N. H. Since 1890 he has been field naturalist in the United States department of agriculture. He is the author of Report on Natural History Collections Made in Alaska.

NELSON, WILLIAM, lawyer, was born Feb. 10, 1847, in Newark, N. J. In 1880-99 he was secretary of the New Jersey historical society. He is the author of The Indians of New Jersey; The Doremus Family in America; and The History of the City of Paterson.

NEVIN, ETHELBERT, musician, composer, was born Nov. 25, 1862, in Edgeworth, Pa. He has composed a large amount of music, notably songs including Bed-time Song; Cradle Song; I Once Had a Sweet, Little Doll; and Milkmaid's Song.

NEW, HARRY STEWART, soldier, publisher, state senator, was born Dec. 31, 1858, in Indianapolis, Ind. Since 1896 he has been a member of the Indiana state senate. In 1898 he was captain and assistant adjutant-general of the third brigade, second division, seventh army corps during the Spanish-American war. In 1896 he was delegate to the Republican National convention. He is the publisher of The Indianapolis Journal.

NEWBERRY, FANNIE ELLSWORTH, author, was born May 7, 1848, in Monroe, Mich. She is a writer of Coldwater, Mich. She is the author of Impress of a Gentleman; and other works.

NEWBERRY, WILLIAM BELKNAP, chemist, author, was born Jan. 15, 1867, in Cleveland Ohio. In 1896-97 he was chemist Alpha Portland Cement Company of Eastou, Pa. He is the author of Chemical Constitution of Portland Cements.

NEWCOMB, CHARLES BENJAMIN, lecturer, author, was born June 22, 1845, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of All's Right With the World; and Discovery of a Lost Trail.

NEWCOMB, HARRY TURNER, lawyer, statesman, author, was born Jan. 4, 1867, in Owosso, Mich. Since 1900 he has been expert chief of division of agriculture in the United States census. Since 1896 he has been lecturer on statistics in Columbia university of Washington, D. C. He is the author of Railway Economics; and The Postal Deficit.

NEWCOMB, MRS. KATHARINE HINCHMAN, educator, author, was born Dec. 16, 1852, in Brooklyn, N. Y. She is the author of Helps to Right Living.

NEWELL, FREDERICK HAYNES, civil engineer, author, was born March 5, 1862, in Bradford, Pa. Since 1888 he has been hydrographer in the United States Geological survey. He is the author of Agriculture by Irrigation; Hydrography of the United States; and The Public Lands of the United States.

NEWELL, PETER, illustrator, artist, was born March 5, 1862, in McDonough county, Ill. He is the author of Topsys and Turveys; A Shadow Show; and Peter Newell's Pictures and Rhythms.

NEWHALL, ADA L., author. She is a successful writer of fiction. She is the author of Adopted; Hazel Verne; The Bride of Infelice; and After the Night Has Passed.

NEWMAN, ALBERT HENRY, theologian, author, was born Aug. 25, 1852, in Edgefield county, S. C. Since 1881 he has been professor of church history in McMaster university of Toronto. He is the author of The Baptist Churches in the United States; and Manual of Church History.

NEWTON, JAMES HALE, educator, manufacturer, banker, was born Jan. 13, 1832, in Hubbardston, Mass. He is one of the leading paper manufacturers of America; has been president of several companies; and is now president of Chemical Paper company of Holyoke, Mass. Since 1884 he has been president of the Home National Bank.

NIBLACK, ALBERT PARKER, naval officer, was born July 25, 1859, in Vincennes, Ind. Since 1880 he has been ensign to lieuteuant in United States navy. He is a writer and lecturer at Naval War college on signaling and naval tactics. He is the author of The Coast Indians of Alaska and Northern British Columbia.

NICCOLLS, SAMUEL JACK, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 3, 1838, in Westmoreland county, Pa. In 1863 he was chaplain in the one hundred and twenty-sixth Pennsylvania volunteers. He is the author of Eastern Questiou in Prophecy.

NICHOLAS, ANNA, journalist, author, was born in Meadville, Pa. Since 1881 she has been on the editorial staff of The Indianapolis Journal. She is the author of An Idyl of the Wabash, a volume of short stories.

NICHOLL, HORACE WADHAM, musician, composer, was born March 17, 1848, in England. Since 1883 he has been regular reader of music proofs for G. Schrimer of New York city. He is the author of numerous compositions.

NICHOLS, CHARLES HENRY, physician, was born Oct. 19, 1820, in Vassalborough, Maine. He attained success in his profession; and contributed extensively to medical literature.

NICHOLS, EDWARD WEST, educator, author, was born June 27, 1858, in Petersburg, Va. Since 1890 he has been professor of mathematics in the Virginia Military institute. He is the author of Analytical Geometry; and Differential and Integral Calculus.

NICHOLS, GEORGE FREDERICK, soldier, merchant, was born Jan. 6, 1835, in Plattsburg, N. Y. He entered the army as major in the one hundred and eighteenth New York volunteers; was promoted to lieutenant-colonel and later to colonel. He was breveted brigadier-general for gallantry in the field. Since the war he has been in business pursuits at Plattsburgh, N. Y.

NICHOLS, HENRY WINDSOR, geologist, author, was born Dec. 7, 1866, in Cohasset, Mass. Since 1897 he has been assistant curator of geology in the Field Columbian museum of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Ore of Columbia.

NICHOLS, HERBERT, lecturer, author, was born Feb. 7, 1852, in Walpole, N. H. Since 1896 he has been a lecturer in Johns Hopkins university. He is the author of The Psychology of Time; Our Notions of Number and Space; and A Treatise on Cosmology.

NICHOLS, WILLIAM FORD, clergyman, bishop, author, was born June 9, 1849, in Lloyd, N. Y. He was consecrated bishop-coadjutor of California in 1890; and bishop of California in 1893. He is the author of On the Trial of Your Faith.

NIEHAUS, CHARLES HENRY, sculptor, was born Jan. 24, 1855, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He received the highest prize yet won by an American; and a diploma and medal for a group entitled Fleeting.

NIGHTINGALE, AUGUSTUS FREDERICK, educator, author, was born Nov. 11, 1843, in Quincy, Mass. Since 1892 he has been superintendent of Chicago high schools. He is the author of Requirements for Admission to American Colleges.

NIKITA—Louisa Margaret Nicholson—musician, composer, was born Aug. 18, 1872, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1894 she was engaged at the Paris Opera as prima donna soprano. Her leading roles are in Lakme Manon, Barbiere and Traviata.

NIND, MRS. MARY CLARKE, missionary, evangelist, was born Oct. 9, 1825, in England. In 1850 she married James Gardiner Nind, and has lived in Minnesota and Michigan. As Mother Nind she has been an inspiration to Christian workers at home and abroad. In 1900 appeared In Journeying Oft, a sketch of the life and travels of Mary C. Nind.

NIRDLINGER, CHARLES FREDERIC, critic, author. He is a dramatic critic of New York city. He is the author of Masques and Mummers.

NISBET, JAMES DOUGLAS, physician, author, was born July 30, 1861, in Waxhaw, S. C. He is adjunct professor of diseases of the digestive system in the New York polyclinic. He is the author of Diseases of the Stomach.

NIXON, OLIVER WOODSON, journalist, author, was born Oct. 25, 1825, in Guilford county, N. C. During the civil war he was medical director of the army of Missouri. In 1878 he purchased, with his brother, The Chicago Inter-Ocean, of which he is literary editor. He is the author of How Marcus Whitman Saved Oregon for the Union.

NIXON-ROULET, MARY F., author. She is the author of With a Pessimist in Spain; and other works.

NIXON, WILLIAM PENN, lawyer, legislator, journalist, publisher, was born March 19, 1833, in Fountain City, Ind. In 1865-68 he was a member of the Ohio legislature; then practiced law until 1868 in Cincinnati; and in 1868-72 was business manager of the Cincinnati Chronicle. Since 1872 he has been connected with the Chicago Inter-Ocean as editor and publisher. In 1896 he was appointed Lincoln park commissioner, and was its president in 1897. In 1897 he was appointed collector of port of Chicago.

NOBLE, FREDERICK A., clergyman, author, was born March 17, 1832, in Baldwin, Maine. Since 1879 he has been pastor of Union Park church of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Divine Life in Man; Discourses on Philippians; and Our Redemption.

NOBLE, LUCRETIA GRAY, author, was born in Lowell, Mass. She is the author of A Reverend Idol, a novel.

NOBLES, MILTON, actor, playwright, author, was born Sept. 28, 1847, in Almont, Mich. He has played in support of Joseph Jefferson, Edwin Forrest, Edwin Booth, Lawrence Barrett and others until he began starring in plays written by himself in 1875. He is the author of Shop Talk; Under Martial Law; A Man of the People; Love and Law; and other plays.

NOONAN, EDWARD T., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 23, 1861, in Macomb county, Ill. In 1890-94 he was a member of the Illinois state senate. In 1893-98 he was attorney for the board of West Chicago park commissioners. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

NORDICA, LILLIAN, opera-singer, was born about 1858, in Farmington, Maine. She appeared in various important operatic roles; and in later years particularly she has had many successes in the roles of the great Wagnerian heroines. Mme. Nordica's first husband, F. A. Gower, was an electrician, and was lost in a balloon ascension in 1887. In 1896 she was married to Zoltan F. Doehme, the talented tenor singer. She spent the summer of 1899 in the Black forest of Germany, joining Grau's opera troupe for the American season of 1899-1900.

NORRIS, FRANK, journalist, author, was born in 1870, in Chicago, Ill. He was war correspondent for the San Francisco Chronicle in South Africa during the Uitlander insurrection in 1895-96. He is the author of McTague, the Octopus.

NORRIS, HOMER ALBERT, musician, author, was born in 1860, in Wayne, Maine. He is a teacher of musical composition along lines pursued in Paris Conservatory of Music; and a lecturer on musical aesthetics. He is the author of Practical Harmony on a French Basis; The Art of Counterpoint; and also about fifty songs and sacred music.

NORRIS, MARY HARRIOTT, educator, author, was born March 16, 1848, in Boonton, N. J. Since 1898 she has been dean of women in Northwestern university of Evanston, Ill. She is the author of Dorothy Delafield; Phebe, a Damsel of the Eighteenth Century; The Nine Blessings; John Applegate, Surgeon; Afterward; Lakewood, a Story of To-day; and The Gray House of the Quarries.

NORRIS, RICHARD COOPER, physician, author, was born Nov. 9, 1863, in Havre de Grace, Md. He is the author of American Text Book of Obstetrics; and Syllabus Obstetrical Lectures.

NORTH, S. N. DEXTER, journalist, statistician, was born Nov. 29, 1849, in Clinton, N. Y. He has been editor of Utica Herald, of Albany Express, and is now editor of the Bulletin of the Nation. He was also chief statistician of manufac- He was also chief statistician of manufacturers on the twelfth census.

NORTHEN, WILLIAM J., soldier, educator, state senator, congressman, was born July 9, 1835, in Jones county, Ga. In 1861-65 he served as private in company commanded by his father, Peter Northen, in the Confederate army. In 1877-78 and 1880-81 he was a member of the Georgia legislature; was state senator in 1884-85; and governor in 1890-94.

NORTON, CHARLES STUART, naval officer, was born Aug. 10, 1836, in Albany, N. Y. In 1860 he became lieutenant; captain in 1881; commodore in 1894; and rear-admiral in 1897; retiring on reaching age limit.

NORTON, EDWIN FRANKLIN, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 15, 1862, in Homer, N. Y. For five years he was professor of Greek and superintendent of schools in New York state; and then for six years professor of rhetoric and modern languages in Olivet college, Mich. Since 1894 he has been a clergyman of the congregational church in Almont, Mich.

NORTON, GEORGE W., educator, journalist, author, was born Aug. 25, 1855, in Strong, Maine. Since 1892 he has been editor of the Portland Evening Express, Maine.

NOURSE, HENRY STEDMAN, soldier, civil engineer, author, was born April 9, 1831, in Lancaster, Mass. In 1861-65 he was adjutant captain of 55th Illinois volunteer infantry and commissary of musters, 17th army corps. In 1883 he was a member of house of representatives of Massachusetts; and in 1885-86 was a member of Massachusetts state senate. He is the author of Early Records of Lancaster; and The Story of the 55th Regiment of Illinois Infantry.

NOYES, ALEXANDER DANA, journalist, author, was born Dec. 14, 1862, in Montclair, N. J. He is financial editor of the New York Evening Post. He is the author of Thirty Years of American Finance.

NOYES, THEODORE WILLIAMS, journalist, author, was born Jan. 26, 1858, in Washington, D. C. Since 1887 he has been associate editor-in-chief of the Washington Star, D. C. He is the author of The National Capital; Newspaper Libels; and Notes of Travel.

NUTTALL, MRS. ZELIA, archaeologist, author, was born in San Francisco, Cal. She is an extensive traveler; and has made special study of languages and antiquities of Mexico, including ancient picture writings; and is noted for research in Mexican archaeology. She is the author of The Blowpipe; The Starfinder; and The Aneroid.

NUTTING, CHARLES CLEVELAND, zoologist, author, was born May, 25, 1858, in Jacksonville, Ill. He engaged in explorations for Smithsonian Institution in Central America; and since 1886 has been connected with University of Iowa. He is the author of Narrative of Bahama Expedition from University of Iowa.

O'BRIEN, DENIS, lawyer, jurist, was born in March, 1837, in Ogdensburg, N. Y. Since 1889 he has been judge of court of appeals of New York.

O'BRIEN, HUGH, journalist, public official, was born July 13, 1827, in Ireland. He founded the Shipping and Commercial List, of which he was long the editor. He was an alderman of Boston in 1875-83; and for four years chairman of the board. In 1885 he was mayor of that city.

O'BRIEN, MORGAN JOSEPH, soldier, jurist, was born in New York City. In 1887-96 he was judge of the supreme court of New York, trial division; and in 1896-1901 judge of the appellate division.

OCHS, ADOLPH S., publisher, was born March 12, 1858, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1878 he became publisher of the Chattanooga Times, of which he is still proprietor. In 1896 he became publisher and principal owner The New York Times.

OCKENDEN, MRS. INA MARIE PORTER, journalist, author,poet, was born March 4, 1846. She has edited the South Alabamian; Southern News; and Greenville Advocate; and was a charter member of the Alabama Woman's Press Association.

O'CONNOR, E. SCOTT, author. She is the author of Tracings.

O'DONAGHUE, DENNIS, clergyman, bishop. He is a Roman Catholic Bishop at Indianapolis, Ind.

O'DONOVAN, WILLIAM RUDOLF, soldier, sculptor, was born March 28, 1844, in Preston county, Va. After fighting in the Confederate army during the civil war, he opened a studio in New York City. He has been very successful in portraiture, and among others has executed portrait-busts and bas-reliefs of John A. Kennedy; William Page; R. Swain Gifford; Arthur Quarterly; Bayard Taylor; and Edmund C. Stedman.

OERTEL, JOHANNES ADAM, clergyman, artist, was born Nov. 3, 1823, in Bavaria. He painted many scriptural and other pieces.

OFFORD, R. M., clergyman, author. He is the author of a volume of hymns; and editor of several religious works.

OGDEN, JAY BERGEN, physician, chemist, author, was born in August, 1868, in West Sparta, N. Y. Since 1894 he has been assistant in clinical pathology at Boston City Hospital. He is the author of Clinical Examinations of the Urine and Urinary Diagnosis.

OGDEN, ROBERT CURTIS, merchant, author, was born June 20, 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a member of the firm of John Wanamaker of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Getting and Keeping a Business Position.

O'GORMAN, THOMAS, clergyman, bishop, author, was born May 1, 1843, in Boston, Mass. Since 1896 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Sioux Falls, S. D. He is the author of A History of the Roman Catholic Church in the United States.

O'GRADY, JAMES M. E., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born March 31, 1863, in Rochester, N. Y. Since 1885 he has practiced his profession in Rochester, N. Y.; was school commissioner of the city of Rochester in 1887-92; and member of the New York State assembly in 1893-98. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

OHMANN-DUMESNIL, AMENT HENRY, physician, author, was born Sept. 30, 1857, in Dubuque, Iowa. He is editor and proprietor of the St. Louis Medical and Surgical Journal. He is the author of Hand-book of Dermatology.

OLCOTT, GEORGE N., archaeologist, author, was born Sept. 19, 1869, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1898 he has been lecturer in Roman archaeology in Columbia University. He is the author of Studies in the Word-formation of the Latin Inscriptions.

OLDROYD, OSBORN H., author, was born July 31, 1842, in Mount Vernon, Ohio. He is Curator of the Lincoln Museum of Washington, D. C. He is the author of Soldiers Story of the Siege of Vicksburg.

O'LEARY, CORNELIUS M., educator, was born about 1840 in Ireland. In 1864 he became professor of logic and metaphysics, and lecturer on physiology in Manhattan college, N. Y., and afterward filled the chair of Greek and Latin, besides lecturing on various scientific subjects.

OLIVER, CHARLES AUGUSTUS, physician, scientist, author, was born Dec. 14, 1858, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is surgeon to Wills' Eye and Philadelphia hospitals. He is the author of Correlation Theory of Color Perception; and Ophthalmic Methods in Recognition of Nerve Diseases.

O'NEIL, CHARLES, naval officer, was born March 15, 1842, in England. In 1861 he entered the American navy from Massachusetts. Having rendered much valuable service afloat and ashore, he attained the rank of captain in 1897; and was assigned to duty as chief of the bureau of ordnance, with the rank of rear-admiral while filling that office.

O'REAR, EDWARD CLAY, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 2, 1863, in Montgomery county, Ky. Since 1901 he has been judge of the Kentucky court of appeals.

O'REILLY, BERNARD, clergyman, was born in 1823 in Ireland. He was professor of rhetoric in St. John's college at Fordham, N. Y. He afterward traveled extensively through Europe, at the same time devoting himself with success to literary pursuits. His intercourse with Pius IX and Leo XIII has been confidential, and the latter pontiff selected him to write the official Life of Leo XIII. He was raised to the dignity of domestic prelate of the papal throne in 1887. He is the author of Mirror of True Womanhood; Life of Pius IX; Key of Heaven; The Two Brides, a novel; and Life of Leo XIII.

ORLAY, GEORGE BOAL, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 22, 1850, in Petersburg, Pa. In 1878-87 he was district attorney of Huntingdon county, Pa. Since 1895 he has been judge of the superior court of Pennsylvania.

ORR, ALEXANDER ECTOR, merchant, was born March 2, 1831, in Ireland. In 1850 he visited the United States, and settled here permanently in 1851, finding employment first in a firm of commission and shipping merchants; and in 1858 with David Dows & Co. In 1861 he was admitted as a partner, having been elected to membership in the Produce exchange in 1859.

ORRIS, S. STANHOPE, educator, author, was born Feb. 19, 1838, in Pennsylvania. Since 1877 he has been professor of Greek language and literature in Princeton University. He is the author of Greek Text of The Teaching of the Twelve Apostles.

OSBORN, HERBERT, zoologist, entomologist, author, was born March 19, 1856, in Lafayette, Wis. Since 1890 he has been entomologist of experiment station; becoming in 1898 state entomologist of Iowa. He is the author of Insects Affecting Domestic Animals.

OSBORNE, ADRIENNE, musician, composer, was born in Buffalo, N. Y. For her interpretation of Carmen she received gold medals from the Prince of Sondershausen and Duke of Altenburg.

OSBORNE, JOHN BALL, lawyer, author, was born June 24, 1869, in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. Since 1897 he has been joint secretary of Reciprocity Commission at Washington, D. C. He is the author of The Story of Arlington.

OSBORNE, THOMAS O., soldier, lawyer, diplomat, was born Aug. 11, 1832, in Jersey, Ohio. At the beginning of the civil war he offered his services to the government and devoted his time and means to the organization of the thirty-ninth Illinois regiment, of which he became lieutenant-colonel and afterward colonel. For services he was made brigadier-general of volunteers. His other services throughout the war were recognized by promotion to the rank of brevet major-general of volunteers. In 1874-85 he was accredited as consul-general and minister-resident to the Argentine Republic.

OSGOOD, EMMA ALINE, singer, was born about 1852, in Boston, Mass. Her first appearance in public was made in Boston, when she was so successful that she was engaged for two years to sing in Canada and the United States.

OSGOOD, GEORGE LAURIE, musician, composer, was born April 3, 1844, in Chelsea, Mass. Since 1872 he has lived in Boston as a much-sought vocal teacher; and since 1875 has been conductor of the Boylston Club. He is the author of Guide in the Art of Singing.

OSTERBERG, MAX, electrical engineer, author, was born June 12, 1869, in Germany. In 1894 he gave courses of lectures on Electrical Engineering; and in 1895 was appointed Fellow in Mechanics at Columbia University. While editor of the Electric Power, he published a Synopsis of Current Electrical Literature.

OSTERHAUS, PETER JOSEPH, soldier, manufacturer, was born about 1820 in Germany. At the beginning of the civil war he entered the National service as major of the second Missouri volunteers. He was commissioned brigadier-general of volunters in 1862. He was in the Atlanta campaign, the march through Georgia, and the compaign of the Carolinas, being promoted major-general in 1864. In 1866 he became consul at Lyons, OTERO, MIGUEL ANTONIO, banker, governor, was born Oct. 17, 1859, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1897-1901 he was governor of New Mexico.

OTT, EDWARD AMHERST, educator, lecturer, author, was born Nov. 27, 1867, in Youngstown, Ohio. He is dean of Drake University College of Oratory and English at Des Moines, Iowa. He is the author of How to Gesture; How to Use the Voice in Reading and Speaking; Sour Grapes; and Philip Guard, a novel.

OVENSHINE, SAMUEL, soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. In 1861 he was appointed from Maryland as 2d lieutenant 5th infantry; and attained the rank of captain in 1864. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general in United States volunteers; and placed in command of brigade in Philippine Islands.

OVINGTON, IRENE HELEN, nurse, inventor, author, was born Dec. 21, 1836, in New York City. She is secretary of Training School for Nurses of Brooklyn, N. Y. She is an inventor of conveniences for sick room. She is the author of Helps to Home Nursing.

PACKARD, JOSEPH, clergyman, educator, was born Dec. 23, 1812, in Wiscasset, Maine. In 1834-36 he was professor of ancient languages at Bristol College, Pa.; and in 1836-90 was professor of sacred literature in the P. E. theological seminary near Alexandria, Va; and became professor emeritus in 1892. For fifteen years he was dean of the institution. He is the author of Commentary on Malachi; and Recollections of a Long Life.

PADGETT, LEMUEL PHILLIPS, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 28, 1855, in Columbia, Tenn. Since 1879 he has been actively engaged in the practice of law in Columbia, Tenn. In 1896 he was elected to the Tennessee state senate. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress as a democrat.

PAGE, CURTIS HIDDEN, educator, author, poet, was born April 4, 1870, in Greenwood, Mo. He is an extension lecturer on English literature; and since 1895 lecturer in Romance languages and literatures in Columbia University of New York City. He translated A Voyage to the Moon by Cyrano de Bergerac; and is the author of poems, essays, stories in leading magazines.

PAGE, HENRY, lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the court of appeals of Maryland.

PAGE, SAMUEL DAVIS, lawyer, financier, was born Sept. 22, 1840, in Philadelphia, Pa. He entered public life by election to the Philadelphia city councils; and subsequently to the office of city comptroller. In 1886 he was appointed assistant treasurer of the United States.

PAINE, ALBERT BIGELOW, journalist, author, was born July 10, 1861, in New Bedford, Mass. He is editor of the children's department in New York Sunday Herald. He is the author of Autobiography of a Monkey; The Mystery of Evelyn Delorme; The Arkansaw Bear; The Hollow Tree; and Rhymes by Two Friends.

PAINE, CHARLES, civil engineer, author, was born April 25, 1830, in Haverhill, N. H. Since 1891 he has been consulting engineer in New York City. He is the author of Elements of Railroading.

PAINE, ROBERT TREAT, lawyer, legislator, philanthropist, was born Oct. 28, 1835, in Boston, Mass. He practiced law until 1870; then retired. In 1879 he organized Wells Memorial Workingmen's Institution, and is its president; also president Workingmen's Coöperative Bank; Workingmen's Building Association; Workingmen's Loan Association; and since 1878 president of Associated Charities of Boston, Mass. In 1884 he was a member of the Massachusetts legislature. With his wife he created and endowed with two hundred thousand dollars a trust for charitable purposes, named the Robert Treat Paine Association.

PAINTER, FRANKLIN NEWTON, educator, author, was born April 12, 1852, in Hampshire county, Va. Since 1882 he has been professor of modern languages in Roanoke College. He is the author of History of Christian Worship; and other works.

PALMER, ABRAHAM JOHN, soldier, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 18, 1817, in Frenchtown, N. J. In 1861-64 he was a private in company D, 48th regiment New York state volunteers. He is editor of World Wide Missions. He is the author of History 48th Regiment New York State Volunteers.

PALMER, ERASTUS DOW, sculptor, was born April 2, 1817, in Pompey, N. Y. Among his best known works are The Infant Ceres; Morning and Evening; Peace in Bondage; The Angel of the Sepulchre; and The White Captive.

PALMER, FRANK WAYLAND, journalist, publisher, congressman, was born Oct. 11, 1827, in Manchester Ind. In 1858-61 he was editor and joint publisher of Dubuque Times; and in 1861-68 was state printer of Iowa. In 1869-73 he was a member of congress. In 1874-76 he was editor-in-chief of Chicago Inter-Ocean; and postmaster of Chicago in 1877-85. Since 1889 he has been public printer of the United States government.

PALMER, JOHN WILLIAMSON, physician, journalist, author, poet, was born April 4, 1825, in Baltimore Md. In 1849-50 he was first city physician of San Francisco, Cal. During the civil war he was Confederate war correspondent for the New York Tribune. He is the author of The New and The Old; The Beauties and Curiosities of Engraving; and other works.

PALMER, THEODORE SHERMAN, naturalist, author, was born Jan. 26, 1868, in Oakland, Cal. Since 1889 he has been in United States Department of Agriculture; and since 1896 has been assistant chief of biological survey. He is the author of Jack Rabbits of the United States; Extermination of Noxious Animals by Bounties; and List of Generic and Family Names of Rodents.

PALMER, THOMAS WITHERELL, merchant, diplomat, United States senator, was born Jan. 25, 1830, in Detroit, Mich. He made a pedestrian tour in Spain and traveled in South America; and afterward was a merchant in Appleton, Wis. In 1855 he became a lumber merchant and mill-owner in Michigan. In 1878 he was a member of the Michigan state senate. In 1883 he was United States senator as a republican. He was United States minister to Spain in 1889-92. In 1892-93 he was president of the World's Columbian Commission.

PALMEY, FREDERICK, journalist, author, was born Jan. 29, 1873, in Pleasantville, Pa. He was newspaper correspondent in London in 1895-97; Greco-Turkish war in 1897; in the Klondike and Alaska in 1898; in the Philippines in 1899-1900; and Peking relief expedition in 1900. He is the author of The Story of a Little War; In the Klondike; and The Ways of the Service.

PAMMELL, MARY PLATE, author, was born in Albany, N. Y. She is the author of Historical Lines; Metaphysical Stories; and Philosophical Essays.

PANCOAST, HENRY SPACKMAN, educator, author, was born Aug. 24, 1858, in Germantown, Pa. He is the author of Representative English Literature; Introduction to English Literature; and Introduction to American Literature.

PARET, JAHIAL PARMLY, journalist, author, was born Oct. 3, 1870, in Bergen Point N. J. He has been editor of the New York Sun, Tribune, Herald, and Times; and is a special writer and authority on amateur sports.

PARKER, ALTON BROOKS, lawyer, jurist, was born May 14, 1852, in Cortland, N. Y. In 1885 he became judge of the supreme court; and since 1898 has been chief judge of the court of appeals of New York.

PARKER, MRS. BESSIE CHANDLER, journalist, author, was born in 1856, in Batavia, N. Y. She is a daughter of Rear-Admiral Ralph Chandler; and the wife of LeRoy Parker of Michigan. She is the author of A Woman Who Failed.

PARKER, FRANK WILSON, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 16, 1860, in Sturgis Mich. Since 1881 he has practiced law in Hillsboro, N. M. Since 1898 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of New Mexico.

PARKER, HENRY RUST, educator, physician, surgeon, was born Jan. 24, 1836, in Wolfboro, N. H. For many years he was engaged in educational work. In 1881 he removed to Dover, N. H.; became county examining surgeon for pensions; and president of the board. In 1890 he was elected mayor of Dover, the first democratic mayor the city ever had.

PARKER, HORATIO WILLIAM, musician, composer, was born Sept. 15, 1863, in Auburndale, Mass. In 1894 he was called to the chair of music at Yale University. He is the author of numerous compositions.

PARKER, MRS. JANE MARSH, author, was born June 16, 1836, in Milan, N. Y. She is the author of The Midnight Cry; and other works.

PARKER, LEONARD FLETCHER, soldier, educator, legislator, author, was born Aug. 3, 1825, in Arcade, N. Y. He is emeritus professor of history in Iowa College. He attained the rank of lieutenant in the Union army in 1864. In 1868-70 he was a member of the Iowa legislature. He is the author of History of Education in Iowa.

PARKHURST, HOWARD ELMORE, musician, author, was born Sept. 13, 1848, in Ashland, Mass. He is a composer of oratorio, cantata, church music, orchestral symphonies and overture. He is the author of The Birds' Calendar; Songbirds and Waterfowl; and How to Name the Birds.

PARKINSON, CHARLES LATHROP, chemist, author, was born March 23, 1867, in New Marlboro, Mass. Since 1890 he has been professor of chemistry in New PARLANGE, CHARLES, lawyer, state senator, lieutenant-governor, jurist, was born July 23, 1851, in New Orleans, La. In 1879 he was a delegate to constitutional convention; and member of the Louisiana state senate in 1880-85. In 1885-89 he was United States attorney for the eastern district of Louisiana; and lieutenant-governor of Louisiana in 1892-93. In 1893-94 he was associate justice of Louisiana supreme court; and since 1894 has been United States judge for the eastern district of Louisiana.

PARRISH, STEPHEN, artist, was born July 9, 1846. He was engaged in mercantile pursuits until his thirtieth year, when he applied himself to art.

Hampshire College. He is the author of Mineralogy; Crystallography; and Blowpipe Analysis.

PARSONS, E. A., musician, composer. Since 1894 he has been organist and choir-director of the Church of the Divine Paternity of New York City. He is the author of Legend of the Fountain.

PARSONS, FRANK N., lawyer, jurist, associate justice of supreme court of New Hampshire.

PARSONS, JAMES RUSSELL, educator, author, was born in February, 1861, in Hoosick Falls, N. Y. He is secretary of the University of the State of New York. He is the author of French Schools; Prussian Schools; and several other educational works.

PARSONS, WILLIAM BARCLAY, civil engineer, author, was born April 15, 1859. He is chief engineer Rapid Transit Commission of New York City. He is chief of engineers, and brigadier-general in National Guard in the state of New York. He is the author of Track; Turnouts; and An American Engineer in China.

BARTON, HENRY WOODBRIDGE, artist, was born Nov. 28, 1858, in Hudson, N. Y. He has had no regular art-instruction, but began to exhibit in the Academy of design in 1878. He exhibited in the Royal Academy, London, in the spring of 1884.

PASMORE, HENRY BICKFORD, musician, composer, was born June 27, 1857, in Jackson, Wis. He is organist of St. John's Episcopal church; and professor singing in the University of the Pacific, San Jose. He is the author of Conclave March; and Miles Standish.

PATON, LEWIS BAYLES, theologian, author, was born June 27, 1864, in New York City. He is professor of theology in Hartford Theological Seminary. He is the author of Early History of Syria and Palestine.

PATRICK, GEORGE THOMAS WHITE, educator, author, was born Aug. 19, 1857, in North Boscawen, N. H. Since 1887

he has been professor of philosophy in University of Iowa. He is the author of The Fragments of the Work of Heraclitus of Ephesus.

PARTRIDGE, EDWARD LASELL, physician, author, was born Sept. 27, 1853, in Newton, Mass. He has been physician to the New York nursery and child's hospital since 1881; and surgeon to the Maternity hospital in 1884-86. He was instructor in obstetrics in the New York college of physicians and surgeons for several years; professor in the New York post-graduate medical school in 1883-85; and later was visiting physician to the New York hospital. He is the author of a Manual of Obstetrics.

PATTEE, WILLIAM SULLIVAN, lawyer, legislator, author, was born Sept. 19, 1846, in Jackson, Maine. In 1884 he was elected a member of the Minnesota legislature. He is the author of Illustrative Cases in Realty; Elements of Contracts; and Elements of Equity.

PATTERSON, CHARLES BRODIE, lecturer, author, was born March 19, 1854, in Canada. He is an instructor in the art of breathing. He is the author of Seeking the Kingdom; Beyond the Clouds; New Thought Essays; and Studies in Spiritual Science.

PATTERSON, MRS. JOHNSON MARTHA, was born Oct. 25, 1828, in Greenville, Tenn. In 1857 she married Judge David T. Patterson. She presided at the White House in place of her invalid mother; and with her sister assisted in the first reception that was held by President Johnson in 1866.

PATTERSON, MALCOLM RICE, lawyer, congressman, was born June 7, 1861, in Somerville, Ala. In 1894-1900 he was attorney-general for Shelby county, Tenn. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Tennessee as a democrat.

PATTERSON, ROBERT WILSON, journalist, was born Nov. 30, 1850, in Chicago, Ill. He became a reporter on the Chicago Times; then on The Interior; and since 1873 has been with the Chicago Tribune. On the death of Joseph Medill, he became editor-in-chief.

PATTON, NORMAND SMITH, architect, was born July 10, 1852, in Hartford, Conn. In 1897-98 he was architect for board of education of Chicago, Ill.; and designed many school and institute buildings in that city and elsewhere. He is president of Chicago Municipal Improvement League.

PAUL, JOHN RODMAN, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 6, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is president Philadelphia College Settlement. He is the author of Digest of Acts and Decisions Relating to Passenger Railways.

PAYNE, JOHN BARTON, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 26, 1855, in Pruntytown, Va. In 1889 he was president of the Chicago Law Institute. In 1893-98 he was judge of the superior court of Cook County, Ill.

PAYNE, OLIVER A., capitalist, philanthropist. He is one of the principal owners and managers of the Standard Oil Co. In 1898 he gave $1,500,000 for the endowment of a medical school at Cornell university.

PAYNE, WILLIAM HUDSON, journalist, author, was born Jan. 9, 1865, in Whiteside county, Ill. Since 1897 he has been financial editor of the The Economist of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Jerry, the Dreamer; and The Money Captain.

PAYNE, WILLIAM HENRY, soldier, was born June 15, 1830, in Clifton, Fauquier county, Va. At the beginning of the civil war he raised and organized the Black horse cavalry and was its first captain, commanding it at the battle of Bull Run. He was made lieutenant-colonel of the 4th Virginia cavalry in 1862; colonel in September, 1863; and brigadier-general in the Confederate service in 1864.

PAYSON, WILLIAM FARQUHAR, journalist, author, was born in New York City. He is the author of The Copymaker, a story of newspaper life; and The Title-mongers.

PEABODY, CECIL HOBART, naval architect, author, was born Aug. 9, 1855, in Burlington, Vt. Since 1893 he has been professor of marine engineering and naval architecture in the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is the author of Thermodynamics of the Steam Engine; Valve Gear for Steam Engines; and Manual of Steam Engine Indicator.

PEABODY, FRANCIS GREENWOOD, clergyman, theologian, author, was born in 1847, in Boston, Mass. Since 1886 he has been Plummer professor of Christian morals in Harvard university. He is the author of Mornings in the college Chapel; Short Addresses to Young Men on Personal Religion; Founder's Day at Hampton; and Afternoons in the College Chapel.

PEABODY, GEORGE HARMAN, art writer, philanthropist, was born in Baltimore, Md. He is the chief founder of the free and Unsectarian Peabody Home for Aged and Indigent Women.

PEABODY, HENRY CLAY, lawyer, jurist, was born April 14, 1838, in Gilead, Maine. In 1880-1900 he was judge of probate for Cumberland county, Maine. Since 1900 he has been justice of the supreme judicial court of Maine.

PEABODY, JOSEPHINE PRESTON, author, poet, was born in New York City. She is the author of Old Greek Folk-Stories; The Wayfarers; A Book of Verse; Fortune and Men's Eyes; New Poems with a Play.

PEACOCK, VIRGINIA TATNALL, journalist, author, was born Jan. 7, 1873, in Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of Famous American Belles of the Nineteenth Century.

PEAKE, ELMORE ELLIOTT, author, was born March 25, 1871, in Decatur, Ohio. He has been private secretary to presidents of several railroad companies. He is the author of The Darlingtons, a novel of modern American life.

PEALE, ALBERT CHARLES, geologist, author, was born April 1, 1849 in Hecksherville, Pa. Since 1898 he has been geologist-aid in section of paleobotany of the United States National Museum. He is the author of Yellowstone National Park and American Springs; The Classification of American Mineral Waters; Mineral Springs of the United States; and The Natural Mineral Waters of the United States.

PEARCE, JAMES ALFRED, lawyer, jurist, was born April 2, 1840, in Chestertown, Md. Since 1897 he has been judge of the court of appeals of Maryland.

PEARCE, STEPHEN AUSTEN, musician, composer, was born Nov. 7, 1836, in London, England. In 1879-85 he was Organist of the Collegiate Church of New York City. He is the author of several operas and other compositions.

PEARRE, GEORGE ALEXANDER, lawyer, congressman, was born July 16, 1860, in Cumberland, Md. In 1890 he was elected to the state senate of Maryland. In 1887 he became a member of the Maryland National Guard; and in 1889 was commissioned lieutenant-colonel. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

PEARSE, CARROLL GARDNER, educator, was born Nov. 2, 1858, in Tabor, Iowa. Since 1895 he has been superintendent of city schools of Omaha, Neb. He has been president Nebraska State Teachers' Association; president Nebrabraska Schoolmasters' Club.

PEARSON, EDWARD N., journalist, public official, was born Sept. 7, 1859, in Boscawen, N. H. In 1882-98 he was editor Concord Evening Monitor; public printer of New Hampshire in 1893-97; and since 1899 secretary of state.

PEARY, MRS. JOSEPHINE DIEBITSCH, arctic traveler, author, was born in Washington, D. C. She is the wife of Lieutenant R. E. Peary, explorer; and accompanied him on his 1891-92 and 1893-94 expeditions as far as winter quarters in Greenland. She was the first white woman to winter with an arctic expedition; and gave birth to a daughter, the most northerly born white child in the world. She accompanied her husband on his arctic trip in 1897. She is the author of My Arctic Journal.

PEARY, ROBERT EDWIN, civil engineer, explorer, author, was born May 6, 1856, in Cresson, Pa. In 1887-88 he was engineer in charge of Nicaragua Canal surveys; and invented rolling-lock gates for canal. He has made several arctic explorations; and in 1894 discovered the famous Iron Mountain; in 1898 again started North to endeavor to place the American flag at North Pole. He is the author of Northward Over the Great Ice, a Complete Narrative of Arctic Work.

PEASE, ERNEST MONDELL, educator, author, was born Dec. 24, 1859, in West Union, Iowa. He is professor of Latin in Leland Stanford Jr. University of California. He is the author of Relative Value of Manuscripts of Terence; and The Development of Latin Satire.

PEASLEE, ROBERT JAMES, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 23, 1864, in Weare, N. H. Since 1898 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of New Hampshire.

PECH, JAMES, musician, lecturer, was born Dec. 23, 1830, in England. In 1866 he was appointed an organist of Trinity parish of New York City. He subsequently established the church music association, by which Mozart's Requiem and Beethoven's Mass in D, with an orchestra of ninety and a chorus of four hundred were produced for the first time in America.

PECKHAM, GEORGE W., soldier, educator, librarian, author, was born in 1845 in Albany, N. Y. During the civil war he attained the rank of lieutenant. He has attained success in educational work; has been principal of the high school at Milwaukee, Wis.; and librarian Milwaukee public library. He is the author of numerous scientific works.

PECK, HIRAM DAVID, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born March 23, 1844, in Harrison county, Ky. He was private company A, 86th Ohio infantry in 1862. In 1876 he was city solicitor of Cincinnati, Ohio; and in 1883-89 judge of the superior court of Cincinnati.

PEEBLES, JAMES MARTIN, physician, journalist, author, was born March 23, 1822, in Whitingham, Vt. He is editor and proprietor of Temple of Health of Battle Creek, Mich. He has three times circumnavigated the globe, lecturing in New Zealand, Australia, Ceylon, India, South Africa, Palestine and Egypt. He is the author of Seers of the ages; Immortality and Our Homes Hereafter; How to Live a Century and Grow Old Gracefully; Three Journeys Around the World; and The Christ Question Settled.

PEGRAM, ROBERT BAKER, naval officer, was born Dec. 10, 1811, in Dinwiddie county, Va. In 1847 he served in the Mexican war; and in 1852 took part in the Japan expedition. He served in the Norfolk navy-yard in 1856-58; in the Paraguay expedition in 1858; and in 1859 was a commissioner to define the limits of the Newfoundland fisheries. He resigned from the United States navy in 1861; became a captain in the Virginia service; commanded at the navy yard of Norfolk after its evacuation by the United States forces; and erected a battery at Pig Point, Nansemond river, with which he disabled the United States steamer Harriet Lane, which was surveying the river and placing buoys. In 1864 a fund was raised in Virginia to purchase and equip in England a naval force to be called the Virginia volunteer navy, and to be commanded by him.

PEIRCE, MRS. MELUSINA FAY, founder, author, was born Feb. 24, 1836, in Burlington, Vt. She originated theories of Co-operative Housekeeping and Co-operative Farming; and organized the Boston Woman's Educational Association, Woman's Philharmonic Society of New York, and other associations of women. In 1869 she was president of the first Woman's Parliament ever held in New York city. She is the author of Co-operative Housekeeping, How Not to Do It and How to Do It.

PELOUBET, FRANCIS NATHAN, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 2, 1831, in New York city. He is the author of Selected Notes on the International Sunday School Lessons, twenty-five annual volumes in 1875-99.

PENFIELD, FREDERIC COURTLAND, journalist, diplomat, author, was born April 23, 1855, in Connecticut. In 1893-97 he was diplomatic agent and consul-general to Egypt. He is the author of Present Day Egypt.

PENFIELD, SAMUEL LEWIS, mineralogist, author, was born Jan. 16, 1856, in Catskill, N. Y. He is professor of mineralogy in Yale university. He is the author of Brush-Penfield Determinative Mineralogy and Blow-Pipe Analysis.

PENHALLOW, CHARLES S., was born May 10, 1852. He is prominent in the public affairs of Massachusetts at Boston.

PENNEWIEL, JAMES, lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the court of errors and appeals of Delaware.

PENNIMAN, JOSIAH HARMAR, educator, author, was born July 20, 1868, in Concord, Mass. He is dean of the college and assistant professor of English literature in University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of The War of the Theatres, a study of an incident in the history of the Elizabethan drama.

PENNINGTON, ALEXANDER CUMMINGS, soldier, was born Jan. 8, 1836, in Newark, N. J. Since 1898 he has been brigadier-general of United States volunteers.

PENNINGTON, JEANNE G., educator, author, was born in New Castle county, Del. She became a teacher; and had a private school in Chester, Pa. She is the author of Some Marked Passages; and Life's Fitful Fever.

PENNINGTON, WILLIAM, congressman, governor. He was governor and chancellor of the state of New Jersey for many years; and also speaker of the United States house of representatives.

PENNOCK, ANNA M., psychologist, author, was born in Lancaster county, Pa. In 1894 she began teaching classes, private pupils; and lecturing on practical psychology. She is the author of Creative Force in Vegetable, Animal and Human World; Inside Our Own Doors; A Key to Success; The Thought Circle; and Thoughts and Words.

PENNYPACKER, GALUSHA, soldier, was born June 1, 1844, in Chester county, Pa. He is colonel and breveted major-general in the United States army, retired.

PENROSE, CHARLES BINGHAM, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 1, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has been surgeon to Gynecean hospital of Philadelphia from its foundation in 1887. He is the author of Text Book of Diseases of Women.

PENROSE, WILLIAM HENRY, soldier, inventor, was born March 10, 1832, in Sackett's Harbor, N. Y. In 1865 he was commissioned a brigadier-general of volunteers. During the war he won the brevets in the regular army, including that of brigadier-general. In 1896 he was retired. He invented several mechanical devices; and a set of infantry equipments which was recommended by a board of officers.

PEPPER, CHARLES M., journalist, author, was born Nov. 11, 1860, in Ohio. In 1901 he was a delegate to the Pan American congress. He is the author of To-morrow in Cuba.

PEPPER, GEORGE WHARTON, lawyer, author, was born in 1867, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of The Borderland of Federal and State Decisions; Pleading at Common Law and Under the Codes; and Digest of Decisions and Encyclopaedia of Pennsylvania Law, 1754-1898.

PEPPER, JOHN R., merchant, author, was born April 6, 1850, in Montgomery county, Va. He is a member of the International Sunday School executive and and lesson committee. He is president of Hernando Insurance company. He is the author of Modern Sunday School Superintendent; Quiver Tips for Lovers of Sunday School Work; and Tried Plans of Sunday School Work.

PERABO, ERNST, musician, composer, was born Nov. 14, 1845, in Germany. Since 1866 he has given concerts in the west and at Boston which established his reputation as a concert-pianist. He is a well-known and influential teacher. He is the author of various original pianoforte compositions.

PERCIVAL, HENRY ROBERT, clergyman, author, was born in 1854, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1880 he has been rector of Church of the Evangelist of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of The Doctrine of the Episcopal Church; The Glories of the Episcopal Church; and A Digest of Theology.

PEREA, PEDRO, banker, congressman, was born April 22, 1852, in Bernalillo, N. M. He has been principally engaged in farming and sheep raising; and was at one time president of the First National Bank of Santa Fe. He was four times a member of the council of the New Mexico legislature. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from New Mexico as a republican.

PERKINS, CHARLES ALBERT, electric engineer, author, was born Oct. 31, 1858, in Ware, Mass. Since 1892 he has been professor of physics and electric engineering in the University of Tennessee. He is the author of Outlines of Electricity and Magnetism.

PERRY, ALEXANDER JAMES, soldier, was born Dec. 11, 1828, in New London, Conn. He served against Seminole Indians and was professor of mathematics at West Point in 1852-57. He reached brevet rank of brigadier-general in United States army; and retired in 1890.

PERRY, ANTONIO, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 5, 1871, in Honolulu, H. I. Since 1900 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Territory of Hawaii.

PERRY, J. FRANK, physician, author, was born July 11, 1846, in Biddeford, Maine. He entered the United States navy in 1862, and served until near the close of the civil war. In 1873-86 practiced medicine in Boston, Mass. He is the author of Friend in Need; Health in Our Homes; Health of Our Children; Kennel Secrets; Kennel Diseases; and Dogs in Health and Disease.

PERSHING, CYRUS L., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Feb. 3, 1825, in Youngstown, Pa. In 1862-66 he was a member of the Pennsylvania legislature. He has been a candidate for congress and for judge of the supreme court. In 1872-99 he was presiding judge of the court of Schuylkill county, Pa.; and presided over the famous Mollie McGuire trials.

PETERS, JOHN PUNNETT, clergyman, theologian, author, was born Dec. 16, 1852, in New York city. Since 1893 he has been rector of St. Michael's church of New York city. He is the author of Scriptures, Hebrew and Christian.

PETERS, WILLIAM E., soldier, educator, author, was born Aug. 18, 1829, in Bedford county, Va. Since 1886 he has been profesor of Latin in University of Virginia. He is the author of Work on Latin Case Relations; and Syntax of Latin Verb.

PETTEY, CHARLES CALVIN, educator, clergyman, bishop, was born Dec. 3, 1849, near Wilkesboro, N. C. He is of African descent, and was born a slave, but acquired an education by his own efforts; and in 1878 was graduated at Biddle university of Charlotte, N. C. He then became a teacher; entered the ministry of the African Methodist Episcopal Zion church; and later became bishop. He is the author of Events By the Way.

PHELAN, RICHARD, clergyman, bishop, was born Jan. 1, 1828, in Ireland. Since 1899 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Pittsburg, Pa.

PHELPS, ELLSWORTH C., musician, composer, was born Aug. 11, 1827, in Middletown, Conn. He has held various important positions as organist; and has taught in the public schools for more than thirty years, principally in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of two comic operas; sacred operetta; and other compositions.

PHILIPPOTEAUX, PAUL, artist, was born Jan. 27, 1846, in France. He is a noted artist of New York city.

PHILIPSON, DAVID, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 9, 1862, in Wabash,

Ind. He is professor of homiletics in the Hebrew Union college of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the anthor of The Jew in English Fiction; and The Oldest Jewish Congregation in the West.

PHILLIPS, FREMONT ORESTES, was born March 16, 1856, in Lafayette, Ohio. Since 1880 he has been engaged in the practice of law in Medina, Ohio, with the exception of six years during which he held the office of probate judge of Medina county. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Ohio as a republican.

PHILLIPS, GEORGE L., lawyer, jurist, was born March 2, 1844, at Keokuk, Iowa. He is a lawyer of Cleveland, Ohio; and was judge of the court of common pleas ten years in 1884-94. He is the author of Phillips on Code Pleading.

PHILLIPS, HENRY WALLACE, artist, author, was born Jan. 11, 1869, in New York city. He was assistant editor of St. Nicholas. He is the author of Fables for the Times.

PHILLIPS, JOHN HERBERT, educator, author, was born Dec. 12, 1852, in Birmingham, Ala. In 1895 he was president of the Southern Educational association. He is the author of History and Literature in Grammar Schools; and The Negro and Education.

PHILLIPS, MORRIS, journalist, author, was born May 9, 1834, in London, England. Since 1854 he has been editor of the Home Journal of New York city. He is the author of Abroad and at Home.

PHILLIPS, WALTER POLK, journalist, author, was born June 14, 1846, in Grafton, Mass. In 1870 he became managing editor of the Providence Herald and two years later founded the Attleboro Chronicle. He is superintendent of the Associated Telegraph Line; and is the inventor of Phillips' System of steno-telegraphy. He is the author of a volume of stories.

PIER, ARTHUR STANWOOD, journalist, author, was born April 21, 1874, in Pittsburg, Pa. Since 1896 he has been associate editor of Youth's Companion. He is the author of The Pedagogues; and The Sentimentalists.

PIERSON, JOHN FRED, soldier, merchant, was born Feb. 25, 1839, in New York city. In 1865 he was breveted brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious services during the civil war. Since 1866 he has been a merchant of New York city. He is president of the Army and Navy club of New York city.

PIGOTT, WILLIAM TRIGG, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 3, 1861, in Boonville, Mo. Since 1897 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Montana.

PIKE, ROBERT GORDON, lawyer, jurist, was born July 28, 1851, in Rollinsford, N. H. Since 1896 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of New Hampshire.

PILLSBURY, JOHN ELIOT, naval officer, was born Dec. 15, 1846, in Lowell, Mass. During the civil war he was a page in the house of representatives at Washington. He graduated from the naval academy; and has been stationed at the Boston navy yard and on various war-ships with the rank of lieutenant commander. He is the author of Dangers of the South Pacific; Atlantic Coast Pilot; Charts and Chart-making; and The Gulf Stream.

PILSBRY, HENRY A., conchologist, author, was born Dec. 8, 1862, in Iowa City, Iowa. He is now conservator of conchological section and professor of malacology in Academy of Natural Sciences of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of The Manual of Conchology, in sixteen volumes; and Guide to the Study of Helices.

PINCHOT, GIFFORD, horticulturist, author, was born Aug. 11, 1865, in Simsbury, Conn. Since 1898 he has been forester in the United States Department of Agriculture. He is the author of The White Pine: and The Adirondack Spruce.

PINKERTON, SAMUEL JOHNSON, educator, clergyman, poet, was born March 27, 1820, in Chester county, Pa. For over half a century he has been a clergyman of the Protestant Episcopal church; and now fills a pastorate in Augusta, Ga. He is the author of a Volume of Poems.

PINKERTON, WILLIAM ALLAN, soldier, detective, was born April 7, 1846, in Dundee, Ill. He is a son of Allan Pinkerton, a noted detective. He entered the secret service division of the United States army in 1861; and served through the civil war, chiefly in the Army of the Potomac. He succeeded to the detective business on the death of Allan Pinkerton in 1884.

PITKIN, MRS. SARAH HOWARD, genealogist, was born Dec. 12, 1853. She is an occasional contributor to the press; connected with the Historical society of Hartford, Conn.; and organizer of the Art club. She is the author of the Pitkin Genealogy.

PLATZEK, M. WARLEY, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 27, 1854, in North Carolina. In 1894 he was a member of the constitutional convention of New York. He is the author of Trial by Jury: Israel and Isham; and American Grit.

PLUMB, HENRY BLACKMAN, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 13, 1829. He is a retired lawyer of Luzerne county, Pa. He is the author of the Plumb Genealogy; History of Wyoming Valley; and other local historical works.

PLUME, JOSEPH WILLIAM, soldier, banker, was born Aug. 23, 1839 in Troy, N. Y. He entered the banking business, and rose to be cashier and vice-president. He has held every grade of army rank from private to major-general. During the civil war he served as acting adjutant-general of the third division of the second army corps. He had forty years' continuous service in the National guard of New Jersey, rising to the rank of major-general. During the Spanish-American war in 1898 he was created brigadier-general of volunteers; and served with the second corps under General Graham.

PLUMMER, MARY WRIGHT, librarian, author, poet, was born in 1856, in Richmond, Ind. She is librarian of Pratt Institute free library of Brooklyn, N. Y. She is the author of Hints to Small Libraries; and A Volume of Poems.

PLUMMER, STANLEY, lawyer, state senator, was born in 1846, in Dexter Maine. He was a member of the house of representatives at the age of twenty-two; elected city solicitor of Bangor; chief clerk of the department of the interior; and was made internal revenue agent and served for years in all parts of the country. He was postmaster of the United States senate for four years; was again a member of the house in 1845; and is now state senator from the tenth senatorial district.

PLYMPTON, ALMIRA GEORGE, author, was born in Boston, Mass. She is the author of A Willing Transgressor; A Bird of Promise; Dear Daughter Dorothy; Betty, a Butterfly; The Little Sister of Wilifred; Robin's Recruit; Penelope Prig; The Black Dog; Dorothy and Anton; Rags and Velvet Gowns; Wanolasset; A Flower of the Wilderness; and Gerald and Geraldine.

POE, JOHN PRENTISS, lawyer, state senator, author. He has served with distinction as attorney-general; and was a member of the state senate of Maryland. He is the author of a published work.

POFFENBARGER, GEORGE, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 24, 1861, in Mason county, W. Va. Since 1901 he has been judge of the supreme court of appeals of West Virginia for term ending in 1912.

POLAND, WILLIAM CAREY, artist, author, was born Jan. 25, 1846, in Goffstown, N. H. He is professor of the history of art in Brown university of Providence, R. I.; and president of the Rhode Island school of design. He is the author of Notes and Questions on the History of Art in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries.

POLK, CHARLES H., clergyman, author. He is a clergyman of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Pioneers of Massachusetts.

POLK, JAMES T., manufacturer, inventor. He was the first man in Indiana to put up peas, corn and tomatoes. He started his establishment with a single cook stove; and his immense factory now turns out millions of cans annually.

POLK, RUFUS K., soldier, manufacturer, congressman, was born Aug. 23, 1866, in Columbia, Tenn. He served in the Spanish-American war as first lieutenant of Company F, twelfth regiment of Pennsylvania volunteers. He is engaged in steel manufacture at Danville, Pa. He was a member of the fifty-sixth congress from Pennsylvania.

POLLARD, PERCIVAL, journalist, author, was born in 1869 in Pomerania. He is the author of Figaro Fiction; Cape of Storms; Posters in Miniature; Dreams of To-day; and The Kiss that Killed

POMEROY, ELTWEED, manufacturer, author, was born Sept. 7, 1860, in Newark, N. J. He is president of the corporation of Pomeroy Brothers Company, in whose factory profit-sharing has been several years in operation. He is president of National Direct Legislation League. He is the author of By the People.

POND, CHARLES M., lawyer jurist, was born in 1846, in Walworth county, Wis. Since 1875 he has lived in Minneapolis where he has successfully practiced his profession of law. In 1890 he was elected to the district bench for six years; and in 1898 was elected for a second term.

POOR, AGNES BLAKE, author, was born in Bangor, Maine. She is a daughter of Henry Varnum Poor, banker and editor of Poor's Railway Manual. She is the author of Brothers and St. angers and Bostor Neighbors.

POPE, YOUNG JOHN, soldier, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born April 10 1841, in Newberry, S. C. He entered confederate army as private, rising to be adjutant and afterward assistant adjutant-general Conner's brigade of infantry. In 1865-68 he was district judge of Newberry; was five years mayor of Newberry: and afterward member of the legislature and state senator. In 1890-91 he was attorney-general of South Carolina. Since 1891 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of South Carolina.

PORTER, CHARLOTTE, journalist, author, was born in 1859 in Towanda, Pa. She is the author of Dramatic Motive in Browning's Strafford; and Browning Study Programmes.

PORTER, DWIGHT, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 28, 1855, in Hartford, Conn. He is professor of hydraulic engineering in Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is the author of Report Upon Water-Power of the Rivers of Maine; and other works.

PORTER, FRANK ADDISON, musician, composer, was born Sept. 3, 1859, in Dixmont, Maine. In 1884-92 he was pianoprofessor of New England Conservatory of music; and since 1892 superintendent of Normal Course. He is the author of Prelude and Fugue, Nocturnes; Mazurka; instructive pieces; System of Finger-Technique; and a Method for Pianoforte.

PORTER, ROBERT P., jorunalist, author, was born June 30, 1852, in England. He founded the New York Press with Frank Hutton. In 1889-93 he was superintendent of the eleventh census. In 1898-99 he was special commissioner to Cuba. He is the author of Life of William McKinley; Municipal Ownership at Home and Abroad; and Industrial Cuba.

PORTER, WILLIAM WAGLNER, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 5, 1856, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1897 he has been judge of the superior court of Pennsylvania. He is the author of The Law Relating to Bills of Lading.

POSEY, FRANCIS B., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born April 26, 1848, in Petersburg, Ind. In 1887-89 he was a member of congress from Indiana. He now practices law in Evansville, Ind. In 1899 he was a candidate for the United States senate.

POST, CHARLES CYREL, philanthropist, author, was born May 16, 1846 in Shiawassee, Mich. He is the author of Driven from Sea to Sea; Metaphysical Essays; Men and Gods; and From Wabash to the Rio Grande.

POST, GEORGE EDWARD, clergyman, physician, author, was born Dec. 17, 1838, in New York city. He is the author of Flora of Syria, Palestine and Sinai.

POST, LOUIS FREELAND, journalist, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 15, 1849, in Vienna, N. J. He became interested in Henry George and his teachings; ran for congress on labor ticket in 1882; and has since advocated single tax and allied economic reforms. In 1898 he founded The Public of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of An Explanation with Diagrams of the Single Tax.

POST, MELVILLE DAVISSON, lawyer, author, was born April 19, 1869, in Harrison county, W. Va. He was a member of the Electoral college of 1892. He is the author of The Strange Schemes of Randol Mason; and the Man of Last Resorf.

POTTER, BURTON WILLIS, soldier, lawyer, legislator, author, was born Feb. 8, 1843, in Colesville, Broome county, N. Y. He served in the civil war as a private to sergeant in Company A, fourteenth Vermont volunteers. He has been three years a member of the Massachusetts legislature. He is the author of The Road and the Roadside.

POTTER, MRS. CORA URQUHART, actress, was born in New Orleans, La. Since 1887 she has appeared in a variety repertory, including many leading legitimate dramas; made a starring tour of the world; played in England in 1898.

POTTER, EDWARD TUCKERMAN, architect, composer, was born Sept. 25, 1831, in Schenectady, N. Y. He has given attention principally to collegiate and ecclesiastical architecture. His work is illustrated in the Church of the Heavenly Rest of New York city; the Church of the Good Shepherd of Hartford, Conn.; and Memorial Hall of Schenectady, N. Y. He has resided largely abroad, and is known as a musical composer of much merit.

POTTER, MARGARET HORTON, author, was born 1881, in Chicago, Ill. She is the author of A Social Lion; Uncanonized; and The House of De Mailly.

POTTER, WILLIAM PLUMER, lawyer, jurist, was born April 27, 1857, in Jackson county, Iowa. Since 1900 he has been judge of the supreme court of Penusylvania.

POTTS, THOMAS MAXWELL, journalist, genealogist, was born Feb. 17, 1836, in Chester county, Pa. He was the founder and editor of the Canonsburg Herald until 1888. He is the author of Biography of Major James Pott; Memorial of Jeremiah Carter; Our Family Ancestors; and Historical Collections Relating to the Potts Family.

POTTS, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born May 5, 1838, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1881-91 he was secretary Brooklyn Civil Service Reform Association; and New York Civil service Reform Association. He is now vice president of the National Civil Service Reform League. He is the author of From A New England Hillside.

POU, EDWARD WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 9, 1863, in Tuskegee, Ala. He practiced law in Smithfield, N. C.; and was solicitor in 1890-1900. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from North Carolina as a democrat.

POULSSON, ANNE EMILIE, journalist, author, was born Sept. 8, 1853, in Cedar Grove, N. J. She is joint editor of the Kindergarten Review of Springfield, Mass. She is the author of Nursery Finger Plays; In the Child's World; Through the Farmyard Gate; and Child Stories and Rhymes.

POWELL, WILLIAM BRAMWELL, educator, author, was born Dec. 22, 1836, in Castyle, N. Y. Since 1885 he has been superintendent of schools of Washington, D. C. He is the author of English Grammar; and a series of Language Lessons.

POWERS, ELLA MARIE, educator, composer, author, was born Aug. 19, 1865, in Milford, N. H. She has been principal of Sanborn school of New York city; and has been a constant contributor to educational literature. She is the author of several works on art and biography; and in 1900 began a series of readers, which were published by Morse and Company of New York city.

POWERS, FREDERICK A., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born June 19, 1855, in Pittsfield Maine. In 1891-92 he was a member of the Maine state senate, and in 1893-96 was attorney-general of Maine. Since 1900 he has been justice of the supreme judicial court of Maine.

POWERS, LEGRAND, clergyman, statistician, author, was born in 1847, in Preston, N. Y. In 1874-90 he was engaged in the ministry. In 1891-99 he was commissioner of labor of Minnesota. Since 1899 he has been chief statistician of census in charge of agr. at Washington, D. C. He is the author of Minnesota Bureau of Labor Biennial Reports; and Farmer Hayseed, a reply to Coin's Financial School.

POWERS, PRESTON, sculptor, was born April 3, 1843, in Italy. His first important work was the statue of Jacob Collamer in 1875, which was originally ordered of his father. It was placed in the old hall of representatives in Washington. He executed in 1881 a statue of Reuben Springer for Music Hall, Cincinnati, Ohio. Of his ideal works the figure Maud Muller, and the busts Evangeline, and Peasant-Girl are the best known.

POWERS, SAMUEL L., lawyer, orator, founder, congressman, was born Oct. 26, 1848, in Cornish, N. H. He was the founder of Dartmouth Educational Association; and president Kimball Union Alumni Association of Massachusetts. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Massachusetts as a republican.

POYNTER, THOMAS H., lawyer, jurist congressman, was born Dec. 9, 1851, near Vanceburg, Ky. In 1876-82 he was county attorney. He served in the fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses from Kentucky. In 1885-93 he was judge of the court of appeals of Kentucky; and in 1901 became chief justice.

POYNTER, WILLIAM A., state senator, governor, was born May 29, 1848, in Eureka, Ill. In 1885 he was a member of the Nebraska legislature; and state senator in 1891. In 1898 he was a member of the state commission of Trans-Mississippi Exposition. In 1899-1901 he was governor of Nebraska.

PRANG, LOUIS, engraver, lithographer, publisher, was born March 12, 1824, in Germany. He studied chemistry, color-mixing, designing, engraving, bleaching, printing and dyeing. In 1851 he established himself in Boston as wood engraver; as lithographer in 1858; and as publisher in 1861. He made a specialty of color-printing and became prominent as publisher of Christmas cards and other art publications. He is now president of The Prang Educational Company of Boston; and Tabel-Prang Art Company of Springfield, Mass.

PRANG, MRS. MARY DANA, educator, artist, author was born Oct. 7, 1836, in Syracuse, N. Y. In 1875-80 she was president of the Social Art club of Syracuse, N. Y.; in 1877-1900 was director of Prang Normal Art classes; and president Massachusetts Floral Emblem Society in 1898-1901. She is the author of The Use of Models; and The Prang Complete Course in Form Study and Drawing.

PRATT, SILAS GAMALIEL, musician, composer, was born Aug. 4, 1846, in Addison, Vt. He is principal of the West End School of Music of New York city. He is the author of Zenobia; The Triumph of Columbus and Lucille, grand operas; The Soul of a Song, concert-lecture; and three grand symphonies.

PRENDERGAST, EDMOND FRANCIS, clergyman, bishop, was born May 3, 1843, in Ireland. His first missionary work was as assistant pastor of St. Paul's church, and next as assistant pastor of the church at Susquehanna Depot. In 1874 he became rector of St. Malachy's church in Philadelphia. In 1897 he was appointed auxiliary bishop of Philadelphia.

PRENTICE, SAMUEL OSCAR, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 8, 1850, in North Stonington, Conn. Since 1889 he has been judge of the superior court of Connecticut.

PRESSER, THEODORE, musician, composer, was born July 3, 1848, in Pittsburg, Pa. He established himself in Philadelphia as a publisher of music and musical literature. In 1883 he founded The Etude, a well-known musical monthly of which he is the editor. He has written instructive pieces and studies f. pf., and translated several foreign text-books on music.

PRESTON, GEORGE JUNKIN, physician, author, was born in 1858 in Lexington, Va. He is professor of Neurology in the college of Physicians and Surgeons of Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Hysteria.

PRESTON, S. HORACE, farmer, legislator, was born Oct. 25, 1837, in Oneida, Mich. He is a farmer of Lansing, Mich. He was a representative in the Michigan state legislature; and supervisor and county agent of state board of corrections and charities.

PRICE, MILO BERA, educator, author, was born Sept. 10, 1867, near Newark, Ohio. He is master of history in Worcester Academy, Mass. He is the author of Teutonic Antiquities.

PRICE, SADIE F., botanist, author, was born in Bowling Green, Ky. In 189? she received a medal and diploma for botanical work from the World's Columbian Exposition. She has discovered many rare plants. She is the author of Trees and Shrubs of Kentucky; and Fern-Collector's Handbook and Herburium.

PRICHARD, SARAH JOHNSON, author, was born Jan. 11, 1830, in Waterbury, Conn. She is the author of Martha's Hooks and Eyes; Hugh's Fire on the Mountain; Nat's Shoes; and other works.

PRIME, RALPH EARL, soldier, lawyer, author, was born March 29, 1840, in Matteawan, N. Y. He was twice promoted for signal bravery on field of battle; and in 1863 became brigadier-general, corps headquarters; nominated, March 4, 1863, by President Lincoln to be brigadier general. He has been city attorney of Yonkers; and attorney-general state of New York. He has crossed the ocean ten times, and traveled in Europe, Asia and Africa. He is the author of Descendants of James Prime.

PRIME, SAMUEL THORNTON, agriculturist, author, was born July 31, 1834, in Weston, Conn. He is a compiler of crops statistics. He is the author of Prime's Crop Reports; and Model Farmers and Their Methods.

PRINCE, GEORGE, sailor, soldier, business man, traveler, author, was born Aug. 9, 1817. During the civil war he was captain in the first regiment of the Maine cavalry; has been president of the Marine Insurance Company of Boston, Mass.; and has filled numerous town and municipal city offices. He is the author of Rambles in Chili; Prince Genealogy

PRINGLE, COLEMAN ROBERSON, planter, lecturer, state senator, was born about 1835, in Monroe county, Ga. In 1882-84 he was a member of the Georgia house of representatives; and of the state senate in 1886-87. He was a railroad president for eighteen years; president of Southern Forestry Congress in 1886-87.

PROCTOR, JOHN ROBERT, geologist, was born March 16, 1844, in Mason county, Ky. In 1873 he was appointed an assistant on the geological survey of Kentucky, and remained as such until 1880, when he was made state geologist. In 1893 he was appointed one of the United States civil service commissioners. He was a member of the jury of awards on mines and mining at the World's Columbian exposition in Chicago in 1893.

PROVOST, ANDREW J., lawyer, legislator, genealogist, was born April 2, 1834, in New York City. He was a member of the New York assembly in 1859-61; was a member of the Brooklyn board of education in 1864-68; was school commissioner of Queens county in 1874-78; was justice of the peace and police judge for eight years; and president of the board of education for five years. In 1887-96 he was grand-commander-in-chief for New York of the Knights Templars; and since 1887 has been represeutative of supreme council of that order for Great Britain in the United States.

PROWELL, GEORGE R., educator, journalist, author, was born Dec. 12, 1849, in York, Pa. He is the author of History of York County, Pa.; History of West Jersey; History of Wilmington, Del.; and History of the Eighty-seventh Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers.

PRYOR, WILLIAM RICE, physician, author, was born about 1860. He is professor of gynecology, in New York Polyclinic. He is the author of The Treatment of Pelvic Inflammations.

PUGH, EDWARD FOX, lawyer, author, was born May 30, 1847, in Doylestown, Pa. He is the author of Memoir of Edward Fox; and of Forms and Rules in Admiralty; and is editor of Dunlap's Book of Forms.

PULLMAN, JEREMIAH JOHN, lawyer, legislator, was born June 19, 1849, in Ireland. He is a lawyer of Pensacola, Fla.; and has been a member of the Florida state legislature.

PURDY, WARREN GRAFTON, was born May 20, 1843, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1898 he has been president of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Ry. Co.

PURNELL, THOMAS R., soldier, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born in 1847, in Wilmington, N. C. He entered the Confederate army at sixteen years of age; and surrendered and paroled at Greensboro in 1865. He has served in both branches of the North Carolina legislature. Since 1897 he has been United States district judge of North Carolina.

PUTNAM, ALFRED PORTER, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 10, 1827, in Danvers, Mass. He has been president of Danvers Historical Society from its foundation in 1889. He is the author of Singers' Songs of the Liberal Faith, with sketches of seventy-two Unitarian hymn writers.

PUTNAM, EBEN, journalist, publisher, genealogist, author, was born in 1868, in Salem, Mass. He is the publisher of the Genealogical Quarterly Magazine of Burlington Vt.; and manager of The International Monthly. He has traveled extensively; and is especially noted for his genealogical researches conducted in New England and Great Britain.

PUTNAM, EMILY JAMES, educator, author, was born April 15, 1865, in Canandaigua, N. Y. In 1894-1900 she was dean of Bernard college. She is the author of Selections from Lucian.

PUTNAM, HERBERT, lawyer, librarian, was born Sept. 20, 1861, in New York City. In 1884-87 he was librarian of Minneapolis Athenaeum; in 1881-91 of Minneapolis Public Library; and of Boston Public Library in 1895-99. In 1898 he was president of American Library Association. Since 1899 he has been librarian of congress.

PUTNAM, JOHN PICKERING, architect, inventor, author, was born in 1847 in Boston, Mass. He is the inventor of Sanitas plumbing. He is the author of The Open Fire Place in All Ages; The Principles of House Drainage; Improved Plumbing Appliances; and The Outlook for the Artisan and His Art.

PUTNAM, MRS. MARY TRAILL, author, was born Dec. 3, 1810, in Boston, Mass. She married Samuel R. Putnam, a merchant of Boston, Mass. She is the author of Records of an Obscure Man; The Tragedy of Errors and the Tragedy of Success, a dramatic poem in two parts; Memoir of William Lowell Putnam; Fifteen Days; and a Memoir of Charles Lowell.

PUTNAM, WILLIAM LE BARON, lawyer, jurist, was born May 12, 1835, in Bath, Maine. In 1858-92 he practiced law in Portland; and in 1869 was mayor of Portland. In 1888 he was democratic candidate for governor of Maine. Since 1892 he has been judge of the United States circuit court of Maine.

QUARLES, JAMES ADDISON, educator, author, was born April 30, 1837, in Cooper county, Mo. Since 1886 he has been professor of philosophy in Washington and Lee University. He is the author of Life of F. T. Kemper.

QUARLES, JOSEPH VERY, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born Dec. 16, 1843, in Kenosha, Wis. In 1862 he enlisted in thirty-ninth Wisconsin infantry; and was elected first lieutenant of company C. He has served as district attorney, and mayor of Kenosha, Wis.; and has been a member of both houses of Wisconsin legislature. Since 1888 he has practised law in Milwaukee, Wis. He became United States senator in 1899 for term ending in 1905.

QUARLES, JULIAN MINOR, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 1, 1848, in Caroline county, Va. He commenced the practice of law in Staunton, Va.; and was judge of the county court for several years. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Virginia.

QUARLES, RALPH P., lawyer, jurist, was born June 10, 1855, in Benton, Ky. He is justice of the supreme court of Idaho.

QUIGLEY, JAMES E., clergyman, bishop, was born Oct. 15, 1854, in Canada. Since 1897 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Buffalo, N. Y.

QUINCY, JOSIAH, lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 15, 1859, in Quincy, Mass. For four years he served in Massachusetts legislature; and in 1892 managed literary bureau of Democratic State Committee. In 1893 he was first assistant secretary of state; and was elected mayor of Boston in 1895.

QUIRK, JOHN F., clergyman, educator, author, was born July 23, 1859, in Boston, Mass. Since 1898 he has been vice president of Bostou college. He is the author of A Patron for Scholars.

RABB, MRS. KATE MILNER, author. She is the author of National Epics.

RADFORD, BENJAMIN JOHNSON, educator, clergyman, author, poet, was born Dec. 23, 1838, in Eureka, Ill. He has been president of Eureka, college of Illinois, and Drake university, Des Moines, Iowa. He is the author of Court of Destiny, and Other Poems.

RADFORD, CYRUS S., captain United States marines, was born June 3, 1868, in Hopkinsville, Ky. He is captain in the United States marines. He is the author of Hand-Book of Naval Marines.

RAIMOND, C. E., She is the author of Fatal Gift of Beauty; George Mandeville's Husband; New Moon; and The Open Question.

RAINES, C. W., librarian, author, was born in Austin, Texas. He is state librarian of the Texas state library at Austin, Texas. He is the author of Bibliography of Texas; Life of Santa Anna; and Raines' Year Book of Texas.

RAMSAY, FRANCIS MUNROE, naval officer, was born April 5, 1835, in Washington, D. C. He was in the Mississippi squadron in 1863-64; and later commander gunboat Unadilla in the North Atlantic Squadron in 1864-65. After the war he was in various services; and became rear-admiral in 1894.

RAMSDELL, JOHATHAN GANNETT, lawyer, jurist, pomologist, was born in 1830 in Plymouth, Mich. Since 1861 he has practiced law in Traverse city, Mich. He served four terms as circuit judge of the thirteenth district of Michigan; and was chairman of the executive committee of the State Grange of Michigan in 1886-95.

RAMSEY, MARATHON MONTROSE, philologist, author, was born in 1867, in Newton, Mass. Since 1894 he has been professor of Romance languages in Columbian university of Washington, D. C. He is the author of A Text-Book of Modern Spanish; and Progressive Exercises in Spanish Prose Composition.

RANCK, GEORGE W., author, was born Feb. 13, 1841, in Louisville, Ky. He is the author of History of Lexington, Ky., Girty, the White Indian; The Traveling Church; The Story of Bryan's Station; and The Bivouac of the Dead and its Author.

RAND, BENJAMIN, educator, author, was born July 17, 1856, in Canada. He is instructor of Philosophy in Harvard university. He is the author of Abstract of Ferrier's Greek Philosophy; and Bibliography of Economics.

RANDALL, GEORGE M., soldier, was born in Ohio. During the civil war he attained the rank of captain. He was made lieutenant-colonel and colonel in 1890 for gallant services in Indian warfare in Arizona, 1873-74. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general United States volunteers.

RANDALL, SAMUEL BOND, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 26, 1860, in Adams, N. Y. Since 1896 he has been a teacher of California college. He is the author of Walking with God.

RANDELL, CHOICE B., congressman, He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh congress from Texas as a democrat.

RANSDELL, JOSEPH E., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 7, 1858, in Alexandria, La. He was educated in the public schools of Alexandria and graduted at Union college. Since 1883 he has been engaged in the active practice of law. In 1884-96 he was attorney of the eighth judicial district of Louisiana. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of Louisiana in 1898 which framed a new constitution for the state. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress to fill a vacancy.

RANSOM, GEORGE MARCELLUS, naval officer, was born Jan. 18, 1820, in Springfield, N. Y. He served on the coast of Africa in 1856-57; was commissioned lieutenant-commander in 1862; and when in command of the steam gun-boat Kinea, of the Western Gulf blockading squadron he had several engagements with the enemy. He was promoted commander in 1863, and served with the North Atlantic blockading squadron in command of the steamer Grand Gulf in 1864 and captured three steamers off Wilmington. He was commissioned captain in 1870; commodore in 1877; and was retired in 1882.

RANSOM, JAMES W., lawyer, legislator, was born May 20, 1829, in Liberty, N. Y. He is a lawyer of Portland, Ore.; was a member of the Michigan state legislature in 1875-77; and for fourteen years was city attorney and corporation counsel for the city of Graud Rapids, Mich.

RANSOM, RASTUS SENECA, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born March 31, 1839, in Mount Hawley, Ill. He served in the army of the Potomac as first lieutenant in the fiftieth New York volunteers, commanding his company. He practiced law successfully in New York city; and served for one full term of six years as surrogate of the city and county of New York.

RAPER, CHARLES LEE, educator, lecturer, author, was born March 10, 1870, in High Point, N. C. Since 1900 he has been lecturer in history at Columbia university of New York city. He is the author of The Church and Private Schools of North Carolina.

RAPIER, THOMAS G., journalist. He is one of the most prominent journalists of the south; and manager of the Daily Picayune of New Orleans, La.

RAPP, WILHELM, journalist, author, was born July 14, 1828, in Germany. He is editor-in-chief and vice-president of the Illinois Staats-Zeitung of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Recollections of the German Fatherland by a German-American.

RASSIEUR, LEO, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born April 19, 1844, in Prussia. In 1861-65 he served in the Union army from private to major in the Missouri volunteers. In 1880-90 he was attorney of the board of public schools of St. Louis, Mo.; and was judge of probate court in 1885-99. In 1900 he was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic.

RATHBONE, ST. GEORGE, journalist, author, was born Dec. 26, 1854, in Covington, Ky. He is the author of Baron Sam; Captain Tom; Colonel by Brevet; Dr. Jack; Dr. Jack's Wife; The Fair Maid of Fez; The Fair Revolutionist; The Girl from Hong-Kong; A Goddess of Africa; The Great Mogul; Her Rescue from the Turks; Major Matterson of Kentucky; Miss Caprice; Miss Fairfax of Virginia; Miss Pauline of New York; Monsieur Bob; Mrs. Bob; The Nabob of Singapore; A Son of Mars; The Spider's Web; Squire John; Under Egyptian Skies; Little Miss Millions; A Captain of the Kaiser; At Swords' Points; Dr. Jack's Widow; Saved by the Sword; An American Nabob; A Sailor's Sweetheart; A Chase for a Bride; The Man from Wall Street; Mynheer Joe; and The Man from Denver.

RAVOGLI, AUGUSTUS, physician, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 7, 1851, in Rome, Italy. He is a successful physician and surgeon of Cincinnati, Ohio; and dermatologist to the city hospital. He is the author of The Hygiene of the Skin.

RAWSON, EDWARD KIRK, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 21, 1846, in Albany, N. Y. In 1897 he became superintendent of Naval War Records. He is the author of Twenty Famous Naval Battles, Salamis to Santiago.

RAYMOND, BRADFORD PAUL, clergyman, college president, author, was born April 22, 1846, in Stamford, Conn. Since 1889 he has been president of the Wesleyan university of Middletown, Conn. He is the author of Christianity and the Christ.

RAYMOND, MRS. EVELYN HUNT, author, was born Nov. 6, 1843, in Watertown, N. Y. She is the author of Mixed Pickles; Monica; Little Lady of the Horse; Little Red Schoolhouse; Among the Lindens; and A Daughter of the West.

RAYMOND, JOSEPH HOWARD, physiologist, author, was born about 1842. He is professor of physiology and hygiene in the Long Island college, N. Y. He is the author of Manual of Physiology.

RAYMOND, MARCIUS DENISON, journalist, genealogist, was born April 8, 1833, in Sherburne, N. Y. Since 1859 he has been engaged in journalism; has been postmaster; and has filled various public offices of trust. He is the author of Gray Genealogy; and several Historical works.

RAYMOND, WILLIAM GALT, educator, civil engineer, author, was born March 2, 1859, in Princeton, Iowa. Since 1892 he has been professor of geodesy, road engineering and topographical drawing in Reusselaer Polytechnic institute of Troy, N. Y. He is the author of Plane Surveying.

RAYNE, MRS. MARTHA L., journalist, author, poet, was born in Canada. She is a special writer for Chicago Times-Herald. She is the author of Against Fate, a Novel of Chicago Life; and Fallen Among Thieves.

RAYNER EMMA, journalist, author, was born in 1888 in England. Since 1895 she has been on the staff of the Youth's Companion. She is the author of Free to Serve; and In Castle and Colony.

REA, GEORGE BRONSON, electrical engineer, journalist, author, was born Aug. 28, 1869, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was correspondent for the New York World in bombardment of San Juan, Porto Rico and before Santiago; and made a trip through Porto Rico during the Spanish-American war in the secret service for the United States government. He is the author of Facts and Faucies about Cuba.

REA, SAMUEL, civil engineer, author, was born Sept. 21, 1855, in Hollidaysburg, Pa. He is the author of The Railways Terminating in London.

READ, JOHN ELLIOT, journalist, author, was born Jan. 4, 1845, in South Amherst, Mass. Since 1889 he has been corresponding editor of The Practical Farmer of Philadelphit, Pa. He is the author of Farming for Profit; and Life Triumphant, A Study of the Nature, Origin and Destiny of Man.

READE, PHILIP, soldier, was born Oct. 13, 1844. He is lieutenant-colonel and inspector-general in the United States volunteers; and major fourth regiment United States infantry.

READER, FRANCIS SMITH, soldier, journalist, author, was born Nov. 17, 1842, in Coal Centre, Pa. He was in the United States civil service for ten years. During the civil war he was in the infantry and cavalry service; and was captured while on scout duty. He is the editor of Beaver Valley News, Pa. He is the author of History of Fifth West Virginia Cavalry; and History of New Brighton, Pa.

REAVIS, JAMES BRADLY, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born in 1848, in Boone county, Mo. Since 1896 he has been judge of the supreme court of Washington, at Olympia.

REED, MRS. CAROLINE GALLUP, educator, was born Aug. 5, 1821, in Berne, N. Y. In 1851 she married the Rev. Sylvanus Reed; and in 1864 established a school for young ladies in New York city. In 1883 this very successful school was incorporated under the laws of New York state as Reed college.

REED, MYRTLE, author, was born Sept. 27, 1874, in Chicago, Ill. She is the author of Love Letters of a Musician; and Later Love Letters of a Musician.

REED, REBECCA THERESA, proselyte, author, was born about 1813, in East Cambridge, Mass. She is the author of Six Months in a Convent, or The Narrative of Rebecca Theresa Reed, Who was under the Influence of the Roman Catholics about Two Years, etc.; and Supplement to Six Months in a Convent, confirming the Narrative of Rebecca Theresa Reed by the Testimony of more than One Hundred Witnesses.

REED, VERNER Z., author, was born Oct. 13, 1863, in Ohio. He is engaged in mining promotion. He is the author of Lo-To-Kah: Tales of the Sunland; and Adobeland Stories.

REEDER, WILLIAM AUGUSTUS, educator, banker, congressman, was born Aug. 28, 1849, in Cumberland county, Pa. Until 1880 he taught school; and since then has been a banker. He owns one of the largest irrigation farms in Kansas. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Kansas as a republican.

REID, CHARLES CHESTER, lawyer, congressman, was born June 15, 1868, in Clarksville, Ark. For many years he has practised law in Conway county, Ark. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Arkansas as a democrat.

REID, HARRY FIELDING, geologist, author, was born May, 18, 1859, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1896 he has been associate professor of geological physics in Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Parts vi, vii and viii of Highways of Maryland.

REID, SYDNEY, journalist, historian, author, was born Sept. 5, 1857, in Canada. In 1881-97 he was a reporter on Brooklyn Eagle and Brooklyn Citizen. He is the author of Josey and the Chipmunk.

REINSCH, PAUL SAMUEL, educator, author, was born in 1869, in Milwaukee, Wis. Since 1899 he has been professor of political science in University of Wisconsin. He is the author of several published works.

RELYEA, CHARLES M., illustrator artist, was born April 23, 1863, in Albany, N. Y. He is a noted artist of New Rochelle, N. Y.

REMSBERG, JOHN E., soldier, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 7, 1843, in Tremont, Ohio. He enlisted in the Union army at fourteen, and received special certificate of thanks from President Lincoln at the close of the war. He engaged in school teaching for some years; and then became writer and lecturer in support of atheism. He is the author of Life of Thomas Paine; False Claims; The Image Breaker; The Apostle of Liberty; Bible Morals; Sabbath Breaking; and The Fathers of Our Republic.

RENFROW, WILLIAM CARY, soldier, banker, governor, was born March 15, 1845, in Smithfield, N. C. He served in the Confederate army in 1861-65. He engaged in banking at Norman, Ark.; and in 1893-97 was governor of Oklahoma.

RENNELSON, MRS. CLARA H., author, was born Jan. 15, 1845, in Norwalk, Ohio. She is the author of Social Heroism; and Kinsmen All.

RENNERT, HUGO ALBERT, educator, author, was born May. 6, 1860, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is professor of Romance philology in University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of The Spanish Pastoral Romances.

RENO, MRS. ITTI KINNEY, author, was born May 17, 1852, in Nashville Tenn. She is the author of Miss Breckenridge, a Daughter of Dixie; and An Exceptional Case.

RENOUF, EDWARD, chemist, author, was born Sept. 4, 1848, in Lowville, N. Y. Since 1885 he has been professor of chemistry in Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Volhard's Experiments in General Chemistry; and Inorganic Preparations.

RESTARICK, HENRY BOND, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 26, 1854, in England. Since 1882 he has been rector of St. Paul's church of San Diego, Cal. He is the author of Lay Readers; and The Love of God, Addresses on the Last Seven Words.

REXDALE, ROBERT, journalist, author, poet, was born in 1859, in Canada. In 1885-92 he was assistant editor of the Portland Sunday Times, of Maine. Then for several years he was engaged in lecturing throughout the United States. He is the author of Saved by the Sword, a novel; and Drifting, a volume of poems and short stories.

REYBURN, ROBERT, soldier, physician, surgeon, author, was born Aug. 1, 1833, in Scotland. In 1856-62 he practiced medicine in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1862 he entered the United States army as acting assistant surgeon. He has continued in practice in Washington until the present time. In 1881 he was one of the surgeons in attendance upon President Garfield; and is now professor of physiology and hygiene in the medical department of Howard university. He is the author of Clinical History of the Case of President Garfield.

RHEA, WILLIAM FRANCIS, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1862, in Washington county, Va. He was elected judge of the county court of Washington county; and served four years. He was then elected to the state senate for four years. He was elected judge of the city court of Bristol, Va. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Virginia.

RHEES, RUSH, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 8, 1860, in Chicago, Ill. Since 1900 he has been president of the University of Rochester, N. Y. He is the author of The Life of Jesus of Nazareth, a Study.

RHOADES, HENRY HECKFORD, soldier, journalist, explorer, was born June 15, 1844, in New York city. He served in the civil war and war with Spain, and attained the rank of lieutenant. He made an arctic cruise with De Long in 1873 in search of Polaris survivors. He is the editor of The Tribune Almanac and Year-Book.

RICE, ALONZO LEORA, educator, author, poet, was born June 12, 1867, in Little Blue River, Ind. He is the author of a volume entitled Prize Poems.

RICE, CHARLES EDMUND, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 15, 1846, in Fairfield, N. Y. Since 1895 he has been president-judge of the superior court of Pennsylvania. He was judge of Luzerne county in 1879-95.

RICE, EDMUND, soldier, inventor, was born Dec. 2 1842, in Cambridge, Mass. He enlisted at the outbreak of the civil war and was appointed captain of the 19th Massachusetts infantry, and was honorably mustered out as lieutenant-colonel of the regiment in 1865. Congress presented him with a medal of honor for conspicuous bravery in leading his regiment in a counter-charge against Pickett's division, he himself falling severely wounded within the enemy's lines in the battle of Gettysburg. After a short retirement to private life he entered the regular army as first lieutenant. In May, 1898, he was appointed inspector-general and in 1899 made colonel of the 26th United States infantry. He is the inventor of the trowel bayonet and of the stacking-swivel and knife-intrenching bayonet now in use in the army.

RICE, FENELON B., musician, composer, was born Jan. 2, 1841, in Green, Ohio. He was an organist in Boston for three years; and since 1871 has been director of Conservatory of Music of Oberlin, Ohio.

RICE, FRANKLIN PIERCE, journalist, publisher, author, was born July 20, 1852, in Marlborough, Mass. For twenty-five years he was engaged in developing systematic history; and has published nearly one hundred historical, biographical and genealogical works. He was a founder of Worcester Society Antiquity. He edited Worcester Records, in nine volumes.

RICE, JOSEPH M., physician, journalist, author, was born in 1857, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1881-88 he practiced medicine in New York city; and is now editor of The Forum. He is the author of The Public School System of the United States; and The Rational Spelling Book.

RICE, WALLACE, lecturer, critic, author, was born Nov. 10, 1859, in Canada, of American Parents. He has lived in Chicago since 1861; and has been dramatic critic of the Tribune, Daily News, and other publications. He is the author of Heroic Deeds; Flying Sands; and Wild Animals.

RICE, WILLIAM GORHAM, public official, manager, was born Dec. 23, 1856, in Albany, N. Y. In 1875 he was appointed assistant paymaster-general of the National guard of New York, with the rank of colonel. He was vice-president and general manager of the Consolidated car-heating company of Albany, which place he held until 1894. In 1895 he was appointed to succeed Theodore Roosevelt as United States civil service commissioner, holding that office until 1898.

RICE, WILLIAM NORTH, educator, author, was born Nov. 21, 1845, in Marblehead, Mass. Since 1867 he has been professor of geology; and since 1884 in Wesleyan university of Middletown, Conn. In 1891 he was president of the American Society of Naturalists. He is the author of Twenty-fire Years of Scientific Progress and Other Essays; Science Teaching in Schools; and Geology of Bermuda.

RICH, CHARLES ALONZO, architect, was born Oct. 22, 1855, in Beverly, Mass. He graduated at the Chandler scientific department of Dartmouth in 1875, and subsequently devoted his attention to the study of architecture; spending 1879-80 in Europe for that purpose. On his return he settled in New York and became professionally associated with Hugh Lamb.

RICH, GEORGE, genealogist, was born Aug. 20, 1854, in Trumbull, Ohio. He is the author of Genealogy of Descendants of Jonathan Rich.

RICHARD, JAMES WILLIAM, educator, theologian, author. He is professor of homiletics in Lutheran Theological Seminary of Gettysburg, Pa. He is the author of Philip Melanchthon.

RICHARDS, A. M., author. He is the author of Letter and Spirit; and other works.

RICHARDS, DE FOREST, banker,state senator, governor, was born Aug. 6, 1846, in Charlestown, N. H. In 1868 he was a member of the Alabama legislature; and was state senator in 1893. Since 1886 he has been president First National Bank of Douglas, Wyoming. In 1899-1901 he was governor of Wyoming.

RICHARDS, EDGAR, chemist, author, was born Feb. 23, 1858, in New York city. In 1887-92 he was chemist for the Internal Revenue Bureau in the United States Treasury Department at Washington, D. C. He is the author of Principles and Methods of Soil Analysis; and Some Food Substitutes and Adulterants.

RICHARDS, JOHN KELVEY, lawyer, state senator, was born March, 15, 1856, in Ironton, Ohio. In 1890-92 he served in the state senate of Ohio; was attorney-general of that state in 1892-96; and since 1897 has been solicitor-general of the United States.

RICHARDS, LOUIS, lawyer, genealogist, was born May 6, 1842. He is a noted lawyer of Reading, Pa. He is the author of the Richards Genealogy.

RICHARDS, THEODORE WILLIAM, chemist, was born Jan. 31, 1868, in Germantown, Pa. He became a noted chemist of Germantown, Pa. He is the author of several scientific works.

RICHARDSON, CHARLES WARREN, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 7, 1843, in Salem, Mass. He has served as a member of the state legislature of Massachusetts; and is now special judge of the first district court of Essex,Mass.

RICHARDSON, CLIFFORD, chemist, author, was born March 6, 1856, in Worcester, Mass. Since 1896 he has been superintendent of tests of Barber Asphalt Paving Co. He is the author of On American Cereals; Adulterations of Spices and Condiments and Reports of the Association Official Agricultural Chemists.

RICHARDSON, LEANDER, journalist, author, was born Feb. 28, 1856, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is now on editorial staff New York Morning Telegraph. He is the author of The Dark City; Lord Dunmersey; As Ye Sow; and Adapted French Operettas and Plays; Olivette; The Snake Charmer; Anselma; and The Nominee.

RICHARDSON, WARFIELD CREATH, educator, journalist, author, was born June 23, 1823, in Maysville, Ky. In 1864-77 he was professor of chemistry, mineralogy and geology. He is the author of Gaspar; and Fall of the Alamo.

RICHMOND, MARY E., philanthropist author, was born Aug. 5, 1861, in Belleville, Ill. In 1891 she became general secretary Baltimore Charity Organization Society; and resigned to accept the same position in Philadelphia in 1900. She is the author of Friendly Visiting Among the Poor.

RICHTER, HENRY JOSEPH, clergyman, bishop, was born April 9, 1838, in Germany. He was made vice president of Mount St. Mary's seminary in 1865; where he was professor of dogma, philosophy and liturgy until 1870. He founded the Church of St. Laurence; and was director of the Academy of Mount St. Vincent. On the establishment of the diocese of Grand Rapids he was consecrated its first bishop in 1883.

RICKER, MRS. MARILLA M., educator, lawyer, philanthropist, author, was born March 18, 1840, in New Durham, N. H. For several years she was a school teacher. She has been United States commissioner and examiner in chancery at Chicago; and is noted as a successful lawyer and political writer.

RICKER, NATHAN CLIFFORD, architect, author, was born July 24, 1843, in Acton, Maine. He is dean of College of Engineering in University of Illinois. He is president Illinois State Board Examiners of Architects. He is the author of Trussed Roofs; also text-books and translations issued in blue-print form for students.

RICKS, AUGUSTUS J., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 10, 1843, near Massillon, Ohio. He served in the civil war. Since 1890 he has been United States judge of Northern district of Ohio.

RIGGS, JAMES [illegible], lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 23, 1852, in Bear Creek Township, Ill. Since 1901 he has been justice of the supreme court of Illinois.

RIDDICK, JAMES EDWARD, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Dec. 29, 1849, in Fayette county, Tenn. In 1872 he began practice at Gainesville, Ark.; was prosecuting attorney of [illegible] district Arkansas in 1876-78 and a member of the legislature in 1879. In 1886-94 he was judge of the second circuit of Arkansas; and since 1894 has been associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas.

RIDDLE, GEORGE, elocutionist, was born Sept. 22, 1853, in Charlestown, Mass. He was instructor in elocution at Harvard university. He has given readings in the principal cities of the United States, the most successful of which are Shakespeare's Midsummer-Night's Dream.

RIDEAL, CHARLES FREDERICK, journalist, lecturer, author, was born June 10, 1858, in England. He studied for the medical profession, but subsequently engaged in journalistic work. He is one of the original members of the Vagabonds' Club; and of the Playgoers' Club of New York City. He has compiled twenty-five volumes in various branches of literature.

RILEY, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN clergyman, college president, author, was born July 16, 1849 in Pineville, Ala. In 1872 he entered the ministry; in 1888-93 was president of Howard college of Alabama; was professor of English literature in University of Georgia in 1893-1900. He is the author of Alabama As It Is; History of Baptists of Alabama; and History of Baptists of the Southern States East of the Mississippi.

RILEY, FRANKLIN LAFAYETTE educator author, was born Aug. 24, 1868, near Hebron, Miss. Since 1897 he has been professor of history in University of Mississippi. He is the author of Colonial Origins of New England Senates; and School History of Mississippi.

RILEY, MADISON MONROE, clergyman, college president, was born in Dallasburg, Ky. He has held numerous pastorates in Kentucky; for three years was financial secretary Georgetown college; and for six years has been president of the Greenville Female College of South Carolina.

RINER, JOHN A., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born in 1850, in Preble county, Ohio. In 1881 he was city attorney of Cheyenne; and in 1884 United States [illegible] attorney, Wyoming Ty. In 1886 he was a member of the upper house of Territorial legislature; and a member of the constitutional convention in 1889. He was elected to the state senate. Since 1890 he has been United States district judge.

RIPLEY, WILLIAM ZEBINA, educator, author, was born in 1867 in Medford, Mass. Since 1895 he has been professor of sociology and economics in Massachusetts Institute Technology. He is the author of Financial History of Virginia; and The Races of Europe.

RIORDAN, DANIEL J., business man, congressman, was born in 1872 in New York city. He became a partner in the real estate business conducted by his father. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

RISHELL, JAMES DYSON, educator, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 11, 1858, in Hughesville Pa. Since 1887 he has been professor of law and political economy in Northern Illinois college. He is the author of Elfrida a Historical Drama.

RISLEY, RICHARD VOORHEES, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 8, 1874, in New York city. He is the author of The Sentimental Viking; [illegible]'s Tragedies; The Sledge; and The Anvil.

RIVES, HALLIE ERMINIE, author, was born May 2, 1874, in Christian county, Ky. She is the author of Smoking Flax; and As the Heart Panteth; A Fool in Spots; and Singing Wire.

RIVE-KING, JULIE, musician, composer, was born Oct. 31, 1857, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Her piano-music is deservedly popular.

ROACH, ADDISON L., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 3, 1817, in Rutherford county, Tenn. In 1852 he was elected a justice of the supreme court of Indiana. He sat upon the bench until 1854 when he resigned.

ROBERT, HENRY MARTYN, civil engineer, author, was born May 2, 1837, in Beaufort district, S. C. Since 1895 he has been colonel of engineers in United States army. He is the author of Robert's Rules of Order.

ROBERTS, BRIGHAM HENRY, journalist, congressman, author, was born March 13, 1857, in England. He was a member of the Utah Constitutional convention in 1895; and democratic nominee for congress in 1895. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress. He is the author of The Life of John Taylor; Outlines of Ecclesiastical History; and A New Witness of God.

ROBERTS, ERNEST WILLIAMS, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 22, 1858, in East Madison, Maine. In 1894-96 he was a member of Massachusetts legislature; and state senator in 1897-98. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress.

ROBERTS, GEORGE EVAN, printer, financier, author, was born Aug. 19, 1857, in Delaware county, Iowa. In 1882 he was elected state printer for Iowa. Since 1898 he has been director of the mint. He is the author of Coin at School in Finance, Iowa and the Silver Question; and Money, Wages and Prices.

ROBERTS, MARTIN LEONARD, legislator, genealogist, was born April 24, 1839, in Chatham, Conn. For many years he has been a railway postal clerk. In 1869 he was a member of the Connecticut state legislature. He is the author of a genealogy of the Carpenter Family; and has written a History of Chatham.

ROBERTS, THOMAS PASCHALL, civil engineer, author, was born April 21, 1843, in Carlisle, Pa. He executed surveys for ship canal to connect Ohio river with Lake Erie. He is the author of Memoir of the Late Chief Justice Gibson of Pennsylvania.

ROBERTS, WILLIAM CHARLES, clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 23, 1832, in Wales. In 1887 he became president of Lake Forest university, Illinois. In 1859-63 he was a trustee of Lafayette college; and he has held the same relation to Princeton since 1866.

ROBERTSON, HARRISON, author. He is the author of If I Were a Man; and Stories of the South.

ROBERTSON, MORGAN ANDREW, business man, author, was born Sept. 30, 1861, in Oswego, N. Y. In 1877-86 he went to sea; entered the jewelry business in 1886; and since 1896 has been writer for periodicals. He is the author of Spun-Yarn; Futility; and Shipmates.

ROBESON, HENRY B., naval officer, was born Aug. 5, 1842, in New Haven, Conn. In 1863 he commanded landing party from the New Ironsides in assault and capture of Confederate works on the lower part of Morris Island. He became a commodore in 1898.

ROBINSON, ALBERT ALONZO, railroad president, was born Oct. 21, 1844, in South Reading, Vt. Since 1893 he has been president of the Mexican Central railway.

ROBINSON, DOANE, lawyer, journalist, author, poet, was born Oct. 19, 1856, in Sparta, Wis. In 1898 he established the Monthly South Dakotan, devoted to state history and literature. He is the author of History of South Dakota from the Earliest Times; and Coteaus of Dakota in verse.

ROBINSON, EDWIN ARLINGTON, author, was born Dec. 22, 1869, in Head Tide, Maine. He is the author of The Torrent and the Night Before; and The Children of the Night.

ROBINSON, FRANKLIN CLEMENT, chemist, author, was born April 24, 1852, at East Orrington, Maine. Since 1874 he has been professor of chemistry in Bowdoin college of Brunswick, Maine. He is the author of The Metals; and Qualitative Analysis.

ROBINSON, GIFFORD SIMEON, soldier, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born May 28, 1843, in Tremont, Ill. He entered Union army in Company H, 115th Illinois infantry; was disabled by wound at battle of Chickamauga. In 1870-88 he practised law in Storm Lake, Iowa; and served in both houses Iowa legislature. Since 1888 he has been judge of the supreme court of Iowa.

ROBINSON, JAMES HARVEY, educator, author, was born June 29, 1863, in Bloomington, Ill. Since 1895 he has been professor of history in Columbia university of New York city. He is the author of Petrarch; The First Modern Scholar and Man of Letters; and other works.

ROBINSON, JOHN, botanist, financier, author, was born July 13, 1846, in Salem, Mass. For several years he was botanist of Massachusetts Horticultural Society. Since 1875 he has been president of the Peabody Academy of Science of Salem, Mass. He is the author of Ferns and Their Homes and Ours; and Flora of Essex county, Mass.

ROBINSON, JOHN S., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born May 4, 1856, in Wheeling, W. Va. In 1886 he was elected county attorney of Madison county, and reelected in 1890; in 1893 he was elected judge of the ninth judicial district of Nebraska, and relected in 1895. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Nebraska as a democrat.

ROBINSON, WALTOUR M., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 27, 1850, near Paris, Mo. Since 1895 he has been judge of the supreme court of Missouri.

ROBINSON, WILLIAM CALLYHAN, clergyman, lawyer, legislator, jurist, author, was born July 26, 1834, in Norwich, Conn. Since 1895 he has been dean of law schools in Catholic University of America at Washington, D. C. In 1865-95 he practiced law in New Haven, Conn; in 1869-71 was judge city court, New Haven, Conn.; and in 1874-76 judge of court of common pleas. He is the author of Life of Ebenezer Beriah Kelly; Notes on Elementary Law; Elementary Law; Clavis Rerum; Law of Patents.

ROCHE, JOSEPH F., clergyman, author, was born Jan. 3, 1865, in Canada. He was Chancellor and Secretary of Lincoln Diocese; Rector of Cathedral; and Rector of Present Church. He is the author of Apostles Belief and Unbelief; and two other works bearing on Catholic Doctrine.

RODENBERG, WILLIAM A., lawyer, congressman was born Oct. 30, 1865, in Chester, Ill. In 1896 he was a delegate to National Republican Convention. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Illinois as a republican.

RODDLE, WILLIAM, merchant, public official, was born Dec. 28, 1858, in Kenosha county, Wis. He is a successful merchant of Brookings, S. D.; and since 1896 has been secretary of state of South Dakota.

RODGER, JAMES GEORGE, educator, lecturer, author, was born July 4, 1852, in Hammond, N. Y. He became president of Benzonia College, Mich.; and he resigned in 1897 to lecture on The Evidences of Christianity from a Scientific Basis. He is the author of Adolphus, a religious drama.

RODGERS, FREDERICK, naval officer, was born Oct. 3, 1842 in Maryland. During the civil war he attained the rank of lieutenant-commander. In 1897 he was president of the board of inspections and survey; and became commodore in 1898.

RODMAN, WARREN ANSON, educator, architect, author, poet, was born Feb. 10, 1855, in East Boston, Mass. Since 1895 he has been secretary of The Metaphysical Club of Boston, Mass. For ten years he practiced as architect; and lectured on metaphysics for three years. He is the author of Fate and Law; The Story of an Optimist; and Trust Thyself.

ROE, MRS. NORA ORDELIA METCALF, author, poet, was born April 1, 1856, in Franklin, Mass. She is the author of Two Little Street Singers.

ROEHRIG, FREDERICK LEWIS, architect, was born Dec. 24, 1857, in Le Roy, N. Y. From his plans numerous prominent buildings in California have been built.

ROGERS, MRS. CLARA KATHLEEN, musician, composer, was born Jan. 14, 1844, in Cheltenham, England. She is the daughter of John Barnett, the father of English opera. She settled in Boston as a concert-singer, singing-teacher, and composer. She is the author of Op. 10, 6 songs; Kiss Mine Eyelids, Lovely Morn; The Philosophy of Singing; and other compositions.

ROGERS, DELLA, musician, composer, was born about 1879, in Denver, Colo. She made her debut at St. Petersburg. She has sung in Milan, Roumania, Turkey; as well as America.

ROGERS, GEORGE CLARKE, soldier, was born Nov. 22, 1838, in Piermont, N. H. He was the first to raise a company in Lake county, Ill., at the opening of the civil war; and became 1st lieutenant in 1861, and soon afterward captain. He commanded a brigade nearly two years, including the Atlanta campaign; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers.

ROHE, CHARLES HENRY, clergyman, author, poet, was born May 20, 1846, in Syracuse, N. Y. Since 1882 he has been pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church of Columbus, Ohio. He is the author of several novels and stories; and two volumes of poems.

ROLFE, HENRY WINCHESTER, educator, author. He is the author of Petrarch; the First Modern Scholar; and Man of Letters.

ROOKER, FREDERICK ZADOK, clergyman, was born Sept. 19, 1861, in New York City. In 1889-93 he was vice-rector American College; and is now its secretary to apostolic delegation.

ROONEY, JOHN JEROME, journalist, financier, poet, was born March 19, 1866, in Binghamton, N. Y. He is a broker of New York City. He is the author The Men Behind the Guns, a volume of poems.

ROOT, FREDERICK STANLEY, clergyman, author, was born May 7, 1853, in New Haven, Conn. He is the author of What Is the Matter with the Church? The Extraordinary Case of Dr. Tetlow; and Athletics and Morals.

ROOT, JOHN GILBERT, financier, was born April 20, 1835, in Westfield, Mass. Since 1883 he has been president of the Farmers' and Mechanics' National bank. In 1888 he was elected mayor of Hartford, Conn.

ROOT, OREN, educator, college president, author, was born May 18, 1838, in Syracuse, N. Y. He is professor of mathematics in Hamilton College. In 1873-76 he was president Pritchett College. He is the author of Brief Elementary Trigonometry.

ROSE, GEORGE B., lawyer, author, was born July 10, 1860, in Batesville, Ark. He has traveled extensively in the study of Renaissance art. He is the author of Renaissance Masters.

ROSE, WALTER MALINS, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 25, 1872, in Canada. He is a successful lawyer of San Francisco, Cal. He is the author of Notes on United States Reports, in twelve volumes.

ROSEBORO, VIOLA, author, was born in Pulaski, Tenn. She is the author of Old Ways and New, a volume of short stories.

ROSENTHAL, ALBERT, artist, was born Jan. 30, 1863, in Philadelphia, Pa. He studied art under his father and at the Pennsylvania academy. He turned his attention to etching, and has become widely known for his work, which, like that of his father, includes numerous portraits of American historical characters.

ROSENTHAL, HERMAN, librarian, author, was born Oct. 6, 1843, in Russia. He now publishes and edits the Hebrew Monthly Intelligencer of New York City. He is the author of Report on Japan, China and Corea.

ROSEWATER, VICTOR, journalist, author, was born in 1871 in Omaha, Neb. Since 1895 he has been managing editor of the Omaha Bee. He is the author of Special Assessments; and A Study in Municipal Finance.

ROSS, EDWARD ALSWORTH, educator, author, was born Dec. 12, 1866, in Virden, Ill. In 1893-1900 he was professor of sociology in Stanford University of California. He is the author of Honest Dollars.

ROSS, JONATHAN, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born April 30, 1826, in Waterford, Vt. In 1865-67 he was a member of the Vermont legislature; and state senator in 1870. Since 1870 he has been judge; and in 1890-1900 was chief justice of the supreme court of Vermont. In 1899 he became United States senator to fill a vacancy.

ROSS, JOHN B., author. He is the author of Scottish Poets in America; and editor of a dozen books about Burns.

ROSS, PETER, historian, author, was born in Scotland. He is an author of New York city; and has written History of Freemasonry; Life of St. Andrew; Scotland and the Scots; The Scots in America; Kingcraft in Scotland; and Literature of the Scottish Kings.

ROSS, WILLIAM, novelist, was born Dec. 20, 1851, in Westfield, Mass. During his early life he was connected with various newspapers; and in 1889 began a series of novels of great popularity, which achieved a sale of nearly two million copies within ten years. He has also traveled extensively, using material thus obtained in fiction.

ROTCH, ARTHUR, architect, was born May 13, 1850, in Boston, Mass. In 1880 he became senior member of the firm of Rotch and Tilden, in Boston; and since that time he has built various churches and the Memorial library building in Bridgewater, Mass., gymnasiums of Bowdoin college and Phillips Exeter academy associates' hall, high school, and academy in Milton, Mass.; the art schools and art museum of Wellesey college; and many private houses and business blocks throughout the United States.

ROTH, FILIBERT, horticulturist, author, was born April 20, 1858, in Germany. Since 1898 he has been professor of forestry in Cornell university of Ithaca, N. Y. He is the author of Forest Conditions of Wisconsin; Cypress; The Annual Ring; Timber Physics; and Uses of Wood.

ROTOLI, AUGUSTO, musician, composer, was born Jan. 7, 1847, in Rome, Italy. Having achieved a high reputation as a conductor, singing-teacher, and song composer, in 1885 he was called to Boston, Mass., as vocal instructor in the New England Conservatory. He is the author of many songs and compositions.

ROUCOLLE, ADRIENNE, author, was born June 14, 1875, in France. She is the author of His Aunt's Fortune; Child of the Sun; Not Like Other Girls; The Flood of Toulouse; Her Wedding Morn; The Gypsy; and The Kingdom of the Good Fairies.

ROWAN, ANDREW SUMMERS, soldier, civil engineer, author, was born in Gap Mills, Va. He served in Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, South Dakota, North Dakota, Michigan, Washington, D. C.; and was a member of the Intercontinent railway survey, and in charge of hypsometric work of Central American party. He was sent to communicate with Gen. Garcia after the declaration of Spanish-American war. He is the author of The Island of Cuba.

ROWE, PETER TRIMBLE, clergyman, bishop was born in 1856 in Canada. Since 1895 he has been Protestant Episcopal bishop of Alaska.

ROWELL, JOHN W., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Vermont.

ROWLAND, ADONIRAM JUDSON, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 9, 1840, in Valley Forge, Pa. Since 1895 he has been general secretary of the American Baptist Publication Society. He is the author of A Handbook on the Pentateuch.

ROWLAND, KATE MASON, author, was born in Virginia. She is the author of The Life of George Mason, including his speeches, public papers and correspondence; and The Life of Charles Carroll of Carrollton.

ROWLEY, JOHN, taxidermist, author, was born March 11, 1866, in Hastings-on-Hudson, N. Y. Since 1893 he has been chief taxidermist of the American Museum of Natural History. He is the author of The Art of Taxidermy.

RUCKER, WILLIAM W., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 1, 1855, near Covington, Va. For three terms he was prosecuting attorney of Chariton, Mo.; and in 1893-95 was judge of the circuit court. He was a member of the fifty-sixth and fifty-seventh congress from Missouri as a democrat.

RUGGLES, HENRY JOSEPH, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 1, 1813, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He practices law in New York city. He is the author of The Plays of Shakespeare Founded on Literary Forms; and The Method of Shakespeare as an Artist.

RUGGLES, HIRAM, farmer, lumberman, state senator, was born Oct. 14, 1813. He engaged in the manufacture of lumber in Carmel, Mass. In 1839 he was appointed a justice of the peace; in 1846-51 he was a member of the state legislature; and in 1853-54 was a member of the state senate. In 1873 he was appointed collector of United States internal revenue. He is a trustee and treasurer of the East Maine Conference Seminary of Bucksport.

RUGGLES, WILLIAM BENJAMIN, journalist, lawyer, state senator, was born May 14, 1827, in Bath, N. Y. In 1849 he settled in Georgia; and in 1854 established there the Daily Intelligencer, the first daily newspaper in Atlanta. Returning to Bath, N. Y., he was a member of the assembly in 1876-77; first deputy attorney-general of New York state in 1878-81; was a member of the state senate in 1883; and in 1883-86 was state superintendent of public instruction.

RUMSEY, WILLIAM, soldier, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 18, 1841, in Bath, N. Y. In 1861-65 he served during the civil war in Peninsula, Shenandoah Valley, and other campaigns; and retired with the rank of lieutenant colonel. He practiced law in Bath, N. Y. Since 1880 he has been justice of the supreme court of New York. He is the author of Rumsey's Practice, in three volumes.

RUNKLE, BERTHA, author, was born in Berkeley Heights, N. J. She is the author of The Helmet of Navarre.

RUNYAN, HENRY, business man, genealogist, was born Nov. 9, 1832, near Peapack, N. J. Fr many years he was engaged in book and stationery business in Princeton, N. J. He is the author of Genealogies of Runyan and Osborn Families.

RUNYAN, RICHARD, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 14, 1830. For two terms he was mayor of Princeton, N. J. He is the author of Eight Days with the Confederates, and Capture of their Archives, Flags, Etc.

RUSBY, HENRY HURD, botanist, author, was born April 26, 1855, in Franklin, N. J. Since 1888 he has been professor of botany, physiology and materia medica in New York College of Pharmacy. He is the author of Essentials of Pharmacognosy.

RUSLING, JAMES F., soldier, lawyer, was born April 14, 1834, in Washington, N. J. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general.

RUSS, ADOLPH GUSTAV, financier, legislator, was born Jan. 19, 1826, in Saxony. In 1861-62 he built the Russ hotel of San Francisco, Cal. He was a member of the California state assembly in 1887-88; and was a member of the vigilance committee of 1856.

RUSSELL, FRANK, educator, author, was born Aug. 26, 1868, in Ft. Dodge, Iowa. In 1892-94 he was in anthropological and zoölogical work. He is the author of Explorations in the Far North.

RUSSELL, HENRY BENAJAH, journalist, author, was born March 9, 1859, in Russell, Mass. In 1890-97 he was associate editor of the Hartford Post. He is the author of Life of William McKinley; International Monetary Conferences, and Our War With Spain.

RUSSELL, ISAAC FRANKLIN, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 25, 1857, in Hamden, Conn. Since 1881 he has been professor of law in New York university. He is the author of Lectures on Law for Women; and Outline Study of Law.

RUSSELL, JAMES EARL, educator, author, was born July 1, 1864, in Hamden, N. Y. Since 1898 he has been dean of Teachers college in Columbia university of New York city. He is the author of Extension of University Teaching in England and America.

RUSSELL, LOUIS ARTHUR, musician, composer, was born Feb. 24, 1854, in Newark, N. J. In 1885 he founded the College of Music of Newark, N. J., of which he is musical director. In 1893 he organized the Newark Symphonic Orchestra. He is the author of The Embellishments of Music; How to Read Modern Music; Problems in Time and Tune; Development of Artistic Pianoforte Touch; and the cantata, A Pastoral Rhapsody.

RUSSELL, SOL SMITH, actor, was born June 15, 1848, in Brunswick, Maine. He followed the Union army as drummer boy. He left at Cairo, Ill., where he sang in a theatre, and acted small parts and beat the drum in the orchestra. He later joined a traveling company and in 1865 played at DeBar's Theatre, St. Louis, Mo. For a number of years he has starred with his own company in Edgewood Folks; Felix McCusick; A Poor Relation; Peaceful Valley; and other plays.

RUST, ALBERT DEXTER, soldier, journalist, author, was born Dec. 10, 1834, in North Danville, Vt. In 1868 he established the Michigan State Advance, which in 1870 was incorporated with another newspaper and named Michigan Courier and Advance. He filled the office of justice of the peace and other offices in Michigan. He is now a resident of Rock Island, Texas, where he publishes The Weekly Journal. He is the author of Record of the Rust Family.

RUST, HENRY APPLETON, soldier, railroad builder, was born Nov. 26, 1832, in Springfield, Ill. During the civil war he participated in many battles and sieges of the armies of the Mississippi and Cumberland. Since 1866 his residence has been Chicago, Ill., where he has been extensively engaged in public work in the departments of railroads, their organization and construction in railroad bridge building.

RUST, NATHANIEL JOHNSON, banker, state legislator, bank president, was born Nov. 28, 1833, in Gorham, Maine. For a number of years he was engaged in the wholesale drug business in Boston, Mass. In 1874-76 he was a member of the Massachusetts state legislature; in 1877-78 was chairman of the republican city committee of Boston; and a member of the city council in 1878-79 and 189 -91. He is president of the Lincoln National bank of Boston; president of the Dorchester Gas Light company; and of various other corporations.

RYAN, JAMES W., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1858, in Schuylkill county, Pa. He began the practice of law in Pottsville, Pa. He was district attorney in 1892-95. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

RYAN, THOMAS, musician, composer, was born in 1827, in Ireland. His fortunes were inseparably bound up with those of the Mendelssohn Quintette club, of which, after half a century of pioneer work for the highest class of chamber-music, he is the sole remaining original member. This little band of excellent musicians has visited every town of any size in the United States. He is the author of Recollections of an Old Musician.

RYAN, WILLIAM HENRY, congressman, was born May 10, 1860, in Hopkinton, Mass. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from New York as a democrat.

RYDER, THOMAS PHILANDER, musician, composer, was born June 29, 1836, in Cohasset, Mass. For many years he was organist at Tremont Temple of Boston, Mass. He is the composer of light and popular piano-music.

RYLAND, C. H., clergyman. He is financial secretary of the Richmond college, Va.

RYLEY, MRS. MADELINE LUCETTE, playwright, author, was born in London, England. She abandoned the stage for authorship; and made her first success with Christopher, Jr., played by John Drew in 1894. She has since produced The American Citizen; Mysterious Mr. Bugle; Lady Jemima; Valentine's Days; A Coat of Many Colors; and a score of other plays. She is the author of An American Citizen.

SABINE, WALLACE C., educator, author. He is assistant professor of physics in Harvard university. He is the author of Laboratory Course in Physical Measurements.

SADLER, REINHOLD, governor, was born Jan. 20, 1848, in Prussia. He has long resided in Nevada. He was elected lieutenant-governor in 1895; and in 1896 succeeded to the governorship. He was elected for second term in 1898.

SADTLER, SAMUEL PHILIP, chemist, author, was born July 18, 1847, in Pine Grove, Pa. In 1874-91 he was professor of chemistry in the University of Pennsylvania; and since 1878 professor of chemistry in the Philadelphia college of Pharmacy. He is the author of Handbook of Chemical Experimentations for Lectures; Handbook of Industrial Organic Chemistry; and Textbook of Pharmaceutical Chemistry.

SAGEBEER, JOSEPH EVANS clergyman, author, was born in 1861, in Allentown, Pa. He is the author of The Bible in Court; The Method of Legal Inquiry Applied to the Study of the Scriptures.

SALISBURY, ALBERT, soldier, educator, college president, author was born Jan. 24, 1843, in Lima, Wis. He served as a private soldier during the civil war in the thirteenth Wisconsin volunteer infantry. Since 1885 he has been president of the State Normal School of Whitewater, Wis. He is the author of Phonology and Orthoepy; and History of Normal Instruction in Wisconsin.

SALLEY, ALEXANDER SAMUEL, lawyer, librarian, author, was born June 16, 1871, in Orangeburg county, S. C. He is secretary, treasurer, and librarian of the South Carolina Historical Society. He is the author of History of Orangeburg County, S. C.; and Bibliography of William Gilmore Simms.

SALMON, DANIEL ELMER, veterinarian, author, was born July 23, 1850, in Mount Olive, N. J. Since 1884 he has been chief of the United States Bureau of Animal Industry. In 1898 he was president of the United States Veterinarian Medical association. He is the author of Diseases of Poultry.

SALMON, JOSHUA S., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 2, 1846, in Schooley's Mt., N. J. In 1878 he was a member of the New Jersey legislature. In 1893-98 he was prosecutor of pleas of Morris county, N. J. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from New Jersey as a democrat.

SALTER, MOSES BUCKINGHAM, clergyman, bishop, was born Feb. 13, 1841, in Charleston, S. C. In 1865 he was one of the founders of the American Methodist Episcopal church. Since 1892 he has been bishop.

SALTER, WILLIAM MACKINTIRE, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 30, 1853, in Burlington, Iowa. He is lecturer of Society of Ethical Culture of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of On a Foundation for Religion; Die Religion der Moral; Ethical Religion; and An Inquiry in Fundamental Politics.

SAMPEY, JOHN RICHARD, educator, author, was born Sept. 27, 1863, in Fort Deposit, Ala. He has been professor of Old Testament Interpretation in the Southern Theological Seminary since 1885. He is the author of Syllobes of Old Testament History and Literature, and History of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary.

SAMPSON, FRANCIS ASHBURY, lawyer, scientist, author, was born Feb. 6, 1842, in Harrison county, Ohio. He is a noted lawyer of Sedalia, Mo.; and vice-president Missouri Trust company. He has been active in natural science matters; and sixteen species of fossils and shells have been named for him. He is the author of Bibliography of the Geology of Missouri; Bibliography of Missouri Authors; History and Bibliography of the Missouri Horticultural Society; and other works.

SANBORN, ALVAN FRANCIS, journalist, author, was born July 8, 1866, in Marlboro, Mass. Since 1899 he has been Paris correspondent of the Boston Transcript. He is the author of Moody's Lodging House, and Other Tenement Sketches; and Meg McIntyre's Raffle, and Other Stories.

SANBORN, JOHN BENJAMIN, soldier, lawyer, state senator, was born Dec. 5, 1826, in Epsom, N. H. As adjutant-general and quartermaster-general he organized and sent Minnesota troops to war in 1861; was colonel of fourth Minnesota in 1862; and served to the close of the war, becoming brigadier-general and brevet major-general. He has served in the Minnesota house and senate.

SANBORN, V. C., genealogist. He is the author of the Sanborn Genealogy.

SANDERS, FRANK KNIGHT, educator, archaeologist, author, was born June 5, 1861, in Ceylon. He is professor of Biblical history and archaeology and dean in Divinity School of Yale university. He is the author of The Messages of the Later Prophets; Historical Series for Bible Students, in ten volumes; and The Messages of the Bible, in twelve volumes.

SANDERS, THOMAS JEFFERSON, educator, college president, author, was born Jan. 18, 1855, near Burbank, Ohio. Since 1891 he has been president of Otterbein university of Westerville, Ohio. He is the author of Philosophy of the Christian Religion; and Transcendentalism.

SANDERSON, LILLIAN, musician, composer, was born Oct. 13, 1867, in Milwaukee, Wis. In 1890 she made her debut as concert-singer at Berlin; and since then has made successful tours of the chief cities of Europe. She is the wife of Herr Rummel, and lives in Berlin.

SANDERSON, SIBYL, musician, composer, was born in 1865, in Sacramento, Cal. In 1889 she very successfully made her debut at the Opera-Comique as a soprano opera singer.

SANFORD, EDMUND CLARK, psychologist, author, was born Nov. 10, 1859, in Oakland, Cal. He is professor of experimental and comparative psychology in Clark university. He is the author of A Course in Experimental Psychology.

SANFORD, FERNANDO, educator, author, was born Feb. 12, 1854, in Taylor, Ill. Since 1891 he has been professor of physics in Stanford university. He is the author of Variation of Resistance of Copper Wires in Various Dielectics; Experiments in Electric Photography; An Acoustic Pyrometer; and Rain Making.

SANFORD, HEMAN HOWES, educator, genealogist, was born Sept 29, 1829, in Madison, N. Y. For many years he was a classical teacher in Cortland Academy of Homer, N. Y.; became professor of Latin in Syracuse university in 1872; and of Latin and English literature in the University of Chicago in 1878. He now resides in Syracuse, N. Y. He is the author of Genealogies of the John Howes and the William Sanford Families.

SANGER, WILLIAM CARY, soldier, author, was born May 21, 1853, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was lieutenant-colonel of 203d regiment in the volunteer service of United States in Spanish-American war. He is the author of Sea Coast Defenses and the Organization of Sea Coast Artillery Forces; and Organization and Training of a National Reserve.

anist, author, was born Dec. 25, 1863, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of Guide to Cryptogams; Through a Microscope; A Key to North American Species of Cladonia; and How to Describe a Flowering Plant.

SARGENT, FREDERICK LEROY, poet-

SARGENT, HERBERT HOWLAND, soldier, author, was born Sept. 29, 1858, in Carlinville, Ill. He served on the frontier until the outbreak of the Spanish-American war. He served at Washington in organizing volunteers; was appointed colonel of the 5th United States volunteers in 1898; and organized regiment at Columbus, Miss. He is the author of Napoleon Bonaparte's First Campaign; and The Campaign of Marengo.

SASS, GEORGE HERBERT, author, poet, was born Dec. 24, 1845, in Charleston, S. C. He contributes verses to the leading periodicals; and many years was literary editor of Sunday News and Courier of Charleston, S. C. He is master in eqrity of Charleston county S. C.

SATOLLI, FRANCIS Roman Catholic cardinal, was born July 21, 1831, in Italy In 1893-96 he was apostolic delegate to United States with plenary powers.

SATTERLEE, HERBERT LIVINGSTON, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 31, 1863, in New York city. He is president of the Naval Reserve association. He is the author of Political History of the Province of New York.

SATTLER, ERIC E., physician, author, was born Nov. 4, 1854, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He limits his practice to diseases of eye, ear, nose and throat, and was one of the earliest practicing physicians of Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the author of History of Tuberculosis.

SAUNDERS, MARGARET MARSHALL, author, was born in 1861 in Canada. She is the author of Beautiful Joe, for which she received a prize of two hundred dollars from the American Humane Educational society. Her other works are The King of the Park; For the Country; and For the Other Boy's Sake and Other Stories.

SAVAGE, ALBERT R., lawyer, jurist was born Dec. 8, 1847, in Ryegate, Vt. He is justice of the supreme judicial court of Maine.

SAVAGE, EZRA PERIN, soldier, lawyer, merchant, legislator, governor, was born in 1842, in Connorsville, Ind. He served as soldier and scout in the civil war under Grant and Sherman. In 18— he engaged in the stock, grain and implement busines in Lyons, Iowa; and in 1873 began cattle raising in Crawford county, Iowa. In 1893 he was in business in South Omaha, Neb.; and was first mayor there. He laid out the town of Sargent in 1883; was a member of the seventeenth Nebraska legislature; and governor of Nebraska in 1900-01.

SAVAGE, HIRAM A., business man legislator, was born Aug. 28, 1864, in Saginaw county, Mich. In 1888 he entered the employ of the Michigan Central Railroad; and is now car recorder. He was a member of the Michigan state legislature in 1897-98.

SAVIDGE, EUGENE COLEMAN, physician, author, was born Oct. 21, 1863, in Maryland. He is gynecologist on staff of Roosevelt hospital of New York city. He is the author of Wallingford; Gallery of Eminent Men; The American in Paris; and The Life and Times of Brewster.

SAVIDGE, FRANK RAYMOND, lawyer, author, was born May 22, 1866, in Hancock, Md. He is solicitor of numerous corporations, municipal and others, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Law of Boroughs in Pennsylvania.

SAVORY, GEORGE WASHINGTON, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born March 29, 1856, in Warner, N. H. Since 1893 he has been engaged in lecturing and evangelistic work with stereopticon. He is the author of Marriage, its Science and Ethics, or Love's Consummation.

SAWIN, THEOPHILUS PARSONS, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 14, 1841, in Lynn, Mass. Since 1886 he has been pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Troy, N. Y. He is the author of The Transfiguring of the Cross; and Liberty in the Presbyterian Church.

SAWYER, CHARLES HENRY, manufacturer, legislator, governor, was born March 30, 1840, in Watertown, N. Y. He is a woolen manufacturer of Dover, N. H. In 1869-70 and 1876-77 he was a member of the New Hampshire legislature. In 1884 he was a delegate to the National Republican convention. In 1887-89 he was governor of New Hampshire.

SAWYER, WALTER LEON, journalist, author, was born Oct. 23, 1862, in Cumberland, Maine. Since 1892 he has been assistant editor of Youth's Companion of Boston, Mass. He is the author of An Outland Journey; and A Local Habitation.

SAYRE, LUCIUS ELMER, pharmacist, author, was born in 1847, in Bridgeton, N. J. Since 1885 he has been dean of Department of Pharmacy in the University of Kansas He is the author of Chart of Materia Medica; Essentials of Pharmacy; and Organic Materia Medica and Pharmacognosy.

SAYRE, REGINALD HALL, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 18, 1859, in New York city. He is a successful physician of New York city; and vice-president of the American Orthopaedic Association. He is the author of Immediate Reduction of Deformity After Penotomy; and other medical works.

SCAIFE, WALTER B., author, was born Sept. 10, 1858, in Pittsburg, Pa. He is the author of American Geographical History; and Florentine Life During the Renaissance.

SCARBOROUGH, ROBERT BETHEA lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Oct. 29, 1861, in Chesterfield C. H., S. C. Since 1881 he has practiced in Conway, S. C. In 1896 he was elected to the South Carolina senate. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from South Carolina as a democrat.

SCHAEFFER NATHAN C., educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 3, 1849, in Berks county, Pa. Since 1893 he has been state superintendent of public instruction of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Thinking and Learning to Think.

SCHAUFFLER, ADOLPHUS FREDERICK, clergyman, author was born Nov. 7, 1845, in Constantinople. In 1873-87 he was pastor of Olivet church of New York city. Since 1887 he has been superintendent of the New York city missions. He was elected president of the New York Sunday-school association in 1897; and in the same year was made a member of the International Sunday-school lesson committee. He is the author of Ways of Working.

SCHELLING, FELIX E., educator, author, was born Sept. 8, 1858. He is John Welsh Centennial professor of English literature in University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Edition of Ben Jonson's Discoveries; Literary and Verse Criticism of the Reign of Elizabeth; Life and Works of George Gascoigne; A Book of Elizabethian Lyrics; and a Book of Seventeenth Century Lyrics.

SCHENK, WILLIAM EDWARD, clergyman, author, was born March 29, 1819, in Princeton, N. J. Since 1865 he has been vice-president of Pennsylvania Colonization Society; and of American Colonization Society since 1877. He is the author of Historical Account of the First Presbyterian Church of Princeton, N. J.; Aunt Fanny's Home; Children in Heaven; Nearing Home; The Fountain for Sin; and Church Extension for Cities.

SCHEPPEGRELL, WILLIAM, physician, author, was born Sept. 22, 1860 in Germany. He first practiced in Charleston, S. C.; removed to New Orleans in 1890; and became assistant surgeon of Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat Hospital. He is the inventor of many appliances in ear, nose and throat specialty. He is president of the Western Ophthalmologic and Oto-Laryngologic Association. He is the author of Electricity in Diseases of the Nose, Throat and Ear.

SCHERER, HENRY P., manufacturer public official, was born Sept. 1, 1854, in Fort Wayne, Ind. He is a carriage manufacturer of Fort Wayne, Ind.; and was county commissioner of Colfax County, New Mexico.

SCHERMERHORN, MARTIN KELLOGG, clergyman, author. He is the author of Ancient Sacred Scriptures.

SCHIEFFELIN, BRADHURST, manufacturer, was born Sept. 21, 1824, in New York city. In 1883 he was nominated by his party for state senator from the tenth district of New York city.

SCHILLER, MADELINE, musician, composer, was born in London, England. On her return from a successful Australian tour she married Mr. Marcus Elmer Bennett of Boston, Mass. A second tour in Australia was followed by a season of concertizing in Europe. At present she is in New York city. She has won general recognition by her spirited and refined interpretations of classic and modern pianoforte literature, and her qualities as an instructress.

SCHILLING, GEORGE A., organizer, author. He is active in labor organizations in Chicago; and secretary of Illinois State Department of Labor in 1893-97. He is the author of Street Railways of Chicago and Other Cities.

SCHMIDT, ARTHUR P., musician, publisher, composer, was born April 1, 1846, in Germany. In 1876 he established a business of his own which now has branches in New York and Leipzig.

SCHMIDT, NATHANIEL, educator, author, was born May 22, 1862, in Sweden. Since 1896 he has been professor of Semitic languages and literature in Cornell University. He is the author of The Character of Christ's Last Meal; and Maranatha.

SCHMUCKER, SAMUEL D., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 26, 1844, in Gettysburg, Pa. In 1863 he was sergeant of the twenty-sixth Pennsylvania regiment in the Union army. He practiced law in Baltimore for thirty-two years. He was president of the Bar Association; and was one of the commission which prepared present charter of Baltimore city. Since 1898 he has been judge of court of appeals of Maryland.

SCHNEIDER, ALBERT, botanist, author, was born April 13, 1863, in Granville Ill. Since 1897 he has been professor of botauy and materia medica in Northwestern University School of Pharmacy of Chicago. He is the author of A Text-book of General Lichenology; Guide to the Study of Licheus; Microscopy and Micro-Technique; and Hints on Drawing for Students of Biology.

SCHNEIDER, GEORGE, banker, was born Dec. 13, 1823, in Bavaria. He established the Neue Zeit of St. Louis, Mo.; and afterward removed to Chicago; and in 1861 was appointed collector of internal revenue. He was subsequently president of the State savings institution until 1871, when he became president of the National bank of Illinois. Iu 1876 he served as United States minister to Switzerland.

SCHOENEFELD, HENRY, musician, composer, was born Oct. 4, 1857, in Milwaukee, Wis. After a piauist tour through Northern Germany he settled in Chicago as a teacher and composer. He is the author of numerous compositions.

SCHOFF, STEPHEN ALONZO, engraver, was born Jan. 16, 1818, in Danville, Vt. He engaged in bank-note work in New York city, and soon was employed upon his first important work, Caius Marius on the Ruins of Carthage, after Vanderlyn. This plate was issued about 1843, and to expedite its publication and aid the young artist, the master American engraver, Asher Brown Durand, engraved the head and gave some touches to the figure. Recently he has turned his attention to etching, producing some beautiful plates.

SCHOULER, JOHN, naval officer, was born Nov. 30, 1846, in Lowell, Mass. During the civil war he became lieutenant. In 1895-97 he was chief of staff of the North Atlantic fleet; and in 1899 was retired with the rank of rear-admiral.

SCHRADER, FREDERICK FRANKLIN, journalist, author, was born Oct. 27, 1857, in Germany. For several years he was a manager of theatres. In 1898 he was compiler and editor of the republican campaign textbook. He is the author of Jose, a novel; and several plays.

SCHROEDER, A. T., lawyer, lecturer, author, was born Sept. 17, 1864, in Horicon, Wis. He successfully conducted the case against congressman elect Brigham W. Roberts; and is a noted anti-Mormon lecturer. He is the author of Mormonism.

SCHULTZE, ARTHUR, educator, inventor, author, was born March 30, 1861, in Germany. Since 1897 he has been second assistant of Boys' High School of New York city. He is the inventor of the Dynamic Heater. He is the author of Propagation of Heat in a Homogeous Rectangular Parallelopiped.

SCHUREMAN, MELANCTHON FREEMAN, manufacturer, was born Aug. 31, 1820, in New Brunswick. He is proprietor of two planing mills in New York city, and has been engaged with planing mills for fifty years. For forty years he has been vestry man of the Parish of St. John the Evangelist. He published the Schureman Genealogy.

SCHUYLER, EUGENE, diplomat, author, was born Feb. 26, 1840, in Ithaca, N. Y. He entered the diplomatic service of the United States in 1866; and was consul at Moscow in 1867-69; and at Reval in 1869-70; and secretary of legation at St. Petersburg in 1870-76. He became secretary of legation and consul-general in Constantinople in 1876. He is the author of Turkestan, Notes of a Journey in Russian Turkeston, Khokand, Bokhara, and Kuldja; Peter the Great.

SCHUYLER, WILLIAH HENRY, educator, clergyman, was born Oct. 15, 1848, in Hartleton, Pa. He was instructor in Lafayette College; principal of Lewistown and New Bloomfield Academies; and pastor of the Presbyterian church in Everett, in 1887-99. He is uow pastor of the Presbyterian church of Schellsburg, Pa.

SCHWAB, CHARLES M., civil engineer, corporation manager, was born April 18, 1862, in Williamsburg, Pa. He became president of the Carnegie Steel Compauy; and on the organization of the United States Steel Corporation be became president of that institution. He built the new Catholic church at Loretto, Pa.; and established the Industrial School of Homestead, Pa.

SCHWAN, THEODORE, soldier, was born in Germany. In 1867 he was made major for gallant and meritorious services during Civil war. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general United States volunteers; and assigned to duty as president of Board of Brevets and Medals of Honor.

SCHWEBACH, JAMES, clergyman, bishop, was born Aug. 15, 1847, in Germany. Since 1892 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of La Crosse, Wis.

SCHWEINFURTH, CHARLES FREDERICK, architect, was born in 1856, in Auburn, N. Y. Since 1883 he has practiced in New York city; practice mostly in residence, collegiate and church structures.

SCHWEINITZ, EMIL ALEXANDER DE, chemist, was born Jan. 18, 1866, in Salem, N. C. He entered the chemical division of the agricultural department in Washington; and became in 1890 director of the Biochemic laboratory of the agricultural department. He is also professor of chemistry in the Columbian university medical school, of which faculty he is the dean. He is the author of A Chemical Study of the Osage Orange as a Substitute for the Mulberry in rearing Silkworms; The Poisons produced by the Hog Cholera Germ; The Production of Immunity to Swine Plague by Use of the Products of the Germ; The Use of Mallein and its Active Principles; A Preliminary Study of the Poisons of the Tuberculosis Bacillus and the Practical Value and Use of Tuberculin: Artificial Media for Bacterial Cultures; The Effect of Tuberculin on the Milk of Cows; The Chemical Composition of the Tuberculosis and Glanders Bacilli; A Hygenic Study of Oleomargarine; and The War with the Microbes.

SCHWEINITZ, GEORGE EDMUND DE, physician, author. He is the author of Diseases of the Eye; Diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat; and Toxic Amblyopias.

SCIDMORE, ELIZA RUHAMAH, author, was born Oct. 14, 1856, in Madison, Wis. She is corresponding secretary of the National Geographical Society. She is the author of Westward to the Far East: From East to West; Guide to Alaska and the Northwest Coast; and Java, the Garden of the East.

SCOTT, EBEN GREENOUGH, author, was born June 15, 1836, in Wilkes-Barre, Pa. He is the author of Interstate Law of Pennsylvania; and Development of Constitutional Liberty.

SCOTT, ELMON, lawyer, jurist, was boru Nov. 6, 1853, in Isle La Motte, Vt. He was several times mayor of Pomeroy, Wash. In 1889-98 he was a judge of the supreme court; and since 1898 has been justice of the supreme court of Washington.

SCOTT, FRANCIS MARKOE, lawyer, jurist, was born March 14, 1848, in New York city. Since 1898 he has been justice of the supreme court of New York for term ending in 1911.

SCOTT, FRED NEWTON, educator, author, was born Aug. 20, 1860, in Terre Haute, Ind. Since 1896 he has been junior professor of rhetoric in University of Michigan. He is the author of Aesthetics, Its Problems and Literature; Principles of Style; Guide to Literature of Aesthetics; and other works.

SCOTT, HARRIET MARIA, educator, author. In 1886-99 she was principal of the Detroit Normal Training School. She is the author of Organic Education.

SCOTT, HENRY WILSON, lawyer, jurist, author, was born about 1865, in Sangamon county, Ill. In 1893 he was appointed United States district judge for Oklahoma Territory. He is now engaged in the practice of law in New York city. He is the author of Distiuguished American Lawyers.

SCOTT HUGH McDONALD, clergyman, author, was born March 31, 1848, in Guysboro, N. S. Since 1881 he has been professor of ecclesiastical history in Chicago Theological Seminary. He is the author of The Nicene Theology.

SCOTT, NATHAN BAY, soldier, manufacturer, banker, United States senator, was born Dec. 18, 1842, in Guernsey county, Ohio. In 1862-65 he served as a soldier in the Civil war. He then eugaged in the manufacture of glass at Wheeling, W. Va.; is president of the Central Glass Works; and president of the Dollar Savings Bank. In 1882-90 he served as a member of the West Virginia state senate. In 1899 he was elected to the United States senate for term expiring in 1905.

SCOTT, SUTTON SELWYN, lawyer, farmer, author, was born Nov. 26, 1829, in Huntsville Ala. In 1857-60 he was a member of Alabama legislature from Madison county. In 1875 he was a delegate to Alabama Constitutional Convention; and delegate to National Democratic Convention, Cincinnati, in 1880. He was a member of the legislature from Russell county in 1884 and 1890. He is the author of Southbooke, Southern Tales and Sketches; and The Mobilians.

SCOTT, THOMAS MORTON, soldier, business man, was born June 25, 1824, in Cadiz, Ohio. He served in the Mexican war. He was captain in Confederate service. In 1896 he was brevet major-general in United Confederate Veterans.

SCOTT WILLIAM BERRYMAN, educator, author, was born Feb. 12, 1858, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is professor of geology and paleontology in Princeton University. He is the author of An Introduction to Geology.

SCOVEL, SYLVESTER FITHIAN, educator, clergyman, college president, author, was born Dec. 29, 1835, in Harrison, Ohio. In 1866-83 he was pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Pittsburg, Pa.; and in 1883-98 was president of the University of Wooster, Ohio, where he fills the chair of professor of morals and sociology. He is the author of Centennial History of First Presbyterian Church of Pittsburg.

SCOVELL, JOSIAH THOMAS, educator, author, was born July 29, 1841, in Vermontville, Mich. He was four months in the army in 1866 in 150th Ohio regiment. He is the author of Lessons in Geography; Lessons in Physiology; and Practical Lessons in Science.

SCOVILLE, WILBUR L., educator, author, was born Jan. 22, 1865, in Bridgeport, Conn. He is professor in Massachusetts College of Pharmacy. He is the author of Art of Compounding.

SCREVEN, JOHN, railroad president, was born Sept. 18, 1827, in Savannah, Ga. He was president of the Savannah, Florida and Western Railroad company for over twenty years.

SCRIBNER, FRANK KIMBALL, journalist, author, was born Feb. 22, 1867, in New York city. He is the author of Honor of a Princess; The Love of the Princess Alice; The Fifth of November; and A Maid of the Colonies.

SCRIBNER, GILBERT HILTON, lawyer, author, was born June 23, 1831, in Monroe county, N. Y. In 1880-93 he was president of Central Park North and East River Railroad Company; and in 1863 became president of Palisade Bank of Yonkers, N. Y. Since 1898 he has been president of the Fortnightly Club for Study of Anthropology. He is the author of Where Did Life Begin.

SCRIBNER, HARVEY, lawyer, author, was born March 19, 1850, in Mt. Vernon, Ohio. He has been identified with many important cases in Toledo, Ohio. He is the author of My Mysterious Clients.

SCUDDER, CHARLES LOCKE, physician, author. He is a successful physician of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Treament of Fractures.

SCUDDER, TOWNSEND, lawyer, congressman, was born July 26, 1865, in Northport, N. Y. He has made a specialty of municipal law; and has served four terms as counsel for Queens county. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from New York as a democrat.

SEAMAN, LOUIS LIVINGSTON, physician, surgeon, author, was born Oct. 17, 1851, in Newburg, N. Y. Since 1876 he has practiced medicine in New York city. He was superintendent of State Emigrant Insane Asylum in 1879-81; and chief of staff of the various hospitals and the Training School for Nurses. He was major-surgeon of the first regiment, United States volunteer engineers, in Spanish-American war. He is the author of The Social Waste of a Great City.

SEAMAN, WILLIAM H., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 15, 1842, in New Berlin, Wis. Since 1893 he has been United States judge for eastern district of Wisconsin. In 1893-98 he was president of Wisconsin State Bar Association.

SEARLE, ARTHUR PHILLIPS, astronomist, author, was born Oct. 21, 1837, in London, England. Since 1887 he has been professor of astronomy in Harvard University. He is the author of Outlines of Astronomy.

SEARS, JOSEPH HAMBLEN, journalist, author, was born in 1865 in Boston, Mass. He is the author of The Governments of the World Today; and Fur and Feather Tales.

SEARS, LORENZO, educator, author, was born April 18, 1838, in Searsville, Mass. Since 1890 he has been professor of rhetoric and American literature in Brown University. He is the author of The History of Oratory; The Occasional Address, Its Composition and Literature and Principles and Methods of Literary Criticism.

SEAY, ABRAHAM J., soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Nov. 28, 1832, in Union service from private to colonel in Amherst county, Va. In 1861-65 he was in thirty-second Missouri volunteer infantry. In 1890-92 he was supreme judge of Oklahoma. In 1892-93 was governor of Oklahoma.

SEDGWICK, ELLERY, journalist, author, was born Feb. 27, 1872, in New York city. Since 1900 he has been editor of Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly. He is the author of Life of Thomas Paine.

SEDGWICK WILLIAM THOMPSON, biologist, author, was born Dec. 29, 1855, in W. Hartford, Conn. He is professor of biology in Massachusetts Institute Technology. In 1900 he was president of Boston Civil Service Reform Association. He is the author of General Biology; and Life and Letters of William Barton Rogers.

SEE, THOMAS JEFFERSON JACKSON, astronomer, author, was born Feb. 19, 1866, near Montgomery City, Mo. In 1899 he was appointed professor of mathematics in the navy. He is the author of Researches on the Evolution of the Stellar Systems.

SEELEY, LEVI, educator, author, was born Nov. 21, 1847, in North Harpersfield, N. Y. He is professor of pedagogy in state normal school at Trenton, N. J. He is the author of History of Education.

SELBY, THOMAS J., journalist, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 4, 1840, in Delaware county, Ohio. For two terms he was mayor of city of Jerseyville, Ill. He moved to Calhoun county in 1884; and was State's attorney in 1888-94. He was elected to fifty-seventh congress from Illinois as a democrat.

SELLERS, WILLIAM, civil engineer, manufacturer, was born Sept. 19, 1824, in Delaware county, Pa. In 1847 he started in business now known as William Sellers & Company of which he is president and engineer. He is also president of Edge Moor Iron Company since 1868; and Midvale Steel Company in 1873-87. In 1864 he read paper before Franklin Institute on Screw Threads and Nuts, which has since become the standard for the United States.

SENTER, JOHN HENRY, lawyer, public official, was born Nov. 11, 1848, in Cabot, Vt. He was superintendent of schools of Montpelier, Vt.; justice of the peace; United States bank examiner; United States district attorney; and mayor. He is now engaged in the practice of his profession in Montpelier.

SERRELL, EDWARD WELLMAN, civil engineer, was born Nov. 5, 1826, in New York city. He accompanied the expedition that in 1848 located the route of the railroad between Aspinwall and Panama; and a year later was engaged in building the suspension-bridge across the Niagara river at Lewiston; also that at St. Johns, New Brunswick. At the beginning of the civil war he entered the first New York volunteers as lieutenant-colonel, soon became its colonel, and served as chief engineer of the tenth army corps in 1863. Many valuable improvements of guns and processes, that proved of practical service during the war, were suggested by him; and the brevet of brigadier-general of volunteers was conferred on him in 1865. In 1887 he became president and consulting engineer of the Washington county railroad.

SERVISS, GARRETT PUTMAN, journalist, lecturer, author, was born March 24, 1851, in Sharon Springs, N. Y. He is the author of Astronomy with an Opera Glass; and Edison's Conquest of Mars.

SETON, ERNEST THOMPSON, artist, author, was born Aug. 14, 1860, in England. In 1866-70 he lived in the backwoods of Canada; and in 1882-87 on the western plains. He is now well known as an animal painter and illustrator; and was one of the chief illustrators of The Century Dictionary. He is the author and illustrator of Wild Animals I Have known; Wild Animal Play for Children; and other works. His wife, Mrs. Grace Gallatin Thompson-Seton has also written a serial story entitled A Woman Tenderfoot.

SEVERANCE, MRS. CAROLINE MARIA, philanthropist, founder, was born Jan. 12, 1820, in Canandaigua, N. Y. In 1840 she married Theodoric C. Severance, a banker of Cleveland, Boston, and later of Los Angeles, Cal. In 1868 she was one of the founders and first president of the New England Woman's Club of Boston, which was organized a few weeks before the Sorosis Club of New York city; and therefore she is sometimes called the mother of women's clubs. She has been active in women's suffrage agitation; has preformed numerous memorials and appeals for suffrage; and has lectured extensively on that subject. She has also founded clubs in Santa Barbara and Los Angeles, Cal.

SEVERANCE, FRANK HAYWARD, jounalist, author, was born Nov. 28, 1856, in Manchester, Mass. Since 1886 he has been managing editor of the Illustrated Buffalo Express. He is the author of Old Trails on the Niagara Frontier.

SEVERENS, HENRY FRANKLIN, lawyer, jurist, was born May 11, 1835, in Rockingham, Vt. Since 1886 he has been United States judge for western district of Michigan.

SEWALL, ALICE ARCHER, artist, author, poet, was born in 1870 in Glendale, Ohio. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Ode to Girlhood.

SEWARD, WILLIAM, soldier, was born Aug. 19, 1837, in New Hackensack, N. Y. In 1861-63 he served in the civil war; and attained the rank of adjutant-general. In 1893 he was breveted brigadier-general.

STEWART, JOHN KNOX, manufacturer, legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 20, 1853, in Perth, N. Y. He became proprietor of the Forest Paper Mills which were established by his father; and in 1888 became proprietor of the Chuctanunda Hosiery Mills. In 1889 he was elected a member of the New York state assembly. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

SEYMOUR, HORATIO W., publisher, author, was born in 1854, in Cayuga county, N. Y. He is publisher of the Chicago Chronicle; and secretary and treasurer of the Chicago Chronicle company since 1895. He is the author of Government & Company, Limited.

SEYMOUR, MRS. WILLIAM WOOD, author. She is the author of Christmas Holidays at Cedar Grove; Easter Holidays; and other works.

SHACKLEFORD, DORSEY W., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 27, 1853, in Saline county, Mo. In 1879 he began the practice of law in Booneville, Mo.; and in 1882-86 served as prosecuting attorney of Cooper county. In 1892-99 he was judge of the fourteenth judicial circuit of Missouri. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress

SHACKELFORD, JAMES M., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born July 7, 1827, in Lincoln county, Ky. He served as a lieutenant in the Mexican war; and during the civil war he became brigadier-general in 1863. The same year he captured confederate General John H. Morgan and command. In 1889-93 he was judge of the United States court of Indian Territory; and is now attorney for the Choctaw nation; and practices law in Muscogee, I. T.

SHACKLETON, ROBERT journalist, author, was born Dec. 26, 1860, in Mazomanie, Wis. He is one of the editors of The Saturday Evening Post of Philadelphia. He is the author of Toomey and Others.

SHAFFER, NEWTON MELMAN, physician, surgeon, founder, author, was born Feb. 14, 1846, in Kinderhook, N. Y. Since 1900 he has been surgeon-in-chief of the New York State Hospital for Crippled and Deformed Children, of which institution he was the founder. He is the author of The Hysterical Element in Orthopaedic Surgery.

SHAHAN, THOMAS JOSEPH, educator, author, was born Sept. 11, 1857, in Manchester, N. H. Since 1891 he has been professor of church history and patrology and lecturer on Roman law in Catholic University of America. He is the author of The Blessed Virgin in the Catacombs.

SHANAHAN, JOHN W., clergyman, bishop. Since 1899 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Harrisburg, Pa.

SHANKLIN, JOHN G., journalist, public official. He has filled the office of secretary of state of Ohio.

CHANLEY, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 4, 1852, in Albion, N. Y. Since 1889 he has been Romau Catholic bishop of Fargo, N. D.

SHANNON, PETER C., lawyer, jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. He was appointed from that state chief justice of the supreme court for the territory of Dakota.

SHELBY, JOSEPH soldier, was born in 1831 in Kentucky. He served through the civil war, attaining the rank of brigadier-general.

SHARPE, WILLIAM C., journalist, author, was born about 1838 in Seymour, Conn. For ten years he was engaged in educational work; and since 1871 has been editor and publisher of The Seymour Record. He is the author of History of Seymour; Histories of Oxford and South Britain; and the Chatfield, Washburn, Dart, and Sharpe Genealogies.

SHARPLES, STEPHEN PASCHALL, chemist, anthor, was born April 21, 1842, in West Chester, Pa. In 1880 he was expert on census; and a jndge of awards World's Columbian Exposition in 1893. He is the author of Chemical Tables.

SHARPLESS, ISAAC, mathematician, college president, author, was born Dec. 16, 1848, in Chester county, Pa. Since 1887 he has been president of Haverford college. He is the author of Astronomy; Geometry; and English Education.

SHAUCK, JOHN ALLEN, lawyer, jurist, was born March 26, 1841, in Ohio. For ten years he was judge of circuit court. He is now judge of the supreme court of Ohio.

SHAW, EDWARD RICHARD, educator, author, was born in 1855, in Bellport, L. I. He is professor of pedagogy in New York nniversity. He is the author of Physics by Experiment; English Composition by Practice; and Legends of Fire Island Beach.

SHAW, JOHN BALCOM, clergyman, author, was born May 12, 1860, in Bellport, N. Y. He is pastor of West End Presbytery, of New York city. He is the author of Four Great Questions.

SHEARD TITUS, manufacturer, state senator was born Oct. 4 1841, in England. In 1878 79 he represented Herkimer county in New York state assembly; and was state senator in 1890-91. He is a manufacturer of knitted cotton and wooler nnderwear; and president of the Utica Herald Publishing company.

SHELABARGER, SAMUEL, lawyer, legislator congressman was born Dec. 10, 1817, in Clarke county Ohio. He was a member of the Ohio legislature in 1852-53; and was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-eventh congress. In 1864 he was elected to the thirty-ninth forty-first and forty-second congresses.

SHELBY, DAVID D., lawyer state senator, jurist, was born Oct 24 1847 in Madison county, Ala. In 1882-86 he was a member of the Alabama state senate Since 1899 he has been United States circuit judge at Hnntsvill Ala

SHELDON CHARLES MONROE, clergyman, author. Since 1889 he has been pastor of Central Congregational church of Topeka, Kan. He is the author of In His Steps; and other religious works.

SHELDON, GRACE CAREW, jonrnalist, author, was born in Buffalo, N. Y. In 1886 she founded and ever since has been head of Woman's Exchange of Buffalo, N. Y., which accepts work only from self-supporting women in the United States. She is the author of As We Saw It in '90; and From Pluckemin to Paris.

SHELDON, HENRY I., lawyer, author. He is a successful lawyer of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Notes on the Nicaragua Canal.

SHELDON, WALTER L., lecturer, founder, anthor, was born Sept. 5, 1858, in West Rutland, Vt. He is the fonnder and since 1886 lecturer Ethical Society of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of An Ethical Movement; and An Ethical Sunday School; and Story of the Bible.

SHEPARD, FRANK HARTSON, musician, composer, was born Sept. 20, 1865, in Bethel, Conn. In 1891 he established the Shepard School of Music of Orange, N. J.; and is organist and musical director of Grace church. He is the author of Piano Touch and Scales; Church Music and Choir Training; How to Modulate; Harmony Simplified; and Children's Harmony.

SHEPARD, SETH, soldier, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born April 23, 1847, in Washington county, Tex. He was private in Company F, fifth Texas mounted volunteers in the Confederate service in 1864-66. In 1874 he was a member of the Texas state senate. He was regent of the University of Texas 1883-91. In 1869-93 he practiced law in Brenham, Galveston, and Dallas, Tex. Since 1893 he has been associate justice of the court of appeals of District of Columbia.

SHEPARD, THOMAS GRIFFIN, musician, composer, was born April 23, 1848 in Madison, Conn. In 1888-99 he was organist of Church of the Redeemer of New Haven, Conn. He was for some years conductor of the New Haven Oratorio Society, a chorus of about six hundred. He is the anthor of Pennikeese, or Cnisine and Cupid, comic opera; a Christmas cantata, The Word Made Flesh; and numerous anthems, offertories, and sacred songs.

SHEPHERD, MRS. E. R., author. She is the author of A Supplement to School Physiology For Girls; and Trne Manhood.

SHEPHERD, HENRY ELLIOTT, educator, college president, anthor, was born Jan. 17, 1844, in Fayetteville, N. C. He was elected superinteudent of public instruction for Baltimore in 1875, resigning the position in 1882 to assume the presidency of the College of Charleston, S. C. He is the author of A History of the English Language; and is editor of Appleton's Historical Reader.

SHEPHERD THEODOSIA BURR, seed grower, florist, originator, was born Oct. 14, 1845, in Keosauqua, Iowa. Since 1885 he has been engaged in growing seeds; and is called the pioneer flower seed grower of California. He has created new varieties of plants; and writes articles on flowers and horticulture for current publications.

SHEPLEY, GEORGE FOSTER architect, was born Nov. 7, 1860, in St. Louis, Mo. Among the buildings his firm have designed are Ames Building, Chamber of Commerce, Southern Terminal Station, New Congregational House, Mercantile Buildings, all of Boston; and New Public Library, Art Institute, of Chicago.

SHEPPARD, JOHN LEVI, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 13, 1852, in Bluffon, Ala. In 1879 he began practicing at Daingerfield, Texas; was district attorney of the fifth judicial district in 1882-88; and in 1888-96 he was district judge. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Texas as a democrat.

SHERIDAN, MICHAEL VINCENT, soldier, was born May 24, 1840, in Somerset, Ohio. He is the youngest brother of the late General Philip H. Sheridan. He served in the civil war and became second lieutenant in 1866. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general, and served in the Spanish-American war.

SHERMAN, LUCIUS ADELNO, educator, author, was born Aug. 28, 1847, in Donglas, Mass. Since 1882 he has been professor of English literature in University of Nebraska. He is the author of Analytics of Literature.

SHERRILL, ISAAC W., business man, public official, was born May 17, 1849, in New Lebanon, N. Y. He was county treasurer of Dutchess county for two terms; trustee of New York State Soldiers' and Sailors' Home, of Bath, N. Y.; and is now mayor of Poughkeepsie.

SHERWOOD, EDGAR HARMON, soldier, musician, composer, was born Jan. 29, 1845, in Lyons, N. Y. In 1862-65 he served in the Union army; and then close music as his profession. In 1895 he was national music director of the Union Veterans' Union. He has published over one hundred compositions for pianoforte and for voice.

SHERWOOD, SIDNEY, educator, scientist, author, was born May 28, 1860, in Saratoga county, N. Y. He is professor of political economy in Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore, Md. He is the author of History and Theory of Money.

SHERWOOD, WILLIAM H., musician, composer, was born Jan. 31, 1854, in Lyons, N. Y. He is a concert and recital pianist and lecturer, teacher of music and composer, and recognized as a representative American pianist.

SHINN, MILICENT WASHBURN, journalist, author, was born April 15, 1858, in Niles, Cal. In 1883-94 she was editor of Overland Monthly. She is the author of Notes on the Development of a Child.

SHINN, WILLIAM POWELL, civil engineer, was born May 4, 1834, in Burlington, N. J. Since 1886 he has been vice-president of the New York and New England railroad company. In 1873-79 he had charge of the construction and management of the Edgar Thompson steelworks in Pittsburg.

SHIPMAN, LOUIS EVAN, journalist, author, was born Aug. 2, 1869, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is editorial writer on Leslie's Weekly; and since 1896 a contributor to Life. He is the author of Urban Dialogues; A Group of American Theatrical Caricatures; D'Arcy of the Guards; and Predicaments.

SHIPPEN, EDWARD, naval surgeon, author, was born June 18, 1826, in New Jersey. In 1861 he was commissioned surgeon; and was promoted to medical director in 1876. His principal naval service was in China and on coasts of Africa and South America. He is the author of Thirty Years at Sea.

SHIPPEN, EDWARD, lawyer, diplomat, was born Nov. 16, 1821. He was for many years member of the board of public education in Philadelphia; and in 1864-69 was its president. He has been a delegate to several national educational conventions. He is one of the founders of the Teachers' institute and of the Teachers' benevolent association of Philadelphia. During the civil war he was chief of the educational department of the sanitary commission. During the Centennial exposition in 1876 he was the president of the Chilian commission. He is the president of the art club of Philadelphia. He is consul for the Argentine Republic, Chili, and Ecuador, at Philadelphia, and has filled these posts for many years. Several of his addresses on educational subjects have been published.

SHOEMAKER, JOHN VIETCH, physician, surgeon, author, was born March 18, 1852, in Chambersburg, Pa. He is surgeon-general of the National Guard of Pennsylvania. Since 1879 he has been editor of the Medical Bulletin, and was one of its founders. He is the author of Poisons and Antidotes; and Materia Medica and Therapeutics.

SHOEMAKER, SAMUEL. He is prominent in the public affairs of Baltimore, Md.

SHOREY, PAUL, educator, author, was born Aug. 3, 1857, in Davenport, Iowa. Since 1892 he has been professor of Greek in University of Chicago. He is the author of The Idea of Good in Plato's Republic; and The Odes and Epodes of Horace.

SHRIVER, JOHN SHULTZ, journalist, author, was born June 17, 1857, in Baltimore, Md. He is Washington correspondent of the New York Mail and Express. He is the author of Through the South and West With President Harrison.

SHUFELDT, ROBERT WILSON, naval officer, was born Feb. 21, 1822, in Red Hook, N. Y. He attained the rank of commodore in the United States navy.

SHUMWAY, EDGAR SOLOMON, educator, author, was born June 6, 1856, in Belchertown, Mass. In 1883-1900 he was professor of Latin language and literature in Rutgers college. He is the author of A Day in Ancient Rome; Latin Synonyms; Syllabus of Classical Archaeology; and Synopsis of Sources, Literature and Language of Roman Law.

SHUTE, DANIEL KERFOOT, physician, author, was born Oct. 22, 1858, in Alexandria, Va. Since 1888 he has been professor of anatomy in Columbia university at Washington, D. C. He is the author of A First Book in Organic Evolution.

SICKLES, DAVID BANKS, banker, diplomat, author, was born Feb. 8, 1837, in New York city. During the civil war he was war correspondent for eastern and western newspapers. He is the author of Leaves of the Lotus; and Land of the Lotus, or Life and Scenes in the Far East.

SIEBERT, JOHN SELMAR, architect, was born Sept. 28, 1864, in Germany. He has been instructor in civil engineering in Lehigh university; and Pennsylvania State college. He has been Inspector of United States light house service; and is a practicing architect of Cumberland, Md., in which city the best business houses and residences have been built from his designs.

SIHLER, ERNEST GOTTLIEB, educator, author, was born Jan. 2, 1853, in Fort Wayne, Ind. Since 1892 he has been professor of Latin and lecturer in Graduate school in New York university. He is the author of Lexicon to Latinity of Caesar's Gallic War.

SILLIMAN, REUBEN DANIEL, lawyer, jurist, was born May 17, 1871, in Hudson, Wis. In 1894-98 he practiced law in Duluth, Minn.; and since 1900 has been judge of the circuit court of Hawaiian Islands.

SIMMONS, FRANKLIN, sculptor, was born Jan. 11, 1839, in Webster, Maine. Since 1868 he has lived mostly in Rome. He has executed about one hundred portrait busts in marble; about fifteen public monuments, including statues of William King and Roger Williams in National Capitol; Grand Army of the Republic monument of Gen. Grant for National Capitol, and equestrian monument of Gen. Logan in Washington.

SIMONS, HENRY MARTYN, clergyman, author, was born in 1841, in Paris, N. Y. He was superintendent of schools in Kenosha several years. He is the author of The Unending Genesis.

SIMMONS, JAMES CONNOLLEY, farmer, legislator, was born Dec. 23, 1850, in Warren, Ind. He is engaged in farming and shipping live stock in Wellsville, Kansas. He held the office of register of deeds of Franklin county in 1891-95; and postmaster in 1885-88. He was a member of the Kansas state legislature in 1897.

SIMMONS, JOSEPH EDWARD, banker, was born Sept. 9, 1841, in Troy, N. Y. In 1866 he removed to New York city, where he has since engaged in banking. He became a member of the Stock exchange in 1872; and was elected its president in 1884. He was appointed a commissioner of education in 1881, reappointed in 1884, and again in 1887. He was unanimously elected president of the board of education in 1886; and re-elected in 1887-88. In the latter year he was also made president of the Fourth national bank of New York city.

SIMON, JOSEPH, lawyer, state senator, United States senator, was born in 1851,. Since 1872 he has practiced law in Portland, Oregon. In 1892 he was delegate to the national republican convention. In 1880-98 he was a state senator of Oregon; and president of the state senate in 1889, 1891, 1895, 1897 and special session in 1898. In 1898 he became United States senator for term ending in 1906.

SIMONDS, FREDERIC WILLIAM, geologist, author, was born July 3, 1853, in Charlestown, Mass. In 1887-92 he was assistant geologist in the Arkansas Geological survey; and since 1899 has been professor of geology in the university of Texas. He is the author of A Record of the Geology of Texas for the Decade Ending in 1896.

SIMONTON, CHARLES H., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born July 11, 1829, in Charleston, S. C. In 1858-86 he was a member of the South Carolina legislature, except during the civil war and reconstruction period. He served in the Confederate army as captain of Washington light infantry; and later as colonel of the 25th South Carolina volunteers. In 1886-93 he was United States district judge; and since 1893 United States judge for the fourth district of South Carolina. He is the author of Lectures on Jurisdiction and Practice of United States Courts; and Digest of the Equity Decisions, State of South Carolina.

SIMONTON, JOHN WIGGINS, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 2, 1826, in Hanover township, Pa. Since 1881 he has been presiding judge for the Twelfth judicial district of Pennsylvania. In 1895 he was president of the Pennsylvania state bar association.

SINGENBERGER, JOHN, educator, musician, was born May 25, 1848, in Switzerland. He is professor of music at the Catholic Normal school of St. Francis, Wis.; president of the American St. Caecilia society; and editor and publisher of the Caecilia, a monthly devoted to Catholic church music.

SINGER, ISIDORE, journalist, author, was born Nov. 10, 1859, in Austria. He is managing editor of the Jewish Encyclopedia. He is the author of several published works; and numerous translations of French works into German.

SINGLETON, ESTHER, journalist, author, was born in Baltimore, Md. She has done editorial work on the staff of Appleton's Cyclopaedia of American Biography. She is the author of A Guide to the Opera; originator and editor of a series of books on art and travel, of which Turrets, Towers and Temples; Great Pictures; Paris; Wonders of Nature; and The Furniture of Our Forefathers have appeared.

SISCO, MRS. M. M., poet. She is a writer of Clinton, Iowa; and the author of a volume of poems entitled Gems of Inspiration.

SITTERLY, CHARLES FREMONT, educator, theologian, author, was born June 4, 1861, in Liverpool, N. Y. Since 1892 he has been professor of Biblical literature in Drew Theological Seminary. He is the author of Praxis in Manuscripts of Greek New Testament; and History of English Bible.

SKEEL, ADELAIDE, author, was born in 1852, in Newhurgh, N. Y. She is the author of An After Christmas Thought; and My Three-Legged Story Teller.

SKINNER, HENRIETTA DANA, author, was born in Cambridge, Mass. She is the daughter of Richard Henry Dana, author of Two Years Before the Mast. She is the author of a novel entitled Espirum Santo; and other works.

SKINNER, OTIS, actor, was born in 1858, in Cambridge, Mass. In 1892-95 he was leading man with Mme. Modjeska; and since then has been starring in romantic plays.

SLEIGHT, MARY BRECK, author, was born in New York city. She is the author of Prairie Days; Osego Chronicles; Pulpit and Easel; The House at Crague; Flag on the Mill; The Knights of Sandy Hollow; and An Island Heroine.

SLICER, THOMAS ROBERTS, clergyman, author, was born April 16, 1847, in Washington, D. C. Since 1897 he has been pastor of Church of All Souls of New York city. He is the author of The Great Affirmations of Religion.

SLICHTER, CHARLES SUMNER, mathematician, author, was born April 16, 1864, in St. Paul, Minn. In 1900-03 he was president of the Wisconsin Academy of Sciences. He is the author of School Algebra; University Algebra; and Logarithmic Tables for Rapid Computations.

SLOCUM, JOSHUA, sailor, author, was born Feb. 20, 1844, in Canada. He was a sailor from boyhood. His several other commands were all under the flag of the United States. For fifteen years he sailed out of San Francisco to China, Australia, the Spice Islands and Japan. In 1898 he completed a voyage around the world alone. He is the author of The Voyage of the Liberdade from Brazil to New York; and Sailing Alone Around the World.

SMALL, JOHN HUMPHREY, lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born Aug. 29, 1858, in Washington, N. C. In 1885-86 he was proprietor and editor of the Washington Gazette; and was one year mayor of Washington, N. C. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from North Carolina as a democrat.

SMEDLEY, WILLIAM THOMAS, artist, was born March 6, 1858, in Chester county, Pa. In 1882 he was engaged by publishers of Picturesque Canada to travel with Marquis of Lorne through West and Northwest Canada and illustrate the work. He has since made several sketching tours in United States; and in 1890 around the world. His principal productions are An Indiscreet Question; A Thanksgiving Dinner; and A Summer Occupation.

SMILEY, ALBERT KEITH, educator, philanthropist, was born March 17, 1828, in Vassalborough, Maine. For twenty years he was principal of a successful boarding-school in Providence, R. I. He then purchased, with his brother, a large property in Ulster county, N. Y., and established a unique hotel at Lake Mohonk in which there is no wine, no cards, and no dancing permitted, his twin-brother, Alfred, having a similar hotel, known as the Minnewaska, the two estates comprising seven thousand acres. For seventeen years the Lake Mohonk annual Indian conference has been hospitably entertained there, and the many members of the arbitration conference at their five annual meetings have also been his guests. His winter residence is near Red Lands, southern California, where he has a large estate, and he recently presented a handsome park and substantial library building to Red Lands at a cost of sixty thousand dollars.

SMILEY, FRANCIS EDWARD, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 11, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1893 he has been pastor of 23d Avenue Church of Denver, Col. He is the author of The Evangelization of a Great City; and The Inquirer's Guide for a Happy Christian Life.

SMITH, ALBERT WILLIAM, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 30, 1856, in Westmoreland, N. Y. Since 1892 he has been professor of mechanical engineering in Leland Stanford, Jr., university. He is the author of Constructive Materials of Engineering; and Elementary Machine Design.

SMITH, ARCHIBALD CARY, naval architect, was born Sept. 4, 1837, in New York City. In 1871 he designed for Robert Centre, of New York city, the cutter Viudex, which was the first iron yacht that was built in Chester, Pa. His success in this business induced him to abandon painting, and he has since devoted himself to designing and altering yachts of all kinds, among which are the schooners Intrepid, Fortuna, Norma, Harbinger, Carlotta, Iroquois, Oriole, Dream, Whim, the sloops Mischief, Rover, Kestrel, Priscilla, Cinderella, Banshee, Katrina, and Meteor,

SMITH, BENJAMIN ELI, educator, editor, was born Feb. 27, 1857, in Syria. He was managing editor of the Century Dictionary; editor of the Century Cyclopedia of Names; editor of the Century Atlas; and other works.

SMITH, BENJAMIN MOSBY, clergyman, theologian, was born June 30, 1811, in Powhatan county, Va. In 1854 he was appointed to the chair of Oriental and biblical literature in Union seminary, which office he still holds. In 1858-74 he was pastor of Hampden Sidney college church; and he was moderator of the general assembly of the Presbyterian church in 1876.

SMITH, CHARLES LEE, educator, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 29, 1865, in Wilton, N. C. Since 1891 he has been professor of history and political science in William Jewell college. He is the author of History of Education in North Carolina; and The Money Question.

SMITH, CLEMENT LAWRENCE, educator, philologist, was born April 13, 1844, in Delaware county, Pa. He became tutor in Latin in Harvard university, Mass., in 1870; in 1873 assistant professor; in 1883 professor of the same; and since 1882 he has been dean of the college faculty. He has published several papers on philological and educational matters.

SMITH, COLUMBUS, educator, lawyer, real estate dealer, genealogist, was born Jan. 6, 1819. He recovered numerous estates in Englaud for American claimants. In 1850 he took the first block of marble from Branden, Vt., to London, which was the first marble taken to Europe from the United States. He has large holdings of real estate in Vermont, Wisconsin, Nebraska, Kansas, and Texas. He is the author of Report to the Iunis Associatiou of the United States; and other works.

SMITH, DAVID EUGENE, educator, author, was born Jan. 21, 1860, in Cortland, N. Y. In 1891-98 he was professor of mathematics in Michigan State Normal school; and since 1898 principal of New York State Normal school. He is the author of History of Modern Mathematics; and Teaching of Mathematics.

SMITH, EDGAR F., chemist, author. He is professor of chemistry in University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of Richter's Organic and Inorganic Chemistries.

SMITH, EDMUND MONROE, educator, author, was born Dec. 8, 1854, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1886 he has been one of the editors of Political Science Quarterly. He is the author of Bismarck and German Unity.

SMITH, EDWARD C., governor. In 1898-1900 he was governor of Vermont.

SMITH, EDWARD E., lawyer, state senator, was born May 5, 1861, in Spring Valley, Minn. He was a member of the Minnesota house of represetatives in 1895-97; and was a member of the state senate in 1898-1902.

SMITH, EZEKIEL EZRA, educator, diplomat, was born May 23, 1852, in Duplin county, N. C. In 1873-74 he was one of the Jubilee singers that raised twenty thousand dollars for Shaw University, at which he was graduated in 1878, and in the next year he was licensed to preach. He was principal of the graded school at Goldsborough, N. C., in 1879-1883 when he became principal of the State colored normal school at Fayetteville, N. C. In 1888 he was appointed United States minister and consul-general to Liberia, Africa.

SMITH, GEORGE M., educator, author, was born May 30, 1847, in Belgrade, Mass. Since 1897 he has been professor of modern languages and pedagogy in University of South Dakota. He is the author of Vocabulary to Caesar; Outlines of Civics for South Dakota; The State and Nation; History and Civil Government of South Dakota; and Outlines of Pedagogy.

SMITH, GERRIT, musician, composer, was born Dec. 11, 1859, in Hagerstown, Md. He began his professional career as organist and choirmaster of St. Paul's church of Buffalo, N. Y. He is professor in the Union Theological Seminary; and a noted concert-organist. He is the author of over fifty songs; pianoforte pieces, a cantata, carols, Te Deums, anthems, and male and female choruses.

SMITH, GOLDWIN, author, was born Aug. 23, 1823, in England. He is the author of The Civil War in America; The Relations Between America and England; and other works.

SMITH, MRS. HARIETTE KNIGHT, author, was born Oct. 28, 1855, in Hudson, Ohio. She is the author of History of the Lowell Institute.

SMITH, HARLAN INGERSOLL, anthropologist, author, was born Feb. 17, 1872, in East Saginaw, Mich. He is the author of Data of Michigan Archaeology.

SMITH, HARRY BACHE, author, was born in 1860 in Buffalo, N. Y. He is the author of Robin Hood; Rob Roy; The Little Corporal; The Fortune Teller; The Highwayman; The Serenade; Wizard of the Nile; The Idol's Eye; Half a King; The Fencing Master; The Knickerbockers; The Three Dragoons; The Begum; Jupiter; The Tar and the Tartar; The Tzigane; Boccailio; Clover; The Crystal Slipper; Sinbad and other librettos.

SMITH, HELEN EVERTSON, journalist, author, was born Aug. 22, 1839, in Sharon, Conn. She is the author of Colonial Days and Ways.

SMITH, HENRY ERSKINE, author, was born in New York city. He is the author of On and Off the Saddle, Characteristic Sights and Scenes from the Great Northwest to the Antilles; and Love's Diplomacy.

SMITH, HENRY PRESERVED, educator, author, was born Oct. 23, 1847, in Troy, Ohio. He is professor of Biblical literature in Amherst college. He is the author of a published work.

SMITH, HUNTINGTON, journalist, publisher, author, was born Dec. 4, 1857, in Hudson, N. Y. Since 1898 he has beeu editor and publisher of the Boston Beacon. He is the translator of Tolstoi's My Religion. He is the author of A Century of American Literature.

SMITH, ISAAC TOWNSEND, consul-general, was born March 12, 1813, in Boston, Mass. He settled in New York where as a merchant and ship-owner he conducted business for several years. He was an incorporator and for many years president of the Metropolitan savings-bank; and was a commissioner of emigration for the state of New York for several years. He is Siamese consul-general for the United States.

SMITH, MRS. ISABEL E., artist, was born in Ohio. In 1895 she married Carl F. Smith, an artist of Washington, D. C. She has painted miniature of President McKinley on brooch daily worn by Mrs. McKinley; miniature of Queen Wilhelmina of Holland from life; miniature of Queen Victoria; miniature of President Faure of France; and miniatures of other notables.

SMITH, J. ALLEN, educator, author, was born May 5, 1860, in Pleasant Hill, Mo. Since 1897 he has been professor of political economy in University of Washington. He is the author of Multiple Money Standard.

SMITH, JACOB HURD, soldier, was born Jan. 29, 1840, in Jackson, Ohio. He served in the civil war from 1861 to close. In 1867-98 he served in Indian wars; in the Spanish-American war; and in the Philippine war. In 1900 he was made brigadier-general in the United States army.

SMITH, JAMES ARGYLE, soldier, educator, public official, was born July 1, 1831. Until 1861 he served on the Western frontier and Pacific coast. He then resigned and entered Confederate service as first lieutenant; and passed through all grades until appointed brigadier-general in 1863. In 1878-86 he was state superintendent of education of Mississippi; in 1893-97 was in United States Indian service; and is now marshal of the state supreme court of Mississippi.

SMITH, JAMES FRANCIS, soldier, lawyer, was born Jan. 28, 1859, in San Francisco, Cal. In 1898 he became colonel of the first California regiment, United States volunteers; and served in the first expedition to the Philippines. In 1899 he was made brigadier-general; and the same year became military governor of the Island of Negros.

SMITH, JAMES IRWIN, clergyman, author, was born March 31, 1827, in Mercer county, Pa. In 1881-88 he was pastor of Galesville, Wis; professor, and then president of Galesville university. He is the author of Parents' Part With Baptized Children.

SMITH, J. M., business man, legislator, was born Oct. 14, 1853, in Warren, Pa. He was a member of the Minnesota state legislature in 1894-95; and since 1898 has been receiver United States land offices for Duluth district.

SMITH, JOHN BERNHARDT, educator, author, was born Nov. 21, 1858, in New York. In 1898 he was state entomologist of New Jersey. He is the author of Economic Entomology for the Farmer and Fruit-grower.

SMITH, JOHN TALBOT, clergyman lecturer, author, was born in September, 1855, in Saratoga, N. Y. In 1889-92 he was editor of the New York Catholic Review. He is the author of A Woman of Culture; Solitary Island; Training of a Priest; and other works.

SMITH, JOHN W., congressman. He was a member of congress from Maryland in 1899-1901.

SMITH, JOSEPH, soldier, journalist, author, was born Aug. 15, 1855, in Dublin, Ireland. In 1873-78 he was in the United States cavalry service in New Mexico, Arizona and Texas. In 1892 he established and edited the Sunday Arena of Lowell, Mass. He is the author of The Scotch-Irish.

SMITH, JOSEPH LINDON, artist, was born Oct. 11, 1863, in Pawtucket, R. I. He executed the mural decorations in the Public Library of Boston, Mass.; and the mural decorations on the exterior of the Horticultural hall of Philadelphia, Pa.

SMITH, JOSEPH OTIS, journalist, soldier, legislator, was born April 24, 1859, in Weston, Maine. He was a lieutenant in the Union army in 1865; has been a member of the Maine house of representatives; and secretary of state. He is the author of essay, The Practical and Ethical in Journalism.

SMITH, LANGDON, journalist, author, was born Jan. 4, 1858, in Kentucky. He went to Cuba for the New York Herald when war broke out in 1898; and was on the hill with the marines at Guantanamo and at battles of El Caney and San Juan. He is the author of On the Fan Handle; also short stories.

SMITH, LEE STEWART, soldier, merchant, lecturer, author, was born April 24, 1844, in Cadiz, Ohio. During the civil war he served in the First Pennsylvania artillery; and has been adjutant-general in the Pennsylvania National Guard. He has traveled extensively in foreign countries; and lectured on subjects of travel. He is the author of Through Egypt to Palestine.

SMITH, MARION COUTHOUY, author, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. She is a contributor to leading magazines of poems, short stories and articles, and a serial, A Working Woman. She is the author of Doctor Marks, Socialist.

SMITH, NORA ARCHIBALD, educator, author, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of The Children of the Future. Also with Kate Douglas Wiggin, The Story Hour; and The Republic of Childhood, in three volumes.

SMITH, OBERLIN, engineer, inventor, author, was born in 1840, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is a manufacturer and consulting engineer of Bridgeton, N. J.; is president of the Ferracute Machine Co.; and formerly president of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers. He is the author of Press Working of Metals.

SMITH, ORLANDO JAY, soldier, journalist, author, was born June 14, 1842, near Terre Haute, Ind. Since 1882 he has been president of the American Press Association. In 1861-65 he served in the sixteenth Indiana volunteers infantry and sixth Indiana cavalry as private to major. He is the author of A Short View of Great Questions; and The Coming Democracy.

SMITH, RICHARD, journalist, was born Jan. 30, 1823, in Ireland. He gained employment on the Price Current of Cincinnati, Ohio; of which he soon became proprietor. About 1854 he purchased an interest in the Cincinnati Gazette which became prosperous under his direction, especially during the civil war. But in 1880 its interests and those of the Cincinnati commercial indicated the financial and political wisdom of their union, and accordingly the first of the following year they were consolidated under the name of the Commercial Gazette.

SMITH, SUSAN AUGUSTA, genealogist, author, was born Oct. 19, 1843. She is the author of a genealogical work on the Bass Family; A Memorial of Rev. Thomas Smith and Descendants; and History of The Town of Pembroke.

SMITH, WALTER INGLEWOOD, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born July 10, 1862, in Council Bluffs, Iowa. He practiced law in Council Bluffs, Iowa. In 1890-1900 he was judge of the fifteenth judicial district of Iowa. He was elected to the fifthy-seventh congress from Iowa as a republican.

SMITH, WILLIAM, soldier, was born March 26, 1831, in Orwell, Vt. In 1861-66 he was paymaster United States volunteers; paymaster in regular army in 1867 with rank of major; deputy paymaster-general with rank of lieutenant-colonel in 1888; and paymaster-general in 1890 with rank of brigadier-general. He was retired in 1895.

SMITH, WILMOT M., lawyer, jurist, was born March 21, 1852, in Suffolk county, N. Y. In 1884-90 he was district attorney of Suffolk county, N. Y.; County judge in 1891-95; and since 1895 has been justice of the supreme court of New York.

SMITH, WILSON GEORGE, musician, composer, was born Aug. 19, 1855, in Elyria, Ohio. Since 1882 he has been a teacher of pianoforte, voice, and composer in Cleveland, Ohio. He is the author of forty songs and other compositions.

SMYTH, ANDREW WOODS, physician, was born Feb. 15, 1833, in Ireland. He settled in New Orleans in 1849. He performed, in 1864, the first and only recorded operation of tying successfully the arteria innominata for subclavian aneurism. In 1866 he also made the first successful reduction of a dislocation of the femur of over nine months duration; and performed the operation of extirpation of the kidney in 1879; then almost unknown to the profession.

SMYTHE, WILLIAM ELLSWORTH, journalist, author, was born Dec. 24, 1861, in Worcester, Mass. In 1895 he founded New Plymouth, a notable settlement in Idaho. He has lectured extensively on irrigation. He is the author of The Conquest of Arid America.

SNEATH, E. HERSHEY, educator, author, was born Aug. 7, 1857, in Mountville, Pa. He is professor of philosophy in Yale university. He organized and edited The Modern Philosophers Series, in eight volumes; The Ethical series, in six volumes. He is the author of The Philosophy of Reid; The Ethics of Hobbes.

SNODGRASS, CHARLES EDWARD, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 28, 1866, in Sparta, Tenn. He moved to Crossville and began the practice of law, to which he devoted himself exclusively. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

SNODGRASS, DAVID LA FAYETTE, lawyer, jurist, was born April 6, 1851, in Sparta, Tenn. In 1886-1902 he was chief justice of the supreme court of Tenn.

SNOOK, JOHN S., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 18, 1862, near Antwerp, Ohio. In 1887-90 he practiced law in Antwerp, Ohio; and since then in Paulding. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Ohio as a democrat.

SNYDER, ALBERT WHITCOMB, clergyman, author, was born April 8, 1845, in Lisbon, N. Y. He holds a pastorate in Elmhurst, Borough of Queens, N. Y. He is the author of Living Church; The Chief Things; The C... Days; and Church Doctrine of the People.

SNYDER, SIMON, soldier, was born Feb. 9, 1839, in Selin's Grove, Pa. During the civil war he attained the rank of captain. In 1890 he was brevetted major for gallant services against Indians at Bear Paw Mountain, Mont., in 1877. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general, United States volunteers; and commanded various divisions in volunteer army at several points in Southern States.

SOBIESKI, EUGENE THADDEUS soldier, lawyer, was born Sept. 10, 1842, in Poland. He entered the Union army, and fought through the four years of the civil war, being honorably discharged in 1865; when he accepted a colonel's commission in the Mexican army. Later he settled in Missouri, where he practiced law; and in recent years has become well known as a platform lecturer.

SOLBERG, THORVALD, register of copyrights, was born April, 22, 1852, in Manitowoc, Wis. He was on staff Library of Congress in 1876-89; spent greater part of time abroad until appointed in 1897 as register of copyrights. He is the author of Bibliography of Copyright.

SOMMERVILLE, MAXWELL, archaeologist, author, was born May 1, 1829, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1894 he has been professor of glyptology in University of Pennsylvania. He has spent the greater part of his life in Europe and Asia, devoting more than thirty years to his quest for rare gems, cameos, intaglios and specimens of lapidary's art of historical value. He is the author of Engraved Gems.

SOULE, CHARLES CARROLL, soldier, publisher, author, was born June 25, 1842, in Boston, Mass. In 1862-65 he served as private and lieutenant of forty-fourth Massachusetts, and captain of fifty-fifth Massachusetts. He is president of Boston Book Company. He is the author of The Lawyer's Reference Manual of Law Books and Citations.

SOUSA, JOHN PHILIP, musician, composer, was born Nov. 6, 1854, in Washington, D. C. He was a teacher at fifteen and conductor at seventeen; and was one of first violins of Jacques Offenbach's orchestra when latter was in the United States. In 1880-92 he was band leader in the United States Marine Corps; and since 1892 director of Sousa's Band. He has composed and published many marches, orchestral suites; songs; waltzes; and the light operas El Capitan; Bride Elect; and The Charlatan.

SOUTHGATE, JAMES HAYWOOD merchant, banker, was born July 19, 1859, in Norfolk, Va. Since 1882 he has been engaged in banking and insurance business in North Carolina.

SOVEREIGN, JAMES R. manager, orator. In 1894-97 he was General Master Workman of Knights of Labor.

SPALDING, ELIZABETH HILL, educator, author, poet. She is a teacher of English in Pratt Institute of Brooklyn, N. Y. She is the author of The Problem of Elementary Composition: Suggestions for Its Solution; and The Language-Speller.

SPALDING, FREDERICK PUTNAM, civil engineer, author, was born April 7, 1857, in Wysox, Pa. For several years he was in practice as civil engineer upon river improvements and municipal work. He is the author of Notes on Hydraulic Cement; Text-Book on Roads and Pavements; and Hydraulic Cement, Its Properties, Testing and Use.

SPALDING, WARREN CLYDE, physician, surgeon, poet, was born in 1857, in Rensselaer, N. Y. For many years he was surgeon in the Omaha Remedial Institute; and now practices his profession in New York city.

SPARKMAN, JAMES TRUSLOW, merchant, reformer, was born Sept. 27, 1842, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1861 he entered into business with his father, James D. Sparkman, of New York city, who was a large importing merchant. In recent years he has advocated various measures of reform, notably the labor-day bill, the half-holiday bill, the small-parks, bill and the tenement-house reform bill; and has been uniformly successful in procuring the passage of measures of reformatory legislation.

SPEAR, WILLIAM T., lawyer, jurist, was born June 3, 1834, in Warren, Ohio. In 1873-77 he was prosecuting attorney at Columbus, Ohio. In 1878-84 he was judge of the court of common pleas; and since 1885 has been judge of the supreme court of Ohio.

SPEARMAN, FRANK HAMILTON, banker, author, was born in Buffalo, N. Y. In 1889 he became a bank president; and since 1895 has been in literary work as magazine writer and author. He is the author of The Nerve of Foley.

SPEER, ROBERT ELLIOTT, author, was born Sept. 10, 1867, in Huntingdon, Pa. Since 1891 he has been secretary of Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. In 1896-97 he made a tour of visitation of Christian missions in Persia, India, China, Korea and Japan. He is the author of The Man Christ Jesus; The Man Paul; Missions and Politics in Asia; and A Memorial of a True Life.

SPENCE, WALTER, clergyman, author, was born July 5, 1867, in Rural Retreat, Va. He is a congregational clergyman of Kingfisher, O. T. He is the author of Back to Christ.

SPENCER, MRS. ANNA GARLIN, minister, author, was born April 17, 1851, in Attleborough, Mass. She is a unitarian minister of Providence, R. I.; and a lecturer on philanthropy at teachers' institutes. She is the author of Order of Service for Public Worship.

SPENCER, EDSON R., banker, state senator, was born Jan. 17, 1861, in Watertown, N. Y. He is now engaged in the banking business in Firth, Neb. He served three terms in the Nebraska legislature.

SPENCER, MRS. WILLIAM LORING, educator, author, was born in St. Augustine, Fla. She is the author of Salt Lake Fruit; Story of Mary; A Plucky One; and Calamity Jane.

SPENSER, WILARD, musician, composer, was born July 7, 1856, in Cooperstown, N. Y. He is a self-taught composer of light pianoforte music. He is the author of a comic operetta entitled The Little Tycoon.

SPERRY, LYMAN BEECHER, educator, lecturer, author, was born Feb. 19, 1841, in Sherman, N. Y. In 1876-84 he was professor of chemistry and physiology in Carleton College, Minn.; and since 1886 has been a public lecturer on general themes. He is the author of Concerning Narcotics; and Confidential Talks with Young Men.

SPEYERS, CLARENCE LIVINGSTON, educator, author, was born in January, 1863, in New York city. Since 1891 he has been professor of chemistry in Rutgers College. He is the author of Textbook of Physical Chemistry.

SPIERING, THEODOR, musician, composer, was born in 1871, in St. Louis, Mo. He is founder of, and first violin in, the Spiering Quartet of Chicago, Ill.

SPIGHT, THOMAS, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 25, 1841, in Ripley, Miss. In 1861 he entered the Confederate army; and was in command of the 34th Mississippi infantry at close of war. In 1879-84 he founded, owned and edited the Southern Sentinel of Ripley, Miss. In 1884-92 he was district attorney. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress for unexpired term.

SPILLANE, EDWARD, clergyman, educator, author, was born Nov. 19, 1859, in New York city. He has been professor of Greek and Latin literature in various Jesuit colleges in New York, Baltimore, Washington and Boston. He is now engaged in compilation of a Dictionary of Catholic American Authors.

SPINGARN, JOEL ELIAS, educator, author, was born May 17, 1875, in New York city. Since 1900 he has been tutor in comparative literature in Columbia University of New York city. He is the author of A History of Literary Criticism in the Renaissance.

SPIRO, CHARLES, inventor, author, was born Jan. 1, 1850, in New York city. In 1885 he patented the Columbia typewriter; and later the Bar-lock typewriter. He is the author of a system of shorthand.

SPRAGUE, FRANK HEADLEY, engraver, author, was born in 1861 in Melrose, Mass. He has been in the engraving business since 1884. He is the author of Spiritual Consciousness.

SPRAGUE, FRANKLIN M., soldier, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 1, 1843, in East Douglas, Mass. For two years he served as lieutenant and captain in Union army. He is the author of Socialism from Genesis to Revelation; The Laws of Social Evolution; and Honest Money.

SPROULL, WILLIAM OLIVER, educator, author, was born May 8, 1848, in Allegheny, Pa. Since 1880 he has been professor of Latin and Arabic in University of Cincinnati. He is the author of The Education of the Roman Youth.

SPRUANCE, WILLIAM CORBIT, lawyer, jurist, was born April 2, 1831, in Smyrna, Del. In 1871-97 he practiced law in Wilmington, Del. Since 1897 he has been associate judge of the court of Delaware.

SPURR, JOSIAH EDWARD, geologist author, was born Oct. 1, 1870, in Gloucester, Mass. He is geologist on United States Geological Survey. He is the author of Through the Yukon Gold Diggings.

STACKPOLE, EVERETT S., educator, author, was born June 11, 1850, in Durham, Maine. In 1888-93 he was director of a theological school at Florence, Italy; and has been a member of the Maine conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church since 1878. He is the author of Four and a Half Years in the Italy Mission; and The Evidence of Salvation or the Direct Witness of the Spirit.

STAFFORD, WENDELL PHILLIPS, lawyer, orator, legislator, jurist, poet, was born May 1, 1861, in Barre, Vt. He represented St. Johnsbury in Vermont legislature in 1892. Since 1900 he has been judge of the supreme court of Vermont. He edited the sixty-ninth, seventieth and seventy-first volumes of Vermont Reports.

STANFORD, MRS. JANE LATHROP, philanthropist, was born Aug. 25, 1825, in Albany, N. Y. She married Leland Stanford. Her social life began when Mr. Stanford was elected governor of California in 1861. With her husband she established The Leland Stanford, Junior, University in 1891; built Children's Hospital of Albany, N. Y.; and gave $160,000 to kindergarten schools of San Francisco. Since the death of her husband she has devoted her attention to the development of the university.

STANSBURY, CHARLES FREDERICK, journalist, author, was born Nov. 3, 1854, in London, England. He went to California at the age of twenty, thence to Hawaii, Samoa and Australia; and made a second voyage to Australia in 1879, remaining there until 1887. He is the author of Klondike, The Land of Gold.

STANTON, ROBERT BREWSTER, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 5, 1846, in Woodville, Miss. He made railway survey as chief engineer through Grand Canon of the Colorado. He is the author of The Canons of the Colorado River of the West for Railway Purposes; and The Great Land Slides on the Canadian Pacific Railway in British Columbia.

STANTON, ROBERT LIVINGSTONE, clergyman, author, was born March 28, 1810, in Griswold, Conn. He is the author of The Church and the Rebellion.

STAPLES, HENRY LORING, physician, was born Sept. 21 1859, in Maine. He is professor of clinical medicine in the University of Minnesota. He is the author of The Minerals of Parsonsfield.

STAPLES, KING G., lumberman, legislator, was born May 26, 1851, in Lee, Maine. He is engaged in the lumbering business as logger and manufacturer. He was town treasurer for the town of Superior in 1887-88; and was elected to the Wisconsin assembly in 1896.

STAPLETON, AMMON, soldier, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 15, 1859, in Earl, Pa. He entered Union army when only 14 years of age; and served under Sheridan. He has been presiding elder since 1895. He made original researches in and wrote and lectured on palaeontology and arcnaeology. He is the author of Natural History of the Bible; and Compend of Church History.

STARR, ALFRED ADOLPHUS, lecturer, inventor, was born Jan. 25, 1820, in New York city. In 1845 he began giving lectures which he illustrated with a crude solar crude solar microscope made of pasteboard. Afterward he made an oxyhydrogen microscope; and several years later he procured a fine apparatus. He has given three thousand lectures and exhibitions before schools and colleges; and was also connected with Phineas T. Barnum. Using a microscope of enormous power, he projected living specimens on his screen; and being a skilful manipulator, regulated their performances with dexterity, showing water-insects and animalcules feeding upon or fighting with each other. He was one of the first to procure a patent to light railroad-cars with gas.

STARR, FREDERICK, anthropologist, author, was born Sept. 2, 1858, in Auburn, N. Y. Since 1893 he has been professor ofanthropology in University of Chicago. He is the author of On the Hills, geology for young people; and Some First Steps in Human Progress.

STARR LOUIS, physician, author, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Disease of Digestive Organs in Infancy and Childhood; Hygiene of the Nursery; Diets for Infants and Children in Health and in Disease; and A Synopsis of the Physiological Action of Medicines.

STARRETT, MRS. HELEN FKIN, educator, author, was born Sept. 19, 1840, Allegheny county, Pa. She is principal of Mrs. Starrett's Classical School for Girls. She is the founder of Kenwood institute of Chicago, Ill. She is the author of Letters to a Daughter; Letters to Elder Daughters; and a volume of poems.

START, CHARLES M., lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 4, 1839, in Bakersfield, Vt. He is chief justice of the supreme court of Minnesota. In 1880-81 he was attorney-general of Minnesota.

STEBBINS, ALONZO T., business man, state senator, was born Sept. 21, 1847, in Mansfield, Mass. He is engaged in the hardware business at Rochester, Minn. He was elected to the Minnesota state legislature in 1888.

STEELE, MRS. ESTHER BAKER, author, was born in 1835 in Lysander, N. Y. She married Prof. Joel Dorman Steele. In collaboration with her husband she published Barnes Brief Histories. Since her husband's death she has revised new editions of these joint works; and also of her husband's science books.

STEERE, JOSEPH BEAL, scientist, author, was born Feb. 9, 1842, in Lenawee county, Mich. He has made numerous trips in foreign countries collecting specimens for the Smithsonian Institution. He is the author of Fifty New Species of Philippine Birds.

STEINER, BERNARD CHRISTIAN, educator, librarian, author, was born Aug. 13, 1867, in Guilford, Conn. Since 1892 he has been librarian of Enoch Pratt Free Library of Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Education in Maryland; Education in Connecticut; Citizenship and Suffrage in Maryland; Institutions and Civil Government of Maryland; and Genealogy of Steiner Family.

STEINER, JOHN ALEXANDER, manufacturer, soldier, journalist, legislator, was born March 16, 1816. He served during the civil war as major and lieutenant colonel in the first regiment Potomac home brigade; and in 1866 was brevetted colonel and brigadier-general of volunteers. He has been a member of the Maryland house of delegates; editor of the Frederick Examiner; and inspector of customs at Baltimore, Md.

STEINMETZ, CHARLES PROTEUS, electrician, author, was born April 9, 1865, in Germany. He is the author of Theory and Calculation of Alternating Current Phenomena.

STELWAGON, HENRY WEIGHTMAN, physician, author, was born Dec. 3, 1853, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Essentials of Diseases of the Skin.

STENGEL, ALFRED, physician, author, was born Nov. 3, 1868, in Pittsburg, Pa. He is a successful physician of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of A Text-Book of Pathology.

STEPHENS, CHARLES ASBURY, author, was born in 1847 in Lake Norway, Maine. He is a writer of Norway, Maine, and the author of Camping Out; Off the Geysers; Left on Labrador; Fox Hunting; On the Amazon; The Young Moose-Hunters; and The Knockabout Club in the Woods and in the Tropics.

STEPHENS, LON V., lawyer, journalist, banker, governor, was born Dec. 21, 1858, in Boonville, Mo. He learned the printer's trade; was for a time bank clerk, then telegraph operator, then lawyer; and finally president of Bank of Boonville, Mo. In 1897-1901 he was governor of Missouri.

STEPHENS, ROBERT NEILSON, journalist, author, was born July 22, 1867, in New Bloomfield, Pa. In 1893 he became theatrical agent and dramatist in New York city, writing plays for cheap theatres, notably the Steve Brodie melodrama, On the Bowery. He later wrote An Enemy to the King, produced by E. H. Sothern in 1896; and The Ragged Regiment, produced in 1898. He is the author of An Enemy to the King; The Continental Dragoon; The Road to Paris; A Gentleman and Player; Philip Winwood; and Captain Ravenshaw.

STERRETT, JAMES MACBRIDE, educator, author, was born Jan. 13, 1847, in Howard, Pa. Since 1892 he has been professor of philosophy in Columbian university, D. C. Since 1893 he has been president of the Society for Philosophical Inquiry. He is the author of Studies in Hegel's Philosophy of Religion; Reason and Authority in Religion; and The Ethics of Hegel.

STERRETT, JAMES P., lawyer, jurist, chief justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

STETSON, MRS. CHARLOTTE PERKINS, author, was born in 1860 in Hartford, Conn. She made a reputation as a story-writer, lecturer, and advocate of equality for women; and in 1896 visited Great Britain as public speaker. She is the author of Women and Economics; and In This Our World, in verse.

STEUNENBERG, FRANK, governor. In 1897-1900 he was governor of Idaho.

STEVANS, C. M., educator, journalist, author, was born in 1861. For twelve years he was engaged in educational work; and for nine years was editor of educational and subscription books in Chicago and New York city. He is the author of History of Spanish-America; World's Congress of Religions; Powers of Mind; Scenes in Our New Possessions; and other works.

STEVENS, ALBERT CLARK, journalist, author, was born Oct. 10, 1854, in Buffalo, N. Y. In 1880-98 he was editor of Bradstreet's. He is the author of Cyclopedia of Fraternities.

STEVENS, ARTHUR ALBERT, physician, author. He is a physician of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Manual of the Practice of Medicine.

STEVENS, GEORGE THOMAS, physician, inventor, author, was born 1832 in Essex county, N. Y. In 1861 he was commissioned surgeon of 77th New York volunteers. Since 1880 he has been in practice in New York city. He is the inventor of many standard surgical and philosophical instruments. He is the author of Three Years in the Sixth Corps.

STEVENS, GEORGE W., journalist, artist, author, poet, was born Jan. 16, 1866, in Utica, N. Y. Since 1900 he has been on editorial staff of Toledo Times. He is the author of The King and the Harper; and Other Poems.

STEVENS, HAZARD, soldeir, lawyer, was born June 9, 1842, in Newport R.I. He served throughout the civil war,1861-65, in Army of the Potomac. He is the author of Life of Isaac Ingalls Stevens. He served throughout the civil war in 1861-65; and attained the ranch of brigadier-general.

STEVENS, JOSEPH EARLE, business man, author, was born Feb. 8, 1870, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of Yesterdays in the Philippines.

STEVENS, P. F., clergyman, bishop. He is a bishop of the Reformed Episcopal Church at Orangeburg, S. C.

STEVENS, WALTER B., journalist, author, was born July 25, 1848, in Meriden, Conn. He has been Washington correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat since 1884; and has traveled extensively for same paper through the United States, Canada, Mexico, and Cuba. He is the author of Through Texas.

STEVENS WILLIAM ARNOLD, theologian, author, was born Feb. 5, 1839, in Granville, Ohio. Since 1877 he has been professor of New Testament Interpretation in Rochester Theological Seminary. He is the author of Harmony of the Gospels for Historical Study.

STEVENSON, BURTON EGBERT, journalist, librarian, author, was born Nov. 9, 1872, in Chillicothe,Ohio. He is the author of A Soldier of Virginia, a Story of Colonel Washington and Braddock's Defeat.

STEVENSON, JAMES HENRY, educator, author, was born April 16, 1860, in Canada. Since 1892 he has been professor of Hebrew in Vanderbilt university. He is the author of Herodotus and the Empires of the East; and Babylonian and Assyrian Contracts with Aramaic Reference Notes.

STEVENSON, JOHN JAMES, educator, geologist, author, was born Oct. 10, 1841, in New York city. Since 1871 he has been professor of geology in the New York university; was United States geologist during 1873-79; and president of Geological Society of America in 1898. He is the author of six volumes on geology.

STEVENSON, MRS. MATILDA COXE, ethnologist, author, was born in San Augustine, Texas. Since 1889 she has been on the staff bureau of American Ethnology at the Smithsonian Institution of Washington, D. C. She has explored cave, cliff and mesa ruins of New Mexico; and visited all the Pueblo tribes. She is the author of The Zuni and the Zunians; and Zuni Ancestral Gods and Masks.

STEVENSON, PAUL EVE, author, was born May 19, 1868, in New York City. He is the author of A Deep Water Voyage; and By Way of Cape Horn.

STEVENSON, MRS. SARA YORKE, archaeologist, author, was born Feb. 19, 1847, in Paris, France. She married June 30, 1870, to Cornelius Stevenson. In 1894 she was president of Civic Club of Philadelphia, Pa. She is the author of Maximilian in Mexico; and The Book of the Dead.

STEWARD, MRS. ELECTRA MARIA, author, was born Sept. 6, 1817, in Le Roy, N. Y. She is a writer of Detroit. She is the author of Early History of Michigan; and The Clevelands, a religious juvenile tale.

STEWARD, THEOPHILUS GOULD, clergyman, author, was born April 17, 1843, in Gouldtown, N. J. He is a clergyman of African descent. He is the author of Death, Hades, and the Resurrection; The End of the World; and Genesis Reread.

STEWART, EDWIN, naval officer, was born May 5, 1837, in New York city. He is paymaster-general of the United States navy; and in 1899 received the rank of rear-admiral.

STEWART, GEORGE BLACK, theologian, college president, author, was born Feb. 28, 1854, in Columbus, Ohio. Since 1884 he has been president and professor of practical theology in the Theological Seminary of Auburn, N. Y. He was the founder and for five years president of the Pennsylvania Chautauqua. He is the author of Life of Jesus for Juniors.

STEWART, HAMILTON, journalist, was born Sept. 4, 1813, in Kentucky. He has resided in Galveston, Texas, from the foundation of the city, and has been repeatedly its mayor. He is also editor of its chief paper, The Galveston News.

STEWART, JAMES ALOYSIUS, physician, was born April 3, 1828, in Baltimore, Md. He established himself in practice in Baltimore; and became physician to the city general dispensary; and assistant physician to the Maryland hospital for the insane. Since 1875 he has been health commissioner, registrar of vital statistics; and president of the city board of health. He checked an incipient outbreak of yellow fever in 1886; and has aided in suppressing two epidemics of small-pox.

STEWART, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Nov. 4, 1839, in Shippensburg, Pa. In 1864 he was a delegate to Republican National convention; and in 1892 was a member of the Constitutional convention of Pennsylvania. In 1880-84 he was a member of the Pennsylvania state senate; and since 1888 has been presiding judge of the thirty-ninth judicial district of Pennsylvania.

STEWART, JOHN K., congressman. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from New York as a republican.

STEWART, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 27, 1825, in Baltimore, Md. He has presided as judge over each of the state courts of Baltimore city; and has filled positions of dignity, ability and impartiality.

STICKNEY, WILLIAM WALLACE, lawyer, legislator, governor, was born March 21, 1853, in Plymouth, Vt. In 1882-84 and 1890-92 he was states attorney; and in 1892-96 represented Ludlow in the Vermont legislature. In 1900-02 he was governor of Vermont.

STIEGLITZ, ALFRED, artist, author, was born Jan. 13, 1864, in Hoboken, N. J. He founded and is editor of Camera Notes; devotes his energies to the advancement of American Pictorial Photography; and has won over one hundred medals for photograpny. He is the author of Picturesque Bits of New York, and Other Stories.

STIMPSON, HERBERT BAIRD, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 31, 1869, near Ilchester, Md. He is a successful lawyer of Baltimore, Md. He is the author of The Regeneration; and The Tory Maid.

STIMSON, HENRY A., clergyman, author, was born Sept. 28, 1842, in New York. He is vice-president of the American Missionary Association. He is the author of Religion and Business; Questions of Modern Inquiry; and The Apostles' Creed.

STINE, WILBUR MORRIS, civil engineer, author, was born Nov. 3, 1863, in Tyrone, Pa. Since 1898 he has been professor of engineering in Swarthmore college, Pa. He is the author of Photometrical Measurements.

STIVERS, MRS. KAZIA ARMINGTON, vocalist, author, poet,was born July 10, 1840, in Weedsport, N. Y. She is the author of occasional short poems published in periodicals in New York and elsewhere. She sang soprano in the Protestant Episcopal cathedral of Rochester, N. Y., and in the Roman Catholic cathedral of San Antonio, Tex.

STOAKS, CHARLES E., educator, author, was born May 17, 1859, in Friendsville, Ohio. He is a chalk talk and lecturer on all Chautauqua and lyceum platforms; and minister of Cumberland Presbyterian church. He is the author of Aron Burr, or Kingdom of Silver; and Stoaks' School Grade System.

STOCKTON, MRS. CORNELIA M., educator, poet, was born June 29, 1835, in Wallkill, N. Y. In 1856 she taught at Glendale college, Ohio; then moved to Kansas, where she was regent of the State university of Lawrence. She is a noted writer of Kansas, and the author of a volume entitled Poems.

STOCKSLAGER, CHARLES O., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 8, 1847, in Harrison county, Ind. In 1876-87 he practiced law in Cherokee county, Kan.; and since 1887 in Idaho. In 1890-1900 he was judge of the fourth district; and since 1900 has been associate justice of the supreme court of Idaho.

STOCKTON, LOUISE, writer, author, was born in Philadelphia, Pa. She is a sister of Francis R. Stockton. She has been connected with the leading journals as editorial writer; and book editor and music critic. She is now president of West Philadelphia Center University Extension. She is the author of Dorothea.

STOCKWELL, CHESTER TWITCHELL, dental surgeon, autnor, was born Sept. 5, 1841, in Royalston, Mass. He is the author of The Evolution of Immortality; The Philosophic Idea of God; Sentiment vs. Science; The Ethical Aspects of the Evolution of Machinery; The Relation of Evolutionary Thought to Immortality; The Ethical Basis of Equality; Of Ethical Ideas and World Movements; The New Materialism; and The New Pantheism.

STOCKWELL, JOHN NELSON, astronomer, author, was born April 10, 1832, in Northampton, Mass. He is known for original investigations in astronomy. He is the author of Memoir on the Secular Vibrations of the Planetary Orbits.

STODDARD, FRANCIS HOVEY, educator, author, was born April 25, 1847, in Middlebury, Vt. He is professor of English literature in New York university. He is the author of The Modern Novel; The Ideal in Literature; Psycho-Biography; Women in the English Universities; The Caedmon Poems; Conditions of Labor in England; Miracle Plays and Mysteries; Tolstoi and Matthew Arnold; The Uses of Rhetoric; Inductive Work in College Classes; Literary Spirit in the Colleges; and The Study of the English Language.

STOKES, ANSON PHELPS, banker, author, was born Feb. 22, 1838, in New York city. In 1900 he was president of the National Association of Anti-Imperialist Club. He is the author of Joint Metallism; and other works.

STOKES, FREDERICK A., publisher, author, was born Nov. 4, 1857, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is president of Frederick A. Stokes Company, publishers of New York city. He is the author of College Tramps.

STOKES, HENRY NEWLIN, chemist, educator, was born Oct. 24, 1859, in Moorestown, N. J. In 1899 he became assistant chemist in the United States geological survey. In 1892 he was appointed assistant professor of general and inorganic chemistry in the University of Chicago; and since 1893 has been with United States geological survey.

STONE, CHARLES WELLINGTON, educator, author, was born Dec. 13, 1853, in Templeton, Mass. He is the author of Needles of Pine.

STONE, MRS MARGARET MANSON BARBOUR, educator, author, was born Feb. 26, 1841, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1885 she was president and originator of Modern Novel Club. She is the author of The Problem of Domestic Service; To Reading Clubs; and One of Berrian's Novels.

STONE, WITMER, naturalist, author, was born Sept. 22, 1866, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is assistant curator in charge of museum of Academy of Natural Science of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Birds of Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey; Report on Birds of Yucatan and Southern Mexico; and The Molting of Birds.

STRAKOSCH, MAX, artist, was born Sept. 27, 1835, in Moravia. He was associated with his brother in most of his enterprises, and some of the most famous artists traveled under their management, including Carlotta and Adelina Patti, Karl Formes, Pasquale Brignoli, Italo Campanini, Pauline Lucca, Therese Titjens, Christine Nilsson, and Marietta Alboni.

STRANG, LEWIS CLINTON, journalist, author, was born Dec. 4, 1869, in Westfield, Mass. He is the autnor of Famous Actresses of the Day; Famous Actors of the Day; Prima Donnas and Soubrettes of Light Opera and Musical Comedy of America; and Celebrated Comedians of Light Opera and Musical Comedy in America.

STRATEMEYER, EDWARD, author, was born Oct. 4, 1862, in Elizabeth, N. J. He is the author of Under Dewey at Manila; A Young Volunteer in Cuba; To Alaska for Gold; and The Minute Boys of Lexington.

STRATTON, GEORGE MALCOLM, educator, author, was born Sept. 26, 1865, in Oakland, Cal. He is professor and director of the Psychological Laboratory, University of California; and the author of a number of articles on Psychology in current scientific publications.

STRATTON, MRS. MERCY LAVINA BUMP, was born Oct. 31, 1841, in Middleborough, Mass. She was engaged by Mr. Barnum in 1862, under whose management she assumed the name of Warren. When exhibited with Gen. Tom Thumb she was both shorter and lighter than her husband, but her height increased to forty inches and her weight to fifty pounds. After the death of Mr. Stratton she lived in retirement until her marriage in 1885 to Count Primo Magri, an Italian dwarf, with whom she has since given exhibitions in the United States and Europe.

STRECKER, HERMAN, botanist, sculptor, author, was born March 24 1836, in Philadelphia, Pa. He designed the Soldiers' Monument at Reading, Pa., as well as numerous other works of note. He is the author of Butterflies and Moths of North America.

STREET, WEBSTER, lawyer, jurist, was born June 8, 1846, in Salem, Ohio. Since 1897 he has been chief justice of the supreme court of Arizona.

STRINGER, ARTHUR J., author, poet, was born Feb. 26, 1874, in Canada. He is the author of Watchers of Twilight; Pauline and Other Poems; Epigrams; and The Loom of Destiny.

STRINGHAM, (WASHINGTON) IRVING, mathematician, author, was born Dec. 10, 1847, in Yorkshire, N. Y. Since 1886 he has been professor of mathematics and dean in University of California. He is the author of Uniplanar Algebra.

STROBEL, EDWARD HENRY, lawyer, diplomat, author, was born Dec. 7, 1855, in Charleston, S. C. He is Bemis professor of international law in Harvard university. He is the author of The Spanish Revolution.

STRONG, CHARLES H., clergyman, author, was born Dec. 29, 1850, in New Orleans, La. He is rector of St. John's church of Savannah, Ga. He is the author of Creed in Deed; A Fair Agnostic; and In Paradise.

STRONG, EDWARD TRASK, naval officer, was born Feb. 10, 1840, in Ipswich, Mass. He served through the civil war. In 1868 he was commissioned ensign in regular navy; and in 1900 was retired with rank of rear admiral.

STRONG, FRANK, educator, author, was born Aug. 5, 1859, in Venice, N. Y. Since 1897 he has been lecturer on history in Yale university. He is the author of Life of Benjamin Franklin; and A Forgotten Danger to the New England Colonies.

STRONG, THOMAS NELSON, soldier, lawyer, author, was born March 17, 1853, in Cathlamet, Washington Territory. In 1869-73 he was engineer on the Northern Pacific railroad; and since 1874 has practiced law in Portland, Ore. He is the author of The Spanish Revolution.

STRONG, WILLIAM B., railroad manager, banker, was born about 1830, in Brownington, Vt. He began railroading in 1854; filled the positions of superintendent and general manager on various roads; and for ten years was president of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad. Resigning that position, he subsequently became a banker at Beloit, Wis.

STUART, CHARLES MACAULAY, theologian, author, was born Aug. 20, 1853, in Glasgow, Scotland. Since 1896 he has been professor of sacred rhetoric in Garrett Biblical institute. He is the author of Descriptive Text of Photogravures of the Holy Land; Life and Selected Writings of Francis Dana Hemenway; Singers and Their Songs; Visions of Christ in the Poets; and Story of the Masterpieces.

STUBBS, WILLIAM CARTER, soldier, scientist, author, was born Dec. 7, 1846, in Gloucester county, Va. In the civil war he served in the confederate cavalry. Since 1883 he has been professor of agriculture in the Louisiana State University; and since 1896 has been state chemist of Louisiana. He is the author of Sugar, in two volumes; The Descendants of Mordecai Cooke.

STURGIS, JULIAN, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 21, 1848, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of John-a-Dreams; An Accomplished Gentleman; Dick's Wandering; John Maidment; Thralldom; My Friends and I; Comedy of a Country House; Master of Fortune; After Twenty Years; and The Folly of Pen Harrington.

SUDWORTH, GEORGE BISHOP, botanist, author, was born Aug. 31, 1862, in Kingston, Wis. Since 1895 he has been dendrologist in Division of Forestry of United States Department of Agriculture. He is the author of Forest Flora of the Rocky Mountain Region; Forest Flora of Tennessee; and other works.

SULLIVAN, ISAAC N., lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 3, 1848, in Iowa. Since 1899 he has been chief justice of the supreme court of Idaho.

SULLIVAN, J. J., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Nebraska.

SULLIVAN, THOMAS CROOK, soldier, was born Nov. 14, 1833, in Montgomery county, Ohio. He was brigadier-general and commissary-general of subsistence in United States army; and retired in 1897. He served in the army through all grades of commissioned officer until retired by operation of law.

SUMNER, EDWIN VOSE, soldier. He served with merit during the civil war; and was appointed major of the fifth cavalry in 1879; and is now inspector of rifle practice.

SUMNER, GEORGE WATSON, naval officer, was born Dec. 31, 1841, in Constantine, Mich. He became lieutenant-commander in 1866; commander in 1876; captain in 1891; and rear admiral in 1899.

SUMNER, SAMUEL STORROW, soldier, was born in Pennsylvania. During the civil war he was brevetted first lieutenant, captain, and major; and in 1879 was made major of the eighth cavalry. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general in the United States volunteers; and subsequently major-general.

SUNDERLAND, MRS. ELIZA READ, educator, lecturer, author, was born in 1839, in Huntsville, Ill. She taught in Chicago High Schools; and has preached and lectured in many cities. She is the author of Stories from Genesis; and Heroes and Heroines.

SUPER, OVANDO BYRON, educator, author, was born March 2, 1848, near Newport, Pa. Since 1900 he has been professor of Romance languages in Dickinson college of Carlisle, Pa. He is the author of French Reader; and German Reader.

SUTHERLAND, MRS. EVELYN GREENLEAF, playwright, author, was born in Cambridge, Mass. She is the author of In Office Hours, and Other Vaudeville Sketches; and many one-act plays in professional use.

SUTHERLAND, GEORGE, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born March 25, 1862, in England. In 1896 he was a member of the Utah legislature; and has held other positions. He was elected to the fifty-seventh congress from Utah as a republican.

SUTHERLAND, JOHN PRESTON, physician, author, was born Feb. 9, 1854, in Charlestown, Mass. He is dean of Boston University Medical school. In 1883-97 he was editor of New England Medical Gazette. He has been president of Massachusetts Homeopathic Medical Society. He is the author of Hints on Urinary Analysis.

SUTPHEN, W. G. VAN TASSEL, journalist, author, was born May 11, 1861, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of The Golficide, The Golfers Alphabet.

SWAIN, GEORGE FILLMORE, civil engineer, author, was born March 2, 1857, in San Francisco, Cal. Since 1887 he has been professor of civil engineering, in charge of civil engineering department of Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is the author of Report on Water Power of the Atlantic Watershed.

SWAN, HENRY HARRISON, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 2, 1840, in Detroit, Mich. Since 1891 he has been United States district judge for eastern district of Michigan.

SWEARINGEN, HENRY H., lawyer, author, was born April 7, 1857. He is a noted lawyer of Washington, D. C.; and has been government examiner of claims. He is the author of the Swearingen Genealogy.

SWEET, ADA CELESTE, lawyer, was born Feb. 23, 1853, in Stockbridge, Wis. She is the daughter of Benjamin J. Sweet, who became colonel and brevet brigadier-general in the Union army; and after the war practiced law in Chicago. When he became United States pension agent she learned the business; and after his death in 1874 she was appointed United States pension agent for paying pensions in Chicago—the first woman ever appointed as a disbursing officer in the United States. She held the office until 1885. In 1886 she became literary editor of the Chicago Tribune; and in 1888 opened a United States claims office in Chicago.

She has been president of the Municipal Order League of Chicago; and president of the Chicago Woman's Club.

SWEETSER, DELIGHT, Mrs. F. F. Prentiss, author, was born Jan. 21, 1873, in Hartford City, Ind. She is the author of One Way Round the World.

SWENIE, DENNIS J., public official, was born July 29, 1834, in Glasgow, Scotland. Since 1879 he has been chief of Chicago fire department; and was retired in 1901.

SWETT, JOHN, educator, author, was born July 31, 1830, in Pittsfield, N. H. Since 1853 he has been superintendent and principal of normal schools in San Francisco, Cal. He is the author of History of the Public School System of California; Methods of Teaching; and American Public Schools.

SWIFT, LINDSAY, librarian, author, was born July 29, 1856, in Boston, Mass. He is librarian of Boston Public library. He is the author of Brook Farm.

SYMONS, THOMAS WILLIAM, civil engineer, author, was born Feb. 7, 1849, in Keesville, N. Y. He is major of corps of engineers in United States army. He is the author of The Columbia River; and A Ship Canal from the Great Lakes to the Sea.

TABOR, EDWARD A., clergyman, author, was born July 28, 1857, near Water Valley, Miss. He is now state superintendent of Arkansas of the Anti-Saloon League. He is the author of Danger Signal.

TAFT, ROYAL CHAPIN, manufacturer, legislator, banker, governor, was born Feb. 14, 1823, in Northbridge, Mass. In 1849 he engaged in manufacturing cotton and woolen goods; and subsequently acquired large interests in other mills. In 1880-84 he was a member of the Rhode Island legislature; and was governor of Rhode Island in 1888. He is now president of Merchants National Bank of Providence, R. I.

TAFT, WILLIAM H., lawyer, orator jurist, was born Sept. 15, 1857, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1887-90 he was judge of the superior court of Ohio; in 1890-92 he was solicitor-general of the United States; and since 1896 has been dean and professor in law department of University of Cincinnati. Since 1892 he has been circuit judge.

TALBOT, EUGENE S., dentist, author, was born March, 8, 1847, in Sharon, Mass. He is a noted dentist of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Degeneracy, Its Causes, Signs and Results; The Irregularities of the Teeth and Their Treatment; and Chart of the Typical Forms of Constitutional Irregularities of the Teeth.

TALIFERRO, JAMES PIPER, soldier, merchant, banker, United States senator, was born Sept. 30, 1847, in Orange Court House, Va. He served as private in the Confederate army. He engaged in logging and sawmill enterprise; and is now identified with business interests as vice-president of a leading wholesale grocery house of Jacksonville, Fla. He is president of First National bank of Tampa, Fla. He was elected to the United States senate for term of 1899-1905.

TALLMAN, GEORGE BENTON, journalist, legislator, was born Nov. 18, 1849, in Turtle, Wis. He is a printer in the government printing office at Washington, D. C. He was a member of the Minnesota legislature in 1895.

TALTON, AUGUSTUS, clergyman, was born in 1854, in Ralls county, Mo. He is the first colored Roman Catholic priest in the United States.

TALTY, JOHN A., lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 22, 1860, in Moline, Ill. He is a noted lawyer of St. Louis, Mo. In 1896 he was elected for a full term as judge of the eighth circuit court of Missouri.

TANNER, JAMES, lawyer, was born April 4, 1844, in Richmondville, N. Y. He volunteered in the eighth New York infantry, was promoted to corporal, and lost both legs in the second battle of Bull Run. He studied law, and received an appointment in the New York customhouse, being deputy collector under Gen. Chester A. Arthur. In 1877-85 he was commander of the Grand Army of the Republic of New York state; was tax collector in Brooklyn; and in 1889 he was appointed United States commissioner of pensions.

TANNER, JOHN HENRY, educator, author, was born March 1, 1861, in Ft. Plain, N. Y. He is assistant professor of mathematics and secretary of faculty in Cornell university. He is the author of Analytic Geometry.

TAPPAN, BENJAMIN, naval officer, was born April 10, 1856, in New Orleans, La. In 1888 until 1891 he was on duty in the office of the bureau of naval intelligence. In 1891 he was promoted lieutenant; was ordered to the Miantonomah, and served until 1894. In 1895-96 he was on duty in the Brooklyn navy-yard; and then was transferred to the Amphitrite and subsequently to the Raleigh. He was on board the latter vessel during the battle of Manila in 1898; and during the attack on the city in August he commanded the launch Barcelo, which had been captured from the Spaniards. Upon this occasion he took the launch through the breakers and captured a Spanish battery. In recognition of his conduct President McKinley advanced him five numbers in the list of lieutenants in 1898.

TAPPAN, DAVID STANTON, educator, college president, author, was born April 2, 1845, in Steubenville, Ohio. Since 1899 he has been president of Miami univeristy of Ohio. He is the author of History of Presbyterianism in Iowa; and Miscellaneous Sermons.

TAPPAN, EVA MARCH, educator, author, was born Dec. 26, 1854, in Blackstone, Mass. She is a teacher in English High school of Worcester, Mass. She is the author of Charles Lamb, the Man and the Author; Selections from Emerson; and In the Days of Alfred the Great.

TAPPAN, TODD, educator, author, was born in 1824, in Ohio. In 1875-87 he was a professor of mathematics in Kenyon college of Gambier, Ohio; and since then Ohio commissioner of common schools. He is the author of Plane and Solid Geometry; Elements of Geometry, and Treatise on Geometry and Trigonometry.

TAPPER, THOMAS, musician, author, was born Jan. 28 1864, in Canton, Mass. He is the author of Chat with Music Students; The Music Life; Music Talks with Children; Child's Music Pictures from the Lives of the Great Composers; and First Studies in Music Biography.

TARBELL, HORACE SUMNER, educator, author, was born Aug. 19, 1838, in Chelsea, Vt. Since 1884 he has been superintendent of public schools of Providence, R. I. He is the author of Tarbell's Lessons in Language and Grammar; Werner's Introductory Geography; Werner's Grammar School Geography; Tarbell's Introductory Geography; and Tarbell's Complete Geography.

TARKINGTON, NEWTON BOOTH, author, was born July 29, 1869. He is the author of The Gentleman from India; Monsieur Beaucaire, a novelette.

TAYLOR, FREDERICK WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 11, 1853, in Toledo, Ohio. He was chaplain of the state senate of Illinois thirty-eighth general assembly. He is president of standing committee Diocese of Springfield. He is the author of The Confessions of Our Christian Faith, commonly called the Creed of St. Anthanasius, with brief notes.

TAYLOR, HENRY CLAY, naval officer, was born March 12, 1842, in Washington, D. C. He was president of the Naval war college near Newport for three years; and since 1897 has been in command of the battleship Indiana, in which he had an honorable share in the destruction of Cervera's Spanish squadron at Santiago in 1898.

TAYLOR, HORACE ADOLPHUS, publisher, state senator, diplomat, was born May 24, 1837, in Madrid, at Lawrence county, N. Y. For many years he was extensively engaged in banking, printing, lumbering, and real estate business. In 1874-80 he was Wisconsin state land agent; and in 1880-83 was United States consul to Marseilles, France. In 1887 he was elected state senator of Wisconsin; and in 1889-93 was United States commissioner of railroads. In 1899 he became assistant secretary of the United States treasury department.

TAYLOR, JAMES KNOX, architect, was born Oct. 11, 1857, in Knoxville, Ill. He practiced his profession of architecture in St. Paul for ten years, removing to Philadelphia in 1892, where he designed several important buildings. In April, 1895, he became a senior draughtsman in the United States architect's office in Washington, and subsequently principal draughtsman. In 1897 he was appointed supervising architect of the United States treasury department.

TAYLOR, JAMES LOOCKERMAN, soldier, railway agent, was born July 26, 1847, in Tallahassee, Fla. He served as a youth in the Confederate army during 1864-65; and later as a captain in the Georgia National guard. He is the European representative of the Pennsylvania railway company; and president of the American society of London, where he has made many notable speeches; also one at a public dinner in Sheffield early in 1899.

TAYLOR, MARY IMLAY, author. She is the author of An Imperial Lover; On the Red Staircase; and A Yankee Volunteer.

TAYLOR, ROBERT FENWICK, lawyer, jurist, was born March 10, 1849, in Beaufort District, S. C. He was member Florida constitutional convention in 1885. Since 1897 he has been chief justice of the supreme court of Florida.

TAYLOR, THOMAS, physician, surgeon, author. He is the author of Students' Handbook of Mushrooms of America, Edible and Poisonous; and Food Products.

TAYLOR, THOMAS ULVAN, civil engineer, author, was born Jan. 2, 1858, in Parker county, Tex. Since 1888 he has been professor of civil engineering in University of Texas. He is the author of The Austin Dam.

TAYLOR, WILLIAM GEORGE LANGWORTHY, educator, author, was born May 13, 1859, in New York city. Since 1893 he has been professor of economics in university of Nebraska. He is the author of Exercises in Economics.

TAYLOR, WILLIAM SYLVESTER, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 10, 1853, in Butler county, Ky. In 1886-94 he was judge of Butler county, Ky.; and was attorney-general in 1895-99. In 1900 he was elected governor of Kentucky, but was removed from that office by the general assembly.

TEMPLE, MARY BOYCE, philanthropist, author, was born about 1857, in Knoxville, Tenn. She is prominent in various societies of the South; and for four years was corresponding secretary General Federation of Women's Clubs. She is the author of A Life of Margaret Fuller Ossoli.

TENNEY, H. A., author, was born Feb. 22, 1820, on Grand Island, Lake Champlain, Vt. He is the author of The Tenney Genealogy.

TERHUNE, EDWARD PAYSON, clergyman, was born about 1825 in New Brunswick, N. J. In 1859 he removed to Newark, N. J. and took charge of the 1st Reform church. In 1876-77 he was the American chaplain at Rome, Italy; returned to the United States in 1878; and in 1879-84 was pastor of a Congregational church in Springfield, Mass.; when he took charge of a Reformed church in Brooklyn, N. Y.

TERRAL, SAMUEL HEIDELBERG, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 4, 1835, in Jasper county, Miss. In 1882-97 he was circuit judge; and since 1897 has been judge of the supreme court of Mississippi.

TERRY, HENRY TAYLOR, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 19, 1847, in Hartford, Conn. In 1878 he became professor of law in the Imperial University of Tokio, Japan. He is the author of First Principles of Law; Leading Principles of Anglo-American Law; and The Common Law.

TERRY, SILAS WRIGHT, naval officer, was born Dec. 28, 1842, in Kentucky. During the civil war he attained the rank of lieutenant commander. In 1900 he became rear-admiral.

TERRY, THEODORE BRAINARD, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Jan 2, 1843, in Lafayette, N. Y. He bought a poor farm in 1870; made great success of it; and for twenty years has been in great demand as lecturer at Farmers' institutes. He is the author of A B C of Potato Culture; and A B C of Strawberry culture; and Our Farming.

TERHUNE, MRS. MARY VIRGINIA, author, was born in Amelia county, Va. Her first novel entitled Alone was published in 1854. In 1888 she established a magazine called the Money Maker and edited it for a number of years. Among her works are Moss Side; At Last; Helen Gardner; and True as Steel.

THACKER, W. H., lawyer, legislator, was born July 15, 1836, in Ohio. He was prosecuting attorney for San Juan county for four years; and served in the fifth and sixth sessions of the Washington legislature.

THAYER, EUGENE, musician, composer, was born Dec. 11, 1838, in Mendon, Mass. While in Boston he edited the Organist's Journal and the Choir Journal; and was director of the Boston choral union, the New England church-music association, and other societies. He has given organ recitals in the United States and Europe. Since 1881 he has resided in New York City, following his profession as an organist and teacher.

THAYER, JOHN R., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born March 9, 1845, in Douglas, Mass. He served as councilman and alderman of Worcester, Mass.; was a member of the legislature two terms; and state senator two terms. He was elected to the 56th Congress; as a democrat.

THAYER, WILDIE, poet, was born in New England. She is the author of three volumes of poems.

THAYER, WILLIAM SYDNEY, physician, author, was born June 23, 1864, in Milton, Mass. He is the author of Lectures on the Malarial Fevers; and The Malarial Fevers of Baltimore.

THILLY, FRANK, educator, author, was born Aug. 18, 1865, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Since 1893 he has been professor of philosophy in University of Missouri. He is the author of An Introduction to Ethics.

THOMAN, LEROY DELANO, lawyer, lecturer, jurist, as born July 31, 1851, in Salem, Ohio. In 1873 he removed to Youngstown, Ohio, where he served for some time as probate judge. In 1880 he was the Democratic candidate for governor, but was defeated by William McKinley; and in 1883 he was appointed by President Arthur the democratic member of the United States civil service commission. In 1888 he removed to Chicago, where he has since practiced his profession. He is lecturer on international law in Northwestern university.

THOMAS, ALLEN CLAPP, educator, author, was born Dec. 26, 1846, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1878 he has been professor of history and librarian of Haverford College. He is the author of Edward Lawrence Scull, a Memoir; and A History of the United States for Schools and Academies.

THOMAS, AUGUSTUS, playwright, author, was born Jan. 8, 1859, in St. Louis, M . He was page boy in the forty-first congress. He is the author of the dramas entitled Alabama, Mizzoura, and Arizona.

THOMAS, CALVIN, educator, author, was born Oct. 28, 1854, near Lapeer, Mich. Since 1896 he has been professor of Germanic languages and literatures in Columbia university of New York City. He is the author of A Practical German Grammar.

THOMAS, CHARLES RANDOLPH, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 21, 1861, in Beaufort, N. C. He is a son of the late Judge Charles R. Thomas, who was a member of the forty-second and forty-third congresses. He was admitted to the bar in 1882, and since that time has continuously practiced his profession. He was member of the house of representatives of the North Carolina legislature in 1887; and was elected a member of the fifty-sixth congress.

THOMAS, CHARLES SPALDING, lawyer, governor, was born Dec. 6, 1849, in Darien, Ga. He practiced law in Leadville and Denver. In 1899-1901 he was governor of Colorado.

THOMAS, EDWARD A., lawyer, jurist, was born in New York City. In 1873 he was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court for the territory of Wyoming, residing at Laramie City.

THOMAS, EDWARD B., lawyer, jurist, Since 1898 he has been United States judge Eastern district of New York.

THOMAS, HENRY WILTON, journalist, author, was born in 1861 in New Rochelle, N. Y. In 1887-98 he was a reporter on New York newspapers. He is the author of The Last Lady Mulberry; and The Kiss of Nero.

THOMAS, HIRAM WASHINGTON, clergyman, author, was born April 29, 1832, in Hampshire county, Va. Since 1880 he has been pastor of The People's church, at McVicker's Theatre of Chicago; and since 1881 has been chaplain 1st regiment, I. N. G. He is the author of Origin and Destiny of Man; Life and Sermons; and The People's Pulpit.

THOMAS, JAMES, physician, surgeon, lecturer, author, was born March 3, 1843. He is professor theory and practice of medicine in the Cincinnati university. He is the author of Lectures on Physiology; and Theory and Practice of Medicine.

THOMAS, JOHN HENRY, manufacturer, banker, was born Oct. 4, 1826, in Frederick county, Md. In 1851 he moved to Ohio, and was there democratic candidate for governor. In 1857 he founded the Agricultural Implement Works of Springfield, Ohio.

THOMAS, JOHN ROCHESTER, architect, was born June 18, 1848, in Rochester, N. Y. He was architect of New York Hall of Records; and of several hundred churches, and other buildings.

THOMAS, LOT, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Oct. 17, 1843, in Fayette county, Pa. He established practice in Buena Vista county, Iowa; and was judge district court in 1885-98. He as elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a republican.

THOMAS, MRS. LOUISE PALMER, educator, was born about 1830 in Mount Holly, N. J. For many years, owing to the failing health of her husband, she managed a large estate near Philadelphia. This gave her an opportunity to educate eighteen children, eleven being taken from the colored orphan asylum of New York City. Since 1873 she has been editor and publisher of the tract department of the Universalist church in Philadelphia, Pa.

THOMAS, RICHARD HENRY, physician, author, was born Jan. 26, 1854, in Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Echoes and Pictures, poems; Penelve, or Among the Quakers, a story; and History of the Society of Friends in America.

THOMAS, S. SEYMOUR, artist. He exhibited at Paris in 1892; and at Philadelphia in 1893-94. His best known picture is An Innocent Victim.

THOMAS, SAMUEL, soldier, railroad president, was born April 27, 1840, in Lawrence county, Ohio. During the civil war he attained the rank of brigadier-general of volunteers. He has been a successful financier and railroad president.

THOMAS, THEODORE, musician, composer, was born Oct. 11, 1835, in Germany. He was elected conductor Brooklyn Philharmonic Society in 1862, and of New York Philharmonic Society in 1877, holding these positions almost continuously until 1891, when he moved to Chicago; since then conductor Chicago Orchestra. He was musical director World's Columbian Exposition.

THOMPSON, ADELE E., author, was born in Middlefield, Ohio. She is the author of Beck's Fortune.

THOMPSON, DENMAN, actor, was born in 1833 in Girard, Pa. He took up comedy and starred in Joshua Whitcomb, a play of his own, which was afterward remodeled as The Old Homestead.

THOMPSON, HENRY ADAMS, clergyman, author, was born March 23, 1837, in Stormstown, Pa. Since 1893 he has been editor of Sunday School literature of United Brethren church. He is the author of Schools of the Prophets; Power of the Invisible; and Our Bishops.

THOMPSON, VANCE, journalist, playwright, author, was born April 17, 1862. He was editor and founder M'lle New York (fortnightly review). He is the author of In Old Japan; The Dresden Shepardess; The Japanese Doll; Floriane's Dream; all dramas. His books are Berwyn Kennedy; The City of Torches; A Flash of Honor; Writers of Young France; and Songs and Symbols.

THOMPSON, WILL L., was born Nov. 7, 1847, in Beaver county, Pa. He is the author of Thompson's Popular Anthems; and about one hundred popular songs, such as Gathering Shells on the Sea Shore; Drifting With the Tide; Come Where the Lilies Bloom; and Moonlight Will Come Again.

THOMPSON, WILLIAM GILMAN, physician, surgeon, author, was born Dec. 25, 1856 in New York. In 1898 he was elected professor medicine Cornell University Medical School, New York He is the author of Practical Dietetics.

THORNDIKE, EDWARD LEE, educator, author, was born Aug. 31, 1874, in Williamsburg, Mass. Since 1901 he has been adjunct professor of genetic psychology in Teachers' College of Columbia university. He is the author of The Human Nature Club.

THORNTON, CHARLES S., lawyer, was born April 12, 1851, in Boston, Mass. He is senior member of the law firm of Thoruton and Chancellor, one of the largest in the city of Chicago, Ill. He was the author of the Teachers' Pension Bill of Illinois.

THORNTON, WILLIAM TAYLOR, soldier, lawyer, governor, was born Feb. 9, 1843, in Henry county, Mo. He served in Confederate army from 1861 to end of war, except over a year as prisoner of war at Alton, Ill. After the war he practised law at Clinton, Mo., and was member Missouri legislature in 1876. In 1891 he was first mayor of Santa Fe; and in 1893-97 was governor of New Mexico. He is interested in large mining enterprises in Mexico and New Mexico.

THRASHER, MAX BENNETT, journalist, author, was born April 11, 1860, in Westmoreland, N. H. In 1898-99 he was assistant superintendent Farm School at Thompson's Island, Boston. He is the author of Tuskegee, Its Story and its Work.

THROPP, JOSEPH EARLSTON, civil engineer, manufacturer, congressman, was born in Valley Forge, Pa. He engaged in his profession in Minnesota, reaching the rank of division engineer. He entered the iron business in 1870; became a partner in 1872; and in 1889 purchased the large iron and coal and ore properties of the Everett Iron Company of Bedford county, Pa. He was elected to the Fifty-sixth congress from Pennsylvania as a republican.

THURSTON, ERNEST LAWTON, educator, author, was born Feb. 13, 1873, in Fall River, Mass. He is head department of mathematics in Washington Business High School. He is the author of Mental Commercial Arithmetic; and Practical Tests in Commercial and Higher Arithmetic.

THURSTON, JOHN HENRY, soldier, government printer, genealogist, was born Jan. 25, 1832, iu Portland, Maine. During the civil war he was first lieutenant and adjutant in the forty-ninth regiment United States infantry. He is the author of Genealogy of the Thurston Family.

THWING, CHARLES BURTON, educator, author, was born March 4, 1860, in Theresa, N. Y. Since 1896 he has been professor of physics in Knox College of Galesburg, Ill. He is the author of Exercises in Physical Measurement; and An Elemeutary Physics.

TICKNOR, HOWARD MALCOM, educator, lecturer, publisher, author, was born July 4, 1836, in Boston, Mass. During 1869-78 he was in the United States consular service in Italy; and since 1878 has been professor of oratory at Howard and Brown universities.

TIERNAN, CHARLES BERNARD, lawyer, genealogist, author, was born Sept. 4, 1840, in Baltimore, Md. He is superintendent Cathedral Sunday school; and trustee of the Cathedral at Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Tiernan Family in Baltimore.

TIFFANY, NINA MOORE, author, was born in Cincinnati, Ohio. She is the author of Pilgrims and Puritans; Colony to Commonwealth; and Samuel E. Sewall, a Memoir.

TIFFANY, OTIS HENRY, clergyman, author, was born in 1825 in Maryland. He is a methodist clergyman of prominence. He is the author of Pulpit and Platform Addresses and Sermons.

TILESTON, MRS. MARY WILDER, author, was born Aug. 20, 1843, in Salem, Mass. She is the author of Quiet Hours, a collection of poems; Selections from Marcus Aurelius Antonius; Selections from the Imitation of Christ; Hymns of Comfort and Sunshine in the Soul.

TILLEY, RISBROUGH HAMMETT, publisher, librarian, author, was born Sept. 1, 1850, in Newport, R. I. In 1880-84 he was publisher of the Newport Historical Magazine; in 1884-87 editor Rhode Island Historical Magazine; in 1891-93 editor Magazine New England History; and since 1884 has been librarian Newport Historical Society. He is the author of Genealogy of the Tilley Family; and since 1896 has been state record commissioner of Rhode Island.

TILLINGHAST, CALEB BENJAMIN, librarian was born April 3, 1843, in West Greenwich, R. I. In 1870 he went on the staff of the Boston Daily Journal, serving as city editor for many years. In 1879 he left the Journal to take charge of the state library of Massachusetts; and in 1893 he was appointed state librarian. He served as clerk and treasurer of the Massachusetts board of education for many years; was appointed one of the original members of the Massachusetts free public library commission; and was designated as chairman by Gov. Brackett, being reappointed in 1895 by Gov. Greenhalge.

TIMBY, THEODORE RUGGLES, inventor, was born April 5, 1822, in Dover, N. Y. He made a model of a marine turret, and at that time filed a caveat in the United States patent office for a metallic revolving fort, to be used on land or water, and to be revolved by propelling engines located within the same, acting upon suitable mechanism. From 1841 until 1861 Mr. Timby urged the importance of his plans upon the proper authorities at Washington and elsewhere, but without satisfactory results. In 1861 he devised the method, now in universal use of firing heavy guns by electricity, as well as other inventions of practical utility.

TIMLOW, ELIZABETH WESTYN, educator, author, was born June 24, 1861, in Rhinebeck, N. Y. In 1893 she established, with her sister, a boarding school for girls in Nutley, N. J. She is the author of Cricket, a Story for Little Girls; Cricket at the Sea-shore; Eunice and Cricket; Dorothy Dot; and What Came to Winifred.

TITHERINGTON, RICHARD HANDFIELD, journalist, author, was born Oct. 2, 1861, in Eugland. He engaged in teaching; and since 1886 has been with publising house of Frank A. Munsey. He is the author of History of the War with Spain.

TITTERINGTON, MRS. SOPHIE BRONSON, author, was born March 13, 1846, in India of missionary parents. She is the author of A Summer Brother; Hilltop Farm; Little Pilgrim Series; A New Endeavor; and Folded Hands.

TITUS, ANSON, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born June 21, 1847, in Phelps, N. Y. He is Antiquarian Examiner and Historical Collaborator; and Historical lecturer in Tufts College, Mass. He is a member of the American Historical Association; and a life member of the New England Historic-Genealogical Society.

TODD, JAMES EDWARD, geologist, author, was born Feb. 11, 1846, in Clarksfield, Ohio. Since 1892 he has been professor of geology and mineralogy in the University of South Dakota. He is the author of The Quarternary of Missouri; and The Moraines of the Missouri Coteau.

TOEDT, THEODORE J., musician, composer, was born Feb. 4, 1853, in New York City. He acquired an excellent reputation as a singer in oratorio, church, and concert; and is now a vocal instructor of New York City. He became blind in 1895.

TOLFREE, JAMES EDWARD, naval officer, was born Aug. 27, 1837, in Ithaca, N. Y. He served during the civil war to 1867, U. S. S. Vanderbilt; and was promoted to paymaster in 1866. He attained the rank of rear-admiral; and was retired in 1899.

TOLMAN, HERBERT CUSHING, educator, author, was born Nov. 4, 1865, in Norwell, Mass. He is professor of Greek in the Vanderbilt university of Nashville Tenn. He is the author of Ancient Persian Inscriptions; and editor of the Vanderbilt Oriental Series.

TOMPKINS, ARTHUR S., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 26, 1865, in Scoharie county, N. Y. In 1887 he was elected police justice of Nyack, N. Y.; was member State assembly from Rockland county in 1889; and in 1894-98 was county judge, Rockland county. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress.

TOMPKINS, CHARLES H., soldier, was born Sept. 12, 1830, in Fort Monroe, Va. He served in the dragoons during the civil war; and attained the rank of brevet brigadier-general. He reached the actual rank of colonel as division quartermaster; and was retired in 1894.

TOMPKINS, DE LOSS MONROE, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 7, 1849, in Ashland, N. Y. In 1894-99 he was pastor of Wheaton methodist church. He is the author of Best Hundred Books for Pastor's Library; Business Men's Sunday School Lesson Commentary; and Browning as a Spiritual Teacher.

TOMPKINS, ELIZABETH KNIGHT, author, was born Oct. 17, 1865, in Oakland, Cal. She is the author of Her Majesty; An Unlessoned Girl; The Things that Count; and Talks with Barbara.

TOMPKINS, EMMET, congressman. He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh congress from Ohio as a republican.

TOMPKINS, LESLIE JAY, educator, author, was born May 2, 1867, in Olmstead county, Minn. Since 1899 he has been professor of law at University Law School in New York University. He is the author of Law of Promissory Notes, Drafts, Checks, etc.; and Condensed Cases on Corporations.

TORRANCE, DAVID, lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Connecticut.

TORRENS, WILLIAM ERSKINE, educator, expert, author, was born July 15, 1870, in New York City. He studied manufacturing economy in various mills in New England and Pennsylvania; and has visited foreign countries in that interest. He is the author of Commercial Traveling in South America; and Commercial Traveling in the East.

TOULMIN, HARRY THEOPHILUS, soldier, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born March 4, 1838, in Mobile county, Ala. He entered Confederate army as private in 1861; and rose through grades to colonel twenty-second Alabama infantry. In 1868 he was a democratic presidential elector; and in 1870-72 was a member State legislature. In 1874-82 he was state circuit judge; and since 1886 United States judge for the southern district of Alabama.

TRACY, MRS. CLARISSA TUCKER, botanist, author, was born Nov. 12, 1818, in Jackson, Pa. Since 1859 she has been instructor of botany and mathematics in Ripon College, Wis. She is the author of Manual of the Flora of Ripon and Vicinity.

TRACY, FRANK W., banker, was born July 21, 1833, in Baltimore, Md. Since 1879 he has been president of the First National Bank of Springfield, Ill. He was one of the founders of the American Bankers' Association.

TRACY, JOHN CLAYTON, educator, author, was born Nov 3, 1869, in Willimantic, Conn. Since 1891 he has been an instructor in Yale university. He is the author of An Introductory Course in Mechanical Drawing.

TRAFTON, ADELINE, author, was born about 1845, in Sacarappa, Maine. Her novels were first printed as serials in magazines. They include An American Girl Abroad; Katherine Earle; and His Inheritance.

TRASK, SPENCER, banker, author, was born Sept. 18, 1844, in New York city. He is president Edison Illumination Co.; director Edison Light Co.; and director several railroads which are more or less controlled by him and his firm. He is the author of Bowling Green.

TRICKETT, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born in 1840, in England. Since 1890 he has been dean of Dickinson School of Law. He is the author of Law of Liens in Pennsylvania, in three volumes; Law of Assignments in Pennsylvania; Law of Limitations in Pennsylvania; Law of Boroughs in Pennsylvania; Law of Streets and Roads in Pennsylvania; Law of Guardians in Pennsylvania; and Law of Partition in Pennsylvania.

TRIGGS, OSCAR LOVELL, educator, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 2, 1865, in Greenwood, Ill. Since 1892 he has been connected as teacher with English department in University of Chicago. He is a member of the New York Shakespeare Society; Modern Language Association; International Folk-Lore Society; Editor Lydgate's Assembly of Gods (for Early English Text Society.) He is the author of Browning and Whitman, a Study in Democracy.

TRILLEY, JOSEPH, naval officer, was born Sept. 25, 1838, in Ireland. He became rear-admiral in United States navy, retired.

TRINE, RALPH WALDO, author, was born Sept. 9, 1866, in Mt. Morris, Ill. He is a director in Massachusetts Society Prevention Cruelty to Animals. He is the author of The Life Books; In Tune with the infinite; and the Greatest Thing Ever Known.

TRIPLER, CHARLES E., physicist, inventor, was born in 1849 in New York city. His greatest achievement is the manufacture of liquid air, which he has experimentally applied to the operation of an engine with remarkable results, this product being obtained by compression of atmospheric air at a temperature of over three hundred degrees below zero.

TROBEC, JAMES, clergyman, bishop, born Sept. 9, 1866, in Mt. Morris, Ill. He is 1897 he has been Roman Catholic bishop at St. Cloud, Minn.

TRUAX, CHARLES HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 31, 1846, in Durhamville, N. Y. He was elected a judge of the superior court of New York for the term of fourteen years expiring in 1894, and a year later he was elected to the first judicial district of the supreme court for fourteen years, which term will continue until 1910. He recently presented one thousand volumes to Hamilton college.

TRUE, FREDERICK WILLIAM, zoologist, author, was born July 8, 1858, in Middletown, Conn. Since 1872 he has been executive curator United States National Museum at Washington, D. C. He is the author of Review of the Family Delphinidae.

TRUEBLOOD, THOMAS CLARKSON, orator, author, was born April 6, 1856 in Salem, Ind. Since 1889 he has been professor of elocution and oratory in the University of Michigan. He is the author of Practical Elocution; Choice Readings; and Patriotic Eloquence.

TRUEBLOOD, W. P., educator, legislator, was born March 1, 1852, in Salem, Ind. He is a successful educator; and in 1894 was elected a member of the Kansas state legislature.

TRUMBULL, ANNIE ELIOT, author, was born March 2, 1857, in Hartford Conn. She is the author of An Hour's Promise; White Birches; A Christmas Accident, and Other Stories; A Cape Cod Week; Rod's Salvation; and Mistress Content Cradock.

TRUSDELL, CHARLES GREGORY, clergyman, philanthropist, was born May 1, 1826, in Montgomery, N. Y. Since 1891 he has been general superintendent of the Chicago Relief and Aid Society.

TUBBS, FRANK HERBERT, musician, composer, was born Nov. 16 1853, in Brighton, Mass. He has been choirmaster in various churches. He founded New York Vocal Institute; and established The Vocalist. He is the author of Hints to my Pupils; Expression in Singing; Seed Thoughts for Singers; and Voice-culture and Singing.

TUCK, JOSEPH HENRY, inventor, was born March 12, 1812, in Dorchester, Mass. He is a grandson of John Tuck, who was a chaplain in the Revolutionary army. Joseph was graduated at the Boston high-school, and afterward apprenticed to a watch-maker. He was subsequently employed in a candle-factory, where he brought to perfection his first invention, the endless wick.

TUCKER, GENEVIEVE, physician, author, was born Nov. 25, 1858, in Waupaca, Wis. For three years she taught in the public schools of Iowa. She is a noted physician and surgeon of Pueblo, Colo., and in 1898-99 was president of the Colorado Homoepathic Medical Society. She is the author of Mother, Baby and Nursery.

TUCKER, GILBERT MILLIGAN, journalist, author, was born Aug. 26, 1847, in Albany, N. Y. He is editor of the Country Gentleman. He is the author of Our Common Speech.

TUIRRELL, HENRY, journalist, author, poet, was born Feb. 3, 1865. Since 1900 he has been on the editorial staff of Judge. He is the author of Lee of Virginia.

TULEY, MURRAY F., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born March 4, 1827, in Louisville, Ky. In 1847-48 he served in the Mexican war in fifth Illinois regiment, and for two years was attorney-general of New Mexico; and one term member legislature. In 1854-79 he practised law in Chicago, Ill.; in 1869-73 was corporation counsel; and since 1879 has been circuit judge of Cook county, Ill.

TUNNELL, EBE W., governor. In 1897-1901 he was governor of Delaware.

TUPPER, KERR BOYCE, clergymau, author, was born Feb. 2, 1854, in Washington, Ga. He is now pastor of First Baptist Church of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Gladstone, and Other Addresses; Seven Great Lights; Robertson's Living Thoughts; and Popular Treatise on Christian Baptism.

TURLEY, THOMAS BATTLE, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born April 5, 1845, in Memphis, Tenn. He served through war as private in Coufederate army. In 1897 he was appointed United States senator, and later elected by legislature to succeed the late Isham G. Harris; term expires 1901.

TURNBULL, CHARLES SMITH, physician, author, was born Nov. 10, 1847, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1872 he was surgeon to the United States geological survey in Wyomiug and Montana territories; and in 1873-74 he was resident surgeon of the New York ophthalmic and aural institute; and is now chief of the aural department of Jefferson medical college.

TURNBULL, MRS. FRANCES HUBBARD LITCHFIELD, author, was born in New York city. In 1890, with her husband, she founded the Percy Turnbull Memorial Lectureship of Poetry in Johns Hopkins University in memory of her deceased son. She is the author of the Catholic Man, novel, of which the chief character is a study of Sidney Lanier, the poet; Val-Maria, a romance of the Time of Napoleon; and The Golden Book of Venice, a Historical Romance of the 16th Century.

TURNER, CHARLES WILLARD, educator, author, was born Feb. 23, 1844, in Boston, Mass. He is associate professor of law and acting professor of constitutional history in university of Tennessee. He is the author of the Syllabi of Work in Evidence, Insurance and Domestic Relations.

TURNER, GEORGE KIBBE, journalist, author, was born March 23, 1869, in Quincy, Ill. He has written short stories in Atlantic, McClure's, New England, Black Cat, and poems in Chap Book.

TURNER, HENRY WARD, geologist, author, was born Aug. 22, 1857, in Silver Lake, Pa. He is a noted geologist of San Francisco, Cal. He is the author of The Origin of Yosemite Valley.

TURNER, ROSS STERLING, artist, author, was born June 29, 1847, in Westport, N. Y. He paints pictures in oil and water colors. He is the author of Water Colors, and Art for the Eye, School Room Decorations.

TURNEY, PETER, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Sept. 22, 1827, in Jasper, Tenn. In 1870-93 he was judge of the supreme court of Tennessee; and chief justice in 1886. In 1893-97 he was governor of Tennessee.

TURNLEY, PARMENUS TAYLOR, soldier, banker, author, was born Sept. 6, 1821, in Dandridge, Tenn. He served throughout the Mexican war; and in 1849-52 was on duty with his company on the boundary line between Mexico and the United States. In 1855 he was transferred to the quartermaster's department, in which he served faithfully until failing health induced him to resign in December, 1865. Since that time he has lived with his family in Illinois. He was vice-president of a Chicago bank for five years. He is the author of Turnley's Narrative from Diary.

TUTHILL, RICHARD STANLEY, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 10, 1841, in Vergennes, Ill. He entered the army in 1863, and served as scout attached to command of Gen. John A. Logan; later 2nd and 1st lieutenant battery H 1st Michigan ligt artillery; 3rd division 17th army corps, Army of Tennessee, to close of war. In 1875-76 he was city attorney of Chicago, Ill.; and in 1884-86 was United States attorney. Since 1887 he has been judge of the circuit court of Cook county, Ill.

TUTTLE, ALBERT HENRY, naturalist, was born Nov. 19, 1844, in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. In 1888 he became professor of biology and agriculture in the University of Virginia.

TUTTLE, HIRAM AMERICUS, business man, legislator, governor, was born in 1837, in Barnstead, N. H. In 1873-74 he as a member of the New Hampshire legislature. In 1891-93 he was governor of New Hampshire. He has large real estate and lumber interests.

TWACHTMAN, JOHN HENRY, artist, was born Aug. 4, 1853, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1888 he gained the Webb prize for his Windmills, which now belongs to Smith college of Northampton, Mass. Other works by him are Winter; The Pond; and On the Seine.

TWICHELL, JOSEPH HOPKINS, clergyman, author, was born in Southington, Conn. In 1861-64 he was chaplain in the United States volunteers during the civil war. Since 1865 he has been pastor of the Asylum Hill Congregational church of Hartford Conn. He is the author of Life of John Winthrop; and Some Puritan Love Letters.

TWINING, KINGSLEY, clergyman, was born July 18, 1832, in West Point, N. Y. He was a resident licentiate at Andover seminary in 1857. He held pastorates in various congregational churches.

TWINING, THOMAS J., manufacturer, financier, genealogist, was born Jan. 30, 1851, in Huntington, Ind. For twenty-five years he was engaged in the wagon and carriage business; and is now a real estate and loan agent of Fort Wayne, Ind. He is the author of the Twining Genealogy.

TYLER, BENJAMIN BUSHROD, clergyman, author, was born April 9, 1844, in Decatur, Ill. He is now an editor on Christian Evangelist of St. Louis, Mo. He is the author of The Way of Salvation; History of the Disciples of Christ; and The Peculiarities of the Disciples.

TYLER, HARRY WALTER, educator, author, was born April 16, 1863, in Ipswich, Mass. Since 1891 he has been secretary of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is the author of Entertainments in Chemistry.

TYLER, JANUS HOGE, soldier, farmer, state senator, governor, was born Aug. 11, 1846, in Caroline county, Va. He served as private in Confederate army. In 1877 he was a member of the Virginia State senate. In 1889 he was lieutenant-governor of Virginia; and in 1897-1902 was governor.

TYLER, MASON WHITING, soldier, lawyer, was born in Amherst, Mass. Entering the 37th Massachusetts volunteers in 1862 as 2d lieutenant, he served through the Civil war. Since 1880 he has been president of the board of directors of the public library of Plainfield.

TYLER, ODETTE, actress, author, was born Sept. 26, 1860, in Savannah, Ga. Her real name was originally Elizabeth Lee Kirkland, daughter of Gen. W. W. Kirkland of the Confederate army. She is a successful comedienne under Daniel Frohman's management; later in Minnie Maddern's, Charles Frohman's and other companies. She is the author of Boss, a story of Virginia life.

TYSON, JOHN RUSSELL, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Nov. 28, 1856, in Lowndes county, Ala. In 1880-82 he was a member of the Alabama legislature. In 1891-99 he was a member of the city council of Montgomery, Ala. In 1892-98 he was judge of the circuit court; and since 1898 has been associate justice of the supreme court of Alabama.

ULKE, HENRY, portrait painter, was born Jan. 29, 1821, in Prussia. He has painted portraits of Ulysses S. Grant; James G. Blaine; John Sherman; S. P. Chase; Charles Sumner; Secretary Stanton; General Rawlins; Secretary Carlisle; Francis P. Blair; John Wanamaker; R. G. Ingersoll; and others.

ULRICH, CHARLES FREDERICK, artist, was born Oct. 18, 1858, in New York city. For several years he followed his profession in New York, but about 1884 he went to Venice, Italy. He was elected an associate of the National academy in 1883; and received the Thomas B. Clarke prize there the following year for his In the Land of Promise.

ULRICH, EDWARD OSCAR, geologist, author, was born Feb. 1, 1851, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He became curator of the Natural history society of Cincinnati; and later was paleontologist to geological surveys of Illinois, Minnesota, and Ohio; and for ten years was associate editor of the American Geologist.

UNDERHILL, JOHN GARRETT, author, was born Jan. 10, 1876, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1899 he has been president Alumni Association Polytechnic Institute of Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of Spanish Literature in the England of the Tudors.

UNDERHILL, JOHN QUINCY, insurance, congressman, was born Feb. 19, 1848, in New Rochelle, N. Y. He is president and treasurer of the Westchester Fire Insurance Co. of New York. For four years he was president of the village of New Rochelle. He was elected to the 56th congress as a democrat.

UPHAM, WILLIAM H., soldier, manufacturer, banker, governor, was born May 3, 1841, in Westminster, Mass. In 1861 he was shot through the lungs at Bull Run and reported dead; he was lieutenant in the United States army until 1875. He engaged in lumber, furniture manufacturing and banking at Marshfield, Wis. In 1895-97 he was governor of Wisconsin.

UPSHUR, JOHN HENRY, naval officer, was born Dec. 5, 1823, in Northhampton county, Va. He served in the Mexican and Civil wars; and was in 1885 ordered to command naval forces in the Pacific and promoted to rear-admiral.

UPTON, EDWARD PIERCE, lawyer, jurist, was born July 22, 1816, in Castine, Maine. He settled in Virginia, but about 1858 moved to Texas. During the civil war he was a devoted friend of the Union; and was indicted for treason against the Confederacy, imprisoned six months, and shot at several times. He was appointed judge of the 18th judicial district of Texas in 1867.

VAIL, CHARLES H., clergyman, author, was born April 28, 1866, in Tully, N. Y. Since 1894 he has been pastor of the First Universalist church of Jersey City, N. J. He is the author of Modern Socialism; and Scientific Socialism.

VALENTINE, JOHN J., manager, was born Nov. 12, 1840, in Bowling Green, Ky. President of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express. His annually published summary of the American output of gold and silver is recognized as authoritative.

VALLIANT, LEROY BRANCH, lawyer, jurist, was born June 14, 1838, in Moulton, Ala. He was judge of the Circuit of St. Louis in 1886-99; and since 1898 has been judge of the Supreme court of Missouri.

VAN BRUNT, CHARLES H., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 26, 1835, in Fort Hamilton, N. Y. In 1869-83 he was judge court of common pleas, city and county of New York. Since 1883 he has been justice of the supreme court of New York.

VANCE, JAMES ISAAC, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 25, 1862, in Arcadia, Tenn. Since 1895 he has been pastor of the First church of Nashville, Tenn. He is the author of Young Man-Four-Square; Church Portals; College of Apostles; and Royal Manhood.

VAN CLEVE, JOHN SMITH, musician, was born Oct. 30, 1851, in Maysville, Ky. In 1872-75 he taught in the Institution for the Blind at Columbus, Ohio; and later was lecturer and writer at the Conservatory and College of Music at Cincinnati, Ohio. He removed to Chicago in 1897. He is the author of Gavotte humoresque; and Annotations on Campanari's twenty-two Quartet Concerts given in 1892-93.

VANDERLIP, FRANK ARTHUR, journalist, author, was born Nov. 17, 1864, in Aurora, Ill. He became reporter on Chicago Tribune and later financial editor; in 1894 he bought an interest in Chicago Economist, a weekly financial journal. He became private secretary to secretary Gage in 1897; and later assistant secretary of the treasury. He is the author of Chicago Street Railways.

VAN DER STUCKEN, FRANK, musician, was born Oct. 15, 1858, in Fredericksburg, Tex. He gave a series of American concerts at the Paris exposition of 1889; made a concert tour of Europe with the Arion society in 1892; and since 1895 has conducted the symphony concerts in Cincinnati, in which city he is the dean of the College of Music. His symphonic prologue to Heine's tragedy of William Ratcliff, was performed at one of the concerts of the New York philharmonic society.

VANDEWATER, GEORGE ROE, clergyman, was born April 25, 1854, in Flushing, L. I. In 1888 he became rector of St. Andrew's church of New York city. He is identified with the cathedral and the cathedral schools in Garden City, Long Island; and is a trustee of Cornell; and of the General theological seminary. He is the author of Manual of Church Music; The Hymn-book for Missions; and Manual of Church Prayer.

VAN DE VYER, A., clergyman, bishop. Since 1889 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Richmond, Va.

VAN DYKE, HENRY, author, clergyman, was born Nov. 10, 1852, in Germantown, Pa. He is a successful congregational minister of Newport, R. I. He is the author of the Reality of Religion; The Story of the Psalms; and the Gospel for an Age of Doubt.

VAN DYKE, PAUL, clergyman, theologian, author, as born March 25, 1859, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1892-98 he was pastor of Edward's Congregational church of Northampton, Mass. He is the author of The Age the Renaissence.

VAN ELTEN, HENDRICK DIRK KRUSEMAN, artist, was born Nov. 14, 1829, in Holland. He has received medals at Amsterdam and Philadelphia; and has contributed many pictures to the exhibitions at the Academy of Design. His Clearing Off, Adirondacks; The Grove in the Heath; Russell's Falls; Adirondacks and Autumn in the White Mountains, were at the Philadelphia exhibition of 1876.

VAN HISE, CHARLES RICHARD, geologist, author, was born May 29, 1857, in Fulton, Wis. Since 1882 he has been professor of geology in the University of Wisconsin. He is the author of various works upon the Iron-bearing Districts of the Lake Superior Region; upon structural geology, and upon metamorphism.

VAN MARTER, MARTHA, journalist, author, was born Dec. 31, 1839, in Lyons, N. Y. She has edited Children's Home Missions; and Leaflets of Women's Home Missionary Society; and also libraries for primary classes. She is the author of Jessie in Switzerland; and The Primary Teacher.

VANNAH, LETITIA KATHERINE, journalist, poet, was born Oct. 27, 1855, in Gardiner, Maine. She has been a journalist and miscellaneous writer; and is now best known as a writer of songs notably Good-bye, Sweet Day. She is the author of Verses; and from Heart to Heart, a volume of poems.

VAN RENSSELAER, MRS. M. KING, author, was born May 25, 1848, in New York city. She is the wife of John King Van Rensselaer. She is the author of Crochet Lace; The Devil's Picture Books; and New Yorkers of the Nineteenth Century.

VAN REYPEN, WILLIAM KNICKERBOCKER, surgeon, was born Nov 14, 1840, in Bergen, N. J. He was appointed assistant surgeon in the navy in 1861, passed assistant surgeon in 1865, and three years later full surgeon. In 1887 he became medical inspector; in 1895 medical director; and in 1897 chief of the bureau of medicine and surgery.

VAN SANT, SAMUEL R., soldier, business man, legislator, governor, was born May 11, 1844, in Rock Island, Ill. He saw three years service in Company A, 9th Illinois cavalry as private in Civil war; and the title of captain comes from being master of steamboat. In 1892-96 he was a member of the Minnesota legislature, and speaker of same. In 1901-03 he was governor of Minnesota. He is engaged in steamboat business.

VAN SYCKEL, BENNET, lawyer, jurist, was born April 17, 1830, in Hunterdon county, N. J. He practiced law until 1869 in Trenton, N. J. Since 1869 he has been justice of the supreme court of New Jersey, his present term ending in 1904.

VAN WYCK, AUGUSTUS, jurist, was born Oct. 14, 1846, in New York city. In 1884 he removed to Brooklyn, and soon began to take an active part in political affairs. In 1884 he was elected judge of the city court in Brooklyn, N. Y. After the abolition of the old Brooklyn city court, under the provision of the New York state constitution of 1894, he was transferred in 1896 to the bench of the supreme court. In 1898, he was nominated for governor of New York by the Democratic party, but was defeated by Theodore Roosevelt, Republican.

VAN WYCK, ROBERT ANDERSON, lawyer, jurist, was born July 20, 1849, in New York city. In 1889 he was elected judge of the city court, and was re-elected in 1895. In 1897 he was elected first mayor of Greater New York. He was active in making the arrangement for New York's magnificent reception of Admiral Dewey in 1899.

VASSAR, WALTER BROWNSON, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 25, 1854, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. He has filled pastorates in the baptist church in Illinois, Connecticut, and New York. He is the author of The Life of Uncle John Vassar, his father.

VAUGHAN, VICTOR CLARENCE, educator, author, was born Oct. 27, 1851, in Mt. Airy, Mo. Since 1890 he has been dean of department of medicine and surgery in University of Michigan. He served in Santiago campaign in 1898, as major and surgeon 33d Michigan volunteer infantry; was appointed division surgeon in 1898; was recommended by the President for brevet of lieutenant-colonel. He was appointed surgeon-general Spanish-American war veterans of 1900. He is the author of Osteology and Myology of the Domestic Fowl; and Text-Book of Physiological Chemistry.

VEBLEN, THORSTEIN B., educator, author. Since 1900 he has been assistant professor of political economy in University of Chicago. He is the author of The Theory of the Leisure Class.

VENABLE, WILLIAM MAYO, soldier, author. He served in the union army during the civil war. He is the author of History of the Second United States Engineers.

VERDAGNER, P., clergyman, bishop. Since 1890 he has been Roman Catholic bishop of Laredo, Texas.

VIBERT, WILLIAM H., clergyman, author, was born Oct. 1, 1839, in New Haven, Conn. Since 1891 he has been pastor of the Trinity Chapel of New York city. He is the author of A Guide to Reading the Hebrew Text.

VIELE, HERMAN KNICKERBOCKER, civil engineer, artist, author, was born Jan. 31, 1856, in New York city. He was especially connected with the extension of Washington, D. C. He is the author of The Inn of the Silver Moon.

VILAS, CHARLES H., physician, surgeon, genealogist, was born July 22, 1846, in Chelsea, Vt. He has been president of Hahnemann Medical College of Chicago; and president National Ophthalmology and Otological Association. He has practiced his profession in Chicago for a quarter of a century. He is the author of Vilas Genealogy; and other works.

VINCENT, GEORGE EDGAR, journalist, educator, author, was born in 1864 in Rockford, Ill. Since 1900 he has been professor of sociology in the University of Chicago. He is the author Social Mind and Education.

VINCENT, LEON HENRY, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 1, 1859, in Chicago, Ill. He is the author of The French Academy; and other works.

VINING, HELEN SHERWOOD, musician, composer, was born July 4, 1855, in Brooklyn, N. Y. She is the author of a pianoforte primer; and other instructive works.

VIRGIL, ALMON KINKAID, musician author, was born Aug. 13, 1842, in Erie, Pa. He has invented and patented several instruments to aid in carrying out his educational ideas. He is the author of Foundation Exercises.

VIRGIL, MRS. ANTHA MINER, musician, author, was born in Elmira, N. Y. She is director of the Virgil Piano School and School of Public Performance. She is the author of The Virgil Method of Piano Instruction; Practical Exercises in Harmony Playing; Four Books of Melodious Studies and Short Pieces; and Instructive Talks with Pianoforte Students.

VIVIAN, THOMAS JONDRIE, educator, journalist, author, was born Aug. 3, 1855 in England. He is the author of Seven Smiles and a Few Fibs; With Dewey at Manila; The Fall of Santiago; and Everything About Our New Possessions.

VOLK, DOUGLAS, artist, was born Feb. 23, 1856 in Pittsfield, Mass. In 1886 he organized Minneapolis School Fine Arts. He received medal for exhibit of three oil paintings at World's Columbian Exposition.

VON DER HEIDE, JOHN FREDERIC, musician, composer, was born Feb. 28, 1857, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1882-84 he was director of the Buffalo School of Music; then settled in New York city as a teacher.

VON HOLST, HERMANN EDUARD, educator author, was born June 19, 1841 in Livonia. Since 1892 he has been head and professor of history in University of Chicago. He is the author of Constitutional History of the United States;

Constitutional Law of the United States; and Life of John Brown.

VOORHEES, FOSTER MACGOWAN lawyer, state senator, governor, was born Nov. 5, 1856, in Clinton, N. J. In 1888-90 he was a member of the New Jersey legislature; and state senator in 1894-98. In 1898-1901 he was governor of New Jersey.

VOORHEES, JAMES SPENCER, clergyman, was born May 14, 1858, in Rocky Hill, N. J. He was a missionary under the Congregational Home Missionary Society; State Secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association of California; and pastor of Second Congregational Church of Winsted, Conn. He is now pastor of the Roslindale Congregational Church, in Boston, Mass.

VORSE, ALBERT WHITE, journalist, author, was born Aug. 18, 1866, in Littleton, Mass. He is associate editor of the Criterion of New York city. He is the author of Laughter of the Sphinx, a volume of short stories.

VOS, BERT JOHN, educator, author, was born Oct. 27, 1867, in the Netherlands. Since 1898 he has been associate professor of German in Johns Hopkins university. He is the author of Materials for German Conversation.

VOTAW, CLYDE WEBER, theologian, author, was born Feb. 6, 1864, in Wheaton, Ill. Since 1900 he has been assistant professor of Biblical Greek in University of Chicago. He is the author of Inductive Studies in the Founding of the Christian Church; and Use of the Infinitive in Biblical Greek.

VREELAND, EDWARD B., lawyer, banker, congressman, was born 1857 in Cuba, N. Y. In 1877-82 he was superintendent of schools of Salamanca. Since 1891 he has been president of the Salamanca National Bank. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from New York as a republican.

WACHTER, FRANK C., merchant, congressman, was born Sept. 16, 1861, in Baltimore, Md. He engaged in the present business of examining, adjusting, sponging and refinishing woolens and cloths at Baltimore, Md. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Maryland as a republican.

WADLEIGH, GEORGE HENRY, naval officer, was born Sept. 28, 1842, in Dover, N. H. He was present at the attack on Fort Powell in Farragut's famous battle of Mobile and subsequent operations resulting in the surrender of Fort Morgan and capture of the Confederate vessels. He attained the rank of captain in 1894, and he commanded the Philadelphia when the American flag was raised over the Hawaiian islands in 1898.

WADLIN, HORACE GREELEY, architect, statistician, author, was born Oct. 2, 1851, in Wakefield, Mass. Since 1888 he has been chief of the Massachusetts Bureau of Statistics of Labor. He is the author of Reports on the Statistics of Labor of Massachusetts; and Annual Statistics of Manufactures of Massachusetts in fourteen volumes.

WAGNALLS, MABEL, musician, author. In 1891 she first appeared as pianist with the Theodore Thomas Orchestra in New York city. She is the author of a Musical Story; and Stars of the Opera.

WAHL, WILLIAM HENRY, scientist, author, was born Dec. 14, 1848, in Philadelphia Pa. He is a scientific journalist, metallurgist, and electro-chemist. He is the author of Galvanoplastic Manipulations; Techno-chemical Receipt Book; Handbook of Assaying; and Iconographic Encyclopaedia.

WAIT, CHARLES EDMUND, chemist, author, was born Nov. 3, 1849, in Little Rock, Ark. Since 1888 he has been professor of chemistry in University of Tennessee. He is the author of Bulletins on Nutrition.

WAITE, MERTON BENWAY, pathologist, author, was born Jan. 23, 1865, in Oregon, Ill. He is vegetable pathologist in the United States department of agriculture. He is the author of Pollenation of Pear Flowers; Pear Blight and its Remedy; and other botanical papers.

WAKE, CHARLES STANILAND, anthropologist, author was born March 22, 1835, in England. He is now connected with Field Columbian Museum of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Chapters on Man; The Evolution of Morality, in two volumes; The Development of Marriage and Kingship; Serpent Worship, and Other Essays; and The Geometry of Science.

WAKEMAN, ANTOINETTE, journalist, author, was born Dec. 4, 1854, in Cortland county, N. Y. She is the author of Questions of Conscience, a novel; and How to be Attractive and Successful.

WAKEMAN, THADDEUS BURR, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 23, 1834, in Greenfield Hill, Conn. He has devoted much attention to literature and to positive philosophy. He is the author of An Epitome of Positive Philosophy and Religion; The Religion of Humanity; Liberty and Purity; The Age of Revision; and Evolution or Creation.

WALDO, CLARENCE ABIATHAR, educator, author, was born Jan. 21, 1852, in Hammond, N. Y. Since 1895 he has been head professor of mathematics in Purdue university. He is the author of Manual of Descriptive Geometry.

WALDSTEIN, LOUIS, physician, author, was born April 15, 1853, in New York city. In 1880-98 he practiced law in New York city; and since in London. He is the author of The Sub-Conscious Self in its Relation to Education and Health.

WALKER, ALEXANDER, lawyer, journalist, jurist, author, was born Oct. 13, 1819, in Fredericksburg, Va. He removed to New Orleans, La., where he practiced law and became a journalist at the same time. He was the editor of the Jeffersonian, which was established as the organ of the Louisiana Democracy; and afterward of the Delta; the Times; the Herald; and The Picayune; and for some time of the Cincinnati Enquirer. He was appointed judge of the city court of New Orleans; and in 1861 was a member of the secession convention of Louisiana. He is the author of Jackson and New Orleans; Life of Andrew Jackson; and History of the Battle of Shiloh.

WOLKER, MRS. MERIBAH E. WILLIAMS, educator, lecturer, author, was born June 2, 1841, in Genessee county, Mich. She taught public schools for twenty years in Michigan and Illinois and subsequently became a teacher and expounder of direct legislation. She is the author of a volume entitled Direct Legislation.

WALLACE, DAVID DUNCAN, educator, author, was born May 23, 1874, in Columbia, S. C. He is professor of history and economics in Wofford College of Spartansburg, S. C. He is the author of Constitutional History of South Carolina; and Arrival of the Tea, and the Origin of the Extra-Legal Organs of Revolution in South Carolina.

WALLACE, JOSEPH, lawyer, author, was born Sept. 30, 1834, in Carroll county, Ky. Since 1858 he has practiced law in Springfield, Mass. He is the author of Biography of Colonel Edward D. Baker; and History of Illinois and Louisiana Under the French Rule.

WALLACE, ROBERT MOORE, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born May 2, 1847, in Henniker N. H. He established a practice at Milford, N. H. In 1877-78 he was a member of the New Hampshire legislature. Since 1893 he has been justice of the supreme court of New Hampshire.

WALLACE, RUSH R., naval officer, was born Nov. 7, 1835, in Tennessee. He was appointed to navy in 1852; was lieutenant-commander in 1862; commander in 1870; captain in 1882; and commodore in 1894.

WALLIN, ALFRED, lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of North Dakota.

WALSH, BLANCHE, actress, was born Jan. 4, 1873, in New York city. She has played title role in Trilby; and other leading parts in modern drama.

WALSH, HENRY COLLINS, journalist author, was born Nov. 23, 1863, in Florence, Italy. During the Spanish-American war he was war correspondent of the New York Herald. He is the author of By the Potomac, and Other Poems; and The Last Cruise of the Miranda.

WALSH, JOHN R., banker, was born Aug. 22, 1837, in Ireland. In 1855 he became an employe of J. McNally, newsdealer; and in 1861 established a news depot on his own account. He began supplying country dealers in opposition to the American News Company, but the competition was ended in 1866 by the organization, as a branch of the latter, of Western News Company, with Mr. Walsh as manager. He was part owner of the Chicago Herald and Post until 1895. He is president Chicago National Bank, and Equitable Trust Co.

WAMBAUGH, EUGENE, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 29, 1856, in Brookville, Ohio. Since 1892 he has been professor of law in Harvard university. He is the author of The Study of Cases; Cases for Analysis; Cases on Agency; and Cases on Insurance.

WAPLES, RUFUS, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 11, 1825, in Millsboro, Del. In 1870-72 he was city attorney of New Orleans for special cases. He is the author of A Treatise on Proceedings; and A Handbook of Parliamentary Law.

WARD, ARABELLA, author, poet. She is the author of Short Stories; Stories for Children; and has translated several works from the French of Hugo, Dumas and Daudet.

WARD, DELANCEY WALTON, chemical engineer, author, was born July 8, 1866, in New York city. Since 1894 he has been professor of dental chemistry and metallurgy in New York Dental School. He is the author of Chemistry and Physics.

WARD, GENEVIEVE, was born March 27, 1833, in New York city. When she was fifteen years old her voice attracted the interest of Rossini, who superintended her musical education. She gave Italian operas in London during the season of 1862; and at its close came to the United States, appearing in New York city and Philadelphia, and in the winter sang in Havana. For several years she taught vocal music in a school in New York city; and finally she prepared herself for the dramatic stage. Being coldly received by an audience of New York critics, she sailed for England, making her first appearance in 1873, in Manchester, as Lady Macbeth. She played Unarita in The Prayer in the Storm.

WARD, MRS. LYDIA AVERY COONLEY, author, poet, was born Jan. 31, 1845, in Lynchburg, Va. In 1895-96 she was president of Chicago Woman's Club. She is the author of Under the Pines and Other Verses; Singing Verses for Children; and Love Songs.

WARD, SUSAN HAYES, artist, author, was born Nov. 26, 1838, in Abington, Mass. She has taught china decoration and embroidery; and in 1899-93 was art critic of the New York Independent. She is the author of Sabrina Hackett; The Green Guess Book; and other works.

WARD, THOMAS, clergyman, bishop, was born Sept. 28, 1823, in Pennsylvania. He preached in Pennsylvania, New York, and New England; and was the first secretary of the New England conference of his church. He asked to be sent to do missionary work on the Pacific coast, and arrived there in 1854, but returned in 1860 to meet the general conference in Pittsburg. He was elected bishop in 1868. Since 1884 he has had charge of Arkansas, Louisiana, and Indian territory.

WARD, WILLIAM GODMAN, educator, author, was born Nov. 5, 1848, in Sandusky, Ohio. Since 1898 he has been professor of English literature in Emerson College of Oratory of Boston, Mass. He is the author of Tennyson's Debt to Environment; The Poetry of Robert Browning; and Art for Schools.

WARDER, ROBERT BOWNE, chemist, was born March 28, 1848, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Since 1874 he has been engaged in teaching chemistry and physics; and in 1883-87 was state chemist of Indiana. In 1887 he removed to Washington, D. C.; and has contributed papers to society transactions and scientific journals.

WARFIELD, WILLIAM, planter, author, was born in 1827, in Lexington, Ky. He was a successful stockbreeder. He is the author of History of Imported Short-Horns; Cattle Breeding; and other works.

WARNER, BRAINARD H., real estate, banker, founder, was born May 20, 1847, in Great Bend, Pa. He enlisted as a volunteer nurse in regular army in 1863; and promoted and afterward held civilian treasury department in 1866-67; and in 1867-68 was collector of internal revenue, Lancaster, Pa. Since 1869 he has been in the real estate business in Washington, D. C. He is president of the Andyke Company; has erected over 1,000 homes in and near Washington. In 1890 he founded and is proprietor of the town of Kensington, Md.

WARREN, ARTHUR, journalist, author, was born May 18, 1860, in Boston, Mass. Since 1888 he has been London correspondent of the Boston Herald. He is the author of The Charles Whittinghams; A Secret of the Confessional; Love, the Mariner; Off the White Coast; The Count Stroloff; The Lost Planet; A Title of Nobility; and Miss Timmins of Spain.

WARREN, EDWARD, physician, author, was born Dec. 19, 1804, in Boston, Mass. Among his medical writings are a Sketch of the Progress of Cholera in America in 1832; and three Boylston prize essays on Scrofula, Rheumatism, and Erysipelatous Inflammation.

WARREN, FREDERICK MORRIS, educator, author, was born June 9, 1859, in Durham, Maine. Since 1891 he has been professor of Romance languages in Adelbert College. He is the author of A Primer of French Literature; and A History of the Novel Previous to the Seventeenth Century.

WARREN, SAMUEL PROWSE, organist, was born Feb. 18, 1841, in Canada. He is the son of Samuel Russell Warren, a well-known organ-builder. For two years he played the organ at Dr. Henry W. Bellow's church of New York city; after which he became organist of Grace church. He then played for some time at Trinity church; after which he returned to his old post at Grace church. He has given several series of organ recitals, in which he covered the whole field of organ music, giving interpretation to all its schools.

WARRING, CHARLES B., educator, scientist, author, was born Jan. 15, 1825, in Charlton, N. Y. He is specialist on the Hebrew and the present cosmogony. He is the author of The Miracle of Today; Genesis I and Modern Science; The Three Climates of Geology; and Gyroscopic Bodies.

WARTHIN, ALDRED SCOTT, physician author, was born Oct. 21, 1866, in Greensburg, Ind. He is the author of Practical Pathology.

WATERLOO, STANLEY, journalist, author, was born May 21, 1846, in St. Clair county, Mich. He was twice president of the Chicago Press Club. He is the author of A Man and A Woman; An Odd Situation; The Story of Ab; Armageddon; The Wolverines; and The Launching of a Man.

WATERMAN, ARBA N., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 5, 1836, in Greensboro, Vt. He was lieutenant-colonel in 100th Illinois volunteers in the civil war; was wounded at battle of Chickamauga. He practiced law in Chicago until elected judge; was judge of appellate court for first district of Illinois. Since 1887 has been judge of the circuit court of Cook county, Ill.

WATERMAN, C. M., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Iowa.

WATERMAN, NIXON, author, poet, was born Nov. 12, 1859, in Newark, Ill. He was a contributor of verse to magazines; and has given many public readings of his own lines and some lectures on humorous-literary topics. He is the author of Some Home Made Poems; and A Book of Verses.

WATERS, RUSSELL JUDSON, lawyer, founder, congressman, was born June 6, 1843, in Halifax, Vt. He founded Redlands, Cal.; and built and was president Redlands St. R. R. Co. He is president Los Angeles Directory Co.; and president Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from California as a republican.

WATERS, WILSON, clergyman, genealogist, was born Oct. 11, 1855, in Marietta, Ohio. He is a clergyman of Chelmsford, Mass. He is the author of Ancestry of the Waters Family.

WATIES, JAMES RIVES, soldier, lawyer, was born Aug. 22, 1845, in Charleston, S. C. He served in Confederate army during the Civil war. He was promoted brigadier-general in 1898 during the Spanish-American war.

WATKINS, JOHN ELFRETH, civil engineer, author, was born May 17, 1852, in Ben Lomond, Va. Since 1895 he has been curator of technology in the United States National Museum. He was director of industrial arts in Field Columbian Museum of Chicago in 1894. He is the author of History of Pennsylvania Railroad.

WATKINS, LYNN B., lawyer, jurist. He is associate justice of the supreme court of Louisiana.

JAMES, HORATIO, naval officer, was born July 30, 1822, in Whitemarsh, Pa. During the Mexican war he was in most of the operations in California, including the bombardment of Guaymas. In 1864-65 he was fleet paymaster of the South Atlantic squadron. He was subsequently general inspector, and in 1873-77 paymaster-general. In 1884 he was retired.

WATSON, ALFRED E., journalist, business man, state senator, was born Aug. 6, 1857, in Worcester, Vt. Since 1885 he has been agent Vermont Mutual Fire Insurance company; and a director in 1886-90. In 1887-97 he was the Vermont representative of the New England Associated Press. In 1898-1900 he was a member of the Vermont state senate.

WATSON, EDWARD WILLARD, physician, poet, was born 1843 in Newport, R. I. He is a practising physician of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Songs of Flying Hours; and To-day and Yesterday.

WATSON, JOHN CRITTENDEN, naval officer, was born Aug. 24, 1842, in Frankfort, Ky. In 1886 he became a lieutenant-commander. In the war with Spain he commanded the blockading squadron on the North Cuban coast as a commodore.

WATSON, JOHN HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born May 12, 1851, in Jamaica, Vt. Since 1899 he has been judge of the supreme court of Vermont.

WATSON, W. P., governor. In 1895 9 he was governor of Delaware.

WATTS, JOHN WALTER, farmer, legislator, was born Nov. 8, 1862, in Alexander county, N. C. He has been justice of the peace of Taylorsville, N. C., county sheriff for six years; and was a member of the North Carolina state legislature in 1887.

WAUGH, GEORGE BREVITT, artist, was born Oct. 29, 1854, in Baltimore, Md. Among his works are Sunset; Twilight on the Susquehanna; Village Scene in Brownsville; and On the Upper Potomac.

WAYNE, CHARLES STOKES, journalist, author, was born March 18, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is managing editor of Town Topics of New York city. He is the author of Mrs. Lord's Moonstone; Anthony Kent; and The Lady and Her Tree; and A Witch of To-Day.

WAYNE, WILLIAM, soldier, legislator, was born Dec. 6, 1828. During the civil war he held the rank of captain in the ninety-seventh Pennsylvania volunteers. In 1881-87 he served as a member of the Pennsylvania assembly.

WEAVER, AARON WARD, naval officer, was born July 1, 1832, in District of Columbia. He served through the civil war, taking a prominent part in many naval bombardments; and became commander in 1866. In 1893 he became rear-admiral.

WEBB CHARLES M., soldier lawyer, jurist. He served in Company G twelfth Wisconsin regiment in the civil war. He was engaged in practice as lawyer at Grand Rapids until elected judge of the circuit court of Wisconsin.

WEBB, FRANK RUSH, musician, composer, was born Oct. 8, 1851, in Covington, Ind. Since 1883 he has been a teacher of pianoforte and director of School of Music in the Virginia Female Institute of Staunton, Va.: and organist and musical director at Trinity Episcopal Church. He is the author of two hundred pieces for military band.

WEBB, JAMES AVERY, lawyer, author, was born July 2, 1868, in Ripley, Tenn. In 1890-91 he was mayor of Ripley Tenn; Secretary Commercial Law League of America in 1896; and secretary of the Bar Association of St. Louis in 1896-1900. He is the author of books on the law of Passenger and Freight Elevators.

WEBB, WILLIAM WALTER, priest, author, was born Nov. 20, 1857, in Germantown, Pa. He is the author of Index to and Literature of Electrolysis Guide to Semarians; and the Cure of Souls.

WEBER, ADNA FERRIN, statistician, author, was born July 14, 1870, in Springville, N. Y. Since 1899 he has been commissioner of labor statistics of New York. He is the author of The Growth of Cities in the Nineteenth Century.

WEBER, PAUL, artist, was born about 1823. Among those of his works that are owned in the United States are A Scene in the Catskills, in the Corcoran gallery of Washington; and Morning, in the Pennsylvania academy of fine arts.

WEBSTER, ARTHUR GORDON, educator, author, was born Nov. 28, 1863, in Brookline, Mass. He is professor of physics in Clark University of Worcester, Mass. He is the author of A Mathematical Treatise on the Theory of Electricity and Magnetism; and Lowell Institute Lectures on Electricity and Ether.

WEBSTER, HELEN LIVERMORE, educator, author, was born in 1853, in Boston, Mass. Since 1900 she has been professor of comparative philology in Wellesley College. She is the author of A Special Treatise on the Guttural Question in Gothic.

WEBSTER, HENRY KITCHELL, educator, author, was born Sept. 7, 1875, in Evanston, Ill. He is the author of The Short Line War; and The Banker and the Bear.

WEBSTER, W. F., educator, author. He is principal of the East High School in Minneapolis, Minn. He is the author of English Composition and Literature.

WEED, GEORGE LUDINGTON, educator, author, was born April 9, 1828, in Union Mission, Ark. He is the author of Great Truths Simply Told; A Life of Christ for the Young; A Life of St. Paul for the Young; and A Life of St. John for the Young.

WEED, WALTER HARVEY, geologist, author, was born May 1, 1862, in St. Louis, Mo. Since 1883 he has been geologist on the United States Geological Survey. He is the author of Formation of Hot Springs Deposits; Glaciation of Yellowstone Valley; Geology of Castle Mountain District; and other works.

WEEKS, GEORGE H., soldier, was born Feb. 3, 1832, in New Hampshire. He is brigadier-general in United States army, now retired.

WEIK, JESSE WILLIAM, lawyer, was born Aug. 23, 1857, in Greencastle, Ind. He is the author of Herndon and Weik's Lincoln, in two volumes.

WEIR, SAMUEL, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 15, 1860, in Canada. Since 1895 he has been professor in New York university. He is the author of Christianity as a Factor in Civilization.

WEISE, ARTHUR JAMES, soldier, author, was born Aug. 15, 1838, in Shepherdstown, Va. He served in the civil war as a lieutenant in the seventh infantry regiment of Maryland volunteers, Army of the Potomac in 1862-64. He is the author of History of the City of Troy; History of Lansingburgh; The Discoveries of America to the Year 1525; History of the City of Albany; Troy and its Vicinity; and Representative Men of Troy.

WELLS, BENJAMIN WILLIS, educator, critic, author, was born Jan. 31, 1856, in Walpole, N. H. He is the author of Modern German Literature; and Modern French Literature; A Century of French Literature.

WELLS, CAROLYN, author, was born in Rahway, N. J. She is the author of At the Sign of the Sphinx; The Jingle Book; The Story of Betty; and Idle Idyls.

WELLS, EDWARD, L., lawyer, business man, author, was born in November, 1839, in New York city. He is the author of History of the Charleston Light Dragoons; and Hampton and His Cavalry in '64.

WELLS, HEBER MANNING, banker, governor, was born Aug. 11, 1859, in Salt Lake City, Utah. He was recorder in Salt Lake City in 1882-90; and was a member of the constitutional convention which framed Constitution of Utah. He is cashier State Bank of Utah. In 1895-1900 he was governor of Utah.

WELLS, HORACE L., educator, author, was born Oct. 5, 1855, in New Britain, Conn. He is professor of analytic chemistry and metallurgy in Sheffield Scientific school of Yale university. He is the author of Laboratory Guide in Qualitative Analysis.

WELLS, WEBSTER, mathematician, author, was born Sept. 4, 1851, in Boston, Mass. He is the author of Elementary Treatise on Logarithms; University Algebra; Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; Academic Algebra; Elements of Geometry; Higher Algebra; Essentials of Trigonometry; Four Place Tables; College Algebra; Academic Arithmetic; Revised Plane and Spherical Trigonometry; Six Place Tables; Essentials of Algebra; Essentials of Plane and Solid Geometry; New Higher Algebra; Complete Trigonometry; and New Four Place Tables.

WELSH, CHARLES, publisher, author, was born Dec. 22, 1850, in England. He is the author of Publishing a Book; and A Bookseller of the Last Century.

WENCKEBACH, CARLA, educator, author, was born Feb. 14, 1853, in Germany. Since 1895 she has been professor of German in Wellesley College. She is the author of Deutsche Grammatik; and other works in German.

WENLEY, ROBERT MARK, educator, author, was born in July, 1861, in Edinburgh, Scotland. Since 1886 he has been head of philosophical department in University of Michigan. He is the author of Socrates and Christ; Aspects of Pessimism; University Extension Movement in Scotland; Contemporary Theology and Theism; Introduction to Kant; and Preparation for Christianity in the Ancient World.

WERNER, WILLIAM E., lawyer, jurist, was born April 19, 1855, in Buffalo, N. Y. In 1895-1900 he was justice of the supreme court; and since 1900 judge of court of appeals of New York.

WERTS, GEORGE THEODORE, lawyer, state senator, jurist, governor, was born March 24, 1846, in Hackettstown, N. J. In 1883-85 he was recorder of Morristown, N. J.; and in 1886-92 was mayor. He served six months in the New Jersey state senate; and in 1892-93 was justice of the supreme court. In 1893-96 he was governor of New Jersey.

WESSON, DANIEL BAIRD, manufacturer, inventor, was born May 25, 1825, in Worcester, Mass. On his brother's death in 1860 he took charge of the business of the firm of Smith and Wesson, manufacturers of rifles, of Norwich, Conn. He introduced improvements which brought them a very large trade. He is now head of the firm with his sons as partners; and also has other large interests.

WEST, ANSON, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 3, 1832, in Robertson county, N. C. He has been in the ministry since 1856. Since 1874 he has been a member of every general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, South. He is the author of The State of the Dead; The Old and the New Man; and History of Methodism in Alabama.

WEST, CALEB WALTON, lawyer, governor, was born May 25, 1844, in Cynthiana, Ky. Since 1896 he has been special agent in the United States treasury. In 1867-86 he practiced law in Cynthiana, Ky. In 1886-89 and 1893-96 he was governor of Utah Territory.

WEST, MAX, expert, author, was born Nov. 11, 1870, in St. Cloud, Minn. Since 1900 he has been expert agent in the United States industrial commission. He is the author of The Inheritance Tax.

WESTCOTT, JOHN HOWELL, educator, author, was born Aug. 3, 1858, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1889 he has been professor of Latin; and also instructor in Roman Law since 1892. He is the author of educational editions of several volumes of the classics.

WESTINGHOUSE, GEORGE, manufacturer, inventor, was born Oct. 6, 1846, in Central Bridge, N. Y. In 1865 he invented a device for replacing railroad cars on the track; and invented and successfully introduced the Westinghouse air brake, which he has since greatly improved. He is now president of twelve corporations.

WESTON, JAMES AUGUSTUS, soldier, clergyman, author, was born May 6, 1838, in Lake Comfort, N. C. In 1864-65 he was major thirty-third North Carolina regiment, Confederate army. He has held pastorates at Hertford, Hickory and Raleigh, N. C. He is the author of Historic Doubts as to the Execution of Marshal Ney.

WESTON, JOHN FRANCIS, soldier, was born in Kentucky. During the civil war he attained the rank of major. He was appointed brigadier-general in United States volunteers in 1898; and in 1899 succeeded Gen. Eagan as commissary general.

WESTON, THEODORE, civil engineer, architect, author, was born Oct. 9, 1832, in Sandy Hill, N. Y. He was architect of the Metropolitan Museum of Art of New York city. He is the author of Report Upon Water Supply of Brooklyn.

WETMORE, CLAUDE HAZELTINE, author, was born in 1862, in Cayuga Falls, Ohio. He has made a special study of the navies of the world. He is the author of Sweepers of the Sea.

WHARTON, MRS. EDITH, author, was born in 1862, in New York city. She is the author of The Greater Inclination; The Touchstone; and Crucial Instances.

WHARTON, HENRY REDWOOD, physician, author, was born May 23, 1853, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is surgeon in Presbyterian and Children's hospitals. He is the author of Surgery and Bandaging.

WHEATON, LOYD, soldier, was born July 15, 1838, in Michigan. He served in the civil war rising from first sergeant to colonel of the eighth Illinois volunteer infantry; and captain of thirty-fourth United States Infantry. He received several brevets and medals from congress for meritorious services as brigadier-general; he commanded the first brigade, first division, seventh army corps in the Spanish-American war; and was present at Havana when the American flag was floated in 1898. He left for Manila with the twentieth infantry and participated in many battles in the Philippine rebellion.

WHEELER, C. GILBERT, chemist, geologist, inventor, author, was born July 23, 1836, in Canada. In 1869 he invented a chemical fire extinguisher which attained wide use. He is the author of Natural History Charts; Catalogue Polyglottus; Determinative Mineralogy; Chemistry of Building Materials; and Medical Chemistry.

WHEELER, CANDACE THURBER, artist, author, was born in Delhi, N. Y. She was the founder of systems and first society of Decorative Arts; and founder of the Associated Arts. She is the author of Double Darling and Other Fairy Tales; Household Art; Content in a Garden; Decorators and Decorating; and Domestic Weavings.

WHEELER, DAVID HILTON, clergyman, educator, college president, author, was born Nov. 18, 1829, in Ithaca, N. Y. In 1883-92 he was president of Allegheny college of Meadville, Pa. He is the author of Brigandage in South Italy; Byways of Literature; and Our Industrial Utopia.

WHEELER, EDWARD JEWETT, journalist, author, was born March 11, 1859, in Cleveland, Ohio. Since 1895 he has been editor of The Literary Digest of New York city. He is the author of Stories in Rhyme for Holiday Time.

WHEELER, EVERETT PEPPERELL, lawyer, author, was born March 10, 1840, in New York city. In 1883-89 and 1895-97 he was chairman of the New York city civil service commission. He is the author of Modern Law of Carriers; Wages and Tariff; and Real Bimetallism.

WHEELER, HERBERT ALLEN, mining engineer, author, was born in 1859, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He is now manager of the Standard Tile company; and was first president of American Ceramic society. He is the author of Clays.

WHEELER, JOHN WILSON, manufacturer, banker, legislator, was born Nov. 20, 1832, in Orange, Mass. In 1867 he established a sewing machine business which developed into the New Home Sewing Machine company, of which he is president and treasurer. In 1877 he was a member of the Massachusetts legislature; and in 1888 was a delegate to the national Republican convention. He is president of the Orange Savings bank, Mass.

WHEELER, POST, historian, author, was born Aug. 6, 1869, in Owego, N. Y. He spent some time among the Tukudh Indians in the Arctic regions; and has written much of interest concerning them. He is one of the editors of the New York Press. He is the author of The Writer; Reflections of a Bachelor; and Love-in-a-Mist, poems.

WHEELOCK, MRS. JULIA SUSAN, hospital nurse, was born Oct. 7, 1833, in Avon, Ohio. In 1865-73 she held a clerkship in the United States treasury department. In 1873 she married Parter C. Freeman, with whom she has since resided in Middleville, Mich., and Springfield, Mo. Her journal was published as The Boys in White, the Experience of a Hospital Agent in and around Washington.

WHELPLEY, HENRY MILTON, physician, biologist, author, was born May 24, 1861, in Battle Creek, Mich. Since 1900 he has been professor of materia medica and pharmacy in medical department of Washington university. He is the author of Curtman's Chemical Lecture Notes; and Whelpley's Therapeutic Terms

WHERRY, WILLIAM M., soldier, author, was born Sept. 13, 1836, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1861-66 he served in the civil war. He served on the frontier against the Indians; and during the Spanish American war was a brigadier-general in the United States army. He is the author of Lyon's Campaign in Missouri.

WHICHER, GEORGE MEASON, educator, author. In 1892-1900 he was professor of Greek and Latin in the Packer Institute of Brooklyn, N. Y. He is the author of First Latin Readings.

WHIGHAM, HENRY JAMES, journalist, author, was born Dec. 24, 1869, in Scotland. During the Spanish-American war he was war correspondent of the Chicago Tribune. He subsequently was war correspondent in South Africa; and in 1900 went to China as war correspondent for Scribner's Magazine. In 1896-97 he was amateur golf champion of the United States. He is the author of How to Play Golf.

WHITAKER, ROBERT, clergyman, author, poet, was born Sept. 9, 1863, in England. He is now pastor at Palo Alto, Cal. He is the author of God Garners No Green Grain, poem; and The Man Who Might Have Been.

WHITAKER, WALTER CLAIBORNE, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 28, 1867, in Lenoir, N. C. He is the author of History of the Protestant and Episcopal Church in Alabama.

WHITE, CHARLES HENRY, navy surgeon, was born Nov. 19, 1838, in Center Sandwich, N. H. Since 1861 he has been a medical officer in the navy. In 1869 he was promoted surgeon; became medical director in 1895; and was retired in 1900 with rank of rear-admiral.

WHITE, EDWIN, naval officer, was born in 1843 in Ohio. During the civil war he attained the rank of master. In 1895-98 he was commandant of cadets in the United States naval academy. In 1899 he was retired as rear admiral.

WHITE, EMORY CALVIN, college president, author, was born Oct. 15, 1858, in Monterey, Mich. He became superintendent of schools at Albion, Ind., but resigned in order to accept the presidency of the American college at Callao, Peru. After filling this post for a time, he relinquished it for the sake of studying the ruins of the Incas, among which he spent three years, excavating, photographing, and surveying. He then traversed the upper Amazon, visiting Bolivia, Chili, Brazil, the Argentine Republic, and Spain, in search of further information regarding the Inca and pre-Inca races, returning to the United States in 1886, and is writing histories of Peru, Chili, the Argentine Republic and Brazil.

WHITE, ERSKINE NORMAN, pastor, author, was born May 31, 1833, in New York city. In 1862 he was chaplain of twenty-second New York volunteers. He is the author of History of West Twenty-third Street Presbyterian Church.

WHITE, GEORGE LEONARD, soldier, educator, was born Sept. 20, 1838, in Cadiz, N. Y. In 1862 he enlisted in the 73d Ohio regiment, and fought at Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, Lookout Valley, and Lookout Mountain. At the close of the war he entered the employ of the Freedmen's bureau, but in 1868 he resigned to give his entire time to the work of Fisk university. He had heard the simple negro songs that came into being during the days of slavery, and he resolved to form a band of his best voices to sing these songs in the large cities of the north in aid of the university.

WHITE, HENRY ALEXANDER, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 15, 1861, in Greenbriar county, W. Va. He is professor of history in Washington and Lee university. He is the author of The Pentateuch, in the Light of the Ancient Monuments; and Robert E. Lee and the Southern Confederacy.

WHITE, HERVEY, librarian, author, was born Nov. 26, 1866, in New London, Iowa. In 1896-99 he was reference librarian in John Crerar Library of Chicago, Ill. He is the author of Differences; Quicksand; When Eve Was Not Created, and Other Stories.

WHITE, JAMES DEMPSEY, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 31, 1831, in Hickman county, Ky. In 1870-80 he was judge of court of common pleas; and since 1896 has been associate judge court of appeals of Kentucky.

WHITE, JARVIS, soldier, business man, legislator, was born April 21, 1833, in Whitney, Vt. He enlisted in the Massachusetts infantry in 1861; was promoted through the different grades to captain, and mustered out in 1866. In 1896 he was elected to the Wisconsin assembly; and was appointed postmaster of South Superior in 1897.

WHITE, JOHN, musician, composer, was born March 12, 1855, in Springfield, Mass. In 1887-96 he was organist and choirmaster of the Church of the Ascension of New York city; and since that time has lived in Munich, studying and composing. He is the author of several compositions.

WHITE, JOHN B., congressman. He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh congress from Kentucky as a democrat.

WHITE, JOHN BLAKE, physician, author, was born Oct. 9, 1850, in Charleston, S. C. For eight years he was sanitary inspector; for fourteen years visiting physician for New York Charity hospital; and a lecturer post-graduate Medical college. He is the author of numerous medical and surgical papers. He is a son of Dr. Octavus A. White, and grandson of Hon. John Blake White.

WHITE, MRS. SALLIE JOY, journalist, author, was born in Winchester, N. H. She is the author of Housekeeping and Home Making; Cookery in Public Schools; and Business Opportunities for Girls.

WHITE, STANFORD, architect, was born Nov. 9, 1853, in New York city. He designed the Century and Metropolitan Clubs, University of New York, Washington Arch, University of Virginia; and pedestals for principal statues of St. Gaudens.

WHITE, STEWART EDWARD, lawyer, author, was born March 12, 1873, in Grand Rapids, Mich. He is the author of The Westerners; and The Claim Jumpers.

WHITE, TRUMBULL, journalist, author, was born Aug. 12, 1868, in Winterset, Iowa. He is the noted author of Wizard and Wall Street; Our War With Spain; Our New Possessions; and other works.

WHITE, WILLIAM PRESCOTT, journalist, clergyman, author, was born March 22, 1840, in Honey Brook, Pa. Since 1894 he has been editor of Presbyterian Journal of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Presbyterian Year Book; and The Presbyterian Churches of Philadelphia.

WHITEHOUSE, ROBERT TREAT, lawyer, author, was born March 27, 1870, in Augusta, Maine. He is the author of Equity Jurisdiction, Pleading and Practice in Maine.

WHITELOCK, MRS. LOUISE CLARKSON, author, was born in 1865, in Baltimore, Md. She is the wife of George Whitelock, a lawyer of Baltimore, Md. She is the author of Violet With Eyes of Blue; The Gathering of the Lilies; The Rag Fair; Indian Summer; Heartsease and Happy Days; Flyaway Fairies; and Little Miss Stay-at-Home.

WHITFIELD, ALBERT HALL, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 12, 1849, in Aberdeen, Miss. Since 1894 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Mississippi.

WHITING, ARTHUR BATTELLE, musician, composer; was born June 20, 1861, in Cambridge, Mass. He is a teacher of pianoforte and composition in New York city. He is the author of many pianoforte-pieces, anthems, songs, and organ music.

WHITMAN, WILLIAM EDWARD SEAVER, journalist, author, was born Dec. 25, 1832, in South Boston, Mass. Since 1850 he has been the regular correspondent for fourteen leading dailies; and with the Boston Journal for twenty-five years. He is the author of The Ship Carpenter's Family; Maine in the War for the Union; and Narrow Gauge Raliroads.

WHITMARSH, H. PHELPS, author, governor. He is now civil governor of the Province of Benguet, Luzon, Philippine Islands. He is the author of The World's Rough Hand; Toil and Adventure at the Antipodes; The Golden Talisman; The Young Pearl Divers; and Mysterious Voyage of the Daphne.

WHITNEY, MRS. BELLE ARMSTRONG, journalist, author, was born Sept. 27, 1861, in Boston, Mass. She is editor of The Gentlewoman of New York city. She is the author of The Art of Dress.

WHITNEY, HENRY CLAY, lawyer, state senator, author, was born Feb. 23, 1831, in Detroit, Maine. He was an intimate friend of Lincoln from 1854 until his death; and in 1861-65 was paymaster in the United States army. In 1871-72 he was state senator of Kansas. He is the author of Life on the Circuit with Lincoln; Marriage and Divorce; and also many essays on Lincoln.

WHITRITT, WILLIAM HETH, clergyman, college president, author, was born Nov. 25, 1841, in Nashville, Tenn. In 1872-95 he was professor in the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary of Louisville, Ky.; and in 1895-99 was president of that institution. He is the author of History of Origin of Infant Baptism; History of Communion among Baptists; and Origin of the Disciples of Christ.

WHITSIDE, SAMUEL MARMADUKE, soldier, was born Jan. 9, 1839, in Canada. In 1858 he entered the United States army; and during the civil war served with the sixth United States cavalry. For over a quarter of a century he served in Indian wars on the Western frontier. He captured Big Foot and his four hundred Sioux warriors in 1890. During the Spanish-American war he attained the rank of brigadier-general.

WHITTIER, FRANK NATHANIEL, educator, lecturer, was born Dec. 12, 1861, in Farmington, Maine. He is a noted lecturer on Hygiene; and since 1897 has been instructor of bacteriology in Bowdoin college. He is the author of Light Gymnastics for Schools.

WICKSON, EDWARD JAMES, educator, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 3, 1848, in Rochester, N. Y. Since 1897 he has been professor of agricultural practice in University of California. He has been connected with the University of California since 1879. He organized the first dairy association in California in 1876. He is the author of California Fruits and How to Grow Them; and The California Vegetables in Garden and Field.

WILBOUR, MRS. CHARLOTTE BEEBEE, founder, was born March 2, 1830, in Norwich, Conn. She was elected president of Sorosis in 1870, and five times re-elected. She was a founder of the club, devoted much time and thought to securing for it a permanent foundation, and was instrumental in organizing the Association for the advancement of women that was formed by it in 1873. Since she has resided abroad she has maintained her interest in the elevation of her sex, and sought every opportunity to labor for it.

WILBOUR, JOSHUA A., diplomat. He is now United States consul at Dublin.

WILBUR, GEORGE A., lawyer, jurist. He was associate justice of the supreme court of Rhode Island.

WILBUR, LA FAYETTE, lawyer, genealogist, author, was born May 15, 1834, in Waterville, Vt. He is a successful lawyer; and has filled several public positions of honor. He is the author of two novels of Early History of Vermont; and Genealogy of the Wilbur Family.

WILCOX, DELOS FRANKLIN, farmer, author. He is a successful farmer of Elk Rapids, Mich. He is the author of The Study of City Government; and Ethical Marriage.

WILCOX, REGINALD WEBB, physician, author, was born March 29, 18—, in Madison, Conn. He is a noted Physician of New York city. He is the author of the Wilcox Genealogy.

WILCOX, ROBERT WILLIAM, congressman, was born Feb. 15, 1855, in Hawaiian Islands. In 1901-03 he was a delegate in congress from Hawaii. He led Diamond Head reolution against government to restore Queen Liliuokalani in 1895; was condemned to death, but United States senate intervened, and President Dole commuted sentence to thirty-five years at hard labor, with ten thousand dollars fine. He was pardoned in 1896.

WILCOX, WALTER DWIGHT, scientist, author, was born Sept. 25, 1869, in Chicago, Ill. He has traveled and made scientific investigations in Canadian Rockies; Hawaiian Islands; and other countries. He is the author of Camping in the Canadian Rockies; and The Rockies of Canada.

WILDES, FRANK, naval officer, was born June 17, 1845 in Boston, Mass. He was promoted to captain in 1894; was in command of the Boston during Dewey's brilliant victory at Manila, and was among the captains who welcomed the admiral on his return to his native land in 1899.

WILEY, ARISTO APPLING, soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman. He was long engaged as lawyer in Alabama; served in Alabama house and senate for eighteen years; and was appointed lieutenant-colonel of the fifth regiment United States volunteer infantry. He served eleven months in Cuba; was chief legal adviser to General Lawton; later appointed as acting civil governor of Santiago; and framed constitution and set in motion the machinery of a civil government.

WILEY, FRANKLIN BALDWIN, journalist, author, poet, was born Sept. 28, 1861, in New York city. Since 1899 he has been literary editor of the Ladies' Home Journal. He is the author of Roadside Rhymes; The Harvard Guide Book; and Flowers that Never Fade.

WILEY, JOHN ALEXANDER, soldier, was born Sept. 3, 1843, in Allegheny county, Pa. He was a private in the eighth Pennsylvania reserves in 1861-64; and chief clerk in the quartermaster's department in 1864-65. He was an extensive oil producer after the civil war; and mayor of Franklin, Pa. In 1898 he became brigadier-general in United States volunteers; and served in war with Spain.

WILEY, WILIAM HALSTED, soldier, publisher, author, was born July 10, 1842, in New York city. During the civil war he attained the rank of major. He is the author of Yosemite, Alaska and the Yellowstone.

WILKIN, JACOB W., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born June 7, 1837, in Newark, Ohio. He served in the Union army in 1862-65, becoming major of the 130th Illinois volunteer infantry. In 1879-88 he was circuit judge; and since 1888 has been judge of the supreme court of Illinois.

WILKINSON, FLORENCE, author, poet, was born in Tarrytown, N. Y. She is the author of The Lady of the Flag Flowers; and The Marriage of Guineth.

WILLARD, JOSIAH FLYNT, journalist, author, was born Jan. 23, 1869, in Appleton, Wis. He is the author of Tramping with Tramps; Powers that Prey; and Notes of an Itinerant Policeman.

WILLARD, JULIUS TERRASS, chemist, author, was born April 9, 1862, in Wabaunsee, Kan. Since 1897 he has been professor of applied chemistry in Kansas State Agricultural college. He is the author of Organic Compounds of Everyday Life.

WILLCOX, ALBERT OLIVER, merchant, founder, was born May 10, 1810, in New York city. In 1844 he was among the founders of the National Era in Washington, D. C. He was engaged for many years before the war in extending the earliest mercantile agency; and in the dry-goods business; and has since followed the insurance business in New York city; and devoted himself to the public advocacy of woman suffrage.

WILLCOX, MARY ALICE, zoölogist, author, was born April 24, 1856, in Kennebunk, Maine. Since 1883 she has been professor of zoölogy in Wellesley college. She is the author of Pocket Guide to Common Land Birds of New England.

WILLCOX, WALTER FRANCIS statistician, author, was born March 22, 1861, in Reading, Mass. He is professor of social science and statistics in Cornell university of Ithaca, N. Y. He is the author of The Divorce Problem, A Study in Statistics.

WILLETS, GILSON, journalist, traveler, author, was born Aug. 10, 1869, in Hempstead, N. Y. He has been war correspondent in Cuba; and traveled one thousand miles through the famine districts of India for the Christian Herald. He is the author of The Triumph of Yankee Doodle; The Rulers of the World at Home; and other works.

WILLIAMS, ARCHIBALD, lawyer, jurist, was born in Kentucky. He settled in Illinois; and was appointed judge of the United States court for the district of Kansas, residing at Topeka.

WILLIAMS, ARTHUR LLEWELLYN, clergyman, bishop, was born Jan. 30, 1856, in Canada. In 1879-85 he was in the railway service. In 1888 he was ordained in the Protestant Episcopal church, and for ten years held charges in Chicago and elsewhere. In 1899 he was elected coadjutor bishop to Bishop Worthington, of Nebraska.

WILLIAMS, FREDERICK WELLS, educator, author, was born Oct. 31, 1857. Since 1900 he has been professor of modern Oriental history in Yale university. He is the author of The Middle Kingdom, in two volumes.

WILLIAMS, GEORGE BURCHELL, financier, was born Dec. 5, 1841, in Lockport, N. Y. In 1871 he was appointed by the Japanese government to assist in the reorganization of the financial system, to be counsellor to the imperial authorities in all matters relating to the finance, and particularly upon banking, internal revenue, export and import duties, and economic and monetary matters.

WILLIAMS, GEORGE FORRESTER soldier, journalist, author, was born in 1841, on Rock of Gibraltar. In 1860 he joined the staff of New York Times. He served in the civil war as private, rising to brevet rank of major. He acted as war correspondent during Franco-Mexican war and saw Maximillian executed at Queretaro. In 1870-73 he was managing editor New York Times; and in 1874 managing editor New York Herald. He is the author of Bullet and Shell; Lucy's Rebel; The Memorial War Book; Unfair in Love and War; and Across the Lines.

WILLIAMS, HAROLD, physician, surgeon, author, was born Dec. 5, 1853, in Brookline, Mass. He is dean of Tuft's college. He is the author of Mr. and Mrs. Morton; Silken Threads; and Climatic Treatment of Phthisis.

WILLIAMS, LEWIS ALFRED, publisher, author, was born Jan. 22, 1849, in Bellevue, Ohio. For many years he compiled and published city, county and state histories in Cleveland; and in 1887 established the Magazine of Western History in New York city, which was subsequently consolidated with the National Magazine. He has brought out such work as Memorial History of the City of New York, in four volumes; Bench and Bar of New York, in two volumes; Leslie's History of the Greater New York, in three volumes; Leslie's History of the Republican Party, in two volumes; Bruce's Empire State in Three Centuries, in three volumes; and other notable historical and biographical works.

WILLIAMS, MRS. MARIA PRAY, actress, was born 1828, in New York city. She became a ballet girl at fifteen years of age, performing at the Chatham theatre, and shortly afterward married Charles Mestayer. After his death she married Mr. Williams in 1850, and thereafter generally appeared with him, playing star engagements.

WILLIAMS, MARSHALL JAY, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Feb. 22, 1837, in Fayette county, Ohio. He was elected to the Ohio general assembly in 1869 and 1871. In 1884-86 he was circuit judge; and was chief justice of that court. Since 1886 he has been judge of the supreme court of Ohio.

WILLIAMS, MRS. MARTHA McCULLOCH, author, was born in Montgomery county, Tenn. She is the author of Field Farings; Two of a Trade; Next to the Ground; and over two hundred short stories.

WILLIAMS, RALPH OLMSTED, lawyer, educator, author, was born in 1838. He was a contributor to Webster's International dictionary and the Standard Dictionary, Modern Language Notes. He is the author of Our Dictionaries and Other English Language Topics.

WILLIAMS, ROBERT, soldier, was born Nov. 5, 1829, in Culpeper county, Va. During the civil war he attained the rank of major and brigadier-general. He was retired in 1893.

WILLIAMS, RUFUS PHILLIPS, educator, scientist, author, was born Jan. 3, 1851, in Ashfield, Mass. Since 1885 he has filled the chair of chemistry in the Boston English high school. He is the author of Chemical Science; Laboratory Manual; Chemical Experiments; and Elements of Chemistry.

WILLIAMS, WILLIAM ASBURY, clergyman, college president, was born May 30, 1854, in Beallsville, Ohio. Since 1887 he has been president of Franklin college, W. Va. He has published Silver Tones, temperance song book; Song Jewels, Sunday School song book; Music Chart; and Parliamentary Chart.

WILLIAMS, WILLIAM ELZA, lawyer, congressman, was born in Detroit, Ill. In 1886-92 he was states attorney of Pike county, Ill. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress as a democrat.

WILLIS, ALFRED, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Feb. 3, 1836, in England. Since 1872 he has been Anglican bishop of Honolulu. He is the author of a translation of three hundred hymns into the Hawaiian language,

WILLIS, HENRY PARKER, educator, author, was born Aug. 14, 1874, in Weymouth, Mass. Since 1898 he has been professor of economics and political science in Washington and Lee university. He is the author of History of the Latin in Monetary Union.

WILLISTON, EDWARD BANCROFT, soldier, was born in Vermont. During the civil war he attained the rank of captain. In 1898 he was appointed brigadier-general in United States volunteers.

WILLISTON, SAMUEL WENDELL, geologist, uathor, was born July 10, 1851, in Boston, Mass. He is professor of geology and anatomy in the University of Kansas. He is the autnor of Manual of North American Diptera.

WILLOUGHBY, HUGH LAUSSAT, yachtsman, author, was born in 1856 in Solitude, N. Y. In 1879 he organized the first bicycle club in America; and was one of the organizers of the League of American Wheelmen. He is the author of Across the Everglades.

WILLOUGHBY, WESTEL WOODBURY, scientist, author, was born July 20, 1867, in Alexandria, Va. He is associate professor of political science in Johns Hopkins University of Baltimore, Md. He is the author of Government and Administration of the United States; A Study in Political Philosophy; and The Rights and Duties of American Citizenship.

WILLOUGHBY, WILLIAM FRANKLIN, statistican, author, was born July 20, 1867, in Alexandria, Va. He is the author of Workingmen's Insurance.

WILLSON, FREDERICK NEWTON, educator, author, was born Dec. 23, 1855, in Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1883 he has been he has been expert in the United States department of labor. He is the professor of descriptive geometry and technical drawing in -Princeton university. He is the author of a series of text books on descriptive geometry and its applications.

WILSON, ADAIR, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Nov. 16, 1841, in Saline county, Mo. In 1875 he was a member and president of Colorado Territorial legislative council; received but declined the democratic nomination for governor in 1880. In 1886-90 he was state senator; and in 1897-1903 judge of court of appeals of Colorado.

WILSON, ALPHEUS WATERS, clergyman, bishop, author, was born Feb. 5, 1834, in Baltimore, Md. He took Episcopal tours around the world in 1886, 1888, 1890, and in 1898. Since 1882 he has been bishop Methodist Episcopal church South. He is the author of Missions; and other works.

WILSON, AUGUSTA JANE EVANS, philanthropist, author, was born May 8, 1835, in Columbus, Ga. During the civil war she was an active, zealous, sympathizer for the South; and a benefactor to the soldiers that were stationed near her country home. In 1868 she married L. M. Wilson of Mobile, Ala. She is the author of Inez, a Tale of the Alamo; Beulah, which was the novel that established her reputation; St. Elmo; and other works.

WILSON, CHARLES BRANCH, educator, author, was born Oct. 20, 1861, in Dexter, Maine. Since 1896 he has been professor of biology and head of natural science department of State Normal school of Westfield, Mass. He is the author of Nature Study for Grammar Grades; and Laboratory Outlines in Zoölogy and Botany.

WILSON, EDWARD LIVINGSTON, journalist, author, was born March 4, 1838, in Flemington, N. J. He conducted several large photographic enterprises, one to Egypt, Palestine and Arabia, including Petra. He is the author of In Scripture Lands; and numerous photographic books.

WILSON, EDMUND BEECHER, zoölogist, author, was born Oct. 19, 1856, in Geneva, Ill. He is professor of zoöl ogy at Columbia university of New York city. He is the author of Atlas of Karyokinesis and Fertilization; and The Cell in Development.

WILSON, FRANCIS BISHOP, actor, author, was born Feb. 7, 1854, in Philadelphia, Pa. He has acted in many plays and operas, also playing the role of actor-manager for many others. The Little Corporal is one of his popular characters. He is the author of Some Attentions; and Recollections of a Player.

WILSON, FRANK E., physician, congressman, was born in 1837, in Roxbury,

N. Y. In 1899-1901 he was a member of the fifty-seventh congress from Brooklyn, N. Y.

WILSON, FRANKLIN, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Dec. 8, 1822, in Baltimore, Md. For many years, beginning with 1851, he was the editor of The True Union, a Baptist weekly paper published in Baltimore, and he has long been a trustee of Columbian university of Washington, D. C. He is the author of a prize essay on The Duties of Churches to their Pastors; and of several essays and tracts.

WILSON, HARRY LANGFORD, was born Oct. 28, 1867, in Canada. He is associate professor of Latin in Johns Hopkins university of Baltimore, Md. He is the author of The Metaphor in the Epic Poems of P. Papinius Statius; and Satires of Juvenal.

WILSON, HERBERT MICHAEL, geographer, author, was born Aug. 23, 1860, in Glasgow, Scotland. He has lectured on irrigation, geography, etc., at colleges, geographical and engineering societies. He is the author of Manual of Irrigation Engineering; Exploratory, Geographic and Topographic Surveying; and official reports.

WILSON, MRS. IDA LEWIS, life-saver, heroine, was born in 1841, in Newport, R. I. She is the daughter of Captain Hosea Lewis, the keeper of Limerock lighthouse. She became an expert rower and swimmer; and has saved eighteen lives; and received medals for heroism from the United States government and the Humane society of Massachusetts. Her boat, the Rescue, was exhibited at the World's Columbian exposition.

WILSON, JAMES CORNELIUS, physician, author, was born March 25, 1847, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1891 he has been professor of clinical medicine in Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1897 he was president of the American Academy of Medicine. He is the author of The Summer and its Diseases; Wilson's Pocket Visiting List; and other works.

WILSON, JOHN FRANKLIN, soldier, lawer, legislator, congressman, was born May 7, 1846, in Pulacki, Tenn. In 1861 he entered the confederate army; was wounded six times; and rose to lieutenanti-colonel. In 1877-79 he was a member of the Arkansas state legislature. He removed to Arizona; and in 1896-97 was its attorney general. He was a member of congress from Arizona in 1899-1901.

WILSON, JOHN M., soldier, civil engineer, was born Oct. 8, 1837, in Washington, D. C. During the civil war he attained the rank of colonel. He then had charge of engineering work; the building of the Medical Museum and Library; and the completion of the Washington monument. Since 1897 he has been chief of engineers with the rank of brigadier-general.

WILSON, JOSEPH WALTER, author, was born June 28, 1857, in Lafayette, Ind. He studied law, and established himself in practice in Lafayette, Ind. He has made a translation of some of the Odes of Horace; and is the author of Biography of Count Charles d'Alembert.

WILSON, LUCY LANGDON WILLIAMS, educator, author, was born Aug. 18, 1865, in St. Albans, Vt. Since 1892 she has been professor of biology in Philadelphia Normal school. She is the author of Domestic Science; and Picture Study.

WILSON, MOSES FLEMING, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Sept. 10, 1839, in Franklin, Ohio. In 1871-81 he was judge of Cincinnati police court; and judge of court of common pleas in 1892-97. He is the author of Wilson's Criminal Code of Ohio.

WILSON, OLIVER MORRIS, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 16, 1836, in Logansport, Ind. After serving in the civil war as captain and major of Indiana volunteers, he was secretary of the Indiana state senate in 1865-69; assistant United States attorney for the state in 1869-71; and member of the legislature in the latter year. He was adjutant-general of the Grand Army of the Republic for Indiana in 1866-68, and organized the first department in that order. He is the author of Digest of Parliamentary Law; and Indiana Superior Court Reports.

WILSON, ROBERT CLARENCE, lawyer, state senator, was born Dec. 22, 1858, in Western Pennsylvania. He has been city attorney of Port Angeles, Wash.; and was a member of the Washington state senate in 1895-97.

WILSON, WILLIAM HUNTINGTON, lawyer, author, was born Aug. 21, 1870, in Washington, D. C. He engaged in the practice of law in West Virginia. He is the author of Rafnaland, a novel.

WILSON, WILLIAM POWELL, botanist, founder, was born Oct. 17, 1844, in Oxford, Mich. He was professor of botany and director of school of biology in the University of Pennsylvania. In 1893 he founded the Philadelphia commercial museum, of which he is the director; and in 1899 he was elected director-general of the national exposition of American manufactures suitable for export, which was opened by President McKinley in 1899.

WINANS, SAMUEL ROSS, educator, author, was born March 1, 1855, in Elizabeth, N. J. Since 1876 he has been professor of Greek at Princeton university; and in 1899 was made dean of the university. He is the author of several text books.

WINCHELL, HORACE VAUGHN, geologist, author, was born Nov. 1, 1865, in Galesburg, Mich. Since 1898 he has been geologist for Anaconda Copper Mining Company. He is the author of The Iron Ores of Minnesota.

WINCHESTER, CALEB THOMAS, educator, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 18, 1847, in Montville, Conn. Since 1873 he has been professor of English literature in Wesleyan university. He is the author of Five Short Courses of Reading in English Literature; and Some Principles of Literary Criticism.

WING, HENRY F., financier, legislator, was born Sept. 16, 1825. In 1862-70 he was assistant states internal revenue assessor. In 1864 he became cashier of the National bank of Grafton; and in 1869 the treasurer of the Grafton Savings bank. He has been a representative to the general court.

WINGATE, JAMES DANA PAINE, journalist, genealogist, was born April 2, 1855. For twenty-five years he was editor and publisher of The Gazette of Exeter, N. H.; and is now business manager of the Boston Journal. In 1888 he published History of the Wingate Family in England and America.

WINSHIP, GEORGE PARKER, librarian, author, was born in 1871 in Bridgewater, Mass. He is in charge of John Carter Brown library of Providence, R. I. He is the author of The Coronado Expedition; The Cabots; Bibliography of Coronado; and Early Mexican Printers.

WINSLOW, KATE REIGNOLDS, actress, author, was born in 1814 in England. She has attained a national reputation as a noted actress. She is the author of a work entitled Yesterdays with Actors.

WINSTON, FREDERICK HAMPDEN, lawyer, diplomat, was born Nov. 20, 1830, in Sand Hill, Ga. In 1853-85 he practiced law in Chicago, Ill.; and in 1885-86 was United States minister to Persia. For twelve years he was president of the Lincoln park commissioners; and in 1888 was president of the Union Stock Yards company.

WINTER, MRS. ELIZABETH CAMPBELL, author, was born Dec. 19, 1841, in Scotland. She is the author of The Spanish Treasure; The Curse of Dangerfield; Hawthorne Lodge; and The Mistress of the Grange.

WINTON, ANDREW L., chemist, author, was born Jan. 26, 1864, in Westport, Conn. He is chemist of Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station. He is the author of papers on chemical analysis adulteration of foods, dairy chemistry, and composition of agricultural products.

WISE, PETER MANUEL, physician, author, was born March 7, 1851, in Clarence, N. Y. Since 1896 he has been president of New York State Commission in Lunacy. He is the author of Text-Book for Training Schools, in two volumes.

WISE, STEPHEN S., clergyman, author, was born March 17, 1872, in Hungary. Since 1900 he has filled a pastorate in Beth Israel of Portland, Ore. He is the author of A Zionist Bibliography; and Ethics of Solmon Ibn Gabriol.

WISNER, GEORGE Y., civil engineer, author, was born July 11, 1841, in West Dresden, N. Y. In 1865-80 he was engaged in Government surveys in Great Lakes and Mississippi river. He is the author of Geodetic Field Work; Regulation of Lake Levels; Canals From the Great Lakes to the Atlantic; and other works.

WISWELL, ANDREW PETERS, lawyer, jurist. He is justice of the supreme judicial court of Maine.

WITTHAUS, RUDOLPH AUGUST, toxicologist, author, was born Aug. 30, 1846, in New York City. He is professor of chemistry and toxicology in the medical department of Cornell University. He is the author of Essentials of Chemistry; Manual of Chemistry; and other works.

WOLF, EMMA, author, was born June 15, 1865, in San Francisco, Cal. She is the author of Other Things Being Equal; Joy of Life; and A Prodigal in Love.

WOLFE, THEODORE FRELINGHUYSEN, physician, author, was born in 1847, in Kenvil, N. J. He has held various public offices in the health department of Jersey City, N. J. He is the author of Literary Rambles at Home and Abroad; and other works.

WOLVERTON, CHARLES EDWIN, lawyer, jurist, was born May 16, 1851, in Des Moines county, Iowa. He was elected to the supreme bench in 1892; and since 1893 has been chief justice of the supreme court of Oregon.

WOOD, CARROLL DAVID, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born July 8, 1857. He has been state superintendent public instruction of Arkansas. In 1882-86 he was district attorney; and in 1886-93 he was circuit judge. Since 1893 he has been associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas.

WOOD, HUDSON A., soldier, educator, lecturer, author, was born May 10, 1841, in Smyrna, N. Y. He has taught mathematics in academics, normal and scientific schools; and in 1888-89 at Stevens School of Hoboken, N. J. He is the author of Trigonometry; and Short Cuts in Arithmetic.

WOOD, MRS. MARY KNIGHT, musician, composer, was born April 7, 1859, in Easthampton, Mass. She is the composer of about thirty-five published songs.

WOOD, NATHAN E., clergyman, college president, author, was born June 6, 1849, in Forrestville, N. Y. Since 1899 he has been president of Newton Theological Institution. He is the author of History of The First Baptist Church of Boston, Mass.

WOODBURN, JAMES ALBERT, educator, author, was born Nov. 30, 1856, in Bloomington, Ind. He is professor of American history in Indiana University. He is the author of Higher Education in Indiana; Select Orations of Burke and Webster; and Representative American Orations, in four volumes.

WOODBURY, URBAN A., soldier, physician, governor, was born July 11, 1838, in New Hampshire. In 1840 he moved to Vermont. He enlisted in company H, second Vermont volunteers; and lost right arm at Bull Run. In 1885-86 he was mayor of Burlington, Vt. He was lieutenant-governor in 1894-96.

WOODHULL, JOHN FRANCIS, scientist, author, was born July 2, 1857, in Westport, N. Y. Since 1888 he has been professor of physical science in Teachers' College of Columbian University of New York city. He is the author of Simple Experiments for the School Room; Object Lessons; First Course in Science; Manual of Home-made Apparatus; and Physics, a textbook.

WOODHULL, ZULA MAUD, scientist, author. She is a writer on scientific and sociological questions; and associate editor of The Humanitarian. She is the author of The Proposal, a dialogue; and Affinitics, a play.

WOODMAN, CLARENCE EUGENE, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 1, 1852, in Saco, Maine. In 1891-93 he was lecturer in Catholic University of America. He is now pastor of St. Paul's Church of New York city. He is the author of The Bridal Wreath; Manual of Prayers; and Poets and Poetry of Ireland.

WOODMAN, RAYMOND HUNTINGTON, musician, composer, was born Jan. 18, 1861, Brooklyn, N. Y. Since 1880 he has been organist and choirmaster First Presbyterian Church of Brooklyn, N. Y.; and professor of music at Packer Collegiate Institute since 1894. His church choir of mixed voices is noted for excellent performances. He is the author of Romance; The Brook; Spring Song; and Three Album-leaves.

WOODRUFF, EDWIN HAMLIN, lawyer, librarian, author, was born Sept. 2, 1862, in Ithaca, N. Y. In 1891-96 he was librarian Leland Stanford University of California. He is the author of Domestic Relations; Introduction to the Study of Law; and Cases on Insurance.

WOODRUFF, TIMOTHY LESTER, business man, lieutenant-governor, was born Aug. 4, 1858, in New Haven, Conn. He chose a business career, becoming connected with various commercial enterprises and trust companies. In 1896 he was appointed park commissioner of Brooklyn. In 1896 he was elected lieutenant-governor of New York; and renominated in 1898.

WOODS, ALBERT FRED, physiologist, pathologist, author, was born Dec. 25, 1866, in Belvidere, Ill. Since 1893 he has been assistant chief and first assistant pathologist in United States Department of Agriculture. He is the author of Reports on Flora of Nebraska.

WOODS, SAMUEL D., congressman. He was elected a member of the fifty-seventh Congress from California as a republican.

WOODS, THOMAS HALL, soldier, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born March 1, 1836, in Arkansas. He was captain in Confederate army for four years; was district attorney of third district of Mississippi; and later member of the Mississippi legislature. Since 1889 he has been chief justice of the supreme court of Mississippi.

WOOD-SEYS, ROLAND ALEX., horticulturist, manufacturer, author, was born Nov. 5, 1854, in England. He settled in California as grower of olives and maker of olive oil. He is the author of A Woman With a Secret; Blacksmith of Voe; Bull i' the Thorn; Cut With His Own Diamond; and The Shepherdess of Treva.

WOODWARD, BENJAMIN DURYEA educator, lecturer, was born in 1868. Since 1894 he has been instructor in Romance languages and literature in the Columbian University. In 1900 he was appointed assistant commissioner general of the United States to the Paris Exposition.

WOODWORTH, JAY BACKUS, theologian, author, was born Jan. 2, 1865, in Newfield, N. Y. Since 1893 he has been instructor of geology in Harvard university. He is the author of Geology of Narragansett Basin.

WOODY, FRANK H., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 10, 1833, in Chatham county, N. C. Since 1892 he has been judge of the fourth judicial district of Montana.

WOOLF, PHILIP, physician, author, was born Feb. 7, 1848, in New York city. He is editor of the Saturday Evening Gazette of New York city. He is the author of The Trail of the Serpent; Satan's Mirror; Three Women and a Dead Man, and Goldenrod and Aster.

WOOLF, SOLOMON, educator, author, was born Jan. 6, 1841, in New York city. In 1878 he was appointed to the professorship of geometry and drawing in the Cooper Union. He is the author of A Course in Descriptive Geometry.

WOOLLEY, JOHN GRANVILLE, lawyer, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Feb. 15, 1850, in Collinsville, Ohio. He is editor of the The Chicago Lever. He is the author of Seed; The Sower; Civilization by Faith; and The Christian Citizen.

WOOLSEY, THEODORE SALISBURY, lawyer, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 22, 1852, in New Haven, Conn. He is professor of international law in Yale University. He is the author of America's Foreign Policy.

WORCESTER, DEAN CONANT, zoologist, author, was born Oct. 1, 1866, in Thetford, Vt. He is professor of geology in the university of Michigan. He is the author of The Philippine Islands and Their People.

WORCESTER, ELWOOD C., physician, author. He is the author of What We Know About Genesis in the Light of Modern Science.

WORDEN, JAMES AVERY, soldier, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 10, 1841, in Oxford, Ohio. During the civil war he was second lieutenant in the seventy-fourth New York volunteers. He is the author of Westminster Normal Outlines, in two volumes; and Bible Correspondence School, in eight volumes.

WORTH, WILLIAM SCOTT, soldier, was born Jan. 6, 1840, in Albany, N. Y During the civil war he attained the rank of captain. During the Spanish-American war he was severely wounded during the charge on San Juan Hill. He was promoted to brigadier-general and retired.

WORTHINGTON, WILLIAM JACKSON, soldier, legislator, jurist, lieutenant-governor, was born Nov. 9, 1832, in Westmoreland county, Pa. For four years he was lieutenant-colonel in the twenty-second regiment Kentucky volunteers. In 1866-70 he was a member of the Kentucky state senate; and was county judge for four years; and in 1895-99 was lieutenant governor of Kentucky.

WRIGHT, CHARLES FREDERICK banker, congressman, was born May 3, 1856, in Forest Lake, Pa. In 1896 he was a delegate to the republican national convention. He is a successful banker of Susquehanna, Pa. He was elected to the fifty-sixth congress from Pennsylvania as a republican.

WRIGHT, JOHN HENRY, educator, journalist, was born Feb. 4, 1852, in Urmiah, Persia. Since 1887 he has been professor of Greek in Harvard University; and since 1897 editor of the American Journal of Archaeology.

WRIGHT, MRS. MARIE ROBINSON, journalist author, was born in 1866 in Newnan, Ga. In 1889 she was a commissioner from Georgia to the Paris Exposition. She is the author of Picturesque Mexico.

WRIGHT, MILTON, clergyman, bishop, was born Nov. 17, 1828, in Rush county, Ind. In 1877 he became bishop of the United Brethren in Christ, and until 1881 held that position in the western Mississippi district. In 1886 he was re-elected bishop for a term of four years and sent to the Pacific coast district.

WRIGHT, ROBERT EMMET, lawyer, author, was born in 1810 in Allentown, Pa. He is a lawyer of Allentown Pa. He is the author of Alderman and Justices of the Peace; The Office and Duties of Constable; and Pennsylvania State Reports, 1861-65.

WRIGHT, RUFUS, artist, was born in 1832, in Cleveland, Ohio. His professional life has been spent in New York, Washington and Brooklyn. His portraits include those of Roger B. Taney; Edwin M. Stanton; and William H. Seward. About 1875 he turned his attention also to the painting of composition pictures.

WURTS, ALEXANDER JAY, electrical engineer, inventor, was born March 3, 1862, in Carbondale, Pa. He discovered the five non-arcing metals. For inventions in lighting arresters he was awarded the John Scott Medal. He is now with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company of Pittsburg, Pa.

WURTS, JOHN, lawyer, author, was born July 10, 1855, in Carbondale, Pa. He is professor of law in Yale University. In 1884-96 he practiced law in Jacksonville, Fla. He is the author of Index-Digest of Florida Reports.

WURTZ, HENRY, chemist, was born June 5, 1825, in Easton, Pa. His original work has included the discovery of the mineral hisingerite in America; the invention of methods for the production of alum from greensand marl; and potassium chloride and potassium sulphate from similar sources. In 1888 he entered the employ of Thomas A. Edison as chemist. In 1876 he served as a judge on the international jury of awards at the World's fair in Philadelphia.

WYCKOFF, WALTER AUGUSTUS, traveler, educator, author, was born April 12, 1865, in India. He is professor of political economy in Princeton University N. J. He is the author of The Workers, in two volumes.

WYLIE, ANDREW, lawyer, jurist was born Feb. 25, 1814, in Canonsburgh, Washington county, Pa. In 1863 President Lincoln appointed him justice of the supreme court of the District of Columbia, which office he filled with honor and ability for more than twenty-two years.

WYLIE, WALKER GILL, soldier, physician, surgeon, author, was born Sept. 2, 1848, in Chester, S. C. He served in the Confederate army in 1864-65. In 1882 he assisted in founding, and became professor of gynecology in the New York Polyclinic. He is the author of Hospitals, their Organization and Construction.

WYMAN, WALTER, navy surgeon, author, was born March 22, 1852, in Anderson, Ind. For many years he was professor of surgery in the Michigan College of Medicine and Surgery. He is the author of many papers on surgical topics.

WYMAN WALTER, surgeon-general, was born Aug. 17, 1848, in St. Louis, Mo. After spending several years in city hospitals, in 1876 he entered the marine hospital service, serving in Baltimore, Cincinnati, New York, and Washington; and in 1891 became surgeon-general. He made a study of the physical conditions affecting seamen of the merchant marine; and was instrumental in causing laws to be passed in their behalf.

WYMAN, WILLIAM STOKES, educator, legislator, was born Nov. 23, 1830, in Montgomery, Ala. Soon after his graduation he was appointed professor in the University of Alabama, in which position he has continued almost continuously for nearly half a century, occasionally acting as president. He has been a member of the Alabama assembly; and has long been a recognized authority on the history of his native state.

WYNNE, MRS. MADELINE YALE, artist, author, was born Sept. 25, 1847, in Newport, N. Y. She is the daughter of Lynus Yale, the inventor of the Yale lock. She has developed interesting specialty in hand-wrought metals. She is the author of The Little Room, and Other Stories.

YARNALL, ELLIS, author, was born in 1817 in Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of Wordsworth and the Coleridges.

YATES, JOHN BARENTSE, civil engineer, was born Oct. 19, 1833, in Schenectady, N. Y. He served during the civil war as colonel of the first Michigan engineers under Gen. William T. Sherman. Subsequently he became a division engineer on the New York state canals.

YATES, LORENZO GORDIN, dentist, naturalist, author, was born Jan. 8, 1837, in Great Britain. He began the practice of medicine in St. Louis, Mo.; and in 1863 moved to California. His collection of six thousand specimens of fossils are highly valued in Leland Stanford University for classwork. He had charge of scientific department of Froebel Institute at Los Angeles; and catalogued collections and prepared Illustrated Guide for Golden Park Museum of San Francisco. His first large collection of shells, fossils, Indian relics and minerals were sold to Wabash College, Ind. He is the author of California Digest of Masonic Law; Charm Stones; Ferns of Ceylon; Notes of Hawaiian Ferns; All Known Ferns; Aboriginal Weapons of California; and various other works.

YERKES, JOHN WATSON, lawyer, was born April 1, 1854, in Lexington, Ky. He has since practiced law in Danville; and is professor of law in Centre College. He has been registrar in bankruptcy, master in chancery, commissioner to World's Columbian exposition, and to the Atlanta exposition, chairman in 1891-96 of the Republican state central committee of Kentucky; and from 1896 member of the national Republican committee. He is the attorney for the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas-Pacific Railway Co.; and since 1897 has been a commissioner of the state deaf and dumb institute and also United States collector of internal revenue.

YOUNG, ABRAM VAN EPS, chemist, author, was born June 5, 1853, in Sheboygan, Wis. Since 1885 he has been professor of chemistry in the Northwestern University of Evanston, Ill. He is the author of The Elementary Principles of Chemistry.

YOUNG, BENNETT HENDERSON, soldier, lawyer, author, was born May 25, 1843, in Nicholasville, Ky. He was brigadier-general on staff of General John B. Gordon, commander-in-chief, Confederate Veterans. He is the author of History Constitutions; History of Evangelistic Work; and History Battle Blue Lick.

YOUNG, CHARLES, soldier, was born March 12, 1867, near Helena, Ky, of negro parents. During the civil war he attained the rank of second-lieutenant. In 1896 he was promoted to first lieutentant. At the beginning of the war with Spain in April, in 1898, he was commissioned major of volunteers; and was assigned to the command of a colored battalion mustered into service from the National guard of Ohio.

YOUNG, CLAIBORNE ADDISON, clergyman, author, poet was born in Indiana. He is the author of Way Songs and Wanderings; and Nancy Gilbreth of the Cumberland Mountains.

YOUNG, CLARK MONTGOMERY, educator, author, was born in Hiram, Ohio. Since 1892 he has been professor of history and sociology in the University of South Dakota. He is the author of History and Government of South Dakota; and Elements of Pedagogy.

YOUNG, FRANKLIN KNOWLES, inventor, author, was born Oct. 21, 1857, in Boston, Mass. He is the inventor of the automatic breech-action for small arms and field artillery. He is the author of The Minor Tactics of Chess; The Major Tactics of Chess; and other works.

YOUNG, JAMES THOMAS, educator, author, was born Sept. 23, 1873, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1896 he has been instructor in University of Pennsylvania. He is the author of several works in German.

YOUNG, JOHN PHILIP, journalist, author, was born Aug. 9, 1819, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1876 he has been managing editor of the San Francisco Chronicle. He is the author of Protection and Progress; Bimetallism or Monometallism; and other economic works.

YOUNG, LUCIEN, naval officer, author, was born March 31, 1852, in Lexington, Ky. While on the Alaska, in the European squadron, he rescued a seaman, for which he was presented with a gold medal. He was ordered to the Huron 1876, and the ship was wrecked in 1877. For his conduct in rescuing the crew of the Huron he received the thanks of the secretary of the navy, a gold medal of the first class from congress, and a sword from his native state of Kentucky. He was promoted in regular grades to that of lieutenant in 1884. In 1898 he was assigned to the command of the light-protected cruiser Hist, with the fleet of Commodore Watson. He is the author of A Standard Work on Navigation; A Cruise in the Hawaiian Islands; A Trip to the North Pole; and The Boston at Hawaii.

YOUNG, NEWTON C., lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 27, 1862, in Mt. Pleasant, Iowa. Since 1898 he has been judge of the supreme court of North Dakota.

YOUNG, SAMUEL BALDWIN MARKS, soldier, was born Jan. 9, 1840, near Pittsburg, Pa. During the civil war he was breveted brigadier general. In 1886 he entered the regular army; and in 1897 became colonel of the third cavalry. In the Spanish-American war as major general of volunteers he commanded the third army corps.

ZELIE, JOHN SHERIDAN, clergyman, author, was born May 3, 1866, in Princeton, Mass. Since 1894 he has been pastor of Belton Avenue Presbyterian Church of Cleveland, Ohio. In conjunction with Carroll Perry he published a work entitled Bill Pratt, the Saw-Buck Philosopher.

ZELLMAN, JOSEPH B., musician, composer. He is director of the vocal department of the Mollenhauer Conservatory of Music in New York city.

ZENDER, JOACHIM DENIS LAURENT, physician, was born Nov. 22, 1805, in Paris, France. After teaching humanities in several Roman Catholic colleges in Missouri and Maryland, he left the church in 1832, studied medicine in New York, obtained his diploma in 1842, and in 1844 was ordained in the latter city as a Protestant minister of the Congregational church, and gathered a small French congregation. Later he devoted himself to scientific works, and also traveled through the country, conducting revivals. He is the author of A New System on the Magnetic Constitution of Man.

ZIEGFELD, FLORENCE, musician, composer, was born in Germany. Since 1867 she has been president of the Chicago Musical College. She was chairman of board of judges in the musical exhibit at the World's Columbian Exposition.

ZEIGLER, EDWARD D., congressman. He was elected a member of the fifty-sixth congress from Pennsylvania as a democrat.

ZIMMERMAN, EUGENE, cartoonist, artist, was born May 25, 1862, in Switzerland. In 1882-85 he was connected with Puck; and since 1885 has ben cartoonist on Judge. He has illustrated books and articles by Bill Nye and James Whitcomb Riley; and other works.

ZIWET, ALEXANDER, mathematician, author, was born Feb. 8, 1853, in Germany. He is junior professor of mathematics in University of Michigan. Since 1892 he has been co-editor Bulletin American Mathematical Society. He is the author of An Elementary Treatise on Theoretical Mechanics; Introduction to Dynamics, Statics, and Kineties.

ZOLLINGER, GULIELMA, journalist, author. He is the author of Dan Drummond of the D.; and The Widow O'Callahan's Boys.

BARLOW, COLUMBUS, physician, surgeon, author. In 1877 he graduated from the Cincinnati College of Medicine and Surgery of Cincinnati, Ohio. He has attained success in the practice of his profession in Crawford county at Eaton, Ill., and has filled several positions of trust and honor in the gift of his city, county and state. He is the author of Day Dreams of a Doctor.

ADAMS, JOSIAH H., farmer, journalist, lawyer, historian, was born July 24, 1838, in Grand Isle, Vt. He was educated at the academies of Swanton, South Hero, and the School of Jesuits; and was admitted to the bar in 1867 at St. Albans, Vt. In 1861-71 he was correspondent for the Plattsburgh Republican, N. Y., and for the Sentinel of Burlington, Vt. He then traveled extensively throughout South America and Europe. In 1875-79 and 1881-85 he was State's Attorney of Grand Isle County, Vt.; and has attained prominence as a lawyer of great learning and judicial ability. He is considered a good authority on historical subjects; contributes extensively to current literature, and is the author of a local history.

ADAMS, MORGAN, musician, dentist, physician, was born Nov. 11, 1834, in Fayette, Tenn. He graduated from the Vanderbilt University; from the Missouri Dental College; and has received the degrees of M. D. and D. D. S. He was given a musical education, with a view of teaching. He played first violin in orchestra; and was bandmaster during the civil war in the Confederate service. He has traveled extensively in Europe; and in 1881 attended the International Medical Congress held in London. He has attained success in his profession at Sardis, Miss.; has been president of the board of health of that city; and president of the Mississippi State Dental Association. He is the author of a number of essays; and has contributed extensively to medical and current literature.

ADAMS, WILLIAM ADELBERT, dentist, was born Oct. 15, 1862, in White County, Ind. He received his education in the public schools and private academies of Indiana; and graduated from the American Dental College of Chicago, Ill. He has attained success in his profession at Detroit, Mich.; and is senior proprietor of Adams' Dental Parlors of that city. He is also prominently identified with various institutions.

AGNEW, MRS. LEE, musician, author, was born Oct. 21, 1875, in Washington, D. C. Most of her life has been spent in New York City, where she is known as an eminent musician and author. She is the author of A Marriage Above Zero; The Banker and the Typewriter; The Summer Heart; The Disagreeable Man; and nine other works.

ALLEN, CORNELIUS L., lawyer, jurist, was born July 17, 1800, in Lansingburgh, N. Y. For nine years he was District Attorney of Washington County, N. Y.; became judge of Court of Appeals; and subsequently a justice of the Supreme Court. In 1867 he was a delegate to the constitutional convention of New York; held many local positions; was a thirty-two degree Mason; and for fifty years was a trustee of Washington Academy. His father, David Allen, was a prominent lawyer of Rensselaer County, N. Y.; and was Surrogate, Assemblyman and State Senator for many years.

ALLEN, CORNELIUS L., lawyer, jurist, manufacturer, was born Aug. 6, 1847, in Salem, N. Y. He was educated at Washington Academy, Norwich University of Vermont, Yale College, Albany Law School, and Yale Medical College. He has attained success at the bar of New York at Salem. For twelve years he was special county judge of Washington County, N. Y.; and for twelve years was local judicial magistrate. He is president of Larcells Manufacturing Company, manufacturers of soaps and perfumes. He is a son of Cornelius L. Allen, the noted lawyer and jurist.

ALLEN, WILL PAT, dentist, merchant, stock dealer, was born July 26, 1873, in Rocky Station, Va. He graduated from the Vanderbilt University of Nashville, Tenn.; and graduated in dentistry with first honors and the degree of D. D. S. He has been a successful merchant and traveling salesman; is now a patent promoter; and a successful stock dealer of Walnut Hill, Va. He is a son of Dr. P. H. Allen, who for thirty-eight years practiced medicine in Lee County, Va.

BROWN, ALLEN HENRY, clergyman, evangelist, was born Sept. 23, 1820, in New York city. For over a half a century he has been engaged as a presbyterian minister, principally on the coast of New Jersey. He was ordained as an evangelist in 1848, and has always been engaged in itinerant and missionary work. He is the author of An Autobiography, which is the interesting history of a pioneer of Southern New Jersey and the Presbytery of West Jersey.

BROWN, AMOS PEASLEE, educator, geologist, was born Dec. 3, 1864, in Germantown, Pa. Since 1892 he has been professor of geology and mineralogy in the University of Pennsylvania. He has contributed extensively to scientific literature.

BROWN, J. ELDRED, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 4, 1861, in Newport, R. I. In 1887-96 he was rector Church of Reconciliation of Webster, Mass.; and since 1896 has been rector Trinity Church of Norwich, Conn. He is the author of a historical sermon entitled A Half-Century of Parish Life.

CLARK, ANSEL RUSSELL, soldier, educator, merchant, lawyer, jurist, was born April 10, 1842, in Huntsburg, Ohio. In 1860 he moved to Iowa City; and served throughout the civil war in the second Iowa cavalry. He then for six years was engaged as a school teacher, merchant and farmer at Mattoon, Ill. Since 1873 he has practiced law in Sterling, Kan., excepting for the thirteen years that he has now been judge of the twentieth judicial district.

CLARK, J. N., educator, college president. He is a noted educator of Kansas; and is president of Central Normal College of Great Bend, Kan.

CLARK, RUFUS, J., educator, college president, inventor. He is a prominent educator of Kingston Springs, Tenn.; and is president of Vanderbilt Preparatory Academy. He invented the viola-piano, and is now engaged perfecting the Singing Piano.

CLARK, SIMEON CARNES, educator, surveyor, jurist, was born Oct. 29, 1868, in San Jacinto county, Texas. For three years he was county surveyor of San Jacinto county; for one year was county superintendent of public schools; and for the past eight years has been county judge. He has always taken an active part in the business and public affairs of his city, county and state.

CLARKE, GEORGE, educator, college president, was born Dec. 23, 1862, in Greenup county, Ky. Since 1887 he has been principal of the Hindman School, Ky.; has been county examiner; and in 1896 became a member of the state board of examiners of Kentucky.

DAVIS, CHARLES HOWARD, artist, was born Feb. 2, 1857, in East Cambridge, Mass. He acquired a knowledge of painting; and since 1879 has been a professional artist. He is now connected with the Howard Anthenaeum of Boston, Mass.

EARLING, ALBERT J., railroad president, was born Jan. 19, 1849, in Richfield, Wis. In 1866 he entered the employ of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway; and in 1899 became its president.

HALL, JAMES HUGH BLAIR, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 22, 1855, in Monroe county, Tenn. In 1878 he began teaching in Alabama; and is a clergyman in the Cumberland Presbyterian Church. He is the founder and president of the Zelosophian Academy of Birmingham, Ala.

HALL, NORMAN GORDON, inventor, was born Sept. 22, 1867, in Canada. His grantfather, David Hall, was born in the state of New York. He is now engaged in drilling artesian and tubular wells in South Dakota. He is the inventor of a drill turner; and also other mechanical devices.

HALL, THOMAS F., railroad contractor, lumber and grain merchant, legislator, inventor, was born June 23, 1841, in East Dennis, Mass. He has been a ship captain; and for many years was a railroad tie contractor and operated sawmills. He is now engaged in the lumber and grain business in Omaha, Neb. He has been postmaster of Omaha; and a member of the Nebraska state legislature. He is the inventor of the Hall Grain Distributer and Overflow Signal, which is now in extensive use.

HOLDEN, ALBERT J., musician, composer, was born in 1841, in Boston, Mass. For thirty-five years he has been organist at Church of the Divine Paternity and the Church of the Puritans of New York city. He has composed three hundred anthems, hymns and other church music.

JOHNSON, ALBINUS ALONZO, clergyman, college president, founder, author, was born Feb. 8, 1852, in Lexington, Ind. He has been pastor and presiding president and founder of Fort Worth University, Texas; and has been president of the state University of Wyoming. He is now pastor of St. James Methodist Episcopal Church of Denver, Colo. He is the author of Steps to Salvation, a Compendium of Essential Doctrines.

JOHNSON, BENJAMIN, legislator, bishop, was born July 28, 1818, in Fredonia, N. Y. In 1831 he became acquainted with the Prophet Joseph Smith, was closely associated with him, and through the last years of his life was his business partner, his legal agent, and his companion. In 1846 he was driven from Nauvoo, and moved to Utah with the Mormon pioneers; served fourteen terms in the Utah legislative assembly; served the people as bishop and other public callings; and now serves as patriarch in the Church of Latterday Saints.

JONES, JOHN LLOYD, clergyman, missionary, author, was born Dec. 11, 1840, in Wales. Since 1872 he has filled several pastorates in the United States; and in 1883 was missionary to Nevada. In 1896 he was secretary of the National Reform Association at Philadelphia, Pa.; and in 1898 was general secretary of the American Citizenship Alliance. He now fills a pastorate in the Methodist Episcopal Church of Potter, N. Y. He is the author of Patriotic Melodies.

JONES, MINOR S., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1850. In 1878 he was admitted to the bar and has since attained prominence in his profession at Titusville, Fla. He fills the position of circuit judge of the seventh judicial circuit of Florida; and has held other offices of honor in his city, county and state.

LAFFAN, WILLIAM N., journalist, publisher, author, was born Jan. 22, 1848, in Ireland. He is the publisher and part proprietor of the New York Sun. He is the author of American Wood Engraving.

McKNIGHT, HIRAM PECK, lawyer, state senator, author, was born April 3, 1859, in Waddington, N. Y. He graduated from the University of Michigan and in law from the Albany Law School. For two terms from 1883 he represented his senatorial district in the Michigan state legislature. He is well-known in Ohio and the central states as one of the best criminal lawyers. He is the author of several works, and a noted contributor to law literature.

MILLER, ELIJAH, educator, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 16, 1842, in Springville, Ill. In 1884 he founded Sedgewickville Academy of Sedgewickvile, Mo., which he conducted for five years. He has been president and secretary of the synod of Southern Illinois; and compiled A History of the Synod.

MILLER, OHIO L., educator, lawyer, college president, was born in 1859. In Sigourney, Iowa. In 1885 he became a teacher; and for several years was a college president. He was admitted to the practice of law by the supreme court of Washington; and for several years has been engaged in the practice of law at Baker City, Oregon, where he is also secretary of the chamber of commerce.

MOORE, JAMES Z., lawyer, jurist, was born in Owensboro, Ky. He is a prominent lawyer and counselor of Washington at Spokane. He was a member of the constitutional convention which framed the Constitution under which Washington was admitted into the union. He has served with distinction as judge of the superior court; has been prosecuting attorney; and is now a member of the Board of Regents of the University of Washington.

MERCIER, ALFRED, physician, author, poet, was born June 3, 1816, in McDonogh, La. He practiced medicine for a while in New Orleans, La. He is the author of several works of fiction in French; and a volume of poems.

MILLER, ARTHUR SCOTT, soldier, lawyer, builder, was born Nov. 13, 1848, in Alto, Mich. In 1864 he enlisted in the United States navy, and served to the end of the civil war. For a number of years he was court stenographer; then practiced law; and subsequently became an extensive builder of houses and blocks in Denver, Colo., where he now resides.

MOORE, MILES C., banker, governor, was born April 17, 1845, in Rix Mills, Ohio. Since 1863 he has resided in the state of Washington; and is now president of the Baker-Boyer National Bank of Walla Walla. He was the last territorial governor of Washington.

MOORE, R. L., educator, college president, was born in Globe, N. C. He is a prominent educator of North Carolina; and is president Mars Hill College of Mars Hill, N. C.

MOORE, RICHARD FRANCIS, clergyman, founder, was born July 26, 1858, in Hartford, Conn. As a church builder and organizer he is well known in New England; and in his diocese he has organized three parishes and equipped them with costly edifices. He is rector of St. Joseph's Church of New Britain, Conn.; and contributes extensively to religious literature.

MUNN, HIRAM H., lawyer, author, was born Sept. 25, 1838, in Cleveland, Ohio. He is the author of History of the Declination of the Great Republic.

PARKER, HERSCHEL CLIFFORD, electrical engineer, author, was born July 9, 1867, in Brooklyn, N. Y. For many years he was actively engaged in mountain climbing; ascended Mount Blanc in 1891; Matterhorn in 1895; and made the first ascent of Mount Dawson in 1899. He is president of the Vedanta Society of New York City. Since 1890 he has been instructor of physics in Columbia University of New York City. He is the author of A Systematic Treatise on Electrical Measurements; and a number of Monographs.

ROCHE, ROBERT TIMPANY, missionary, clergyman, was born Feb. 25, 1823, in Nova Scotia. He has been a successful clergyman of the episcopal church for half a century. He has been a missionary in British America, and rector of Georgetown, Prince Edward Island. He has filled pastorates in Riverton, N. J., St. Paul's church of Philadelphia, Christ church of Muscatine, Iowa; pastorates in Palatka and Monticello, Fla., and now fills a pastorate in St. James' church of Eatontown, N. J.

SMITH, ELLISON G., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 5, 1849, in Ohio. He has been United States district attorney; and is noted as an eminent jurist of South Dakota, at Yankton. For twelve years he has served his state as circuit judge.

SMITH, FRANCIS MARION, capitalist, was born Feb. 2, 1846, in Richmond, Wis. In 1872 he discovered Teels Marsh Borax Mines. He is president of the Pacific Coast Borax Company; and also president of the Realty Syndicate, Oakland, Cal.

SMITH, GEORGE P., agriculturist, author, was born Nov. 25, 1858, and is a son of Rufus Smith. He is a prominent citizen of Sunderland, Mass.; and in 1900 was a delegate to the Farmer's National Congress. In 1898-1901 he was a member of the Massachusetts state board of agriculture. He is the author of An Essay on The Revolutions of Farm Machines in Massachusetts Agriculture.

SMITH, JOHN B., clergyman, educator, college president, was born Aug. 29, 1836, in Union county, Ind. He is an eminent divine of Crockett, Texas; and vice-president of the First National Bank of that city. He was chaplain of the nineteenth regiment Ohio volunteers infantry during the civil war. He has been president of the Farmers' College; president of the Mary Allen Seminary.

SMITH, VERNON H., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1838 in Norfolk county, Canada. He has attained prominence as a successful lawyer of Michigan. For twelve years he was circuit judge of the eighth judicial circuit. He still practices law in Ionia, Mich.

THOMPSON, ALTON HOWARD, dentist, author, was born April 8, 1849, in Logansport, Ind. He is a successful dentist of Topeka, Kan. He contributes extensively to dental mazagines and books; and stands high in his profession.

THOMPSON, GEORGE KRAMER, architect, was born in Dubuque, Iowa. He is one of the most prominent architects in the United States; and has erected some of its finest buildings. He was architect of the Manhattan Life building, Standard Oil building, Empire building and other noted buildings and blocks of New York.

THOMPSON, GILBERT, topographer, was born March 21, 1839, in North Blackstone, Mass. During the civil war he served as a soldier and assistant engineer. Since 1866 he has been engaged on Western explorations and surveys.

TOWER, GEORGE WARREN, geologist, was born Oct. 27, 1871, in Cambridge, Mass. In 1894 he graduated from Harvard University; and since then has been in the United States service. He has written many reports on mining.

WHITE, HENRY W., He is vice-president of Savings Institution City of Williamsport, Pa.; and president of Williamsport Passenger Railway. He has filled numerous positions of trust and honor.

WILCOX, MILTON CHARLES, clergyman, journalist, author, was born April 9, 1853, in Theresa, N. Y. For a while he was a school teacher; and later a clergyman in the Seventh Day Adventists. In 1884 he started The Present Truth in London, England, now having a large circulation. During 1887-99 he was associate editor of Signs of the Times, of Oakland, Cal., of which publication he is now editor-in-chief. He has been president International Sabbath School association. He is the author of The Lord's Day; and other works.

WILLIAMS, L. C., educator, college president. He is a well known educator of Maine; and is president of Somerset Academy of Athens, Maine.

WILIAMS, WILLIAM BENJAMIN, clergyman, author, was born May 28, 1841, in Wales. He has been a pastor of churches both in the Congregation and Presbyterian denominations; and is now a Presbyterian sabbath school missionary in Tacoma, Wash. He is the author of a number of well-known hymns, which have been published in Sacred Songs, Uplifted Voices, and various other standard works.

WILLIAMS, SHERMAN, educator, author, was born in Cooperstown, N. Y. He is a noted state institute conductor; and now superintendent of schools at Glens Falls, N. Y. He is the author of a series of supplementary readers known as Choice Literature.

WILSON, CALVIN DILL, clergyman, author, was born July 12, 1857, in Baltimore, Md. He is pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Franklin, Ohio. He is the author of Bible Girls and Boys; Child's Don Quixote; and the Story of the Cid.

WILSON, CHARLES A., physician, surgeon, founder, was born in 1856, in Harrisonville, Ohio. In 1879 he graduated from the Medical College of Ohio, and received the faculty prize of a gold medal for excellence in al departments. He is now a prominent orthopedic surgeon of Indianapolis, Ind.; and proprietor of the National Surgical Institute of that city.

WILSON, JOHN, banker, philanthropist, was born in Sweden. He was president of the Farmers' and Merchants' Bank of Stromsburg, Neb.; and was prominent in the financial and public affairs of his city, county and state. He was an elder in the Free Methodist Church; and actively engaged in its foreign mission work, to which he donated large sums of money for its maintenance. He died in 1901, in Stromsburg, Neb. His son, Nathan Wilson, is cashier of the Farmers' and Merchants' bank of Stromsburg, Neb.

HERRINGSHAW'S ENCYCLOPEDIA

OF AMERICAN BIOGRAPHY.

AARON, SAMUEL, clergyman, educator, author, was born in 1800 in New Britain, Pa. He was a baptist clergyman and educator of Mount Holly, N. J., and prominent as an anti-slavery advocate. He published a number of popular text-books, and was the author of Faithful Translation. He died April 11, 1865, in Mount Holly, N. J.

ABADIE, EUGENE H., surgeon, was born about 1814 in France. In 1836 he entered the medical corps of the United States army, and in 1853 was promoted surgeon. In 1865 he became chief medical officer of the military division of west Mississippi; in 1866 medical director of the department of Missouri; and lastly acting assistant medical purveyor at St. Louis. At the time of his death he had seen more years of actual service than any, save two, of the army surgeons. He died Dec. 12, 1874, in St. Louis, Mo.

ABBADIE, D', governor of Louisiana, was born about 1710. He was sent to America by Louis XV of France, to take charge of certain royal business interests in New Orleans, and was granted military authority over the affairs of the province. He died Feb. 4, 1765, in New Orleans, La.

ABBATT, AGNES DEAN, artist, was born June 23, 1847, in New York city. She has given special attention to the painting of chrysanthemums, and her most noteworthy pictures are: When Autumn Turns the Leaves; and The Last of the Flowers. In the landscape field she has confined her work mostly to rural scenes in Westchester County, N. Y.

ABBE, CLEVELAND, astronomer, meteorologist, author, was born Dec. 3, 1838, in New York city. He was director of the Cincinnati observatory; and in 1871 became professor of meteorology in the national weather bureau and has since continued in that position. The more important of his many publications include Solar Spots and Terrestrial Temperature; A Plea for Terrestrial Physics; Atmospheric Radiation; Treatise on Meteorological Apparatus; and Preparatory Studies for Deductive Methods in Meteorology.

ABBE, FREDERICK RANDOLPH, clergyman, poet, was born in 1827 in Connecticut. He was a congregational clergyman in Massachusetts; and the author of The Temple Rebuilt, a poem of christian faith. He died in 1889.

ABBETT, LEON, lawyer, legislator, jurist, governor, was born Oct. 8, 1826, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1862 he settled in Hoboken, N. J., in the practice of law; and in 1863 was appointed corporation attorney. In 1864 he was elected a representative in the New Jersey legislature; was re-elected in 1865; was again elected to the same position in 1868, and was chosen speaker of the house. He was re-elected to both positions in 1869; was corporation counsel for Bayonne City and the town of Union; and in 1872 was a delegate to the democratic national convention. In 1874 he was elected a state senator; and in 1876 became corporation counsel of Jersey City, to which place he had removed in 1866. In 1883 he was elected governor of New Jersey for the term of three years; and in 1893 he was appointed a justice of the supreme court.

ABBEY, EDWIN AUSTIN, artist, was born in 1852 in Philadelphia, Pa. He entered the employ of Harper and Brothers of New York city as an illustrator to Harpers' Magazine. He has attracted considerable attention as a water-colorist by such pictures as The Widow; and Reading the Bible.

ABBEY, EVERETT L., educator, author, was born Oct. 10, 1855, in Mayfield, Ohio. He graduated from Wooster University in 1880, and in 1890 traveled in Europe. He is a successful educator of Cambridge, Ohio; and the author of The Passion Play.

ABBEY, HENRY, journalist, poet, was born July 11, 1842, in Rondout, N. Y. He studied at Kingston Academy and at the Hudson River Institute in Columbia county. His first collection of poems, entitled May Dreams, was published in 1862. For many years he was engaged in journalism in New York city, where he is also connected with several financial institutions. He is the author of Ballads of Good Deeds; The City of Success; May Dreams; Ralph and Other Poems; Stories in Verse; and The Poems of Henry Abbey. The poem Ralph is considered one of his best.

ABBEY, HENRY EUGENE, dramatic manager, was born June 27, 1846, in Akron, Ohio. He began life as clerk in his father's jewelry store; rose to partnership; and in 1873 succeeded to the business. In 1869 he leased the Akron theater, which he managed with so much success that in 1876 he also leased the Park theater of New York city, and from that time forward devoted his energies entirely to dramatic affairs. He is now the manager of Abbey's theater and the Metropolitan opera house of New York city; and of the Tremont theater of Boston, Mass.

ABBEY, RICHARD, clergyman, theologian, author, was born Nov. 16, 1805, in Genesee county, N. Y. He was a prominent clergyman of the southern methodist church, among whose many theological and controversial writings are: End of the Apostolical Succession; Creed of All Men; Diuturnity; Ecce Ecclesia, a Reply to Ecce Homo; and The City of God and the Church Makers.

ABBOT, ABIEL, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 14, 1765, in Wilton, N. H. He was a congregational clergyman of Connecticut and Massachusetts; and the author of a History of Andover; and a Genealogy of the Abbot Family. He died Jan. 31, 1859, in West Cambridge, Mass.

ABBOT, ABIEL, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 17, 1770, in Andover, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of Beverly, Mass.; and the author of Letters From Cuba. He died June 7, 1828, on Staten Island, N. Y.

ABBOT, EZRA, theologian, author, was born April 28, 1819, in Jackson, Maine. He was a unitarian biblical scholar of much prominence, who was for many years a professor in the Divinity school of Harvard university, and widely known for the extent of his bibliographical acquirements. He was the author of Literature of the Doctrine of a Future Life; Authenticity of the Fourth Gospel; and The Fourth Gospel and Other Critical Essays. He died March 21, 1884, in Cambridge, Mass.

ABBOT, FRANCIS ELLINGWOOD, author, was born Nov. 6, 1836, in Boston, Mass. He is a religious and philosophical thinker of advanced views; for some years editor of The Index, of Cambridge; and the author of Scientific Theism; and The Way Out of Agnosticism.

ABBOT, GORHAM DUMMER, educator, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 3, 1807, in Hallowell, Maine. He was a congregational clergyman, long an educator of New York city, and a brother of Jacob Abbott, but returned to an older spelling of his surname. He was the author of Prayer-Book for the Young; Pleasure and Profit; and The Family at Home. He died July 31, 1874, in South Natick, Mass.

ABBOT, HENRY LARCOM, soldier, civil engineer, author, was born Aug. 13, 1831, in Beverly, Mass. He is a general in the United States army, and of prominence as an engineer. Besides several series of Professional Papers, his writings include Lectures on the Defence of the Sea Coast of the United States; and Physics and Hydraulics of the Mississippi River.

ABBOT, JOEL, congressman, was born March 17, 1766, in Fairfield, Conn., and emigrated to Georgia. He was elected a representative in congress from Wilkes county from 1817 to 1825. He died Nov. 19, 1826, in Washington, Ga.

ABBOT, JOEL, naval officer, was born Jan. 18, 1793, in Westford, Mass. Congress voted him a handsome sword for gallantry in action off Cumberland Head on Sept. 11, 1814, and he was also promoted lieutenant. In 1852 he commanded the Macedonian in the Japan expedition, and succeeded Commodore Perry as flag-officer of the squadron. He died Dec. 1, 1855, in Hong Kong, China.

ABBOT, JOHN, educator, librarian, financier. In 1784 he graduated from Bowdoin college, and during 1787-92 was a tutor in Harvard college. For fourteen years he filled a professorship in Bowdoin college, and subsequently became a trustee and the college treasurer. For more than a quarter of a century he was an officer of Bowdoin college, as professor, librarian, and treasurer. For over half a century he was actively identified with the progressive welfare of his alma mater, and attained a national reputation in the educational world. He died in 1843 in Andover, Mass.

ABBOT, JOSEPH HALE, educator, was born Sept. 26, 1802, in Wilton, N. H. He graduated from Bowdoin college in 1822; was tutor there in 1825-27; and from 1827 to 1833 professor of mathematics and teacher of modern languages in Phillips Exeter academy. He then taught a school for young ladies in Boston, and subsequently became principal of the high school of Beverly, Mass. He paid much attention to the solving of pneumatic and hydraulic problems, and published ingenious and original speculations on these subjects. He died April 7, 1873, in Cambridge, Mass.

ABBOT, WILLIS JOHN, journalist, author, was born in 1863 in Connecticut. He is a journalist of New York city; and the author of Blue Jackets of 1776; Blue Jackets of 1812; Blue Jackets of 1861, three volumes of history for young people; Battle Fields of 1861; Battle Fields and Camp Fires; Battle Fields and Victory; and Life of Carter Harrison.

ABBOTT, ALEXANDER C., physician, educator, was born Feb. 26, 1860, in Baltimore, Md. He is the chief of division of bacteriology, pathology, and disinfection of the bureau of health of Philadelphia, Pa.; and fills the chair of hygiene in the Pennsylvania university.

ABBOTT, AMOS, merchant, congressman, was born Sept. 10, 1786, in Andover, Mass. He was educated at a district school, but spent the most of his life as a trader and merchant. During the years 1835, 1836, and 1842, he was a representative in the Massachusetts legislature; from 1840 to 1842 was a member of the state senate; and represented his native state in congress from 1843 to 1849. He died Nov. 2, 1868, in Andover, Mass.

ABBOTT, ARTHUR VAUGHAN, electrician, author, was born in 1854 in New York. He is a civil, electrical, and mechanical engineer of Chicago; and the author of Electrical Transmission of Energy; The Evolution of a Switchboard; History and Use of Testing Machines; and Treatise on Fuel.

ABBOTT, ASA T., soldier, educator, was born in Sidney, Maine. He served as a union soldier in the civil war in the first regiment Minnesota volunteer infantry. In 1867 he was appointed military commandant of Shattuck Military school by the secretary of war; and under his command it has been placed at the very head of the military schools in the United States.

ABBOTT, AUSTIN, lawyer, author, was born Dec. 18, 1831, in Boston, Mass. He was a lawyer of New York city; and was dean of the Law school of New York university at the time of his death. Besides preparing several works with his brother Benjamin, he published Legal Remembrancer, Principles and Forms of Practice in Civil Actions in Courts of Record; The Law of Evidence; Select Cases on Code Pleading; and a Digest of New York Statutes. These legal compilations are of great value to the profession. He died in 1896.

ABBOTT, BENJAMIN, clergyman, was born in 1732 on Long Island, N. Y. The story of his life has for a century been a typical one for the methodists, of which denomination he was an early apostle. He died Aug. 14, 1796, in Salem, N. J.

ABBOTT, BENJAMIN VAUGHAN, lawyer, author, was born June 4, 1830, in Boston, Mass. He was a lawyer of New York city; and the author of Law Dictionary; Traveling Law School and Famous Trials; First Lessons in Government and Law; Patent Laws of All Nations; Year-Book of Jurisprudence for 1880; and Judge and Jury. He died Feb. 17, 1890, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ABBOTT, CHARLES CONRAD, physician, naturalist, author, was born June 4, 1843, in Trenton, N. J. He is a naturalist and physician of Trenton, whose writings show a very close and sympathetic observation of nature. He is the author of The Stone Age in New Jersey; Primitive Industry; A Naturalist's Rambles about Home; Cyclopædia of Natural History; Upland and Meadow; Wasteland Wanderings; The Birds About Us; Days Out of Doors; Outings at Odd Times; Recent Rambles; Travels in a Treetop; Notes of the Night; A Colonial Wooing, a novel; and Bird-Land Echoes.

ABBOTT, CHARLES EDWARD, educator, author, was born in 1811 in Maine. He was an educator in Connecticut; and the author of Down the Hill; and Village Boys. He died in 1880.

ABBOTT, DAVID, pioneer, was born Dec. 5, 1765, in Brookfield, Mass. In 1808 he became the first land-owner in what is now Erie county. He died in 1822.

ABBOTT, EDWARD, clergyman, author, was born July 15, 1841, in Farmington, Maine. He is an episcopal clergyman of St. James episcopal church of Cambridge, but prior to 1878 a congregational minister and editor of The Congregationalist. He is the editor of The Literary World; and the author of Dialogues of Christ; The Long Look series of juvenile tales; A Trip Eastward; Revolutionary Times; Paragraph History of the United States; and Paragraph History of the American Revolution.

ABBOTT, ELIZABETH ROBINSON, educator, was born Sept. 11, 1852. She has been eminently successful in kindergarten work; and is secretary of the Connecticut Valley Kindergarten association. She is well known as a writer and speaker, and was the chief founder of the Woman's club of Waterbury, Conn.

ABBOTT, EMMA A., vocalist, was born Dec. 9, 1849, in Chicago, Ill. She was the daughter of a music teacher, and was educated in part by the aid of Clara Louise Kellogg. She sang throughout the United States, and in an incredibly short time amassed a fortune. Although married to Mr. E. J. Wetherill, she always retained her maiden name. She died Jan. 4, 1891, in Ogden, Utah; and was buried in Gloucester, Mass.

ABBOTT, FRANK, physician, author, was born Sept. 5, 1836, in Shapleigh, Maine. He received his education in the district and high schools of his native town, and at the university of the City of New York. He has attained eminence as a great physician, and for more than a quarter of a century has been professor and dean of faculty of the New York College of Dentistry. He is the author of several well-known works.

ABBOTT, JACOB, educator, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 14, 1803, in Hallowell, Maine. He was an educator of New England, who was a voluminous and popular writer for young people. Among his numerous writings the best known are The Franconia Stories; Marco Paul's Adventures; The Rollo Books; Histories of Celebrated Sovereigns; and Harper's Story Books. Few writers have given to the public a greater number of volumes. He has addressed himself principally to the young, with whom his works have been exceedingly popular. Nearly all of his books have been republished in England, and many have been translated into the various European and Asiatic languages. The twenty-eight volumes of Rollo Books are perhaps his best known. He died Oct. 31, 1879, in Farmington, Maine.

ABBOTT, JO, soldier, lawyer, jurist, congressman, Hillsboro, Texas, was born Jan. 15, 1840, near Decatur, Ala. He served in the Twelfth Texas cavalry, confederate army, as first lieutenant. He was elected to the state legislature in 1869 and served one term. He was appointed by Governor Roberts judge of the twenty-eighth judicial district in 1879; was elected to the same position in 1880, and served four years. He was elected to the Fiftieth, Fifty-first, Fifty-second, and Fifty-third congresses, and re-elected to the Fifty-fourth congress as a democrat.

ABBOTT, JOHN STEVENS CABOT, educator, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 18, 1805, in Brunswick, Maine. He was for some years a congregational minister, but after 1844 devoted himself to literature and educational work. Among his works are comprised The Mother at Home; Practical Christianity; Romance of Spanish History; American Pioneers and Patriots; History of Napoleon; Napoleon at St. Helena; History of the French Revolution; History of the Civil War in America; Lives of the Presidents; History of Maine from Its Discovery by Northmen; Christopher Carson; History of Napoleon III; History of Frederick the Great; and History of Christianity. He died June 17, 1877, in Fair Haven, Conn.

ABBOTT, JOSEPH C., soldier, lawyer, journalist, United States senator, was born July 15, 1825, in Concord, N. H. He received an academic education; read law, and was admitted to the bar in 1852. He was editor and proprietor of the Manchester American for five years, and subsequently editor of the Boston Atlas. He was appointed adjutant general of the state of New Hampshire in 1855, and held the office until 1861, when he resigned. He raised a regiment of infantry in 1861; and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier general for gallant services in the capture of Fort Fisher. After leaving the service he removed to North Carolina and entered into business; in 1867 was elected to the state constitutional convention; in 1868 was elected to the state legislature, and in 1868 was elected to the United States senate as a republican. He died Oct. 8, 1882, in Wilmington, N. C.

ABBOTT, JOSIAH GARDNER, lawyer, jurist, state senator, congressman, was born Nov. 1, 1815, in Chelmsford, Mass. He received a classical education, graduating from Harvard university in 1832. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1836; a state senator in 1841-42; was judge of the superior court in 1855; and successfully contested the seat of Rufus S. Frost as a representative from Massachusetts to the Forty-fourth congress. He declined the renomination, and was subsequently a candidate for the United States senate, and for the governorship of Massachusetts. He died June 2, 1891, in Wellesley Hills, Mass.

ABBOTT, LYMAN, lawyer, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Dec. 18, 1835, in Roxbury, Mass. He is a congregational minister of broad views, who as editor of The Illustrated Christian Weekly and successor to Henry Ward Beecher as pastor of Plymouth church of Brooklyn, has exercised a wide influence. He is the author of Christianity and Social Problems; Jesus of Nazareth; Old Testament Shadows of New Testament Truths; Illustrated Commentary on the New Testament; A Layman's Story; How to Study the Bible; Life of Christ; In Aid of Faith; The Evolution of Christianity; A Study in Human Nature; and Dictionary of Religious Knowledge.

ABBOTT, NEHEMIAH, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born March 29, 1806, in Sidney, Maine. He was a member of the house of representatives in the Maine legislature in 1842-43; and was elected a representative from Maine to the Thirty-fifth congress.

ABBOTT, RUSSELL BIGELOW, clergyman, educator, college president, author, was born Aug. 8, 1823, in Brookville, Ind.

He received his education at the Indiana university, and during 1850-55 was principal of Newcastle seminary, and of the presbyterian for the two succeeding years. In 1857 he was ordained a clergyman in the presbyterian church, and filled pastorates in Brookville in 1857-64; and Knightstown in 1864-66; when he moved to Minnesota. In 1869 he was appointed principal of the St. Paul seminary, when he received a call as pastor of the presbyterian church of Albert Lea, which position he filled till 1884. Since 1884 he has been president of the Albert Lea college, and pastor of the presbyterian church. He is the author of History and Analysis of the Books of the Bible; Biblical History; and other works.

ABEEL, DAVID, missionary, author, was born June 12, 1804, in New Brunswick, N. J. He was a reformed Dutch missionary in China; and the author of Journal of a Residence in China; A Missionary Convention at Jerusalem; and The Claims of the World to the Gospel. He died Sept. 4, 1846, in Albany, N. Y.

ABELL, ARUNAH S., founder of the Baltimore Sun, was born Aug. 8, 1806, in Providence, R. I. The Baltimore Sun was established as a penny paper in 1837 and placed under the special management of Mr. Abell. Upon this journal he won distinguished success. In 1868 he bought the interests of his associates in The Baltimore Sun, and thenceforward was sole owner of a property which made the fortunes of his family. The Baltimore Sun is now owned by the corporation of The A. S. Abell Co. He died April 19, 1888, in Baltimore, Md.

ABERCROMBIE, JAMES, congressman, was born in Georgia. Moving to Alabama, he was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1855.

ABERCROMBIE, JAMES, clergyman, was born in 1758 in Philadelphia, Pa. He was principal of the Philadelphia academy from 1810 to 1819, and retired from the ministry in 1833. He published Lectures on the Catechism; and several sermons. He died June 26, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ABERCROMBIE, JOHN JOSEPH, soldier, was born 1802, in Tennessee. In 1822 he graduated from West Point; served in the Florida, Mexican and civil wars; and was brevetted brigadier-general. He retired in 1865; and died Jan. 3, 1877, in Roslyn, N. Y.

ABERNETHY, ALONZO, soldier, educator, college president, was born April 14, 1836, in Sandusky county, Ohio. He received his early education in the public schools of Bellevue, Ohio. In 1854 he moved with his parents to Illyria, Iowa, in which state he attended the Burlington academy; and subsequently entered the university of Chicago, from which he graduated in 1866. He served as a union soldier during the civil war, enlisting in company F, Ninth Iowa volunteer infantry, serving four years, going out as a private and returning as lieutenant-colonel in command; and was twice wounded. He was in forty battles, including Pea Ridge, Vicksburg, Brandon, and Atlanta. In 1866 he represented his county in the lower house of the Eleventh general assembly. In 1870 he was elected principal of the Des Moines Baptist college, served one year, and has been a member of its board of trustees continuously since. In 1871 he was elected superintendent of public instruction of Iowa; was re-elected in 1873, and again in 1875. In 1876 he served as president of the university of Chicago; and since 1881 he has been connected with the Cedar Valley seminary of Osage, Iowa.

ABERNETHY, GEORGE, governor of Oregon, was born in 1807 in Scotland. He came to the United States with his parents in 1809, and settled in New York state. In 1840 he moved to Oregon, and was governor of Oregon during 1845-49, before the creation of Oregon as a territory. He died in 1877 in Portland, Ore.

ABERT, BYRON D. L., soldier, business man, was born Dec. 2, 1841, in Milwaukee, Wis. He enlisted in the Twenty-fourth Wisconsin infantry regiment of volunteers, in which he became corporal of company E. In 1864 he was promoted to first lieutenant; and in 1865 was elected superintendent of the county poor.

ABERT, GEORGE, pioneer, state legislator, was born May 10, 1817, in France. He helped to build up Milwaukee; and in 1839 erected the first bakery on the west side of the present city of Milwaukee. In 1846 he was chosen alderman; and for six terms during 1861-72 he was a member of the state legislature. In 1865 he established the first iron foundry. He died Oct. 14, 1890, in Milwaukee, Wis.

ABERT, GEORGE A., business man, state senator, was born Oct. 22, 1840, in Milwaukee, Wis. In 1877-78 he was state senator from the seventh Wisconsin district; and in 1879 he served as a city commissioner of public works of Milwaukee, Wis.

ABERT, JAMES WILLIAM, soldier, was born Nov. 18, 1820, in Mount Holly, N. J. He served through the civil war; attained the rank of major of the United States engineers, and resigned from the army in 1864. He was examiner of patents in Washington; and later professor of mathematics and drawing in the university of Missouri at Rolla.

ABERT, JOHN B., soldier, mechanic, was born May 16, 1848, in Milwaukee, Wis. He was noted as an expert mechanic. In 1864 he enlisted in the Forty-fifth Wisconsin regiment of volunteers and served until the close of the war.

ABERT, JOHN JAMES, soldier, was born Sept. 17, 1788, in Shepherdtown, Va. In 1829 he succeeded to the charge of the topographical bureau at Washington, and in 1838 became colonel in command of that branch of the engineers. He was retired in 1861 after long and faithful service. Colonel Abert was associated in the supervision of many of the earlier national works of engineering, and his reports prepared for the government are standards of authority. He was a member of several scientific societies, and was one of the organizers of the national institute of science, which was subsequently merged into the Smithsonian institute. He died Sept. 27, 1863, in Washington, D. C.

ABERT, SILVANUS THAYER, civil engineer, author, was born July 22, 1828, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a civil engineer in the United States service; and the author of Notes Historical and Statistical upon the Projected Route for an Interoceanic Canal between the Atlantic and Pacific.

ABERT, WILLIAM, soldier, was born Nov. 18, 1820, in Mount Holly, N. J. He graduated from West Point in 1842. After service in the infantry he was transferred to the topographical engineers, and was engaged on the survey of the northern lakes in 1843-44. He then served on the expedition to New Mexico, and published a report. From 1848 to 1850 he was assistant in drawing at West Point, and from 1851 to 1860 he was engaged in the improvement of western rivers. During the civil war he served with distinction.

ABERT, WILLIAM STONE, lawyer, was born July 27, 1845, in Washington, D. C. He is a prominent lawyer of Washington; and among the notable cases in which he has figured may be mentioned The Washington city postoffice case and the Powell will case.

ABERT, WILLIAM STRETCH, soldier, was born Feb. 1, 1836, in Washington, D. C. He served in the civil war; was brevetted major in 1862; and brigadier-general in 1865. He died Aug. 25, 1867, in Galveston, Texas.

ABRAHAM, ABRAHAM, merchant, was born March 9, 1843, in New York city. He became senior partner of the present firm of Abraham and Straus, dry goods merchants. He is an excellent merchant, and his store is now the leading bazaar of Brooklyn, N. Y., employing more than two thousand persons, and covering about thirty city lots.

ABRAHAM, WOODWARD, journalist, business man, was born Oct. 2, 1814, in Maryland. He was for a time one of the publishers of two Baltimore journals, The Eastern Express and The Kaleidoscope; but of later years he has devoted himself to the management of an extensive ice business.

ACHESON, ERNEST F., journalist, congressman, was born Sept. 19, 1855, in Washington, Pa. He was educated at Washington and Jefferson college; read law and was admitted to the bar in 1877; and in 1879 purchased The Washington Observer, of which he has since been editor. He was elected president of the Pennsylvania Editorial association in January, 1893, and in June of the same year was chosen as recording secretary of the National Editorial association. For ten years he was a member of the republican state committee; was a delegate to the republican national conventions at Chicago in 1884 and at St. Louis in 1896; was elected to the Fifty-fourth; and re-elected to the Fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

ACHESON, MARCUS W., lawyer, jurist, was born in Pennsylvania. He settled at Pittsburg, in the practice of his profession. In 1880 he was appointed United States district judge for the western district of Pennsylvania, residing in Washington, Pa.

ACHESON, SARAH C., temperance worker, was born Feb. 20, 1844, in Washington, Pa. She has been a power in temperance work in the state of Texas, and has been state president of the Woman's Christian Temperance union. She resides with her husband, Dr. Acheson, in Denison, Texas.

ACHESON, THOMAS DAVIS, clergyman, missionary, was born Dec. 8, 1858, in Canada. For eight years he was a missionary, until he accepted the pastorate of the presbyterian church of East Grand Forks, Minn., where his eloquence has made him popular throughout the state.

ACKEN, WILLIAM HENRY, business man, was born Jan. 11, 1833, in New Brunswick, N. J. He was elected treasurer of the New York rubber company, and so remained until 1883, when he was elected president of the company.

ACKER, DAVID D., merchant, was born June 13, 1822, in Bergen county, N. J. In 1868 he entered the mercantile business; was vice-president of the New York National Exchange bank; and an active and influential member of the Produce and Mercantile Exchanges and Chamber of Commerce. He died March 23, 1888, in New York city.

ACKER, EPHRAIM L., educator, journalist, congressman, was born Jan. 11, 1827, in Marlborough township, Pa. He was editor and publisher of The Norristown Register. He was superintendent of common schools for Montgomery county from 1854 to 1860; and was appointed postmaster at Norristown in 1860. He was inspector of Montgomery county prison three years; and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the Forty-second congress.

ACKERMAN, AMOS T., lawyer, was born in 1819, in New Hampshire. He received a good education; studied law, and came to the bar in 1841. In 1850 he moved to Georgia and settled in Elberton, where he practiced his profession. In 1866 he was appointed United States attorney for the district of Georgia, and remained in office until 1870; in that year he was appointed attorney-general of the United States, and continued in that position until 1872.

ACKERMAN, CHRISTIAN, manufacturer, legislator, was born Sept. 4, 1850, in Hanover, Germany. He was elected to the Wisconsin state assembly from Sheboygan in 1894; and received the re-election in 1896.

ACKERMAN, ERNEST ROBINSON, manufacturer, was born June 17, 1863, in New York city. In 1891 he was elected to the presidency of The Lawrence Cement Co., which produces five thousand barrels per day, nearly an eighth of the whole product in this country. The works of the company extend four miles on the Rondout creek in Ulster county, N. Y. The mills, kilns, storehouses, repair shops, cooper shops, railroads and mines, constitute an extensive plant, requiring the services of about a thousand men. A fleet of twenty-five canal boats, built by the company, transports the product to market by way of The Delaware and Hudson canal and the Hudson river, and a large number of outside vessels find desirable employment in the same business.

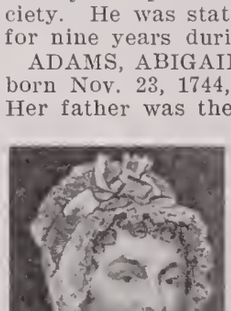
ACKERMAN, JESSIE, temperance advocate, was born July 4, 1860. She is a world's temperance missionary under the auspices of the Good Templars and the W. C. T. U.; and has traveled in Australia, China, Japan, Siam, India, Africa, and other lands. Her report in the spring of 1896 shows 200,000 miles traveled; 502 cities visited; 1,417 meetings held; 1,317 lectures and addresses delivered; 9,000 white ribbons distributed; 2,000 men pledged to abstinence; 647 Good Templars initiated; and much other active temperance work performed.

ACKERMAN, JOHN C., merchant, legislator, was born March 21, 1853, in Luzerne county, Pa. He was elected to the Pennsylvania house of representatives in 1896.

ACKLEN, JOSEPH HAYES, lawyer, legislator, was born May 20, 1850, in Nashville, Tenn., the eldest son of Joseph A. S. Acklen and Adelicia Hayes. He was educated during early life by private tutor, subsequently at Burlington college, New Jersey. He graduated in two foreign universities, acquiring a thorough knowledge of both German and French; and finally graduated from the law school of Lebanon, Tenn. Since 1871 he has been actively engaged in the practice of law. He was elected as a democrat and served in the Forty-fifth and Forty-sixth congresses from the Third district of Louisiana. In 1884 he returned to Nashville, where he has successfully engaged in the practice of his profession. His writings and speeches on political questions have attracted widespread attention.

ACKLEY, HORACE A., physician, was born in 1815, in Genesee county, N. Y. He gave a course of lectures in Willoughby Medical college in 1836. He lived in Toledo for three years, and in 1842 settled in Cleveland, in which city he filled the chair of surgery in the Cleveland Medical college until 1858, when he resigned. Here he died April 24, 1859.

ACTON, THOMAS COXTON, banker, was born Feb. 23, 1823, in New York city. In 1860 he became commissioner of the New York metropolitan police, and two years later was president of that board, where he remained for seven years, in which office he did good service in suppressing the draft riots. In 1870 he was appointed superintendent of the United States assay office, which post he held for twelve years. He became United States assistant treasurer at New York in 1882, and since 1887 has been president of the bank of New Amsterdam.



ADAIR, GEORGE WASHINGTON, capitalist, was born March 1, 1823, in Morgan county, Ga. He has been one of the builders of every Atlanta enterprise; promoter of the Atlanta cotton factory; president of the Georgia Pacific railroad; president of the Tallapoosa Land company; and director of a number of prosperous corporations.

ADAIR, JAMES, Indian trader, author. He was a trader with the Indians of the southern states, and for forty years lived exclusively among them. He is the author of a volume entitled The History of the American Indians.

ADAIR, JOHN, soldier, legislator, United States senator, was born in 1759, in Chester county, S. C. He emigrated to Kentucky in 1787; served as a major in the border warfare of the time; was elected to the Kentucky legislature, serving one year as speaker; in 1799 was a member of the convention which formed the state constitution; subsequently held the office of register of the land office in Kentucky; and was a senator of the United States from Kentucky during the years 1805 and 1806. He commanded the Kentucky troops at the battle of New Orleans under General Jackson, and was appointed a general in the army. He was elected a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1831 to 1833. He died May 19, 1840, in Harrisburg, Ky.

ADAIR, WILLIAM, horticulturist, state senator, was born in 1815, near Glasgow, Scotland. In 1834 he settled in Detroit, Mich.; worked as a carpenter until 1840; when he began business as a gardener and horticulturist. He held several local positions of honor in Detroit, among them president of the Detroit Mechanics' society and president of St. Andrew's society. He was state senator of Michigan for nine years during 1861-77.

ADAMS, ABIGAIL SMITH, author, was born Nov. 23, 1744, in Weymouth, Mass. Her father was the Rev. William Smith, for forty years a congregational clergyman of Weymouth. She was the wife of President John Adams, to whom she was married Oct. 25, 1764. She was endowed with intellectual gifts, tact, and practical knowledge, and eminently qualified to be the companion of her husband; and was also an inspiration to her gifted son. She is known to literature by her entertaining Letters, edited by her grandson. She died Oct. 28, 1818, in Quincy, Mass.

ADAMS, ALBERT BRINSMADE, educator, clergyman, poet, was born Nov. 11, 1856, in Kalamazoo county, Mich. He graduated from the Vicksburg high school, Michigan; and for eight years taught school in Mills county, Iowa. He now fills a pastorate in Little Sioux, Iowa, and has attained success as a clergyman and evangelist. He is the author of several meritorious poems, the most notable of which is The Honored Brave.

ADAMS, ALLEN WILLSON, merchant, was born June 25, 1848, in Hampton, N. Y. He is a merchant of New York city, and for several years past has done a large and successful business.

ADAMS, ALVA, merchant, legislator, governor of Colorado, was born May 14, 1850, in Iowa county, Wis. In 1876 he served with distinction as a member of the first Colorado state legislature; was elected governor of that state and served during 1887-89; and was again elected to that high office for the term of 1897-99. He has also attained success as a hardware merchant of Pueblo.

ADAMS, ALVIN, founder of the Adams Express company, was born June 16, 1804. In 1840 Alvin Adams engaged in the then novel specialty of forwarding parcels, money, and valuable merchandise between Boston and New York by way of Worcester, Norwich and New London, beginning in a little store in Boston. Later he formed the partnership of Adams and Co., with Ephraim Farnsworth, the latter taking charge of the New York office, and being succeeded at his death soon afterwards by William B. Dinsmore. In 1854 Mr. Adams effected a union of four concerns under the name of The Adams Express Co., and became president of the organization. He died Sept. 2, 1877, in Watertown, Mass.

ADAMS, AMOS, clergyman, was born Sept. 1, 1728, in Medfield, Mass. He graduated at Harvard in 1752, and in September of the following year became pastor of a church in Roxbury, which he served until his death. He was secretary of the convention of ministers at Watertown, which in 1775 recommended the people to take up arms. Many of his sermons were published from 1756 to 1769, as well as two discourses on Religious Liberty. The most notable of his writings were two discourses on the general fast, 6 April, 1769, in which he gave A Concise Historical View of the Difficulties, Hardships, and Perils which Attended the Planting and Progressive Improvement in New England, with a Particular Account of Its Long and Destructive Wars. He died Oct. 5, 1775, in Dorchester, Mass.

ADAMS, ANDREW, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born in January, 1736, in Stratford, Conn. He graduated from Yale college in 1760; adopted the profession of the law, and settled in the practice in Litchfield in 1764. From 1777 to 1782 he was a delegate from Connecticut to the continental congress, and was one of the signers of the articles of confederation. In 1789 he was appointed a judge of the supreme court of Connecticut, and in 1793 chief justice of said court. He died Nov. 26, 1797, in Litchfield, Conn.

ADAMS, AUSTIN, lawyer, jurist, was born May 24, 1826, in Andover, Vt. His life is interwoven with the educational history of Vermont and Iowa. Eight generations before him his grandfathers without a break have been presidents of educational institutions where they lived. He graduated from Dartmouth college, and from Harvard Law school. He was a prominent educator; president of the public school board of Dubuque, Iowa; regent of the state university of Iowa; a successful lawyer and law lecturer; and judge of the supreme court of Iowa for twelve years. When chief justice he admitted the first woman to practice before the supreme court; and always insisted that the true wife and mother should enter fully into the intellectual life of her life companion. He was a man of rare literary attainments, and left a volume of poems. He died in October, 1890.

ADAMS, BENJAMIN, legislator, congressman, was born in 1765 in Worcester, Mass. He was a member of the legislature; as representative from 1809-14; and as senator in 1814-15, and 1822-25. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1816-21. He died March 28, 1837, in Uxbridge, Mass.

ADAMS, BLANCHE HERMINE, educator, poet, and daughter of Major Enoch George Adams, was born Oct. 22, 1871, in Vancouver, Wash. In 1885 she moved to South Berwick, Maine, and in 1890 graduated from the Berwick academy. She has become a successful teacher, and holds high rank as an elocutionist. She is the author of several prize stories, and her poems have appeared in several standard works.

ADAMS, BROOKS, lawyer, author, was born June 24, 1848, in Quincy, Mass. He graduated from Harvard in 1870, and is a successful lawyer of Boston. He is the author of The Gold Standard; The Emancipation of Massachusetts, a careful study of the evolution of religious freedom; and The Law of Civilization and Decay, an Essay in History.

ADAMS, CHARLES, lawyer, author, was born March 12, 1785, in Arlington, Vt. He became a prominent lawyer, and was a constant contributor to newspapers on political questions. He was the friend and adviser of General Wool during the Canadian difficulties of 1838, and wrote a history of the events connected with that rebellion. He died Feb. 13, 1861, in Burlington, Vt.

ADAMS, CHARLES, clergyman, author, was born in 1808, in New Hampshire. He was a methodist clergyman who wrote extensively, and among whose works are Evangelism in the Middle of the Nineteenth Century; Women of the Bible; The Poet Preacher, a Memorial of Charles Wesley; The Earth and Its Wonders; Life of Cromwell; and Life Sketches of Macaulay. He died in 1890.

ADAMS, CHARLES BAKER, naturalist, author, was born Jan. 11, 1814, in Dorchester, Mass. He was a naturalist, and published Contributions to Conchology; and Monographs of Several Species of Shells. He died Jan. 19, 1853, in St. Thomas, W. I.

ADAMS, CHARLES COFFIN, clergyman, author, was born in 1826. He was an episcopal clergyman; and the author of Creation, a Recent Work of God; Life of Christ; Anthroposophy; and The Bible, a Scientific Revelation. He died in 1888.

ADAMS, CHARLES FOLLEN, soldier, poet, was born April 21, 1842, in Dorchester, Mass. He is principally known as the author of Leedle Yawcob Strauss; Leedle Yawcob Strauss, and Other Poems; Dialect Ballads; and other works. He served gallantly as a soldier during the civil war in the thirteenth regiment Massachusetts volunteer infantry. He has delivered many of his original productions before Boston audiences, in which city he is a successful merchant.

ADAMS, CHARLES FRANCIS, lawyer, legislator, congressman, author, was born Aug. 18, 1807, in Boston, Mass. He spent the most of his boyhood in St. Petersburg and London, whilst his father, John Quincy Adams, was minister to Russia and England. He graduated from Harvard university in 1825; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1828. He served three years in the lower house, and two years in the upper house of the Massachusetts legislature. In 1848 he was a delegate to the Buffalo convention, and elected president; was the candidate for vice-president on the ticket with Mr. Van Buren; was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-sixth congress, and received the re-election to the thirty-seventh congress. One of the most noted events of his life was his appointment as minister to England during the civil war in America, and though encountering the most bitter social hostility in England, he maintained the right of his country, and exercised the grandest qualities of true statesmanship just where and when they were of priceless value. He edited The Life and Works of John Adams; Letters of Mrs. Abigail Adams; Life and Works of John Q. Adams; and Familiar Letters of John and Abigail Adams, with Memoir of Mrs. Adams. He died Nov. 21, 1886, in Boston, Mass.

ADAMS, CHARLES FRANCIS, JR., soldier, railroad president, author, was born May 27, 1835, in Boston, Mass. He was an officer in the union army during the civil war, and subsequently an expert in railway science and president of the Union Pacific railway. Since resigning that office he has devoted his attention to historical writing, his estimates of men and motives often differing materially from those of other writers in the same field. He is the author of Notes on Railway Accidents; Chapters of Erie; Railroads; A College Fetich; Massachusetts, Its Historians and Its History; Three Episodes of Massachusetts History; Richard Henry Dana [infra], a Biography; and Life of Charles Francis Adams.

ADAMS, CHARLES H., lawyer, manufacturer, state senator, congressman, was born in 1824, in Coxsackie, N. Y. He studied law and practiced until 1850, when he engaged in manufacturing at Cohoes, N. Y.; and served as trustee and president of the water board in that place before it was made a city. In 1851 he served as aid to the governor. In 1857 he was elected a member of the assembly; was state senator in 1872 and 1873; and was a member of the republican national convention in 1872. For a long time he was president of the National Bank of Cohoes, and was the first mayor of the city. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fourth congress.

ADAMS, CHARLES KENDALL, educator, college president, author, was born Jan. 24, 1835, in Derby, Vt. He received his education in the university of Michigan, college de France, and the universities of Leipzig, Berlin, Bonn, Munich, Rome and Paris. During 1862-67 he was assistant professor of history and latin in the university of Michigan; and during 1867-85 filled the chair of history in the same institution. During 1885-92 he was president of Cornell university; and since the latter year has been president of the university of Wisconsin. By founding an historical seminary in the university of Michigan in 1869, he became the first introducer of the German seminary method of teaching in the United States. He was at one time dean of political science in the university of Michigan; and has been president of the American Historical association. His best known works are Manual of Historical Literature; Democracy and Monarchy in France; and Christopher Columbus. He was also the editor-in-chief of Johnson's Universal Cyclopedia.

ADAMS, DANIEL, physician, state senator, author, was born Sept. 29, 1773, in Townsend, Mass. He taught a select school in Boston in 1806-13; practiced medicine in Lancaster, Boston, and Keene, N. H.; was state senator in New Hampshire in 1838-40; and was president of the New Hampshire Medical and Bible societies. Besides an arithmetic, which was extensively used, and other school books, he published an oration at Leominster on the death of Washington; edited the Telescope of Mt. Vernon, and the Medical and Agricultural Register of Boston. He died June 8, 1864, in Keene, N. H.

ADAMS, EDWARD DEAN, banker, scientist, was born April 9, 1846, in Boston, Mass. He received his education at the Chauncey Hall school of his native city, and at the Norwich university of Vermont. He has been president, director and trustee of many railroads, scientific and art organizations; was managing partner of the New York banking house of Winslow, Lanier and Co.; president of companies developing Niagara Falls power; chairman of the board of directors of the Northern Pacific Railway company, and chairman of the board of directors of the American Cotton Oil company. He was the author and executor of plans for the reorganization of the Central Railroad of New Jersey, the West Shore Railroad company, the Northern Pacific Railroad company, the American Cotton Oil Trust, and numerous other companies.

ADAMS, EDWIN, comedian, was born Feb. 3, 1834, in Medford, Mass. He has attained success in all the large cities of the United States as an accomplished light comedian. He died Oct. 28, 1877, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ADAMS, ELMER B., lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 27, 1842, in Pomfret, Vt. He was educated at Yale college and Harvard law school; in 1868 removed to Missouri, being engaged in general practice of law except from 1879-85, during which time he was one of the circuit judges of St. Louis. In 1895 he was appointed judge of the United States district court of Missouri, eastern district.

ADAMS, EZRA EASTMAN, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 29, 1813, in Concord, N. H. He was made professor of theology in Lincoln university, Pa.; and in 1870 became editorially connected with the Presbyterian of Philadelphia. He died Nov. 3, 1871, in Oxford, Pa.

ADAMS, F. W., physician, musician, was born in 1787. He was a good performer on the violin, and early turned his attention to violin-making. He died in 1859, in Montpelier, Vt.

ADAMS, FLORENCE ADELAIDE FOWLE, dramatic reader, teacher, author, was born Oct. 15, 1863, in Chelsea, Mass. In 1884 she graduated from the Boston School of Oratory; and in 1888 was married to George Adams, a direct descendant of the statesmen and presidents of that name. She is the author of Gestures and Pantomimic Actiou; and still pursues her chosen line of work.

ADAMS, FRANCIS, farmer, merchant, state senator, was born in April, 1862. He was elected a member of the Florida state senate from Hamilton in 1894; and in his town and county has filled numerous offices of honor.

ADAMS, FRANCIS ALEXANDRE, journalist, orator, was born May 11, 1874, in New York city. In 1890 he edited and published the Gotham Monthly, which was the pioneer genealogical periodical in America, and which in 1891, under the title of Adams' Magazine, became the official exponent of the Daughters of the American Revolution. He has gained prominence as an orator, and in 1896 was appointed a campaign speaker by the New York democratic party.

ADAMS, FRANCIS COLBURN, author, was born in 1850. He was a writer of Charleston, S. C., and wrote under various pseudonyms. He was the author of Manuel Pereira, or the Sovereign Rule of South Carolina; Uncle Tom at Home; Our World, or the Democrats' Rule; Justice in the Byways; Life and Adventures of Major Potter; An Outcast, a novel; The Story of a Trooper; Siege of Washington, for Little People; and The Von Toodleburgs, or the Memoirs of a Very Distinguished Family.

ADAMS, FRANKLIN GEORGE, author, was born May 13, 1824, in Rodman, N. Y. In 1876, at the beginning of the work of the Kansas State Historical society, he was appointed secretary, a position which he still holds. He has been editor of several newspapers; and is the author of a volume entitled Homestead Guide.

ADAMS, GEORGE, jurist, was a citizeu of Mississippi. He was appointed United States judge for the district embracing that state, and resided at Natchez.

ADAMS, GEORGE, soldier, merchant, banker, was born Sept. 13, 1834, in Baltimore, Md. He received his education in the Baltimore schools and at the Newton university. In 1852 he moved to Wheeling, W. Va., where he subsequently engaged in the grocery and commission business. In 1864 he organized the First National bank of Wheeling; and for many years was president of one of the largest banking institutions of that city. During the civil war he served as captain and subsequently as coloucl of the fifth regiment of West Virginia militia, an organization that gave good service in defense of the union. He has been president of the Wheeling Library association; president of the Buckeye Glass company; and of various other institutions.

ADAMS, GEORGE BURTON, educator, author, was born in 1851 in Vermont. He is an historical writer; professor of history at Yale university; and the author of Civilization During the Middle Ages; and The Growth of the French Nation.

ADAMS, GEORGE ENOCH, soldier, journalist, poet, was born in Bow, N. H. In 1849 he graduated from Yale college, aud then taught school in New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Maryland and Missouri. In 1861 he enlisted in Company D, second regiment New Hampshire volunteer infantry; he was afterward wounded at the battle of Williamsburg, the bullet still remaining in his body. He was in the peach orchard at the battle of Gettysburg. In 1865 he commanded at Fort Rice, D. T., where he met and vanquished the famous Sitting Bull and ten thousand warriors. He was mustered out of service as captain and brevet major. For a number of years he was editor and owner of the Vancouver Register, W. T., where he was also register of the land office. He next published the Columbian of St. Helena, Ore., where he was also justice of the peace, and filled various other public positions of trust. Major Adams is a brilliant lecturer, and a poet of excellence.

ADAMS, GEORGE EVERETT, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 18, 1840, in Keene, N. H. He removed to Chicago in 1853; graduated from Harvard university in 1860; studied law at Dane law school, and was admitted to the bar in 1865, and engaged in practice at Chicago. In 1880 he was elected a state senator for a term of five years; was elected a representative from Illinois to the Forty-eighth congress; and was re-elected to the Forty-ninth, Fiftieth and Fifty-first congresses.

ADAMS, GEORGE M. soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 20, 1837, in Knox county, Ky. He was educated at Centre college; studied law; was clerk of the circuit court of Knox county from 1859 to 1861; subsequently served for a few months as a captain in the union army; and was an additional paymaster of volunteers from 1861 to 1865. He was elected a representative from Kentucky to the Fortieth congress, and re-elected to the three succeeding congresses. In 1875 he was elected clerk of the house of representatives of the Forty-fourth congress.

ADAMS, GREEN, lawyer, legislator, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 20, 1812, in Barboursville, Ky. He was bred a farmer; read law and adopted that profession. In 1832-33 he was deputy sheriff of Knox county; in 1839 was elected to the state legislature, and was re-elected; was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1847-49; was a presidential elector in 1844 and 1856, and a judge of the circuit court of Kentucky from 1851-56. In 1859 he was elected a representative from Kentucky to the Thirty-sixth congress; in 1861 was appointed sixth auditor of the United States treasury; and was disbursing clerk in the house of representatives at Washington from 1875 to 1881. He died Jan. 18, 1884.

ADAMS, HANNAH, the first woman in the United States to make a profession of literature, was born in 1755 in Medfield, Mass. After the civil war she opened a school to prepare young men for college. Her principal work appeared in 1784, entitled A View of Religious Opinions; and a fourth edition of that work was entitled A Dictionary of Religions. She was also the author of A History of New England; Evidences of Christianity; History of the Jews; and Letters on the Gospel. She died Nov. 15, 1832, in Brookline, Mass.

ADAMS, HENRY, author, was born Feb. 16, 1838, in Boston, Mass. He is an historian and political biographer, living in Washington; and the author of Life of John Randolph; Life of Albert Gallatin; and other works.

ADAMS, HENRY CARTER, author, was born in 1852 in Iowa. He is a political economist of note; and the author of Public Debts, an Essay in the Science of Finance; and Taxation in the United States, 1789-1816.

ADAMS, HENRY H., merchant, was born July 9, 1844, in Collamer, Ohio. In 1882 he became associated with the Colerain Company of Reading, Pa.; and three years later settled in New York city, engaging there in the iron business. In 1890 he was elected president of the Columbus and Hocking Iron aud Coal Company; and in 1891 became president of the Henry H. Adams Company of New York city.

ADAMS, HERBERT BAXTER, educator, author, was born April 16, 1850, in Amherst, Mass. He is a professor of history at Johns Hopkius university, and the secretary of the American Historical association from its beginning. He is the author of The Germanic Origin of New England Towns; Saxon Tithingmen in America; Norman Constables in America; Village Communities of Cape Ann and Salem; Thomas Jefferson and the University of Virginia; Methods of Historical Study; and History of the United States Constitution. He has edited the Life and Writings of Jared Sparks.

ADAMS, ISAAC, physician, legislator, was born April 23, 1767, in Andover, Mass. He was one of the committee on education iu the Michigan house of representatives. He assisted in preparing the bill to establish the university of Michigan, and took an active interest iu that institution during his life. He died in 1852, in Troy, Mich.

ADAMS, ISAAC, inventor, state senator, was born 1803 in Rochester, N. H. In 1828 he invented the printing-press that bears his name. It was introduced in 1830, and came into almost universal use, being still so popular as to warrant its manufacture in more than thirty different sizes. He improved it in 1834, makiug it substantially what it now is. He was a member of the Massachusetts state senate in 1840. He died July 19, 1883, in Sandwich, N. H.

ADAMS, JAMES HOPKINS, state senator, governor of South Carolina, was born about 1811 in South Carolina. He graduated from Yale college in 1831; was a member of the legislature and senate of South Carolina, and was governor of that state from 1855 to 1857. After the secession of South Carolina from the union he was one of the commissioners appointed to confer with the president concerning United States property in South Carolina. He died July 27, 1861, uear Columbia, S. C.

ADAMS, JAMES W., journalist, state senator, was born Jau. 16, 1865, in Hawesville, Ky. He is the editor of the Daily Graphic, and served as state senator in the Kentucky legislature in 1893. One of the principal events of his public life is his world's fair speech in the Kentucky state senate in 1893.

ADAMS, JANE KELLEY, educator, was born Oct. 30, 1852, in Woburn, Mass. In 1875 she graduated from Vassar college, and has since been interested in educational work. In 1881 she became the wife of Charles Day Adams, a noted lawyer of Boston, Mass. During 1886-87 she was president of the Woburn Woman's club, and was one of the founders of the Woburn Home for Aged Women, of which she has been vice-president.

ADAMS, JASPER, educator, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 27, 1793, in Medway, Mass. He was an episcopal clergyman, once noted as an educator at West Point, Charleston, and elsewhere, and published The Elements of Moral Philosophy, and other works. He died Oct. 25, 1841, in Charleston, S. C.

ADAMS, JEWETT W., governor. He was elected governor of Nevada for the term of four years from January, 1883.

ADAMS, JOHN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Greene county, N. Y., from 1833 to 1835. He died Sept. 28, 1854, in Catskill, N. Y.

ADAMS, JOHN, second president of the United States, was born Oct. 30, 1735, in Braintree, Mass. He graduated from Harvard college in 1755; chose law as a profession; and was admitted to the bar in 1761. In 1764 he married Abigail Smith, an accomplished daughter of the Rev. William Smith. Iu 1770 he was chosen representative from Boston in the Massachusetts assembly, and in 1774 he was elected to the first continental congress. He was re-elected in 1776, and was one of the committee which drafted the declaration of independence in June of that year. Adams was appointed as commissioner to the court of France in December, 1777, and returned in 1779. After his return he was chosen a member of the Massachusetts convention for framing a constitution, and on the 29th of September, 1779, he was appointed minister plenipotentiary to treat with Great Britaiu for peacc and commerce. He was soon after appointed minister to Holland, and recalled in July, 1781, to Paris. In January, 1785, he was appointed minister to England, and occupied that post until 1788, when he resigned and returned home. He was elected first vice-president of the United States, and took the oath of office April 21, 1789, which office he held, by re-election, until March 4, 1797. He was elected president iu 1796, and took the oath of office March 4, 1797, at Philadelphia. He was defeated for a re-clection, and, at the close of his official term, he retired to his farm at Quincy. John Adams held office over twenty-five years, and died moderately well off, on July 4, 1826, with the same words on his lips which, fifty years before, on that day, he had uttered on the floor of congress: Independence forever! His principal publications were: Letters on the Amcrican Revolution; Defense of the American Constitutions; an Essay on Canon and Feudal Law; a series of letters under the signature of Novanglus; and Discourses on Davila. It was as vice-president that he had a seat in the senate. In 1856 his life and writings were published in ten volumes, edited by his grandson, C. F. Adams.

ADAMS, JOHN, clergyman, educator, son of a revolutionary officer of the same name, was born Sept. 18, 1772, in Canterbury, Conn. He was graduated at Yale iu 1795, and taught for three years at the academy in his native town. In 1800 he became rector of Plainfield, N. J., academy, and in 1803 principal of Bacon academy, Colchester, Conn. In June, 1810, he was chosen principal of Phillips Audover acaaemy, wnere he remained for twenty-three years, and, in addition to his regular duties, took part in the organization of several of the great charitable associations that have attained national importance. He resigned his office in 1833, and went to Illinois, where he estaolished several hundred Sunday-schools. Hc died April 24, 1863.

ADAMS, JOHN, sailor, was born Nov. 29, 1796, in Boston, Mass. He was the last survivor of all who witnessed the victory gained by Hull in the Constitution over Dacres in the Guerriere, in 1812. He was subsequently captured and confined in Dartmoor prison till the end of the war. For nearly half a century afterward he followed the sea, commanding some of the finest merchantmen that sailed from Boston. He died March 17, 1886, in Allston, Mass.

ADAMS, JOHN, soldier, was born in 1825 in Tennessee. His first service was in the Mexican war, where he was brevetted first lieutenant, for gallantry at Vera Cruz de Rosales, March 16, 1848. At the outbreaking of the civil war he became a major-general in the Confederatc army. He died Nov. 30, 1864, in Franklin, Tenn.

ADAMS, JOHN COLEMAN, clergyman, author, was born in 1849 in Massachusetts. He was a universalist clergyman and editor of The United States During 1801-17; Historical Essays; and Essays in Anglo-Saxon Law.

ADAMS, JOHN GREENLEAF, clergyman, author, was born July 30, 1810, in Portsmouth, N. H. In addition to his constant work as a universalist clergyman he published fifteen volumes, besides pamphlets and tracts; and edited Suuday school periodicals for twenty-two years. His principal works are: The Universalist Church, Its Faith and Its Works; Universalism of the Lord's Prayer; Talks About the Bible to Young Folks; and Fifty Notable Years, or Views of the Ministry of Universalism. He died in 1887.

ADAM, JOHN JAY, soldier, educator, state senator, was born Oct. 30, 1807, in Scotland. In 1826 he emigrated to the United States, and became well known as a successful educator. In 1832 he served in the Black Hawk war; and subsequently took part in the Toledo war as a lieutenant. In 1835 he was a delegate to the Michigan constitutional conveution. In 1839 was a representative from Lenawee county to the Michigan legislature, and subsequently served several terms in the state senate. He was also auditor-general of Michigan for several terms.

ADAMS, JOHN J., lawyer legislator, was born Sept. 16, 1848, in Canada. He atteuded the ordiuary country schools; entered Columbia law college and graduated in the class of 1876; was admitted to the bar in that year and commenced practice in New York city. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-eighth congress, and was re-elected to the forty-ninth congress.

ADAMS, JOHN MILTON, journalist, was born Sept. 22, 1819, in Rumford, Maine. In 1866 he became sole owner and editor of the Eastern Argus; and has contributed numerous articles to magazines.

ADAMS, JOHN R., clergyman, was boru in 1802, in Plainfield, Conn. He was appointed chaplain of the fifth Maine volunteers and was present at nearly all the battles of the army of the Potomac, from the first battle of Bull Run to the close of the civil war. He died April 26, 1866.

ADAMS, JOHN QUINCY, sixth president of the United States, was born July 11, 1767, in Braintree, now Quincy, Mass., and at the age of eleven years he accompanied his father, John Adams, to France. He attended school in Paris, and in 1781 accompanied the American ambassador, Francis Dana, to Russia as his private secretary. He returned home in 1785, and entered Harvard college, where he graduated in 1788. He then began the study of law with Hon. Theophilus Parsons. In 1794 he was appointed resident minister to the Netherlands, and afterwards to Portugal; but, while on his way to Lisbon, he received a new commission from his father, then president, which changed him to Prussia. In 1797 he was married to Miss Louisa Catherine Johnson. He returned to America in 1801, and in 1802 he was elected to the senate of Massachusetts. Iu 1803 he was elected to the United States senate, and resigned his scat in 1806. In 1809 he was appointed minister plenipotentiary to Russia, and in 1814 he was placed at the head of the American commissioners who negotiated the treaty of peace with Great Britain at Ghent. Mr. Adams was appointed minister to the court of St. James in 1815; was appointed secretary of state in 1817, and held the office eight years. Feb. 9, 1825, he was elected president of the United States by the house of representatives, the electoral college having failed to make a choice, and was inaugurated March 4. He was defeated for a re-election, and on the 4th of March, 1829, he left the executive chair and retired to private life. In 1830 he was elected to the house of representatives, and held the office by re-elections until his death, Feb. 23, 1848, which occurred in the capitol at Washington in the speaker's room, two days after falling from his chair in the house of representatives. His last words were: This is the end of earth; I am content. His writings, though mainly political in their character, include several purely literary works. Lectures on Rhetoric and Oratory; The Bible and Its Teachings; Poems of Religion and Society; Letters on Freemasonry; and Lives of Celebrated Statesmen, and many state papers. An elaborate history of his life was published in 1875, by his son, Charles Francis Adams.

ADAMS, JOHN QUINCY, lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 22, 1833, in Boston, Mass., and was the eldest son of Charles Francis Adams. He was graduated at Harvard college in 1853, and admitted to the Suffolk bar in 1855. During the civil war he was on Gov. Andrew's staff. He was elected to the legislature by the town of Quincy in 1866. In 1869 and 1870 he was again a member of the legislature. In 1867 and 1871 he was democratic candidate for governor of Massachusetts.

ADAMS, JOHN QUINCY, a descendant of the famous Adams family of Massachusetts, was born in 1848, in Lancaster, N. H. He is a charter member of the Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, and also secretary-general of the Order of the Founders and Patriots of America. This society embraces the early settlers of the colonies from 1607 to 1657, with revolutionary descent thereafter. Mr. Adams was educated in the Lancaster academy, and has been a student of and writer on political subjects all his life. He was a candidate for congress in his district in 1896. He is the brother of Mrs. Flora Adams Darling, the founder-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

ADAMS, JOHN TURRELL, lawyer, author, was born in 1805 in British Guiana. He was a lawyer of Norwich, Conn., and the author of The Knight of the Golden Melice, an historical tale; and The Lost Hunter. He died in 1882.

ADAMS, JOHN WESLEY, clergyman, poet, was born May 23, 1832, and is a lineal descendant of the presidents of that name. In 1858 he joined the New Hampshire conference of the methodist episcopal church, and has held pastorates in Rye, Derby, South Newmarket, North Salem, East Canaan, Winchester, Great Falls, Tilton, Newport, Exeter, and Keene. In 1889 he retired from active service, and is now living in Methuen, Mass. He has been president of the trustees of the conference seminary and female college, and has held various positions of honor. He has rare literary attainments, and his poems have been given a place in National Poets of America and other standard works.

ADAMS, JONATHAN, civil engineer, was born July 8, 1798, in Taunton, Mass. Many of the important lines in New York and New England were constructed under his supervision, and for fifty years he ranked as one of the most skillful railroad engineers in the country. He died Sept. 6, 1872.

ADAMS, JONATHAN EDWARDS, educator, clergyman, was born April 29, 1822, in Woolwich, Maine. He graduated from the Phillips academy of Andover, Mass., and from the Hampden academy, Bowdoin college, and the Bangor theological seminary. He is a successful clergyman of the congregational church, and during 1876-95 was secretary of the Maine Missionary society. He is an overseer of Bowdoin college, and a trustee of the Bangor seminary and the Maine Missionary society.

ADAMS, JOSEPH, tobacconist, banker, was born Jan. 5, 1827, in West Cambridge, Mass. In 1854 he commenced the tobacco business, putting up strips and leaf for the English markets. In 1867 he built an additional establishment, at Uniontown, Ky., and is now one of the most successful and extensive tobacco dealers in the country.

ADAMS, J. McGREGOR, manufacturer, was born March 11, 1834, in Londonderry, N. H. In 1858 he settled in Chicago, representing Morris K. Jesup and Co., the house being subsequently merged into that of Crerar, Adams and Co., which is yet in existence, and of which Mr. Adams is a partner. In this concern and in The Adams and Westlake Co., incorporated in 1874 with a capital of $650,000, of which he is president, The Union Brass Manufacturing Co., and kindred concerns, Mr. Adams manufactures the whole range of goods called railroad supplies, including headlights, lanterns, car trimmings and other specialties in metals, many of them patented articles.

ADAMS, JULIUS WALKER, civil engineer, author, was born Oct. 18, 1812, in Boston, Mass. He is an engineer of distinction, who has been employed in many important engineering works; and the author of Sewers and Drains for Populous Districts.

ADAMS, JULIUS W., soldier, was born in April, 1840, in Westfield, Mass. He was graduated at West Point in 1861, served there as assistant instructor of infantry tactics till June, 1862, was wounded and taken prisoner at Gaines' Mills, promoted captain in August, 1862, and served at Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Gettysburg, where he commanded a regiment, and the second battle of Cold Harbor, where he received wounds that caused his death. He died Nov. 15, 1865, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ADAMS, LOUISE CATHERINE, the wife of John Quincy Adams, was born Feb. 11, 1775, in London, England. She was the daughter of Joshua Johnson of Maryland, but passed her early years in England and in France. She was married to Mr. Adams July 26, 1797, in London. She was possessed of high intellectual qualities; well versed in both French and English literature; translated from the French; was the author of a number of meritorious poems; and was an accomplished musician and vocalist. She died May 14, 1852, and was buried by the side of her husband in the family burying ground at Quincy, Mass.

ADAMS, MRS. MARY MATHEWS, educator, poet, was born Oct. 23, 1840, in Ireland; and is the wife of Charles Kendall Adams, president of the university of Wisconsin. She came to America in her childhood, and was mainly educated at the Packer institute of Brooklyn, N. Y. For ten years she was engaged in educational work, and subsequently acquired success in literary pursuits. Her verse is largely lyrical, and her themes include romance, heroism, and religion. She is the author of a brochure of poems entitled The Choir Visible; and among her other works The Epithalamium is perhaps the best known.

ADAMS, MRS. MARY NEWBURY, the wife of the late Judge Austin Adams, of Dubuque, Iowa, was born Oct. 17, 1837, in Peru, Ind. In 1868 she was urged to speak before a class of girls graduating from the Lombard university of Galesburg, Ill.; and since that time her life has been devoted to the advancement of women. She has been vice-president of the Iowa Suffrage association; trustee of the Humboldt college, Iowa; vice-president of the association for Advancement of Women for nearly a quarter of a century; and has lectured extensively before women graduates.

ADAMS, MILWARD, theatrical manager, was born Jan. 6, 1857, in Lexington, Ky. In 1881 Mr. Adams assumed the sole management of Central music hall, but in 1887 he gave this up for the management of the Chicago Auditorium.

ADAMS, MOSES S., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 19, 1826, in Rindge, N. H. In 1854 he graduated in law from the university of Albany, and has attained prominence as an able and successful lawyer. For two terms he was a member of the Kansas house of representatives, during which time he was speaker in that body. President Lincoln appointed him army captain and commissary of subsistence of volunteers during the civil war. He was district attorney of the sixth district of Colorado; and county judge of Fremont county in that state.

ADAMS, MYRON, clergyman, author, was born in 1841 in New York. He was a congregational clergyman of Rochester, N. Y., from 1876 until his death. He was the author of The Creation of the Bible; and The Continuous Creation, an Application of the Evolutionary Philosophy to the Christian Religion. He died in 1895.

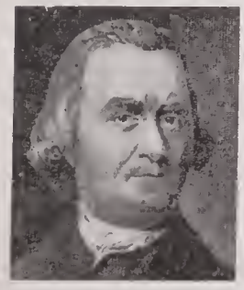
ADAMS, NEHEMIAH, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 19, 1806, in Salem, Mass. He was a noted congregational clergyman of Boston, whose most famous work, A South Side View of Slavery, provoked much hostile criticism. Among other works by him are Walks to Emmaus: Scriptural Argument for Endless Punishment; Remarks on Unitarian Belief; Life of John Eliot; Agnes and the Little Key; and Evenings with the Doctrines. He died Oct. 6, 1878.

ADAMS, NELLIE E., poet, was born July 12, 1864, in Exeter, N. H. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Blossoms; and a successful writer of both prose and verse for current magazines.

ADAMS, OSCAR FAY, poet. He is the author of Post-Laureate Idyls, and Other Poems; and is a popular poet and graceful writer.

ADAMS, PARMENIO, congressman, was born in Hartford, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Batavia, N. Y., from 1823 to 1827.

ADAMS, ROBERT, geologist, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 26, 1849, in Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated at the university of Pennsylvania in 1869; studied and practiced law for five years; was a member of the United States geological survey from 1871 to 1875, and engaged in explorations of the Yellowstone park. He was a member of the state seuate of Pennsylvania from 1883 to 1887; graduated in 1884 from the Wharton School of Economy aud Finauce of the university of Pennsylvania; was appointed United States minister to Brazil April 1, 1889, and resigned June 1, 1890. He was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican, and served on important committees.



ADAMS, ROBERT CHAMBLET, author, was born in 1839 in Massachusetts, and is the son of Nehemiah Adams. He is the author of History of England in Rhyme; History of the United States in Rhyme; On Board the Rocket; Aids to Endeavor; Evolution, a Summary of Evidence; Travels in Faith from Tradition to Reason; aud Pioneer Pith.

ADAMS, ROBERT H., United States senator, was born in 1792 in Rockbridge, Va. He was a senator in cougress, from Mississippi, by appointment, from January to May, in 1830. He died July 2, 1830, in Natchez, Miss.

ADAMS, SAMUEL, statesman. He was acting governor of Arkansas in 1844.

ADAMS, SAMUEL, military surgeon, was born in Maine. Dr. Adams distinguished himself during the civil war by riding along the advanced line of combatants, and under the fire of the enemy, dressing the wounds of Gen. Potter, who could not be removed from the spot where he fell, and, but for the action of Surgeon Adams, would have lost his life. He died Sept. 9, 1867, in Galveston, Texas.

ADAMS, SAMUEL, governor of Massachusetts, was born Sept. 27, 1722, in Boston, Mass., and was a cousin of President John Adams. He graduated from Harvard university in 1740; studied for the ministry; received the degree of A.M. in 1743; was one of the first who organized measures of resistance to the mother country, and drew up the instructions of the town of Boston against taxation iu 1764. He was elected a represeutative in 1765; was chosen clerk and served in that body for ten years, and, it is said, he suggested the congress that assembled at New York in 1765, and the non-importation agreement of 1769. He addressed a public meeting the day after the Bostou massacre, and was chairman of the committee to demand the removal of the troops. In 1772 he organized the committee of correspondence, which was first adopted by Massachusetts, and followed by all the provinces; was a signer of the declaration of independence; was one of those who matured the plan of the continental congress, and was delegate from Massachusetts from 1774 to 1782. He signed the articles of confederation; was a member of the state convention which adopted the federal constitution, and made some amendments to that instrument. On the adoption of the state constitution, he was made president of the senate; was lieutenant governor of Massachusetts from 1789-94, and governor from 1794-97. So ardent was his patriotism, that he was one of the three leaders who were to be exempt from the pardon offered in 1775. As a statesman and orator he fills a large place in the anuals of the American revolution. He died Oct. 2, 1803, in Boston, Mass.

ADAMS, SAMUEL M., clergyman, legislator, was born Dec. 10, 1853, in Dallas county, Ala. He was twice elected to the state legislature of Alabama; and was president of the Alabama Farmers' State alliance for six years in succession. For twenty years he has been a missionary baptist clergyman, and is now pastor of the baptist church at Jemison, Ala.

ADAMS, SETH, inveutor, manufacturer, was born April 13, 1807, in Rochester, N. H. In 1836 he began the mauufacture of the famous power printing presses which had been invented by his brother Isaac. For many years he had charge of the Adams Sugar Refinery, which was then the largest of its kind in the United States. He took an active part in the public affairs of Newton, Mass., where he died Dec. 7, 1873. He left large bequests of money to Bowdoin college, and other institutions; and a massive monument has been erected to his memory.

ADAMS, SILAS, soldier, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Feb. 9, 1839, in Pulaski county, Ky. He received an education in the public schools of the county, the Kentucky university of Harrodsburg, and the Transylvania of Lexington. In 1867 he entered the law school at Lexington, and received license to practice; served two terms as county attorney; served three terms in the legislature; in 1892 was nominated and voted for by the republicans of the state legislature for speaker, and also for United States senator. He entered the union army in 1861 as first lieutenant, first Kentucky voluuteer cavalry; was promoted to captain, lieutenant-colonel, and colonel of the regiment, and was mustered out Dec. 31, 1864. In 1892 was elected to the fifty-third congress as a republican.

ADAMS, STEPHEN, lawyer, legislator, jurist, United States senator, was a native of Franklin county, Tenn., and was a member of the senate of that state. Removing to Mississippi, he took an active part in public affairs; was a member of the state legislature; a representative in congress from 1845 to 1847; was elected judge of the circuit court, and from 1852 to 1857 was a senator in congress from Mississippi. He removed to Tennessee, with the intention of practicing law at Memphis, where he died of smallpox, May 11, 1857.

ADAMS, THOMAS, congressman. He was a delegate from Virginia to the continental congress from 1778 to 1780, and signed the articles of confederation.

ADAMS, WASHINGTON IRVING, manufacturer, was born March 25, 1832, in New York city. In 1875 he became president of S. Peck and Co., manufacturers of photographic apparatus; and was for many years vice-president of the Centennial Photograph company.

ADAMS, WILLIAM, clergymau, author, was boru Jan. 25, 1807, in Colchester, Conn. He was a presbyterian clergyman of prominence in New York city during 1835-80. He was the author of the Three Gardens: Edeu, Gethsemane, Paradise; Conversations of Jesus Christ with Representative Men; In the World, Not of the World; Thanksgiving, and Memories of the Day and Helps to the Habit. He died Oct. 31, 1880, in Orange Mountain, N. J.

ADAMS, WILLIAM, clergyman, theologian, author, was born July 3, 1813, in Ireland. He was an episcopal clergyman who was one of the founders of Nashotah Theological seminary, Wisconsin, and professor of systematic divinity there from 1841. He was the author of Mercy to Babes; Elements of Christian Science; and New Treatise of Baptismal Regeneration. He died in 1897.

ADAMS, WILLIAM FORBES, bishop, was born Jan. 2, 1833, in Ireland. He was admitted to the Mississippi bar. He afterward removed to Tennessee, and became a candidate for holy orders in 1857. Removing to Mississippi while pursuing his theological course, he was ordained deacon in 1859; priest in 1860, and is now a bishop in the protestant episcopal church in the diocese of Easton, Md.

ADAMS, WILLIAM TAYLOR (Oliver Optic), educator, author, was born July 30, 1822, in Medway, Mass. He was a prolific and popular writer of books for boys, and was for many years a teacher iu the Boston public schools. Among his writings are: Army and Navy Series; Young America Abroad Series; Lake Shore Series; and Starry Flag Series. In 1867 he founded the journal known as Our Boys and Girls. He died in 1897.

ADAMSON, WILLIAM CHARLES, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 13, 1854, in Bowdon, Ga. He spent his youth alternately in working on the farm and in hauling goods and cotton between Atlanta and Bowdon; took the collegiate course at Bowdon college, graduating with the degree of A. B. in 1874, the degree of A. M. being conferred a few years later by the same institution. He was admitted to the bar October, 1876, and has lived at Carrollton, Ga., ever since. He was judge of the city court of Carrollton from 1885 to 1889, and was attoruey for the city of Carrollton for a number of years; was presidential elector in 1892; and had never held nor sought any other office until elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

ADDAMS, WILLIAM, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1776, in Lancaster county, Pa. He was a member of the state legislature from 1822-24. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1825-29; and associate judge of Berks county from 1839-42. He died in the spring of 1858.

ADDICKS, GEORGE B., clergyman, college president, was born Sept. 9, 1854, in Hampton, Ill. For many years he was professor of German language and literature in the Iowa Wesleyan university of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa; and subsequently became president of the Central Wesleyan college and clergyman of the German methodist episcopal church of Warrenton, Mo.

ADDICKS, JOHN EDWARD, capitalist, was born Nov. 21, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. Works for the manufacture of gas were built by him in Jersey City and for The Consumers' Gas Co. of Chicago, and the competition which he engendered led to a union of the gas companies in Chicago into the now noted Chicago Gas Trust. In 1884 he organized and became president of The Bay State Gas Co. of Boston, which constructed large works. In 1892 he bought a majority interest in The Brooklyn Gas Co., becoming its president, and is now largely interested in other gas companies in Brooklyn, N. Y. These operations have brought him large wealth. He has also established a gas making plant in Wilmington, Del.

ADDIS, EMMERSON W., journalist, state legislator, was born Oct. 13, 1853, in Litchfield, Conn. He is the editor of The Standard of Brewster, N. Y.; has been postmaster, justice and trustee of Brewster; and in 1895 was elected a member of the New York state assembly. He was re-elected in 1897, and has taken an active part on various committees.

ADE, GEORGE, journalist, author, was born in 1866 in Illinois. He is a successful Chicago journalist; and the author of Artie, a Story of the Streets and Town.

ADEE, ALVEY A., public official, diplomatist, was born Nov. 27, 1842, in Astoria, N. Y. He was educated by private tutors; studied civil engineering; and was secretary of the American legation at Madrid, Spain, from 1870 to 1877. In 1877 he was transferred to the department of state at Washington; in 1878 became chief of the diplomatic division of that department; and in 1882 was appointed third assistant secretary of state.

ADEE, DAVID GRAHAM, lawyer, jurist, author, was born May 31, 1837, in Chelsea, Mass. He was United States commissioner to Sandwich islands in 1883; during the war he was military secretary on staff duty, and has practiced law in New York ten years. He is the author of the novel No. 19 State Street, and is still largely engaged in literary work. The poems of this great jurist have appeared in the leading daily newspapers of America, and in current magazines.

ADGATE, ASA, legislator, congressman. He was a representative in the legislature of New York from Clinton county from 1798 to 1799; was a representative in congress from Essex county from 1815 to 1817; and was again a member of the legislature in 1823.

ADKINSON, MARY OSBURN, temperance reformer, was born July 28, 1843, in Rush county, Ind. She is the wife of the Rev. L. G. Adkinson, the president of the New Orleans university. She took a leading part in the organization of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society of Madison, Ind.; and was four times unanimously elected its president. She has been superintendent of the Woman's Christian Temperance union in the state of Louisiana; and is also matron in the New Orleans university.

ADLER, FELIX, reformer, author, was born Aug. 13, 1851, in Germany. He is an ethical reformer of New York city; and the author of Creed and Deed; and The Moral Instruction of Children.

ADLER, GEORG, philologist, author, was born in 1821, in Germany. He was a philologist of New York city; and was the author of a valuable German and English dictionary and other educational works. He died Aug. 24, 1868, in New York city.

ADRAIN, GARNETT B., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 20, 1816, in New York city. He graduated from Rutgers college in 1833; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1837. He was a representative from New Jersey in the thirty-fifth congress; and was also elected a member of the thirty-sixth congress. In 1861 he offered the resolution of thanks to Major Robert Anderson for his defense of Fort Sumter. He died Aug. 17, 1878, in New Brunswick. N. J.

ADRAIN, ROBERT, mathematician, was born Sept. 30, 1775, in Ireland. He taught school in New Jersey and Pennsylvania, contributed to scientific journals, and from 1810 to 1813 was professor of natural philosophy and mathematics in Rutgers college; then until 1825 in Columbia college; and from 1827 to 1834 was professor of mathematics in the university of Pennsylvania. He edited Hutton's Mathematics, published essays on the figure and magnitude of the earth and on gravity, and was editor from 1825 to 1829 of the Mathematical Diary. He died Aug. 10, 1843, in New Brunswick, N. J.

ADRAIN, ROBERT, lawyer, state senator, was born Dec. 17, 1853, in New Brunswick, N. J. He was elected president of the senate of New Jersey in 1891, and successively re-elected in 1892 and 1893. He was appointed prosecutor of the pleas of Middlesex county in 1890, and continued to hold the position for several years.

ADRIAN, JAMES, physician, was born Jan. 12, 1829, in St. Lawrence county, N. Y. In 1876 he was a member of the electoral college, and his efforts in support of Tilden and Hendricks established his reputation as a political orator. In 1875 he was a delegate from the American Medical association to tne International Medical congress at Brussels.

ADSIT, ALLEN C., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 20, 1837, in Rutland, N. Y. He studied law at Watertown, N. Y., and was admitted to the bar in 1859. He enlisted in the forty-fourth New York volunteers in 1861, and participated in the principal battles in which the army of the Potomac was engaged. He was a representative in the Michigan state legislature in 1871-72; and now practices his profession in Grand Rapids, Mich.

ADSIT, NANCY H., art lecturer, was born May 21, 1825, in Palermo, N. Y. She graduated from the Ingham university, and for the past half a century has contributed constantly to current literature. Her contribution to the London Art Journal and other leading art publications has made her name well known in art circles; and to her work is due most of the art interest in Wisconsin, as well as in the entire west.

AGAR, JOHN GIRARD, lawyer, was born June 3, 1856, in New Orleans, La. He was appointed assistant United States district attorney for the southern district of New York. He held this office for a year when he resigned and became the senior member of the firm of Agar, Ely and Fulton. The university of Georgetown conferred upon him the degree of M. A.

AGARD, ISAAC MERRITT, educator, was born Dec. 3, 1854, near Stafford, Conn. He has attained success in educational work; and is now principal of the Rockville high school, Conn., and also superintendent of the east district schools. He received a thorough education at the Amherst college and other institutions, and has had conferred upon him the degrees of M. A. and Ph. D.

AGASSIZ, ALEXANDER, zoologist, author, was born Dec. 17, 1835, in Neuchatel, Switzerland, and is a son of L. Agassiz. He is a marine zoologist, and came to America with his father, and has distinguished himself in lines of special scientific research. He is the author of Exploration of Lake Titicaca; List of the Echinoderms; and Three Cruises of the Blake.

AGASSIZ, ELIZABETH CABOT, naturalist, was born in 1822. In 1850 she was married to Professor Louis Agassiz. She accompanied her husband on his journey to Brazil in 1865-66; and on the Hassler expedition in 1871-72; and was associated with him in many of his studies and writings. She is the author of A First Lesson in Natural History; Edited Geological Sketches; and also edited. Life and Correspondence, of her husband, in two volumes.

AGASSIZ, JEAN LOUIS RODOLPHE, educator, naturalist, author, was born May 28, 1807, in Switzerland. He was a naturalist of eminence, and the founder of the Museum of Natural History at Cambridge. He was the author of Recherches sur les Poissons Fossiles; Lake Superior, Natural History of Fresh Water Fishes of Central Europe; Etudes sur les Glaciers; Système Glacière; Methods of Study in Natural History; Geological Sketches; Structure of Animal Life; and A Journey in Brazil. He died Dec. 14, 1873, in Cambridge, Mass. His grave in Mt. Auburn is marked by a boulder from the glacier of the Aar, and shaded by pine trees brought from Switzerland.

AGEN, JAMES HERMAN, soldier, financier, legislator, was born April 29, 1847, in Montpelier, Vt. He was president of the West Superior Chamber of Commerce in 1890-91; represented his ward as alderman in 1893-94; was president of the Douglas County Agricultural society and also president of the Northwestern Wisconsin Fair association in 1895-96. He served two years and nine months in the First New York Dragoons; was in forty-two battles, serving under Gen. Phil. Sheridan; and was wounded in the battle of Winchester in 1864. He was elected to the Wisconsin state assembly in 1896.

AGNEW, CORNELIUS REA, physician, philanthropist, was born Aug. 8, 1830, in New York city. He founded in 1868 the Brooklyn eye and ear hospital, and in 1869 the Manhattan eye and ear hospital; contributed numerous papers to the current medical journals, most of which are devoted to diseases of the eye and ear, and he also published brief monographs and a Series of American Clinical Lectures. He died April 18, 1888, in New York city.

AGNEW, DANIEL, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 5, 1809, in Trenton, N. J. He received his education at the Rev. Joseph Stockton academy, and the Western university of Pennsylvania, both of Pittsburg, Pa. In 1829 he was admitted to the bar, and practiced for many years in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1837-38 he was a delegate in convention to amend the constitution of Pennsylvania. During 1851-63 he was president judge of the seventh judicial district of Pennsylvania; in 1863-79 was justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania; and from 1874-79 was chief justice of the supreme court of Pennsylvania.

AGNEW, DAVID HAYES, physician, author, was born Nov. 24, 1818, in Lancaster county, Pa. He was a successful physician and was for a long time professor of surgery in the university of Pennsylvania. His writings were the outcome of wide experience. His works are: Handbook of Practical Anatomy; Principles and Practice of Surgery: a treatise on Surgical Diseases and Injuries, which has been translated into the Japanese language. He died in 1892.

AGNUS, FELIX, soldier, journalist, was born July 4, 1839, in France. In 1864 he was brevetted lieutenant-colonel in the civil war. He is a leading journalist of the south.

AHEARN, JOHN F., merchant, state senator, was born April 18, 1853, in New York city. His early life was devoted to mercantile pursuits. In 1882 he was elected to the New York state assembly; to the state senate in 1889, again in 1891, 1893, and in 1895.

AHL, JOHN A., manufacturer, congressman, was born in August, 1815, in Strasburg, Pa. He received a good English education; studied medicine with his father and graduated at the Washington Medical college of Baltimore. He abandoned his profession in 1850, and turned his attention to various kinds of manufactures. He was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-fifth congress.

AHRENS, MARY A., lawyer, philanthropist, was born Dec. 29, 1836, in England. She received her education in the seminary of Galesburg, Ill.; and in 1889 graduated from the Chicago Union College of Law. She has been vice-president of the Protective Agency for Women and Children; chairman of the Woman's School Suffrage association of Cook county; and is a member of the Illinois Woman's Press association.

AIKEN, CHARLES AUGUSTUS, educator, college president, was born Oct. 30, 1827, in Manchester, Vt. He was graduated at Dartmouth college in 1846 and at Andover Theological seminary in 1853. From 1859 to 1866 he was professor of Latin at Dartmouth, and from 1866 to 1869 at Princeton college. From 1869 to 1871 he was president of Union college.

AIKEN, D. WYATT, soldier, legislator, congressman, was born March 17, 1828, in Winnsboro, S. C. He gradnated at the South Carolina college in 1849; taught school for two years; engaged in farming; and served in the confederate army during the war of the rebellion from 1861 until disabled by wounds. He was elected a representative in the state legislature in 1864, and again in 1866. He was a delegate to the Democratic national convention of 1876; was elected a representative from South Carolina to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, and forty-ninth congresses.

AIKEN, JOHN, educator, was born in 1797 in Vermont. He was trustee of the Andover Theological seminary, and for fifteen years one of the board of commissioners for foreign missions. He died Feb. 11, 1867.

AIKENS, AMANDA L, editor, philanthropist, was born May 12, 1833, in North Adams, Mass. Since 1887 she has been editor of The Woman's World, a special department of The Evening Wisconsin, of Milwaukee, Wis.; of which publication her husband is one of the proprietors. She has been president of the Board of Local Charities and Corrections; was two years president of the Woman's club of Milwaukee, and has filled other positions of honor in various institutions. She was one of the organizers of the First Woman's Republican club of Wisconsin; and for nearly twenty years has been identified as officer or director with the Art Science Class, a literary organization for the purpose of developing a taste in architecture, painting, sculpture and science.

AIKENS, ANDREW JACKSON, manufacturer, journalist, was born Oct. 31, 1830, in Barnard, Vt. In 1856 he was city editor of the Evening Wisconsin; and in 1864 the firm of Cramer, Aikens and Cramer, commenced publication of the patent insides with advertisements, being the only pioneer house in the bnsiness.

AIKIN, WILLIAM, governor of South Carolina, was born in 1806 in Charleston, S. C. He graduated at the South Caroliua college in 1825; was a member of the state legislature in 1838, 1840, and 1842; was governor of South Carolina in 1844; and a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1857. He was considered one of the most successful riceplanters in his native state, and was one of the leading men of his state who did not take part iu the rebellion. He was also noted for his liberality, benevolence, and culture as a scholar.

AIKMAN, GRANVILLE P., lawyer, orator, jurist, was born Dec. 27, 1857, in London, Ky. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Kansas, the London seminary, and from private instructors. He has attained success as an eminent lawyer of Eldorado, Kan.; and was prosecnting attorney of Butler county iu 1882. In 1883 he was elected judge of the probate court; and in 1895 received the nomination for circuit judge. He has taken great interest in republican politics, aud is well known as a brilliant orator. For several years he was editor of The Eldorado Eagle, and has contributed extensively to current literature.

AIKMAN, HUGH, was born July 11, 1790, in Nova Scotia. He was for a number of years president of the New York Marine Bible society, and was also a member of the New York peace society. He was notable for his earnestness in advocating the principle of peace in the intercourse of nations with each other. He died in 1867 in Brooklyn, N. Y.

AIKMAN, WILLIAM, clergyman, anthor, was born in 1824 in Italy. He was a presbyterian clergyman; and the author of The Moral Power of the Sea; Life at Home, or the Family and Its Members; The Altar in the Home; and A Bachelor's Talks abont Married Life.

AINSLIE, GEORGE, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Oct. 30, 1838, near Boonville, Mo. He attended the St. Louis university two years; studied law; was admitted to practice in 1860, and removed to Colorado. In 1862 he settled in that portion of Washington territory which now constitutes the territory of Idaho; served in the territorial legislature, and was president of the council during one session. He was editor of a newspaper from 1869 to 1873; was elected district attorney in 1874, and re-elected in 1876. He was elected a delegate from Idaho to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses.

AINSLIE, HEW, poet, was born in 1792 in Scotland. He was a Scottish poet who emigrated to America in 1822 and lived mainly in Kentucky. He was the author of Pilgrimage to the Land of Burns, a prose work with lyrics interspersed; and Scottish Songs, Ballads, and Poems. He died in 1878.

AINSWORTH, FRANK BEVERIDGE, reformer, was born Aug. 11, 1841, in Lisbon, N. Y. In 1870 he was a delegate from the state of Indiana to the international congress on penitentiary and reformatory discipline at Cincinnati, Ohio; and in 1867 he was superintendent of the Indiana House of Refuge.

AINSWORTH, JAMES GALVESTON, farmer, merchant, legislator, was born May 26, 1846, in Copiah county, Miss. He is a successful farmer and merchant of Ainsworth, Miss.; and in 1896 was elected a member of the Mississippi state legislature, his term expiring in 1900.

AINSWORTH, LABAN, clergyman, was born July 19, 1757, in Woodstock, Conn. He graduated from Dartmouth college in 1778, and was ordained pastor of the church at Jaffrey in 1782, where he remained until his death, seventy-six years. This is probably the longest pastorate on record. He died March 17, 1858, in Jaffrey, N. H.

AINSWORTH, LUCIEN LESTER, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 21, 1831, in New Woodstock, N. Y. He was educated at the common schools and at the Oneida Conference seminary, New York; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1854. In 1855 he removed to West Union, Iowa; was a member of the lower house and senate of the state for several years; and was elected a representative from Iowa to the forty-fourth congress. He entered the union army in 1862 as captain in the sixth regiment Iowa cavalry, and served for three years against the Indians in the northwest.

AITKEN, DAVID D., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 5, 1854, in Genesee county, Mich. He started in life as a bookkeeper, then became a teacher, and in 1878 was admitted to the bar. In 1880 he organized the Venns Tent of the Knights of the Maccabees, of which order he was elected supreme commander iu 1882, and supreme counselor and great commander in 1892. He is a successful lawyer of Flint, Mich., and served with distinction as a member of the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses.

AITKEN, ROBERT, journalist, anthor, was born in 1734, in Scotland. He settled in Philadelphia in 1769, and published the Pennsylvania Magazine, or American Monthly Museum, in 1775-76, having Hopkiuson and Witherspoon for contribntors, and was imprisoned in 1777 for his attachment to the cause of independence. He printed the first American Bible in 1782, aud is reputed to have been the author of An Inquiry Concerning the Principles of a Commercial System for the United States. He died July, 1802, in Philadelphia, Pa.

AKELEY, HEALY CADY, lumber merchant, was born March 16, 1836, in Stowe, Vt. He was educated in the local schools, and began life as a farmer and surveyor, and later became a lawyer. In 1863, he enlisted in the second Michigan cavalry as a private, and was mustered ont in 1865 as adjutant of the regiment. In 1872, he went into the manufactnre of lumber in Grand Haven, Mich., and continued therein until removal to Minneapolis in 1887. He was mayor of Grand Haven two terms, aud 1866-81 collector of customs for the district of Michigan. Mr. Akeley is now president of The H. C. Akeley Lumber Co. of Minneapolis, in partnership with Charles H. Hackley and Thomas Hume, of Muskegon, Mich., president of The Itasca Lumber Co., and president of The Flour City National bank and The Metropolitan Trust Co.

AKER, LEONARD, farmer, soldier, legislator, was born in 1842 in Ravenna, Ohio. He enlisted as a private in company F, twelfth regiment Indiana volunteer infantry. After serving thirteen months, was mustered out at expiration of service, May 27, 1862. He re-enlisted Aug. 15, 1862, to serve three years, in company F, one hundredth Indiana volunteers. Commissioned second lieutenant; promoted to first lieutenant; and then captain, July 28, 1864, which rank he held when mustered out at the close of the war. Captain Aker was appointed on the commission to locate the Kansas soldiers' graves, and to erect a monument to the memory of the fallen heroes of the eighth Kansas, on the fields of Chickamauga and Mission Ridge, at the Chattanooga cemetery, in 1895. He served with distinction as a member of the Kansas state legislature in 1897.

AKER, WILLIAM W., soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born in Darke county, Ohio. He graduated from the Cincinnati law school and was admitted to the bar in that city in 1872, but shortly after removed to Eaton, Ohio. He served in the union army as lieutenant of company H, ninety-third Ohio volunteer infantry, and in 1897 was post commander of Calep Marker post, G. A. R., at New Paris. He was elected to the seventy-first general assembly of the Ohio state legislature as a republican; and was re-elected to the seventy-second general assembly.

AKERLY, SAMUEL, physician, author, was born in 1785. He was graduated at Columbia college in 1804. He contributed to medical and scientific periodicals, was active in establishing institutions for deaf mutes and the blind, and published an Essay on the Geology of the Hudson River and Observations on Deafness. He died July 6, 1845, on Staten Island, N. Y.

AKERMAN, AMOS TAPPAN, lawyer, was born 1819 in New Hampshire. He graduated from Dartmouth college in 1842, was admitted to the bar in 1841, and settled in Elberton, Ga., in 1850. He followed his state in secession in 1861, and served the confederate government in the quartermaster's department; but after the war he was a republican and reconstructionist. He was appointed district attorney for Georgia in 1866 and attorney-general of the United States in 1870, remaining in that office until 1872.

AKERS, BENJAMIN PAUL, sculptor, was born July 16, 1825, in Westbrook, Maine. His best known works are: Peace; Saint Elizabeth of Hungary; Diana and Endymion; Paul and Francesca; Milton; and The Dead Pearl Diver. He died May 21, 1861, in Philadelphia, Pa.

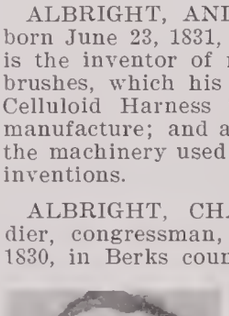
AKERS, THOMAS PETER, congressman. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the thirty-fourth congress for the unexpired term of J. G. Miller, and served one session.

AKINS, FRANCIS ASAHEL, farmer and secretary State Grange, was born Jan. 2, 1849, in Mayfield, Ohio. He graduated from the Baldwin university of Berea, Ohio. He was president of the state association of Mutual Fire Insurance associations; in 1890 was elected secretary of the Ohio State Grange Patrons of Husbandry, and received the re-election for four successive terms.

ALBAUGH, JOHN W., actor, was born Sept. 30, 1837, in Baltimore, Md. In 1875 he gained popularity in the play Louis XI; and since that time has been manager of the Holiday Street theater, and the lessee of the popular Albaugh Grand Opera House of Washington, D. C. He is also the possessor of the most varied and extensive dramatic library in America.

ALBEE, JOHN, author, poet, was born in 1833, in Bellingham, Mass. He graduated from Phillip academy of Andover, Mass., and the Harvard university. For many years he was a successful clergyman. He has written extensively and published the following books: Literary Art; An Indian Idyl; History of New Castle, N. H.; and Prose Idyls. He has been a constant contributor to the leading magazines and periodicals of America, and his poems have been given prominence in standard publications.

ALBERGER, FRANKLIN AUGUSTUS, business man, was born Jan. 14, 1825, in Baltimore, Md. He was appointed canal commissioner in 1862, serving six years; was elected to the assembly in 1871, and re-elected for the three following terms. With the close of his assembly term he retired from public life and devoted himself to private business. He died Aug. 24, 1877.



ALBERT, JOHN S., engineer, was born in 1835. He entered the navy in 1855 from New York, and was appointed chief engineer in 1861, in which capacity he served during the war with credit. He died July 3, 1880, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ALBERT, WILLIAM J., merchant, congressman, was born Aug. 4, 1816, at Baltimore, Md. He was educated at St. Mary's college; was a merchant; retired from business in 1856, and was a presidential elector in 1864. He was subsequently interested in banking and manufactures, and was elected to the forty-third congress as a republican.

ALBERTSON, NATHANIEL, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was elected a representative in congress from the first congressional district of Indiana from 1849 to 1851.

ALBRIGHT, ANDREW, inventor, was born June 23, 1831, in Dryden, N. Y. He is the inventor of rubber bound and set brushes, which his firm, the Rubber and Celluloid Harness Trimmings Company, manufacture; and also of a great part of the machinery used in manufacturing his inventions.

ALBRIGHT, CHARLES, lawyer, soldier, congressman, was born Dec. 13, 1830, in Berks county, Pa. He was educated at Dickinson college; studied law and came to the bar in 1852. In 1854 he visited Kansas, and in 1856 returned to Pennsylvania; in 1860 was a delegate to the republican national convention; entered the army in 1862; was commissioned colonel, commanding the third brigade at Chancellorsville, and was placed in command at Camp Muhlenburg, Pa., to organize troops. In July he was sent to Philadelphia to assist in the draft; in September, 1864, was assigned to an independent command to protect railroads and the outer defenses of Washington, and in March, 1865, was promoted to brevet brigadier-general of volunteers. After the war he was sent to the command of the Lehigh military district to pacify tumults in the mining regions; in 1865 was mustered out of service, and in 1872 was a delegate to the republican national convention at Philadelphia. He was elected to the forty-third congress.

ALBRIGHT, CHARLES J., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was elected from the state of Ohio as a representative to the thirty-fourth congress.

ALBRIGHT, ELIZA DOWNING, educator, temperance worker, was born March 13, 1847, in Philadelphia, Pa. After her marriage in 1867 to the Rev. Louis M. Albright, she was engaged in teaching mathematics and natural sciences in the Ohio Wesleyan female college; and has also filled the chair of mathematics in the Depauw female college, of which institution her husband was president. Since 1877 she has been identified with the Ohio Woman's Christian Temperance Union and the Woman's Foreign Missionary society, and has filled numerous positions of honor as secretary, chairman and speaker.

ALBRIGHT, JACOB, clergyman, was born May 1, 1759, in Pottstown, Pa. Beginning a religious life in 1790, and being successful as an exhorter, he soon became a methodist minister. He made many converts, almost exclusively Germans, and in 1800 a separate church organization was created for them, Albright being their first presiding elder. He was appointed bishop in 1807. His denomination is now known as the evangelical association, but in many places its adherents are named Albrights. He died in 1808.

ALBROOK, J. B., educator, clergyman, was born July 18, 1844, in Monroe, Pa. In 1870 he graduated from the Cornell college, Iowa. In 1863 he was first lieutenant in Milo guards; in 1874 was chaplain of the Iowa Independent Order Good Templars; in 1892 was department chaplain of the Iowa Grand Army of the Republic. In 1896 he was a delegate to the general conference of the methodist episcopal church; and is now pastor of one of the largest and best churches in Iowa methodism.

ALBUOY, WILLIAM A. H., clergyman, was born July 19, 1861, in Bermuda, West Indies. In 1888 he graduated from the Lincoln university, Virginia, and pursued his theological studies in the same institution. In 1891 he was ordained a presbyterian clergyman. He has organized four churches in Charlotte county, Va.; and in 1897 became moderator of the presbytery of southern Virginia.

ALCORN, JAMES LUSK, lawyer, general, governor of Mississippi, United States senator, was born Nov. 4, 1816, near Golconda, Ill. He settled in Kentucky; was educated at Cumberland college; was appointed deputy sheriff of Livingston county, and held the office for five years. In 1843 he was elected to the legislature; removed in 1844 to Mississippi; entered upon the practice of law, and served sixteen years in the legislature of that state in the house and senate. In 1852 he was chosen elector, and was nominated for governor in 1857, but declined. He was founder of the levee system in his state, and in 1858 was chosen president of the levee board of the Mississippi-Yazoo delta. He was elected to the state convention of 1851, and again to that of 1861, the latter body electing him a brigadier-general. In 1865 he was elected to the senate of the United States, but not allowed to take his seat. In 1869 he was elected governor of Mississippi, and was elected to the senate of the United States in 1871 for six years.

ALCOTT, AMOS BRONSON, educator, lecturer, author, was born Nov. 29, 1799, in Wolcott, Conn. He was a philosopher of a singularly unpractical type, whose personality was of greater interest than his writings. He was the author of Conversations with Children on the Gospels; Table Talk, Emerson; Essays; Tablets, Concord Days, Sonnets, and Canzonets; and New Connecticut, a poem. He died March 4, 1888, in Boston, Mass. He was the father of Louisa May Alcott.

ALCOTT, LOUISA MAY, author, was born Nov. 29, 1832, in Germantown, Pa. She was a writer whose books for young people have been widely popular. She served as a hospital nurse in Washington in 1862-63. She was the author of Little Women; Little Men; An Old-Fashioned Girl; Eight Cousins; Under the Lilacs; Moods; Hospital Sketches, and A Modern Mephistopheles. The thoughtful poem, Thoreau's Flute, is her finest effort. She died March 6, 1888, in Boston, Mass.

ALCOTT, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, reformer, author, was born Aug. 6, 1798, in Wolcott, Conn. He was an energetic, earnest writer upon diet reform, and the author of The House I Live In; Vegetable Diet; and Library of Health. He died March 29, 1859, in Auburndale, Mass.

ALDEN, CYNTHIA M. WESTOVER, educator, journalist, was born May 31, 1862, in Afton, Iowa She is a graduate of the Colorado state university and the Deuver business college. She has been a teacher of geology, bookkeeping and vocal music, and as a soprano soloist she sang for several years in the New York church choirs. In 1887 she became inspector of customs of the United States government in New York City, making some of the most important seizures in the service. For many years she was engaged in the state museum of natural history, in the geological department and the cataloguing of gems, etc., which was to her more a work of pleasure than labor. She resigned her position in the museum to devote herself entirely to journalistic work; for several years was editor of the woman's department of the New York Recorder; and is now the editor of the woman's department of the New York Tribune.

ALDEN, EBENEZER, physician, author, was born March 17, 1788, in Randolph, Mass. He was of the seventh generation from John Alden of Mayflower memory, and was graduated at Harvard in 1808. He studied medicine at Dartmouth and at the university of Pennsylvania, and followed his profession throughout his life in his native town. He published Historical Sketches of the Massachusetts Medical Society; Memoirs of Mrs. M. A. O. Clark, and the Alden Memorial (Boston, 1867). He died Jan. 26, 1881, in Randolph, Mass.

ALDEN, EMILY GILLMORE, educator, poet, was born Jan. 21, 1834, in Boston, Mass. She has taught in Castleton, Vt., and now has charge of the departments of history, rhetoric and English literature in the Monticello seminary of Godfrey, Ill. She is the author of numerous meritorious poems, and has contributed extensively to current literature.

ALDEN, GEORGE ADELBERT, merchant, was born April 7, 1830, in Hope, Maine. He started a brokerage business in drugs and crude rubber, adopting the firm name of George A. Alden and Co. In 1878 his oldest son, Adelbert Henry Alden, then just of age, came into the concern as a partner. The firm now enjoy a large business in importing rubber, and have gradually come to deal in various other foreign products.

ALDEN, HENRY MILLS, journalist, author, poet, was born Nov. 11, 1836, in Mount Tabor, Vt. He received a college education, and in 1869 he became managing editor of Harper's Magazine. He is the author of the poem, The Ancient Lady of Sorrow; and, jointly with A. H. Guernsey, Harper's Pictorial History of the Great Rebellion, Mr. Guernsey writing the eastern campaigns and Mr. Alden the western. He is also the author of God in His World, and A Study of Death.

ALDEN, HIRAM, legislator, philanthropist, was born in October, 1792, in Ashfield, Mass. He was a representative from Branch county in 1835 in the Michigan state legislature, and was of the seventh generation from John Aldeu, of Mayflower fame. In 1838 he was appointed commissioner of internal improvements of Michigan, and was acting railroad commissiouer at the time of the construction of the railroad from Detroit to Pontiac. He died Nov. 26, 1838, in Detroit, Mich., and was followed to his grave by six hundred officials and laborers, who insisted on paying the expenses as their tribute to a friend and an honest man.

ALDEN, ICHABOD, soldier, was born Aug. 11, 1739, in Duxbury, Mass. He was a great-grandson of John Alden of the original Plymouth colony. Before the revolution he was lieutenant-colonel of the Plymouth regiment, and he held the same rank iu Baldwin's regiment at the siege of Boston. Subsequently he was promoted to the colonelcy of the 7th Massachusetts regiment. He was killed by Indians at Cherry Valley, N. Y. He died Nov. 10, 1778.

ALDEN, ISABELLA MACDONALD, author, was born Nov. 3, 1841, in Rochester, N. Y. In 1866 she was married to the Rev. G. R. Alden, and resides in Washington, D. C. Her books are peculiarly adapted to the use of the youth of this country; and most of them have been adopted in Sunday school libraries throughout the United States. She is author of a popular juvenile series called Pansy Books, embracing nearly sixty titles, most of which are adapted to the use of Sunday school libraries. Mrs. Alden has from the beginning been identified with the Chautauqua system of instruction, and also edits Pansy, a juvenile publication.

ALDEN, JAMES, naval officer, was born March 31, 1810, in Portland, Maine. He was appointed midshipman in 1828, and in that capacity accompanied the Wilkes exploring expedition around the world in 1838-42. He was commissioned commodore in 1866, and two years later was placed in charge of the navy yard at Mare Island, Cal. He died Feb. 6, 1877, in San Francisco, Cal.

ALDEN, JOHN, magistrate of the Plymouth colony, was born in 1599 in England. He was hired as a cooper at Southampton, where the Mayflower was undergoing repairs, and signed the compact in her cabin in 1620. He married Priscilla Mullens in 1621, and the incident of his courtship has been made the subject of one of Longfellow's longer poems. He died Sept. 12, 1687, in Duxbury, Mass.

ALDEN, JOSEPH, educator, author, was born Jan. 4, 1807, in Cairo, N. Y. He was an industrious contributor to educational and Sunday-school literature. He was for many years president of the normal school at Albany; and was the author of Example of Washingtou; Citizen's Manual; Christian Ethics; The Science of Government; Studies in Bryant, and other works. He died Aug. 30, 1885, in New York.

ALDEN, ROGER, soldier, was born Feb. 11, 1754, in Lebanon, Conn. He was graduated at Yale in 1773, and served in the revolutionary war as aide to Geueral Greene. Subsequently he became agent of the Holland Land company, and resided at Meadville, Pa., from 1795 to 1825. He was appointed ordnance storekeeper at West Point in 1825, and remained as such until his death. He was a great-grandson of John Alden. He died Nov. 5, 1836, in West Point, N. Y.

ALDEN, TIMOTHY, clergyman, college president, author, was born Aug. 28, 1771, in Yarmouth, Mass. He studied at Harvard, distinguishing himself by his knowledge of oriental languages, and was graduated in 1774. From 1799 to 1805 he was pastor to the congregational church in Portsmouth, N. H., where from 1800 to 1808 he taught school. Subsequently he conducted schools for young ladies in Boston, Newark, Cincinnati, and East Liberty, Pa. In 1817 he founded Alleghany college, Meadville, Pa., and became its first president, retiring in 1831. He published a collection of epitaphs and inscriptions in five volumes entitled: An Account of Sundry Missions Among the Senecas, and other works, and prepared a valuable catalogue of the library of the New York historical society. He died July 5, 1839, in Pittsburg, Pa.

ALDEN, TIMOTHY, inventor of a machine for setting and distributing type, was born in 1819 in Barnstable, Mass. He was sixth in descent from John Alden, the Mayflower Pilgrim. When very young and a compositor in his brother's printing office he said: If I live I will invent a machine to do this tiresome work. He steadily pursued this object, and after twenty years' labor accomplished it. It was improved after his death by Henry W. Alden. He died Dec. 4, 1858, in New York.

ALDEN, WILLIAM LIVINGSTON, author, was born Oct. 9, 1837, in Williamstown, Mass. He was a humorous writer who has for some time resided in London. He was the author of A New Robinson Crusoe; Domestic Explosions; Shooting Stars; Moral Pirates; Cruise of the Canoe Club; and Life of Christopher Columbus.

ALDERSON, JOHN DUFFY, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 29, 1854, at Nicholas Court-House, W. Va. He received a common-school education; studied law and was admitted to the bar when twenty-one years of age. He was appointed prosecuting attorney in each of the counties of Nicholas and Webster, to fill vacaucies occasioned by the death of his father, Hon. Joseph A. Alderson; and in 1876 was elected prosecuting attorney for these counties, and was twice re-elected, serving until Jan. 1, 1889. He was elected to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses, and re-elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat.

ALDRICH, ANNE REEVE, poet, novelist, was born April 25, 1866, in New York City. Her poems have constantly appeared in Lippincott's Magazine, The Century, and various other periodicals. She is the author of the Rose of Flame and Other Poems of Love; Songs About Life, Love and Death; and a novel entitled The Feet of Love. She died in 1892.

ALDRICH, CHARLES, journalist, was born Oct. 2, 1828, in Ellington, N. Y. He spent one year in Jamestowu academy. In 1857 he went to Iowa and established the Freeman in Webster City. He served as a member of the Iowa house of representatives in 1882-83. Mr. Aldrich is the author of many of the important laws of Iowa.

ALDRICH, CYRUS, contractor, public official, congressman, was born in June, 1808, in Smithfield, R. I. He received a common-school education; followed the various occupations of a sailor, a boatman, a farmer, a contractor on public works, and a mail contractor; was a member of the Illinois legislature, and also a register of deeds and register of the land office at Dixon, in that state, for four years. Having removed to Minnesota, he was a member of the constitutional convention of that state and member of the county board of Hennepin county, in that state. He was elected a representative from Minnesota to the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses. After leaving congress he was appointed commissioner to settle claims against the Sioux Indians. In 1867 he was appointed postmaster at Minneapolis, Minn.

ALDRICH, EMMA B., educator, journalist, author, was born April 4, 1845, in Cape May county, N. J. In 1864 she graduated from the state normal school of Trenton, N. J.; and subsequently attained success in educational work. She was married in 1866 to Mr. Levi L. Aldrich; and in connection with her husband published the Public Record of Cawker City, Kan. She was one of the organizers of the national woman's relief corps, one of the founders of the woman's Hesperian library club, and the founder of the Kansas woman's press association.

ALDRICH, FLORA L., physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 6, 1859, in Westford, N. Y. In 1883 she was married to Dr. A. G. Aldrich, of Adams, Mass. In 1877 she graduated from the medical department of the Minnesota state university, and has since taken post-graduate courses in the best schools in America and Europe. She has attained eminence as a successful physician and surgeon of Anoka, Minn.; is at the head of several literary and scientific organizations; and contributed extensively to current literature.

ALDRICH, FRANCIS FREDERICK, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 26, 1845, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was graduated at the law department of the university of Pennsylvania in 1866. He has published A Digest of the Laws and Ordinances of the City of Philadelphia, and A Digest of the Laws of Pennsylvania from 1883 to 1887.

ALDRICH, J. FRANK, civil engineer, business man, congressman, was born April 6, 1853, in Two Rivers, Wis.; removed to Chicago in April, 1861; attended public schools and Chicago university, and graduated at the Rensselaer polytechnic institute, Troy, N. Y., in 1877, with degree of civil engineer. He engaged in the manufacture of linseed oil and subsequently in the gas business. He has been a member of the Cook county board of commissioners, and was president of that body during the reform period in 1887; was also a member of the county board of education and chairman of the committee of citizens of Chicago appointed from the various clubs and commercial organizations to inaugurate and further the drainage act; and served as commissioner of public works of Chicago from 1891 to 1893. He was elected to the fifty-third and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ALDRICH, JAMES, journalist, poet, was born in 1810 in Suffolk, N. Y. He was a littérateur of New York, and established The Literary Gazette in 1840, in which a number of his verses appeared. His poems were privately printed by his daughter in 1884. He died in October, 1856.

ALDRICH, JAMES, legislator, jurist, was born July 25, 1850, in Barnwell, S. C., and is the son of James Thomas Aldrich. In 1872 he graduated from the Washington and Lee university of Lexington, Va. He was a member of the South Carolina legislature from 1878 to 1889, missing one term only through sickness. In 1889 he was elected circuit judge of the second circuit of South Carolina; he was re-elected in 1893, and is now the presiding judge. He has always taken an interest in educational matters, and has done considerable literary work, and has published numerous addresses, essays and articles on various topics.

ALDRICH, JAMES THOMAS, lawyer, author, was born in 1819, in Charleston, S. C. He refused every political position tendered him except as an officer in the service of the confederacy. In 1842 he was admitted to practice law, and soon became one of the leaders of the South Carolina bar, especially in the courts of equity. Mr. Aldrich, like many of his name, was the author of a number of poems and literary articles that have been a valuable acquisition to current literature. He died in 1875, at his residence in Barnwell C. H., S. C.

ALDRICH, JOSEPHINE CABLES, philanthropist, author, was born in Connecticut. In 1882 she founded The Occult World, a publication devoted to advanced thought and reform work. She is vice-president of the woman's national industrial league; vice-president of the woman's national liberal union; and one of the founders of the woman's national university and school of useful and ornamental arts; and resides in Aldrich, Ala.

ALDRICH, JULIA CARTER, author, poet, was born Jan. 28, 1834, in Liverpool, Ohio. For awhile she was engaged in educational work in her native town; and subsequently contributed to periodical literature under the pen name of Petresia Peters. She has written extensively on reformatory measures in the interest of humanity; and is also the author of a volume of poems.

ALDRICH, LEANDER JEFFERSON, clergyman, educator, college president, was born May 21, 1851, in Conklingville, N. Y. In 1880 he graduated from Oberlin college; and from the theological seminary in 1885. He has filled pastorates in Dover, Ohio, and in Merom, Ind. In 1886 he became president of the Union christian college of Merom, where he also fills the chair of rhetoric and botany, and also that of christian ethics. He has traveled extensively in foreign countries as a special student of ancient history and literature. He is also pastor of the college church.

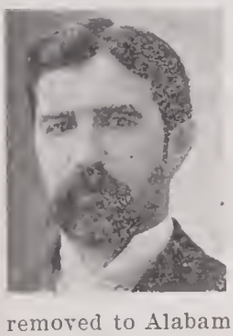
ALDRICH, LEVI, physician, state senator, was born Jan. 27, 1820, in Erie county, N. Y. He received an academical education, studied medicine at the Albany medical college and Buffalo medical university, and practiced medicine successfully in Erie county and at Edwardsburg. He was representative in the Michigan state legislature from Cass county in 1863-4; senator in 1865, and a member of the constitutional convention in 1867.

ALDRICH, MARY JANE, temperance reformer, lecturer, was born March 19, 1833, in Sidney Plains, N. Y. She has been president of the woman's christian temperance union of Iowa, of which she is now corresponding secretary; has lectured extensively, and was a member of the national convention of 1890, held in Cleveland, Ohio.

ALDRICH, NELSON WILMARTH, merchant, United States senator, was born Nov. 6, 1841, in Foster, R. I. He received an academic education; engaged in mercantile pursuits, and was president of the common council of Providence, R. I., in 1872 and 1873. He was a member of the state house of representatives in 1875 and 1876, serving as speaker during the latter year. He was elected a representative from Rhode Island to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses, and resigned in 1881 to take his seat as a senator of the United States from Rhode Island for the term of six years from March 4, 1881, and received the re-election in 1886 and in 1893.

ALDRICH, ORLANDO W., lawyer, was born March 30, 1840, in Clarence, N. Y. He filled the chair of law in the Illinois Wesleyan university; was professor of law in the Ohio state university; president of the Ohio society of war of 1812, and judge advocate department of Ohio, Grand Army of the Republic.

ALDRICH, SAMUEL N., lawyer, financier, was born Feb. 3, 1838, in Upton, Mass. He is a graduate of the Worcester academy and the Brown university, and has attained success as a noted lawyer. He has been president of the central Massachusetts railway company; was assistant treasurer of the United States at Boston under President Cleveland's first administration, and since 1890 has been president of the State National bank of Boston, Mass.



ALDRICH, THOMAS BAILEY, author, poet, was born Nov. 11, 1836, in Portsmouth, N. H. He is a poet and novelist whose work in both verse and prose is distinguished for grace of expression and delicacy of execution. His early youth was spent in Louisiana. At the death of his father he entered the counting-house of his uncle in New York city. He occupied editorial positions for ten years on various papers; and in 1881 succeeded William D. Howells as editor of the Atlantic Monthly, which position he resigned nine years later to devote his entire time to personal literary work and travel. He is the author of the following poetical works: The Bells; Ballad of Baby Bell; Pampinea; Flower and Thorn; Cloth of Gold; Friar Jerome's Beautiful Book; XXXVI Lyrics and XII Sonnets; The Sisters' Tragedy; Wyndham Towers; Unguarded Gates; Mercedes and Later Lyrics; Judith and Holofernes. His prose works are: Prudence Palfrey; The Queen of Sheba; The Stillwater Tragedy; Marjorie Daw and Other Stories; Two Bites at a Cherry, with Other Tales; The Story of a Bad Boy; An Old Town by the Sea: a description of Portsmouth, the author's birthplace; From Ponkapog to Pesth; and Travel Sketches.

ALDRICH, TRUMAN H., civil engineer, railroad president, congressman, was born Oct. 17, 1848, in Palmyra, N. Y. He was educated in the public school at that place, at the military academy in West Chester, Pa., and was graduated from the Rensselaer polytechnic institute of Troy, N. Y., as a mining engineer in class of 1869. After practicing his profession in New York and New Jersey removed to Selma, Ala., in winter of 1871-72; was in the banking business there for two years and then made coal mining a business.

ALDRICH, WILLIAM, merchant, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 20, 1820, in Greenfield, N. Y. He was reared on a farm; received a good education; taught school for a time; in 1846 engaged in mercantile pursuits, and in 1851 removed to Wisconsin and engaged in merchandising and manufacturing. He was superintendent of schools for three years; was chairman of the board of supervisors one year, and was a member of the Wisconsin house of representatives in 1859. In 1860 he removed to Chicago, Ill., and engaged in the wholesale grocery business. He was a member of the board of aldermen in 1876, and was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses. He died Dec. 3, 1885, in Fond du Lac, Wis.

ALDRICH, WILLIAM DUANE, civil engineer, state senator, was born Dec. 29, 1833, in Smithfield, R. I. He has held various town offices, having been for some seventeen years a member of the town councils of Smithfield and Lincoln. He was a representative in 1869-70, 1892-95, and senator since May, 1895.

ALDRICH, WILLIAM F., civil engineer, congressman, was born March 11, 1853, at Palmyra, N. Y. He was educated at the public school of his native village until 1865, when he removed with his father to New York city, in which city and vicinity he attended several schools, and was graduated from Warren's military academy at Poughkeepsie, taking a course in civil engineering; removed to Alabama in 1874, and engaged in mining and manufacturing, and built up the town that now bears his name. The only political office he ever held was that of postmaster of his town; was elected to the fifty-fourth congress by the combined vote of the republicans and populists of the fourth district, against Gaston A. Robbins, democrat. The latter received the certificate of election from the governor on the face of the returns. Mr. Aldrich instituted a contest, and was seated by the house on Friday, March 13, 1895. In November, 1896, he was again elected to congress, but was again forced to contest for his seat.

ALDRICH, WILLIAM W., stockman, banker, was born Sept. 13, 1826, in Delaware, Ohio. He has been president of the Farmers' and Citizens' bank of Nickerson, Kan., and other institutions. He is now a successful stockman; proprietor of the Border Lawn stock farm of Tipton, Iowa, and the president of the First National bank of that city.

ALDRIDGE, GEORGE WASHINGTON, contractor, was born Dec. 28, 1856, in Michigan City, Ind. He has attained a wide reputation and prominence as a builder and contractor. He remodeled the Academy of Music, Wilder's arcade, and several private residences of prominence and architectural beauty.

ALEXANDER, ABRAHAM, statesman, was born in 1718 in North Carolina. He represented Mecklenburg county in the colonial legislature prior to 1775.

ALEXANDER, ADAM R., congressman, was born in Washington county, Va. He was elected a representative in congress from Madison county, Tenn., from 1823 to 1827.

ALEXANDER, ARCHER, freedman, was born about 1810, near Richmond, Va. He was a slave, and fled to St. Louis, then under martial law, in 1863, and was formally liberated the same year. He served as the model for the freedman in the bronze group by Thomas Ball, standing in the capitol grounds in Washington, and known as Freedom's Memorial. He died Dec. 8, 1879, in St. Louis, Mo.

ALEXANDER, ARCHIBALD, educator, clergyman, author, was born April 17, 1772, in Rockbridge county, Va. He was a presbyterian clergyman who was professor at Princeton theological seminary 1812-51. Evidences of Christianity; The Canon of Scripture; Moral Science; Bible Dictionary are some of his many works. He died Oct. 22, 1851, in Princeton, N. J.

ALEXANDER, ARMSTEAD M., lawyer, congressman, was born May 26, 1834, in Clark county, Ky. He removed to Missouri and settled at Paris; studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1860 and engaged in practice. He was prosecuting attorney of Monroe county for six years; was a delegate to the state constitutional convention of 1875, and was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-eighth congress.

ALEXANDER, BARTON STONE, civil engineer, general, was born in 1819 in Kentucky. He was brevetted brigadier-general March 13, 1865, for meritorious services in the rebellion. He has been much engaged in the construction and repairs of forts and in the erection of Minot's Ledge lighthouse, 1855-61. He was consulting engineer in Sheridan's army, Shenandoah Valley, Va., and present at the battle of Cedar Creek, Oct. 9, 1864.

ALEXANDER, CALEB, educator, clergyman, author, was born July 22, 1775, in Northfield, Mass. He was a clergyman much of whose life was spent in teaching at Onondaga, N. Y. He published Latin and English grammars; Essay on the Deity of Christ; The Columbian Dictionary; Grammar Elements, and a literal prose version of Virgil. He died April 12, 1828, in Onondaga, N. Y.

ALEXANDER, CHARLES, journalist, poet, was born March 7, 1867, in Natchez, Miss. For many years he was connected with the Boston Daily Standard and The American Citizen; and in 1894 he established The Monthly Review of Philadelphia, Pa., of which he is still editor and owner. He has contributed poems, short stories and sketches to several leading publications.

ALEXANDER, CHARLTON HENRY, lawyer, author, was born Nov. 12, 1858, in Kosciusko, Miss. He graduated in literature and law from the university of Mississippi, and has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Jackson, Miss. He has been reporter of the supreme court of Mississippi, and, in conjunction with Mr. L. Brame, his law partner, is the author of a Mississippi Digest.

ALEXANDER, DE ALVA STANWOOD, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born July 17, 1846, in Richmond, Maine. At the age of fifteen he entered the army, serving three years, and until the close of the war, as a private soldier; upon leaving the service prepared for college at Edward Little institute, in Auburn, Maine, and took his bachelor's degree from Bowdoin college in 1870; afterward located at Indianapolis, Ind., where he studied law and practiced in partnership with Hon. Stanton J. Peelle, now judge of the court of claims in Washington. In 1881 was appointed fifth auditor of the treasury department, and during his residence in Washington was elected and served one term as commander of the department of the Potomac, Grand Army of the Republic. On leaving Washington, removed to Buffalo, forming a law partnership with his college classmate, Hon. James A. Roberts, at present comptroller of the state of New York. In 1889 was appointed United States attorney for the northern district of New York, holding the office until December, 1893. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

ALEXANDER, EDMUND BROOKE, general, was born Oct. 2, 1802, in Hay Market, Va. He was graduated at the United States military academy in 1823. After twenty years of frontier and garrison duty he had an opportunity for service in Mexico, where he won a major's brevet in 1847 and a lieutenant-colonel's in 1847. During the civil war he was retained at St. Louis on provost-marshal's duty, involving delicate and responsible administration of important matters. He was brevetted brigadier-general in 1865, and commanded his regiment at Fort Snelling till retirement, in 1869, by operation of law. He died Jan. 3, 1888, in Washington, D. C.

ALEXANDER, EDWARD PORTER, soldier, educator, author, was born May 26, 1835, in Washington, Ga. He graduated from West Point academy in 1857, and was promoted second lieutenant corps of engineers, and served in the United States army in the Utah expedition in 1858. He was instructor in engineering at West Point in 1859-60; and was professor in mathematics and engineering in the South Carolina university in 1866-69. He served with distinction in the confederate service, and until 1892 held numerous and important railroad positions in the southern states. He is the author of Railroad Practice and various pamphlets and articles on railroad and other topics.

ALEXANDER, EVAN, congressman, was born in North Carolina. He graduated from Princeton college in 1787; was a member of the legislature for two years, and was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1805 to 1809. He died Oct. 28, 1809.

ALEXANDER, FRANCIS, artist, was born in 1800 in Connecticut. When eighteen years of age he began painting in water-color without an instructor. About 1820 he went to New York and prosecuted his art studies, as a pupil of Alexander Robertson. He worked for a few months in Providence, R. I., and subsequently opened a studio in Boston, where he gained great popularity as a portrait painter. He went to Europe in 1831, finally taking up his residence in Florence, Italy.

ALEXANDER, GROSS, educator, clergyman, was born June 1, 1852, in Scottsville, Ky. He received his education at the university at Louisville; the Drew theological seminary; and the southern baptist theological seminary. He is one of the foremost divines of the south; has been professor of Latin and Greek in the Warren college, Ky.; and is now professor of the New Testament, Greek and Exegesis in the Vanderbilt university of Nashville, Tenn.

ALEXANDER, HENRY P., merchant, congressman, was born in New York in 1802. He engaged in commerce; was a representative in congress from Herkimer county, in that state, from 1849 to 1851, and was a member of the committee on expenditures in the state department. He died Feb. 22, 1867, in Little Falls, N. Y.

ALEXANDER, ISAAC J., educator, lecturer, poet, was born June 5, 1863, in Pickaway county, Ohio. He is a successful educator and lecturer of Royalton, Ohio, and the author of a number of meritorious poems.

ALEXANDER, JAMES, JR., congressman, was born in Maryland. He was a resident of St. Clairsville, Ohio; was elected a representative in congress from the eleventh district of that state from 1837 to 1839, and was a member of the committee on public expenditures. He died Aug. 6, 1846.

ALEXANDER, JAMES WADDEL, clergyman, author, was born March 13, 1804, in Louisa county, Va., and was a son of A. Alexander. He was a presbyterian clergyman of New York city, and the author of Plain Words to a Young Communicant; Sacramental Discourses; Thoughts on Preaching; Life of Archibald Alexander; Consolation; The American Mechanic and Workingman, and other works. He died July 31, 1859, in Red Sweet Springs, Va.

ALEXANDER, JANE GRACE, financier, was born Oct. 26, 1848, in Winchester, N. H. She is cashier of the Winchester national bank; treasurer of the savings bank of her native town, and has attained success as a successful business woman and financier.

ALEXANDER, JOHN, congressman, was elected a representative in congress from Ohio May 4, 1813, serving till 1817.

ALEXANDER, JOHN EDMINSTON, clergyman, genealogist. In 1842 he became a clergyman of the presbyterian church, and for the ten years during 1853-62 was principal of the Miller academy of Washington, Ohio, where he had been pastor for twenty years. He is the author of a Historical Sketch of Greeneville Church, Tenn.; a History of the Synod of Tennessee; A Record of the Alexander Family, and other works.

ALEXANDER, JOHN HENRY, scientist, author, was born June 26, 1812, in Annapolis, Md. He was once a noted Maryland scientist and the author of History of the Metallurgy of Iron; Universal Dictionary of Weights and Measures, Ancient and Modern; International Tonnage; Treatise of Mathematical Instruments; Introits; and Catena Dominica, a collection of religious poems. He died March 2, 1867, in Baltimore, Md.

ALEXANDER, JOHN M., soldier, business man, public officer, was born May 17, 1841, in Delaware county, Ohio. He served three years in Sheridan's army, and was wounded at Fisher's Hill in 1864. He is a successful business man of Gallipolis, Ohio, and has been mayor of his city four terms.

ALEXANDER, JOSEPH ADDISON, clergyman, author, was born April 24, 1809, in Philadelphia, Pa., and is a son of A. Alexander. He was a presbyterian clergyman, professor at Princeton college, and theological seminary, 1820-60. He was the author of Commentaries on the Psalms, Isaiah, Acts, Matthew, and Mark, and many theological reviews, often as sarcastic as they were forcible. He died Jan. 28, 1860, in Princeton, N. J.

ALEXANDER, LORENZO P., soldier, merchant, state senator, was born Aug. 10, 1820, in Angelica, N. Y. When twenty-one he settled in Buchanan, Mich. In 1844 he was a militia captain, and in 1845 became colonel of the 28th regiment. He was a representative in the Michigan state legislature of 1841-42; in 1867 was member of the constitutional convention; and in 1871-72 state senator. He was a delegate to the republican national convention at Baltimore in 1864, and was a member of the committee that notified President Lincoln of his renomination. He was postmaster of Buchanan from 1862 to 1866, and again from 1877 to 1886.

ALEXANDER, MARK, congressman, was born Feb. 7, 1792, in Mecklenburg county, Virginia. He was elected a representative in the Virginia state legislature in 1815; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1819 to 1833. He died July 6, 1883, at Scotland Neck, N. C.

ALEXANDER, MATILDA G., author, was born June 14, 1842, in Mt. Vernon, Ind. She is the author of Going West; Here and Hereafter; and Worth Wins.

ALEXANDER, NATHANIEL, soldier, physician, congressman, governor, was born in 1756, in Mecklenburg, N. C. He graduated from Princeton college in 1776, and, after studying medicine, entered the army. At the close of the war resided at the High Hills of Santee, pursuing his profession, and afterwards at Mecklenburg. While he held a seat in congress, as a representative from North Carolina, from 1803 to 1805, the legislature elected him governor for 1806. He died March 8, 1808, in Salisbury, N. C.

ALEXANDER, ROBERT, was born about 1740, in Baltimore, Md. He was a delegate from Maryland to the continental congress from 1775 to 1777.

ALEXANDER, ROBERT CARTER, lawyer, journalist, was born July 7, 1857, in West Charlton, N. Y. He was made secretary and treasurer of the Mail and Express corporation, as well as its legal counsel; and in 1895 became editor-in-chief of the paper. In 1890 he was elected a life trustee of Union college.

ALEXANDER, SAMUEL DAVIES, clergyman, author, was born in 1819, in Princeton, N. J., and was a son of A. Alexander. He was a presbyterian clergyman of New York city from 1855; and the author of Princeton College in the Eighteenth Century; and A History of the Presbyterian Church in Ireland. He died in 1894.

ALEXANDER, STEPHEN, educator, astronomer, author, was born Sept. 1, 1806, in Schenectady, N. Y. He was an astronomer who was a professor at Princeton college in 1834-78, and the author of Physical Phenomena of Solar Eclipses; and Certain Harmonies of the Solar System. He died June 25, 1883, in Princeton, N. J.

ALEXANDER, SYDENHAM B., soldier, farmer, state senator, congressman, was born Dec. 8, 1840, in Mecklenburg county, N. C. He entered the university of North Carolina in 1856 and graduated from that institution in 1860. In 1861 enlisted in the army as a private soldier in the first North Carolina volunteer infantry; in June, 1862, was elected captain of company K, forty-second North Carolina infantry; and in 1864 was detached from his company and served as inspector-general on the staff of Major-General R. F. Hoke; after the war returned home and engaged in farming; in 1877 was master of State Grange and a member of state board of agriculture; he was elected to the state senate in 1878, and was re-elected in 1882, 1884, and 1886. He is a member of the board of trustees of the North Carolina Agricultural and Mechanical college; and was elected to the fifty-second and re-elected to the fifty-third congress.

ALEXANDER, WILLIAM, soldier, was born in 1726, in New York city. He served gallantly with Washington during the revolutionary war; and it was through him that the Conway Cabal was made known to Washington. He died Jan. 15, 1783, in Albany, N. Y.

ALEXANDER, WILLIAM, clergyman, theologist, was born Dec. 18, 1831, in Huntingdon county, Pa. In 1858 he graduated from Jefferson college; and in September of the same year entered Princeton Theological seminary, and graduated therefrom in 1861. He has been pastor in various presbyterian churches, and was president of the Carroll college, Wis.; president of the City college of San Francisco, Cal.; and since 1871 has been theological professor in San Francisco theological seminary, of which institution he was the principal founder. He is the author of numerous published Sermons and Addresses, Commentaries on International Sunday School Lessons, and various other letters and papers. He is one of the editors and a contributor to The Presbyterian and Reformed Review.

ALEXANDER, WILLIAM COWPER, lawyer, state senator, was born in 1806 in Virginia. He was admitted to the bar in 1827, and soon gained a reputation for legal knowledge and eloquence and took part in political affairs. For several years he was president of the New Jersey state senate. He was nominated for governor, and lacked but a few votes of election. After being a member of the peace congress of 1861, over which he was frequently called to preside, he withdrew from politics and devoted himself entirely to the business of insurance, having been elected president of the Equitable Life Insurance company when it was organized in 1859, of which he was president at the time of his death. He died Aug. 23, 1874, in New York city.

ALEXANDER, WILLIAM IRVIN, clergyman, lecturer, was born May 13, 1867, in Greenwood, Ind., a suburb of Indianapolis. He graduated in 1889 from Hartsville college, and in 1893 from Lane Theological seminary of Cincinnati, Ohio. He taught school for awhile, and in 1893 accepted a call to the First presbyterian church of Decatur, Ind.; and during a pastorate there of two years the membership was doubled. In 1895 he accepted a call to the Willow Creek presbyterian church of Argyle, Ill. The largest country church in the United States, composed of a large and wealthy Scotch congregation in what is known as the Scotch settlement. The services of this rising presbyterian clergyman are in demand as an evangelist and lecturer.

ALFORD, JULIUS C., congressman, was born in Georgia. He was elected a representative in congress from Troup county, Ga., from 1839 to 1842.

ALGER, CYRUS, inventor, iron founder, was born Nov. 11, 1781, in West Bridgewater, Mass. Early in life he became an iron-founder, and established his business in Easton, Mass. In 1809 he removed to South Boston, where he founded the works that since 1817 have been known as the South Boston Iron company. Mr. Alger also devised numerous improvements in the construction of time fuses for bomb-shells and grenades. In 1811 he patented a method of making cast-iron chilled rolls, and in 1822 first designed cylinder stoves. He died Feb. 4, 1856, in Boston, Mass.

ALGER, HORATIO, author, was born Jan. 13, 1854, in Revere, Mass. He graduated from Harvard college, and for fifteen years has prepared boys for college in New York city. He is the author of a series of popular juvenile tales, among which the Ragged Dick stories are best known. His stories of the street life in New York have made him a great favorite with boys everywhere.

ALGER, RUSSELL A., general, governor of Michigan, secretary of war, was born Feb. 27, 1836, in Lafayette, Ohio.

He was admitted to practice law in 1859. During the rebellion he entered the union army as a private, and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general and major-general for gallant conduct. In 1884 he was elected governor of Michigan; in 1888 was a candidate for president in the republican national convention; and in 1889 was elected commander-in-chief of the Grand Army of the Republic. President McKinley appointed him secretary of war in 1897. He is one of the wealthiest men in Michigan, in which state he owns very large lumber interests.

ALGER, WILLIAM ROUNSEVILLE, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 30, 1822, in Freetown, Mass. He was a unitarian clergyman and lecturer of Boston, and the author of Symbolic History of the Cross; The School of Life; History of the Doctrine of a Future Life; The Solitudes of Nature and Man; The Friendships of Women; Poetry of the Orient; and Life of Edwin Forrest.

ALISON, FRANCIS, educator, clergyman, was born in 1705 in Ireland. He was appointed vice-provost and professor of philosophy in the college of Philadelphia; and was the pastor of the First presbyterian church of that city. He died Nov. 28, 1779, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ALKIRE, HENRY T., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Sept. 6, 1854, in Platte county, Mo. He received the rudiments of his education in the district school; graduated from the Kirksville State Normal school in 1875, and from the Missouri State university in 1881. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Oregon, Mo., of which city he has been mayor; and for three terms was city attorney. He was a member of the thirty-fifth general assembly of Missouri; was the nominee for secretary of state of Missouri; and in 1894 was elected probate judge of Holt county for four years. For six years he was chairman of the republican central committee; and for two years president of the Oregon school board; besides filling various other positions of honor. He has written extensively on law and judicial subjects, and is one of the brightest men of Missouri.

ALLAIRE, ANTHONY J., soldier, was born Feb. 17, 1829, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He served in the civil war; and rose to the rank of brigadier-general. In 1867 he was appointed police captain of the twenty-first precinct of New York city.

ALLAN, JOHN, soldier, patriot, was born Jan. 13, 1746, in Scotland. He became a justice of the peace, and then clerk of the supreme court, and from 1770 to 1776 was a member of the provincial assembly. When the American colonies engaged in the struggle for independence he gave them active and efficient aid, securing the alliance of the Indian tribes of that region. Congress nominated him superintendent of the eastern Indians, and gave him a colonel's commission in January, 1777, and with his Indians he protected the otherwise exposed line of the northeastern frontier. The Nova Scotian authorities offered a price for his apprehension, while his house was burned and his wife thrown into prison. In 1784 Col. Allan settled in Maine. The government of Massachusetts in 1792 granted him a tract of 22,000 acres, on which the town of Whiting now stands, and in 1801 congress gave him 2,000 acres in Ohio in compensation for the losses he sustained for the patriot cause. He died Feb. 7, 1805, in Lubec, Maine.

ALLAN, JOHN, antiquarian, was born Feb. 26, 1777, in Scotland. He made a valuable and unique collection of pictures, books, autographs, and rare and curious articles. His collection was sold at auction a short time after his death, and the total receipts amounted to nearly fifty thousand dollars. He died Nov. 19, 1863, in New York city.

ALLAN, WILLIAM, soldier, author, was born in 1837 in Virginia. He was a lieutenant-colonel in the confederate army during the civil war; and the author of Battlefields of Virginia; Jackson's Valley Campaign; and Army of Northern Virginia. He died in 1889.

ALLANSON, EDWARD G., poet, was born Nov. 11, 1863, in Elgin, Ill. He attended the Iowa Business college of Des Moines; has attained success as a writer; and is the author of several meritorious poems.

ALLEN, ALEXANDER VIETS GRISWOLD, educator, clergyman, author, was born May 4, 1841, in Otis, Mass. He is an episcopal clergyman, prominent among leaders of modern religious thought, and a professor in the Episcopal Theological school at Cambridge. He is the author of The Continuity of Christian Thought: a Study of Modern Theology in the Light of Its History; Life of Jonathan Edwards; The Greek Theology and the Renaissance of the Nineteenth Century; and Religious Progress.

ALLEN, ANDREW, cougressman. He was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress in 1775 to 1776.

ALLEN, BENJAMIN, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 29, 1789, in Hudson, N. Y. He published in 1815 the weekly Layman's Magazine, and in 1820 an abridgment of Burnet's History of the Reformation. In 1821 he was chosen rector of St. Paul's church, Philadelphia. In 1827 he established a printing-house for the publication of tracts and printing of prayer-books. He published Christ and Him Crucified; and Living Manners, a tale; and other works. He died at sea Jan. 13, 1829.

ALLEN, CHARLES, state senator, congressman, jurist, was born on Aug. 9, 1797, in Worcester, Mass. He was a member of the state legislature in 1829, 1833, 1834, 1838, and 1840; a state senator in 1835, 1838, and 1839; and judge of the court of common pleas from 1842 to 1844. He was a representative in congress from 1849 to 1853; chief justice of the superior court of Suffolk county from 1858 to 1859; and subsequently chief justice of the superior court of the state. He was a member of the state constitutional conveutions of 1853 and 1859; a commissioner to negotiate the Webster treaty in 1842; and was a delegate to the peace congress of 1861. He died Aug. 6, 1869, in Worcester.

ALLEN, CHARLES H., merchant, state senator, congressman, was born April 15, 1848, in Lowell, Mass. He received his early education in the public schools; graduated from Amherst college in 1869; and engaged in mercantile pursuits. He received the degree of A. M. from Amherst college in 1872. He held several local offices in Lowell; was a representative in the Massachusetts legislature in 1881 and 1882; was a state senator in 1883; in 1884 was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the forty-ninth congress, and received the re-election to the fiftieth congress.

ALLEN, CHARLES WELLINGTON, physician, surgeon, was born July 17, 1855, in North Hero, Vt. He graduated from the Toledo, Ohio, School of Medicine and from the university of Vermont. He was mayor of Story City, Iowa, for two terms; president of the Central District Medical association of Iowa; and president and secretary of the Story County Medical society.

ALLEN, CHILTON, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born April 6, 1786, in Albermarle county, Va. He settled in Kentucky as a wheelwright; educated himself for the legal profession; from Clark county was elected in 1811 to the legislature of Kentucky, and re-elected for several terms. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1831 to 1837. In 1838 was president of the board if internal improvement; and in 1842 was again returned to the state legislature. He died Sept. 3, 1858, in Winchester, Ky.

ALLEN, CLARENCE EMIR, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 8, 1852, in Girard, Pa. He was trained in the common schools of Girard, fitted for college at Grand River institute, Austinburg, Ohio, and graduated from Western Reserve college with the class of 1877. He taught one year at Grand River institute, and then was principal of the preparatory of Western Reserve college three years; went to Salt Lake City, Utah, in August, 1881, where he was an instructor in Salt Lake academy until 1886, when he resigned and entered upon the business of mining. He was elected to and served in the territorial legislatures of 1888, 1890, and 1894; was elected county clerk of Salt Lake county, Utah, in August, 1890, and served until Jan. 1, 1893; was admitted to the bar at Salt Lake City, in 1892; was the liberal candidate for delegate to congress in 1892; and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ALLEN, DAVID OLIVER, educator, missionary, author, was born in 1800, in Barre, Mass. He was graduated at Amherst college in 1823, taught in Lawrence academy, and then entered Andover Theological seminary, which he left in 1827 to go as a missionary to Bombay. He established schools and preached in that province, and made extensive tours in western India. In 1844 he took charge of the Bombay printing establishment. He wrote tracts in Mahratta, and supervised a new translation of the Bible in that language. Injured in health by the Indian climate, he returned to America in 1853. After his return he published a History of India, Ancient and Modern, Geographical, Historical, Political, Social, and Religious. He died July 17, 1863, in Lowell.

ALLEN, DE WITT CLINTON, lawyer, was born Nov. 11, 1835, in Clay county, Mo. He was educated at Wyman's English and Classical high school of St. Louis, Mo.; and graduated from the William Jewell college of Liberty, Mo. He has held positions as attorney of the fifth judicial circuit of Missouri; and was a member of the Missouri constitutional convention in 1875. He is a trustee of the William Jewell college; and was a presidential elector in 1896.

ALLEN, DON ALONZO, soldier, clergyman, evangelist, was born Oct. 23, 1844, in Ellisburgh, N. Y. At eleven years of age he became a cabin boy on a propeller; and was a sailor on the lakes in summer, and attended school in winter. At the age of sixteen years he enlisted in the twenty-fourth regiment New York volunteer infantry, and served gallantly throughout the war. He then served as a sailor until 1877; and since 1883 has been a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church. He has attained prominence as an evangelist of note in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and several other western states. He is also a prominent prohibitionist, and was tendered the nomination for congress, but has steadfastly declined all political honors. He now fills a pastorate in Randolph, Iowa.

ALLEN, EBENEZER, soldier, was born Oct. 17, 1743, in Northampton, Mass. In 1771 he emigrated to Poultney, Vt., and became a lieutenant in Col. Warner's regiment of Green Mountain boys. He removed to Tinmouth in 1775, and was a delegate from that town to the several conventions in the New Hampshire grants in 1776, and to those that declared the state independent and formed the state constitution during the following year. He was appointed a captain in Col. Herrick's battalion of rangers in July, 1777, and distinguished himself at the battle of Bennington. In September of the same year he captured Mt. Defiance by assault, and on the retreat of the enemy from Fort Ticonderoga made fifty of them prisoners. Subsequently he was made major in the rangers, and showed himself a brave and successful partisan leader. He died March 26, 1806, in Burlington, Vt.

ALLEN, EDWARD P., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 28, 1839, in Sharon, Mich. He graduated from the State Normal school in March, 1864; taught the Union school in Vassar, Mich., for the three months following, when he enlisted and helped to raise a company for the twenty-ninth Michigan infantry. He was commissioned first lieutenant, and was mustered out as captain. He entered the law school at Ann Arbor, graduating in March, 1867; practices in Ypsilanti. He was elected alderman of Ypsilanti in 1872 and 1874, and mayor in 1880; and was prosecuting attorney of Washtenaw county in 1872. He was elected to the lower house of the legislature in 1876; was again elected in 1878, at which time he was elected speaker pro tempore. He was appointed assistant assessor of internal revenue in 1869; was United States Indian agent for Michigan in August, 1882, which office he held until December, 1885. He was elected to the fiftieth congress, and was re-elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

ALLEN, EDWIN R., soldier, state senator, lieutenant-governor of Rhode Island, was born Nov. 26, 1840, in Windham, Conn. He was educated in the schools of his native town and at Eagleswood, N. J. He enlisted in company A, seventh regiment Rhode Island volunteers, in August, 1862; was corporal, sergeant-major, second lieutenant, first lieutenant, and was in command of said company when it was mustered out of service in June, 1865. He served as state senator in 1889-90 and in 1891-92, and became lieutenant-governor of Rhode Island in 1894.

ALLEN, ELISHA H., lawyer, congressman, diplomatist, was born Jan. 28, 1804, in New Salem, Mass. He was a lawyer; served in the legislature of Maine from 1836 to 1841, and in 1846; and in 1838 as speaker. He was elected a representative in congress from Maine from 1841 to 1843. In 1847 he removed to Boston; was elected to the Massachusetts legislature in 1849; after which he was appointed consul to Honolulu. He afterward became connected with the government of the Sandwich islands; and in 1856 visited the United States as envoy. In 1857 he was chief justice and chancellor of the Sandwich islands, serving until 1864; and was the Hawaiian minister at Washington for a number of years. He died suddenly while attending the president's reception, Jan. 1, 1883, in Washington, D. C.

ALLEN, ELIZABETH AKERS, poet, was born Oct. 9, 1832, in Strong, Maine. In 1855 she became assistant editor of the Portland Transcript; and wrote the celebrated poem entitled Rock Me to Sleep, Mother. She is the author of a volume of poetry, entitled Forest Buds from the Woods of Maine; and a second volume of verse entitled Poems by Florence Percy; and is also the author of The Silver Bridge and other works. She is a member of the Sorosis, of New York city, and is still engaged in literary work.

ALLEN, ESTHER LAVILLA, author, poet, was born May 28, 1834, in Ithaca, N. Y. Since 1870 she has contributed stories, sketches and poems to various newspapers and magazines, which have been a valuable acquisition to current literature.

ALLEN, ESTHER SAVILLE, educator, author, was born Dec. 11, 1837, in Honeoye, N. Y. For many years she was engaged in educational work in the states of New York and Illinois; and is now a resident of Arkansas. She is the author of numerous productions in prose and verse, which have had extensive publication in the leading periodicals of the west.

ALLEN, ETHAN, an officer of the revolutionary war, was born Jan. 10, 1737, in Litchfield, Conn. He was leader of the famous Green Mountain boys, of Vermont, and hero of the capture of forts Ticonderoga and Crown Point, May 10, 1775. He attacked the English at Montreal, was taken prisoner, and sent to England in irons. He died Feb. 13, 1789, near Burlington, Vt.

ALLEN, FRED HOVEY, clergyman, author, was born in 1845 in New Hampshire. He is a clergyman, author of the text in a number of popular art works, such as Great Cathedrals of the World; Modern German Masters; The Bowdoin Collection; The Doré Album; The Gerome Album; Discovery and Conquest of Peru; and Discovery and Conquest of Mexico.

ALLEN, FREDERICK DE FOREST, educator, author, was born in 1844 in Ohio. He has been a professor of classical philology at Harvard university since 1880; and the author of Remnants of Early Latin; and Greek Versification in Inscriptions.

ALLEN, HARRISON, surgeon, author, was born April 17, 1841, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a surgeon of Philadelphia, professor in the university of Pennsylvania from 1865; and the author of Outlines of Comparative Anatomy; and System of Human Anatomy.

ALLEN, HEMAN, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1776. He was a resident, if not a native, of Milton, Vt., and adopted the profession of the law, in which he became distinguished. He was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1833 to 1839. He died Dec. 11, 1844, in Burlington, Vt.

ALLEN, HEMAN, lawyer, congressman, diplomat, was born Feb. 23, 1779, in Poultney, Vt. He was a resident of Colchester, Vt.; graduated at Dartmouth college in 1795, and adopted the profession of the law; and was sheriff of Chittenden county in 1808 and 1809. From 1811 to 1814 he was chief justice of the Chittenden county court; from 1812 to 1817 was an active member of the state legislature; was appointed quartermaster of militia, with the title of brigadier; and was a trustee of the university of Vermont. He was first elected a representative in congress from Vermont in 1817, but resigned in 1818 to accept the appointment of United States marshal for the district of Vermont. In 1823 he received the appointment of minister to Chili, which post he resigned in 1828. In 1830 he was appointed president of the United States branch bank, of Burlington. He died April 9, 1852, in Highgate, Vt.

ALLEN, HEMAN W., soldier, merchant, legislator, was born in 1844, in Westford, Vt. He was a private in company A, thirteenth regiment Vermont volunteers; was promoted to first lieutenant company I, second Vermont militia, in 1864-67; and inspector of rifle practice on staff of Governor Woodbury. He is a successful dry-goods merchant of Vermont; a director of the Merchants National bank, and of the Vermont Electric company.

ALLEN, HENRY, founder of a sect, was born June 14, 1748, in Newport, R. I. In 1774 and succeeding years he made many converts in Nova Scotia to his peculiar mystical religious ideas. He believed that human souls are emanations from a single great spirit, and that the Bible is to be interpreted not literally, but in a spiritual sense. He published a book of hymns and several treatises and sermons. The Allenites became numerous under his eloquent preaching, but declined after his death. He died Feb. 2, 1784, in Northampton, N. H.

ALLEN, HENRY WATKINS, the fifteenth governor of Louisiana, was born April 29, 1820, in Prince Edward county, Va. He taught school, practiced law, and became a gallant soldier. In 1842 with his brother he enlisted in the war of Texas against Mexico; and in 1846 was elected to the state legislature of Mississippi. He ran away from school, had a roving disposition, and finally settled in West Baton Rouge; and in 1853 was elected to the Louisiana house of representatives. In 1861 he joined the confederate army, was elected lieutenant-colonel, and became military governor of Jackson, Miss. He was desperately wounded at Shiloh and at Baton Rouge, and was appointed brigadier-general. In 1864 he was inaugurated governor of Louisiana, and died April 22, 1866, in the city of Mexico.

ALLEN, IRA, soldier, author, was born April 21, 1751, in Cornwall, Conn. He was an officer in the American army during the revolutionary war, and was afterwards instrumental in settling the disputes between Vermont and its neighbors. He was the author of Natural and Political History of Vermont. He died Jan. 7, 1814, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ALLEN, JAMES, clergyman, author, was born 1692 in Roxbury, Mass. He was ordained in 1718 and became the first minister of Brookline, remaining in that charge until his death. His remarks concerning the religious revival of 1743 drew upon him severe animadversion. He published a Thanksgiving sermon; a discourse on Providence; a discourse entitled The Doctrine of Merit Exploded, and Humility Recommeuded; a Fast Sermon on the Earthquake, and other works. He died Feb. 18, 1747, in Brookline, Mass.

ALLEN, JAMES C., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 28, 1823, in Shelby county, Ky. In 1846 he was elected prosecuting attorney in the seventh judicial district of Indiana for two years; and in 1850 and 1851 was elected a member of the state legislature. He was chosen a representative in congress from Illinois, from 1853 to 1855, and re-elected to the thirty-fourth congress. In 1862 he was elected to the thirty-eighth congress as a representative.

ALLEN, JAMES LANE, educator, author, was born in 1849, in Kentucky. He was at one time a teacher, now devoted to literature. A writer of short stories, notable for literary excellence. He is the author of Flute and Violin; The Blue Grass Region and Other Sketches of Kentucky; John Gray: a Novel; The Kentucky Cardinal; Aftermath; A Summer in Arcady; and The Choir Invisible.

ALLEN, JEREMIAH MERVIN, underwriter, was born May 18, 1833, in Enfield, Conn. Since 1867 he has been president of the Hartford Steamboat Inspection and Insurance company; and is also trustee and director of a number of business corporations.

ALLEN, JEROME, educator, author, was born in 1830 in Vermont. He was an educator of New York, dean of the school of Pedagogy; and author of Handbook of Experimental Chemistry; Methods for Teachers in Grammar; Mind Studies for Young Teachers; and Temperament in Education. He died in 1894.

ALLEN, JESSE C., educator, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 31, 1832, in Muskingum county, Ohio. For nearly twenty years he was engaged in educational work; was then admitted to the bar, and attained success as an eminent lawyer of Van Wert, Ohio. He now devotes most of his time to literature, and is the author of a work entitled Modern World View.

ALLEN, JOEL ASAPH, naturalist, author, was born July 19, 1838, in Springfield, Mass. He is a naturalist who since 1885 has been curator of orinthology and mammalogy in the American Museum of Natural History in New York city. He is the author of History of North American Pinnipeds; and Monographs of North American Rodentia.

ALLEN, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1763, in Great Barrington, Mass. He was a lawyer by profession; and was a member of the state council of Connecticut for several years. He was a representative from that state during the last congress which was held in Philadelphia, from 1797 to 1799. He died July 31, 1812, in Litchfield, Conn.

ALLEN, JOHN, lawyer, soldier, was born Dec. 30, 1772, in Rockbridge, Va. He was the son of an early settler in Kentucky, and began the practice of law at Shelbyville in 1795. In 1812 he raised a regiment of riflemen which was engaged in the battle of Brownstown and formed the left wing at the river Raisin, and was killed in battle at that place, Jan. 22, 1814.

ALLEN, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, was born Aug. 17, 1796, in Augusta county, Va. In 1824, in company with E. W. Rumsey, he located the site of Ann Arbor, Mich. He engaged in land speculation and at one time owned thousands of acres of land in the western part of the state, much of which was lost in the panic of 1837. In company with Samuel W. Dexter, he published for a time the Western Emigrant, the first paper in Washtenaw county. He studied law with James Kingsley, and was admitted to the bar in 1832, but gave little time to the profession. He was state senator of Michigan in 1845-48. He went to California in 1850 and died there March 11, 1851.

ALLEN, JOHN, dental inventor, was born May 26, 1823, in Meriden, Conn. After numerous experiments he succeeded by artificial means in restoring the sunken portion of the face to its original position. He was largely instrumental in organizing the Ohio Dental college, and was professor for many years in this college. He died March 12, 1892.

ALLEN, JOHN BEARD, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born May 18, 1845, in Crawfordsville, Ind. He was educated in Wabash college, Crawfordsville; was a private soldier in the one hundred and thirty-fifth regiment of Indiana volunteers; removed with his father's family to Rochester, Minn., where he resided until 1870; here he read law, and was admitted to practice. He removed to Washington territory in 1870, and entered upon the practice of his profession. He was appointed United States attorney for Washington territory April, 1875, by President Grant, and continued in that office until July, 1885; and was reporter of the supreme court of Washington territory from 1878 to 1885. He was elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican from the territory of Washington; was elected to the United States senate under the provisions of the act of congress admitting Washington territory into the union; and took his seat Dec. 2, 1889. His term of service expired March 3, 1893.

ALLEN, JOHN J. congressman, jurist, was born in Virginia. He was a resident of Harrison county; and was elected a representative in congress from Virginia, from 1833 to 1835. Subsequently he held the office of chief justice of the supreme court of Virginia.

ALLEN, JOHN M., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born July 8, 1847, in Tishomingo county, Miss. He received a common-school education; and served in the confederate army throughout the civil war. He attended the law school of Cumberland university, Tennessee, and in 1870 graduated in law from the university of Mississippi; in the same year was admitted to the bar, and commenced the practice of law at Tupelo, Miss. In 1875 he was elected district attorney for the first judicial district of Mississippi, in which position he served four years; and in 1884 was elected a representative from Mississippi to the forty-ninth congress, and received the re-election to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, and fifty-fifth congresses.

ALLEN, JOHN W., state senator, congressman, was born in 1802 in Litchfield, Conn. He settled in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1825; was a member of the senate of that state from 1835 to 1837; also mayor of Cleveland; and was elected a representative in congress from 1837 to 1841. He was a son of John Allen, of Great Barrington, Mass.

ALLEN, JOSEPH, merchant, congressman, was born Sept. 2, 1749, in Boston, Mass. He was a merchant in Leicester, and benefactor of the academy there; twice elector for president; and was a clerk of the county court and a state councilor. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts, from 1810 to 1811. He died Sept. 2, 1827, in Worcester, Mass.

ALLEN, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 15, 1790, in Medfield, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard in 1811, and was ordained pastor of the congregational church at Northborough in 1816, which relation he sustained until his death. He was a delegate to the peace congress at Paris in 1849; and the author of Historical Account of Northboro; Centennial Discourse; Memoir of Rev. Dr. Lathrop of Springfield; History of the Worcester Association; and Allen Genealogy. He died Feb. 23, 1873, in Northborough, Mass.

ALLEN, JOSEPH HENRY, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 21, 1820, in Northborough, Mass. He attended the district school till the age of thirteen years, and graduated from Harvard college in 1840. During 1843-47 he filled a pastorate in Jamaica Plain, near Boston; in Washington, D. C., 1847-50; in Bangor, Maine, 1850-57. During 1857-69 he was editor of the Christian Examiner; from 1887-91 was editor of the Unitarian Review; and during 1878-82 was lecturer on ecclesiastical history in the Harvard university. He was associate editor of the Allen and Greenough series of classical text-books. He is the author of Hebrew Men and Times; Fragments of Christian History; Christian History, in three volumes; Outline of Christian History; Positive Religion; Historical Sketch of Unitarianism; and other works.

ALLEN, JUDSON, congressman, was born in Connecticut. He removed to New York, and was elected a representative in congress from that state, from 1839 to 1841.

ALLEN, LEWIS FALLY, author, was born in 1799 in New York. He was once a prominent cattle broker, and the author of Rural Architecture; The American Herd Book; and American Cattle.

ALLEN, LYMAN WHITNEY, clergyman, poet, was born in 1854, in St. Louis, Mo. He graduated from Washington university in 1878, and prepared for the ministry at Princeton Theological seminary. This eminent presbyterian clergyman is chiefly known as the author of many gems of religious verse, which have appeared in standard publications.

ALLEN, MALACIAH, soldier, farmer, public official, born April 1, 1841, in Georgia. After graduating from Madison college, Miss., he taught school for awhile; he then became a soldier in the Tennessee division of the army; he served four years and held the position of captain at the close of the war. He was in every battle fought by the army of the Tennessee, and was wounded three times. After the war he engaged in farming; and since 1887 has been clerk of the circuit court of Madison county, Miss.

ALLEN, MARY WOOD, physician, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 19, 1841, in Delta, Ohio. After graduating she taught music, French, and German in a collegiate institute in Battle Ground, Ind., until her marriage to Mr. Chillon B. Allen, now a noted lawyer. In 1875 she graduated in medicine from Ann Arbor, Mich., subsequently practiced medicine in Newark, N. J.; and is now a successful lecturer of Toledo, Ohio. She is the author of Man Wonderful and the House Beautiful, an allegorical physiology; and her poem, entitled Motherhood, won for itself immediate fame.

ALLEN, MOSES, clergyman, patriot, was born Sept. 14, 1748, in Northampton, Mass. In 1777 he took charge of the church at Midway, Ga. The British force under Gen. Prevost burned his church and devastated the district in 1778. He officiated as chaplain to the Georgia brigade, and was captured when Savannah was reduced by the British in December. His eloquent, patriotic appeals and energetic exertions in the field had rendered him obnoxious to the British, and they refused to release him on parole with the officers. He was confined in a loathsome prison-ship, and was drowned in attempting to escape. He died Feb. 8, 1779.

ALLEN, NATHAN, physician, author, was born April 13, 1813, in Princeton, Mass. He was a physician of Lowell; and the author of The Law of Human Increase; The Opium Trade; and Physical Development. He died in 1889.

ALLEN, NATHANIEL, congressman, was born in Dutchess county, N. Y. He served in the assembly of that state in 1812; and was a representative in congress, from 1819 to 1821.

ALLEN, NATHANIEL TOPLIFF, educator, was born Sept. 29, 1823, in Medfield, Mass. In 1848 he was appointed to the charge of the model department in the Normal school of West Newton, Mass., which position he filled with marked ability for six years. In connection with Cyrus Pierce, father of American normal schools, he then established the West Newton English and Classical school. For nearly half a century he has taught in this school, which he purchased in 1853; and with his three brothers has created for the institution a national reputation in the educational world. Here the first pure kindergarten in the United States was started in 1863. He has always advocated the liberal and thorough co-education of the sexes, and is one of the most prominent educators in the United States.

ALLEN, ORRIN PEER, educator, pharmacist, author, was born Sept. 30, 1833, in Wallingford, Vt. He finished his education at Chester academy, Vt.; he taught school in several Vermont towns; for two years was superintendent of schools in Vernon; and subsequently was principal of the Toanack Institute of Hackensack, N. J. Since 1859 he has resided in Palmer, Mass., and successfully conducting a pharmacy. He was one of the founders of the Palmer Public library in 1878, and has since been a member of its board of management, and is a member in various societies. He is the author of the Lee, Doolittle, and Allen Genealogies; and of many historical and miscellaneous papers.

ALLEN, PAUL, journalist, poet, was born Feb. 15, 1775, in Providence, R. I. He was a journalist of Philadelphia; and the author of Poems: Noah, a poem in five cantos; Life of Alexander I; and Lewis and Clark's Novels. He died Aug. 18, 1826, in Baltimore, Md.

ALLEN, PHILIP, manufacturer, governor of Rhode Island, United States senator, was born Sept. 1, 1785, in Providence, R. I. He graduated at Brown university in 1803; was elected to the state legislature in 1819, 1820, and 1821; and devoted much attention to the business of manufacturing; he was governor of Rhode Island during the years 1851, 1852, and 1853; and was elected a senator in congress from his native state, from March 3, 1853, for six years. He constructed the first Watt and Boulton steam engine in Providence. He died Dec. 16, 1865, in Providence, R. I.

ALLEN, RICHARD, revolutionary soldier, was born Nov. 26, 1741, in Maryland. In 1775 he joined the continental forces as sergeant, and later was promoted captain. After the war he held several civil offices. He died Oct. 10, 1832.

ALLEN, RICHARD, clergyman, bishop, was born in 1760. He became a local methodist preacher about 1782, and in 1793, at Philadelphia, organized the first church for colored people in the United States. He was ordained in the methodist ministry in 1799, and was elected bishop of the newly formed African methodist episcopal church in 1816. He died March 26, 1831, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ALLEN, RICHARD C., jurist. He was a citizen of Florida, and was one of the earliest United States judges appointed for the district embracing that state.

ALLEN, RICHARD LAMB, journalist, author, was born in October, 1803, in Hampton county, Mass., and was a brother of L. F. Allen, with whom, in 1842, he founded the American Agriculturalist. He was the author of Domestic Animals; Diseases of Domestic Animals; and New American Farm Book. He died Sept. 22, 1869, in Stockholm, in Sweden.

ALLEN, ROBERT, soldier, congressman, was born in 1777 in Augusta county, Va. He was a colonel in the army under General Jackson; and a representative in congress from Tennessee, from 1819 to 1827. He died Aug. 19, 1864, in Carthage, Tenn.

ALLEN, ROBERT, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born July 20, 1794, in Woodstock, Va. He was educated at Dickinson and Washington colleges; studied law, and practiced in his native place. For a time he held the office of prosecutor for the commonwealth; served five years in the senate of Virginia; was a representative in congress from that state from 1827 to 1833.

ALLEN, ROBERT, general, was born in 1815 in Ohio. He was graduated at West Point in 1836, and was second lieutenant in the Seminole war. In the Mexican war he received the brevet rank of major. He was promoted brigadier-general of volunteers in 1863, and was brevetted brigadier-general in the regular army in 1864. He received the brevet rank of major-general in 1865. After the war he served again as chief quartermaster of the Pacific, and was retired March 21, 1878. He died Aug. 6, 1886, in Geneva, Switzerland.

ALLEN, SAMUEL, patentee of New Hampshire, was born in 1636 in England. He was a London merchant, and in 1691 purchased from the heirs of John Mason their grant of land from the English crown. The purchase included Portsmouth and Dover, and extended sixty miles from the sea coast. He died May 5, 1705, in Newcastle, N. H.

ALLEN, SAMUEL C., clergyman, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 5, 1772, in Franklin county, Mass. He graduated at Dartmouth college in 1794; was a representative in the Massachusetts legislature from 1806 to 1810; a state senator from 1812 to 1815, and in 1831; a member of the executive council in 1829 and 1830; and a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1817 to 1829. He was at one time a congregational preacher, but subsequently turned his attention to law and literature. He died Feb. 8, 1842, in Northfield, Mass.

ALLEN, SAMUEL WARD KING, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 2, 1842, in North Kingstown. He received his education at the East Greenwich academy, the New York Conference seminary, and the Boston university. He served as a soldier in the civil war, and attained prominence as an able lawyer; served six terms in the Rhode Island state legislature; and was speaker of the house of representatives three successive terms.

ALLEN, SOLOMON, soldier, missionary, was born Feb. 23, 1751, in Northampton, Mass. He was a brother of Moses and Thomas Allen, who were chaplains in the revolutionary army, while he fought as a soldier and rose to the rank of major. As lieutenant he commanded the guard that took Major André to West Point. After the war he was engaged in suppressing Shay's rebellion. At the age of forty he became a religious convert, and at fifty began the life of a missionary preacher. A Sketch of the Last Hours of Solomon Allen was written by J. N. Danforth. He died Jan. 28, 1821, in New York.

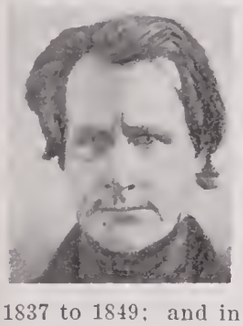
ALLEN, STEPHEN, business man, public official, was born in July, 1767, in New York city. While commissioner for visiting prisons, he proposed the erection of the state prison at Sing Sing, and was one of the principal originators of the project for supplying New York city with water from the Croton river. He perished in the steamer Henry Clay, which was burned in July, 1852.

ALLEN, STEPHEN, state senator, was born about 1772. He was elected mayor in 1821 and 1822, and for several years was a state senator; and a member of the court of errors, at that time the highest court of appeal in the state.

ALLEN, STEPHEN MERRILL, merchant, banker, author, was born in 1819 in New Hampshire. He was a banker and merchant of Boston; and the author of Fibrilia and Fibrous Manufactures, Ancient and Modern; Theories of Light; and Religion and Science. He died in 1894.

ALLEN, THOMAS, lawyer, journalist, railroad president, congressman, was born at Pittsfield, Mass. He was educated at Union college; studied law, and was admitted to the bar. In 1837 he removed to Washington, D. C., and engaged in the printing and newspaper business. In 1842 he removed to St. Louis, Mo. He was a state senator in 1850 and 1854; became largely interested in railways, and was, for many years, president of railway corporations. He was elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-seventh congress. He died April 7, 1882.

ALLEN, THOMAS, clergyman, patriot, was born Jan. 17, 1743, in Northampton, Mass. He was the first minister of Pittsfield, Mass., where he was ordained in 1764. He died Feb. 11, 1810, in Pittsfield, Mass. His son William is the well-known D. D. and author, who for nineteen years was president of Bowdoin college.



ALLEN, THOMAS, landscape and animal painter, was born Oct. 19, 1849, in St. Louis, Mo. He was president of the Paint and Clay club of Boston; Boston Society of Water Color Painting, and the Boston Art club. In 1894 he was judge of awards, department of fine arts, at the World's Columbian exposition, Chicago.

ALLEN, TIMOTHY FIELD, physician, author, was born April 24, 1837, in Westminster, Vt. He is a physician of New York city, and has been dean of the Homœopathic Medical college since 1882. He is the author of Characcæ Americanæ; and General Symptom-Register of Homœopathic Materia Medica. He has edited Encyclopædia of Pure Materia Medica.

ALLEN, WILLIAM, clergyman, college president, author, was born Jan. 2, 1784, in Pittsfield, Mass. In 1802 he graduated at Cambridge; and two years later was licensed to preach. During 1804-10 he was a regent in Harvard college; and devoted much of his time to the preparation of the American Biographical and Historical Dictionary. For two years he was president of Dartmouth university; and in 1820 was inaugurated president of Bowdoin college. He resigned in 1839, and moved to Northampton, Mass., where he devoted himself to literary work. He was the author of An Account of Remarkable Shipwrecks; A Collection of Psalms and Hymns, many of which were original; a second and enlarged edition of the Biographical Dictionary; and a work entitled Junius Unmasked. He died July 16, 1868, in Northampton, Mass.

ALLEN, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, United States senator, governor of Ohio, was born in 1806 in Edenton, N. C. He received a good education; was connected by family ties with Allen G. Thurman; was an early emigrant to the state of Ohio; and adopted the profession of the law. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1833 to 1835; was elected a senator in congress from 1837 to 1849; and in 1874 became governor of Ohio, serving as such until 1876. He refused to accept any office except such as was conferred upon him by an election of the people. He died July 11, 1879.

ALLEN, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 13, 1827, in Butler county, Ohio. He received a good English education; taught school for a time; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1849. In 1850 he was elected a county prosecuting attorney, and re-elected in 1852. In 1858 he was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-sixth congress, and re-elected to the thirty-seventh congress. He was a delegate to the Chicago convention in 1864, and also to the Philadelphia national union convention of 1866.

ALLEN, WILLIAM FRANCIS, educator, author, was born Sept. 5, 1830, in Northborough, Mass., and was a brother of J. H. Allen. He was a professor in the university of Wisconsin, and published Outline Studies in the History of Ireland; Monographs and Essays; and edited a collection of Slave Songs. He died in 1889.

ALLEN, WILLIAM HENRY, educator, college president, was born in March, 1808, in Readfield, Maine. In 1833 he graduated from Bowdoin college; and then became a teacher of Greek and Latin in the Cazenovia seminary, N. Y. In 1836 he took charge of the high school in Augusta, Maine; then filled a position in Carlisle, Pa., where for ten years he was professor of chemistry and natural philosophy in Dickinson college. In 1850 he became president of the Girard college of Philadelphia, Pa. For thirteen years he filled that position and then resigned; but at the end of four years he was persuaded to again accept the presidency of that institution.

ALLEN, WILLIAM HOWARD, naval officer, was born July 8, 1790, in Hudson, N. Y. He entered the navy as midshipman in 1808, and was promoted lieutenant in 1813. He was second lieutenant of the Argus, and commanded in the fight with the Pelican off the coast of England after Captain Allen and the first officer were disabled. He was killed in attempting to board piratical vessels with boats near Matanzas, in the island of Cuba. His friend Halleck made his early death the subject of a tender and touching poem. He was killed in action Nov. 9, 1822.

ALLEN, WILLIAM J., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1828, in Tennessee. He removed with his father to Illinois in 1829; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1848. In 1854 was elected to the Illinois legislature; in 1855 was appointed United States attorney for the district of Illinois, which office he resigned in 1860, and was then elected judge of the circuit court. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Illinois to the thirty-seventh congress, for the unexpired term of John A. Logan, resigned, and was re-elected to the thirty-eighth congress.

ALLEN, WILLIAM TEMPLE, clergyman, was born on Dec. 15, 1855, in Virginia. He is a clergyman of St. Peter's, Talladega. He built the church at Boeme, Texas, and also the church at Gadsden, Ala.

ALLEN, WILLIAM VINCENT, lawyer, legislator, jurist, United States senator, was born Jan. 28, 1847, in Medway, Ohio. He received his education in the Iowa common schools and the Upper Iowa university of Fayette. He served as a union soldier during the civil war in company G, thirty-second Iowa volunteer infantry. In 1869 he was admitted to the bar; removed to Nebraska in 1884; and in 1891 was elected judge of the ninth judicial district of that state. In 1893 he was elected a member of the United States senate for the full term of six years. As a lawyer, judge and senator, he has established an admitted leadership. He is a marvel of senate oratory, having made a notable fifteen hours' speech in the great silver debate; and is the unquestioned populist leader in the entire congress.

ALLEN, WILLIS, congressman, was born in Tennessee; and was a representative in congress from Illinois from 1851 to 1855.

ALLEN, WILLIS BOYD, author, was born July 9, 1855, in Kittery Point, Maine. He attended the Boston Latin school, and in 1878 graduated from Harvard college. He has been editor of Cottage Hearth; Our Sunday Afternoon, and Wellspring. He is the author of twenty-eight books for young people, the most notable of which are: Pine Cone Stories, in six volumes; Red Mountain of Alaska; Lion City of Africa; Camp Vagabond; Mammoth Hunters; The Great Island; Boyhood of John Kent; Christmas at Surf Point; Snowed In; A Son of Liberty; Called to the Front; Mountaineer Series, in five volumes; Forest Home Series, in five volumes; John Brownlow's Folks; and In the Morning.

ALLEN, ZACHARIAH, inventor, was born Sept. 15, 1795, in Providence, R. I. He was a noted inventor and manufacturer of Providence; and the author of Practical Tourist; Practical Mechanics; Philosophy of the Mechanics' of Nature; and Solar Light and Heat. He died March 17, 1882.

ALLERTON, MRS. ELLEN, poet, was born in 1835, in New York. She is the author of Poems of the Prairies, and contributes to current literature.

ALLERTON, ELLEN PALMER, poet, was born Oct. 17, 1835, in Centerville, N. Y. She has contributed to Milwaukee and Chicago papers; was at one time book reviewer for the Milwaukee Sentinel, and is the author of a volume entitled Poems of the Prairies.

ALLERTON, ISAAC, pilgrim, was born about 1583. He went from England to Leyden in 1608, and came to America in 1620 in the first voyage of the Mayflower. He was a wealthy and enterprising member of the colony, and took a leading part in its affairs. He treated with Massasoit, and made several trips to England as the agent of the colony to purchase the rights of the adventurers, to secure patents for lands, and to bring over the rest of the congregation at Leyden. He died in 1659 in New Haven, Conn.

ALLERTON, SAMUEL WATERS, packer, was born May 26, 1828, near South Amenia, N. Y. In 1873 Mr. Allerton began packing meats, and carried on the business as The Allerton Packing Co., of which he is president. He now has forty thousand acres of farm land in Illinois, Ohio, and in Iowa—upon which live stock is raised and fattened. He is one of the two survivors of the organizers of the First National bank of Chicago; and a large owner in The Chicago City Railway; The Arcade File Works of Anderson, Ind., and president of The Allerton bank of Allerton, Ill.

ALLEY, JOHN B., manufacturer, congressman, was born Jan. 7, 1817, in Lynn, Mass. He entered largely into the shoe and leather business; served several years in the city councils of Lynn; was a member of the governor's council in 1851; a member of the Massachusetts senate in 1852; of the state constitutional convention held in 1853; and in 1858 was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-sixth congress. He was elected to the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses, and was a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalist convention of 1866.

ALLIBONE, SAMUEL AUSTIN, author, was born April 17, 1816, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is widely known by his Critical Dictionary of English Literature and British and American Authors, a work of immense labor and research. He died Sept. 2, 1889, in Lucerne, Switzerland.

ALLIN, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born in 1596 in England. He was a puritan scholar, who emigrated from England in 1637; became the first minister of Dedham; and was the author of several works. He died Aug. 26, 1671, in Dedham, Mass.

ALLIS, LIZZIE MAY, educator, was born May 28, 1863, in Prattsburgh, N. Y., which city is still her home. She graduated from the Franklin academy; Elmira college and from Cornell university. She has filled the chair of German and English in the Jacksonville Female academy, Illinois; was preceptress for three years of the State Normal school of Mansfield, Pa.; and now fills the chair of French and German in the Iowa State college.

ALLISON, BURGESS, educator, clergyman, inventor, was born Aug. 17, 1753, in Bordentown, N. J. He studied at Rhode Island college (now Brown university) in 1777, and subsequently had charge of a small congregation at Bordentown, N. J., where he established a classical boarding-school, which attained great reputation. In 1796 he withdrew from his teaching and devoted his time for several years to inventing. Some improvements in the steam engine and its application to navigation are due to his efforts. He was elected chaplain of the house of representatives in 1816, and later became chaplain at the navy-yard, Washington, where he remained until his death. He died Feb. 20, 1827, in Washington, D. C.

ALLISON, JAMES, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 4, 1772, in Cecil county, Md. He studied law and acquired a high position at the bar of western Pennsylvania. He was elected a representative from that state to the eighteenth congress; was re-elected to the nineteenth congress, but on account of ill health and his dislike of public life, declined the position. After practicing his profession for fifty years, he died in June, 1854.

ALLISON, JOHN, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 5, 1812, in Pennsylvania. He studied law, but never practiced the profession; was elected to the assembly of his state in 1846, 1847, and 1849; was a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-second and thirty-fourth congresses, and declined a nomination for re-election. In 1869 he was appointed register of the United States treasury. He died March 23, 1878, in Washington, D. C.

ALLISON, ROBERT, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania, from 1831 to 1833.

ALLISON, WILLIAM B., lawyer, United States senator, was born March 2, 1829, in Perry, Ohio. He was educated at the Western Reserve college, Ohio; studied law and practiced in Ohio until he removed to Iowa in 1857. He served on the staff of the governor of Iowa and aided in organizing volunteers in the beginning of the war for the suppression of the rebellion. He was elected a representative in the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, and forty-first congresses, and was elected to the United States senate as a republican, and took his seat March 4, 1873. He was re-elected in 1878, 1884, 1890, and 1897. His term of service will expire March 3, 1903.

ALLSTON, JOSEPH, governor, was born in 1778 in South Carolina. He was a planter of education and ability; was several years a member of the South Carolina legislature; and was governor of that state from 1812 to 1814. He married a daughter of Aaron Burr, and for that reason was suspected, but unjustly, of being concerned in the questionable enterprises of that famous man. His wife was lost at sea on her passage from New York to Charleston in 1812. He died Sept. 10, 1816.

ALLSTON, ROBERT FRANCIS WITHERS, statesman, author, was born April 21, 1801, in All Saint's parish, S. C. He was a Carolina statesman well known at one time as an agricultural reformer. He was the author of Memoir on Rice; Essay on Seacoast Crops; and Report on Public Schools. He died April 7, 1864, near Georgetown, S. C.

ALLSTON, WASHINGTON, artist, author, was born Nov. 5, 1779, in Waccamaw, S. C. He was the foremost of American painters in his delineations of sacred history. Jacob's Dream; Elijah in the Desert; and Belshazzar's Feast, the latter on which he was at work when he died, are among his sacred historical paintings. He also possessed poetical talent of a high order, and was the author of Sylphs of the Seasons; Romance of Monaldi; and Lectures on Art. He died July 9, 1843, in Cambridge, Mass.

ALLYN, EUNICE ELOISAE GIBBS, artist, poet, was born near Cleveland, Ohio. She has been the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean; was a writer for the St. Louis Globe and the New York World; and still contributes both prose and verse to the leading publications of America. She has also won distinction as an artist and lecturer. For eight years she served as president of the Dubuque Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and is prominently identified with various other organizations.

ALLYN, JOHN, merchant, was born Sept. 4, 1783, in Boston, Mass. In 1805 he originated the ice trade; and developed the marvelous processes of harvesting, handling and storing ice, which are still in use wherever natural ice is obtained on a large scale. He died Feb. 6, 1864, in Boston, Mass.

ALLYN, JOSEPH P., jurist, was a native of Connecticut, from which state he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Arizona.

ALMOND, MARCUS BLAKEY, author, was born Aug. 17, 1851, in Stanardsville, Va. For many years he was professor of ancient languages in the male high school of Louisville, Ky., and is now headmaster of the university school of that city. His famous poem, Estelle, is a beautiful story in verse of some fifty pages, and was published in a volume with other poems. His next work was Agricola, an Easter Idyl; and he is the author of several educational works of acknowledged excellence.

ALMY, JOHN JAY, naval officer, was born April 25, 1815, in Rhode Island. He entered the navy as midshipman in 1829, advanced to the rank of commodore in 1869; and until 1876 was commander of the Pacific squadron.

ALMY, WILLIAM, educator, philanthropist, was born Feb. 17, 1761, in Providence, R. I. He was a teacher and a member of the society of Friends, and became wealthy through marriage with the only daughter of Moses Brown and resulting business arrangements for the manufacture of cotton goods. One of his most important charities was the establishment of the New England yearly meeting boarding-house in Providence, where he educated at his own expense eighty young persons selected by him. He devoted large sums to other charitable objects. He died Feb. 5, 1836.

ALSOP, GEORGE, author, was born in 1638 in England. He published a book with this quaint title: A Character of the Province of Maryland; also a Small Treatise on the Wild and Naked Indians or Susquehanokes of Maryland, their Customs, Manners, Absurdities, and Religion, together with a collection of historical letters.

ALSOP, JOHN, merchant, congressman, was born in Middletown, Conn. He was a merchant, and by his ability, patriotism, and integrity secured his election to the continental congress in 1774, serving two years in that body. He died Nov. 22, 1794, in Newtown, N. Y.

ALSOP, JOHN, lawyer, poet, was born Feb. 5, 1776, in Middletown, Conn. He was admitted to the bar, and began practice in New London. He afterward became a bookseller in Hartford, and still later in New York. His poems were never issued in book form, but appeared in various periodicals and collections. He died Nov. 1, 1841, in Middletown, Conn.

ALSOP, RICHARD, poet, was born Jan. 23, 1761, in Middletown, Conn. He was a witty political satirist who, with Theodore Dwight, wrote The Echo in 1791, a series of metrical parodies upon current publications, orations, state papers, and the like. Other works by Alsop are: The Charms of Fancy; A Monody on the Death of Washington; and The Enchanted Lake of the Fairy Morgana. He died Aug. 20, 1815, in Flatbush, N. Y.

ALSTON, LEMUEL J., congressman. He was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1807 to 1811.

ALSTON, WILLIAM, revolutionary soldier, state senator, was born in 1757 in Charleston, S. C. He was a captain in the revolutionary war; a capable soldier and a zealous patriot. After the war he served for many years in the state senate. He died June 26, 1839.

ALSTON, WILLIAM J., congressman, was born in Georgia. Removing to Alabama, he was a representative in congress from that state from 1849 to 1851.

ALSTON, WILLIS, congressman, was born in Halifax county, N. C. He appeared in public life as early as 1794, serving in the state legislature for several years. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1799 to 1815, and from 1825 to 1831. He died April 10, 1837.

ALSTON, WILLIS, state legislator, congressman, was born in Halifax county, N. C. In 1794 he was a member of the North Carolina state legislature; and for twenty years was a member of congress. He died April 10, 1837.

ALT, GUSTAVE ADOLPH F. W., physician, surgeon, was born Aug. 13, 1851, in Baden. He served two years as house surgeon in the New York ophthalmic and aural institute; and in 1887 was made lecturer on ophthalmology and otology in Trinity college. In 1879 he published in Germany, also in New York, The Normal and Pathological Histology of the Human Eye; and in 1883 he founded and edited the first ophthalmological journal, The American Journal of Ophthalmology.

ALTGELD, JOHN P., lawyer, governor, was born in December, 1847, in Germany. When sixteen years of age he entered the Union army, and carried a musket in the James river campaign. At nineteen he began to teach school, and at twenty-one went farther west. In 1884 he published a small volume entitled Our Penal Machinery and Its Victims, and in 1890 a volume entitled Live Questions, being a discussion of some of the problems of the day. In 1894 he published volume two of the work last named. He was elected judge of the superior court of Chicago in 1886, and was for a time chief justice of that court. After serving on the bench about five years he resigned to devote himself to private affairs. Meanwhile he had becomc interested in Chicago real estate, and built six of the finest business blocks in Chicago, one of them a sixteen-story fire-proof structure called The Unity, which is regarded as one of the finest office buildings in the country. In 1892 he was elected governor of the state of Illinois.

ALVORD, BENJAMIN, soldier, author, was born Aug. 18, 1813, in Rutland, Vt. He was a United States officer who served in the Mexican and civil wars; and was the author of Tangencies of Circles and Spheres: and Interpretation of Imaginary Roots in Questions of Maxima and Minima. He died Oct. 16, 1884, in Washington, D. C.

ALVORD, JAMES C., lawyer, legislator, was a native of Massachusetts. He adopted the profession of the law; served one term in each branch of the state legislature; and was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the twenty-sixth congress, but died in the latter part of 1839, before taking his seat.

ALVORD, THOMAS GOLD, lawyer, statesman, was born Dec. 20, 1810, in Onondaga county, N. Y. He graduated from Yale in 1828; in 1832 was admitted to the New York bar; and in 1844 sent to the legislature, where he remained for ten consecutive terms. He was elected speaker of the house in 1858 and in 1864; was lieutenant-governor in 1865-66, and a member of the New York state constitutional convention in 1867-68. He is the proprietor of extensive salt mines in central New York.

AMBAUEN, ANDREW JOSEPH, Roman catholic priest, author, was born March 7, 1847, in Switzerland. In 1872 he was ordained to the priesthood in Milwaukee, Wis., where for thirteen years he worked in various pioneer mission stations in that diocese. In 1886 he was appointed to St. Joseph's congregation in Dodgeville, Wis., where he has since faithfully ministered. In the intervals of exacting pastoral duties he has contributed extensively to church and popular literature. Among his works are The Friend of Youth; Roses of Heaven; and Guide to Our Celestial Home; all in the German language. In English he is the author of The Devoted Companion; Our Christian Duties; and The Floral Apostles, or What the Flowers Say to Thinking Man. Father Ambauen is widely popular in his adopted state, both within and without the church, as one whose earnestness and thorough devotion to all causes of good and truth are unfailing and sincere.

AMBLER, JACOB A., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1829, in Pittsburg, Pa. He studied law in Ohio, and in 1857 was elected to the state legislature, and served two terms. In 1859 he was appointed judge of the ninth judicial district of the state, and served until 1867, when he resumed the practice of his profession. He was elected to the forty-first and forty-second congresses, serving on the committee on foreign affairs. He still practices law in Salem, Ohio, in partnership with his son, under the firm name of Ambler and Son.

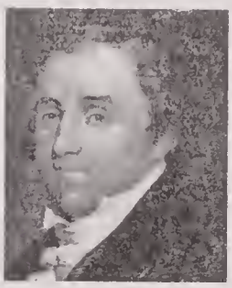
AMBLER, WILLIAM E., lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Dec. 18, 1845, in Medina, Ohio. Since 1868 he has practiced law in Pentwater, Mich. He has been president of the village, and a member of Neilsen and Company, bankers. He was elected senator in the state legislatnrc in 1878; was re-elected in 1880; and was president pro tem of the senate during his last term. He subsequently became judge of probate for Oceana county.

AMBROSE, JAMES W., civil engineer, legislator, was born Jan. 3, 1826, in Industry, Maine. He became a member of the Maine state legislature in 1883. For eighteen years he was commissioner, and is a successful farmer and legislator.

AMBROSE, JOHN L., organist, singer, composer, was born in 1844, in Sandwich, N. H. He has composed church music and has prepared a book of Male Quartettes for the work of the Masonic lodge.

AMERMAN, LEMUEL, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 29, 1846, near Danville, Pa. He was professor of ancient languages and English literature in the state normal school at Mansfield, Pa., for three years; was admitted to practice and located in Scranton in 1876; was county solicitor for Lackawanna county in 1879-80; was representative in Pennsylvania legislature, 1881-84; was city comptroller of Scranton, 1885-86; was reporter of the decisions of the supreme court of Pennsylvania, 1886-87. He was largely interested in the construction and operation of water works; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. He died Oct. 7, 1897, in Scranton, Pa.

AMES, ADELBERT, soldier, governor, United States congressman, was born Oct. 31, 1835, in Rockland, Maine. He received a classical education; entered the military academy at West Point, and graduated in 1861. He was commissioned second lieutenant of artillery; brevetted major for gallant services at the battle of Bull Run, where he was wounded; brevetted lieutenant-colonel for services at the battle of Malvern Hill; was appointed colonel of volunteers; brevetted colonel for services at the battle of Gettysburg; brevetted major-general of volunteers for services at Fort Fisher; and again brevetted major-general, United States army, at the close of the war, for gallant and meritorious services in the field during the rebellion. He was appointed provisional governor of Mississippi in 1868; appointed to the command of the department of Mississippi in 1869; was elected to the United States senate for six years, taking his seat in 1870. In 1873 he was elected governor of Mississippi.



AMES, CHARLES GORDON, clergyman, author, was born in 1828, in Massachusetts. He is a unitarian clergyman and pastor of the church of the disciples in Boston. He is the author of George Eliot's Two Marriages; As Natural as Life; and Studies of the Inner Kingdom.

AMES, EDWARD RAYMOND, educator, bishop, was born May 20, 1806, in Athens, Ohio. He studied for two years at the Ohio state university, and in 1828 opened a high school at Lebanon, Ill., which in time grew into McKendree college. Here he remained until 1830, when he joined the Indiana methodist episcopal conference and became an itinerant minister, and in 1852 became a bishop. He died April 25, 1879, in Baltimore, Md.

AMES, ELEANOR MARIA, journalist, author, was born in 1830. Under the pen name of Eleanor Kirk she has published a number of books; and she is also the proprietor of a magazine entitled Eleanor Kirk's Idea, which is published in Brooklyn, N. Y. She is the author of Up Broadway and Its Sequel; Information for Authors; and Perpetual Youth.

AMES, FANNY B., industrial reformer, lecturer, was born June 14, 1840, in Canandaigua, N. Y. Her first experience in practical work was gained in military hospitals during the war. In 1863 she was married to the Rev. Charles G. Ames. She has been the president of the children's aid society; was for two years president of the new country club of Philadelphia; and in 1891 was appointed factory inspector in Massachusetts.

AMES, FISHER, orator, statesman, author, was born April 9, 1758, in Dedham, Mass. He graduated from Harvard university in 1774; studied law in Boston, and commenced practice in his native town; distinguished himself as a member of the Massachusetts convention for ratifying the constitution in 1788; and from that body passed into the state legislature. He was soon afterward elected a representative in congress, where he served from 1789 to 1797, and gained great reputation for his eloquence and exalted patriotism. He was devotedly attached to Washington, and was the author of the Address from the house of representatives to the president prior to his retirement from office. He wrote much for the papers on the public affairs of America, England, and France, and both as a writer and orator attained a very prominent position, and exerted an extensive influence. In 1809 a collection of his writings, and his life, were published by Rev. Dr. Kirkham; in 1854 a more complete edition was issued, edited by his son. He died July 4, 1808.

AMES, JOSEPH, painter, was born Sept. 6, 1816, in Roxbury, N. H. His best-known pictures are portraits of Ristori, Prescott, Emerson, Rachel, and President Felton, of Harvard, and Gazzaniga. Among his ideal paintings are: Miranda; Night; Morning; The Death of Webster; and Maud Muller. He died Oct. 30, 1872, in New York.

AMES, LUCIA TRUE, author, was born May 5, 1856, in Boscawen, N. H. She is the author of Great Thoughts for Little Thinkers; and Memoirs of a Millionaire, a work of fiction. For many years she has conducted numerous large adult classes in Boston, giving studies in nineteenth century thought.

AMES, MARY CLEMMER (Mrs. Hudson), author, was born in 1839 in Utica, N. Y. She was intimate with Alice and Phoebe Cary, whose biographies she wrote. She published monographs on Charles Sumner, Margaret Fuller, George Eliot, Emerson, and Longfellow. She wrote three novels, Victoria; Eirene; and His Two Wives; Ten Years in Washington; Outlines of Men, Women and Things; and a volume of poems. In 1883 she married Edmund Hudson, editor and proprietor of the Army and Navy Register. She died Aug. 18, 1884, in Washington, D. C.

AMES, NATHAN P., manufacturer, was born in 1803. He commenced the cutlery business in 1829. In 1834 the Ames manufacturing company was incorporated, with N. P. Ames as agent. This company has supplied the United States government with swords since 1831. In 1840 he visited Europe to inspect foreign armories, and acquire information in regard to tools, cutlery, and improvements in arms. In 1836 the bronze foundry was erected, which has become the most famous in the United States. Since its erection nearly all the brass guns made for the American army have been cast at this establishment. Here the celebrated statues of De Witt Clinton, in Greenwood cemetery, Brooklyn; Washington, in Union square, N. Y., and that of Franklin, in School street, Boston, were cast. In 1854 the British government ordered of this company a complete set of the machines for perfecting the stock of the musket. They are now in use at the government armory near Woolwich, England. He died April 23, 1847, in Cabotville, Mass.

AMES, NATHANIEL, physician, author, was born in 1708 in Bridgewater, Mass. He was a physician of Dedham, Mass., who published in 1725-64, an Astronomical Diary and Almanac which contained much shrewd humor and original philosophy and was widely popular. He died July 11, 1764, in Dedham, Mass.

AMES, OAKES, manufacturer, congressman, was born Jan. 10, 1804, in Easton, Mass. He received a public-school education; was engaged in manufacturing and largely engaged in railroads; and was elected a member of the executive council of Massachusetts in 1860 and 1861. He was elected to the thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, forty-first, and forty-second congresses as a republican. He died May 8, 1873, in North Easton, Mass.

AMES, OAKES ANGIER, manufacturer, banker, was born April 15, 1829, in Easton, Mass. This successful manufacturer and financier is the president of the Oliver Ames and Sons corporation of North Easton, Mass., an institution which has a national reputation as manufacturers of shovels, spades, and hardware specialties. He is president of the North Easton savings bank; vice-president of the Easton national bank; director of the Lincoln national bank of Boston; director of the Kenily iron and machine company of Canton; director of the Washington Mills emery company; president of the Ames security register company; and trustee of the state lunatic hospital at Taunton. Mr. Ames is an influential man in manufacturing and financial circles in the New England states.

AMES, OLIVER, soldier, manufacturer, governor, was born Feb. 4, 1831, in North Easton, Mass. Entering early the great shovel manufactory, he acquired a mastery of the business, and contributed numerous inventions to the processes of the manufacture. In 1880-81 he was elected a member of the Massachusetts senate; and in 1882 lieutenant-governor of the state. In 1886 he was elected governor, and re-elected in 1887-88.

AMES, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Sept. 6, 1806, in Providence, R. I. He was prepared for college at Phillips Andover academy, and was graduated at Brown in 1823. After graduation he attended the law lectures of Judge Gould at Litchfield, Conn., and became a member of the Rhode Island bar in 1826. He served in the Providence city council; was for many years in the state assembly; and was elected speaker of that body in 1844 and 1845. In 1853 he was appointed by the legislature to represent the state in adjusting the boundary between Rhode Island and Massachusetts. In 1855 he was one of the commissioners to revise the statutes of Rhode Island, a work that was completed in 1857 mainly under his supervision. He was elected chief justice of the state supreme court in May, 1856, and resigned the office in November, 1865, because of failing health. He was a delegate to the peace convention in 1861. The law books of which he was author or editor are: Agnell and Ames on Corporations, and Rhode Island Reports, volumes 4 to 7. He died Dec. 20, 1865, in Providence, R. I.

AMES, WILL L., soldier, legislator, was born in Petersboro, N. H. He was educated at Phillips Exeter academy, N. H.; enlisted in the first New Hampshire cavalry in 1863, and served during the war under Generals Custer and Sheridan. He resided twelve years in Seattle, and served three years as city treasurer of that city. In 1897 he became a member of the Washington state legislature.

AMHERST, J. H., actor, dramatist, was born in 1776 in London, England. He came to the United States in 1838 as director of Cook's equestrian company, and first acted as the Castilian in Mazeppa in Philadelphia. He was an accomplished classical scholar, and the author of several plays, of which the following are the best known: Will Watch, or the Black Phantom; Napoleon Bonaparte's Invasion of Russia, or the Conflagration of Moscow; Ireland as It Was; The Battle of Waterloo; and Ireland as It Is. He died Aug. 12, 1851, in Philadelphia, Pa.

AMIES, OLIVE POND, educator, lecturer, was born in Jordan, N. Y. She has attained eminence as a successful teacher; has given model lessons at conventions and institutes; and for many years was in constant demand in the county teachers' institutes in the states of New York and Maine. She founded the training school for teachers in Lewiston, Maine; has held state positions in the Woman's Christian Temperance union and the Woman's Suffrage association; and delivers lectures on different themes connected with these organizations. In 1871 she was married to the Rev. J. H. Amies, an eminent clergyman of the universalist church.

AMMEN, DANIEL, naval officer, author, was born May 15, 1820, in Brown county, Ohio. He was chief of the naval bureau of navigation in 1870-78; and was sent to the so-called Paris canal congress in 1879. At the close of the civil war he designed the Ammen Life Raft, which saved the lives of more than half the crew of the Kearsarge when she was wrecked on a reef. He is the author of The Atlantic During the Civil War; The Old Navy and the New; Recollections of Grant; and various other papers.

AMMEN, JACOB, soldier, was born Jan. 7, 1808, in Virginia. He was graduated at West Point in 1831, and served there as assistant instructor in mathematics, and afterward of infantry tactics. He was promoted to be brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862.

AMMIDOWN, EDWARD HOLMES, merchant, author, was born Oct. 28, 1820, in Southbridge, Mass. He has been director of the Importers' and Traders' bank; the United States life insurance company; and the Dundee water-power company. He is the author of Historical Collections.

AMORY, ESTELLE MENDELL, educator, author, was born June 3, 1845, in Ellisburgh, N. Y. In 1868 she graduated from Falley seminary, and has attained success in educational work. Her literary productions consist mainly of domestic articles, short stories for children, essays on living themes, and occasional poems.

AMORY, ROBERT, physician, author, was born May 2, 1842, in Boston, Mass. He was appointed in 1869 lecturer at Harvard college on the physiological action of drugs, and was afterward professor of physiology in the medical school at Bowdoin college, but resigned this chair in 1874. He is a member of several societies of medical science, and has published Bromides of Potassium and Ammonium, and Action of Nitrous Oxide, and has contributed to periodicals important papers.

AMORY, THOMAS COFFIN, lawyer, author, was born Oct. 16, 1812, in Boston, Mass. He was the author of Life of James Sullivan, Governor of Massachusetts; Military Services of Major-General John Sullivan; and Life of Sir Isaac Coffin. He died Aug. 20, 1889, in Boston, Mass.

AMORY, THOMAS J. C., general, was born about 1830 in Massachusetts. He was graduated at West Point in 1851, and served on garrison and frontier duty in the Utah expedition, and on recruiting service until 1861, when he became colonel of the seventeenth Massachusetts volunteers. He was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. He died Oct. 8, 1864, in Newbern, N. C.

AMUNDSON, JOHN A., lawyer, was born April 2, 1856, in Madison, Wis. He is a lawyer of New York city, and is known for his sterling integrity, thorough preparation, and distinguished talents as an advocate, and as learned in the law.

ANAGNOS, MRS. JULIA ROMANA, author, was born in 1844. She was a daughter of Dr. S. G. and Julia Ward Howe, and wife of M. Anagnos, the superintendent of the Perkins institute for the blind in Boston. She is the author of Stray Chords, a volume of verse; and Philosophiæ Questor. She died in 1886.

ANCONA, SYDENHAM E., congressman, was born Nov. 20, 1824, in Warwick, Pa. Removing to Berks county, he was for several years connected with the Reading railroad company; in 1860 was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-seventh congress; was re-elected to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses. He was one of the representatives designated by the house to attend the funeral of General Scott in 1866.

ANDERS, T. J., lawyer, jurist, was born April 4, 1838, near Republic, Ohio. He removed to Montana, and later to Walla Walla, opening a law office at the latter town in 1871. He was elected city attorney, and also five times elected prosecuting attorney for that district. Judge Anders has been connected with much of the important litigation of Washington, and was the unanimous choice of his brother judges for the first chief justice of the supreme court of Washington. In 1892 he was re-elected for six years.

ANDERSON, ABEL, clergyman, educator, was born Dec. 6, 1847, in Albion, Wis. He graduated from the Luther college, university of Wisconsin, and from the Concordia theological seminary of St. Louis, Mo. During 1874-87 he was pastor of the Lutheran church in Muskegon, Mich., then at Appleton, Minn.; and since 1888 at Montevideo, Minn. Since the latter date he has also filled the chair of ancient and modern languages in the Windom institute. He was school inspector for a series of years, and in 1884 was a delegate from Michigan to the republican national convention.

ANDERSON, ALFRED HORACE, railroad president, was born in 1858, in La Crosse, Wis. Since 1895 he has been president of the Peninsular railroad.

ANDERSON, ALBERT R., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 8, 1837, He was appointed state railroad commissioner in 1881; and was elected to the fiftieth congress as an independent republican.

ANDERSON, ALEXANDER, engraver, author, was born April 21, 1775, in New York city. He was the first wood-engraver in the United States. He was the author of an illustrated General History of Quadrupeds. He died Jan. 17, 1870, in Jersey City, N. J.

ANDERSON, ALEXANDER, congressman, was born Nov. 10, 1794, in Jefferson county, Tenn. He was a senator in congress from the Knoxville district, Tennessee, during the years 1840 and 1841, part of a term, and served as a member of the committee on the militia. He died May 23, 1869, in Knoxville, Tenn.

ANDERSON, C. L., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born March 15, 1845, in Noxubee county, Miss. He entered the confederate army as a private in the thirty-ninth infantry regiment, Mississippi volunteers, March 5, 1862, and served continuously in that command, receiving promotion through the successive grades of non-commissioned officers until July, 1864, when he was transferred to Bradford's cavalry corps of scouts, with the rank of second lieutenant, in which capacity he served until the close of the war. He entered the university of Mississippi in January, 1866, where he remained until the summer of 1867, having taken a partial course in both the literary and law departments. He commenced the practice of law in the town of Kosciusko, Feb. 14, 1868; was elected to the Mississippi legislature in November, 1879, and served through the session of 1880; and was elected to the fiftieth congress, and was re-elected to the fifty-first congress. In 1896-97 he was United States district attorney of Mississippi.

ANDERSON, CHARLES, lawyer. He was acting governor of Ohio in 1865 and 1866; and was by profession a lawyer. He was a man of high culture, and for many years was an influential citizen of Cincinnati.

ANDERSON, CHARLES M., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 5, 1845, in Juniata county, Pa. He removed with his parents to Ohio in 1855; served in the Union army throughout the civil war; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1868. He engaged in practice at Greenville, Ohio; and in 1884 was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-ninth congress.

ANDERSON, CLIFFORD, attorney-general, was born March 23, 1833, in Virginia. He was elected judge of Macon city court in 1856, and attorney-general of Georgia, serving in the last office ten years.

ANDERSON, DAVID, soldier, manufacturer, state senator, was born Nov. 26, 1825, in Clarendon, N. Y. He moved to Michigan in 1854, and settled in the town of Madison. In 1865 he removed to the town of Columbia, where he has held various offices of trust in his township. In 1862 he joined the nineteenth Michigan infantry, received the commission of first lieutenant, and in the same year was promoted to the rank of captain. In 1864 he was commissioned as major, and at the close of the war received a colonel's commission. During 1873-74 he served with distinction as a member of the Michigan state senate.

ANDERSON, GALUSHA, LL. D., clergyman, educator, college president, was born March 7, 1832, in Bergen, N. Y. In 1854 he graduated from the university of Rochester; and from the Rochester theological seminary two years later. He was pastor of the first baptist church of Janesville, Wis.; of the second baptist church of St. Louis, Mo.; of the Strong place baptist church of Brooklyn, N. Y.; and of the second baptist church of Chicago. For eight years he was president of the university of Chicago; and for three years was president of the Denison university, Ohio. For seven years he filled the chair of sacred rhetoric, church polity and pastoral duties in the Newton theological seminary, Mass.; and now fills the same chair in the divinity school of the university of Chicago. He was in St. Louis during the civil war, and preached the first loyal sermon in that city in April, 1861; and he was one of a band of loyal men who succeeded in keeping Missouri in the Union. His writings have appeared in the North American Review and various standard works.

ANDERSON, GEORGE A., lawyer, congressman, was born March 11, 1853, in Botetourt county, Va. He removed with his parents to Hancock county, Ill., when two years of age; received a common school and collegiate education, graduating with first honors in 1876. He began the practice of law in Quincy, Ill., in 1880. He was elected city attorney of Quincy in 1884, and re-elected without opposition in 1885, and was elected to the fiftieth congress as a democrat.

ANDERSON, GEORGE B., soldier, was born in 1831 in Wilmington, N. C. He entered West Point, was graduated in 1852, and appointed second lieutenant in the second dragoons. On the breaking out of the civil war he resigned his commission to accept a brigadier-generalship in the confederate army. He died Oct. 16, 1862, in Raleigh, N. C.

ANDERSON, GEORGE W., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born May 22, 1832, in Jefferson county, Tenn. He graduated at Franklin college, Tennessee; studied and practiced law; went to Missouri in 1853; was a member of the state legislature of Missouri in 1859 and 1860, and of the state senate in 1862; was a presidential elector in 1860; served as colonel of a regiment of the reserve corps from 1862 to 1864, and commanded the forty-ninth regiment and first battalion E. M. M. in active service. He was elected to the thirty-ninth congress, and was re-elected to the fortieth congress as a radical.

ANDERSON, HENRY JAMES, educator, author, was born Feb. 6, 1799, in New York. He was the author of Geology of Lieutenant Lynch's Expedition to the Dead Sea; and a Geological Reconnoissance of Part of the Holy Land. He died Oct. 19, 1875, in Hindostan.

ANDERSON, HUGH J., lawyer, congressman, governor, was born May 10, 1801, in Wicassel, Maine. He was clerk of the Waldo county courts from 1827 to 1837; a representative in congress from Maine, from 1837 to 1841, and a member of the committee on naval affairs. He was a lawyer by profession; governor of Maine from 1844 to 1847; a presidential elector in 1849; and commissioner of customs in Washington, from 1853 to 1858. In 1866 he was appointed sixth auditor of the treasury. He died May 3, 1881, in Portland, Maine.

ANDERSON, ISAAC, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1803 to 1807.

ANDERSON, ISAAC, clergyman, was born March 26, 1780, in Rock Bridge, Va. He was a successful clergyman of Maryville, Tenn., where the Southwestern Theological seminary was established through his efforts.

ANDERSON, J. P., congressman, was born about 1820 in Tennessee. He was elected a delegate to the thirty-fourth congress from the territory of Washington. He died in 1873, in Memphis, Tenn.

ANDERSON, JAMES HAMILTON, soldier, lawyer, was born May 30, 1842, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1857 he moved with his father to Keokuk, Iowa; and three years later to Missouri. For awhile he was in a regiment of the North East Missouri volunteers in 1861; and in 1864 he enlisted in the forty-fifth regiment volunteer infantry. He subsequently studied law in Keokuk, and since 1866 has practiced his profession in that city. He was vice-president and manager of the Keokuk and Northwestern railroad; and he built the original street railroad in Keokuk, of which for several years he was president. He is president of the Keokuk school board; and takes an active part in the public affairs of his city, county and state.

ANDERSON, JAMES O., soldier, farmer, legislator, was born Aug. 1, 1845, in Henderson county, Ill. He left Monmouth college when a student to enlist in the twenty-eighth regiment Illinois infantry, in which he attained the rank of second lieutenant. He was sheriff of Henderson county for ten years, and he was elected to the Illinois house of representatives in 1888, 1890, 1892, and in 1896.

ANDERSON, JAMES PATTON, soldier, was born in 1820 in Tennessee. During the civil war he held the rank of brigadier-general, C. S. A., and was promoted major-general in 1864. He died in 1873 in Memphis, Tenn.

ANDERSON, JAMES W. D., clergyman, lecturer, poet, was born March 3, 1859, in Coffey county, Kan. He is a successful methodist clergyman and lecturer of Kansas. He is the author of a work entitled The Kansas Methodist Pulpit; and is also the author of a number of meritorious poems.

ANDERSON, JEROME A., surgeon, lecturer, poet, was born July 25, 1849, in Randolph county, Ind. In 1857 he removed to Kansas, and at the age of sixteen was a member of the Kansas troops in the Price raid of the late civil war. In 1872 he removed to California. After graduating, Mr. Anderson served one year as surgeon on the Pacific mail steamer, and has practiced medicine continually since. He is at present editing a department of Oriental Literature in the Golden Era of San Diego, being also engaged in writing and lecturing upon Theosophy.

ANDERSON, JOHN, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born in Windham, Conn. In 1813 he graduated from Bowdoin college, and became a noted lawyer of Portland, Maine. In 1823 he served with distinction as a member of the Maine state senate; and during 1825-33 was an able and useful member of congress. During 1833-36 he was United States district attorney for Maine; and for many years was collector of the port for Portland. He was three times chosen mayor of Portland, and discharged his duties with great ability. He died in 1853.

ANDERSON, JOHN A., congressman, was born June 6, 1834, in Washington county, Pa. He graduated at Miami university, Ohio, in 1853; removed to California; in 1857 was ordained a minister of the presbyterian church; was elected trustee of the State Insane asylum in 1860; was a chaplain of volunteers in 1862; was in the service of the United States sanitary commission from 1863 to 1867, and was president of the Kansas State Agricultural college from 1875 to 1879. He was elected a representative from Kansas to the forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, and fifty-first congresses.

ANDERSON, JOHN JACOB, educator, author, was born in 1821, in New York city. He is an educator of New York city who prepared a number of historical text books, among which are A History of France; and Common School History of the United States.

ANDERSON, JOSEPH, soldier, lawyer, jurist, United States senator, was born Nov. 5, 1757, near Philadelphia, Pa. He was appointed an ensign in the New Jersey line in 1775; was promoted to an adjutancy; as a captain fought at the battle of Monmouth; also went in 1779 with Sullivan against the Six Nations; in 1780 was at Valley Forge; in 1781 at the siege of York; and after the war retired with the rank of brevet major. He practiced law in Delaware for seven years. In 1791 was appointed judge of the territory south of the Ohio river; remained in that position until the first constitution of Tennessee was formed, which he aided in forming in convention; and was an influential member of the United States senate from Tennessee from 1797 to 1815. He was appointed in 1815 first comptroller of the treasury, where he remained until 1836. He died April 17, 1837, in Washington, D. C.

ANDERSON, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 16, 1836, in Scotland. He has been pastor of congregational churches in Stamford, Norwalk and Waterbury, Conn.; at the latter since 1865. In 1877 and 1890 he was moderator of the general association of Connecticut, and in 1878 of the congregational churches of the Connecticut general conference. He is the author of The Church of Mattatuck; and History of Waterbury.

ANDERSON, JOSEPH H., congressman, was born in New York. He was elected a representative in congress from that state, from 1843 to 1847.

ANDERSON, JOSEPH W., railroad president, was born Feb. 5, 1837, in York county, Pa. Since 1895 he has been president of the Stewartstown railroad of Pennsylvania.

ANDERSON, JOSEPHUS, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Oct. 7, 1829, in Hanover county, Va. He is one of the foremost clergymen of the methodist episcopal church south; and has held the highest offices in the gift of that denomination. For the past ten years he has been editor of the Florida Christian Advocate of Leesburg, Fla.

ANDERSON, JOSIAH M., congressman, was born in Tennessee. He was a representative in congress from the third district in that state, from 1849 to 1852; and was delegate to the peace congress of 1861.

ANDERSON, LUCIEN, lawyer, congressman, was born June, 1824, in Mayfield, Ky. He received a good English education; adopted the profession of the law; was a presidential elector in 1852; served for two terms as a member of the Kentucky legislature. In 1863 was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-eighth congress. He was a delegate to the Baltimore convention of 1864, and a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalists' convention of 1866.

ANDERSON, MARION T., soldier, was born Nov. 13, 1839, in Clarksburg, Ind. He served as a union soldier during the civil war, and joined company C, seventh Indiana volunteer infantry; and was in the first battle of the war, and captured the first rebel flag. He was promoted to sergeant, acting major of the regiment, and in 1862 was commissioned second lieutenant. In 1863 he received his commission as captain, and as such was severely wounded on Dec. 31 of that year. For seven months he was an inmate of Libby prison; was one of the seventy-five officers who drew lots for their lives to afford two victims to be hanged the following morning in retaliation for some executions of rebel spies made by Gen. Burnside in Kentucky; and on Dec. 11 made his successful escape from that prison.

ANDERSON, MARY, actress, was born July 28, 1859, in Sacramento, Cal. Her remarkable beauty and grace aided materially in making her a social as well as a dramatic success. In 1890 she married Mr. Navarro of New York, and retired from the stage.

ANDERSON, MELVILLE BEST, educator, translator, and critic, was born March 28, 1851, in Kalamazoo, Mich. He is a professor of English literature in Stanford university, California. He is the translator of Victor Hugo's William Shakespeare, and several other works, including Paul and Virginia. He is noted as a literary critic, and for many years has been a contributor to The Dial.

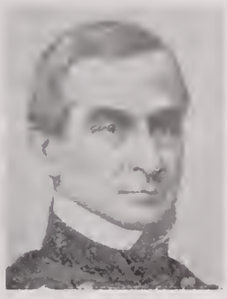
ANDERSON, NORTON BROCK, lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 8, 1843, in Todd county, Ky. He received his education at the Paducah college, Kentucky, Bethel college of Russellville, Ky.; and at Harvard university. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Platte City, Mo., and in 1870 was elected prosecuting attorney of his county. During 1889-93 he served as a member of the Missouri state senate. He was one of the revisers of the Missouri general statutes; and has contributed extensively to law literature.

ANDERSON, OPHELIA BROWN, actress, was born July 24, 1813, in Boston. She was the daughter of Mrs. Pelby, an actress, and appeared on the stage in Boston, when two years old, as Cora's child in Pizarro. She became a favorite with the American public, and was the chief attraction in the Tremont and National theaters, of which successively her father was the manager. She died Jan. 27, 1852, in Jamaica Plain, Mass.

ANDERSON, OSCAR DAVID, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 27, 1854, in Jamestown, N. Y. He has attained success as an able lawyer of Red Wing, Minn.; has been justice of the peace; judge of probate court; court commissioner; and has filled various other public positions of trust.

ANDERSON, OTTO LEANDER, farmer, lecturer, legislator, was born Feb. 27, 1849, in Sweden. He is a successful farmer of Rockerville, S. D.; was a representative in the fifth session of the South Dakota legislature; and a successful alliance lecturer and organizer of the people's party.

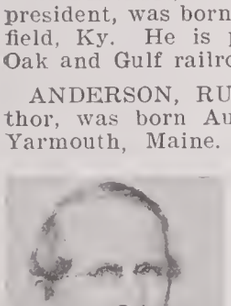
ANDERSON, RASMUS BJORN, author, was born Jan. 12, 1846, in Albion, Wis. In 1866 he became professor of Greek and modern languages in Albion academy, near his home. In 1869 he became instructor in languages in the university of Wisconsin, and in 1875-83 filled the chair of Scandinavian languages and literature in that institution, where he also founded a Scandinavian library. He has been a prolific writer, and has contributed to Johnson's Universal Cyclopedia; McClintock and Strong's Cyclopedia, The American Supplement of the Encyclopedia Britannica; and to the last edition of Chambers' Encyclopedia. He has lectured extensively on the subject of Norse literature and mythology. During 1885-89 he was United States minister to Denmark. As an author of books he has won an enviable reputation, his principal works being Norse Mythology; America Not Discovered by Columbus; Echoes from Mist-Land; History of the Literature of the Scandinavian North; Viking Tales of the North; The Younger Edda; The Elder Edda; and various other works.



ANDERSON, RICHARD CLOUGH, soldier, was born Jan. 12, 1750, in Hanover, Va. As captain in the fifth Virginia continentals, he led the advance of the Americans at the battle of Trenton (Dec. 24, 1776), crossing the Delaware river in the first boat, and driving in the Hessian outposts several hours before the main attack was delivered. He was at the battles of Brandywine and Germantown, and was a daring leader wherever dash and resolution were needed. He died Oct. 16, 1826, in Louisville, Ky.

ANDERSON, RICHARD CLOUGH, JR., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1788, in Louisville, Ky. He practiced with success at the Kentucky bar, and, after sitting in the legislature, was elected to congress in 1817 and again the following term. In 1822 he was again returned to the legislature, and was chosen speaker. He was appointed minister to Columbia in 1823 and in 1826, when, proceeding to the Panama congress as envoy extraordinary, he died on the journey. He died July 24, 1826.

ANDERSON, RICHARD H., soldier, was born Oct. 7, 1821, in Slatesburg, S. C. He was made a brigadier-general in the confederate army, promoted to lieutenant-general in 1864, and in the Wilderness campaign had several important commands. He died June 26, 1879, in Beaufort, S. C.



ANDERSON, ROBERT, soldier, was born June 14, 1805, in Louisville, Ky. In 1825 he graduated from West Point, and was assigned to the third artillery as second lieutenant. In the Black Hawk war of 1832 he was colonel of a company of Illinois volunteers. He took part in the Seminole and Mexican wars; and in 1857 was appointed major of the first artillery. He was commander of Fort Sumter when it was forced to surrender. He attained the rank of brigadier-general, and subsequently was brevetted major-general. He was one of the founders of the Soldier's Home in Washington. He died Oct. 27, 1871, in Nice, France.

ANDERSON, ROBERT HOUSTON, soldier, was born Oct. 1, 1835, in Savannah, Ga. He entered the confederate army in 1861 and rose by successive advancements to brigadier-general in 1864.

ANDERSON, ROBERT L., railroad president, was born Dec. 11, 1856, in Mayfield, Ky. He is president of the Live Oak and Gulf railroad at Ocala, Fla.

ANDERSON, RUFUS, missionary, author, was born Aug. 17, 1796, in North Yarmouth, Maine. He graduated from Bowdoin in 1818, and subsequently graduated from the Andover seminary. He devised the Christian Almanac, which is still continued under the title of the Family Christian Almanac, which has a circulation of nearly half a million copies annually. In 1826 he was ordained a clergyman; and has been a missionary in various countries. He was the author of Memoir of Catharine Brown, which had a large circulation both in America and in England. He was secretary of the American board of foreign missions in 1824-74. He was also the author of Foreign Missions, Their Relations and Claims; History of the American Board's Missions in the Sandwich Islands, Turkey and India, Peloponnesus and Greek Islands. He died May 30, 1880.

ANDREW, SAMUEL, clergyman, was born in 1656, in Cambridge, Mass. In 1707-19 he was rector of Yale college. He died Jan. 24, 1738.

ANDERSON, SAMUEL, congressman, was born in 1774, in Pennsylvania. He served repeatedly in the legislature of that state; and was speaker of the house during two sessions. He was elected a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1827 to 1839, and was a member of the committee on the boundary line of Missouri. He died Jan. 17, 1850, in Chester, Pa.

ANDERSON, SAMUEL GRAHAM, clergyman, evangelist, was born Sept. 17, 1842, in Glasgow, Scotland. In 1876 he was ordained a clergyman of the baptist church, and has filled pastorates in Canada, New York and Michigan, in which latter state he fills a pastorate in Ishpeming. He has been instrumental in organizing and building a number of churches; takes a practicable interest in all missionary, education and charitable enterprises; and has been very successful as an evangelist.

ANDERSON, SAMUEL JAMESON, was born in December, 1824, in Portland, Maine. In 1856 he was elected attorney for the county of Cumberland, and in 1856 was surveyor of the port, and held the office four years. In 1869 he was elected president of the Portland and Ogdensburg railroad on its organization, and is now in that position. In 1878 he was nominated by the democratic party for congress, but failed of an election. For some years he was major-general in the state militia.

ANDERSON, SIMEON H., congressman, was born March 2, 1802, in Garrard county, Ky. He studied law, and practiced with success; and served frequently in the Kentucky legislature. He was elected a representative in congress from the fifth congressional district of Kentucky, from 1839 to 1841, and served as a member of the committee on postoffices and post roads. He died Aug. 11, 1840, near Lancaster, Ky.

ANDERSON, T. J. soldier, was born in 1839, in Portage county, Ohio. He moved to Kansas in 1856; and in 1861 enlisted as a private in the fifth Kansas cavalry, and was brevetted colonel at the close of the war. He has been commander of his post at Topeka, and also served as department commander.

ANDERSON, THOMAS, soldier, clergyman, was born Jan. 1, 1791, in Mercer county, Pa. He graduated in 1820 from the Washington college of Washington, Pa. He served as a private during the war of 1812. In 1825 he entered the ministry, and was a home missionary in western Pennsylvania from that time until 1843. He died Dec. 20, 1853.

ANDERSON, THOMAS L., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 1, 1808, in Greene county, Ky. He was self-educated; removed to Missouri in 1830, where he commenced the practice of law at twenty-one years of age; and was elected to the legislature of that state in 1840. He was a presidential elector in 1844, 1848, 1852, and 1856; was a member of the convention for remodeling the state constitution in 1845; and was elected a representative to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses.

ANDERSON, THOMAS MAC ARTHUR, lawyer, army officer, author, was born Jan. 21, 1836, in Chillicothe, Ohio. He was educated at the Mount St. Mary's college, Maryland; and graduated from the Cincinnati law school; and subsequently practiced law. During the civil war he served as a soldier in the sixth regiment of the Ohio volunteer infantry. He has been lieutenant in the fifth U. S. cavalry; captain in the twelfth U. S. infantry; and was acting field officer during the civil war; major of the twenty-first U. S. infantry; major of the tenth U. S. infantry; lieutenant-colonel ninth U. S. infantry; and since 1886 has been colonel of the fourteenth U. S. infantry. He has been vice-president of the Sons of the American Revolution; past commander of the Loyal Legion; besides holding various other positions of honor. He is the author of a number of Monographs of Military, Masonic, and Patriotic subjects. In 1898 he accompanied Gen. Merritt to Manila as a brigadier-general.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM, soldier, jurist, congressman, was born in 1763, in Chester county, Pa. He served throughout the revolutionary war with credit, taking a prominent part in the siege of Yorktown. After the war returned to Delaware county, Pa.; was a representative in congress from that state from 1809 to 1815, and from 1817 to 1819; was afterwards a judge of Delaware county court, and a customhouse officer at Chester, Pa. He died Dec. 14, 1829, in Chester, Pa.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM, clergyman, was born April 29, 1864, in England. He was a local preacher in the Wesleyan methodist church in England; and subsequently attended the Drew Theological seminary of Madison, N. J. He is now one of the foremost clergymen of the south in the methodist episcopal church, and fills a pastorate in Wheeling, W. Va.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM B., farmer, general, congressman, was born April 2, 1830, in Mount Vernon, Ill. He received a common school education; was elected surveyor of Jefferson county in 1851; studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1858, but never practiced, engaging in agricultural pursuits, and is by occupation a farmer. He was elected a member of the state house of representatives of Illinois in 1856, and again in 1858; entered the union army in 1861 as private, was successively elected captain, lieutenant-colonel, and colonel, and was brevetted brigadier-general. He was a presidential elector on the Seymour and Blair ticket in 1868; was elected a member of the constitutional convention of Illinois in 1869; was elected to the state senate of Illinois Nov. 5, 1871, to fill a vacancy; and was elected to the forty-fourth congress as an independent reformer.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM C., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 6, 1826, in Lancaster, Ky. He was educated at the college of Danville; and adopted the profession of the law. He served in the Kentucky legislature in 1851 and 1853; was a presidential elector in 1856; and in 1859 was elected a representative from Kentucky to the thirty-sixth congress. He died Dec. 23, 1861, in Frankfort, Ky.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM COLMAN, was born July 11, 1853, near Greeneville, Tenn. He was raised on a farm; graduated from Tusculum college in 1876; read law at Newport, Tenn., and was admitted to the bar in 1878. He was elected to the state legislature from Cocke and Sevier counties in 1880 as a republican; was chairman of the republican congressional committee for the first district for six years; was appointed a principal examiner of contested land claims in the general land office in 1889, and afterwards promoted for merit, first to chief of the contest division, and then to chief clerk of the general land office. He was assistant secretary of the republican national committee, with headquarters in New York, during the campaign of 1892, and took an active part in that campaign. He returned to Newport in the spring of 1893 to resume his law practice, and was nominated in 1894 and elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM J., lawyer, public official, was born May 20, 1854, in Ontario, Canada. He received his education in the public schools of the United States; has occupied the positions of receiver of public moneys; county auditor, and mayor of Grand Forks, N. D. He takes an active part in public affairs; and was appointed a judge at the World's Columbian exposition.

ANDERSON, WILLIAM PELBY, actor, manager, was born March 16, 1793, in Boston, Mass. He managed the Tremont; built the Warren theater; and appeared in London as Hamlet and Brutus.

ANDREASEN, MATTHIAS N., clergyman, orator, temperance advocate, was born May 2, 1871, in Denmark. In 1890 he entered the Danish Free Church seminary of Chicago; and subsequently graduated from the Chicago Theological seminary. In 1893 he was ordained a clergyman of the presbyterian church, and filled a pastorate in St. Paul, Minn., until May, 1897. He then joined the Danish united evangelical Lutheran church in America, and now fills pastorates in two large Lutheran churches in Sioux City, Iowa. He was the editor of the Free Church Messenger, a religious weekly published by the synod of Minnesota; is an ardent temperance advocate; and has lectured extensively in that cause.

ANDREW, JAMES OSGOOD, bishop, was born May 3, 1794, near Washington, Ga. He entered the South Carolina conference in 1812, was ordained deacon in 1814, received full ordination in 1816, preached on circuits in Georgia and North Carolina, was stationed at Savannah, Charleston, Greensborough, and Athens, was presiding elder for several years, and in 1832 was chosen bishop by the general conference that met at Philadelphia. In 1846 the methodist episcopal church, south, was organized as an independent body, in a general conference held at Petersburg, Va. Bishop Andrew presided as senior bishop over this organization until his death. He published a volume of Miscellanies and a work on Family Government. He died March 1, 1871, in Mobile, Ala.

ANDREW, JOHN ALBION, lawyer, governor, was born on May 31, 1818, in Windham, Maine. In 1837 he graduated from Bowdoin college; and in 1859 was elected a member of the Massachusetts state legislature. In 1860 he was elected governor of the state of Massachusetts, and acquired the title of The Great War Governor. He was a member of the Historical societies of Maine and Massachusetts; declined various honorable and lucrative offices, and resumed the practice of law. He died Oct. 30, 1867. A statue of marble in memoriam has been placed in the state house of Massachusetts in his honor.

ANDREW, JOHN FORRESTER, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 24, 1850, in Hingham, Mass. He practiced law in Boston; served three terms as member of the state house of representatives and two terms in the state senate; and was democratic candidate for governor in 1886 and was defeated. He was elected to the fifty-first congress, and re-elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. He died May 30, 1895, in Boston, Mass.

ANDREWS, A. M., journalist, state senator, was born Nov. 3, 1850, in Cooperstown, N. Y. He has been editor of several publications, and held various political offices in his county and state; and has also served as a member of the South Dakota state senate.

ANDREWS, ALEXANDER BOYD, lawyer, author, was born Feb. 2, 1873, in Henderson, N. C. He has attained success in the profession of law at Raleigh, N. C.; and is one of the compilers of the North Carolina Court Calendar for 1895-97.

ANDREWS, ANNIE M., nurse, was born in 1835 in New York. During the prevalence of yellow fever at Norfolk, Va., in 1855, she became widely known for her earnest and devoted labors among those stricken by the epidemic. The Howard association subsequently presented her with a gold medal in acknowledgment of these services.

ANDREWS, BYRON, journalist, author, was born Oct. 25, 1852, in Argyle, Wis. He received his education at the Evansville seminary and Hobart college, of Geneva, N. Y. He went direct from college to newspaper work; served as a reporter on the Chicago Daily News; then on the Chicago Inter Ocean. In 1880 he accompanied Gen. Grant on a tour through the West Indies and Mexico as his secretary and as correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean and New York Tribune. Then for four years he was the Washington correspondent of the Chicago Inter Ocean and the St. Paul Pioneer Press. In 1884 he became connected with the National Tribune of Washington, D. C., and in 1897 became its owner. He is the author of Notes on the Russo-Turkish War; Biography of John A. Logan; and One of the People, a biography of President McKinley; besides various historical and controversial pamphlets, such as The Story of Cuba; President Monroe and His Doctrine; and others. He has also filled many public positions of trust.

ANDREWS, CHARLES, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1814 in Paris, Maine. He studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1837. He was a member of the state legislature from 1839 to 1843, and a portion of the time speaker of the house. He was a representative in congress from Maine from 1851 to the time of his death. He died April 30, 1852, in Paris Hill, Maine.

ANDREWS, CHARLES BARTLETT, lawyer, state senator, jurist, governor, was born Nov. 4, 1831, in Sunderland, Mass. He received a classical education, graduating at Amherst college in 1858; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1860; and settled at Litchfield, Conn. He was a state senator in 1868 and 1869; was a representative in the state legislature in 1878; was governor of Connecticut from 1878 to 1880; and in 1882 was appointed a judge of the superior court of Connecticut.

ANDREWS, CHARLES McLEAN, educator, author, was born in 1863, in Wethersfield, Conn. He graduated from Trinity college in 1884, and from the Johns Hopkins university in 1887; and since that time has been associate professor of history in Bryn Mawr college. He is the author of River Towns of Connecticut; Old English Manors; Historical Development of Modern Europe from the Congress of Vienna to the Present Time; and has also contributed sundry short articles to scientific journals.

ANDREWS, CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS, lawyer, general, author, was born Oct. 27, 1829, in Hillsborough, N. H. He was a brevet major-general in the United States army, who was minister to Sweden 1869-77, and consul-general to Brazil 1882-85. He is the author of Minnesota and Dakota; Practical Treatise on the Revenue Laws of the United States; Hints to Company Officers on Their Military Duties; History of the Campaign of Mobile; Digests of the Opinions of the Attorneys-General of the United States; and Brazil, Its Condition and Prospects.

ANDREWS, CONSTANT A., banker, was born Feb. 25, 1844, in New York city. He is president of The United States Savings bank and The Elkhorn Valley Coal Land Co.; a director of the Second Avenue Street railroad, and largely influential in other directions, where his interest and counsel are demanded.

ANDREWS, EDMUND, surgeon, was born April 22, 1824, in Putney, Vt. He has filled the place of demonstrator of anatomy at the Rush Medical college of Chicago, and subsequently the chairs of the principles and practice of surgery and of clinical and military surgery in the Chicago Medical college, of which institution he is one of the founders. In 1859 he became surgeon to the Mercy hospital, and during the civil war he served in a similar capacity with the first Illinois light artillery. He is president of the Illinois state medical society and of the Chicago academy of sciences. Dr. Andrews was one of the founders of the Michigan state medical society, and is a trustee of Northwestern university. He is the author of a great number of articles in different branches of surgery which have been published in medical journals and proceedings of the societies to which he belongs. Numerous improvements in surgical apparatus and operations have been made by him; among them is the practical demonstration of the value of free incision, digital exploration, and disinfection of lumbar abscesses, a treatment previously forbidden.

ANDREWS, EDWARD GAYER, methodist episcopal bishop, was born Aug. 7, 1825, in New Hartford, N. Y. He was graduated in 1847 from the Wesleyan university at Middletown, Conn., and, entering the methodist ministry the following year, became in 1855 a teacher in Cazenovia, N. Y., seminary, of which he was chosen president in 1855. In 1850 he was ordained an elder, and in 1864 became a preacher in the New York east conference. Dr. Andrews was elected a bishop in 1872. He has published semi-centennial addresses delivered in 1875 and 1881, and other works.

ANDREWS, ELISHA, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 29, 1768, in Middletown, Conn. He preached in various places in New Hampshire and Massachusetts, and published, besides sermons and tracts, The Moral Tendencies of Universalism; Review of Winchester's Dialogues on Universal Restoration; and a Vindication of the Distinguishing Sentiments of the Baptists, and other works. He died Feb. 3, 1840.

ANDREWS, ELISHA BENJAMIN, educator, college president, author, was born in 1844 in New Hampshire. He is a prominent educator and president of Brown university; and the author of Institutes of General History; Institutes of Economics; Brief Institutes of Our Economical History; An Honest Dollar; Eternal Words and Other Sermons; History of the United States; Wealth and Moral Law; and History of the Last Quarter Century in the United States.

ANDREWS, ELIZA FRANCIS, educator, botanist, author, was born Aug. 10, 1847, in Washington, Ga. Her father was Judge Garnett Andrews, an eminent jurist, and the author of Reminiscences of an Old Georgia Lawyer. She is the author of A Mere Adventurer; Prince Hal; A Family Secret; How He Was Tempted; and In the Pine Lands of Georgia; besides numerous popular character sketches, and several meritorious poems, the most notable of which is entitled Haunted. She has lectured on various subjects; is a fine linguist, and probably the most accomplished field botanist in the south.

ANDREWS, ETHAN ALLEN, educator, author, was born April 7, 1787, in New Britain, Conn. He was an educator who was at one time professor of ancient languages in the university of North Carolina. Besides a Latin-English Dictionary, he published a valuable series of classical text-books. He died March 4, 1858, in New Britain, Conn.

ANDREWS, FRANCIS FOOTE, legislator, was born March 12, 1828, in East Haven, Conn. He has filled numerous public offices of trust, and in 1897-98 was a member of the Connecticut state legislature.

ANDREWS, FRANK DE WITTE, antiquarian, was born Aug. 1, 1847, in Southington, Conn. He settled in Vineland, N. J., and became interested in antiquarian pursuits. He has an extensive collection of autograph letters and documents, and a library of Americana. He is the secretary and librarian of the Vineland Historical and Antiquarian society, and has written extensively on historical subjects and numismatics.

ANDREWS, GARNETT, lawyer, author, was born May 15, 1837, in Washington, Ga. He removed to Chattanooga, Tenn., in 1882, where he has since remained, practicing his profession; and was elected mayor of Chattanooga in 1891. He is the author of Andrews' Digest of the Laws of Mississippi.

ANDREWS, GEORGE ARTHUR, clergyman, educator, author, was born May 22, 1870, in Springfield, Mass. He attended Colby university and the Andover Theological school, and became instructor in mathematics in the English high school of Worcester, Mass. He has prepared a book on Composite Geometrical Figures.

ANDREWS, GEORGE LEONARD, soldier, educator, was born Aug. 31, 1828, in Bridgewater, Mass. In 1851 he graduated from the United States Military academy; served with distinction through the civil war; and attained the rank of brigadier-general and brevet major-general of the United States volunteers. For several years he was United States marshal for the district of Massachusetts; and was professor of modern languages in the United States Military academy.

ANDREWS, GEORGE R., congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from the fourteenth congressional district in that state, from 1849 to 1851.

ANDREWS, HENRY FRANKLIN, soldier, lawyer, state senator, genealogist, was born June 27, 1844, in Lovell, Maine. He served three years in the sixteenth infantry volunteers; was recorder of Audubon county, Iowa, in 1867-68; county judge in 1868; and state senator in 1892-95. He has practiced law since 1869; and is the author of The Andrews Family; The Hamilton Family; and other works.

ANDREWS, HENRY T., artist, state legislator, was born June 28, 1866, in Tarrytown, N. Y. He is a successful artist of New York city. In 1895 he was elected a member of the New York state assembly, and received the re-election in 1896, and again in 1897.

ANDREWS, ISRAEL WARD, college president, author, was born in 1815 in Connecticut. He was president of Marietta college. His only published work of importance is a Manual of the Constitution of the United States. He died in 1888.

ANDREWS, JAMES R., lawyer, editor, was born Oct. 23, 1854, in East Windsor, Conn. In 1877 he received the degree of A. B. from Yale college; and two years later received the degree of LL. B. from the Yale law school. He has attained success in the profession of law at Hartford, Conn.; has been special prosecuting attorney; reporter of judicial decisions; and is the editor of the Connecticut Index Digest.

ANDREWS, JANE, author, was born in 1833 in Massachusetts. She was a writer of Newburyport, Mass., whose books for children have long been deservedly popular. She was the author of Seven Little Sisters Who Live on the Round Ball that Floats in the Air; The Seven Little Sisters Prove Their Sisterhood; The Stories Mother Nature Told; Ten Boys Who Lived on the Road from Long Ago to Now; and Only a Year and What It Brought. She died in 1887.

ANDREWS, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born April 4, 1746, in Cecil county, Md. He taught a school in Yorktown; became principal of the Philadelphia Episcopal academy in 1785, and then professor of moral philosophy in the university of Pennsylvania, of which institution he was vice-provost until December, 1810, and after that provost until his death. He was the author of Elements of Logic. He died March 29, 1813, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ANDREWS, JOHN T., congressman, was born in New York. He was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1837 to 1839.

ANDREWS, JOSEPH, engraver, was born Aug. 17, 1806, in Hingham, Mass. His best known engravings made in America are from Stuart's head of Washington and Rothermel's Plymouth Rock in 1620. He engraved portraits from paintings by Trumbull, G. P. A. Healy, and others, of Oliver Wolcott, John Q. Adams, Zachary Taylor, Jared Sparks, Amos Lawrence, and James Graham, and several ideal scenes after representative American painters. He died March 9, 1873, in Hingham, Mass.

ANDREWS, JUDITH WALKER, philanthropist, was born April 26, 1826, in Fryeburgh, Maine. Since 1863 she has resided in Boston, Mass.; was left a widow in 1869; and since 1876 has been president of the South Friendly society. In 1886 she became president of the Woman's Auxiliary conference; and in 1889 became president of the National Alliance of Unitarian and Other Liberal Christian Women; and has always taken an active part in various charitable organizations.

ANDREWS, LANDAFF W., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 12, 1803, in Fleming county, Ky. He graduated at Transylvania university in 1824; and commenced the practice of law in 1826. He was a member of the Kentucky legislature in 1834, and subsequently of the senate. In 1838 was elected a representative in congress, serving from 1839 to 1843.

ANDREWS, LOREN, educator, college president, was born April 1, 1819, in Ashland county, Ohio. He filled various important educational places until 1854, when he was elected president of Kenyon college. On the outbreak of the civil war, in 1861, President Andrews raised a company in Knox county, of which he was made captain. He died Sept. 18, 1861, in Gambier, Ohio.

ANDREWS, LORRIN, was born April 29, 1795, in East Windsor, Conn. He was educated at Jefferson college, Pa., and Princeton Theological seminary; sailed for the Hawaiian islands in November, 1827, and preached at Lahaina. In 1831 he established Lahainaluna seminary, which subsequently became the Hawaiian university, in which he was a professor for ten years. He translated a part of the Bible into Hawaii. In 1845 he was appointed judge under the Hawaiian government, and was also secretary of the privy council. These offices he held for ten years. He prepared a Hawaiian dictionary and several works on the literature and antiquities of the Hawaiians. He died Sept. 29, 1868, in Honolulu, Sandwich Islands.

ANDREWS, MARIE LOUISE, journalist, author, was born Oct. 31, 1849, in Bedford, Ind. She was the originator of the Western Association of Writers, and for many years was its secretary. She has contributed extensively both prose and verse to the leading newspapers and magazines; and is an effective public speaker.

ANDREWS, MARY GARARD, universalist minister, was born March 3, 1852, in Clarksburgh, Va. After five years of service in the free baptist church, she associated herself with the universalist church, and has been eminently successful in her pastorates in that denomination. She is well known as a temperance and Grand Army worker; and for two years was national chaplain of the Women's Relief Corps. In 1888 she was married to Mr. I. R. Andrews, a noted lawyer of Omaha, Neb.

ANDREWS, MAUDE ANNULET, author, poet, was born Dec. 29, 1865. Mrs. J. K. Ohl is one of the most noted writers of the south, and a successful journalist and poet.

ANDREWS, NEWTON LLOYD, college president, was born Aug. 14, 1841, in Fabius, N. Y. In 1865 he became adjunct professor of Latin in Colgate university, and in 1868 was elected professor of Greek language and literature, which position he still holds. On the death of President Dodge the charge of the college was committed to Prof. Andrews as acting president.

ANDREWS, ROBERT LEE, clergyman, journalist, was born March 1, 1867, in Yellow Hill, N. C. He is one of the most eminent clergymen of the missionary baptist church, and an impressive lecturer. He has been secretary of the Farmers' Alliance, and filled various other public positions of trust; and is also the editor and proprietor of The Times of Jefferson, N. C.

ANDREWS, SAMUEL G., merchant, congressman, was born Oct. 16, 1799, in Derby, Conn. He received an academic education; removed, with his father, to Rochester, N. Y., in 1816; was occupied chiefly in mercantile and manufacturing pursuits; and was for several years mayor of Rochester. He was a member of the New York legislature in 1831 and 1832 from Monroe county, N. Y.; was postmaster of Rochester; and was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-fifth congress. He died in 1863 in Rochester, N. Y.

ANDREWS, SAMUEL JAMES, clergyman, author, was born July 21, 1817, in Danbury, Conn. He is the brother of I. W. Andrews, and an Irvingite clergyman of Hartford, Conn. He is the author of The Life of Our Lord upon Earth; and God's Revelations of Himself to Men.

ANDREWS, SHERLOCK J., lawyer, congressman, was born in 1801 in Wallingford, Conn. He graduated at Union college; settled in Cleveland, Ohio, in 1825, and practiced law. He was judge of the superior court of that state; and was elected a representative in congress from Ohio from 1841 to 1843. He died Feb. 11, 1880, in Cleveland, Ohio.

ANDREWS, SIDNEY, journalist, author, was born in 1837. He was a Boston journalist; and the author of The Art of Flying; and The South Since the War. He died in 1880.

ANDREWS, STEPHEN PEARL, author, was born March 22, 1812, in Templeton, Mass. He was an eccentric writer of New York city, the originator of phonographic reporting and at one period prominent as an abolitionist. Among his many and varied works are Basic Outline of Universalogy, in which he advocated the adoption of a universal language called Alwato; Discourses in Chinese; Comparison of Common Law with Roman, French, or Spanish Laws on Entails and Other Limited Property; and Love, Marriage and Divorce. He died May 21, 1886, in New York city.

ANDREWS, SUMNER A., soldier, merchant, educator, was born Dec. 29, 1844, in Johnson, Vt. For many years he was a successful merchant of Johnson; was a representative in the Vermont state legislature in 1884; has served as assistant judge of his county; and in 1889 was appointed superintendent of the Vermont Industrial school of Vergennes.

ANDREWS, TIMOTHY PATRICK, soldier, public official, was born in 1794, in Ireland. He fought in the battle of El Molino, and was brevetted a brigadier-general for gallantry at Chapultepec, Mexico. After the close of the war he was reinstated as paymaster, and subsequently became paymaster of the army. He died March 11, 1868, in Washington, D. C.

ANDREWS, W. H., merchant, state senator, was born Jan. 14, 1842, in Youngsville, Pa. He was a member of the Pennsylvania house of representatives; and was elected to the state senate in 1894.

ANDREWS, WALLACE C., president of the New York Steam company. He was one of the promoters of the original Standard Oil Co.; was a director of the company for a long period of years and up to the formation of the trust, and is yet a large stockholder in the company. One of the most important of his enterprises is The New York Steam company, a concern which supplies steam for heat and power by underground pipes in various sections of New York city, and has initiated a new era in the management of office buildings, by enabling their proprietors to dispense with the annoyances attending the production of steam in their own premises. He is president of the company, and has managed its affairs with signal ability and success. He was lately president of The Standard Gas Light Co. of New York and is its largest stockholder.

ANDREWS, WILLIAM DRAPER, inventor, was born May 23, 1818, in Grafton, Mass. He has received twenty-five United States and nine foreign patents on pumps, oscillating steam engines, boilers, friction and differential power gearing, siphon gang wells and attachments, balanced valves, safety elevators, and other similar inventions.

ANDREWS, WILLIAM E., educator, congressman, was born near Oskaloosa, Iowa. He entered Simpson college, Indianola, Iowa, in 1874; was elected superintendent of the schools of Ringgold county, Iowa, in 1879; graduated from Parsons college, Fairfield, Iowa, in 1885; was a member of the faculty of Hastings (Neb.) college, 1885-93; elected vice-president of the college in 1889, and president of the Nebraska State Teachers' association in 1890. He was a member of the Nebraska republican state central committee, 1891-92; was private secretary to the Hon. Lorenzo Crounse, governor of Nebraska, 1893-94; and was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ANDREWS, WILLIS W., journalist, was born Jan. 10, 1868, in Portland, Mich. After receiving his education he became a practical printer, and is now the president of the Muskegon Publishing company. He is president of the Typographical union, and has filled various other positions of honor.

ANDRIDGE ANDREW ADELBERT, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born July 20, 1863, in Hillsdale, Mich. He graduated in 1885 from the Chicago Theological seminary, and was ordained the same year. He has filled pastorates in Hawarden, Iowa; Prairie du Chien, Wis.; Sturgeon Bay, Wis.; and Columbia congregational church, Cincinnati, Ohio. He is the author of Wisconsin Church History, and has contributed extensively to religious periodicals.

ANDROS, EDMUND, colonial governor, was born Dec. 6, 1637, in Island of Guernsey. He was a governor of Connecticut, and in 1688 was made governor of all the English possessions on the mainland of America, and in 1692 royal governor of Virginia. He died Feb. 24, 1714.

ANDROS, R. S. S., public official, author, was born in Berkeley, Mass. He edited several newspapers, was deputy collector in Boston for some years, and subsequently, as special agent of the treasury department, was engaged in reorganizing custom houses in the south. He was the author of the Customs Guide, a codification of the revenue laws; contributed poems to the Democratic Review, and published Chocoruna and Other Sketches. He died in August, 1868, in Berkeley, Mass.

ANDROS, THOMAS, soldier, clergyman, was born May 1, 1759, in Norwich, Conn. He joined the revolutionary army at the age of sixteen, and was in the battles of Long Island and White Plains. In 1781 he enlisted on a privateer in New London, but was captured and confined in the Jersey prison-ship in New York. A few months later he escaped, and on the restoration of his health studied theology with Dr. Benedict in Plainfield, Conn. He was ordained at Berkeley in 1788, and for forty-six years remained in the ministry. He died Dec. 30, 1845, in Berkeley, Mass.

ANDRUS, REUBEN, college president, clergyman, was born Jan. 29, 1829, in Watertown, N. J. He was principal of the Central academy of Springfield, Ill.; and president of a women's college in Jacksonville. After the war he reorganized Quincy (now Chaddock) college, Illinois; in 1867 went to Indiana, and was elected president of Asbury university in 1872. He died Jan. 17, 1887, in Indianapolis, Ind.

ANDRUS, WESLEY P., soldier, educator, state senator, was born Feb. 19, 1834, in Potter, N. Y. In 1861 he entered the forty-second Illinois volunteer infantry, and was soon commissioned first lieutenant; was promoted to a captaincy for meritorious service at Stone River. He has been four years a member of the common council of Cedar Springs, Mich., and has been its mayor. In 1877 he served with distinction as a member of the Michigan state senate.

ANDRUS, WILLIAM W., merchant, state senator, was born July 24, 1821, in Wyoming county, N. Y. He was a member of the constitutional convention of 1867; was assessor of internal revenue under Grant; and in 1881-82 served as a member of the Michigan state senate.

ANGEL, WILLIAM G., congressman, was born in New Shoreham, R. I. He was elected a representative in congress from Burlington, N. Y., from 1825 to 1827, and again from 1829 to 1833.

ANGELL, GEORGE T., philanthropist, author, was born June 5, 1823, in Southbridge, Mass. He is the president of the American Humane Education society; the Massachusetts Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals; and the Pre-Parent American Band of Mercy. He graduated from Dartmouth college in 1846 and from the Harvard university Law school in 1851. He founded the Massachusetts society in 1868, and established a magazine entitled Our Dumb Animals. Since that time he has given his time and energy to the protection of dumb animals, establishing twenty thousand branches of The American Band of Mercy, and The American Humane Education society, in behalf of which he has employed missionaries to found humane societies in the south and west, and has caused the circulation of some two million copies of the book Black Beauty, and also of hundreds of thousands of copies of other humane prize stories and publications.

ANGELL, HENRY CLAY, educator, author, was born Jan. 27, 1829, in Providence, R. I. He is a professor of ophthalmology in Boston university; and the author of Diseases of the Eye; How to Take Care of Our Eyes; and Records of W. M. Hunt.

ANGELL, JAMES BURRILL, educator, college president, diplomatist, was born Jan. 7, 1829, in Scituate, R. I. He graduated from the Brown university in 1849; and during 1855-60 filled the chair of modern languages in that institution. In 1866 he became president of the university of Vermont; and since 1871 has been president of the university of Michigan. He has served as United States minister to China; and in 1897 was appointed United States minister to Turkey. He is the author of Manual of French Literature; and Progress in International Law.

ANGELL, JOSEPH KINNICUT, author, was born April 30, 1794, in Providence, R. I. He was a legal writer of Rhode Island, among whose works are Treatise on the Common Law of Watercourses; The Law of Tide Waters; and The Limitation of Actions. He died May 1, 1857, in Boston, Mass.

ANGELL, WILLIAM GORHAM, inventor, was born Nov. 21, 1811, in Providence, R. I. In 1838 he became manager of the Eagle Screw company, which subsequently was merged into the American Screw company. His inventive mind was fertile in expedients for the improvement of machinery; and he was also a successful architect and builder, and a good draughtsman. He was the inventor of the famous screw-making machine, which has revolutionized that business. He was a liberal supporter of public charities. He died May 30, 1870, in Providence, R. I. His son, Edwin Gorham Angell, now conducts the business.

ANGWIN, MATTIE W., poet, was born Aug. 31, 1850, in Darke county, Ohio. She is a writer of Mount Vernon, Mo.; and her poems have appeared in the Toledo Blade and other prominent publications.

ANSBACHER, ADOLPH BENEDICT, manufacturer, was born Oct. 4, 1832, in Germany. In 1852 he emigrated to New York and established a mercantile house, which was one of the foremost in that line of business.

ANSORGE, CHARLES, musician, was born in 1807 in Germany. He taught music in an asylum at South Boston; and in 1863 became conductor of several musical colleges in Chicago, Ill. He wrote musical and political articles for several newspapers and periodicals. He died Oct. 28, 1866, in Chicago, Ill.

ANSPACH, FREDERICK RINEHART, clergyman, author, was born in January, 1815, in Central, Pa. He was a lutheran clergyman of Hagerstown, Md.; and is the author of Sons of the Sires; Sepulchres of Our Departed; and The Two Pilgrims. He died Sept. 16, 1867, in Baltimore, Md.

ANTHON, CHARLES, educator, author, was born Nov. 19, 1797, in New York city. He was a noted classical scholar, for many years professor of ancient languages at Columbia college. He was the author of some fifty classical text-books, including a Classical Dictionary. He died July 29, 1867, in New York city.

ANTHON, JOHN, jurist, author, was born May 14, 1784, in Detroit, Mich. He was a jurist of New York city, and the author of Essay on the Study of Law; and Analysis of Blackstone. He died March 5, 1863, in New York city.

ANTHONY, ANDREW VARICK STOUT, artist, was born in 1835 in New York city. Among his best-known works are the illustrations for Whittier's Snow Bound; Ballads of New England; and Mabel Martin; Longfellow's Skeleton in Armor; and Hawthorne's Scarlet Letter.

ANTHONY, AUGUSTA, lecturer, author, was born May 25, 1844, in Rockland, Mass. As a lecturer she has gained eminent success in California. Mrs. Anthony is the author of several prose works and numerous poems of merit, and many of her poems have been set to music.

ANTHONY, CHARLES EDWARD, numismatist, was born Dec. 6, 1822, in New York city. He was a son of John Anthon; was graduated at Columbia college in 1839, and from 1853 until 1883 he held the chair of history and belles-lettres in the college of the city of New York. He was an enthusiastic collector of coins, and owned one of the most valuable collections ever gathered in the United States. For some time he was president of the American numismatic society. He died June 7, 1883, in New York city.

ANTHONY, CYRUS A., soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born April 29, 1839, in Hackettstown, N. J. He served four years in the fifty-first Illinois infantry, rising from private to captain. He moved to Missouri in 1870; prosecuting attorney of Nodaway county 1875-76; elected to the thirty-first general assembly; twice appointed on committees to settle with the state treasury; elected to the thirty-third general assembly; elected judge of the twenty-ninth circuit in 1886; and re-elected in 1892.

ANTHONY, DANIEL READ, pioneer journalist, was born Aug. 22, 1824, in South Adams, Mass. He visited the state of Kansas in 1854, and while there helped to found the city of Lawrence. He located in Kansas at Leavenworth, and in 1863 was elected mayor of that city. He is the owner of the Leavenworth Times, now one of the most extensive newspaper establishments in the west.

ANTHONY, GEORGE CHRISTIAN, lawyer, educator, was born March 19, 1820, in Red Hook, N. Y. He was the eldest son of the Rev. Henry Anthon; was graduated at Columbia college in 1839; studied law, and was admitted to practice at the New York bar. He removed to New Orleans and there began teaching, but returned to New York and was appointed professor of Greek in the university of the city of New York. He established the Anthon grammar school in 1854, and was its principal until his death. He died Aug. 11, 1877, in Yonkers, N. Y.

ANTHONY, GEORGE T., statesman. He was governor of Kansas from 1877 to 1879.

ANTHONY, HENRY B., United States senator, was born April 1, 1815, in Coventry, Boston. He graduated at Brown university in 1833; in 1838 he assumed the editorial charge of the Providence Journal, which he retained until called to a seat in the United States senate. He was elected governor of Rhode Island in 1849; re-elected in 1850; and declined a further re-election; and was elected a senator in congress in 1859, and served until his death; was re-elected to the senate for the term ending in 1871. He was a member of the national committee appointed to accompany the remains of President Lincoln to Illinois; was one of the senators designated by the senate to attend the funeral of General Scott in 1866; was also a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalists' convention of 1866. He died Sept. 2, 1884, in Providence, R. I.

ANTHONY, JOHN GOULD, naturalist, author, was born May 17, 1804, in Providence, R. I. He accompanied Agassiz on the Thayer expedition to Brazil in 1865. He was recognized as an authority on the American land and fresh water mollusca. He died Oct. 16, 1877, in Cambridge, Mass.

ANTHONY, JOSEPH B., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1838. He died Jan. 17, 1851, in Williamsport, Pa.

ANTHONY, PHILIP FREDERICK, patriot, statesman, was born July 2, 1730. He held several public offices; was a member of the provincial council and of the general and state assemblies; judge of the court of common pleas; and a colonel of state militia. He was so conspicuous and ardent a patriot during the revolution that the British offered a reward for his head. In 1776, in company with a Mr. Potts, at Warwick furnace, he successfully cast an eighteen-pounder, the first cannon ever made in America. He died Sept. 20, 1801, in Lancaster, Pa.

ANTHONY, SUSAN BROWNELL, woman suffragist, was born Feb. 15, 1820, in South Adams, Mass. Her father was a Quaker, and was proprietor of a small cotton mill, in which his daughter worked from an early age. Subsequently she attended school in Philadelphia, and taught school in the state of New York. She has participated in temperance and reformatory movements. She is chiefly known as an ardent supporter of the political enfranchisement of women. At one time she edited a paper in New York called The Revolution.

ANTHONY, WILLIAM ARNOLD, educator, lecturer, electrical engineer, was born Nov. 17, 1835, in Coventry, R. I. For fifteen years during 1872-87 he was professor of physics at Cornell university, where he planned and equipped the physical laboratory building, and organized and had charge of the department of electrical engineering. He is now a consulting electrical engineer of New York city; and part author of a Text-Book of Physics; and numerous papers presented before technical societies and in scientific periodicals.

ANTHONY, WILLIAM HENRY, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 2, 1827, in New York city. He was admitted to the bar in 1848, and soon became distinguished in its practice. In 1851 he served as member of the state legislature, and during the civil war he was judge-advocate-general on Gov. E. D. Morgan's staff. He died Nov. 7, 1875, in New York city.

ANTONY, EDWIN LE ROY, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 5, 1852, near Waynesboro, Ga. He was admitted to practice in the courts of that state Jan. 8, 1874, and at once entered upon the duties of his profession; two years later he was elected county attorney of his county, the first under the constitution of 1876, being also ex-officio district attorney for his county; in 1886, during the illness of the regular district judge, he filled that office as special judge; in 1892, while an alderman of his city, was nominated and elected, June 14, 1892, to the fifty-second congress as a democrat. At the expiration of his term he returned to his home and resumed the practice of his profession, in which he is still engaged. He was, and still is, an ardent supporter and admirer of President Cleveland, and is of the school of politics known as gold standard democrats. In 1876 he was married to Miss Augusta Houghton, a native Texan, and a daughter of Judge Joel A. Houghton, of Georgetown, Tex.

APES, WILLIAM, author, was born about 1800. He was an Indian preacher of the Pequot tribe; and published A Son of the Forest; Experiences of Five Christian Indians of the Pequot Tribe; Indian Nullification; and a Eulogy on King Philip.

APLIN, CHARLES BENJAMIN, physician, was born June 17, 1869, in New Plymouth, Ohio. He attended the Columbus Medical college, Ohio, and graduated therefrom in 1892. He is one of Kansas' foremost physicians at Lamar.

APPEL, DANIEL MITCHELL, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 28, 1854, in Philadelphia, Pa. He attended the Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia. He was appointed assistant surgeon to the United States army in 1876, and promoted to surgeon in 1895, with the rank of major.

APPEL, THEODORE, clergyman, author, was born April 30, 1823, in Eastman, Pa. From 1877 to 1886 he was general superintendent of home missions for the eastern part of the reformed church; and traveled on business connected with that office through Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, and North Carolina. From 1881 to 1886 he edited the Reformed Missionary Herald. He has published Recollections of College Life.

APPLE, JOSEPH HENRY, JR., educator, college president, was born Aug. 4, 1865, in Rimersburg, Pa. This successful educator has filled the chair of mathematics in several large institutions; and since 1893 has been president of the Woman's college of Frederick, Md.

APPLE, THOMAS GILMORE, educator, was born Nov. 14, 1829, in Easton, Pa. He graduated from Marshall college in 1850, and, entering the ministry, was a pastor of the German Reformed church from 1853 to 1865. In the latter year he was chosen president of Mercersburg college, which he left in 1871, and became a professor in the Lancaster Theological seminary. In 1878 he was elected president of Franklin and Marshall college. He edited for several years the Mercersburg Review and the Reformed Quarterly Review.

APPLEBURY, ELIZABETH M., educator, poet, was born Oct. 21, 1834, in Palmyra, Mo. She graduated from the Female seminary of her native town, and soon afterward began educational work. She has contributed extensively to periodical literature, and her poems have been given a place in several standard works.

APPLEGARTH, RUFUS W., lawyer, legislator, was born in 1845 in Baltimore, Md. He was called to the bar in 1867, and has been counsel in most of the leading cases that have been tried in the court of appeals; has also appeared in the appellate and United States and local courts of Louisiana, Virginia, Delaware, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, New York, and New Jersey. He was elected to the general assembly of Maryland in the fall of 1895.

APPLEGARTH, WILLIAM F., educator, merchant, legislator, was born Feb. 11, 1842, in Golden Hill, Md. He taught school for fifteen years; has served with distinction as a member of the Maryland state legislature; and is now a successful merchant of his native city.

APPLEGATE, O. C., soldier, business man. He has been closely identified with the growth and prosperity of southern Oregon, and resides in Klamath Falls.

APPLETON, DANIEL, publisher, the founder of the house of D. Appleton and Co., was born Dec. 10, 1785, in Haverhill, Mass. He began life as a dry-goods merchant in his native town; subsequently went to Boston, and in 1825 removed to New York. Here he began the importation of English books in conjunction with the dry-goods business. Mr. Appleton soon abandoned the dry-goods business, thereafter giving his attention solely to the importation and sale of books. He died March 27, 1849, in New York.

APPLETON, DANIEL, publisher, was born Feb. 24, 1852, in New York. In 1879 he was admitted into partnership with D. Appleton and Co. Possessing fine business qualifications, he has been an efficient member of the firm. Colonel Appleton has long taken an active part in New York city's favorite militia regiment, the seventh, of which, July 18, 1889, he was, by unanimous vote, promoted from a captaincy to the colonelcy. He is a director of the American Book company, and a member of the Union, Century, Aldine, Riding, and New York Yacht clubs.

APPLETON, DANIEL S., publisher, was born April 9, 1824, in Boston, Mass. He attained success as one of the most prominent publishers in the United States.

APPLETON, GEORGE S., author, was born Aug. 11, 1821, in Andover, Mass. He is the author of Picturesque America; Picturesque Europe; and Picturesque Palestine. He died July 7, 1878, in Riverdale, N. Y.

APPLETON, JAMES, temperance reformer, was born Feb. 14, 1786, in Ipswich, Mass. When a young man he was elected to the legislature of his native state, and during the war with Great Britain he served as a colonel of Massachusetts militia; and after the close of the war was made a brigadier-general. During his subsequent residence at Portland, Maine, he was elected to the legislature in 1836-37, but he returned finally to his native town, where he died. By his speeches and publications he exercised great influence upon public sentiment in favor of abolition and total abstinence. In his report to the Maine legislature in 1837 he was the first to expound the principle embodied in the Maine law. He died Aug. 25, 1862, in Ipswich, Mass.

APPLETON, JAMES, general, was born Feb. 14, 1815, in Ipswich, Mass. He was an energetic champion of total abstinence, and the first expounder of the principle underlying the Maine law. He died Aug. 25, 1882.

APPLETON, JESSE, clergyman, educator, college president, was born Nov. 17, 1772, in New Ipswich, N. H. In 1792 he graduated from Dartmouth college; and then for two years was an instructor in Dover and in Amherst. In 1795 he was licensed to preach, and for ten years filled a pastorate in Hampton, N. H. In 1803 he filled the chair of theology at Cambridge; and in 1807 became president of Bowdoin college. A volume of his addresses has been published; and a selection from his sermons and poems has also been published in two volumes. He died Nov. 12, 1819, in Brunswick, Maine.

APPLETON, JOHN, jurist, was born in 1804. He was a former chief justice of Maine; eminent as a legal reformer; and was the author of The Rules of Evidence Stated and Discussed. He died in 1891.

APPLETON, JOHN, physician, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 9, 1809, in Salem, Mass. In 1833 he graduated from the Harvard University Medical school, taking the Boylston prize. He attained eminence as a doctor of medicine, lecturer, and author, and was a member and assistant librarian of the Massachusetts Historical society. He died February, 1869, in Cambridge, Mass.

APPLETON, JOHN, journalist, diplomat, was born Feb. 11, 1815, in Beverly, Mass. He was admitted to practice law at Portland, Maine, in 1837. In 1857 he was appointed assistant secretary of state, and in 1860 was appointed United States minister to Russia. He died Aug. 22, 1864, in Portland, Maine.

APPLETON, JOHN HOWARD, educator, author, was born Feb. 3, 1844, in Portland, Maine. He has been a professor of chemistry at Brown university since 1868. He is the author of The Young Chemist; Qualitative Analysis; Quantitative Analysis; and Chemistry of Non Metals.

APPLETON, JOHN JAMES, diplomatist, was born Sept. 22, 1792, in Calais, France. While his father was United States consul at that place he graduated at Harvard university in 1813; was secretary of legation of the United States to Portugal from 1819 to 1822; to Spain from 1822 to 1825; charge d'affaires to the Two Sicilies in 1825, and to Sweden in 1826. He resided in France, where he owned a valuable estate. While at Stockholm he negotiated a treaty of commerce. He died March 4, 1864, in Rennes, France.

APPLETON, JOHN W. M., soldier, farmer, adjutant-general of state, was born April 1, 1832, in Boston, Mass. He received his education in the Boston public schools, in the private schools of Massachusetts, and the medical school of Harvard university. In 1852-56 he was assistant librarian of the Boston public library; and was clerk in the board of charities of that city. During the war, from 1862 to 1865, he served as a private soldier; was promoted to major of infantry, and subsequently as commander of battalion of six batteries of artillery. In 1865 he moved to West Virginia, and there joined the national guards, in which he has served as captain, major, colonel, and brigadier-general; and since 1897 has been adjutant-general of West Virginia.

APPLETON, NATHAN, manufacturer, congressman, was born Oct. 6, 1779, in New Ipswich, N. H. He became interested in the cotton manufacture, and in 1821 was one of the three original founders of Lowell, Mass. He was at different periods a member of the legislature of Massachusetts; from 1831 to 1833 was a representative in congress from Massachusetts; and was again elected to congress in 1842, but soon resigned his seat. He died July 14, 1861, in Boston, Mass.

APPLETON, NATHAN DANE, lawyer, legislator, was born in 1794 in Ipswich, Mass., on the farm which was bought in 1634-35 by his emigrant ancestor, Samuel Appleton. He repeatedly represented the town in the legislature; was once in the senate of Maine; and three times he was the candidate of his party for congress. In the winter of 1857 he was chosen by the legislature attorney-general of the state. He died in 1861.

APPLETON, NATHANIEL, clergyman, was born Dec. 9, 1693, in Ipswich, Mass. He was educated at Harvard, taking his degree in 1712; studied theology, and was ordained Oct. 9, 1717, succeeding Mr. Brattle as congregational minister. From 1717 to 1779 he was one of the corporation of Harvard university. He published sermons and occasional discourses. He died Feb. 9, 1784, in Cambridge, Mass.

APPLETON, SAMUEL, merchant, philanthropist, was born June 22, 1766, in New Ipswich, N. H. He was an importer; established cotton mills at Waltham and Lowell, Mass.; and at his death the sum of two hundred thousand dollars was distributed among charities.

APPLETON, THOMAS GOLD, artist, author, was born March 31, 1812, in Boston, Mass. He was the author of A Sheaf of Papers; A Nile Journal; Windfalls; Syrian Sunshine; Chequer-Work; and Faded Leaves, a volume of verse. He died April 17, 1884, in New York.

APPLETON, WILLIAM, merchant, congressman, was born Nov. 16, 1786, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was educated for mercantile pursuits, in which he was engaged extensively and successfully for more than fifty years. He took a prominent part in various public and benevolent enterprises; and gave much attention to banking and financial operations. In 1850 was elected a representative in congress from Massachusetts; was re-elected in 1852; and was also elected to the thirty-seventh congress. He died Feb. 20, 1862, in Longwood, near Boston, Mass.

APPLETON, WILLIAM HENRY, publisher, was born Jan. 27, 1814, in New York city, and is a son of Daniel Appleton. In 1835 he was sent to represent the house in London, where he established an agency. In 1838 he was taken into partnership. At his father's death, in 1849, he inherited a moderate estate, which he has since increased by his own energetic prosecution of the business and by active participation in other enterprises. Under his management the house devoted itself entirely to the sale of its own publications, and has come to rank among the half dozen leading publishing houses of the United States.

APPLETON, WILLIAM WORTHEN, publisher, was born Nov. 29, 1845, in Brooklyn, N. Y., a son of William H. Appleton. In recent years he has given more of his time to the editorial department and the London office. He is a director in the American Book company, a corporation founded in 1890, with a capital of $5,000,000; and is actively identified with the New York Free library, of which he was one of the founders, and has held continuously the chairmanship of the library committee.

APSLEY, LEWIS DEWART, manufacturer, congressman, was born Sept. 29, 1852, in Northumberland, Pa. At the age of fifteen he removed to Philadelphia, and immediately engaged in active business pursuits, early identifying himself with the rubber goods trade. He removed to Massachusetts in 1877, and established himself in 1885 as a manufacturer of rubber clothing in Hudson. He is president and treasurer of the Apsley Rubber company; president of the Millay Last company; president of the Hudson Board of Trade; a director in the Hudson National bank; and identified with many other enterprises. He was elected to the fifty-third, and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

APTHORP, WILLIAM FOSTER, author, was born in 1848 in Massachusetts. He is a musical newspaper critic of Boston, and the author of Musicians and Music-Lovers, and Other Essays. He has translated Zola's Jacques Damour.

ARBUCKLE, CHARLES, coffee importer, was born in 1833 in Allegheny City, Pa. His early years were passed in Allegheny City, Pa., where he became a prominent wholesale grocer. In 1871 Mr. Arbuckle, with his brother John, established a factory for the preparation of roasted and ground coffee in Brooklyn, N. Y., and in 1875 transferred all his interests to that city. He died March 27, 1891, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

ARBUCKLE, JOHN, importer and manufacturer. He spent his early life in Allegheny, Pa. In 1871 he engaged with his brother Charles in the preparation of roasted and ground coffee, their factory being located in Brooklyn; and he is now head of the firm of Arbuckle Brothers. He is also a director in the Importers' and Traders' bank, and is president of the Royal Horse association, a syndicate owning ranches in Wyoming.

ARBUCKLE, JOHN CHALMERS, soldier, educator, clergyman, was born July 27, 1847, in Glasgow, Scotland. In 1864 he enlisted in the fourth regiment, Iowa volunteer infantry, and served as a private soldier till the close of the war. He taught school for several years, and in 1874 graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university of Delaware. For a quarter of a century he has been a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church, his principal pastorates being in Columbus and Zanesville, Ohio. For four years he was presiding elder on the Gallipolis district, and is now presiding elder of the Columbus district. He has twice been a member of the general conference of the methodist episcopal church; and for two years served as a member of the general missionary board of that denomination.

ARBURY, FREDERICK WALTER, educator, was born Nov. 8, 1856, in Flint, Mich. He received the rudiments of his education in the Flint public schools, and in 1883 graduated from the university of Michigan. For five years he was superintendent of public schools of Flint, Mich.; three years at Houghton; and four years at Battle Creek. Since 1895 he has been connected with a Boston publishing house.

ARCHBALD, ROBERT WODROW, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 10, 1848, in Carbondale, Pa. He graduated from Yale college in 1871; in 1884 was elected additional law judge of the forty-fifth judicial district of Pennsylvania. He has since been president judge of the said district, receiving the re-election in 1894 for another ten years.

ARCHBOLD, JOHN DUSTIN, oil refiner, was born July 26, 1848, in Leesburg, Ohio. In 1864 he joined the rush to the Pennsylvania oil regions, and spent eleven years there in various branches of the petroleum industry. He rose to prominence, and has long been the chief proprietor and president of the Acme Oil company. Since 1875 he has been identified with the Standard Oil company, and a director since its organization, and is now vice-president of the Standard Oil company, of New York. He is president of the trustees of Syracuse university, and a director of the post-graduate hospital and training school and St. Christopher's home and orphanage.

ARCHER, BRANCH T., Texan revolutionist, was born in 1790 in Virginia. He studied medicine in Philadelphia, and was for many years a physician and politician in his native state, being a member of the legislature several times. In 1831 he removed to Texas and became a prominent actor in the movements preliminary to the revolution. In 1835 he presided over the famous consultation held by the American settlers, and with Col. Stephen Austin and N. H. Wharton formed a board of three commissioners to solicit aid from the United States in the struggle for Texan independence. He was a member of the first Texan congress in 1836, and afterward went to Washington, where he became speaker of the house of representatives and secretary of war from 1839 to 1842, when by reason of ill-health he was obliged to retire to private life. He died Sept. 22, 1856, in Texas.

ARCHER, HENRY HAYES, street railway manager, was born July 1, 1860, in Rokeby, Pa. He is president of the Valley Railway company, of Scranton, and vice-president of the People's Railway company of Scranton, and the system of which he is manager comprises thirty-eight miles of road, owned by seven different companies, though operated by the Scranton Traction company.

ARCHER, JOHN, soldier, physician, congressman, was born June 6, 1741, in Harford county, Md. At the commencement of the revolution he had command of a military company; was a member of the state legislature; and after the war practiced his profession. He was a presidential elector in 1797; and was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1801 to 1807. As a medical man he commanded great influence, and several discoveries were made by him which have been adopted by the profession. He died in 1810 in Harford county, Md.

ARCHER, STEVENSON, jurist, congressman, was born in Harford county, Md. He graduated at Princeton college in 1805; was a judge of the court of appeals; was elected a representative in congress from Maryland from 1811 to 1817, when he was appointed judge in Mississippi territory; and was chosen a representative in congress again from 1819 to 1821. In 1845 he was appointed chief justice of Maryland. He was the son of John Archer. He died June 5, 1848, in Harford county, Md.

ARCHER, STEVENSON, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 28, 1827, in Harford county, Md. He graduated at Princeton college in 1846; adopted the profession of the law; was a member of the Maryland legislature in 1854; in 1866 was elected a representative from Maryland to the fortieth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-first, forty-second, and forty-third congresses. His father, bearing the same name, and his grandfather, John Archer, were both representatives in congress from the same district which he represented.

ARCHER, WILLIAM S., United States senator, was born March 5, 1789, in Amelia county, Va. He studied law, and in 1812 was elected to the Virginia state legislature, where he served, excepting one year, until 1819. In 1820 he was elected a representative in congress from Virginia, where he remained until 1835. In 1841 he was elected to the United States senate, where he remained until 1847, having from the first been placed at the head of the committee on foreign relations in that body. He died March 28, 1855, in Amelia county, Va.

ARCHIBALD, ANDREW WEBSTER, clergyman, author, was born in 1851 in New York. He is a congregational clergyman of prominence in Iowa; and the author of The Bible Verified.

ARCHIBALD, GEORGE D., college president, was born Feb. 15, 1820, in Washington county, Pa. From 1861-66 was pastor of the First presbyterian church of Madison, Ind.; in 1866-70 president of Hanover college; and from 1873-74 was president of Wilson Female seminary of Chambersburg, Pa.

ARENTS, ALBERT, metallurgist, was born March 14, 1840, in Germany. After coming to the United States he was variously occupied as mining superintendent, and also in charge of metallurgical mills and smelting works in Arizona, California, Colorado, Nevada, and Utah. He has contributed valuable technical papers to the Transactions of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, and has invented numerous appliances.

AREY, HARRIETT ELLEN GRANNIS, journalist, author, was born April 14, 1819, in Cavendish, Vt. She has been editor of various publications; was one of the founders and the first president of the Ohio Woman's State Press association, which office she still holds. For many years she has been president of an active literary and social club of Cleveland, Ohio. Her principal writings are Household Songs and Other Poems; and Home and School Training.

ARKELL, JAMES, manufacturer, state senator, was born in England. During the civil war he invented a machine for the manufacture of paper sacks; and has erected a number of manufacturing establishments of Arkell and Smiths in several of the largest cities. In 1883 he was elected to the New York senate, and became immediately one of its leading members.

ARKINS, JOHN, soldier, journalist, was born Feb. 14, 1842, in Fayette county, Pa. In 1861 he enlisted as a private in the fifth Minnesota infantry, and served until 1864. In 1880 he purchased a controlling interest in the Denver Rocky Mountain News, of which he has since been the manager and chief editor.

ARMBRUSTER, SARA DARY, journalist, philanthropist, was born Sept. 29, 1862, in Philadelphia, Pa. She has been a successful business woman; originated in Philadelphia the Woman's Exchange; and is the proprietor of The Woman's Journal, a weekly paper devoted to the cause of women.

ARMFIELD, HYATT JACKSON, farmer, banker, was born in High Point, N. C., which has always been his home. He is a successful farmer; president of the National bank of High Point; director of the Greensboro National bank; and is also prominent in various other business enterprises.

ARMFIELD, ROBERT FRANKLIN, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born July 9, 1829, in Guilford county, N. C. He received a collegiate education; adopted the profession of the law; was county attorney from 1855 to 1861; state solicitor for the sixth district from 1863 to 1865; served in the confederate army as lieutenant-colonel during the war of the rebellion; was president of the state senate and lieutenant-governor in 1875 and 1876; and was elected a representative from North Carolina to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses.

ARMIN, CHARLES E., lawyer, poet, was born Dec. 27, 1853, in De Kalb, St. Lawrence county, N. Y. He finished his education at the State Normal school at Pottsdam, N. Y. In 1878 he moved out west, and five years later commenced the practice of law; has become prominent in that profession; and is well known as an able lawyer of Waukesha, Wis.; and for two years was district attorney of Waukesha county. His writings have appeared in various publications; and his poems have been given a place in standard works.

ARMINGTON, JAMES HERVEY, soldier, consulting engineer, legislator, was born Aug. 10, 1827, in Providence, R. I. In the civil war he served as first lieutenant and quartermaster in the tenth regiment, R. I. Volunteers. He also served as lieutenant, captain, and colonel of the sixth regiment, R. I. M. Has been a member of the city council of Providence and of the town council of East Providence; and a state representative since May, 1896.

ARMISTEAD, GEORGE, soldier, was born April 10, 1780, in Newmarket, Va. He was brevetted lieutenant-colonel for his successful defense of Fort McHenry, near Baltimore, against the British fleet, under Admiral Cochrane, Sept. 14, 1814. His steadfast bravery on this occasion no doubt saved Baltimore from capture, and the citizens presented him with a handsome service of silver, the centerpiece being in the form of a bombshell. He died April 25, 1818, in Baltimore, Md.

ARMISTEAD, LEWIS ADDISON, soldier, was born Feb. 18, 1817, in Newbern, N. C. He served in the Mexican war, and for gallant services attained the rank of major. He also served in the civil war; and rose to the rank of brigadier-general. He died July 3, 1863.

ARMITAGE, THOMAS, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 2, 1819, in England. He is a prominent baptist clergyman of New York city; and is the author of Jesus, His Self Introspection; Lectures on Preaching; and History of the Baptists.

ARMOR, CHARLES LEE, jurist, was born in Virginia. He was appointed from Maryland an associate judge of the United States court for the territory of Colorado.

ARMOUR, ANDREW W., banker, was born Jan. 27, 1829, in Stockbridge, N. Y. In 1878 he located in Kansas City, and became president of the Armour Brothers Banking company. He subsequently became vice-president of the Midland National bank, when it succeeded to the business of the Armour bank, and was one of the directors of the Armour Packing company.

ARMOUR, HERMAN OSSIAN, merchant, was born March 2, 1837, in Stockbridge, N. Y. The packing business of the Armour brothers is conducted on a stupendous scale. Their abattoirs in Chicago are of immense capacity. Thousands of animals are slaughtered there every day. The firm not only supply millions of the people of the United States annually with fresh meats, through the method of distribution by refrigerator cars, but they are the largest shippers of cured goods across the ocean for the supply of western Europe. They give employment in their several industries to upward of fifteen thousand persons, while the auxiliary branches of the business attain to the number of about three hundred. Herman O. Armour is now one of the most respected merchants of New York city, and has identified himself thoroughly with the business and social life of the metropolis.

ARMOUR, PHILIP DANFORTH, merchant, was born May 16, 1832, at Stockbridge, N. Y. Of all the Armour brothers, Philip has probably attracted to himself more public attention than any of the others by reason of his remarkable personality and his practical philanthropy, in which, however, he has been sustained by the liberality of the other brothers. The Armour mission, one of the most conspicuous institutions in Chicago, has been developed through his activity, originality and generosity from an humble beginning to colossal magnitude. The youngest brother, Joseph, who died Jan. 5, 1881, bequeathed $100,000 in his will for the founding of a mission in Chicago, to be conducted on certain novel lines. As the executor of the estate, Philip D. Armour became peculiarly interested in the carrying out of the trust imposed upon him. The mission represents the sum of $3,000,000.

ARMOUR, SIMEON B., merchant, was born Feb. 1, 1828. He is the oldest of the Armour brothers. In the development of the vast industry created by these energetic men he was an active participant. The Kansas City branch came more directly under his supervision and for many years he has been the leading commercial spirit in that active and thriving emporium. He lacks nothing of that keen business judgment which is so pre-eminently a family trait.

ARMS, MRS. MARY P. S., poet. She is a writer of Beckwith, Cal.; and her poems have constantly appeared in the press and in several standard publications.

ARMSBY, JAMES H., physician, was born Dec. 31, 1809, in Sutton, Mass. He conceived the idea of founding a university in Albany, raised ten thousand dollars for the object, and delivered in that city the first American course of medical lectures illustrated with dissections of the human body. He was one of the originators of the Young Men's Christian association, and was also instrumental in founding the Dudley observatory. He died Dec. 3, 1875, in Albany, N. Y.

ARMSTRONG, ADDISON F., merchant, was born April 1, 1835, in Clinton county, Ohio. He was elected in 1870 to the Indiana state senate, and held that position three terms, or until 1874, serving also in that time through the special session of 1872. He became a merchant in Kokomo, Ind.

ARMSTRONG, DAVID H., educator, public official, was born Oct. 21, 1812, in Nova Scotia. He received an academic education; was a teacher for eighteen years; and in 1837 removed to Missouri, opening, in 1838, and conducting in St. Louis the first public school established under the laws of that state. In 1847 he was appointed comptroller of the city of St. Louis, and reappointed in 1848 and 1849; and in 1854 was appointed postmaster of St. Louis. He was appointed a United States senator to fill a vacancy.

ARMSTRONG, DAVID MAITLAND, artist, was born about 1837 in Newburg, N. Y. He was graduated at Trinity college, Hartford, in 1858; studied law in New York; and practiced that profession for a short time. It soon became evident to him that his choice of the law was a mistake, and he turned his attention to art. He studied in Rome and Paris under the best teachers, and divided his time mainly between Italy and New York. For four years he was United States consul general for Italy, resident at Rome, and was director of the American art department at the Paris exposition of 1878, when he received the decoration of the Legion of Honor.

ARMSTRONG, GEORGE DODD, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 15, 1813, in Mendham, N. J. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Norfolk, Va.; and the author of The Summer of the Pestilence; The Doctrine of Baptisms; The Christian Doctrine of Slavery; Theology of Christian Experience; The Sacraments of the New Testament; and The Books of Nature and Revelation, a criticism of the theory of evolution.

ARMSTRONG, GEORGE WASHINGTON, business man, was born Aug. 11, 1836, in Boston, Mass. In 1865 he purchased a local baggage express, and at once organized Armstrong's Transfer, which he soon raised to be a business of importance and magnitude. He owns the news business on the entire Hoosac Tunnel line; and is a director of a number of business corporations.

ARMSTRONG, HENRY CLAY, legislator, was born June 1, 1840, in Lafayette, Ga. He received his education at the Howard college. During 1876-80 he served as a member of the Alabama state senate; in 1880-84 was state superintendent of education of Alabama; in 1884-85 was a member of the Alabama house of representatives; and filled the chair of speaker in that body; and during 1885-89 he served as consul-general of the United States to Brazil. He has filled various high positions in the Masonic lodge; has been grand secretary of the Masonic grand bodies; and since 1892 has been recorder of the grand commandery of Alabama.

ARMSTRONG, JAMES, soldier, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He served as a colonel in the successful defense of Fort Moultrie, Charleston harbor, in the summer of 1776, and commanded the Pennsylvania militia in the defense of Germantown in October, 1777. He was a member of congress from 1793 till his death. He died March 3, 1795, in Carlisle, Pa.

ARMSTRONG, JAMES, naval officer, was born Jan. 17, 1794, in Shelbyville, Ky. He commanded the East India squadron in 1855, and assisted at the capture of the barrier forts near Canton, China, in 1857. He was in command of the navy yard at Pensacola, Fla., when that state seceded in 1861; and surrendered without resistance when a greatly superior military force demanded possession. In 1866 he was promoted to be commodore. He died Aug. 27, 1868.

ARMSTRONG, JAMES F., naval officer, was born Nov. 20, 1817, in New Jersey. He was passed midshipman in 1838; promoted lieutenant in 1842; and was commissioned captain in 1862. He died April 19, 1873, in New Haven, Conn.

ARMSTRONG, JOHN, general, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He distinguished himself in the Indian wars, and was consulted by the proprietors of Pennsylvania on all matters connected with Indian affairs. In 1776 congress promoted him from the rank of colonel to that of brigadier-general, and he assisted in the defense of Fort Moultrie, and in the battle of Germantown. In 1777 he resigned his commission in consequence of dissatisfaction as to rank; was subsequently elected a representative to congress from Pennsylvania, serving from 1793 to 1795; and also held a number of other honorable offices. He died March 9, 1795, in Carlisle, Pa.

ARMSTRONG, JOHN, general, congressman, author, was born Nov. 25, 1758, in Carlisle, Pa. He served as an officer in the revolutionary war. At the close of the war, in order to obtain redress for the grievances of the officers of the army, he prepared the celebrated Newburgh Letters; was a delegate to the continental congress in 1778 and 1787, from Pennsylvania; was made secretary of state and adjutant-general of the state; to him was intrusted the direction of the last Pennsylvania war against the Connecticut settlers of Wyoming. Returning to New York, he was sent to the senate of the United States, serving from 1800 to 1804, when he resigned. On the return of Chancellor Livingston from the French embassy, he was commissioned minister in his place, in 1804; and was also appointed a commissioner plenipotentiary to Spain. Returning to his own country, he was appointed a brigadier-general in 1812; and in 1813, secretary of war. He was the author of Notes on the War of 1812; Treatise on Gardening; Treatise on Agriculture; and other works. He died April 1, 1843, in Red Hook, N. Y.

ARMSTRONG, MOSES K., surveyor, journalist, statesman, was born Sept. 19, 1832, in Milan, Ohio. He was educated at the Western Reserve college; removed to Minnesota in 1856; was elected surveyor of United States lands; on the admission of Minnesota as a state, removed to Yankton, on the Missouri river; on the organization of Dakota, in 1861, was elected to the first territorial legislature, and re-elected in 1862 and 1863, serving the last year as speaker; was editor of The Dakota Union in 1864; was elected territorial treasurer; appointed clerk of the supreme court in 1865; elected to the territorial senate in 1866; and chosen president in 1867. He published the first history of Dakota in 1867; acted as secretary to the Indian peace commission to the Sioux; and from 1866 to 1869 established the base-lines for United States surveys in southern Dakota, and the northern Red river valley. He was again elected to the territorial senate in 1869; established the first democratic newspaper in the territory; and was chosen president of the First National bank of the territory in 1872. He was elected delegate to the forty-second and forty-third congresses.

ARMSTRONG, P. B., financier, was born Feb. 3, 1847, in Franklin county, Ind. He holds the presidency of three different fire insurance companies, and is a member of the leading clubs of the metropolitan districts.

ARMSTRONG, ROBERT, soldier, was born in 1790 in Tennessee. He commanded a company of Tennessee artillery under Jackson in the Creek war of 1813-14 with distinguished bravery. He again distinguished himself at the battle of New Orleans, and in 1836, as brigadier-general, commanded the Tennessee mounted volunteers at the battle of Wahoo swamp. He was postmaster at Nashville from 1829 to 1845, when he was sent as consul to Liverpool, remaining until 1852. He subsequently became the proprietor and editor of the Washington Union, and was the confidential adviser of Mr. Polk during his presidency. Gen. Jackson bequeathed to him his sword. He died Feb. 23, 1854, in Washington, D. C.

ARMSTRONG, ROBERT, lawyer, legislator, was born September, 1846, in Greenwich, N. Y. He received his education at the South Hartford academy, Fort Edward Collegiate institute, and the Union college of Schenectady, N. Y. He was a member of the New York state assembly for two terms, in 1881-82 and in 1882-83; and while a member of that body served on the judicial committee, and on general laws. He has attained prominence in his state as an astute and able lawyer.

ARMSTRONG, SAMUEL C., soldier, educator, was born Jan. 30, 1839, in Hawaii. He served in the civil war, and in 1865 was brevetted brigadier-general. He laid the foundation of the now celebrated Hampton Normal and Agricultural institute; and has helped build many other institutions.

ARMSTRONG, SAMUEL T., governor of Massachusetts, was born in 1784 in Massachusetts. He was a bookseller in Boston, and among other works published a stereotype edition of Scott's Family Bible, which was widely circulated. He became mayor of Boston and lieutenant-governor of Massachusetts, and in 1836 the election of Governor Davis to the United States senate made him governor for the remainder of the term. He died March 26, 1850.

ARMSTRONG, SARAH B., educator, physician, surgeon, was born July 31, 1857, near Cincinnati, Ohio. She taught school for several years, and in 1886 took her first degree in regular medicine, and has received the degrees of B. A., M. A. and M. D. Since 1891 she has practiced her profession with success in Bay City, Mich.

ARMSTRONG, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 23, 1782, in Ireland. He studied law in Winchester, Va.; he was a member of the Virginia house of delegates; in 1822-23, a member of the board of public works; in 1820-24 was a presidential elector. He was a representative in congress from 1825-33.

ARMSTRONG, WILLIAM DAWSON, musician, composer, was born Feb. 11, 1868, in Alton, Ill. He received his education at the Alton public schools and at Shurtleff college. In 1889 he was elected to a professorship in Forest Park university of St. Louis, Mo.; and in 1891-96 became director of the Shurtleff School of Music of Alton, Ill. As an organist and composer he has attained national repute.

ARMSTRONG, WILLIAM H., lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 7, 1824, in Williamsport, Pa. He graduated at Princeton college in 1847; and adopted the profession of the law. He was elected to the state legislature in 1860-61; and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-first congress. In 1882 he was appointed commissioner of railroads in the department of the interior.

ARNELL, SAMUEL M., educator, manufacturer, congressman, was born May 3, 1833, in Maury county, Tenn. In 1859 he went into the business of manufacturing leather; in 1861 took an active interest in putting down the rebellion, and suffered in person and property from the confederate army. He was elected to the Tennessee legislature, and advocated the passage of the constitutional amendment in 1865. He was elected a representative from Tennessee to the thirty-ninth congress, and re-elected to the fortieth and forty-first congresses.

ARNETT, BENJAMIN W., bishop, author, was born March 6, 1838, in Brownsville, Pa. He was chosen bishop in 1888, and appointed to the episcopal district of South Carolina and Florida. He is the author of The Light Along the Jordan; and Fifty Years in the Field.

ARNOLD, ALBERT NICHOLAS, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 12, 1814, in Cranston, R. I. He was a baptist clergyman who held professorships in several baptist seminaries successively; and was the author of Pre-requisites to Communion; Evils of Infant Baptism; and One Woman's Mission. He died Oct. 11, 1883, in Cranston, R. I.

ARNOLD, ALEXANDER C., educator, lawyer, legislator, railroad president, was born Oct. 20, 1833, at Rhinebeck, N. Y. He received an academic education; graduated from the law school; and practiced law in Wisconsin until 1862. He served with distinction in company C, thirtieth regiment Wisconsin volunteer infantry, and was promoted to captain. He has been county superintendent of schools; district attorney; member of the state senate of Wisconsin, and also of the assembly. He has been president of the Wisconsin State Agricultural society; president of the Galesville and Mississippi Railroad company, and filled various other offices of honor.

ARNOLD, BENEDICT, soldier, congressman, was a member of the assembly of New York from Amsterdam, Montgomery county, in 1816 and 1817; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1829 to 1831.

ARNOLD, BENEDICT, governor of Rhode Island, was born Dec. 21, 1615, in England. He lived for some time in Providence, and in 1637 was one of thirteen who signed a compact agreeing to subject themselves to any agreements made by a majority of the masters of families. In 1645 his knowledge of the native tongues gained him the office of messenger to negotiate with the Indians, and on one occasion they accused him of misrepresentation. In 1653 he moved to Newport, and in 1654 was elected assistant for that town. In 1657 he was one of the purchasers of the island of Conanicut. On May 19, 1657, Roger Williams having retired from the presidency of the colony, Arnold was elected to the office, and he was again assistant in 1660. On May 22, 1662, he was again elected president, and under the royal charter given in 1663 he was the first governor of the colony. To this office he was re-elected in May, 1664, and in 1669, 1677, and 1678. Gov. Arnold was instrumental in bringing about the reconciliation and union of the two colonies of Rhode Island and Providence plantations. He died June 20, 1678.

ARNOLD, BENEDICT, soldier, was born in January, 1740, in Norwich, Conn. He fought nobly for freedom until 1778, when his passions got the better of his judgment and conscience, and he became a traitor and joined the British army. He went to England after the war, and died June 14, 1801, in London.

ARNOLD, GEORGE, journalist, poet, was born June 24, 1834, in New York city. He was a journalist and poet of New York city, whose verse is musical without being especially strong. He was the author of Drift and Other Poems; and Poems Grave and Gay. He died Nov. 3, 1865, in Strawberry Farm, N. J.

ARNOLD, HARRIET EUDORA PRITCHARD, poet, was born Dec. 24, 1858, in Killingly, Conn. She is the author of a number of meritorious poems and sketches which have appeared in various magazines and periodicals under the signature of H. E. P. She is the wife of Ernest Warner Arnold of Providence, R. I.

ARNOLD, HENRY F., lawyer, educator, was born Dec. 2, 1855, in Newport, Iowa. He attended the Western college of Iowa and State university of Iowa, from which he graduated in classical course in 1881; and from the law school of the same university in 1884, receiving the degree of A. M. He was superintendent of city schools of Manchester, Iowa, and has served three terms as county attorney.

ARNOLD, HORACE F., farmer, state senator, was born June 19, 1857. He was educated at the Caledonia academy and the North Dakota university, and has served as state senator in four legislatures of North Dakota. He entered journalistic work in 1890, and is president of the Dakota Lake Chautauqua association.

ARNOLD, ISAAC NEWTON, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Nov. 30, 1815, in Hartwick, N. J. He was a prominent Chicago lawyer and politician, and member of congress in 1861-65. He was the author of Life of Abraham Lincoln; Life of Benedict Arnold; and Recollections of the Early Chicago and Illinois Bar. He died April 24, 1884, in Chicago, Ill.

ARNOLD, JOHN, physician, surgeon, was born Jan. 15, 1815, in England. In 1877 he moved to Rushville, Ind. He is a member of the Rush Medical society, the Union District Medical society, the Indiana State Medical society, and the American Medical association.

ARNOLD, JOHN H., business man, legislator, was born July 9, 1846, in Warwick, N. J. He received his education in the public schools; has been a member of the common council of Pawtucket; and a representative in the Rhode Island state legislature since 1896.

ARNOLD, JOHN MOTTE, clergyman, author, was born in 1824, in Acra, N. Y. In 1839 he moved to Michigan, residing in Detroit from 1861 until his death on Dec. 8, 1884. He filled several methodist episcopal pulpits in Detroit, Mich.; assisted in founding the Michigan Christian Advocate, which he edited until his death; and founded the Detroit Methodist Book concern. Dr. Arnold was the author of Doctrines of Sanctification; and was a learned and versatile writer.

ARNOLD, JONATHAN, surgeon, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 14, 1741, in Providence, R. I. He was a member of the state assembly in 1776; and was the author of the act of May, 1776, repealing the laws providing for the oath of allegiance to the mother country. He was a surgeon in the revolutionary army; after the war removed to St. Johnsbury, Vt., where he was appointed judge of the Orange county court in 1782, holding that office during the remainder of his life. He was a member of the continental congress from 1782 to 1784. He died Feb. 2, 1798, in St. Johnsbury, Vt.

ARNOLD, JOSEPH MITCHELL, educator, was born Dec. 14, 1863, in New Buffalo, Pa. He attended the Bloomfield academy, and in 1887 graduated from the Lafayette college. The succeeding five years he was principal of the Bloomfield academy, and since 1893 has been superintendent of schools of Perry county, Pa., and has attained prominence in the field of education for his progressive improvements of the school system under his charge.

ARNOLD, LAUREN BRIGGS, agriculturist, author, was born in 1841, in New York. He was an agriculturist of western New York who lectured frequently upon dairy husbandry and was the author of American Dairying. He died in 1888.

ARNOLD, LEMUEL H., merchant, congressman, governor, was born Jan. 29, 1792, in St. Johnsbury, Vt. He was removed to Rhode Island at an early age; graduated at Dartmouth college, in 1811; and was educated for the bar, but turned his attention to mercantile pursuits. In 1831 was elected governor of Rhode Island, and re-elected in 1832; was a member of the governor's council during the Dorr rebellion in 1842; and a representative in congress from 1845 to 1847. He died June 27, 1852, in Kingston, R. I.

ARNOLD, LEWIS G., general, was born in December, 1815, in New Jersey. In 1862 he was placed in command of the forces at New Orleans and Algiers, La., which command he retained until he was disabled by a stroke of paralysis, from which he never recovered.

ARNOLD, LYNN J., lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 28, 1864, in Burlington Flats, N. Y. In 1884 he graduated from the State Normal college of Albany, N. Y. He then engaged in educational work; and was admitted to the bar in 1889. He has attained success in the profession of law at Cooperstown, N. Y.; and in 1894 was elected surrogate of his county.

ARNOLD, MARSHALL, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 21, 1845, in St. Francois county, Mo. He was educated in the common schools; was professor in Arcadia college in 1870-71; has been deputy clerk of the circuit, county, and probate courts in St. Francois county, Mo; was prosecuting attorney of Scott county, Mo.; served two terms in the legislature of Missouri; and was presidential elector on the Hancock ticket. He was elected as a democrat to the fifty-second and fifty-third congresses.

ARNOLD, PELEG, jurist, congressman, was born in 1752, in Smithfield, R. I. He was a member of the assembly of Rhode Island; was for many years chief justice of the supreme court of that state; was a delegate to the continental congress from 1786 to 1788, when he was appointed judge. He died Feb. 13, 1820, in Smithfield, R. I.

ARNOLD, REUBEN, soldier, lawyer, was born Aug. 7, 1833, in Greeneville, Tenn. He served in the civil war, and was tendered recommendation for brigadier-general, which he declined. Col. Arnold was elected city attorney of Atlanta in 1867, and has since been a very prominent figure in politics and law.

ARNOLD, RICHARD, general, was born April 12, 1828, in Providence, R. I. He was a son of Gov. L. H. Arnold, was graduated at West Point in 1850. For his services through the war he was, on March 13, 1865, brevetted colonel, brigadier-general, and major-general in the regular army. After the close of the war he commanded various posts, and on Dec. 5, 1877, was made acting assistant inspector-general of the department of the east. At the time of his death he was major in the fifth artillery. He died Nov. 8, 1882, on Governor's Island, New York harbor.

ARNOLD, SAMUEL, business man, congressman, was born June 1, 1806, in Haddam, Conn. He received his education at Plainfield academy, in Connecticut, and Westfield academy, in Massachusetts; devoted the most of his life to agricultural pursuits, and to various interests of commerce. For many years he carried on one of the most extensive stone quarries in the union; was, for a number of years, president of the bank of East Haddam; served his native county in the legislature during the years 1839, 1842, 1844, and 1851; and was elected to the thirty-fifth congress.

ARNOLD, SAMUEL GREENE, was born April 12, 1821, in Providence, R. I. In 1862 he was again elected lieutenant-governor of Rhode Island, and was soon afterwards chosen senator in congress to fill a vacancy. He was the author of a History of Rhode Island; and Life of Patrick Henry. He died Feb. 12, 1880, in Providence, R. I.

ARNOLD, THOMAS D., congressman, was born May 23, 1798, in Spottsylvania county, Va. He was elected a representative in congress from Knox county, Tenn., from 1831 to 1833; and was elected for a second term, from 1841 to 1843, representing Greene county. He died May 26, 1870, in Jonesboro, Tenn.

ARNOLD, THOMAS H., journalist, poet, was born Dec. 26, 1857, in New Orleans, La. For three years he was connected with the Chattanooga Times, and is now editor of the Middleborough News, of which publication he is also president and manager. His poems have appeared in several standard collections.

ARNOLD, TRESSA RICHARDSON, evangelist, editor, was born May 9, 1864, in Lanesboro, Minn. In 1882 she graduated from the Emporia Commercial and Business college, and since that time has taken an active part as a teacher and Sunday school missionary, accepting an evangelist's license in 1885. In 1887 she married T. B. Arnold, the veteran journalist and book publisher of Chicago; and since then has been editor of the Light and Life series of Sunday school periodicals. Since 1888 she has been an assistant superintendent of the Chicago Industrial Home for Children, of which institution her husband is superintendent.

ARNOLD, WARREN O., manufacturer, congressman, was born June 3, 1839, in Coventry, R. I. He received his education in the public schools of his native state; was engaged in mercantile pursuits from 1857 to 1864; and from the latter date to 1866 was engaged in cotton manufacturing. Since that time he has been engaged in the manufacture of woolens. He was elected to the fiftieth and fifty-first congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ARNOLD, WILLIAM CARLILE, lawyer, congressman, was born July 15, 1851, in Luthersburg, Pa. He was educated in Pennsylvania and Massachusetts; was admitted to the bar in 1875 and has practiced law continuously since his admission; had never held any public office before his election to the fifty-fourth congress. He was re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

ARNOT, JOHN, financier, congressman, was born March 31, 1831, in Elmira, N. Y. He was three times president of the village of Elmira, and was the first mayor after its incorporation; and was, subsequently, twice elected mayor. He became cashier of The Chemung Canal bank, in 1851, and continued in that position. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses.

ARNOT, MATTHIAS HOLLENBACK, capitalist, was born Nov. 10, 1832. As president of The Chemung Canal bank, a family institution, which has in every crisis proved itself as solid as The Bank of England, Mr. Arnot has sustained the financial credit of Elmira in every storm. His art gallery, which has cost not less than $300,000, is an evidence that his aspirations are higher and better than the mere love of gain. Among his practical interests are The Chemung Canal bank, The Sheldon Saddlery Co., Thomas Briggs and Co., brewers, The Junction Canal Co., The Seneca Lake Steam Navigation Co., The Chemung Plank Road Co., and The Elmira Industrial association, of most if not all of which he is the head.

ARRINGTON, ALFRED W., lawyer, author, poet, was born in September, 1810, in Iredell county, N. C. He was a prominent lawyer in the southwest, and later in Chicago. He was the author of The Rangers and Regulators of the Tanaha; Sketches of the Southwest; and Poems, with Memoir. He died Dec. 31, 1867, in Chicago, Ill.

ARRINGTON, H. ARCHIBALD, congressman, was born in North Carolina. He represented that state in congress from 1841 to 1845, after which he retired to private life. His son, Alfred W. Arrington, attained distinction as a methodist preacher, a lawyer, and judge, and a writer for the magazines under the assumed name of Charles Summerfield.

ARROWSMITH, EUSEBIUS WALLING, lawyer, was born Oct. 3, 1869, in New York city. He is a successful lawyer of Freehold, N. J., and makes a specialty of criminal law. He is deputy county clerk, and takes an active part in democratic politics.

ARTHUR, CHESTER ALLAN, twenty-first president of the United States, was born Oct. 5, 1830, in Fairfield, Vt. He graduated at Union college, Schenectady, N. Y., 1849; taught school and was principal of the Pownal academy, Vermont. Studied law and was admitted to the bar, and was married to Miss Herndon. He was a delegate to the Saratoga convention when the republican party of New York was formed. Was judge-advocate of the second brigade of state militia before the war. In 1860 Governor Edwin D. Morgan appointed him engineer-in-chief on his staff and afterwards inspector-general and quartermaster-general, holding the latter office until the close of 1863. He practiced law in New York city until Nov. 20, 1871, when he was appointed collector of customs at that port, and reappointed in 1875. In 1877 he was chairman of the republican central committee of New York city, when President Hayes issued his order forbidding officers in the civil service from acting as political managers. Mr. Arthur neglected to comply with this order and was removed by the president in July, 1878. He was a delegate to the Chicago convention in 1880, and a strong supporter of General Grant. He was nominated for vice-president on the first ballot, which stood for Chester A. Arthur, 468; E. B. Washburne, Illinois, 193; Marshall Jewell, Connecticut, 44; Horace Maynard, Tennessee, 30; B. K. Bruce, Mississippi, 8; J. L. Alcorn, Mississippi, 4; E. J. Davis, Texas, 2; Thomas Settle, North Carolina, 1; Stewart L. Woodford, New York, 1. Being elected he took the oath of office and became vice-president March 4, 1881. On being notified by the cabinet of the death of President Garfield, he took the oath of office as president at his own house in New York city, on Sept. 20, 1881, at two o'clock in the morning. On reaching Washington, Sept. 22, he again took the oath of office before Chief Justice Waite. The republican national convention met at Chicago, June 3, 1884. Those receiving the highest number of votes on the first ballot were James G. Blaine, 334½, and Chester A. Arthur, 278. On the fourth ballot Mr. Blaine was nominated. General Arthur retired from the presidency March 4, 1885, and died Nov. 18, 1886, in New York city.

ARTHUR, CHRISTOPHER, soldier, physician, public official, was born Sept. 16, 1833, in Highland county, Ohio. In 1862 he raised a company for the seventy-fifth Indiana volunteers, of which he was chosen captain. A few days later he was appointed surgeon of the regiment, which was assigned to the fourteenth army corps. With this command he served through the entire Atlanta campaign. At the battle of Chickamauga he was taken prisoner, and sent first to Atlanta, and finally to Libby prison. He has identified himself with the public schools of Camden, where he lived for some years, and is now president and a stockholder of the Citizens' bank. He has a very large and interesting collection of archæological specimens.

ARTHUR, JESSE, lawyer, jurist, was born Jan. 14, 1846, in Kershaw county, S. C. He attended a private school until September, 1863, when he entered the confederate army, and served through the war. He was made prisoner in front of Richmond on Aug. 15, 1864; and was released in March of the following year. In 1889 he moved to Washington territory, attained prominence as an able lawyer; and in 1892 was elected superior court judge of the state of Washington for Spokane county, which position he still holds.

ARTHUR, JOSEPH CHARLES, botanist, was born Jan. 11, 1850, in Lowville, N. Y. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of Iowa; studied four years at the Iowa Agricultural college, taking the degree of B. S.; then attended Cornell, receiving the degree D. Sc.; and also studied at Johns Hopkins, Harvard, and the university of Bonn. He has been instructor in botany at the Iowa Agricultural college, the university of Wisconsin; and during 1884-87 was botanist to the Agricultural Experiment station at Geneva, N. Y. Since 1887 he has been professor of vegetable physiology and pathology in Purdue university.

ARTHUR, TIMOTHY SHAY, journalist, author, was born in 1809 in Newburg, N. Y. He was a prolific writer of moral tales, with much more excellence of intention than literary merit to recommend them, but which have enjoyed a very extensive popularity. He was the author of Ten Nights in a Bar-Room; Six Nights with the Washingtonians; and Tales of Married Life, which are well known works. His life was nearly all spent in Philadelphia. He died March 6, 1885, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ARTHUR, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1796 in Antrim, Ireland. He was graduated at Belfast college, came to the United States, studied law for a short time, and was then called to the baptist ministry. After preaching in Vermont and western New York, he was settled as pastor of the Calvary baptist church of Albany, N. Y., where he remained from 1855 to 1863. He afterward removed to Schenectady, where he published a magazine called the Antiquarian, to whose pages he contributed much curious learning on a variety of topics. He published an Etymological Dictionary of Family and Christian Names. Dr. Arthur was noted for his attainments in the classics and in history, both sacred and profane. His son, Chester Allan Arthur, was twenty-first president of the United States. He died Oct. 27, 1875, in Newtonville, N. Y.

ARTHUR, WILLIAM E., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born March 3, 1825, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He removed with his parents to Covington, Ky., where he was educated; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1850. He was elected attorney for the ninth judicial district, and served from 1856 to 1862; was a presidential elector in 1860; elected judge of the ninth judicial district in 1866; and was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses.

ASBURY, A. EDGAR, banker, business man, was born Aug. 16, 1836, in Virginia. He received his education at the Rector college, Virginia, and at Allegheny college of Meadville, Pa. He served four years in the war and was captain in the confederate states army. This successful financier and business man has been the president of the American bank of Higginsville, Mo., for the past twenty years.

ASBURY, FRANCIS, bishop of the methodist episcopal church, was born Aug. 20, 1745, in Handsworth, England. For thirty-two years, Bishop Asbury traveled yearly through the United States, ordaining not less than three thousand preachers, and preaching about seventeen thousand sermons. He died March 31, 1816, in Spottsylvania, Va.

ASH, MICHAEL W., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1835 to 1837.

ASHBOTH, ALEXANDER SANDOR, general, was born Dec. 18, 1811, in Hungary. He served in the Austrian army, and afterwards devoted himself to engineering. In 1861 he offered his services to the government, and went as chief of Fremont's staff to Missouri; and was made a brigadier-general. In 1865 he was brevetted major-general for services in Florida; and was appointed minister to the Argentine Republic in 1866. He died Jan. 21, 1868, in Buenos Ayres.

ASHBURN, GEORGE W., soldier, was born in Georgia. During the civil war he was a strong opponent of secession, and raised a company of southern loyalists, subsequently enlarged to a regiment, of which he was colonel. On his return home after the war he boldly advocated the congressional plan of reconstruction. He was chosen a delegate to the Georgia constitutional convention of 1867, and did much toward perfecting the constitution of his state. He died April 1, 1868.

ASHBURN, JESSE ANDERSON, farmer, clergyman, state senator, was born Dec. 21, 1861, near Pilot Mountain, N. C. He is a farmer and a noted clergyman of Ashburn, N. C. As an orator he is well known in the south; where he is also prominent as a political speaker. In 1896 he was elected a member of the North Carolina state senate; has taken a prominent part in the deliberations of that body; at all times advocating with voice and pen all progressive measures in the interests of the commonwealth.

ASHBURNER, CHARLES ALBERT, geologist, was born Feb. 9, 1854, in Philadelphia, Pa. In 1880 he was appointed geologist in charge of the survey of the anthracite coal fields, where he originated a method for surveying and representing the geology of this great coal-bed which has received the approbation of mining engineers and geologists both in the United States and in Europe. He died Dec. 24, 1889, in Pittsburg, Pa.

ASHBY, TURNER, soldier, was born in 1824, in Rose Hill, Va. He raised a regiment of cavalry, and made so distinguished a record as a cavalry officer, that he was appointed brigadier-general in the confederate provisional army in 1861. He died June 5, 1862.

ASHE, JOHN, soldier, was born in 1720, and was a general in the continental army. He died Oct. 24, 1781, in Sampson county, N. C.

ASHE, JOHN B., congressman, was born in 1748 in Rocky Point, N. C., and was a son of John Baptiste Ashe. He was elected a representative in congress from Tennessee, from 1843 to 1845, representing the tenth district. He died Nov. 27, 1802, in Halifax, N. C.

ASHE, JOHN BAPTISTE, congressman, governor, was born in 1748, in Rocky Point, N. C. He was a delegate to the continental congress in 1787 and 1788; was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1790 to 1793; and was one of those who voted for locating the seat of government on the Potomac. He was elected governor of the state of North Carolina in 1801. He died Nov. 27, 1802, in Halifax, N. C.

ASHE, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born in 1725, in North Carolina, and was a brother of General John B. Ashe, of the old congress. He was a lawyer of ability, a citizen of exalted patriotism, and a soldier in emergencies. He was a leading member of the North Carolina congress; chief justice of the state from 1777 to 1796; and governor of North Carolina from 1795 to 1798. He died Feb. 3, 1813, in Rocky Point, N. C.

ASHE, SAMUEL A'COURT, lawyer, journalist, was born Sept. 13, 1840, near Wilmington, N. C. He attended the Georgetown Mathematical academy, Rugby academy, Oxford Military academy, and the United States Naval academy. He served as a captain in the confederate army; has been postmaster of Raleigh, N. C.; and chairman of the state democratic executive committee. He has attained prominence as a successful journalist and an able lawyer.

ASHE, THOMAS SAMUEL, lawyer, congressman, was born in Orange county, N. C. He graduated at the university of North Carolina in 1832; studied law and pursued that profession; and in 1842 was elected a member of the legislature of North Carolina. In 1847 he was elected solicitor of the fifth judicial district of North Carolina, and served in that capacity four years; in 1854 was elected to the state senate; in 1861 was elected to the house of representatives of the confederate states; to the senate of the confederate congress in 1864; and was one of the councilors of state in 1866; He was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses.

ASHE, WILLIAM S., lawyer, congressman, was born in Wilmington, N. C., and was the son of John Baptiste Ashe. He was a lawyer by profession; served in the state legislature in 1846, and was re-elected in 1848. He was a representative in congress from 1849 to 1853. He was killed on a railroad in 1864, near Wilmington, N. C.

ASHHURST, JOHN, surgeon, author, was born Aug. 23, 1839, in Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated from the university of Pennsylvania in 1857, and at the medical department in 1860, and from 1862 till 1865 he served as acting assistant surgeon in the United States army. Since 1877 he has been professor of clinical surgery in the university of Pennsylvania, and he has been connected with several hospitals. He is the author of Injuries of the Spine; and Principles and Practice of Surgery; and the editor of Transactions of the International Medical Congress; and the International Encyclopædia of Surgery, in six volumes.

ASHLEY, CHESTER, lawyer, United States senator, was born June 1, 1790, in Westfield, Mass. He established himself in Little Rock, Ark., then a mere landing, and was chosen a senator in congress from Arkansas in 1844. He died April 27, 1848, in Washington City.

ASHLEY, CLARENCE DEGRAND, lawyer, was born July 21, 1851, in Boston, Mass. He organized the Metropolis Law school of New York city, and accepted a professorship in its faculty. He was appointed to the chair of contracts in University Law school; became vice-dean of its faculty and executive head of the evening department.

ASHLEY, DELOS R., lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 19, 1828, in Arkansas. He went to California in 1849, where he held the office of district attorney in 1851-53; was a member of the California assembly in 1854-55; a state senator in 1856-57; and state treasurer in 1862-63. Early in 1864 he moved to Nevada, and was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses. He died July 18, 1873, in San Francisco, Cal.

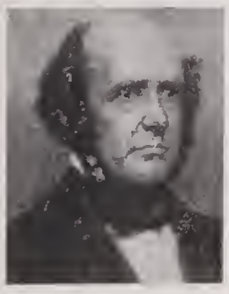
ASHLEY, HENRY, congressman, was born in Cheshire county, N. H. He was elected a representative in congress from Delaware and Greene counties, N. Y., from 1825 to 1827.

ASHLEY, JAMES M., lawyer, merchant, congressman, governor, was born Nov. 14, 1824, in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1849 he was admitted to the bar of Ohio; but abandoned that profession for the business of boat building. He was also connected with the press for awhile; and subsequently went into the wholesale drug business in Toledo, Ohio. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the thirty-sixth, thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth and fortieth congresses. In 1866 he was a delegate to the Philadelphia loyalists' convention. He was subsequently appointed governor of the territory of Montana.

ASHLEY, OSSIAN D., soldier, railway president, was born April 9, 1821, in Townshend, Vt. In 1889 he was elected president of the Toledo, Wabash and Western Railroad Co., which position he still holds. For a number of years he was connected with the Boston Journal as its financial editor, and also a frequent contributor to the New York Tribune. He served in the civil war and attained the rank of colonel.

ASHLEY, WILLIAM H., congressman, governor, was born in 1778, in Powhatan county, Va. He was the first lieutenant-governor of Missouri, after it became a state; and was a representative in congress, from 1831 to 1837. He died March 26, 1838, in Boonville, Mo.

ASHMEAD, HENRY GRAHAM, lawyer, author, was born June 30, 1838, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was local editor of the Chester Evening News, The Delaware County Republican, and other newspapers. He is the author of History of Delaware County, Pa.; History of Pennsylvania; and Historical Sketches of Chester-on-Delaware.



ASHMEAD, ISSAC, printer, was born Dec. 22, 1790, in Germantown, Pa. He was apprenticed to William Bradford, and in 1821 founded what is now the oldest printing establishment in Philadelphia. He set up the first power-presses ever used in that city, and introduced composition rollers. He was one of the founders of the American Sunday School union, and printed its publications. He also aided in establishing the American Presbyterian and the Presbyterian Quarterly. He died March 1, 1870, in Philadelphia.

ASHMORE, JOHN D., congressman, was born Aug. 7, 1819, in Greenville, S. C. When quite young he filled various offices in the state militia; was a member of the South Carolina legislature in 1848, 1850, and 1852; in 1853 was elected comptroller-general of the state for two years and was re-elected for a second term. He was subsequently elected a representative from South Carolina to the thirty-sixth congress.

ASHMORE, OTIS, educator, astronomer, was born March 6, 1853, in Lincoln county, Ga. He has always been engaged in educational work. For ten years he was science teacher in the Savannah High school, and is now superintendent of schools of that city. He is the author of Grier's Almanac, the best known annual publication of the kind in the south; and has also attained prominence as a noted astronomer.

ASHMUN, ELI PORTER, lawyer, United States senator, was born June 24, 1770, in Blandford, Mass. He was a distinguished lawyer, and for several years a member of the house of representatives and senate of Massachusetts. In 1816 he was elected to succeed C. Gore as senator from that state in congress. He died May 10, 1819, in Northampton, Mass.

ASHMUN, GEORGE, lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 25, 1804, in Blandford, Mass. He graduated at Yale college in 1823; studied law, and settled in Springfield in 1828; served in the state legislature during the years 1833, 1835, 1836, 1838, and 1841, officiating as speaker of the house in the latter year. He was a representative in congress from 1845 to 1851. In 1860 he was president of the Chicago convention; and in 1866 was chosen a delegate to the Philadelphia National Union convention. He died July 17, 1870, in Springfield, Mass.

ASHMUN, JEHUDI, missionary, author, was born April, 1794, in Champlain, N. Y. He was placed in charge of an expedition to reinforce the colony of Liberia; remained in the colony for six years, but in 1828 he was obliged to return home on account of ill-health. He was the author of a volume entitled Memoirs of Samuel Bacon. He died Aug. 25, 1828, in Boston, Mass.

ASHMUN, JOHN HOOKER, jurist, was born July 3, 1800, in Blandford, Mass. He was the son of Senator Eli P. Ashmun, was graduated at Harvard in 1818, and, on the establishment of the law department of that university, appointed its first professor, under the endowment of Isaac Royall. Prior to this he was associated with Judge Howe and Elijah J. Mills in establishing a law school in Northampton. He died April 1, 1833, in Cambridge, Mass.

ASHTON, J. HUBLEY, lawyer. He was a citizen of Pennsylvania, from which state he was, in 1864, appointed assistant attorney-general of the United States, serving three years. He was re-appointed in 1868, serving one year; and was subsequently associated with the court for the settlement of the Alabama claims.

ASPER, JOEL F., soldier, journalist, congressman, was born April 20, 1822, in Adams county, Pa. He studied law and came to the bar in 1844, writing frequently for the newspapers; was elected a justice of the peace in 1846, and in 1847 prosecuting attorney for his county. He was a delegate to the Buffalo convention of 1848; editor of the Western Reserve Chronicle in 1849, and of the Chardon Democrat in 1850. In 1861 he raised a company and was mustered into the volunteer army as captain, and was promoted to the rank of lieutenant-colonel. In 1866 he started a paper at Chillicothe, Mo., called the Spectator, and, while editing that journal and practicing law, was, in 1868, elected a representative from Missouri to the forty-first congress. He died Oct. 1, 1872, in Chillicothe, Mo.

ASPINALL, NOVITAS B., physician and surgeon, was born Oct. 28, 1857, in Liverpool, England. He studied medicine under his father, Doctor R. H. Aspinall, a practicing physician of Liverpool, England. He graduated in 1879 from the college of Physicians and Surgeons in London; and after doing hospital work for two years, came to the United States and practiced in Chicago, where he was a medical director in Dr. Borton's sanitarium. In 1892 he moved to Plymouth, Ind., where he is city physician, and surgeon in the county infirmary. Dr. Aspinall is a member of the Indiana State Medical society, the American Medical association, and other prominent medical bodies.

ASPINWALL, THOMAS, soldier, was born May 23, 1786, in Brookline, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard in 1804, and studied law with William Sullivan. He was major of the ninth United States infantry in the war of 1812, and for gallant conduct at Sackett's Harbor received the brevet of lieutenant-colonel, and that of colonel for the sortie from Fort Erie, in which he lost an arm. From 1815 to 1853 he was United States consul at London. He died Aug. 11, 1876.

ASTOR, JOHN JACOB, merchant, was born July 17, 1763, in Germany. His occupation was the purchase of furs from the Indian tribes and the shipment of them to Europe. The greatest venture of Mr. Astor was the founding of Astoria at the mouth of the Columbia river in 1809. He planted there a fort and a settlement, in person, won the friendship of the Indian tribes, and, during his four years of control, carried on a large trade. He also founded the Astor library of New York by his bequest of $400,000. At an early period it became necessary for Mr. Astor to employ ships of his own in exporting furs to Europe. The return of these vessels laden with merchandise led him into an extensive foreign trade. He gradually acquired a large fleet, and his ships ploughed every ocean of the globe and carried cargoes both to and from England, Germany, France, Russia, China and America, the cargoes usually being purchased and sold on Mr. Astor's account. He died March 29, 1848, in New York city.

ASTOR, JOHN JACOB, third of the name, soldier, capitalist, was born June 10, 1823, in New York city, and was a son of William B. Astor. At the outbreak of the civil war Mr. Astor enlisted as a volunteer, and served with credit on the staff of General McClellan. After the war he remained in business with his father. After his father's death in 1875, Mr. Astor increased his inheritance by continuing the purchase and improvement of real estate. At his death he was the largest owner of real estate in New York city, aside from the Trinity Church corporation. His estate was estimated variously between $75,000,000 and $100,000,000, the bulk of it going to his son, William Waldorf Astor, now the head of the family. He gave legacies of $400,000 to The Astor library, $100,000 each to St. Luke's and the Cancer hospitals, and other sums to kindred public objects. He died Feb. 22, 1890, in New York city.

ASTOR, JOHN JACOB, fourth of the name, capitalist, was born July 13, 1864, at Ferncliff, N. Y., and a son of William Astor. The influence of his name has been sought by financial institutions and he is a director in The National Park bank, The Title Guarantee and Trust Co., The Mercantile Trust Co., The Illinois Central railway, The Second National bank, and The Plaza bank. Already the possessor of many buildings in this city, Mr. Astor's civic pride, energy and business sagacity combined promise to place upon the island of Manhattan several splendid buildings during the long business career which is before him. Various plans are now in contemplation. He is fond of the study of science and philosophy, and he has written a book entitled A Journey in Other Worlds: A Romance of the Future, which was superbly illustrated.

ASTOR, WILLIAM, capitalist, was born July 12, 1829, in New York city, and a son of William B. Astor. In 1875 a visit to Florida awoke his interest in the vast undeveloped resources of that state; and it is believed that his enterprise, during the next ten years, accomplished more for Florida than that of any of his contemporaries. He built a railroad from St. Augustine to Palatka, constructed several modern blocks of buildings in Jacksonville, and led other men of means to join in the work of re-creating a new Florida in place of the old one. His services were so valuable that the state government voted him a grant of eighty thousand acres of land. He died April 25, 1892, in Paris, France.

ASTOR, WILLIAM BACKHOUSE, merchant, was born Sept. 19, 1792, in New York. Upon his father's death Mr. Astor became the sole heir of an immense estate. Thereafter he devoted himself to the preservation and growth of his property. He was a progressive man and one of the most active builders of his generation. It was said in 1867 that he had inherited and built seven hundred and twenty dwellings and stores in this city. He had also promoted important railroad and insurance enterprises. He added $250,000 to the endowment of the Astor library, and made a total of $550,000 in gifts to that institution. His estate was divided mainly and equally between his sons, John Jacob and William Astor. He died Nov. 24, 1875, in New York city.

ASTOR, WILLIAM WALDORF, millionaire, was born March 31, 1848, in New York city, N. Y. He was chiefly educated by private tutors at his home, and in Europe; and graduated from Columbia college law school in 1875. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1878; a state senator in 1880 and 1881; and was appointed envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Italy in 1882-85. He is the proprietor of the Pall Mall Gazette, of London, England; and the author of two books.

ATCHESON, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, was born Feb. 24, 1853, in Genesee county, N. Y. He received a thorough education, and is a graduate of the Chicago Theological seminary. He has attained success as a clergyman, and now fills a pastorate in Bloomer, Wis. He has contributed valuable articles to the religious press.

ATCHISON, DAVID R., lawyer, United States senator, was born Aug. 11, 1807, in Frogtown, Ky. He was educated for the bar; removed to Missouri in 1830; and was elected to the legislature of that state in 1834 and 1838. In 1841 he was appointed judge of the Platte county circuit court; and during the year 1843 was appointed a senator in congress, to which position he was subsequently elected for two successive terms, serving until 1855. He died in 1886.

ATHERTON, CHARLES GORDON, lawyer, United States senator, was born July 4, 1804, in Amherst, N. H. He graduated at Cambridge in 1822; studied law; and was for many years in the legislature of New Hampshire, and for three years speaker of the house. He was a representative in congress from 1837 to 1843; a United States senator in congress from 1843 to 1849; and in 1852 was elected a United States senator to fill a vacancy. He died Nov. 15, 1853, in Manchester, N. H.

ATHERTON, CHARLES HUMPHREY, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1773, in Amherst, N. H. He graduated at Harvard college in 1794; held the office of register of probate from 1798 to 1807; and was a representative in cougress from 1815 to 1817. He stood at the head of the bar in Hillsboro county for many years; and was a member of the state legislature in 1823, and again in 1838 and 1839. He died Jan. 8, 1853, in Amherst, N. Y.

ATHERTON, GEORGE W., soldier, college president, was born June 20, 1837, in Boxford, Mass. He graduated from Yale college in 1863, and was appointed first lieutenant of the tenth Connecticut volunteers, and remained in command of his company through the battles of Roanoke and Newbern. In 1882 he became president of the Pennsylvania State college at Harrisburg, Pa.

ATHERTON, GERTRUDE, author, was born Oct. 30, 1857, in San Francisco, Cal. She is a grand-niece of Benjamin Franklin, and the author of What Dreams May Come; Hermia Suydam; The Doomswoman; Before the Gringo Came; A Whirl Asunder; Patience Sparhawk and Her Times; His Fortunate Grace; and Valiant Runaways.

ATHERTON, GIBSON, lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 19, 1831, in Licking county, Ohio. He graduated at Miami university, Ohio, in 1853; studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1855; and engaged in practice at Newark, Ohio. He was prosecuting attorney from 1857 to 1863; was mayor from 1860 to 1864; was a delegate to the democratic national convention of 1876; and was elected a representative from Ohio to the forty-sixth and forty-seventh congresses.

ATHERTON, JOSHUA, lawyer, legislator, was born June 20, 1737, in Harvard, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard in 1762; studied law, and began practice in Petersham. Shortly afterward he removed to Litchfield, and in 1773, having been appointed register of probate in Hillsborough county, he settled in Amherst. He became a member of the convention appointed to consider the federal constitution, and opposed its adoption on account of the provisions concerning slaves and slavery. Subsequently he was elected to the New Hampshire legislature, and in 1793 he was made attorney-general of the state. He was also for a time commissioner for the United States direct tax. He died April 3, 1809, in Amherst, Mass.

ATKINS, JOHN D. C., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born June 4, 1825, in Henry county, Tenn. He graduated at the East Tennessee university in 1846; studied law; and was elected a member of the legislature in 1849 and in 1851. He was elected to the state senate in 1855; chosen a presidential elector in 1856; elected a representative in congress in 1857; and was a presidential elector in 1860. He was lieutenant-colonel of the fifth Tennessee regiment in the confederate army in 1861; was elected to the confederate provisional congress in August, 1861, and re-elected in 1863. He was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-third, forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, and forty-seventh congresses; and in 1885 was appointed commissioner of Indian affairs.

ATKINSON, ARCHIBALD, soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 13, 1792, in the Isle of Wight county, Va. Upon leaving the army he commenced the practice of law in Smithfield, and was a member of the general assembly from 1815 to 1817, and also of the house of delegates and state senate for several years. In 1843 he was elected a representative in congress from Virginia, and served until 1848; was a member of the committee on naval affairs and commerce; was prosecuting attorney for his county twenty years; mayor of Smithfield; and a magistrate. He died Jan. 10, 1872, in Isle of Wight, Va.

ATKINSON, BYRON A., business man, was born in 1854 in Sackville, N. B. He is the owner of the largest housefurnishing establishment in the United States in the city of New York.

ATKINSON, CLARENCE T., lawyer, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 23, 1863, in Columbus, N. J. He graduated from the Columbus seminary and from the Adelphic institute of Bordentown, N. J. He received the nomination as a member of the New Jersey legislature in 1886, and ran ahead of his ticket, but failed to carry enough votes to secure election. He has participated in three presidential campaigns, and earned a reputation as an able and eloquent orator. Since 1886 he has steadily refused to accept any public office. He is an astute and prominent lawyer of Camden, N. J., and a member of the law firm of Gilbert and Atkinson. As a lecturer he is well known throughout the east, aud has contributed numerous articles to law literature and the periodical press; and many of his productions have been incorporated into standard publications.

ATKINSON, EDWARD, author, was born Feb. 10, 1827, in Brookline, Mass. He is a Boston reformer, active in matters of diet and political economy; and the author of The Distribution of Products; Labor and Capital; Industrial Progress of the Nation; The Science of Nutrition; Margin of Profits; and Taxation and Work.

ATKINSON, GEORGE H., missionary, was born May 10, 1819, in Newburyport, Mass. In 1872 Dr. Atkinson became general missionary for Oregon, and in 1880 superintendent of home missions for Oregon and Washington. He died Feb. 25, 1889, in Portland, Ore.

ATKINSON, GEORGE W., lawyer, author, governor, was born June 29, 1845, in Virginia. In 1870 he graduated from the Ohio Wesleyan university; took a post-graduate course at Mount Vernon college; studied law two years; attended lectures at Columbian university; graduated from the law department of Howard university; and was admitted to the bar in 1875. He has been eminently successful as a lawyer; was four years United States marshal for West Virginia; was elected to the fifty-first congress from Virginia as the representative of the Wheeling district; and in 1896 was elected to the high office of governor of West Virginia. In conjunction with Alvaro F. Gibbons, he is the author of Prominent Men of West Virginia; a Volume of Poems; and a half-dozen other works.

ATKINSON, HENRY, soldier, was born in South Carolina. He entered the army as captain in 1808. He was retained in the army after the war of 1812; was made adjutant-general, and was finally appointed to the command of the western army. He died in June, 1842, in Jefferson barracks.

ATKINSON, HENRY MORRELL, soldier, lawyer, public official, was born Sept. 9, 1838, in Wheeling, W. Va. He removed to Ohio in 1846, with his parents; was educated chiefly at the Denverson university, Ohio, and in Connecticut; removed to Nebraska in 1857, and engaged in the land agency business; studied law and came to the bar in 1861. He served as adjutant of cavalry, and in 1864 became provost-marshal for southern Nebraska. From 1867 to 1871 was register of the land office in Nebraska; subsequently turned his attention to the law and railroad building; in 1873 was appointed a special commissioner to Mexico; and in 1875 was appointed commissioner of pensions in Washington.

ATKINSON, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 6, 1835, in Deerfield, N. J. He is a clergyman of prominence in the methodist church; and the author of The Living Way; Memorials of Methodism in New Jersey; The Garden of Sorrows; The Class Leader; and Centennial History of American Methodism.

ATKINSON, JOHN M. P., educator, college president, was born Jan. 10, 1817, in Mansfield, Va. In 1857-83 he was elected president of the Hampden Sidney college. He died in 1883.

ATKINSON, LOUIS E., physician, lawyer, congressman, was born April 16, 1841, in Juniata county, Pa. He was educated in the common schools and at Airy View and Milnwood academies; studied medicine, and graduated at the medical department of the University of the City of New York, March 4, 1861. He entered the medical department, United States army, Sept. 5, 1861; served as assistant surgeon of the first Pennsylvania reserve cavalry, and surgeon of the one hundred and eighty-eighth Pennsylvania infantry, and was mustered out in December, 1865; was disabled while in the army, and, being unable to practice medicine, studied law; was admitted to the bar in September, 1870, and has practiced law since that time. He was elected to the forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, fifty-first, and fifty-second congresses.

ATKINSON, THEODORE, soldier, jurist, was born Dec. 20, 1697, in New Castle, N. H. He graduated at Harvard university in 1718; was secretary of the colony in 1741; chief justice in 1754, and major-general of militia in 1769, but the revolution deprived him of all these offices. He was a delegate to the congress at Albany in 1754, and was one of the committee that drew up the plan of Union for the defense of the colonies. He was for many years in the legislature and council; also held the office of clerk of the court of common pleas; was colonel of militia, and in active service during the French and Indian wars. He died Sept. 22, 1779.

ATKINSON, THOMAS, bishop, was born Aug. 6, 1807, in Mansfield, Va. He was elected bishop of North Carolina in 1853. He attended the general convention of the episcopal church in 1865, and did much to hasten the reunion of the northern and southern dioceses. He died Jan. 4, 1881, in Wilmington, N. C.

ATKINSON, WILLIAM BIDDLE, physician, author, was born June 21, 1832, in Haverford, Delaware county, Pa. He was educated in Philadelphia, and graduated from the Central high school; and in 1853 graduated from the Jefferson Medical college. He has written many articles for medical journals on subjects in general practice and the diseases of children. He is author of The Physician and Surgeons of the United States; Hints in the Obstetric Procedure; Therapeutics of Gynæcology and Obstetric; and various other works. Dr. Atkinson has been the permanent secretary of the American Medical association since 1864, and of the State Medical society of Pennsylvania since 1862. He was lecturer on Diseases of Children at the Jefferson Medical college during 1877-86; professor of sanitary science and pediatrics in the Medico-Chirurgical college of Philadelphia during 1888-91. During the civil war he was assistant surgeon of United States volunteers. He is also the associate editor of the Medical and Surgical Reporter of Philadelphia; and contributes extensively to medical journals.

ATKINSON, WILLIAM ELRIE, lawyer, was born July 24, 1852, in Shelby county, Ala. He has attained success as a noted lawyer; in 1885 was a delegate to the congressional convention, and was one of the leading spirits in founding the Ouachita Baptist college at Arkadelphia.

ATKINSON, WILLIAM PARSONS, educator, author, was born in 1820 in Massachusetts, and was a brother of E. Atkinson. He was a professor of history at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology; and the author of The Right Use of Books; History and the Study of History; and Classical and Scientific Studies. He died in 1890.

ATLEE, JOHN LIGHT, was born Nov. 2, 1799, in Pennsylvania. Dr. Atlee's operation for double ovariotomy in 1843 was the first in the history of medicine. He was one of the founders of the Lancaster City and County Medical society in 1843, and twice served as its president. He assisted in organizing the Pennsylvania Medical society in 1848, and became its president in 1857, and was also one of the organizers of the American Medical association in Philadelphia, and was elected vice-president in 1865, and president in 1882. At the union of Franklin and Marshall colleges, in 1853, he became professor of anatomy and physiology, and continued there until 1869. He died Oct. 1, 1885, in Pennsylvania.

ATLEE, SAMUEL JOHN, soldier, statesman, was born in 1738. He commanded a Pennsylvania company in the French war; and in 1776 commanded an advanced battalion on Long Island; was made prisoner and remained some time in the hands of the British. He was afterward a commissioner to treat with the Indians; was a delegate to the continental congress from 1778 to 1782, and one of the committee on the meeting of Pennsylvania troops in 1781. He died November, 1786, in Philadelphia, Pa.

ATLEE, WASHINGTON LEMUEL, surgeon, author, was born Feb. 22, 1808, in Lancaster, Pa. He was a noted surgeon of Philadelphia, and the author of Ovarian Tumors and Ovariotomy. He died Sept. 6, 1878.

ATTWOOD, JULIUS, banker, was born Feb. 23, 1824, in East Haddam, Conn. In 1859 he was elected judge of the probate court; from 1873-74 was a member of the general assembly of Connecticut; and in 1883 was elected president of the National bank of New England.

ATWATER, AMZI, pioneer, was born May 23, 1776, in New Haven, Conn. He settled in Mantua, Ohio, in 1800; and on the organization of Portage county was elected one of the county judges. He died June 22, 1851.

ATWATER, CALEB, lawyer, legislator, author, was born Dec. 25, 1778, in North Adams, Mass. He was graduated at Williams college in 1804; studied law, and became a successful practitioner. He moved to Ohio in 1811, where for some years he was a member of the state legislature and postmaster of Circleville. He was also Indian commissioner under Jackson. He published A Tour to Prairie du Chien; Western Antiquities: Writings of Caleb Atwater; History of Ohio; and an Essay on Education. He died March 13, 1867, in Circleville, Ohio.

ATWATER, FRANCIS, author, journalist and publisher, was born in Plymouth, Conn. He learned the printing trade early in life, and in 1886 established and became president of the Journal Publishing company, of Meriden, Conn., proprietor of the Meriden Daily News, and Connecticut School Journal. He is the author of the Histories of Plymouth, Conn., and Kent, Conn.

ATWATER, HORACE COWLES, clergyman, author, was born in 1819 in New York. He was a clergyman of the methodist church, south, and published Incidents of a Southern Tour. He died in 1879.

ATWATER, JOHN W., farmer, state senator, was born Dec. 27, 1840. He served in the first North Carolina regiment throughout the war, surrendering with Lee at Appomattox. When the Farmers' Alliance was organized in Chatham county, N. C., he served as president two terms, and afterward for two terms as president of the sub-alliance. Has represented his people for three terms in the state senate.

ATWATER, LYMAN HOTCHKISS, educator, author, was born Feb. 20, 1813, in New Haven, Conn. He was a professor of philosophy at Princeton college, and long a noted contributor to the Princetou Review; and the author of A Manual of Elementary Logic. He died Feb. 17, 1883, in Princeton, N. J.

ATWATER, WILBUR OLIN, educator, author, was born May 3, 1844, in Johnsburg, N. Y. He has been professor of chemistry at Wesleyan university since 1873. He has written extensively upon agricultural chemistry, and published Co-operative Experimenting as a Means of Studying the Effect of Fertilizers; and Results of Field Experiments with Various Fertilizers.

ATWELL, WILLIAM HAWLEY, lawyer, orator, was born June 9, 1869, in La Crosse, Wis. He attended the Dallas public schools, Texas; the Southwestern university, and the State university. In 1889 he was assistant attorney of Dallas county; in 1894 was nominee for attorney-general of Texas. He has been secretary of the State Republican league; of the National Committeemen league in 1896; and is a prominent member in various societies. He is one of the finest speakers in the south, his oratory being strong, sparkling and convincing.

ATWILL, EDWARD ROBERT, clergyman, bishop, was born Feb. 18, 1840, in Red Hook, N. Y. He received his education at the Hudson Classical institute; graduated from Columbia college in 1862; and was ordained in 1864, and consecrated a bishop in 1890. He was rector of St. Paul's church of Burlington, Vt.; and in 1882 became rector of the Trinity church of Toledo, Ohio. Since 1890 he has been bishop of west Missouri, residing in Kansas City. He has contributed valuable articles to church literature and the secular press.

ATWOOD, ANTHONY, clergyman, author, was born in 1801 in New Jersey. He was a methodist clergyman, whose only published work is The Abiding Comforter. He died in 1888.

ATWOOD, ETHEL, musician, was born Sept. 12, 1870, in Fairfield, Maine. She has attained success in orchestral work in Boston, Mass. She organized the Fadette Ladies' orchestra, which now has thirteen regular members in the orchestra, which is in constant demand.

ATWOOD, HARRISON HENRY, architect, congressman, was born Aug. 26, 1863, in North Londonderry, Vt. He attended the public schools, graduating in 1877; studied architecture and began practice in 1886; has erected many buildings in and about Boston. He was elected to the Massachusetts house of representatives in 1887-89; was elected twice as delegate to republican national conventions, 1888 and 1892; was elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

ATWOOD, ISAAC MORGAN, clergyman, author, was born March 24, 1838, in Pembroke, N. Y. He was educated at Lockport, N. Y.; entered the universalist ministry in 1859, and was pastor of churches in New York, Maine, and Massachusetts. Since 1879 he has been president of Canton Theological seminary, St. Lawrence university, where he is also professor of theology and ethics. The degree of A. M. was conferred on him by St. Lawrence university in 1872, and that of D. D. by Tufts in 1879. He was editor of the Boston Universalist in 1867-72, and of the Christian Leader in 1873-75; and has been associate editor of the latter journal since 1875. He is the author of Have We Outgrown Christianity; Glance at the Religious Progress of the United States; Latest Word of Universalism; Walks About Zion; and Manual of Revelation.

ATWOOD, WILLIAM A., merchant, state senator, was born April 11, 1835, in Newfane, N. Y. For the past ten years he has been director and vice-president of the Genesee County Savings bank, and in 1881 he was elected mayor of Flint, Mich. He was elected to the Michigan state senate in 1887.

AUBRY, LEANDER J., manufacturer, was born May 1, 1848, in Canada. He is a successful carriage manufacturer of New Haven, Conn.; and manufactures carriages for the best makers in the United States; carries the leading styles of both light and heavy work, and makes special and exclusive designs.

AUDENRIED, JOSEPH C., soldier, was born Nov. 6, 1839, in Pottsville, Pa. He served through the civil war and was brevetted captain in 1866; lieutenant-colonel, aide-de-camp, in 1866; and colonel aide-de-camp, in 1869. He remained on Gen. Sherman's staff until his death. He died June 3, 1880, in Washington, D. C.

AUDSLEY, GEORGE ASHDOWN, architect, author, was born in 1838 in Scotland. He is a Scottish architect and art writer of note of Plainfield, N. J. With his brother, William James Audsley, he has published Colour in Dress; a Manual for Ladies; Floral Decoration of Churches; Cottage, Lodge, and Village Architecture; Outlines of Ornament in the Leading Styles; Popular Dictionary of Architecture and the Allied Arts, in ten volumes; Polychromatic Decoration as Applied to Buildings in the Mediæval Styles; and (with James Lord Bowes) The Keramic Art of Japan. His separate works include Guide to the Art of Illuminating and Missal Painting; Handbook of Christian Symbolism; The Art of Chromo-Lithography; Notes on Japanese Art; and The Ornamental Arts of Japan.

AUDUBON, JOHN JAMES, naturalist, author, was born May 4, 1780, near New Orleans, La. His admirable work, The Birds of America, now in the Astor library, sold for $1,000 a copy, and was pronounced by Cuvier to be the most magnificent monument that art ever raised to ornithology. His other works are Ornithological Biography; and Quadrupeds of America. He died Jan. 27, 1851, in New York city.

AUGHEY, JOHN H., educator, clergyman, college president, was born May 8, 1828, in New Hartford, N. Y. He graduated from the Franklin college, Ohio, and for nearly half a century has been a minister of the gospel. For many years he was principal of the high school of Winchester, Ky.; has served as president of the Female college, Miss.; and is now pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Mulhall, O. T. He is the author of two works entitled Tupeh, and Spiritual Gems.

AUGUR, CHRISTOPHER COLON, soldier, was born in 1821 in New York. In 1843 he graduated from West Point; and during the next two years served on frontier duty. In 1846 he took part in the Mexican war in the advance to the Rio Grande. In 1852 he was promoted captain; and served with great ability in the Indian troubles in Oregon during 1855-56. He served with distinction through the civil war; and in 1865 received the brevet of brigadier-general; and also the brevet of major-general. He commanded at Washington during 1863-66, and was promoted colonel of the twelfth infantry. In 1869 he was made brigadier-general of the United States army; and was retired in 1885. His son, Jacob Arnold Augur, is also a graduate of West Point, and a captain in the fifth United States cavalry.

AUGUR, HEZEKIAH, sculptor, was born Feb. 12, 1791, in New Haven, Conn. He was unsuccessful in business, and turned his attention to sculpture and mechanical inventions. His best work, Jeptha and His Daughter, is in the Trumbull gallery, Yale college. His most important invention was a machine for carving wood, which came into general use. He died Jan. 10, 1858, in New Haven, Conn.

AUGUSTIN, JOHN, soldier, author, was born Feb. 11, 1838, in New Orleans, La. His volume, War Flowers, is a collection of poems that were written by him during his service in the confederate army. He held at different times the city editorship of nearly every newspaper of New Orleans. He died Feb. 5, 1888.

AUGUSTINE, OGDEN W., musician, composer, was born in 1841 in Franklin county, Ohio. He was educated under private teachers. He is teacher of voice culture and music in the public schools; and the author of a considerable number of Sunday school singing books and works for classes and musical conventions.

AUGUSTUS, JOHN, philanthropist, was born in 1785. He was a shoemaker, doing business in Boston, and devoted his means and his labors to aiding and reclaiming the poor and the vicious. For more than twenty years he was a constant visitor to the police courts, seeking subjects for his charitable efforts. He died June 21, 1859, in Boston, Mass.

AUHL, MRS. ALICE B., florist, poet. Her poems are generally on floral subjects, and have appeared extensively in the press of Iowa. She is also the author of a work on the subject of Flowers.

AULD, ISAAC N., lawyer, journalist, was born March 20, 1858, in Benton county, Iowa. He graduated from the Tillford Collegiate academy of Vinton, Iowa. In 1882 he moved to Plankinton, S. D., where he was city auditor for three terms. In 1892 he moved to Oacoma, and there established the Gazette-Leader, of which he is editor and owner. He was twice elected register of deeds; and then became state's attorney for the district comprising five adjoining counties.

AULICK, JOHN H., naval officer, was born in 1789, in Winchester, Va. In 1851 he was empowered to obtain permission to purchase supplies for the United States steamers in Japan, and to negotiate a treaty of amity and commerce with that empire; and commenced the important work which was completed by Commodore M. C. Perry. He died April 27, 1873, in Washington, D. C.

AULL, ELBERT H., lawyer, journalist, author, was born Aug. 18, 1857, in Newberry county, S. C. In 1880 he graduated from the Newberry college. He taught school after graduation, and for two years was professor in the Newberry college. In 1882 he was admitted to the bar, and for three years practiced that profession with success. In 1886 he became the editor and owner of the Newberry Herald News. He was president of the South Carolina Press association for three years; and is the author of several historical works; a School History of South Carolina; and other works.

AULT, JOHN S., soldier, lawyer, was born Jan. 3, 1841, in New Philadelphia, Mo. He received his education in the public schools of Illinois; and graduated from the Colonel Wing Law school of Salem, Mo. He has been a lieutenant of cavalry, justice of the peace, mayor of Salem, Mo.; besides filling numerous other offices of trust. He has attained success as an able lawyer of his state.

AULTMAN, CORNELIUS, manufacturer, was born March 10, 1827. In 1851 he entered into partnership with Ephraim Ball, an ingenious inventor, in the firm of Ball, Aultman and Co., and engaged in the manufacture of the plows and stoves patented by Mr. Ball. Being a man of marked executive ability, Mr. Aultman devoted his attention to the general affairs of the firm, while Mr. Ball continued to invent new devices, which the firm took charge of and manufactured. The Ohio mower, the World mower and reaper, the Buckeye mower, and the New American harvester were brought out successively, and were manufactured in enormous quantities. After 1872 the style was changed to C. Aultman and Co. Having accumulated more means than could be employed to advantage in his own business, Mr. Aultman invested his surplus resources in various industrial concerns, including the Wrought Iron Bridge company, the Mansfield Mower and Reaper works, and Aultman, Miller and Co., of Akron, Ohio. He died Dec. 25, 1884, in Canton, Ohio.

AURINGER, OBADIAH CYRUS, clergyman, author, was born June 4, 1849, in Glens Falls, N. Y. He is a presbyterian clergyman of New York state, whose writings in verse include Scythe and Sword; The Heart of the Golden Roan; The Episode of Jane McCrea; and The Book of the Hills.

AUSTEN, PETER TOWNSEND, educator, author, was born Sept. 10, 1852, in Clifton, N. Y. He has been professor of chemistry at Rutgers college since 1877; and has contributed much to scientific journals, and published Chemical Lecture Notes; and Organic Chemistry, from the German of Pinner.

AUSTILL, HURIEOSCO, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 16, 1843, in Mobile, Ala., which has always been his place of residence. He graduated from the university of Alabama, and soon attained success as an eminent lawyer. During the war he served as a captain in the confederate army. He has been a member of the Alabama state senate, and served with distinction in that body.

AUSTIN, ARCHIBALD, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1817 to 1819.

AUSTIN, ARTHUR E., business man, legislator, was born July 23, 1868, in Providence, R. I. He was educated in the public schools of said city; has been for the past two years a member of the town council, and representative since 1896; and in 1897 was elected a member of the Rhode Island state legislature.

AUSTIN, ARTHUR WILLIAMS, lawyer, author, was born in 1807, in Massachusetts. He was a lawyer of Boston; and the author of The Woman and the Queen; and Other Specimens of Verse. He died in 1884.

AUSTIN, BENJAMIN, merchant, author, was born Nov. 18, 1752, in Boston, Mass. He was a Boston merchant, active as a political writer, and an especially violent champion of democracy. Constitutional Republicanism is a collection of some of his contributions to the newspapers of his day. He died May 4, 1820, in Boston, Mass.

AUSTIN, COE FINCH, botanist, author, was born June 20, 1831, in Finchville, N. Y. He was a botanist of Closter, N. Y.; and published Musci Appalachani, a description of American mosses. He died March 18, 1880, in Closter, N. Y.

AUSTIN, DAVID, clergyman, author, was born in 1760 in New Haven, Conn. He was graduated at Yale college in 1779; and in 1788 was settled as the presbyterian minister in Elizabethtown, N. J. He published The American Preacher, by various ministers; The Downfall of Babylon; a Commentary on the Bible; and several millennial pamphlets and sermons. He died Feb. 5, 1831, in Norwich, Conn.

AUSTIN, FREDERICK ELLSWORTH, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 6, 1865, in Taunton, Mass. He served in the city council of Taunton, Mass., where he has attained prominence as a political leader. In 1894 he was elected as a member of the Massachusetts state legislature.

AUSTIN, GEORGE CURTIS, lawyer, legislator, was born July 19, 1863, in Saluria, Pa. He is engaged in the practice of law in New York city, and was until recently instructor in the law contracts at the New York Law school. He was elected a member of the New York assembly in 1895.

AUSTIN, GEORGE LOWELL, physician, author, was born in 1849 in Massachusetts. He was a Boston physician whose miscellaneous writings include Perils of American Women, a Doctor's Talk with Maiden, Wife, and Mother; Water Analysis, a Handbook for Water-Drinkers; Under the Tide; Life of Franz Schubert; Popular History of Massachusetts; Life and Deeds of General Grant; Longfellow; and Life of Wendell Phillips. He died in 1893.

AUSTIN, HARRIET BUNKER, author, poet, was born Dec. 29, 1844, in Erie, Pa. Her great-grandfather, Benjamin Bunker, was a soldier of the revolution, and was killed in the battle of Bunker Hill. The hill from which the battle was named comprised part of the Bunker estate. She received her education in the Woodstock High school and Dr. Todd's Female seminary. She has been a prolific writer; and many of her poems have been set to music. She is the wife of Mr. W. B. Austin, a prosperous merchant of Woodstock, Ill., in which city she lends her influence to every reform.

AUSTIN, HELEN VICKROY, journalist, horticulturist, was born in 1829, in Miamisburg, Ohio. As a writer of sketches and essays, and as a reporter and correspondent she has exhibited marked capacity; but she is best known by her writings for the agricultural and horticultural press.

AUSTIN, HENRY, lawyer, author, was born in 1856 in Massachusetts. He is a lawyer of Boston, who has written The Law Concerning Farms; American Farm and Game Laws; American Fish and Game Laws; and Liquor Law in New England.

AUSTIN, HENRY WILLARD, journalist, poet, was born in 1858. He is a journalist of Boston, and the author of Vagabond Verses.

AUSTIN, HORACE, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor of Minnesota, was born in 1831 in Connecticut. He received an academic education; taught school; removed to Maine, and there studied law. In 1856 he removed to Minnesota, where he practiced his profession. He served as a captain against the Indians in 1863; in 1864 was elected a district judge; in 1869 was elected governor of Minnesota, and re-elected for a second term. On account of his health he retired to private life until 1876, when he was appointed third auditor of the United States treasury in Washington.

AUSTIN, JAMES TRECOTHICK, lawyer, author, was born Jan. 7, 1784, in Boston, Mass. He was a prominent lawyer of Boston, and published a Life of Elbridge Gerry. He died May 8, 1870, in Boston, Mass.

AUSTIN, JANE GOODWIN, novelist, was born Feb. 25, 1831, in Worcester, Mass. She was the author of Standish of Standish; Betty Alden; The Nameless Nobleman; Dr. LeBaron and His Daughters; and various other works. She was also the author of numerous meritorious poems; and her contributions to the literature of early New England possess a rare value. She died March 30, 1894, in Boston, Mass.

AUSTIN, JONATHAN LORING, patriot, was born Jan. 2, 1748, in Boston, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard college in 1766, and became a merchant in Portsmouth, N. H. He was secretary to the Massachusetts board of war until October, 1777, and was sent to France with dispatches to Dr. Franklin announcing the defeat of Burgoyne and asking for clothing and stores for the army. He was a state senator for several terms, and elected state treasurer, and subsequently secretary of state. He died May 10, 1826, in Boston, Mass.

AUSTIN, JONATHAN WILLIAMS, soldier, was born April 18, 1751, in Boston, Mass. He was graduated at Harvard in 1769; studied law in the office of John Adams, and admitted to the bar in 1772. In the Middlesex convention in 1774 he was chairman of the committee that drew up the resolutions. He served as a major in the revolutionary war, and was commandant at Castle William in 1776. He died in 1778 in the south.

AUSTIN, MOSES, Texan pioneer, was born in Durham, Conn. He removed to the west in 1798, and engaged in lead mining. In 1820 he went to Texas, and from Bexar forwarded to the Mexican commandant at Monterey a petition for permission to colonize three hundred American families in that section. Returning to Missouri in search of emigrants, he was robbed and exposed to hardships that caused his death. The Mexican authorities granted a tract of land for a colony, and his son, Stephen F. Austin, founded the settlement. He died June 10, 1821, in Louisiana.

AUSTIN, SAMUEL, clergyman, college president, author, was born Oct. 7, 1760, in New Haven, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman of Worcester, Mass, 1790-1815, and afterwards president of the University of Vermont. He was the author of Views of the Church; Theological Essays; and Letters on Baptism. He died Dec. 4, 1830, in Glastonbury, Conn.

AUSTIN, STEPHEN F., founder of the state of Texas, was born about 1790. In 1821 he conducted a party of emigrants from New Orleans to take possession of a tract of land granted to his father by the Mexican government, and they settled where the city of Austin now stands. In 1833 the Texas colonists formed a constitution, and applied for admission to the Mexican confederacy, but Mexico being in a state of anarchy, he failed to find recognition. In 1835 he went as commissioner to the United States to promote the liberation of Texas from Mexico, but did not live to see it admitted into the Union. He died Dec. 27, 1836, in Texas.

AUSTIN, WILLIAM, lawyer, author, was born March 2, 1778, in Charlestown, Mass. He was a Boston lawyer whose best claim to remembrance is that he was author of the famous sketch Peter Rugg, the Missing Man, which appeared in the New England Galaxy in 1824. It is a very remarkable imaginative study that in some respects anticipates the later work of Hawthorne. Other works of his are Letters from London; and The Human Character of Jesus Christ. He died June 27, 1841, in Charlestown, Mass.

AUSTIN, WILLIAM HARVEY, lawyer, state senator, was born Oct. 22, 1859, in Binghamton, N. Y. He came to Wisconsin in the spring of 1869 and settled at Portage City; moved to Milwaukee in 1871, where he has practiced law since 1879. In 1880 and 1881 he was assistant district attorney for Milwaukee county; was school commissioner in 1889; and was appointed assistant city attorney of the city of Milwaukee in 1890; and was city attorney in 1891. In the fall of 1892 he was elected to the Wisconsin state assembly upon the republican ticket from the fifteenth and sixteenth wards; he was the unanimous choice of his party for speaker during the session of 1893. In the fall of 1894 he was elected state senator.

AUSTRIAN, JOSEPH, merchant, was born Sept. 15, 1833, in Bavaria. About 1882 the interests were consolidated under the name of the Lake Michigan and Lake Superior Transportation company, Mr. Austrian being elected the general manager, which office he yet holds. The company now operates six excellent steamers. The magnificent Manitou, the finest steel passenger steamer on the lakes, was added to the fleet in 1893. Mr. Austrian has an interest in the Mastodon Iron company, near Crystal Falls, Mich., of which he has always been secretary and treasurer.

AVANN, ELLA H. BROCKWAY, educator, was born May 20, 1853, in Newaygo, Mich. In 1871 she graduated from the Albion college of Michigan; and subsequently became preceptress of that institution. She filled the chair of English literature and also lectured on the history of music. For ten years she was president of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society; makes frequent contributions to the religious press; and holds official positions in various literary, social and benevolent societies.

AVER, HENRY OGDEN, architect, was born Jan. 31, 1852, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He designed monuments and mortuary chapels, as well as houses of very notable excellence. He died April 30, 1890, in New York city.

AVERELL, WILLIAM WOODS, soldier, was born Nov. 5, 1832, in Cameron, N. Y. He was engaged with the army of the Potomac in its most important campaigns. In March, 1863, he began the series of cavalry raids in western Virginia that made his name famous. He started with a force of 5,000 meu and drove the confederates out of Greenbrier county, capturing three guns and about one hundred prisoners. In December he was again in motion, advancing with a strong force into southwestern Virginia. In Dec. 16 he struck the Virginia and Tennessee railroad at Salem, Gen. Longstreet's base of supplies. He destroyed the railroad, severing an important line of communication between the confederate generals Lee and Bragg, and burned a large quantity of provisions, clothing, and military equipments.

AVERETT, THOMAS H., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a resident of Halifax county; and was elected a representative in congress from the third district iu that state, from 1849 to 1853.

AVERILL, JOHN T., manufacturer, general, state senator, congressman, was born March 1, 1825, in Alna, Maine. He completed his studies at the Maine Wesleyan university; was a manufacturer; and was elected to the state senate of Minnesota in 1858-59. He entered the union army in 1862 as lieutenant-colonel of the sixth Minnesota infantry, and was mustered out in 1865, as brigadier-general of volunteers. He was elected to the forty-second and forty-third cougresses.

AVERY, ALEXANDER R., lawyer, was born Nov. 14, 1846, in Canada. He began the practice of law at Port Huron, Mich.; and was appointed city attorney in 1876; was prosecuting attorney in 1884-87; and in 1891 he was appointed postmaster; and in 1881 was elected great commander of the order of the Knights of Maccabees.

AVERY, ALIDA CORNELIA, physician, was born June 11, 1833, in Sherburne, N. Y. She taught in sundry schools in New York state; was resident physiciau and professor of physiology and hygiene in Vassar college from 1865-74; and president of the Colorado State Suffrage association in 1876-77.

AVERY, ALPHONSO CALHOUN, soldier, lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 11, 1837, in Morganton, N. C. He entered the army in 1861, and was commissioned first lieutenant; in 1862 was elected captain; and the same year was appointed major and assistant adjutant-general. At the close of the war he resumed the practice of law, and in 1888 he was nominated associate justice of the supreme court of North Carolina for a term of eight years.

AVERY, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, manufacturer, was born Dec. 3, 1801, in Aurora, N. Y. The principal products of his industry were cotton sweeps, and chilled, wheel gang, shovel, steel, subsoil and sulky plows. The old firm are now incorporated with a capital of $1,500,000, the stock being owned almost wholly by the Avery family. The founder was a man of great force of character and business genius and became one of the most highly regarded citizens of Louisville, Ky.

AVERY, BENJAMIN PARKE, journalist, author, was born in 1829, in New York city. He was a Californian journalist who was appointed minister to China in 1874; and was the author of Californian Pictures in Prose and Verse. He was one of the founders of the San Francisco Art association. He died on Nov. 8, 1875, in Pekin, China.

AVERY, CATHARINE HITCHCOCK TILDEN, educator, author, was born Dec. 13, 1844, in Monroe, Mich. In 1867 she graduated from the Framingham Normal school of Massachusetts; and attained success in educational work. In 1870 she was married to Dr. Leroy M. Avery, the author of a series of textbooks on natural philosophy and chemistry. She is president of the East End Conversational club of Cleveland, Ohio; and has held high positions in various organizations of that city.

AVERY, DANIEL, congressman, was elected a representative from Cayuga county in congress from New York from 1811 to 1815; and again from 1816 to 1817.

AVERY, ELROY McKENDREE, Ph. D., LL. D., soldier, journalist, legislator, author, was born July 14, 1844, in Erie, Mich. He served with distinction through the civil war; enlisted in the first company that went from Monroe to the front, and was promoted to sergeant-major. During his military service he also acted as correspondent of the Detroit Daily Tribune. In 1871 he graduated from the university of Michigan; and during his collegiate course was engaged in journalistic work. Early in life he taught school, and in 1871 became superintendent of public schools of East Cleveland, Ohio; then principal of the East High school, and subsequently of the Normal school. In 1893 he was elected a member of the Ohio state legislature, and received the re-election in 1895. He is the author of Avery's Elements of Physics; Avery's Elements of Natural Philosophy; School Physics; Elementary Physics; and First Lessons in Physical Science. For the past ten years he has given most of his time to the preparation of a Popular History of the United States, soon to be published in eight octavo volumes, with maps and illustrations.

AVERY, ISAAC WHEELER, lawyer, journalist, author, was born May 2, 1837, in St. Augustine, Fla. He held a successful law practice in Dalton, Ga., but in 1869 removed to Atlanta and became the chief editor of the Atlanta Constitution. He is the author of Digest of the Georgia Supreme Court Reports; and a History of Georgia.

AVERY, JOHN, physiciau, surgeon, congressman, was born Feb. 29, 1824, in Watertown, N. Y. He removed to Michigan in 1836; graduated from Cleveland Medical college in 1850, and has been in the active practice of his profession since that time. He was assistant surgeon and surgeon of the twenty-first Michigan infantry; served in the army of the Cumberland in Kentucky and Tennessee, and was with Sherman on his march to the sea. He was member of the state legislature from Montcalm county in 1869-70; was appointed member of the state board of health in 1880 and reappointed in 1886, and for the last six years has been president of the board. He has been a United States pension examiner for the last sixteen years, member of the Stauton board of United States examiners for six years, and president of the board for the last three years; has been member of the school board and common council of the city of Greenville; and has been annually elected for twelve years supervisor of the first ward. He was elected to the fifty-third and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congress as a republican.

AVERY, OMER H., lawyer, legislator, was born April 3, 1854, in Lincoln county, Mo. He was educated in the public schools and at the state university; elected public administrator of Lincoln county in 1880, and prosecuting attorney in 1888; and was a member of the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth general assembly of the Missouri state legislature.

AVERY, OSCAR F., soldier, legislator, was born Nov. 19, 1841, in Hillsdale county, Mich., and entered Hillsdale college in 1860. In 1861 he left school and enlisted in the eleventh Michigan infantry, company B, and served until November, 1865, when he was mustered out. He participated in the battles of Stone River and Chickamauga. He has served with distinction as a member of the Illinois state legislature.

AVERY, RACHEL FOSTER, woman suffragist, was born Dec. 30, 1858, in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1871 she became identified with the Citizens' Suffrage association of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1881 she planned the series of ten conventions to be held in the different New England states; in 1882 she conducted the Nebraska amendment campaign; and in 1883 went to Europe with Susan B. Anthony and traveled through nearly all the European countries in the interests of woman suffrage. She is at the head of almost every movement of the National Woman Suffrage association; and contributes extensively to current literature.

AVERY, ROSA MILLER, reformer, was born May 21, 1830, in Madison, Ohio. During the years of the war her pen was actively engaged in writing for various journals on the subject of union and emancipation. For nearly twenty years she has resided in Chicago, and many of her ably-written articles and responses to the opponents of franchise for women have appeared from time to time in the Chicago Inter Ocean.

AVERY, SAMUEL P., artist, was born March 17, 1822, in New York city. He founded the Avery Architectural library at Columbia college, New York city; and is the author of au article entitled Progress of the Fine Arts in New York During Fifty Years.

AVERY, WAITSTILL, lawyer, patriot, was born May 3, 1745, in Groton, Conn. In 1775, he was a delegate to the congress at Hillsborough which organized the military force of the state. In the summer of 1776, he joined the army of Gen. Rutherford in the Cherokee nation, and was a commissioner at the treaty of Holston, which gave peace to the western frontier. In the fall of 1776, he was again a member of the state congress. In 1781 he moved to Burke county, which he represented many years in the state legislature. He was the first state attorney-general of North Carolina in 1777. He died March 15, 1821, in Burke county, N. C.

AVERY, WILLIAM T., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 11, 1819, in Maury county, Tenn. He was a lawyer by profession; was elected to the legislature of Tennessee in 1843; and held several creditable positions in his native state. He was chosen a representative to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses.

AVERY, WILLIAM W., lawyer, state senator, was born May 25, 1816, in Suan Ponds, N. C. He was speaker of the North Carolina senate in 1856; and was again elected in 1860. In 1861 he was elected by the convention as one of the members from the state at large of the provisional congress of the confederate states. He died July 3, 1864, in Morgantown, N. C.

AX, CHRISTIAN, manufacturer, was born Nov. 12, 1823, in Prussia. Coming to America in 1851 he was employed as a traveling salesman by George W. Gail, manufacturer of smoking tobacco, to whom he proved so valuable an aid that, in 1855, Mr. Gail admitted him to partnership. The firm of G. W. Gail and Ax developed during the life of Mr. Ax one of the largest manufacturing plants of its class in the country. It is now identified with The American Tobacco Co. He died March 20, 1887.

AXTELL, JOHN T., physician, surgeon, was born Aug. 11, 1856, in Roseville, Ill. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools of Kansas; in 1879-80 attended the university of Michigan; and in 1883 graduated from the Bellevue Hospital Medical college. For many years he filled the chair of orthopedic surgery in the college of Physicians and Surgeons (university of Kansas City). He is the proprietor of the Axtell hospital of Newton, Kan., and one of the most prominent men in the medical profession of that state.

AXTELL, SAMUEL B., lawyer, jurist, congressman, governor, was born Oct. 14, 1819, in Franklin county, Ohio. He was educated at Oberlin, and Western Reserve colleges; studied and practiced law; emigrated to California in 1851; and was elected a representative from that state to the fortieth and forty-first congresses. In 1874 he was appointed governor of Utah; in 1875 was appointed to the same position in New Mexico; in 1876 was selected as one of the judges at the Centennial exhibition; and in 1882 was appointed chief justice of the supreme court of New Mexico.

AYCRIGG, JOHN B., congressman, was born in New York. He was elected a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1837 to 1839, and again from 1841 to 1843. In 1844 he was a presidential elector; and was a candidate for election to the twenty-sixth congress.

AYER, FRANKLIN DEMING, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 19, 1832, in St. Johnsbury, Vt. He graduated from Dartmouth college and the Andover Theological seminary. He was ordained in 1861, and has filled pastorates in the congregational church at Milford, N. H., during 1861-67; and at the First Congregational church at Concord since 1867. During 1871-80 he was secretary of the New Hampshire General association; is trustee of the New Hampshire Home Missionary society; president of the New Hampshire Prisoners' Aid society since 1881; and moderator of the General association of New Hampshire since 1887. He is the author of History of the First Church of Concord, N. H.; several published sermons; and many articles in current literature. His church is one of the oldest and strongest in the state.

AYER, FREDERICK, manufacturer, was born Dec. 8, 1822, in Ledyard, Conn. In 1855 Mr. Ayer retired to join his brother in the manufacture of Ayer's Proprietary Medicines in the firm of J. C. Ayer and Co., Lowell, Mass., and was made treasurer of the company. In 1885 he bought The Washington Mills of Lawrence; was president for the first year, and has been treasurer ever since. The company employs three thousand two hundred hands.

AYER, FREDERICK FANNING, lawyer, was born Sept. 12, 1851, in Lowell, Mass. Upon his father's death in 1878 Mr. Ayer became the manager of the great properties which his father had created. He has displayed business ability of a high order, and his previous legal training has aided to make him a successful financier. Among many philanthropic acts, it is told of him that in 1890 he gave $5,000 for books for a public library in the town house of Ayer, and later built for the town the Ayer Memorial Library building, at a cost of about $40,000. He is a director of The Lake Superior Ship Canal Railway and Iron Co., The Portage Lake and River Improvement Co., The Lowell and Andover railroad, The J. C. Ayer Co., The Tribune association in New York, and the Tremont and Suffolk mills.

AYER, HARRIET HUBBARD, business woman, journalist, was born in 1852, in Chicago, Ill. She graduated from the convent of the Sacred Heart. She became a business woman of the highest type in New York city; and rapidly made a fortune from her Recamier preparation. The Recamier company, of which she is the president and chief owner, now occupies a five-story building in New York city, and employs nearly a hundred people.

AYER, JAMES COOK, manufacturer, was born May 5, 1818, in Groton, Conn., which city now bears the name of Ledyard. He has become famous as a manufacturer of proprietary medicines, and as an organizer and financier. In his veins ran the blood of old American families, distinguished for personal character and active interest in public affairs. Frederick Ayer, his father, who served as a soldier of the war of 1812 and died in 1825, was a son of Elisha Ayer, a hero of the American revolution. Ayer's Almanac was given away by the millions of copies. The principal remedies prepared by Dr. Ayer were his Cherry Pectoral, Sarsaparilla, Ague Cure, Hair Vigor, and Pills. A large laboratory was built to accommodate the growing manufacture, and was expanded until it gave employment to nearly three hundred persons. In 1874 he received the republican nomination for congress. He left a fortune of twenty million dollars. He died July 3, 1878, in Winchendon, Mass.

AYER, JOHN A., banker, was born Aug. 2, 1847, in Jacksonville, Ill. He attended the Illinois college; and has attained success in business affairs in his native city; where he is a prominent banker.

AYER, RICHARD S., soldier, congressman, was born Oct. 9, 1829, in Waldo county, Maine. He engaged in agricultural and mercantile pursuits; at the breaking out of the rebellion enlisted as a private in the fourth Maine volunteers, and was promoted to a captaincy, which position he held for three years, serving at the first battles of Bull Run, Seven Pines, and Malvern Hill. In 1865 he removed to Virginia; in 1867 was elected a delegate to the Virginia constitutional convention; and was elected to the forty-first congress.

AYLSWORTH, WILLIAM PRINCE, clergyman, theologian, was born Dec. 12, 1844, in Cuba, Ill. He attended the Chicago university and Bethany college, receiving the degrees of B. A. and M. A. from the latter institution, and LL. D. from Cotner university. He has held pastorates at Angola and Fort Wayne, Ind., and in Columbus, Ohio. He was president of the Fairfield college, and is now president of Cotner university of Lincoln, Neb.

AYRES, ALFRED, author, was born Feb. 26, 18—, in Montrose, Ohio. He is the author of The Orthoepist; The Verbalist; The Mentor; Acting and Actors; and The Essentials of Elocution. He has also attained success as a dramatist and actor.

AYRES, ANNE, author, was born in 1816, in England. She was the first member of an American sisterhood in the protestant episcopal church, becoming a sister of the Holy Communion in 1845. She was the author of Evangelical Sisterhoods; and Life of W. H. Muhlenberg. She died in 1896.

AYRES, ROMEYN BECK, soldier, was born Dec. 20, 1825, in East Creek, N. Y. He served during the civil war, and in 1864 was made major-general of volunteers, for conspicuous gallantry in the battles of the Virginia campaign. He died Dec. 4, 1888, in Fort Hamilton, N. Y.

BAART, P. A., priest, was born in 1858 in Coldwater, Mich. In 1881 he was ordained to the priesthood; and in 1890 was appointed one of the four irremovable rectors of the Detroit diocese, and also chosen one of the examiners of the clergy.

BABB, WASHINGTON I., lawyer, legislator, was born Oct. 2, 1844, in Des Moines, Iowa. He graduated from the Wesleyan university. He was elected a member of the Iowa state legislature; has served as district judge of the second judicial district; and was the democratic candidate for governor of Iowa in 1895.

BABBITT, B. T., manufacturer, was born in 1809, in Westmoreland, N. Y. He discovered a new process for making saleratus at a great saving of cost, and in a few years acquired control of the trade of the whole country. He also manufactured soda and potash. In 1858 he began the manufacture of soap, from which he amassed a fortune. He died Oct. 20, 1889, in New York.

BABBITT, CLINTON, farmer, public official, congressman, was born Nov. 16, 1831, in Westmoreland, N. H. He received a common school education and graduated from Keene academy, New Hampshire; removed to Wisconsin in 1853; is by occupation a farmer and breeder of blooded stock, and resides on his farm, giving his personal attention to that business. He was for several years secretary of Wisconsin State Agricultural society; was elected alderman, and was one of the members of the first city council of Beloit. He was appointed postmaster of Beloit in 1886; was democratic candidate for congress in 1880; and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

BABBITT, EDWIN B., soldier, was born about 1802 in Connecticut. He was brevetted brigadier-general for his services on March 13, 1865. He died Dec. 10, 1881, in Fortress Monroe.

BABBITT, ELIJAH, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1796 in Providence, R. I. He was prosecuting attorney for the state in 1833; served in the state legislature in 1836 and 1837; was a state senator in 1844 and 1845; and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-sixth and thirty-seventh congresses.

BABBITT, ISAAC, inventor, was born July 26, 1799, in Taunton, Mass. In 1839, he discovered the now well-known anti-friction metal that bears his name and is so extensively used in lining boxes for axles and gudgeons. For this invention he received in 1841 a gold medal from the Massachusetts Charitable Mechanics' association, and afterward congress granted him $20,000. He was also engaged in the manufacture of soap. He died May 26, 1862, in Somerville, Mass.

BABCOCK, ALFRED, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1841 to 1843.

BABCOCK, CHARLES A., naval officer, was born June 12, 1833, in New York city. While co-operating with the army on the James, York and Pamunkey rivers, he defeated the confederates in several actions. He was afterward attached to the Pensacola navy yard, and in 1868-69 commanded the steamer Nyack of the South Pacific squadron. He died June 29, 1876, in New Orleans, La.

BABCOCK, CHARLES ALMANZO, educator, scientist, was born in 1849. He graduated from Hamilton college, and received the degrees of A. M. and LL. B. He has filled the chair of science in the New York State Normal school; and has been superintendent of schools of Oil City, Pa. He has lectured on scientific subjects, and contributed valuable articles on science to current literature. He is the originator and founder of bird day in the schools of America; and is a member of the British Astronomical association.

BABCOCK, ELNORA MONROE, woman suffragist, was born Jan. 11, 1852, in Columbus, Pa. In 1870 she was married to Prof. John W. Babcock of Jamestown, N. Y., and now superintendent of public schools in Dunkirk. She became president of the Dunkirk club; was elected president of the Chautauqua County Political Equality club, of which she still holds the presidency. In 1891 she had the honor of presiding over the first woman suffrage meeting ever held at the great Chautauqua assembly.

BABCOCK, EMMA WHITCOMB, author, was born April 24, 1849, in Adams, N. Y. She is the wife of Prof. C. A. Babcock, superintendent of schools of Oil City, Pa. She has done considerable work as book reviewer; has contributed to various leading magazines; and is the author of Household Hints; A Mother's Note Book; and other works. She is president of a literary club well known in western Pennsylvania, which has founded a public library.

BABCOCK, FRANCIS GRANGER, banker, legislator, was born in 1831, in Pharsalia, N. Y. He purchased large tracts of land with reference to their value as timber land, which turned out to be petroleum producing. In 1875 he established The Bank of Hornellsville, and is the owner of the celebrated Babcock Stock Farms. In 1853 he was elected to the legislature.

BABCOCK, GEORGE HERMAN, inventor, engineer, manufacturer, philanthropist, was born Jan. 17, 1832. The Babcock and Wilcox boilers have been the most extensively built and sold of all devices of this nature. Large works for their production have been built in Elizabeth, N. J. Works have been established in the city of Glasgow, from which the markets of the world are supplied. He died Dec. 20, 1894, near Otsego, N. Y.

BABCOCK, HARMON SEELEY, educator, lawyer, poet, author,was born April 11, 1849, in Lebanon, R. I. In 1874 he graduated from the Brown university with the degree of A. B., and was valedictorian of his class. In 1877 received the degree of A. M., and was admitted to the bar in the same year. For three years he was superintendent of public schools of East Providence, R. I.; was town solicitor for two years; and since 1890 has been coroner. He taught two years in the University Grammar school of East Providence, and for one year in the Brown university as instructor in logic. He has delivered poems at annual conventions of various associations and reunions, and is the author of two volumes of poems, entitled Trifles, and The Friendship of Learning. He has been president of the Rhode Island Poultry association; vice-president of the American Poultry association; editor of the Standard of Perfection; and is the author of several works on poultry.

BABCOCK, HELEN LOUISE B., educator, elocutionist, was born Aug. 13, 1867, in Galva, Ill. She graduated from the Cumnock School of Oratory of the Northwestern university, and subsequently became an instructor in that institution. She then taught elocution in the Mount Vernon seminary of Washington, D. C.; and has attained prominence as a dramatic reader. In 1891 she was married to Dr. F. C. Babcock, a successful physician of Hastings, Neb.

BABCOCK, JAMES F., journalist, jurist, legislator, was born in 1809 in Connecticut. He began newspaper work at an early age, and in 1830 became editor of the New Haven Palladium, which soon began to issue a daily edition and which he conducted for thirty-one years. He was nominated for congress, and was elected by the democrats to the state legislature in 1873. The legislature of 1874 elected him judge of the police court of New Haven. He died June 18, 1874, in New Haven, Conn.

BABCOCK, JAMES FRANCIS, chemist, was born Feb. 26, 1844, in Boston. For five years he was professor of chemistry in the Boston university; and in 1881 he accepted that chair in the Massachusetts college of pharmacy. He is well known as the inventor of a fire extinguisher.

BABCOCK, JOSEPH WEEKS, manufacturer, congressman, was born March 6, 1850, in Swanton, Vt. He removed with his parents to Iowa in 1855; attended school at Mount Vernon and Cedar Falls; removed from Iowa in 1881 and settled in Necedah, where he has since resided, being engaged in the manufacture of lumber. He was elected to the Wisconsin assembly in 1888 and re-elected in 1890; was elected chairman of the national republican congressional committee in 1894 and re-elected in 1896. He was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BABCOCK, LEANDER, congressman, was born in New York. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1853.

BABCOCK, ORVILLE E., soldier, was born Dec. 25, 1835, in Franklin, Vt. He was graduated at West Point, and entered the engineer corps as second lieutenant May 6, 1861. In 1865 he was brevetted brigadier-general of volunteers. At the surrender of Lee at Appomattox he selected the place where the generals met. He was promoted a colonel in the regular army in 1866. He was drowned June 26, 1884, in Mosquito inlet, Fla.

BABCOCK, PAUL, soldier, merchant, was born Aug. 18, 1841, in New York city. Since 1880 he has been the president of The Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey, and of The Soule and Fleming Manufacturing Co., and of The Liebig Manufacturing Co.

BABCOCK, SAMUEL S., soldier, educator, lawyer, was born Feb. 5, 1842, in Genesee county, Mich. In 1861 he enlisted as a union soldier and was promoted to first sergeant. He was a graduate from the Michigan State Normal school, and for fifteen years was engaged in educational work. He held the chair of mathematics in the State Normal school; and the chair of natural sciences in the Ypsilanti seminary. For six years he was a member of the state board of Michigan, four years of which he was its president. For two years he was a member of the state board of geological survey; has been president of the Michigan Republican club, and a director from its organization. He is a successful lawyer of Detroit, Mich.; and has contributed both prose and verse to current literature.

BABCOCK, WILLIAM, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1831 to 1833.

BABER, EDMUND K., railroad president, was born Oct. 7, 1841, in New York city. Since 1889 he has been president of the Keesville, Ausable Chasm and Lake Champlain railroad.

BACH, J. MAURICE, musician, composer, was born May 7, 1856, in Switzerland. He is active as teacher of piano, organ and theory at Henderson, Ky. He is a good performer and has composed much music, including four operas, Laredo; Marguerita; Alhamer; and The Politicians.

BACHE, ALEXANDER DALLAS, scientist, author, was born July 19, 1806, in Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated at West Point in 1825. In 1843 he was appointed superintendent of the United States coast survey; was one of the founders of the American association for the Promotion of Science; in 1855 was made president of the American Philosophical society; was an active and efficient member of the United States sanitary commission throughout the civil war; and in 1846 was made regent of the Smithsonian institution. In 1833 he edited Brewster's Optics, with notes; in 1840 to 1845 published Observations at the observatory of Girard college; and in 1834, Report of Experiments to Navigate the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal by Steam. He died Feb. 17, 1867, in Newport, R. I.

BACHE, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, surgeon, was born Feb. 7, 1801, in Monticello, Va. He was fleet-surgeon of the Mediterranean squadron in 1841-44, and of the Brazil squadron in 1847-50. From 1850 to 1854 he was at the New York naval hospital, and then organized in New York the laboratory that furnishes all medical supplies to the navy. He was director of this from 1853 to 1871. He died Nov. 2, 1881, in New York city.

BACHE, FRANKLIN, physician, author, was born Oct. 25, 1792, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia physician, and professor of chemistry in Jefferson Medical college, 1841-64. He was the author of A System of Chemistry for Students in Medicine; and The Dispensatory of the United States. He died March 19, 1864, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BACHE, HARTMAN, engineer, was born in 1797, in Philadelphia, Pa. He received the brevet of brigadier-general in 1865, the highest grade in the engineer corps, for long, faithful, and meritorious services. Among his engineering works of conspicuous merit were the construction of the Delaware breakwater and the successful application of iron-screw piles for the foundation of lighthouses upon sandy shoals and coral reefs. He died Oct. 8, 1872, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BACHE, RICHARD, postmaster-general, was born Sept. 12, 1837, in England. He established himself in Philadelphia, and Benjamin Franklin appointed him secretary, compiler and register general; and in 1776 he became postmaster-general. He died July 29, 1811, in Seattle, Pa.

BACHE, SARAH, philanthropist, was born Sept. 11, 1744, in Philadelphia, Pa. She was the leader among the ladies of Philadelphia to furnish the destitute American soldiers with money and clothing during the year 1780. She died Oct. 5, 1808, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BACHE, THEOPHYLACT, merchant, colonist, was born Jan. 17, 1734, in England. In 1774 he was elected the fifth president of the New York Chamber of Commerce. He died Oct. 30, 1807, in New York city.

BACHELLER, IRVING, journalist, author, was born in 1859 in New York. He is a journalist of New York city; and the author of The Master of Silence, a romance; and The Still House of O'Darrow, a novel.

BACHMAN, JOHN, naturalist, author, was born Feb. 4, 1790, in Dutchess county, N. Y. He was a naturalist of Charleston, where he was pastor of a Lutheran church, 1815-74. He assisted Audubon, preparing the greater part of the text of The Quadrupeds of North America, and wrote several religious and scientific works. He was the author of Two Letters on Heredity; and Defence of Luther and the Reformation. He died Feb. 25, 1874, in Charleston, S. C.

BACHMAN, REUBEN K., educator, merchant, congressman, was born Aug. 6, 1834, in Williams, Pa. He spent his early boyhood upon his father's farm; received a common school education; and followed the vocation of teaching in his early manhood. Subsequently, he entered into the mercantile and milling business at Durham, Pa.; and was elected to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

BACHMAN, SOLOMON, manufacturer, was born in 1827 in Germany. He engaged in the manufacture of balmoral skirts, and bought a mill at Paterson, N. J., with machinery to make yarns, and power looms to weave skirts and shawls. In 1877 he bought the Merrimack woolen mill in Lowell, Mass., which he still continues to run.

BACHMANN, ALEXANDER, musician, composer, was born Jan. 2, 1836, in Germany. He is a successful and noted instructor of the piano, organ and violin; a director of choruses; and for many years principal of the Northwestern Musical institute of Philadelphia, Pa. He is said to have taught the largest number of individual pupils of any music teacher in America, many of whom now occupy high positions in the musical world. He has been organist of some of the leading protestant episcopal churches of Philadelphia; and for many years was vocal instructor of the Protestant Episcopal Divinity school. He is the author of considerable church music, and his translations have been a valuable acquisition to musical literature.

BACKUS, AZEL, educator, clergyman, college president, was born Oct. 13, 1765, in Norwich, Conn. He was licensed to preach in 1789, and in 1791 became the successor of Dr. Bellamy at Bethlehem, Conn., where he also carried on a successful school. Here he remained until, at the foundation of Hamilton college, Clinton, N. Y., in 1812, he was chosen its first president. He died Dec. 9, 1817.

BACKUS, CHARLES, theologian, was born Nov. 9, 1749, in Franklin, Conn. In 1774, he became pastor of the congregational church in Somers, where he remained until his death. Here he established a sort of divinity school, receiving theological students into his family. He died Dec. 30, 1803, in Somers, Conn.

BACKUS, CLARENCE WALWORTH, soldier, clergyman, was born April 20, 1846, in Schenectady, N. Y. He spent one year in the Pennsylvania Military academy, and from there entered the army as first lieutenant of the ninety-seventh regiment New York volunteers. He subsequently graduated from Union college, and from the Princeton Theological seminary; and has since attained prominence as one of the foremost clergymen of the presbyterian church in Kansas.

BACKUS, FRANKLIN T., lawyer, was born May 6, 1813, in Lee, Mass. He was elected prosecuting attorney of the county in 1841, and was sent to the Ohio house of representatives in 1846, and to the state senate in 1848. He was a delegate to the peace congress at Washington in 1861. He supported McClellan for president in 1864, and was a delegate to the national convention that met at Philadelphia in 1866 to form a new party. He died May 14, 1870, in Cleveland, Ohio.

BACKUS, HENRY CLINTON, lawyer, was born May 31, 1848, in Utica, N. Y. In 1891 he was chairman of the delegation of the thirteenth assembly district to the republican county committee of New York city and county; and held the leadership of the district for one year. In 1893 he consented to stand for the New York constitutional convention.

BACKUS, HENRY T., lawyer, jurist, was born in Norwich, Conn. He received a liberal education; adopted the profession of the law; and removed to Detroit, Mich., where he was for many years devoted to his profession. He was subsequently appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of Arizona.

BACKUS, ISAAC, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 9, 1724, in Norwich, Conn. He was a baptist clergyman of Rhode Island; and the author of A History of New England, with Particular Reference to the Baptists. He died Nov. 20, 1806.

BACKUS, TRUMAN JAY, educator, college president, was born Feb. 11, 1842, in Locke, N. Y. In 1867 he was elected to fill the chair of rhetoric and English in Vassar college, which office he held for sixteen years. He accepted a call to the presidency of Packer collegiate institute of Brooklyn, N. Y., in 1883.

BACKUS, WILLIAM VERNON, lawyer, was born Aug. 24, 1860, in Cleveland, Ohio. He received his education in the public schools of his native city; in business colleges, and received private instruction in foreign languages. He has attained success as an able lawyer of Cleveland, in which city he was a member of the board of education during 1892-97, and its president in 1895-96.

BACON, AUGUSTUS OCTAVIUS, was born Oct. 20, 1839, in Bryan county, Ga. He was frequently a member of state democratic conventions; was president of the state democratic convention in 1880, and was delegate from the state at large to the national democratic convention in Chicago in 1884; in 1868 he was elected presidential elector on the democratic ticket; in 1871 was elected to the Georgia house of representatives, of which body he has served as a member for fourteen years, and during eight years was speaker. He was several times a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor of Georgia; and was elected to the United States senate as a democrat in 1894. His term of service will expire March 3, 1901.

BACON, DAVID FRANCIS, physician, author, was born Nov. 30, 1813, in Prospect, Conn. Soon after the completion of his studies he was sent as principal colonial physician to Liberia by the American colonization society. He was a frequent contributor to periodical literature, and published Lives of the Apostles; and also Wanderings on the Seas and Shores of Africa. He died Jan. 23, 1866, in New York.

BACON, DAVID W., Roman Catholic bishop, was born in 1814, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In 1855 he was consecrated bishop of the newly created diocese of Portland, Maine, which embraced the states of Maine and New Hampshire. He died Nov. 5, 1874, in New York.

BACON, DELIA SALTER, author, was born Feb. 2, 1811, in Talmadge, Ohio. She was the earliest exponent of the Baconian theory of the authorship of Shakespeare; and was the author of Philosophy of the Plays of Shakespeare Unfolded; Tales of the Puritans; and The Bride of Fort Edward, a Drama. She died Sept. 2, 1859, in Hartford, Conn.

BACON, EDMUND, lawyer, was born in January, 1776, in Virginia. He is the Ned Brace of Judge Longstreet's Georgia Scenes, and as a wit and humorist was conspicuous among his contemporaries. He died Feb. 2, 1826, in Edgefield, S. C.

BACON, EDWARD PAYSON, merchant, financier, was born May 16, 1834, in Reading, N. Y. In 1865 he established the firm of E. P. Bacon and Company, a grain commission business; in 1889-91 was vice-president of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce; and in 1891 was elected its president.

BACON, EDWARD R., railroad president, was born Nov. 22, 1846, in New York city. Since 1890 he has been president of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railway.

BACON, EDWIN MUNROE, journalist, author, was born Oct. 20, 1844, in Providence, R. I. He is a journalist of Boston; and the author of Dictionary of Boston; and Boston of To-Day.

BACON, EZEKIEL, jurist, congressman, author, was born Sept. 1, 1776, in Stockbridge, Mass. He graduated at Yale college in 1794; was a member of the state legislature in 1805 and 1806; was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1807 to 1813; chief justice of common pleas in 1813; and first comptroller of the United States treasury from 1813 to 1815. He removed to Utica, N. Y., and was a delegate to the state constitutional convention in 1821. In 1843 he published Recollections of Fifty Years Since. He died Oct. 18, 1870, in Utica, N. Y.

BACON, FLORENCE R., journalist poet, was born March 25, 1867, in Portland, Maine. Her life has been spent principally in Wisconsin, where her parents removed when she was less than a year old. She attended the Milwaukee college, and since an early age has been engaged in literature. She is the society editor of the Daily Times of Minneapolis, Minn.; and the author of a volume of poems entitled Midsummer Mist; and another entitled Indian Legends.

BACON, FRANCIS, manufacturer, was born Jan. 22, 1831, in New York city. He is a successful piano manufacturer of New York; and in 1880 organized the firm of Francis Bacon and Company.

BACON, FREDERICK HAMPTON, lawyer, author, was born May 5, 1849, in Niles, Mich. He engaged in the practice of his profession in St. Louis, Mo., and gained a high position at the bar in that state. He is the author of a law treatise entitled Benefit Societies and Life Insurance.

BACON, GEORGE ALLEN, public official, author, was born April 4, 1830, in Wellfleet, Mass. In 1881 he was appointed corresponding clerk of the department of agriculture, which position he still holds. He was the original author of the Game of Portrait Authors, and in 1884 he published A Life Sketch of Edward S. Wheeler.

BACON, HENRY, artist, author, was born in 1840, in Haverhill, Mass. He is an artist who has lived principally in Paris; and is the author of A Parisian Year; and Parisian Art and Artists.

BACON, HENRY, lawyer, congressman, was born March 14, 1846, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He received an academic education at the Mount Pleasant academy at Sing Sing and at the Episcopal academy of Cheshire, Conn.; and was at Union college, from which he graduated in 1865. He studied law and commenced to practice in 1866; and was elected to the forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses as a democrat, and was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

BACON, JOEL SMITH, college president, was born Sept. 3, 1802, in New York. In 1841 he became president of the Columbian college; and from 1855 to 1866 was engaged in female education in the south. He died Nov. 9, 1869, in Richmond, Va.

BACON, JOHN, clergyman, statesman, was born in 1737, in Canterbury, Conn. He graduated at the college of New Jersey in 1765; studied theology; and after preaching for a time in Maryland, removed to Massachusetts, and settled in Boston. He subsequently held the positions of magistrate, representative in the state legislature, presiding judge of the court of common pleas, a member and president of the state senate, and that of representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1801 to 1803. He died Oct. 25, 1820, in Berkshire county, Mass.

BACON, JOHN EDMUND, lawyer, congressman, was born March 3, 1832, in Edgefield, S. C. He studied law; was admitted to the bar in 1853 and commenced the practice of law. In 1857 he was appointed secretary of legation at St. Petersburg, Russia; in 1860 entered the confederate service as a private; and served throughout the civil war, rising to the rank of major. In 1868 he was elected district judge; and in 1870 was an unsuccessful candidate for congress. In 1872 he removed to Columbia, S. C.; in 1878 was elected a representative in the state legislature, and devoted himself to securing the re-establishment of the South Carolina college, which end he accomplished after a long and laborious struggle. In 1885 he was appointed United States charge d'affaires to Paraguay and Uruguay.

BACON, JOHN WATSON, civil engineer, banker, was born June 9, 1827, in Hartford, Conn. For several years he has been state commissioner of the official topographical survey of Connecticut. He has been director of the Savings bank of Danbury for over thirty years, and on the death of its first president was elected to fill the vacancy.

BACON, LELAND CAREY, diplomat, was born in 1862, in Centremoreland, Pa. He is treasurer of the Pan-American Sewing Machine company of New York city; has served as United States consul at San Domingo during 1882-83; and has filled various other public positions of trust.

BACON, LEONARD, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 19, 1802, in Detroit, Mich. He was the pastor of a congregational church in New Haven, Conn., 1825-81, and a prominent figure in the denomination to which he belonged. He was the author of Historical Discourses; Slavery Discussed in Occasional Essays; Genesis of the New England Churches; and Christian Self-Culture. He died Dec. 24, 1881, in New Haven, Conn.

BACON, LEONARD WOOLSEY, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 1, 1830, in New Haven, Conn. He is a congregational clergyman; and the author of A Life Worth Living; Church Papers; Sermons; and The Simplicity That Is in Christ.

BACON, NATHANIEL, colonial leader, was born in 1630, in England. About 1650 he settled upon the James river, and soon after his arrival was appointed a member of the governor's council. He died Oct. 1, 1676.

BACON, NATHANIEL, lawyer, jurist, was born July 14, 1802, in Ballston, N. Y. He moved to Niles, Mich., in 1833, and in 1855, was appointed circuit judge and one of the judges of the supreme court. In 1857 he was elected circuit judge for six years; was elected again in 1866 to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected in 1869 for six years. He died Sept. 9, 1869, in Niles, Mich.

BACON, REBECCA TAYLOR. She became distinguished by her philanthropic labors in the founding of the Hampton, Va., institute and the New Haven school of nursing.

BACON, SHERMAN JOSEPH, merchant, was born Feb. 27, 1812, in Burlington, Conn. He established a drug business in St. Louis, Mo.; and in 1848 a commercial business in copper and metal, which he carried on successfully for nearly a quarter of a century.

BACON, THOMAS SCOTT, author, was born in 1825, in New York. He is an episcopal controversialist of Maryland; and the author of Both Sides of the Controversy between the Roman and Reformed Churches; The Reign of God and the Reign of Law; The Beginnings of Religion; Primitive Man in Christian Thought; It Is Written; and The Primitive and Catholic Doctrine as to Holy Scripture.

BACON, WILLIAM JOHNSON, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1803, in Williamstown, Mass. He graduated at Hamilton college in 1822; and was appointed counsel to the corporation of the city of Utica in 1837. He was a member of the New York house of assembly in 1850; in 1853 was elected a justice of the supreme court for eight years, and in 1861 was re-elected, without opposition, for another term of eight years. He was elected to the forty-fifth congress as a republican.

BACON, WILLIAM THOMPSON, clergyman, poet, was born Aug. 24, 1814, in Woodbury, Conn. For some time he was one of the editors of the New Englander, and during several years editor and proprietor of the Journal and Courier, of New Haven. He then resumed his ministerial labors, and was in charge of parishes in Kent and in Derby, Conn. He was the author of two volumes of poems. He died May 18, 1881, in Derby, Conn.

BACONE, ALMON C., college president, was born April 25, 1830. He has held prominent positions in the schools of New Jersey, New York, Ohio, and Michigan; and in 1878 he was called to take charge of the Cherokee Male seminary in Tahlequah, I. T.

BADEAU, ADAM, general, author, was born Dec. 29, 1831, in New York city. He was a general in the United States army; and the author of The Vagabond; Military History of General Grant; Conspiracy: a Cuban Romance; Aristocracy in England; and Grant in Peace: a Personal Memoir. He was secretary to General Grant, and assisted him in writing his life. He died in 1895.

BADGER, GEORGE E., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born April 13, 1795, in Newbern, N. C. He graduated at Yale college in 1813; studied and practiced law; and was elected to the legislature in 1816. In 1820 he was elected a judge of the supreme court, which position he resigned in 1825; was appointed secretary of the navy in 1841; and was elected a senator in congress in 1846, and re-elected in 1849 for a term of six years. He died May 11, 1866, in Raleigh, N. C.

BADGER, JOSEPH, soldier, jurist, was born Jan. 11, 1722, in Haverhill, Mass. He was appointed brigadier-general in 1780, was judge of probate from 1784 to 1797, and in 1788 was a member of the convention that adopted the federal constitution. In 1784 and 1790-91 he was a member of the state council. He was one of the founders of Gilmanton academy. He died April 4, 1803.

BADGER, JOSEPH, missionary, was born Feb. 28, 1757, in Wilbraham, Mass. In 1800 the missionary society sent him to the unsettled part of the country northwest of the Ohio river. Here he endured great hardships for thirty years, going from settlement to settlement, over a country where there were neither roads nor bridges, and often passing the night in the branches of a tree. This mode of life gave him great familiarity with the country, which was of use to the American army during the war of 1812, when he served as chaplain. He died May 5, 1846, in Perrysburg, Ohio.

BADGER, JOSEPH, clergyman, was born Aug. 16, 1792, in Gilmanton. He edited Palladium; and founded various churches. He died May 12, 1852, in Gilmanton.

BADGER, LUTHER, lawyer, congressman, was born April 10, 1785, in Partridgefield, Mass. In 1824 he was elected a renresentative to the nineteenth congress; had been engaged in military services in his state, and in 1819 was appointed judge advocate for the twenty-seventh brigade of infantry of New York state, which office he held for eight years. In 1832 resumed the practice of law, and in 1840 was appointed examiner in chancery and commissioner of United States loans, which office he held for three years. From 1846 to 1849 was United States district attorney for New York.

BADGER, MILTON, clergyman, was born May 6, 1800, in Coventry, Conn. He was ordained in 1828 as pastor of the South Congregational church in Andover, Mass., and remained there until 1835, when he became associate secretary of the American Home Missionary society. He was soon placed in the position of senior secretary, and for thirty-four years performed the duties of his office with great faithfulness and skill. He died March 1, 1873, in Madison, Conn.

BADGER, OSCAR C., naval officer, was born Aug. 12, 1823, in Windham, Conn. He was made lieutenant-commander in 1862, and commanded the ironclads Patapsco and Montauk in the engagements with the forts and batteries in Charleston harbor in 1863. In 1872 he was made captain, and on Nov. 15, 1881, commodore. In 1885 he was placed on the retired list.

BADGER, WILLIAM, governor, was born Jan. 13, 1779, in Gilmanton, N. H. He was a member of the legislature from 1810 to 1812; of the senate from 1814-16; and president of that body in 1816. He was an associate judge of the court of common pleas from 1816 to 1821; high sheriff of Stafford county, N. H., from 1822-32; and governor of the state from 1834-36. He died Sept. 21, 1852, in Gilmanton, N. H.

BADLAM, EZRA, soldier, was born May 25, 1746, in Milton, Mass. He was a brother of Gen. Stephen Badlam, was a captain in Grilley's artillery regiment at the siege of Boston in 1775, was in Baldwin's regiment in 1776, was present at Trenton and Princeton, and from 1777 to 1780 was lieutenant-colonel of Bailey's regiment. He died April 5, 1788, in Dorchester, Mass.

BAENSCH, EMIL, lawyer, jurist, lieutenant-governor, was born June 12, 1857, in Manitowoc, Wis. He was educated in the private and public schools of his native city; and in 1888 graduated from the state university. He then edited a local republican newspaper for two years; was admitted to the bar in 1882, and the same year elected justice of the peace. In 1885 he became county clerk, which position he resigned to accept the position of county judge. He held this office for six years, and during his term but one appeal was taken from his decision. He was a candidate for congress in 1892, and has filled various positions of honor in his county and state. In 1894 he was elected lieutenant-governor of Wisconsin, and received the re-election in 1896. He is a life member of the State Historical society, and an honorary member of the German Press association of Wisconsin.

BAER, GEORGE, congressman, was born in Frederick, Md. He was engaged in various branches of business; and was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1797 to 1801, and again from 1815 to 1817. He died in Frederick at an advanced age.

BAER, JOHN WILLIS, lecturer, was born May 2, 1861, near Rochester, Minn. He is actively engaged in Christian Endeavor work, and is the general secretary of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, with headquarters at Boston, Mass.

BAER, LIBBIE C. RILEY, poet, was born Nov. 18, 1849, near Bethel, Ohio. Her poems have appeared in the leading publications, and in several standard works. She has taken an important part in the benevolent work of the Woman's Relief corps of Appleton, Wis. In 1867 she was married to Capt. John M. Baer, an officer with a gallant military record.

BAER, O. P., physician, was born Aug. 25, 1816, in Frederick, Md. In 1867, with ten other homœopathic physicians, he organized The Indiana Institute of Homœopathy, and was elected its president.

BAER, WILLIAM JACOB, artist, was born Jan. 29, 1860, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1892 he was chosen principal of freehand drawing at the newly organized New York school of applied design for women of New York city; and became instructor of drawing from antique at the Cooper Union Art schools.

BAGBY, ALBERT MORRIS, author, was born in 18—. He is a writer of New York city; and the author of A Weimar Idyl, a popular musical novel.

BAGBY, ARTHUR P., lawyer, congressman, governor, was born in 1794, in Virginia. He adopted the profession of law, and settled in Alabama in 1818; was elected a member of the legislature in 1820 and 1822, and was speaker of the house. He was governor of Alabama from 1837 to 1843; and was a senator in congress from that state from 1842 to 1849. He died of yellow fever Sept. 21, 1858, in Mobile, Ala.

BAGBY, GEORGE WILLIAM, journalist, lecturer, author, was born Aug. 13, 1828, in Buckingham county, Va. He was a Virginia journalist and lecturer and of some note as a humorist. He was the author of John M. Daniel's Latin Key; What I Did with My Fifty Millions; and Meekins's Twinses. He died Nov. 29, 1883, in Richmond, Va.

BAGBY, JOHN C., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 24, 1819, in Glasgow, Ky. He was educated at Bacon college; studied law, and went to the bar in 1846. In that year he removed to Rushville, Ill., where he practiced his profession. In 1874, without seeking the nomination, he was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-fourth congress.

BAGG, CLARA B., pianist, was born Sept. 26, 1861, in New York city. The last of her instructors was Rafael Joseffy, from whom she acquired technical skill, force, and delicacy. She has appeared with success in concerts in Brooklyn and New York city.

BAGG, LYMAN HOTCHKISS, author, was born in 1846 in Massachusetts. He is the author of Four Years at Yale; and Ten Thousand Miles on a Bicycle.

BAGLEY, BLANCHE PENTECOST, unitarian minister, was born Jan. 19, 1858, in England. In 1882 she moved to Chicago, Ill.; and in 1889 graduated from the Meadville Theological school. In 1887 she first preached in Middlesex, Vt.; and in 1889 Mr. and Mrs. Bagley were ordained and installed together as joint pastors of All Souls church of Sioux Falls, S. D. Since 1890 she has lived in Haverhill, Mass., where she occasionally fills her husband's pulpit, and takes an active part in various organizations.

BAGLEY, GEORGE A., manufacturer, congressman, was born July 22, 1826, in Watertown, N. Y. He received an academic education; studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1847; and practiced for six years, when he engaged in the manufacture of iron and machinery. He was elected to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses.

BAGLEY, JOHN H., merchant, congressman, was born Nov. 26, 1832, in Hudson, N. Y. He received a common-school education; and in 1851 went to California and engaged in mining and other pursuits. He returned to New York and engaged in steamboating on the Hudson river, and settled at Catskill, N. Y., as a merchant and leather manufacturer. He served four terms as supervisor of the town; was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fourth congress; and also elected to the forty-eighth congress.

BAGLEY, JOHN JUDSON, manufacturer, governor, was born July 24, 1832, in Medina, N. Y. In 1872 he was elected governor of the state of Michigan; and re-elected in 1874. He died July 27, 1881 in San Francisco, Cal.

BAILEY, ALEXANDER H., jurist, congressman, was born Aug. 14, 1817, in Minisink, N. Y. He was a justice of the peace at Catskill for four years; was a member of the state assembly in 1849; and judge of Greene county for four years from 1851. He was a member of the state senate from 1861 to 1864; was elected a representative from New York to the fortieth congress, in the place of Roscoe Conkling; and was re-elected to the forty-first congress. He died April 20, 1874, in Rome, N. Y.

BAILEY, ANNA WARNER, known as Mother Bailey, patriot, was born Oct. 11, 1758, in Groton, Conn. She was the wife of Capt. Elijah Bailey, of Groton. She witnessed the massacre at Fort Griswold in 1781. In 1813, when the British threatened to attack New London, Mother Bailey rendered great aid to its defenders by tearing up flannel garments for cartridges. She died in 1850 in Groton, Conn.

BAILEY, CHARLES MARTIN, manufacturer, banker, was born Oct. 24, 1820, in Winthrop, Maine. He began the manufacture of oil-cloth carpets in Winthrop, Maine. Depots are now maintained in New York city and Philadelphia, under the style of The C. M. Bailey's Sons Co. He is president of the Bank of Winthrop and the Maine Steamship company.

BAILEY, DAVID J., congressman, was born in Georgia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1851 to 1855.

BAILEY, EBENEZER, educator, was born June 25, 1795, in West Newbury, Mass. In 1838 he established a boys' school at Roxbury, which in 1839 was moved to Lynn. He was at various times a member of the city council of Boston, director of the Home of Reform, president of the Boston Lyceum, and director of the Boston Mechanics' institute. He died Aug. 25, 1839, in Lynn, Mass.

BAILEY, ELLENE ALICE, inventor, was born in Pond Fort, Mo. One of her principal inventions is the Dart needle, for sewing on shoe and other buttons. Her numerous inventions have proved not only useful and practical, but of commercial importance.

BAILEY, EZRA B., financier, state senator, was born March 29, 1841, in Franklin, Conn. He resumed control of the E. H. Horton and Son Co. in 1880; since that time has been its general manager; and is now president and treasurer. In 1890 he was appointed United States collector of customs to the port of Hartford. He served in the state senate in 1887.

BAILEY, GAMALIEL, journalist, was born Dec. 3, 1807, in Mount Holly, N. H. The first number of the National Era, published under the auspices of the American and Foreign Anti-Slavery society, appeared in 1847, and of which publication he was editor. In 1848 an angry mob laid siege to the office for three days, and finally separated under the influence of an eloquent harangue by the editor. The Era, in which Uncle Tom's Cabin originally appeared, ably presented the opinions of the anti-slavery party. He died at sea June 5, 1859.

BAILEY, GEORGE HOWARD, lawyer, was born Feb. 1, 1867, in Washington county, Ohio. In 1894 he graduated from the Michigan university, and has since attained prominence as an able lawyer of Red Lodge, Mont.

BAILEY, GEORGE MILROY, journalist, capitalist, was born Oct. 8, 1862, in Ogdensburg, N. Y. He is president of the Bailey Investment company; of the Buffalo-Marion Land company; and of the Niagara Falls Tunnel company. He is vice-president of the Hudor Lithia company; of the J. J. George Furniture company; and of the Buffalo Depew Land company; and secretary of the Oatman Produce company, and of the Depew Terminal Land company. He publishes a successful monthly paper entitled The Buffalo Presbyterian News.

BAILEY, GILBERT STEPHEN, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 17, 1822, in Dalton, Pa. After graduating from the Oberlin college, Ohio, he started a select school at Waverly, which soon grew into Madison academy, with one hundred students. He subsequently resigned this charge and was ordained to the ministry; and later filled a pastorate in Pomona, Cal. Besides numerous tracts and uncollected poems he has published a History of the Illinois River Baptist Association; Caverns of Kentucky; Manual of Baptism; The Trials and Victories of Religious Liberty in America; Three Discourses on the History, Wonders, and Excellence of the Bible; The Word and Works of God; Prize Discourse on Slander; and Ingersollism Exposed.

BAILEY, GOLDSMITH F., lawyer, congressman, was born July 17, 1823, in Westmoreland, N. H. He was admitted to the bar in 1848; in 1856 was elected to the legislature of Massachusetts; and in 1858-60 to the senate of the state. He was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-seventh congress. He died May 8, 1862, in Fitchburg, Mass.

BAILEY, GUILFORD DUDLEY, soldier, was born June 4, 1834, in Martinsburg, N. Y. When the civil war began he was stationed at Fort Brown, Texas, but, with his immediate superior, Capt. Stoneman, refused to surrender when Gen. Twiggs attempted to give up his entire command to the confederates, and effected his escape into Mexico. A monument has been raised to his memory in the cemetery at Poughkeepsie. He was killed in action May 31, 1862.

BAILEY, HANNA JOHNSTON, president of the Maine Woman's Suffrage association, was born July 5, 1839, in Cornwall - on - the - Hudson, N. Y. She received her education at a denominational boarding school, and subsequently followed the profession of teaching for ten years. She has been the world's and national superintendent of the department of peace and arbitration in the Woman's Christian Temperance union. For ten years she was treasurer of a forelgn missionary society, and is now treasurer of the National Council of Women. Mrs. Bailey was one of the judges in the department of liberal arts at the World's Columbian Exposition; and she is now the honored president of the Maine Woman's Suffrage association.

BAILEY, HENRY TURNER, educator, author, was born Dec. 9, 1865, in North Scituate, Mass., where the Bailey family have lived since 1660. He received the rudiments of his education in the public schools of his native city, and graduated from the Massachusetts State Normal Art school of Boston. He has been a professor in the Boston Evening Drawing schools; supervisor of drawing in the public schools of Lowell, Mass.; was an agent of the state board of education, Mass.; and state supervisor of drawing. He is widely known through Reports on Drawing to the state board of education, and is a popular lecturer on art educational topics. He is the author of First Year in Drawing; and miscellaneous papers on Art and Education.

BAILEY, HORACE W., commissioner of fisheries and game for Vermont, was born Jan. 16, 1852, in Newbury, Vt. He graduated from Newbury seminary, and during 1886-96 was clerk of his native city and superintendent of schools. During 1894-96 he was a member of the Vermont state senate, and served with distinction in that body. In 1894 he was appointed state commissioner of fisheries and game for Vermont.

BAILEY, JACOB, soldier, was born July 2, 1728, in Newbury, Mass. He settled in Hampstead in 1745, and served as a captain during the French war in 1756. He was with Col. Munroe in the siege of Fort William Henry, and was among those who escaped the subsequent massacre in 1757. He was also present at the capture of Ticonderoga and Crown Point in 1759. In 1764 he removed to Vermont, and there obtained a township. Later he was appointed brigadier-general of militia by the state of New York. During the revolutionary war he was commissary-general of the northern department. He died March 1, 1816, in Newbury, Vt.

BAILEY, JACOB WHITMAN, naturalist, was born April 29, 1811, in Ward, Miss. He is the inventor of Bailey's Indicator and of many improvements in the microscope. His investigations with this instrument, illustrating botany and zoölogy, gave him great distinction. His Microscopic Sketches, together with his collection of about 4,500 specimens of algæ, he bequeathed to the Boston Society of Natural History. He died Feb. 26, 1857, in West Point, N. Y.

BAILEY, JAMES ALDERSON, JR., lawyer, legislator, state senator, was born March 25, 1867, in Arlington, Mass. In 1888 he graduated from Harvard college with the degree of A. B.; and subsequently from the Harvard Law school, from which institution he received the degrees of LL. B. and A. M. He is a successful lawyer, and has a large practice in his native city. He has served with distinction as a representative in the Massachusetts state legislature; and also as a state senator.

BAILEY, JAMES ANTHONY, showman, was born in 1847 in Detroit, Mich. The Great London circus was bought and added to that of Cooper and Bailey, leading to the firm of Barnum and Bailey.

BAILEY, JAMES E., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 15, 1822, in Montgomery, Tenn. He was educated at the Clarksville academy and the university of Tennessee; studied law; and was admitted to the bar at Clarksville, Tenn., in 1840. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1853; and was elected a senator of the United States from Tennessee to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Andrew Johnson, serving during 1877-81. He died Dec. 29, 1885, in Clarksville, Tenn.

BAILEY, JAMES MONTGOMERY, journalist, author, was born Sept. 25, 1841, in Albany, N. Y. Widely known at one time as The Danbury News Man. He was a journalist of Danbury, Conn., who was among the earliest to exploit a kind of native humor, chiefly concerned with local allusion and application. He has had many imitators, whose methods have been much less legitimate than his. He was the author of Life in Danbury; England from a Back Window; The Danbury Boom; Mr. Phillis' Goneness; and They All Do It. He died March 4, 1894.

BAILEY, JAMES STANTON, manufacturer, was born Dec. 9, 1817, in Lebanon, Conn. He established the house of Tuttle and Bailey, manufacturers of registers and ventilators; and on the death of Charles Tuttle became senior partner.

BAILEY, JEREMIAH, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born at Little Compton, R. I. He graduated at Brown university, and studied law; was a member of the Maine legislature from 1811-14 and a judge of probate from 1814-35. He was a representative in congress from Lincoln county, Maine, from 1835-37 and was collector of customs at Wiscasset from 1849-53. He died in July, 1853.

BAILEY, JOHN, state senator, congressman, was born in Norfolk county, Mass. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature from 1815-18, and a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1823-31. He was a state senator in 1831-34. He died June 16, 1835, in Dorchester, Mass.

BAILEY, JOHN M., lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 24, 1838, in Bethlehem, N. Y. He graduated at Union college in 1861; studied law; in 1862 entered the union army as first lieutenant, and in 1864 commenced the practice of law. He was assistant district attorney of Albany county in 1865-67; was collector of internal revenue four years; in 1874 was elected district attorney and served three years, and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses.

BAILEY, JOSEPH, soldier, was born April 28, 1827, in Salem, Ohio. When the civil war broke out he entered the federal army as captain of the fourth Wisconsin infantry. He accompanied the army in the Red river campaign, and it was during this expedition that Bailey achieved the remarkable engineering feat which made him one of the heroes of the war. He received the brevet of brigadier-general on June 7 and was promoted colonel on June 30, 1864. He died March 21, 1867.

BAILEY, JOSEPH MEAD, jurist, was born June 22, 1833, in Middlebury, Vt. He graduated from the university of Rochester, N. Y., in 1854, and in 1856 began the practice of law at Freeport, Ill. He was a member of the Illinois legislature in 1866-70 and presidential elector of the same state in 1876. He was chosen a judge in the thirteenth judicial circuit in 1877; judge of the first division appellate court in 1878; and chief justice of that court in 1879. He became a trustee of the university of Chicago in 1878.

BAILEY, JOSEPH W., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 6, 1863, in Copiah county, Miss. He was admitted to the bar in 1883 and served as a district elector on the Cleveland and Hendricks ticket in 1884. He removed to Texas in 1885 and located in Gainesville. He served as elector for the state at large on the democratic ticket in 1888; was elected to the fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth, and was re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BAILEY, LEPHA ELIZA, lecturer, prohibitionist, was born Jan. 21, 1844, in Battle Creek, Mich. She received her education in the public schools of her native city and at the Battle Creek college. For many years she has been secretary of the Woman's Christian Temperance union; Reform club; Sovereigns of Industry; and of the Independent Order of Good Templars. She has delivered hundreds of lectures on temperance and reform subjects and is one of the most talented leaders in the field of prohibition. She has contributed extensively to the periodical press; has edited various departments in newspapers, and is the author of several works in prose and verse.

BAILEY, LIBERTY HYDE, educator, lecturer, author, was born March 15, 1858, in South Haven, Mich. He is a prominent horticulturist and for many years was professor of horticulture and landscape gardening in the Michigan Agricultural college. He is the author of American Grape Training; Cross-Breeding and Hybridization; Field Notes on Apple Culture; Annals of Horticulture; The Horticulturist Rule-Book; The Nursery-Book; A Complete Guide to the Multiplication and Pollination of Plants; and Talks Afield About Plants; Plant Breeding.

BAILEY, LORING WOART, educator, author, was born Sept. 28, 1839, in West Point, N. Y. He is a professor of natural history in the university of New Brunswick, and the author of Mines and Minerals of New Brunswick; Geology of Southern New Brunswick; and Elementary Natural History.

BAILEY, MARTIN B., lawyer, legislator, was born Jan. 22, 1858, in Vermillion county, Ill. He was chief of the law department in the pension bureau during Harrison's administration, and was a member of the Illinois state legislature in 1895.

BAILEY, NORMAN, soldier, merchant, state senator, was born Jan. 1, 1822, in New York. He was captain in the service during the war, and in 1861-62 was a member of the Michigan state senate.

BAILEY, RUFUS WILLIAM, educator, author, was born April 13, 1793, in North Yarmouth, Maine. In 1854 he was elected professor of languages in Austin college at Huntsville, Tex., and in 1858 became its president. He was the author of a series of newspaper letters on slavery, subsequently published in a volume under the title of The Issue; also of a volume of sermons entitled The Family Preacher; of letters to daughters entitled The Mother's Request; of a Primary Grammar; and of a Manual of English Grammar used extensively in southern schools. He died April 25, 1863, in Huntsville, Tex.

BAILEY, SARA LORD, elocutionist, was born Sept. 9, 1856, in England. In 1888 she graduated from the Boston School of Oratory and has since attained success as a teacher of elocution and voice culture in numerous large institutions.

BAILEY, SILAS, clergyman, educator, college president, was born in 1812 in Massachusetts. He became principal of Worcester academy about 1840, and after several years was elected president of Granville college, afterward Dennison university, Granville, Ohio, where he remained for ten years. He then became president of the newly established college at Franklin, Ind., where he remained until his health failed. He bequeathed his library to Franklin college. Dr. Bailey published sermons, addresses and reviews. He died June 11, 1874, in Paris, France.

BAILEY, THEODORUS, United States senator, was born Oct. 12, 1758, in Dutchess county, N. Y. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1793-97, and again from 1799-1803. He was a senator in congress from 1803-04, when he resigned and was appointed postmaster of New York city. He died Sept. 6, 1828, in New York city.

BAILEY, THEODORUS, naval officer, was born April 12, 1805, in Chateaugay, N. Y. After serving on the frigate Constellation, in which he again sailed round the world, he was placed in command of the storesbip Lexington in 1846, in which, on the breaking out of the Mexican war, he conveyed to California, by way of Cape Horn, an artillery company and several officers who afterward became famous. He died Feb. 10, 1877, in Washington, D. C.

BAILEY, WILLIAM WHITMAN, botanist, author, was born Feb. 22, 1843, in West Point, N. Y., and is a brother of L. W. Bailey. He is a professor of botany at Brown university and the autbor of New England Wild Flowers and Their Seasons; Among Rhode Island Wild Flowers; and Botanical Collector's Hand-Book.

BAILLY, JOSEPH A., sculptor, was born in 1825 in Paris, France. He began his career as a woodcarver and later he applied himself to marble sculpture and became a professor in tbe Pennsylvania Academy of Fine Arts. He has produced a statue of Washington, which was placed in front of the Philadelphia statehouse in 1869; a colossal statue of Witherspoon; the companion groups called The First Prayer and Paradise Lost; portrait busts of Gen. Grant and Gen. Meade; an equestrian statue of President Blanco of Venezuela; and Spring.

BAILY, JOSEPH, manufacturer, congressman, was born March 18, 1810, on the Brandywine battleground, Chester county, Pa. From 1839 to 1845 he represented his native county in both branches of the legislature; and from 1850 to 1854 represented Perry county in the state senate; in 1854 he was treasurer of the state of Pennsylvania; and in 1860 was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-seventh congress, and was re-elected to the thirty-eighth congress. He was one of the twelve democrats in congress who voted for the constitutional amendment abolishing slavery.

BAINBRIDGE, HENRY, soldier, was born in 1803, in New York. He served in the Florida war, in the military occupation of Texas, and in the war with Mexico. In 1849-50 he served in the Seminole war. He was promoted to a lieutenant-colonelcy in 1851. He died May 31, 1857, near Galveston.

BAINBRIDGE, WILLIAM, naval officer, was born in 1774 in New Jersey. He was the captain of a merchant vessel at the age of nineteen and entered the naval service in 1798. He was distinguished during the war of 1812, and died in 1833.

BAIRD, ABSALOM, general, was born Aug. 20, 1824, in Washington, Pa. He served at Chickamauga, Chattanooga, Resalo, Jonesborough, and Atlanta. For his services in the Atlanta campaign he received the brevet rank of brigadier-general in the regular army in 1865, with that of major-general for services during the rebellion. He served as inspector-general of the department of the lakes from 1866 to 1868, of the department of Dakota till 1870, of the division of the south till 1872, and subsequently as assistant inspector-general of the division of the Missouri.

BAIRD, ANDREW D., soldier, merchant, was born Oct. 14, 1839, in Scotland. He served entirely through the war, taking part in forty-five battles and being wounded three times, and commanded the regiment after May, 1864. The stone yards of Gill and Baird of New York City are among the foremost in the United States.

BAIRD, CHAMBERS, lawyer, poet, is a popular lawyer of Ripley, Ohio, and the author of several meritorious poems.

BAIRD, CHARLES WASHINGTON, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 28, 1828, in Princeton, N. J., and was a son of R. Baird. He was a presbyterian minister of Rye, N. Y., and the author of Eutaxia, or the Presbyterian Liturgies; Book of Public Prayer; History of Rye; and History of the Huguenot Emigration to America. He died Feb. 10, 1887, in Rye, N. Y.

BAIRD, GEORGE W., naval engineer, inventor, author, was born April 22, 1843, in Washington, D. C. He entered the navy as assistant engineer and served during the civil war. He is the inventor of a distiller for making fresh water from sea water, an evaporator, a pneumatic steering machine, and numerous otber inventions. He is the author of The Absorption of Gases by Water; The Flight of Flying Fish; Science; and other works.

BAIRD, HENRY CAREY, political economist and author, was born Sept. 10, 1825, in Bridesburg, Pa. He is a publisher of industrial books at Philadelphia, and an active member of the American Philosophical society, before which he has read many learned papers. He is the author of Rights of American Producers and Wrongs of British Free Trade Revenue Reformers; Protection of Home Labour and Home Production Necessary to the Protection of the American Farmer; and Miscellaneous Papers on Economic Questions.

BAIRD, HENRY MARTYN, educator, author, was born Jan. 17, 1832, in Philadelphia, Pa. He is a professor of Greek at the University of New York from 1859, and an historian who is conscientious but not absolutely impartial. He is the author of Life of Robert Baird; Modern Greece; Narrative of a Residence and Travels; History of the Rise of the Huguenots of France; The Huguenots and Henry of Navarre; and The Huguenots and the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes.

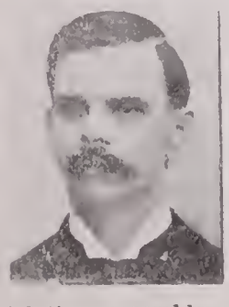
BAIRD, JAMES HADYN, journalist, was born Aug. 13, 1866, in West Lebanon, Tenn. In 1889 he became business manager of Southern Lumberman. In 1896 he was elected to the office of scrivenoter in the Concatenated Order of Hoo-Hoo, with headquarters at Nashville, Tenn. He was also secretary of Forestry department in the Tennessee centennial at Nashville in 1897.

BAIRD, JOHN C., lawyer, orator, jurist, was born Jan. 7, 1852, in Pittsburg, Pa. He received his education in the public schools of his native city, and has attained prominence as a lawyer of ability of Cheyenne, Wyo. He has filled the office of district attorney; and has been judge-advocate-general of Wyoming, with rank of colonel. He is prominent in Knights Templars and other orders, and well known as an eloquent western orator.

BAIRD, JOHN FARIS, educator, clergyman, was born Dec. 5, 1851, in Charlestown, Ind. In 1880 he was elected professor of ethics and christian evidence in Hanover College, which he held until 1890, when he accepted a pastorate of the presbyterian church of Seymour, Ind.

BAIRD, MATTHEW, locomotive builder, was born in 1817, in Londonderry, Ireland. He became connected with the Baldwin Locomotive works as a partner in M. W. Baldwin & Co. He made noteworthy experiments in the economical burning of soft coal in railroad engines and adopted the deflector plate or brick arch, now in general use. He died May 19, 1877, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BAIRD, ROBERT, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 6, 1798, in Fayette county, Pa. He was a presbyterian clergyman, active in the cause of temperance and in promoting the extension of protestantism in Europe. He was the author of History of the Temperance Societies; View of Religion in America; History of the Waldenses, Albigenses, and Vaudois; and Protestantism in Italy. He died March 15, 1863, in Yonkers. N. Y. .



BAIRD, SAMUEL JOHN, clergyman, author, was born in 1817, in Newark, Ohio. He is a presbyterian clergyman whose writings are chiefly concerned with the polity and history of the presbyterian church. He is the author of The Church of Christ: its Constitution and Order; History of the Early Polity of the Presbyterian Church in the Training of Ministers; The Socinian Apostasy of the English Presbyterian Church; and History of the New School.

BAIRD, SAMUEL T., lawyer, congressman, was born May 5, 1861, in Oak Ridge, La. He was educated at home and at Vincennes, Ind.; began the study of law in 1879, and was admitted to the bar in 1882, and was elected district attorney of the sixth judicial district in 1884. He served four years upon the bench, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BAIRD, SPENCER FULLERTON, naturalist, was born Feb. 3, 1823, in Reading, Pa. He was a naturalist of prominence, who was from 1878 the secretary of the Smithsonian Institution. He was the translator and editor of the Iconographic Encyclopedia; co-author with J. Cassin of Birds of North America and Mammals of North America; editor Annual Record of Science and Industry from 1872-78. A History of North American Birds, written in collaboration with T. M. Brewer and R. Ridgway, is one of his most valuable works. He died Aug. 19, 1887, in Wood's Holl, Mass.

BAKER, ABIJAH RICHARDSON, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 30, 1805, in Franklin, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of Lynn, Mass., and the author of School History of the United States; The Catechism Tested by the Bible; and Topics in Christ's Sermon on the Mount. He died in 1876.

BAKER, ALBERT C., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Feb. 15, 1825, in Girard, Ala. He received his education in the East Alabama Male college of Auburn, and has attained eminence as an astute lawyer and jurist. He has been city attorney for Phœnix, Ariz.; district attorney of his county; and assistant United States attorney for Arizona. He was a member of the eleventh legislative assembly of Arizona, and was chairman of the judiciary committee in that body. He has been a member of the board of curators, territorial library; a member of the board of directors of the Territorial Normal school; and has filled with distinction the high office of chief justice of Arizona.

BAKER, ALFRED, banker, was born Feb. 8, 1811, in Warren County, Ga. In 1870 he organized and became president of the National Exchange Bank of Augusta; and in 1875 he established the Augusta Savings bank, and became its president. As a wholesale merchant, manufacturer, and banker he has been one of the leading business men of his section.

BAKER, ALPHEUS, soldier, lawyer, was born May 23, 1825, in South Carolina. He joined the confederate army in 1861, and was rapidly promoted for gallant and meritorious services, to the rank of brigadier-general. At the close of the war he engaged in the practice of law in Louisville, Ky. He died Oct. 2, 1891, in Louisville, Ky.

BAKER, ANDREW J., merchant, lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 4, 1842, in Mississippi. He attended the University of Mississippi, and served during the civil war in the confederate army, and was twice a member of the Mississippi state legislature. He is a successful merchant and lawyer of San Angelo, Texas; has served with distinction as a member of the Texas state legislature; and for four years was commissioner of the general land office of Texas.

BAKER, BENJAMIN FRANKLIN, musician, was born July 10, 1811, in Wenham, Mass. From 1842 to 1848 he was superintendent of musical instruction in the grammar schools of Boston, Mass., and met 8,000 pupils a week. He introduced music into the public schools of Lowell and Lawrence; became editor of the Boston Musical Journal; and, from its foundation in 1857, was principal of the Boston music school.

BAKER, BENJAMIN M., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Jan. 20, 1850, in Girard, Ala. After receiving his education he entered into the active practice of law. He was the first state superintendent of public education of Texas; and was a member of the fifteenth, sixteenth and seventeenth state legislatures of Texas. He has served as judge of the thirty-first judicial district of his adopted state, and his decisions have shown him to possess rare judicial abilities.

BAKER, BENJAMIN T., journalist, was born Aug. 3, 1866; is the editor and owner of The Journal of Smith Center, Kan. He is prominent in the affairs of his county and state, and a member of the populist congressional, judicial and county committees.

BAKER, BENJAMIN W., soldier, minister, college president, was born Nov. 25, 1841, in Coles county, Ill. He has attained prominence as an eloquent methodist minister and as president of Chaddock college, Quincy, Ill. He served as a soldier for three years in the civil war.

BAKER, BERNARD N., businessman, was born May 11, 1854, in Baltimore, Md. He is president of the firm of Baker, Whiteley & Co.; and is also the president of the Baltimore Storage and Lighterage company, which has a capital of $1,500,000 and which owns and controls the Atlantic Transport line.

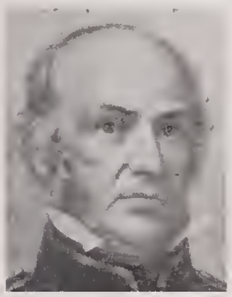
BAKER, CALEB, congressman, was born in Providence, R. I. He served four years in the New York assembly; was a representative in congress from that state from 1819 to 1821.

BAKER, CHARLES JOSEPH, merchant, manufacturer, was born May 28, 1821, in Baltimore, Md. It was through his efforts that the Union railroad and tunnel were constructed; and, having bought control of The Baltimore Gazette, he was enabled to advance reform movements. He died Sept. 23, 1894, in Baltimore, Md.

BAKER, CHARLES SIMEON, soldier, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born Feb. 18, 1839, in Churchville, N. Y. He received an academic education; was a teacher in 1856-'57; studied law, was admitted to the bar in December, 1860, and has since practiced the profession, except during the first year of the war, when he served as first lieutenant of Company E, Twenty-seventh New York volunteers, being disabled at the first battle of Bull Run. He was a member of the board of supervisors of Monroe county three years; was a member of the Rochester board of education two years, and president thereof the second year. He was a member of the New York state assembly from the Rochester district in 1879, 1880, 1882; was a member of the state senate of New York from the twenty-ninth district in 1884-'85; and was elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses as a republican.

BAKER, CONRAD, statesman. He was governor of Indiana from 1867 to 1869.

BAKER, DANIEL, soldier, was born about 1775. He was brevetted major for gallantry in the disastrous affair at Brownstown, Mich., known as Van Horne's defeat. After the war of 1812 he was promoted lieutenant-colonel of the sixth infantry, and commanded that regiment at the battle of the Bad Axe river, in the Black Hawk war, in 1832. He died Oct. 10, 1836, in Detroit, Mich.



BAKER, DANIEL, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 17, 1791, in Midway, Ga. He gained such a reputation as an effective preacher that his services were in demand as a revivalist. After 1830 he continued as an evangelist, traveling in the south, and at last settled in Austin, Texas, where he founded a college and became its first president. Among his published works are A Scriptural View of Baptism; An Affectionate Address to Mothers, and one to Fathers; Baptism in a Nutshell; and Revival Sermons. His memoirs, prepared by his son, were published in Philadelphia in 1859. He died Dec. 10, 1857, in Austin, Texas.

BAKER, DAVID JEWETT, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 7, 1792, in East Haddam, Conn. He had an extensive practice, and was probate judge of Randolph county, Ill. He was a senator in congress from 1830 to 1831, carrying through congress the important measure of selling the public lands to actual settlers in parcels of forty acres; and was United States attorney for Illinois from 1833 to 1841. He opposed the introduction of slavery into Illinois in 1823 with such energy that his opponents tried to kill him. He died Aug. 6, 1869, in Alton, Ill.

BAKER, DAVID V., lawyer, was born May 30, 1839, in Dayton, Ohio. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools, and attended three sessions at Liber college, Indiana. In 1861 he received a commission as an aid-de-camp, with the rank of colonel, to the governor when less than twenty-two years of age. Mr. Baker was postmaster under President Lincoln; was elected city attorney; town councilman; town clerk; four years a mail contractor; five years in charge of clerkship of the Jay circuit court; and in 1880 was a candidate for the legislature, and carried Adams and Jay counties by 4,000 majority.

BAKER, DORSEY SYNGE, physician, banker, was born Oct. 28, 1823, in Centerville, Ill. In 1871 he took steps to organize a railroad company to build a line from Walla Walla to Wallula. This road, the first in the territory, was built entirely from his own means and was finished in 1873. His principal properties were The Baker and Boyer bank in Walla Walla; and The Walla Walla and Columbia River Railroad.

BAKER, EDWARD D., lawyer, soldier, congressman, was born Feb. 24, 1811, in London, England. He was brought to this country when a child, and was early left an orphan in Philadelphia. He became famous as an advocate in Illinois, to which state he emigrated in his nineteenth year. After serving in the Illinois legislature for two years, he resigned, and, in 1846, went to Mexico as a colonel of volunteers. He was a representative in congress from Illinois from 1849 to 1851, after which he took an active part in the building of the Panama railroad. In 1852 he settled in San Francisco, devoting himself to his profession; subsequently removed to Oregon, which state he represented as a senator in congress, taking his seat in March, 1861. At the outbreak of the rebellion, in 1861, he raised a body of men in Philadelphia, called the California regiment, and while gallantly leading them in battle at Leesburg, Va., against a superior force, was shot from his horse and killed, Oct. 21, 1861.

BAKER, ENOS POMEROY, clergyman, college president, was born Dec. 20, 1856, in West Bloomfield, N. Y. He graduated from Lake Forest university as valedictorian in 1882, and in 1886 from the Presbyterian Theological Seminary of the Northwest, now the McCormick Theological seminary, of Chicago. He had charge of several churches, and is now president of the Presbyterian College of the Southwest, of Del Norte, Colo.

BAKER, EZRA, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1815 to 1817.

BAKER, FRANK R., legislator and lawyer, was born Nov. 11, 1861, in Bentonsport, Iowa. In 1891 he was elected a member of the Washington state legislature, and has since attained prominence as an orator and statesman.

BAKER, FREDERICK A., was born June 14, 1846, in Holly, Mich. He commenced the study of the law in 1865, was admitted to the bar in 1867, and has been in active practice ever since. In 1877 he served with distinction as a member of the Michigan state legislature.

BAKER, GEORGE AUGUSTUS, lawyer, author, was born in 1821, in New York City. He was a successful lawyer of New York and the author of Point Lace and Diamonds, a collection of sparkling society verse; The Bad Habits of Good Society; Mrs. Hephaestus and Other Short Stories; and West Point: a Comedy. He died April 2, 1880, in New York City.

BAKER, GEORGE HALL, librarian, was born April 23, 1850, in Ashfield, Mass. In 1883 he joined the staff of Columbia college library as assistant librarian. During 1885-89 he was lecturer in the school of political science in Columbia college on the bibliography of history and political science.

BAKER, GEORGE MELVILLE, author, was born in 1832, in Maine. He was the author and compiler of Amateur Dramas; the Social Stage; and works of like character. He died in 1890.

BAKER, GEORGE PIERCE, educator, author, was born in 1866, in Rhode Island. He is an instructor at Harvard university, and the author of Plot Book of Elizabethan Plays; and Principles of Argumentation.

BAKER, GEORGE TITUS, civil engineer, legislator, was born Sept. 24, 1857, in Homestead, Iowa. He attended the Iowa state university in 1874-75, and he is a member of a large construction company of Davenport, Iowa. During 1896-97 he served with distinction as a representative in the Iowa state legislature.

BAKER, GEORGE W., educator, clergyman, was born Dec. 14, 1857, near Central Academy, Miss. For fourteen years he was engaged in educational work; was licensed to preach in the methodist episcopal church in 1887; was admitted to the annual conference at Grenada in 1896; and was ordained Jan. 17, 1897. He has since served in the Corinth circuit, with great success.

BAKER, GRAFTON, jurist, was born in Virginia and removed to Mississippi, from which state he was appointed an associate justice of the United States court for the territory of New Mexico.

BAKER, MRS. HARRIETTE NEWELL, author, was born in 1815, in Andover, Mass. Besides two novels,—Cora and the Doctor, The Courtesies of Wedded Life,—her writings include nearly two hundred moral and religious tales, among which Tim the Scissors Grinder is the best known. She is best known by the pseudonyms of Madeline Leslie and Aunt Hally. She died in 1893.

BAKER, HENRY BROOKS, physician, was born Dec. 29, 1837, in Brattlesborough, Vt. He has devoted much time to studies relative to the causation of diphtheria, typhoid fever, cholera, and pneumonia. The results thus far obtained have appeared in the Transactions of the American Public Health Association; and Transactions of the American Climatological Association, 1886.

BAKER, HENRY G., lawyer, jurist, was born Sept. 22, 1857, in Cleveland, Ohio. At the age of twenty-one he was elected justice of the peace and ten years later was elected probate judge of Defiance county, Ohio. He was appointed by the governor as commissioner to the Columbian exposition for Ohio.

BAKER, HENRY M., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 11, 1841, in Bow, N. H. He graduated from the New Hampshire Conference seminary in 1859, Dartmouth college in 1863, and the Columbian College Law school in 1866, and admitted to the bar the same year. He was a clerk in the war and treasury departments, and later practiced law in Washington, D. C. He was judge-advocate-general of the National guard of New Hampshire in 1886-'87, with the rank of brigadier-general; and was a member of the state senate in 1891-'92. He was elected to the fifty-third congress as a republican from the second district of New Hampshire, and in 1894 was re-elected by a greatly increased majority. He was not again a candidate for re-election. In congress he served on the judiciary and other important committees. Several of his speeches were printed in pamphlet form and extensively circulated.

BAKER, ISAAC GILBERT, merchant, was born Aug. 22, 1819, in Rigfield, Mo. In 1866 he engaged in mercantile business, operating the Baker line of steamboats, transporting freight by wagons to the mining towns, and trading with the Indians. Every year he collected in the western region about twenty thousand dressed buffalo robes and shipped them to a market in the east.

BAKER, JAMES H., soldier, public official, was born May 6, 1829, in Monroe, Ohio. He received his education at the Wesleyan university of that state; became a teacher, and had charge of a female seminary at Richmond, Ind. In 1853 he purchased the Scioto Gazette and became its editor; in 1855 was elected secretary of state for Ohio, and subsequently removed to Minnesota and became the secretary of that state. He served as a colonel in the army in 1862 and 1863; was made provost-marshal for the department of Missouri, and served as such until the close of the rebellion, having been made a brigadier-general. He was then appointed register of public lands at Boonville, Mo., and in 1871 was appointed commissioner of pensions, resigning the position in 1875.

BAKER, JAMES HUTCHINS, educator, college president, author, was born Oct. 13, 1848, in Harmony, Maine. In 1873 he graduated from Bates college and at once entered into educational work as principal of the Yarmouth High school. From the beginning of his residence in Colorado, he has identified himself closely with the educational interests of that state. For seventeen years he was connected with the East Denver High school, and during his administration the magnificent High school building, second to none in the United States, was erected —a lasting and a splendid memorial of his work. In 1892 he assumed his duties as president of the university of Colorado. He has been president of the state teachers' association, and since 1886 has served as a member of the national council of education, being elected its president in 1891. He is the author of Elementary Psychology and other works; and his reputation rests chiefly on his studies and investigation of problems in psychology and ethics.

BAKER, JAMES L., lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 2, 1847, in Montgomery, N. Y. He received his education at the Ithaca academy, and graduated from the law department of Union college. He has attained success as an eminent lawyer of Ithaca, N. Y.; has been its city attorney, and filled with honor the position of special county judge of Tompkins County, N. Y.

BAKER, JAMES M., lawyer, jurist, state senator, was born July 22, 1821, in Robeson county, N. C. In 1862 he was elected by the legislature of Florida as senator in the confederate congress; and was re-elected in 1864. In 1866 he was appointed associate justice of the supreme court; and in 1881 was appointed judge of the fourth judicial circuit. He died June 20, 1892, in Jacksonville, Fla.

BAKER, JEHU, lawyer, diplomat, congressman, was born Nov. 4, 1822, in Fayette county, Ky. He attended common schools and McKendree college, but did not graduate; and subsequently received from the latter institution the honorary degrees of M. A. and LL. D. He studied medicine for a time; is a lawyer; was master in chancery of St. Clair county 1861-'65; was elected to the thirty-ninth, fortieth, and fiftieth congresses; and served as United States minister resident to Venezuela in 1878-81 and 1882-85. He was minister resident and consul-general for a time during the closing part of this service, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a fusionist.

BAKER, JOANNA, educator, linguist, was born Feb. 14, 1862, in New Rochelle, Ill. She received a thorough education; is a fine linguist; and now fills the chair of Greek, language, literature and philosophy in the Simpson college of Indianola, Iowa. As a lecturer she has also attained success.

BAKER, JOHN, lawyer, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1811 to 1813. He died Aug. 18, 1823, in Sheperdstown, Va.

BAKER, JOHN H., lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 28, 1832, in Parma township, N. Y. He removed, studied law, and commenced practice in Goshen, Ind., in 1857. He was state senator in 1862; in 1874 was elected a representative from Indiana to the forty-fourth congress and was re-elected to the forty-fifth and forty-sixth congresses.

BAKER, JOSHUA, was born March 23, 1799, in Kentucky. He graduated from West Point in 1819, and at his death on April 15, 1893, he was the oldest graduate in existence. He practiced law in Mary's parish, and in 1839 was appointed judge. In 1867 he was appointed governor of the state by General Hancock.

BAKER, JULIA KEIM WETHERILL, journalist, author, was born July 18, 1858, in Woodville, Miss. She received her education in Philadelphia, Pa. Her husband, Marion A. Baker, is the literary editor of the New Orleans Times-Democrat; and for the past six years she has been employed as literary critic and editorial writer on the staff of that journal. She is the author of a novel entitled Wings.

BAKER, LAFAYETTE C., patriot, author, was born Oct. 13, 1826, in Stafford, N. Y. He was chief of the United States secret service during the civil war; and in 1862 the bureau became attached to the war department, and he was commissioned colonel, and subsequently brigadier-general. He was the author of a work entitled History of the United States Secret Service. He died July 2, 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BAKER, LEWIS, journalist, legislator, was born in 1832, in Belmont county, Ohio. He was educated in the log schoolhouse and the country printing office; admitted to practice law in the supreme and other courts of Ohio; and declined his party nomination to congress when in his 25th year. He has edited and published at different periods the Cambridge Jeffersonian, Ohio; Daily Ohio Statesman, of Columbus; Daily Aurora, of Zanesville; the Wheeling Register, West Virginia, and the St. Paul Globe, Minnesota. He has been a member and presiding officer of the West Virginia state senate; president of the St. Paul school board; and envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Nicaragua, Costa Rica, and Salvador. He has been connected with many business enterprises, and has always taken an active part in politics, and was a member of the two democratic national conventions of 1884 and 1892.

BAKER, LOUISA S., clergyman, writer, was born Oct. 17, 1846, in Nantucket, Mass. For many years she was engaged in educational work; is now pastor of the First congregational church of Nantucket, Mass.; and is well-known as a successful contributor to current literature.

BAKER, LUCIEN, lawyer, congressman, was born in 1846 in Ohio. Shortly after he removed with his parents to Michigan, but in 1869 he removed to Kansas and settled in Leavenworth, where he has since resided, engaged in the practice of law. He was elected to the United States senate as a republican in 1895. His term of service will expire March 3, 1901.

BAKER, LUTHER ELIJAH, financier, was born Jan. 1, 1865, in Melrose, Va. He accepted the position of bookkeeper, and afterward assistant secretary and secretary of the Iowa Mutual Benefit association, one of the oldest institutions of its kind in the west. He is official correspondent of the American Protective Tariff league and director of the Toledo Savings bank.

BAKER, MARCUS, explorer, was born Sept. 23, 1849, in Ostemo, Mich. He was educated at Kalamazoo college and the university of Michigan, graduating in 1870; in 1870-'71 was made professor of mathematics in Albion college, and in 1871-'73 tutor of mathematics in the university of Michigan. In 1873 he became connected with the U. S. Coast and Geodetic survey, attaining in 1886 the grade of assistant geographer. During this time he spent several years in explorations and surveys in Alaska, and traversed the entire Pacific coast from southern California to the Arctic ocean. In 1882 he was in charge of the Los Angeles magnetic observatory, established by the U. S. signal service.

BAKER, NATHANIEL BRADLEY, governor, was born Sept. 29, 1818, in Henniker, N. H. For three years he was joint proprietor and editor of the New Hampshire Patriot. He was elected to the legislature in 1851, was chosen speaker of the house, and served two terms. He was a presidential elector in 1852, and in 1854 was elected governor of the state on the democratic ticket. He was elected to the Iowa legislature in 1859. In 1861 he was appointed adjutant-general of Iowa. He died Sept. 11, 1876, in Des Moines, Iowa.

BAKER, OSMOND CLEANDER, clergyman, was born July 30, 1812, in Marlow, N. H. He was a professor in the General Biblical institute of Concord, N. H., and in 1847 was president of the same; bishop of the methodist episcopal church in 1852-'71, and wrote A Guide Book in the Administration of Discipline of the Methodist Episcopal Church. He died Dec. 20, 1871, in Concord, N. H.

BAKER, OSMYN, lawyer, congressman, was born May 18, 1800, in Amherst, Mass. He graduated at Yale college in 1822; adopted the profession of the law, and was a member of the Massachusetts legislature in 1833 and 1834. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1839 to 1845, and was state councilor in 1853 and 1854.

BAKER, PETER CARPENTER, publisher, author, was born March 25, 1822, in North Hempstead, N. Y. In 1865 he established the law-publishing firm of Baker, Voorhis and Co., which is still in existence and has a large catalogue. Mr. Baker was one of the founders of the Metropolitan Literary association, edited the Steam Press, a patriotic periodical, during the civil war (1861-'5), and originated the plan for a statue of Benjamin Franklin in Printing-house square, New York, which was given by Albert De Groot. He has published addresses and monographs.

BAKER, PHILIP PONTIUS, state senator, was born Jan. 14, 1846, in Cowan, Pa. In 1869 he moved to Vineland, N. J., where, under the firm name of Baker Bros., they built up an extensive trade in the business of general merchandising. In 1881 he was elected to the assembly, and 1886 was a member of the New Jersey senate. He was one of the founders and president of the Tradesman bank, and one of the leading spirits in the development of Sea Isle City, N. J.

BAKER, ROBERT HALL, manufacturer, was born June 27, 1839, in Lake Geneva, Wis. Through an acquaintance with the late Jerome I. Case, manufacturer of threshing machines, Mr. Baker was finally induced to become a partner in Mr. Case's firm, and he remained successfully engaged in that business until death. He was state senator of Wisconsin in 1872-'76, and mayor of Racine in 1874

BAKER, SARAH WOODS, author, was born in 1824, in New Haven, Conn. She is the author of the following works: The Babes in the Basket; The Aunt Friendly Books; Timid Lucy; Pictures of Swedish Life; Our Elder Brother; Salt; and six volumes of stories. Her maiden name was Sarah Tuthill. Mrs. Woods-Baker resides in Sweden.

BAKER, STEPHEN, merchant, congressman, was born Aug. 12, 1819, in New York city. At an early age he engaged in mercantile pursuits, from which he retired in 1849 to a country seat in Dutchess county, N. Y. He was elected a representative from New York to the thirty-seventh congress.

BAKER, WILLIAM, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born April 29, 1831, in Washington county, Pa. He was brought up on a farm and graduated from Waynesburg college in 1856. He followed teaching as a profession a number of years, and while teaching studied law and was admitted to the bar. For the last thirteen years he has been engaged in farming and stock raising in Lincoln county, Kans.; and was elected to the fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses.

BAKER, WILLIAM B., merchant, congressman, was born July 22, 1840, near Aberdeen, Md. He was educated at public and private schools; worked upon a farm until thirty-two years of age, when he commenced fruit packing, and has been engaged in that business ever since. He has frequently been a delegate to state and congressional conventions, and although his county is strongly democratic, he was elected to the house of delegates as a republican in 1881 and to the state senate in 1893. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BAKER, WILLIAM H., artist, was born in 1825, in Lenox, N. Y. One of his best portraits is that of Bishop Quintard of Tennessee, painted for the episcopal general convention. He died May 29, 1875, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BAKER, WILLIAM H., educator, lawyer, cougressman, was born Jan. 17, 1827, in Lenox, N. Y. He removed with his parents to Oswego county in 1829, and received his education at the common schools. He became a mechanic and then a school teacher; studied law, and came to the bar in 1851. In 1862 was elected district attorney for Oswego county; re-elected in 1866, and in 1874 was chosen a representative from New York to the forty-fourth congress; and was re-elected to the forty-fifth congress.

BAKER, WILLIAM MUMFORD, clergyman, author, was born June 27, 1825, in Washington, D. C. He was a popular novelist who was a presbyterian clergyman in the southwest until 1870, and afterwards the pastor of a church in Boston. He was a vigorous writer of considerable originality, whose earlier works possess historic interest as pictures of a now past stage of civilization in the southern states. He was the author of Inside a Chronicle of Secession; The Virginians in Texas; Oak Mot; The New Timothy; Mose Evans; His Majesty Myself; Blessed St. Certainty; Thirlmore; Carter Quarterman; A Year Worth Living; Colonel Dunwoddie: Millionaire; The Making of a Man; The Ten Theophanies: the Manifestations of Christ before His Birth in Bethlehem; and John Westacott, a juvenile tale. He died Aug. 20, 1883, in South Boston, Mass.

BAKER, WILLIAM SPOHN, antiquarian, author, was born April 17, 1824, in Philadelphia, Pa. He possesses a collection of engraved portraits of George Washington which is the most complete that is known; and his number of medals of Washington is second only to that of William S. Appleton, of Boston; while his collection of biographies of Washington is the most noted in existence. He is the author of Origin and Antiqnity of Engraving; American Engravers and their Works; William Sharp, Engraver, and His Works; Engraved Portraits of Washington; Medallic Portraits of Washington; Character Portraits of Washington; Bibliotheca Washingtoniana; and Itinerary of George Washington.

BALBACH, EDWARD, smelter, refiner, inventor, was born March 19, 1804, in Germany. He patented a de-silverizing process, which has completely revolutionized the smelting of gold and silver in this country and in Europe, and which brought to his works a continual stream of consignments of gold and silver ores from all the western states and territories and Mexico, and afterward incorporated the business, with himself as president, as The Balbach Smelting and Refining Co. of Newark, N. J. He died Oct. 14, 1890.

BALBACH, EDWARD, metallurgist, inventor, was born July 4, 1839, in Germany. In 1864 he obtained letters patent for a new de-silverizing process for argentiferous lead, which was afterward known as the Balbach Process. He also invented the water jacket used for smelting and refining furnaces. In 1891 he was appointed president of the Balbach Smelting and Refining Co.

BALBACH, LEOPOLD, metallurgist, was born March 17, 1847, in Germany. He founded and incorporated the Omaha Smelting and Refining company of Omaha, Neb.; also established similar works at Chicago, Ill., and at Denver, Colo. For some past years he has been an extensive mine operator.

BALCH, ALFRED, jurist. He was an early emigrant to the territory of Florida, and in 1840 was appointed one of the United States judges for that territory.

BALCH, GEORGE BEALL, naval officer, was born Jan. 3, 1821, in Tennessee. He served in the Mexican war, and in 1850 was commissioned lieutenant. In 1861 he enlisted in the United States navy to serve in the civil war, and attained the rank of rear admiral. From 1879-'81 he was superiutendent of the naval academy at Annapolis, Md.

BALCH, WILLIAM STEVENS, clergyman, author. He was born in 1806 in Vermont. He was a universalist clergyman, loug resident at Elgin, Ill.; and author of Lectures on Language; Grammar of the English Language; Ireland as I Saw It; and A Peculiar People. He died in 1887.

BALDRIDGE, WILLIAM M., lawyer, legislator, was born March 13, 1863, in Saline County, Ark. He graduated from the Little Rock university, and from the law department of the Vanderbilt university. He has attained success as an eminent lawyer of his native state at Benton, and served as a representative in the Arkansas state legislature in 1893 and again in 1897.

BALDWIN, ABEL SEYMOUR, physician, state legislator, was born March 19, 1811, in Fulton, N. Y. He was the first president of the Florida, Atlantic and Gulf railroad; in 1852 was elected to the Florida legislature; in 1859 was a state senator, and in 1863 was made medical director of Florida and Georgia.

BALDWIN, ABRAHAM, lawyer, statesman, was boru Nov. 6, 1754, in Guilford, Conn. He was a graduate of Yale college in 1772, and from 1775 to 1779 was a tutor in that institution. Having studied law, settled in Savannah, Ga.; soon after his arrival there was chosen a member of the legislature; origiuated the plan of the nniversity of Georgia, drew up the charter, persuaded the assembly to adopt it, and was for some time its president; was a member of the continental congress from 1785 to 1788, and a member of the convention which framed the constitution of the United States, which he duly signed. From 1789 to 1799 he was a representative in congress from Georgia, and from 1799 to 1807 was a member of the United States senate. He died March 4, 1807, in Washington, D. C.

BALDWIN, ALBERT, merchant, manufacturer, financier, was born in 1834 in Watertown, Mass. He is now president of the hardware corporation of A. Baldwin and Co. of New Orleans, La., and is a prominent factor in the business world.

BALDWIN, ALEXANDER W., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1835 in Alabama. He received a legal education and settled in Virginia City, Nev.; in his thirtieth year was appointed United States judge for Nevada. His father, Joseph G. Baldwin, was the anthor of a popular book entitled The Flush Times of Alabama and Mississippi, and was judge of the supreme court of California. He was killed by a railroad accident Nov. 15, 1869, at Alameda, Cal.

BALDWIN, ASHBEL, clergyman, was born March 7, 1757, in Litchfield, Conn. He served as a quartermaster in the revolutionary war, and was ordained by Bishop Seabury in 1785—the first episcopal ordination in this country. He had preached about 10,000 times, baptized 3,010, married 600 couples, and assisted at the burial of about 3,000 individuals. He died Feb. 8, 1846, in Rochester, N. Y.

BALDWIN, AUGUSTUS C., lawyer, congressman, was born Dec. 24, 1817, in Salina, N. Y. In 1837 he emigrated to Michigan and settled in Oakland county; tanght school, and at the same time studied law, and came to the bar in 1842. In 1844 and 1846 was elected to the legislature of Michigan; in 1853 and 1854 was prosecuting attorney for his adopted county, and was a delegate to the Charleston and Baltimore conventions of 1860. In 1862 he was elected a representative from Michigan to the thirty-eighth congress.

BALDWIN, CHARLES H., naval officer, was born Sept. 3, 1822, in New York city. He entered the navy in 1839. In the war with Mexico he served on the frigate Congress, and in 1861 commauded the steamer Clifton. Jannary, 1883, he was raised to the rank of rear admiral, and assigned to the command of the Mediterranean squadron, and in 1884 was placed on the retired list. He died Nov. 17, 1888, in New York city.

BALDWIN, DANIEL PRATT, lawyer, jurist, author, was born March 22, 1837, in Madison county, N. Y. He gradnated from Cagmina seminary in 1852, the Colgate university in 1856, and from the Columbia Law school in 1860. He was judge of the circuit court in 1870, and attorney-general of Indiana in 1880. He is a platform speaker and a successful man of affairs.

BALDWIN, DAVID C., merchant, legislator, was born Sept. 18, 1836, in Elyria, Ohio. He entered mercantile business with his father and others in Elyria, Ohio, in 1855, continuing therein until 1893. As first lieutenant in the one hundred days service he was actively engaged in some lively skirmishes in West Virgiuia, where John Brown located. He has been connected with the historical society at Cleveland, Ohio, as incorporator and trustee, and is the donor of a fine archæological collection from American and foreign sources. He was elected to the seventy-second Ohio general assembly as a republican.

BALDWIN, EDWIN THOMAS, composer, was born July 19, 1832, in New Ipswich, N. H. He is a composer of band music and sacred qnartettes, and president of the New Hampshire State association.

BALDWIN, FREDERICK W., lawyer, author, was born Sept. 29, 1848, in Lowell, Vt. He is one of the leading lawyers of Vermont at Barton, and the author of Biography of the Bar of Orleans County, Vt. He has been presidential elector, and is prominent in the public enterprises of Barton, Vt., notably that of the Barton Manufacturing company and the Barton Hotel company.

BALDWIN, GEORGE COLFAX, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 21, 1817, in Pompton, N. J. He graduated from Madison university of Hamilton, N. Y., and has been for many years pastor of the First baptist church in Troy, N. Y. He is anthor of Representative Women of the Bible; Representative Men of the New Testament; and The Model Prayer; a volume of lectures and other works.

BALDWIN, GEORGE VAN NEST, lawyer, was born Jan. 23, 1838, in New York city. He is one of the ablest lawyers connected with the bar of New York, and the latter years of his life have been occupied more in the line of consultations than in court work.

BALDWIN, HENRY, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Jan. 14, 1780, in New Haven, Conn. He graduated at Yale college in 1797; was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1817 to 1822, when he resigned. He was a distinguished lawyer, and was for many years associate judge of the supreme court of the United States. He died April 21, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BALDWIN, HENRY CLAY, lawyer, legislator, was born Nov. 5, 1867, in Laurel county, Ky. After graduating he taught school for seven years, and in 1895 was elected a member of the Kentucky state legislature from the seventy-first legislative district.

BALDWIN, HENRY PORTER, state senator, governor, United States senator, was born Feb. 22, 1814, in Coventry, R. I. In 1838 he moved to Detroit, Mich; became president of the Second national bank of Detroit; and was for two years a state senator. In 1868 he was elected governor of Michigan, to which position he brought a full store of general information gathered from foreign travel and the study of men and books; and re-elected in 1870 for a second term. In 1879 he was appointed United States senator to fill a vacancy.

BALDWIN, JAMES MARK, educator, author, was born Jan. 12, 1861, in Columbia, S. C. In 1884 he graduated from the Princeton university, and has attained success as an educator. During 1887-89 be was professor in the Lake Forest university; professor in the university of Toronto during 1890-93; and since 1893 has been professor in the Princeton university. In 1897 he was elected president of the American Psychological association; and the same year was awarded a gold medal by the Royal academy of Denmark. He is the author of Psychology; Elements of Psychology; Mental Development in the Child and Man; and a translation of Ribot's German Psychology of To-Day.

BALDWIN, JEDUTHAN, soldier, was born Jan. 13, 1732, in Woburn, Mass. He commanded a company during the French and Indian war, and served in the expedition against Crown Point during the autumn of 1775. He served under General St. Clair at Ticonderoga in 1777, and with his regiment was at West Point in 1780. He was a member of the Massachusetts provincial congress in 1774-75. He died June 4, 1788, in Brookfield, Mass.

BALDWIN, JOHN, congressman, was born in Windham, Conn. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1825 to 1829.

BALDWIN, JOHN D., journalist, congressman, author, was born Sept. 28, 1810, in North Stonington, Conn. In 1842 he became associated with the press, first in Hartford, and then in Boston, and was editor of the Daily Commonwealth, a writer for the Advertiser, and subsequently became the proprietor of the Worcester Spy. He was a delegate to the Chicago convention of 1860; and in 1862 was elected a representative from Massachusetts to the thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congress, and in 1866 was elected to the fortieth congress. For many years he was particularly devoted to the study of ancient history, and was the author of Pre-Historic Nations; Ancient America; and Raymond Hill and other poems. He died July 8, 1883, in Worcester, Mass.

BALDWIN, JOSEPH, educator, author, was born Oct. 31, 1827, in New Castle, Pa. For half a century he has been engaged in educational work. He was president of the normal schools in Indiana for ten years; president of the North Missouri state normal school of Kirksville during 1871-81; president of the Texas state normal school of Huntsville during 1881-91; and since that time has been professor of pedagogy in the university of Texas. This eminent educator is the author of Art of School Management; Elementary Psychology; Psychology Applied to the Art of Teaching; and School Management and School Methods.

BALDWIN, JOSEPH ELIAS, lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 22, 1826, in New York city. In 1846 he graduated from the Wabash college of Crawfordsville, Ind., and taught school several years after graduation. He studied law in Buffalo, N. Y., and was admitted to the bar in 1858. In 1864 he was elected a member of the Missouri state senate from Potosi, Mo., and served with distinction for two years.

BALDWIN, JOSEPH G., jurist, author, was born in 1811 in Sumter, Ala. He was a popular humorous writer and a jurist of prominence in Alabama, and afterward of California, of which state he became chief justice. He is the author of Flush Times in Alabama and Mississippi; and Party Leaders, able papers on southern statesmen. He died Sept. 30, 1864, in San Francisco, Cal.

BALDWIN, MRS. LYDIA WOOD, author, was born in 1836 in Massachusetts. She is the author of Rubina; and A Yankee School-Teacher in Virginia.

BALDWIN, MARY H., educator, author, was born May 31, 1841, in Crawfordsville, Ind. For many years she taught with success in Glendale and Rutgers female colleges. She is the author of Voice-Placing for Elocution; Speech and Song; and teaches in New York city the way to restore lost voices by her methods.

BALDWIN, MATTHIAS WILLIAM, locomotive builder, was born Dec. 10, 1795. Under the name of M. W. Baldwin and Co. he started on a small scale the great works which yet bear his name. In 1835 fourteen engines were produced, and the next year forty, and the works now have a capacity of 1,200 engines per year. He died Sept. 7, 1866, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BALDWIN, MELVIN R., was born April 12, 1838, in Windsor county, Vt. He removed to Wisconsin in 1847; entered Lawrence university of Appleton in 1855; studied law, and then adopted civil engineering as a profession. He was engaged on Chicago and Northwestern railway till April 19, 1861, when he enlisted as a private in company E, second Wisconsin infantry, brigaded with the Iron brigade. He was slightly wounded at the first and severely wounded at the second battle of Bull Run; and promoted to captain of his company. He was captured at Gettysburg and confined in Libby, Charleston, and Columbia. He made two escapes, but was recaptured, and was finally exchanged after seventeen months' imprisonment. He removed to Minnesota in 1875, and has resided in Duluth since 1885; and president of Duluth chamber of commerce since 1886. He twice declined congressional nomination; and was elected to the fifty-third congress as a democrat. At close of congressional term he was appointed by President Cleveland chairman of the Chippewa Indian commission, holding this position until 1897.

BALDWIN, RODERICK, soldier, journalist, lawyer, was born May 17, 1833, in Stanford, N. Y. In 1862 he enlisted as first lieutenant in the one hundred and twenty-ninth New York infantry, and from 1863-64 was detailed judge advocate of the military commission. In 1870 he became editor and proprietor of the Standard of Warrensburg, Mo.

BALDWIN, ROGER SHERMAN, lawyer, United States senator, was born Jan. 4, 1793, in New Haven, Conn. In 1837 he was elected to the state senate; re-elected in 1838, and chosen president pro tempore of that body; and was a trustee of Yale college in 1838 and 1839. In 1840 and 1841 he was a representative in the general assemhly. In 1844 and 1845 he was governor of the state; in 1847 was appointed, and in 1848 elected, to the United States senate by the legislature of Connecticut, serving until 1851. He died Feb. 10, 1863, in New Haven, Conn.

BALDWIN, SIMEON, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Dec. 14, 1761, in Norwich, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Connecticut from 1803 to 1805, and declined a re-election. In 1806 he was appointed, by the legislature, associate judge of the superior court and of the supreme court of errors, and held the office until 1817. In 1822 he was chosen by the general assembly one of the commissioners to locate the Farmington canal, and was made president of that board. In 1826 he was elected mayor of New Haven. He died May 26, 1851, in New Haven, Conn.

BALDWIN, SIMEON EBEN, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 5, 1840, in New Haven, Conn. In 1872 he was professor of constitutional law in Yale university. In 1893 he became associate judge of the supreme court of errors of Connecticut. During 1872-87 he was a member of various state commissions for the revision of laws on education, pleading, taxation and general statutes. In 1890 he was president of the American Bar association; president of the American Social Science association in 1897; and during 1884-96 was president of the New Haven Colony Historical society.

BALDWIN, THERON, missionary, was born July 21, 1801, in Goshen, Conn. He went as a missionary to Illinois in 1829, but in 1831 he went east to solicit funds for the Illinois college, opened in Jacksonville. He was first principal of Monticello seminary. He died April 10, 1870, in Orange, N. J.

BALDWIN, THOMAS, clergyman, was born Dec. 23, 1753, in Bozrah, Conn. In 1773 he was elected to the Connecticut state legislature; in 1790 was installed pastor of the Second baptist church of Boston; and in 1803 he published the American Baptist Missionary Magazine. He died Aug. 29, 1825, in Waterville, Maine.

BALDWIN, WILLIAM ASHBRIDGE, railroad president, was born June 28, 1835, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1893 he has been president of the Cleveland and Marietta railway.

BALDWIN, W. H., railroad manager. In 1888-90 he was general manager of the Montana Union railway, of which he was also president for a short time. He has been assistant vice-president of the Union Pacific railway at Omaha, Neb.; was general manager of the Flint and Pere Marquette railroad during 1891-94; and since 1895 has been second vice-president of the Southern railway at Washington, D. C.

BALDWIN, WILLIAM S., railroad manager, was born Jan. 18, 1833, in Clarke county, Ga. Since 1852 he has been in the railway service; since 1885 has been supervisor of the Louisville and Nashville railroad; and since 1889 supervisor of the Jacksonville, Tampa and Key West railway at Sanford, Fla.

BALDWIN, WILLIAM W., railroad president, was born Sept. 28, 1845, in Keosauqua, Iowa. He is president of the St. Louis, Keokuk and Northwestern railroad; and also of the Chicago, Burlington and Kansas City railway.

BALDWIN, WINFRED, clergyman, was born Feb. 11, 1851, in Blenheim, N. Y. In 1872 he graduated from the New York Conference seminary; and six years later from the Boston University School of Theology. For eleven years he was a member of the East Maine conference of the methodist episcopal church; and since 1889 has been a member of the North Dakota conference.

BALES, ELISHA J., physician, was born in 1850 in Xenia, Ohio. He graduated from the Cincinnati Medical and Surgical college; and has attained eminence as a prominent physician of Pacific Junction, Iowa, where he is United States pension examiner, and examiner for the New York Life and the Mutual Insurance companies.

BALESTIER, CHARLES WOLCOTT, author, was born Dec. 30, 1861, in Rochester, N. Y. He was an American writer who established himself as a publisher in London, and whose sister was married to Rudyard Kipling, the novelist. He was the author of A Fair Device; Life of Blaine; A Victorious Defeat; Benefits Forgot; The Naulahka, with Rudyard Kipling, and A Common Story. He died in 1891.

BALKE, JULIUS, manufacturer, was born March 30, 1830, in Germany. In 1879 the New York billiard manufacturer, W. H. Collender, joined his corporation, and business has been conducted since then by The Brunswick-Balke-Collender Co.

BALL, BYRON D., lawyer, state senator, was born July 19, 1844, in Rochester, N. Y. In 1871-72 he was state senator of Michigan, and was chairman of the committee of railroads. He was elected attorney-general of Michigan in 1872 and served up to 1874, when he resigned on account of ill health. He built a block of stores in Grand Rapids, and was interested with his father in other enterprises.

BALL, CHARLES P., soldier, railroad manager, was born Aug. 16, 1837, in Montgomery county, Ala. Since 1853 he has been in the railroad service as civil engineer and general manager. During 1857-61 he attended the West Point academy, and served with distinction in the confederate army during the civil war. Since 1888 he has been general manager of the East and West railroad of Alabama at Cartersville, Ga.

BALL, EDWARD, congressman was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1853 to 1855, and was re-elected to the thirty-fourth congress.

BALL, EPHRAIM, inventor, was born Aug. 12, 1812, in Greentown, Ohio. The Ohio Mower was invented by Mr. Ball in 1854, and afterward he devised the World Mower and Reaper, and in 1858 the Buckeye Machine was brought out, all of which have sold extensively. He died Jan. 1, 1872, in Canton, Ohio.

BALL, GEORGE HARVEY, clergyman, college president, author, was born Dec. 7, 1819, in Canada. After graduating from the divinity school of Lewiston, Maine, he taught school in Ohio. For thirty years he was pastor of the baptist church in Buffalo, N. Y.; for seven years was editor of the Baptist Union of New York city; and in 1892 became president of the Keuka college, New York. He has always taken a deep interest in governmental affairs, and was a member of the first republican convention at Philadelphia, which nominated John C. Fremont for the presidency. He is the author of several books, and has contributed extensively to periodical literature.

BALL, GEORGE W. I., lawyer, conveyancer. He has been connected with railroads as military agent and general passenger and ticket agent; and since 1884 has been chief conveyancer of the Pennsylvania railroad of Philadelphia, Pa.

BALL, HERMAN F., civil engineer, railroad manager, was born Dec. 17, 1867, in Altoona, Pa. Since 1884 he has been in the railroad service; has been chief draftsman in the car department of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern railroad at Cleveland, Ohio; and since 1894 has been general car inspector of that company.

BALL, HOWARD J., railroad manager, was born May 23, 1852, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1863 he has been in the railroad service; and since 1887 has been general western passenger agent of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad at Buffalo, N. Y.

BALL, JOHN, lawyer, state legislator, philanthropist, was born Nov. 12, 1794, in Hebron, N. Y. In 1820 he graduated from Dartmouth college; taught school for a number of years; and from 1824 practiced law. In 1837 he settled in Grand Rapids, Mich.; in 1838 he was a representative in the Michigan state legislature; and was interested in schools, geology, lyceums and other local enterprises. He died Feb. 5, 1884, in Grand Rapids, Mich., and willed to that city forty acres of land, which is now known as the John Ball Park.

BALL, R. T. MASON, naval officer. In 1880 he entered the navy; in 1881 joined the Mayflower for a practice cruise with naval cadets. In 1884 he joined the monitor fleet and served two years; in 1885 joined the monitor Nantucket at New York for experimental cruise; and subsequently joined the United States naval station at New London, Conn.

BALL, THOMAS, sculptor, was born June 3, 1819, in Charlestown, Mass. In early life he was a singer of basso parts in oratorios, and a portrait painter in Boston. About 1852 he devoted himself to modeling, and made a miniature bust of Jenny Lind, another of Daniel Webster, and a life-size statue of the statesman. His statue of Webster, in the Central park of New York city, is his noblest work.

BALL, THOMAS H., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 14, 1859, in Huntsville, Tex. He was educated in private schools and Austin college, in his native town; afterwards obtained practical business training upon a farm and in the mercantile business; and served three terms as mayor of Huntsville. He attended lectures at the university of Virginia and was elected president of the law class. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a democrat.

BALL, WILLIAM CREIGHTON, educator, journalist, was born Dec. 27, 1846, in Terre Haute, Ind. For many years he taught school in his native city; and since 1872 has been proprietor and editor of the Terre Haute Daily, Evening and Weekly Gazette. He has always taken an active part in public affairs, and is a member of the Terre Haute board of park commissioners.

BALL, WILLIAM LEE, congressman, was born in 1779, in Lancaster county, Va. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1817 to 1824. He died Feb. 28, 1824, in Washington, D. C.

BALLANCE, ROBERT, railroad manager, was born Dec. 22, 1850, in Canada. Since 1866 he has been in the railway service as machinist to the Michigan Central railroad; and since 1870 general manager of the machinist department of the Burlington and Missouri River railroad at Denver, Colo.

BALLANTINE, JOHN G., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born May 20, 1827, in Pulaski, Tenn. He received a classical education, graduating from the university of Nashville in 1845. He studied law; graduated from Harvard law school in 1848; and was admitted to the bar. He engaged in planting; removed to Mississippi in 1855, and to Memphis, Tenn., in 1860. He served in the confederate army throughout the civil war; and was elected a representative from Tennessee to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses.

BALLANTINE, WILLIAM DUNCAN, soldier, civil engineer, state legislator, was born Feb. 21, 1837, near Whitesboro, N. Y. He graduated from the Georgia military institute of Marietta, and has attained note as a successful mechanical and hydraulic engineer. During the civil war he was in the confederate service and attained the rank of lieutenant colonel. He has been connected with various railroads as master mechanic and hydraulic engineer in Georgia and Florida. For four years he was commander of the first battalion Florida state troops; was aid-de-camp on the governor's staff; and in 1897 he was elected a member of the Florida state legislature from Fernandina.

BALLANTINE, WILLIAM GAY, educator, college president, was born Dec. 7, 1848, in Washington, D. C. In 1875 he was appointed professor of Greek in the university of Indiana; and in 1891 was elected president of Oberlin college

BALLANTYNE, REV. MARLIN J., educator, clergyman, poet, was born Aug. 30, 1852, near Brookville, Pa. He received his education in the public schools and at Dayton Union academy. For seven years he taught school, and for nearly twenty years has been engaged in the ministry. He is now presiding elder of the Oregon Conference of the United Evangelical Church, president of the La Fayette seminary, and teacher of political economy and ethics in the same institution. He has contributed extensively both prose and verse to the religious press.

BALLARD, ANDREW JACKSON, lawyer, journalist, legislator, was born about 1817. In 1842-43 he represented the city of Louisville in the legislature. In 1871 he became the principal political editor of the Louisville Daily and Weekly Commercial.

BALLARD, ASA N., soldier, physician, surgeon, was born Oct. 17, 1842, in Wilmington, Ohio. During the civil war he served with distinction in the forty-eighth regiment Ohio volunteer infantry, and was lieutenant. For many years he was superintendent of public schools in Illinois and Indiana, and principal of the Ward school of Indianapolis. He is now a successful physician of Birmingham, Ala.; has been president of the Alabama Homœopathic association; and president of the board of pensions of examining surgeons of Birmingham, Ala.

BALLARD, BLAND, pioneer, legislator, was born Oct. 16, 1761, in Fredericksburg, Va. As a major of Kentucky volunteers he led an expedition against the British and Indians at the river Raisin, in Michigan, in 1814, where he was wounded and taken prisoner. He was for several terms a member of the Kentucky legislature. Ballard county, Ky., and Blandville, its capital, commemorate his services during the early history of the state. He died Sept. 5, 1853, in Shelby county, Ky.

BALLARD, BLAND W., soldier, pioneer, legislator, was born Oct. 16, 1761, in Fredericksburg, Va. He was a noted pioneer; served in the war of 1812; and repeatedly represented Shelby county in the Kentucky legislature. He died Sept. 5, 1853.

BALLARD, EZRA H., educator, physician, was born Nov. 18, 1843, in Helena, N. Y. He received his education at the public schools; Fort Covington academy; State Normal school of Albany, N. Y.; and in 1868 graduated from the medical department of the university of Michigan. During 1871-73 he served as superintendent of schools in Emmet county, Iowa; and again during 1885-89, serving nearly eight years. During 1874-79 he was county treasurer; and since 1879 has given his whole attention to the practice of medicine at Westerville. In 1888 he was elected a member of the educational council, and has always taken an active part in educational matters.

BALLARD, HARLAN HOGE, educator, author, was born May 26, 1853, in Athens, Ohio. He is the founder and president of The Agassiz association, which was established in 1875 at Pittsfield, Mass. He is the author of Three Kingdoms; One Thousand Blunders of English Corrected; World of Matter; and with the Hon. S. Proctor Thayer was joint author of Barnes' Readers, and the American Plant-book.

BALLARD, HENRY, lawyer, lecturer, orator, politician, was born April 20, 1839, in Tinmouth, Vt. In 1861 he graduated from the university of Vermont; and from the Albany Law school in 1863. He served one year in the civil war in the fifth Vermont volunteer infantry. He has been city attorney of Burlington, Vt.; and states attorney of his county. In 1888-89 he was a member of the Vermont house of representatives, and a member of the state senate in 1878-79. He was the delegate from Vermont to the republican national convention in 1884; and assistant secretary of the national republican convention in 1888. He has filled many positions of honor; was one of the charter members of the Vermont Commandery of the Loyal Legion, and judge advocate of G. A. R. for Vermont.

BALLARD, HENRY E., naval officer, was born in 1785, in Maryland. He was a lieutenant on board the U. S. frigate Constitution in her famous action with the British cruisers Cyane and Levant in the bay of Biscay in 1815. He died May 23, 1855, in Annapolis.

BALLARD, MINNIE C., journalist, poet, was born in 1852, in Troy, Pa. Since 1873 she has been a constant contributor of poetry and prose to current literature.

BALLARD, TILGHMAN E., journalist, author, was born Nov. 11, 1850, in Boone county, Ind. He received his education at the Smithson college, and the DePauw university. He is best known as a law writer, and president of the Ballard Publishing company of Crawfordsville, Ind. He is the author of Ballards' Real Estate Statutes of Indiana; Ballards' Real Estate Statutes of Kentucky; Ballards' Ohio Law of Real Property; and various other works.

BALLINGER, RICHARD ACHILLES, lawyer, jurist, author, was born July 9, 1858, in Boonesboro, Iowa. In 1884 he graduated from the Williams college, Mass.; having previously prepared for college at the state university of Kansas, and Washburn college of Topeka. He has been eminently successful as a lawyer; acted as U. S. commissioner in 1890-92, under appointment of District U. S. Judge Hanford of Washington; and has held the high office of judge of superior court for Jefferson county, Wash. He is the author of Ballinger on Community Property, a law publication covering the property rights of married persons in several of the coast and southern states; and also author of Ballinger's Annotated Code and Statutes of Washington.

BALLOU, AARON BRYON, physician, scientist, was born July 29, 1831, in Eagle Harbor, N. Y. He is a distinguished scientist and owns one of the best individual geological and mineralogical collections in the state of Indiana.

BALLOU, MRS. ADDIE LUCIA, artist, poet, was born April 29, 1837, in Chagrin Falls, Ohio. She is a successful artist, journalist, and speaker of San Francisco, Cal., in which city she is president of the Nationalist club.

BALLOU, ADIN, clergyman, author, was born in 1803 in Rhode Island. He was a universalist clergyman of Milford, Mass., and the author of Christian Non-Resistance Defended; Treatise on Spirit Manifestations; Primitive Christianity and its Corruptions; and History of the Town of Milford. He died in 1890.

BALLOU, AURELIA A., writer, poet, was born in Hannibal, Mo. She is the author of over one thousand letters written to prominent newspapers, the first being written in 1859, and dated Florence, Italy. She has also contributed many meritorious poems to current literature, and her productions appear in Poets of America and other standard works.

BALLOU, DANIEL R., lawyer, legislator, was born Aug. 6, 1837, in Smithfield, R. I. He received his education in the schools of Rhode Island and the Brown university. During the civil war he served as a union soldier in the twelfth regiment of the Rhode Island volunteer infantry and was promoted lieutenant; also was colonel in the Rhode Island militia. He has served as a member of the Rhode Island general assembly from Smithfield and Providence. He has been a member of the city council of Providence, and president of the board of aldermen. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer, and is the senior member of the law firm of Ballou and Tower of Providence, R. I.

BALLOU, DANIEL W., soldier, journalist, was born Feb. 26, 1837, in Cuyahoga Falls, Ohio. He served as a union soldier in company K, tenth regiment Illinois infantry. He participated in fifteen engagements, and his dash and bravery became proverbial in the army. He carried an unextricable rebel bullet in his lungs for twenty-three years, and finally died from its effects March 9, 1885, in Oakland, Cal.

BALLOU, ELI, D. D., clergyman, journalist, was born Dec. 1, 1808, in Leroy, N. Y. From 1840 to 1870 he was the owner and editor of the universalist periodical, entitled The Christian Repository. He died March 12, 1883.

BALLOU, FREDERICK MILTON, manufacturer, legislator, was born June 21, 1818, in Cumberland, R. I. He was a successful woolen manufacturer and represented the city of Baltimore in the state legislature in 1870 and 1883, and for three years was a member of the city council. He died in 1889.

BALLOU, HENRY LATIMER, financier, legislator, was born Oct. 14, 1841, in Cambridge, Mass. He is a successful financier and treasurer of various banks and societies. He was elected to the Rhode Island state senate in 1888.

BALLOU, HOSEA, clergyman, author, was born April 30, 1771, in Richmond, N. H. He is justly regarded as the most distinguished Ballou in America, and two separate volumes have been published to commemorate his celebrity. He was the author of a treatise on Atonement; Notes on the Parables, and other religious works. He was the founder of universalism, and established the first newspaper devoted to this doctrine. After sixty years of public service, he died June 7, 1852, in Boston, Mass.

BALLOU, HOSEA, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 18, 1796, in Halifax, Vt. He was a universalist clergyman and the first president of Tufts college in 1854-61. He was the author of Ancient History of Universalism. He died May 27, 1861, in Somerville, Mass.

BALLOU, HOSEA, farmer, merchant, genealogist, was born July 12, 1827, in Fenner, N. Y. He is a successful business man, and aided greatly in collecting historical data for the genealogy of the Ballou family.

BALLOU, HOSEA STARR, banker, was born Feb. 9, 1857, in North Orange, Mass. He graduated from the Harvard university and the university of Berlin, and is a successful financier and banker of Boston, Mass.

BALLOU, LATIMER WHIPPLE, financier, banker, legislator, author, was born March 1, 1812, in Cumberland, R. I. He commenced life as a printer, and was one of the founders of the Cambridge Press, with which he remained for seven years. In 1850 he became treasurer and bank cashier of the Woonsocket Institution for Savings, the deposits of which institution rose to five million dollars under his sagacious and judicious management. He has always taken a deep interest in public affairs; was presidential elector in 1860; delegate from Rhode Island to the national republican convention in 1872; elected a representative in congress in 1874, receiving the re-election the two succeeding terms, and filled that office with distinction. He is the author of the Ballou Genealogy, a work which reflects great honor on himself and his descendants.

BALLOU, MATURIN MURRAY, publisher, author, was born April 14, 1820, in Boston, Mass., and a son of H. Ballou, 2nd. He is the founder and editor of several periodicals in Boston which bore his name, and, in his later years, a traveler to all parts of the world. He is the author of History of Cuba; Life of Hosea Ballou; Due West, or Round the World in Ten Months; Due South, or Cuba Past and Present; Due North: Glimpses of Scandinavia and Russia; Under the Southern Cross: Travels in Australia, Tasmania, New Zealand, etc.; Alaska: The New Eldorado; Aztec Land; The Story of Malta; The Pearl of India, a description of Ceylon; Equatorial America, a description of visits to the Lesser Antilles and to South American capitals; and Footprints of Travel.

BALLOU, MOSES, clergyman, author, was born March 24, 1811, in Monroe, Mass. He was a nephew of H. Ballou, 1st, and, like him, a universalist clergyman. He was the author of The Divine Character Vindicated. He died May 19, 1879, in Atco, N. J.

BALLOU, NAHUM ENON, physician, scientist, author, was born Sept. 16, 1822, in Plymouth, N. Y. He has been a student of meteorology for nearly half a century, and is the author of a number of works on that subject. Since 1863 he has been United States pension surgeon, being now one of the oldest in the service.

BALLOU, OREN ALDRICH, manufacturer, legislator, was born Aug. 22, 1813, in Cumberland, R. I. He was a successful manufacturer and represented the city of Providence in the state legislature in 1867-78. He died Feb. 21, 1877.

BALLOU, PHINEAS DODGE, legislator, was born March 3, 1823, in Starksborough, Vt. For two terms he was mayor of Burlington, Vt., and served as a member in the Vermont state legislature. He died Jan. 16, 1877, in Deadwood, N. D.

BALLOU, SULLIVAN, soldier, lawyer, state legislator, was born March 28, 1827, in Smithfield, R. I. He was a successful lawyer; became a member of the Rhode Island house of representatives, and was unanimously chosen speaker. He was one of the most prominent men of his native state; and lost his life at the disastrous battle of Bull Run.

BALSLEY, ALFRED H., journalist, was born Dec. 15, 1828, in Pittsburg, Pa. In 1853 he purchased the Grand River Record; in 1876 purchased the Jeffersonian; and was also the proprietor of the Attica Journal and the Carey Times of Ohio.

BALTES, PETER JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born April 7, 1827, in Bavaria. He studied at the college of the Holy Cross, Worcester, Mass., at St. Ignatius college, Chicago, and at Lavalle university, Montreal, and was ordained priest in 1853, and consecrated bishop of Alton in 1870. He was the author of Pastoral Instruction. He died Feb. 15, 1886, in Alton, Ill.

BALTZER, HERMAN R., merchant, was born Feb. 16, 1826, in Germany. He has been Russian vice-consul in New York city, and was a member of a European banking house. Mr. Baltzer is a director of the Germania Life Insurance company, and vice-president of the Colorado Central Consolidated Mining company of New York city.

BAMPFIELD, SAMUEL JONES, lawyer, journalist, legislator, was born Dec. 5, 1849, in Charleston, S. C. He received his education at the Lincoln university of Chester county, Pa. In 1874 he was admitted to the bar by the supreme court; was a member of the state legislature of South Carolina in 1874-76; and clerk of the circuit court during 1876-96. In 1897 he was appointed postmaster of Beaufort, S. C.; and since 1888 has been the editor and proprietor of The New South.

BANCROFT, AARON, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 10, 1755, in Reading, Pa. He was a unitarian clergyman of Worcester, Mass., in 1785-1839, and was prominent in the earlier days of the unitarian movement as a writer in its behalf. He was the author of Sermons on the Doctrines of the Gospel; and A Life of Washington. He died Aug. 19, 1839, in Worcester, Mass.

BANCROFT, EDWARD, physician, author, was born Jan. 9, 1744, in Westfield, Mass. He was a physician who resided chiefly in London, where he was supposed to have been a spy of the English government during the American revolution. He was the author of Natural History of Guiana; Researches Concerning the Philosophy of Permanent Colors; Charles Wentworth: a Novel; and several political works. He died Sept. 8, 1820, in England.

BANCROFT, MRS. FLORENCE MAI, poet. She is a successful writer of Lexington, Neb.; and the author of a number of meritorious poems.

BANCROFT, GEORGE, historian, was born Oct. 3, 1800, in Worcester, Mass. He commenced his education at Exeter academy, N. H., and graduated at Cambridge university in 1817. In 1818 he visited Europe, studied at Gottingen and Berlin, and traveled extensively. In 1823 he published a volume of poems; in 1824 a translation of Heeren's Politics of Greece; and became a frequent contributor to the North American and other reviews. On his return from Europe he spent one year as a tutor at Harvard; and was at the head of the Round Hill school at Northampton. From 1838 to 1841 he was collector of the port of Boston, appointed by President Van Buren; in 1844 was an unsuccessful candidate for the governorship of Massachusetts; in 1845 was appointed secretary of the navy; and in 1846 was appointed minister to Great Britain, remaining there until 1849. On his return settled in New York and became an active member of various learned societies. In 1844 he published the first volume of his History of the United States, which now contains twelve volumes; in 1855 published his Literary and Historical Miscellanies; in 1865, by invitation of congress, delivered, in the capitol, an oration on the death of Abraham Lincoln; and in 1867 was appointed minister to Prussia. He died in 1891.

BANCROFT, HUBERT HOWE, publisher, author, was born May 5, 1832, in Granville, Ohio. Early in life he moved to San Francisco, Cal., and there opened the first book store on the Pacific coast. He subsequently added a publishing establishment, which has become the largest publishing house west of New York city. He has impressed himself upon the literature of the nineteenth century, by a colossal work entitled History of the Pacific States of North America, including Central America, Mexico, California, Oregon and British Columbia, in thirty-nine volumes. He is also the author of The Native Races of the Pacific States, in five volumes; The Early American Chroniclers; Popular History of the Mexican People; Literary Industries, an autobiography; The Book of the Fair; and Wealth of Nations.

BANCROFT, LUCIUS W., educator, clergyman, was born Aug. 27, 1827, in Worcester, Mass. In 1862 he was professor of divinity in Kenyon college, Gambier, Ohio; for five years professor in the divinity school of Philadelphia, Pa.; and has filled pastorates in the episcopal churches of South Brooklyn, N. Y.

BANCROFT, WILLIAM L., was born Aug. 12, 1825, in Martinsburg, N. Y. In 1859 he was a representative; in 1865 a senator of the Michigan state legislature, and was secretary of the state senate in 1849. He has been a democratic nominee for congress and for secretary of state. He was the first mayor of Port Huron, Mich., and has been postmaster of that city.

BANDELIER, ADOLPH FRANCIS ALPHONSE, archæologist, author, was born Aug. 6, 1840, in Switzerland. He is the author of The Art of War and Mode of Warfare; Tenure of Land and Inheritances of the Ancient Mexicans; Historical Introduction to Studies among the Sedentary Indians of New Mexico; Archæological Tour in Mexico in 1881; and The Delight Makers, a novel of Pueblo Indian Life.

BANES, CHARLES H., soldier, author, was born Oct. 24, 1831, in Philadelphia, Pa. He served through the civil war, and attained the rank of lieutenant-colonel in 1864. He is the author of a volume entitled History of the Philadelphia Brigade.

BANGS, FRANCIS C., actor, was born in October, 1837, in Virginia. His first appearance on the stage was in November, 1852, in the Old National theater, Washington, D. C.

BANGS, FRANCIS NEHEMIAH, lawyer, was born Feb. 23, 1828, in New York city. He was one of the original members of the Bar association of New York, and was its president in 1882 and 1883. He was one of the originators of the Union League club in New York city. He died Nov. 30, 1885, in Ocala, Fla.

BANGS, JOHN KENDRICK, journalist, author, was born in 1862 in New York. He is a humorous writer of Yonkers, N. Y., and one of the founders of Life. He is the author of Three Weeks in Politics; Coffee and Repartee; The Idiot; The Water Ghost; Mr. Bonaparte of Corsica; A House Boat on the Styx; The Bicyclers and Other Farces; Toppleton's Client; and A Rebellious Heroine.

BANGS, NATHAN, clergyman, author, was born May 2, 1778, in Stratford, Conn. He was an active methodist theologian and controversialist, very prominent in the literary history of his church and a most prolific writer. Among his works are comprised History of the Methodist Episcopal Church to 1840; Errors of Hopkinsianism; Life of Arminius; Letters to a Young Preacher; Letters on Sanctification; and Methodist Episcopacy. He died May 3, 1862, in New York city.

BANIGAN, JOSEPH, manufacturer, was born June 7, 1839, in Ireland. He organized The Woonsocket Rubber company in 1866, and has ever since been its president and general manager, making his home in Providence, R. I.

BANISTER, JOHN, congressman. He was a delegate from Virginia to the continental congress from 1778 to 1779, and signed the articles of confederation.

BANISTER, JOHN, botanist, author, was born in 16— in England. He was a Virginia botanist who assisted the English naturalist, John Ray, and was the author of Observations on the Natural Productions of Jamaica; Insects of Virginia; Curiosities of Virginia; The Unseen Lupus; and The Pistolochia, or Serpentaria Virginiana. The genus Banisteria was named in his honor. He died in 1692 in Virginia.

BANISTER, JOHN, soldier, legislator, was born in Virginia. He was a member of the state assembly, and of the continental congress from 1778 to 1779. In 1781, as lieutenant-colonel of Virginia cavalry, he took an active part in repelling the British from his state. He died 1787 in Hatchers Run, Va.

BANKARD, HENRY NICHOLAS, business man, was born Dec. 23, 1834, in Baltimore, Md. He published a paper which was strongly commended for its breadth of view and its force of statement. He was one of the founders of the real estate exchange of Baltimore, and is also director of the Taxpayer association.

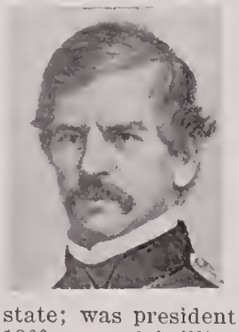
BANKHEAD, JOHN H., farmer, soldier, congressman, was born Sept. 13, 1842, in Lamar, Ala. He is a farmer; served four years in the confederate army, being wounded three times, and represented Marion county in the general assembly, sessions of 1865, 1866, and 1867; he was a member of the state senate in 1876-77, and of the house of representatives in 1880-81. He was warden of the Alabama penitentiary from 1881 till 1885, and was elected to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third, fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses as a democrat.

BANKHEAD, JOHN PINE, naval officer, was born Aug. 3, 1821, in South Carolina. He entered the navy as a midshipman; was made a lieutenant in 1852; commander in 1862; and captain in 1866. He died April 27, 1867, in Arabia.

BANKS, EUGENE, lawyer, poet. He is a successful lawyer of Chicago, Ill., and the author of a volume of poems entitled Where Brooks Go Softly.

BANKS, GARDNER, soldier, was born in Waltham, Mass. At the beginning of the civil war he raised a company for the sixteenth Massachusetts regiment, in which he rose to the rank of colonel in 1862. Gen. Hooker said, in a letter to Governor Andrew: There is no doubt but at Glendale the sixteenth Massachusetts saved the army. He died July 9, 1871, in Waltham, Mass.

BANKS, JOHN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born in 1793 in Juniata county, Pa. He received a classical education; studied law; came to the bar in 1819, and settled in the western part of the state. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1831 to 1836, when he resigned to accept the appointment of president judge of the third judicial district of the state. He died April 3, 1864, in Reading.



BANKS, LINN, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was for twenty successive years speaker of the house of delegates of that state. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1838 to 1842. He was drowned Feb. 24, 1842, in Madison county, Va.

BANKS, LOUIS ALBERT, clergyman, was born in 1855 in Oregon. He is a prominent methodist clergyman and the author of The Saloon Keeper's Ledger, a Series of Temperance Discourses; The Fisherman and his Friends; Common Folks' Religion; Revival Quiver, a Record of Revival Campaigns; The People's Christ; White Slaves, or the Oppression of the Worthy Poor; The Honeycombs of Life; and Christ and His Friends.

BANKS, MARY ROSS, author, was born March 4, 1846, in Macon, Ga. Her literary fame was attained principally through her book entitled Bright Days on the Old Plantation, which was published in 1882.

BANKS, MAUD, actress, after a course of study and training at the New York school of acting, went upon the stage in 1886, making her first appearance at Portsmouth, N. H., in the character of Parthenia in Ingomar.

BANKS, NATHANIEL P., legislator, governor, was born in 1816 in Waltham, Mass. He worked in a cotton factory; lectured in public; edited a country newspaper; held a custom house position; practiced law; in 1849 and 1851 was sent to the state legislature; in 1852 was member of congress; in 1853 presided over the state constitutional convention; was three times elected governor of his state; was president of the I. C. R. R. in 1860; served brilliantly as commander in the Union army, and was several times re-elected to congress. He died in 1894.

BANNEKER, BENJAMIN, astronomer, was born Nov. 9, 1731, at Ellicott's Mills, Md. He was an astronomer and mathematician of African descent, who assisted in the original survey of the District of Columbia and published an astronomical almanac 1792-1806. He died in October, 1806, in Baltimore, Md.

BANNING, EPHRAIM, lawyer, was born July 21, 1849, near Bushnell, Ill. He received his education at the public schools and the academy at Brookfield, Mo. He moved to Chicago in 1871, and the following year opened a law office. He has made a specialty of patent and trademark law, and is one of the best known lawyers in his branch of profession in Chicago. In 1896 he was a presidential elector, and in 1897 was appointed by Governor Tanner a member of the state board of charities.

BANNING, HENRY B., general, lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 10, 1834, in Mount Vernon, Ohio. He received an academic education; studied and practiced law at Mount Vernon, Ohio, until 1861, when he enlisted as a private soldier; rose to the rank of brevet major-general. He represented Knox county in the Ohio legislature in 1866 and 1867; removed to Cincinnati in the year 1869, where he resumed the practice of law. He was elected to the forty-third, forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses.

BANNISTER, E. M., artist, was born in 1833, in Andrews, New Brunswick. He studied art at the Lowell institute, Boston, and spent the greater part of his professional life there. In 1871 he removed to Providence, R. I. He has contributed regularly to the Boston Art club exhibitions. His picture Under the Oaks was awarded a first-class medal at the centennial exhibition of 1876.

BANTA, MELISSA E., poet, was born March 27, 1834, in Cincinnati, Ohio; has attained prominence in literature, and her poems have been given a place in several standard publications. She is the wife of Judge Banta, of Bloomington, Ind.

BANVARD, JOHN, artist, author, poet, was born about 1820, in New York. He was an artist and poet whose famous panorama of the Mississippi covered three miles of canvas. He wrote much indifferent verse, and published books of a miscellaneous nature. He was the author of Amasis, the Last of the Pharaohs, afterward dramatized by him; Carrinia: a Drama; Description of the Mississippi River; Pilgrimage to the Holy Land; The Private Life of a King; A Tradition of the Temple, and a Poem. He died in 1891.

BANVARD, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born May 9, 1810, in New York city, and a brother of John Banvard. He was a baptist clergyman of Massachusetts, who beside contributing somewhat largely to Sunday-school literature wrote much in other directions. He is the author of Romance of American History; Plymouth and the Pilgrims; Novelties of the New World, or Adventures and Discoveries of the First Explorers; Tragic Scenes in the History of Maryland; The American Statesman, a Memoir of Webster; Southern Explorers; Soldiers and Patriots of the Revolution; and Priscilla.

BARAGA, FRIEDRIC, missionary, author, was born June 29, 1797. He was a Roman Catholic missionary who came to America in 1830 from Austria, and became bishop of Sault Ste. Marie in 1852. He devoted himself to mission work among the Chippewa or Ojibway Indians, and beside writing several books in their tongue prepared a Grammar and Dictionary of the Otchipewe Language. He died Jan. 19, 1868, in Marquette, Mich.

BARBE, WAITMAN, lecturer, journalist, author, poet, was born Nov. 19, 1863, in Morgantown, W. Va. He is the editor of the Daily State Journal of Parkersburg, W. Va., and the author of Ashes and Incense, a volume of poems containing gems of rare genius; and a volume of short stories, entitled In the Virginias. He has also attained prominence as a lecturer before schools and colleges on literary and educational subjects.

BARBEE, WILLIAM J., educator, clergyman, physician, author, was born in 1816 in Winchester, Ky. He was educated at Miami university, Oxford, Ohio, and studied medicine with Dr. Drake, of Cincinnati, where he practiced from 1836 to 1846. He afterward taught school in Kentucky, Tennessee, and Missouri, and also became a preacher of the Christian or Campbellite denomination. He is the author of Physical and Moral Aspects of Geology (Philadelphia, 1859); The Cotton Question; The Scriptural Doctrine of Confirmation; Life of the Apostle Peter, and other works.

BARBER, AMZI LORENZO, capitalist, was born June 22, 1843, at Saxton's River, Vt. In 1867 he graduated from Oberlin college with the degree of A. B.; and in 1868 took charge of the preparatory department of the Howard university of Washington. In 1887 he resigned from the professorship to engage in the real estate business; and since 1878 has been identified with asphalt pavement. He is president of the Barber Asphalt Pavement company; president of the celebrated Trinidad Asphalt company; and their asphalt pavements are used in the principal cities of the United States. He is one of the foremost business men of Washington, D. C.

BARBER, FRANCIS, soldier, was born in 1751, in Princeton, N. J. In 1767 he graduated from Princeton college; and during 1769-76 he conducted an academy in Elizabethtown, N. J. He served with distinction through the revolutionary war, and attained the rank of adjutant general. He was accidentally killed by a falling tree Feb. 11, 1783, in Newburg.

BARBER, GEORGE FRANKLIN, architect, was born July 30, 1854, in DeKalb, Ill. He is well known as an architect of Knoxville, Tenn.; and a writer on architectural subjects.

BARBER, GERSHOM M., soldier, educator, lawyer, jurist, was born Oct. 2, 1823, in Cayuga county, N. Y. He was professor in Baldwin institute four years and principal two years. He served in the civil war and rose to the rank of brigadier-general. In 1873 he was elected judge of the superior court of Cleveland; in 1875 served on the bench of the court of common pleas; and served two terms as a member of the city council of Cleveland, Ohio.

BARBER, HIRAM, lawyer, congressman, was born March 24, 1835, in Warren county, N. Y. He removed to Wisconsin in 1846, and was educated at the State university at Madison; studied law and was admitted to the bar. He was district attorney of Jefferson county, Wis., in 1861-62; was assistant attorney general of the state in 1865-66; and in 1866 moved to Chicago, Ill. He was elected a representative from Illinois to the forty-sixth congress.

BARBER, HOMER G., business man, state senator, was born in 1830, in Benson, Vt. He removed to Vermontville, Mich., and became a merchant, and in 1871 engaged in banking. In 1871-72 he was state senator from Eaton and Barry counties. In 1861 he was appointed postmaster of Vermontville, and held that position eleven years.

BARBER, ISAAC, physician, surgeon, state senator, was born Sept. 4, 1854, at Forty Fort, Pa. He is a physician by profession. He studied medicine, and graduated from the university of Pennsylvania in 1879. He served as medical director of the Metropolitan Life Insurance company in New York city for one year, and located at Phillipsburg, N. J., in 1880. In 1897 he was elected a member of the New Jersey state senate, and has since continued in active practice.

BARBER, ISAAC AMBROSE, physician, business man, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 26, 1852, near Salem, N. J. He graduated from the Hahnemann medical college of Philadelphia, Pa. In 1873 he moved to Easton, Md.; practiced medicine for fifteen years; and since that time has been engaged in milling. He has been president of the Farmers' and Merchants National bank of Easton, Md.; was a member of the Maryland state legislature in 1895-96; and in 1896 was elected a member of the fifty-fifth congress.

BARBER, J. ALLEN, lawyer, congressman, was born in Georgia, Vt. He obtained a liberal education at the university of Vermont; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1833. In 1837 he removed to the territory of Wisconsin; and was a member of the first constitutional convention of Wisconsin in 1846. He was elected to the state assembly in 1852, 1853, and 1863, serving the last year as speaker. He was elected to the state senate in 1856 and 1857; was elected to the forty-second and forty-third congresses; and served with ability on numerous important committees.

BARBER, JOHN JAY, soldier, lawyer, artist, was born Sept. 21, 1840, in Sandusky, Ohio. He studied law, was admitted to the bar in 1862; joined the volunteer army in 1863; returned sick, and upon recovery determined to devote himself to painting. He received no instruction in art, but settled in Columbus, Ohio, in 1871, and opened a studio. He devoted himself at first to landscapes, delineating scenes in the Muskingum valley. Subsequently he executed cattle pieces, and after 1881 exhibited in the National academy in New York.

BARBER, JOHN WARNER, author, was born Feb. 2, 1798, in Windsor, Conn. He was an industrious annalist whose compilations, though of slight literary merit, are valuable as historical material not so readily accessible elsewhere. He is the author of Historical Collections of Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Virginia, and Ohio, the four last being prepared with the assistance of Henry Howe; History of New Haven; Elements of General History; and Historical Scenes in the United States. He died in June, 1885, in New Haven, Conn.

BARBER, LEVI, congressman, was born in Litchfield county, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1817 to 1819, and again from 1821 to 1823.

BARBER, MARY AUGUSTINE, educator, was born in 1789, in Newtown, Conn. She entered the visitation convent of Georgetown in 1818 with her four daughters. She was a woman of superior education, and the convent and school progressed rapidly during her residence. In 1836 she founded a convent of the visitation in Kaskaskia, Ill., where she remained until 1844. She died in 1860, in Mobile, Ala.

BARBER, NOYES, merchant, lawyer, congressman, was born April 28, 1781, in Groton, Conn. He was in early life a merchant, but a lawyer by profession; and was a representative in congress from his native state from 1821 to 1835. He died Jan. 3, 1845, in Groton, Conn.

BARBER, OTHO C., president of the Diamond Match company, was born April 20, 1841, in Middlebury, N. Y. In 1880, The Barber Match company, of which he was at the head, was making over one-fourth of the matches manufactured in the United States. About this time, Mr. Barber saw the advantages of consolidating a number of the leading manufactories, and instead of thirty factories being required for their manufacture, ninety per cent. of the matches in America are now manufactured in five factories. In 1889 The American Straw Board company was organized with $6,000,000 capital, with Mr. Barber as president, in which position he served until 1894. In 1891 Mr. Barber and associates founded the town of Barberton, Ohio. He is president of The Ohio Tube company, of Warren, Ohio, and of The Barberton Belt Line Railroad company.

BARBER, WILLIAM ALEXANDER, lawyer, was born Sept. 10, 1869, in Chester, county, S. C. In 1889 he graduated with distinction from the South Carolina college, and received the degrees of A. B. and LL. B. In 1894 he was elected attorney general of South Carolina, and in 1896 received the re-election without opposition.

BARBOUR, G. L., author, poet. He is the author of The End of Time; and his poems have appeared in numerous collections.

BARBOUR, GEORGE HARRISON, manufacturer, was born June 26, 1843, in Collinsville, Conn. He is the president and general manager of the Michigan Stove company; first president of the Chamber of Commerce; president of the Manufacturing club; director of the Buck Stove and Range company, of St. Louis, Mo.; ex-president of the National Association Stove manufactory; and served as president of the city council of Detroit in 1888. He has taken an active part in the business and public affairs of his city and state; and has been foremost in various public improvements and charitable works.

BARBOUR, JAMES, state senator, governor, was born June 10, 1775, in Orange county, Va. He was speaker of the house of delegates, and governor of that state; and was a senator in congress from 1815 to 1825. He was appointed secretary of war in 1825, and minister to England in 1828. He died June 8, 1842, in Orange county, Va.

BARBOUR, JOHN HUMPHREY, educator, clergyman, author, was born in 1854, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He is an episcopal clergyman, professor of New Testament interpretation at the Berkeley Divinity school of Middletown, Conn.; and the author of Beginnings of the Historic Episcopate.

BARBOUR, JOHN S., congressman, was born Aug. 8, 1790, in Culpeper county, Va. He was in early life a member of the state legislature; from 1823-33 a member of congress from Virginia; member of the constitutional convention in 1829-30; and again in the state legislature in 1833-34. He died Jan. 12, 1855, in Culpeper county, Va.

BARBOUR, JOHN S., lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Dec. 29, 1820, in Culpeper county, Va. He began the practice of law in his native county of Culpeper; was elected to the legislature of Virginia from Culpeper county in 1847, and was re-elected, serving four consecutive sessions. He was elected president of the railroad company then called the Orange and Alexandria Railroad company in 1852, and served in that position until it was merged into what is now known as the Virginia Midland Railroad company, of which he was president till he resigned, in 1883. He was elected to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth, and forty-ninth congresses, and was elected to the United States senate, serving during 1889-95.

BARBOUR, JOSEPH L., lawyer, legislator. From 1877 to 1884 he was prosecuting attorney of Hartford, Conn. He is a popular member of the Connecticut state legislature and the speaker of the house.

BARBOUR, LUCIEN, educator, lawyer, congressman, was born March 4, 1811, in Canton, Conn. He was appointed, by President Polk, United States district attorney; acted a number of times as arbitrator between the state of Indiana and private corporations; and in 1852 was appointed a commissioner to prepare a code of practice for the state. He was a representative from Indiana in the thirty-fourth congress.

BARBOUR, LUCIUS ALBERT, manufacturer, was born Jan. 26, 1846, in Madison, Ind. In 1882 he became identified with The Willimantic Linen Co., a concern organized in 1854, which was the first to make all sizes of six-cord spool cotton from the raw material, and is now president and treasurer of that great industry.

BARBOUR, OLIVER LORENZO, lawyer, author, was born July 12, 1811, in Cambridge, N. Y. He was an eminent lawyer of New York state; and the author of Equity Digest; Criminal Law; The Law of Set-Off; Practice of the Court of Chancery; and Summary of the Law of Parties to Actions at Law, and many legal reports. He died Dec. 18, 1889, in Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

BARBOUR, PHILIP P., lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born May 25, 1783, in Orange county, Va. He was a member of congress from Virginia from 1814-25 and 1827-30; speaker of the house of representatives in 1821; and in 1825 was appointed judge of the eastern district of Virginia. In 1836 he was appointed associate judge of the supreme court of the United States. He died Feb. 25, 1841, in Washington city.

BARBOUR, ROBERT, manufacturer. With his brother Thomas he established the industry in Paterson, N. J., under the name of The Barbour Flax Spinning Co., Robert being president of the company.

BARBOUR, THOMAS, manufacturer, was born July 9, 1832, in Ireland. In 1865 The Barbour Flax Spinning Co. was established, with mills in Paterson, Thomas Barbour becoming president until 1875, when Robert was elected president and Thomas vice-president and treasurer. He died Jan. 19, 1885.

BARBOZA, MARY GARNET, missionary, was born Jan. 17, 1845, in Troy, N. Y. In 1881 her father was appointed United States missionary to Liberia, and she accompanied him to Africa. She visited the United States and England and secured many friends for the two hundred native children that composed her native school. She died Dec. 2, 1890, in Liberia, Africa.

BARCLAY, DAVID, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1855-57.

BARCLAY, JAMES TURNER, clergyman, author, was born in 1807, in Virginia. He was a leading clergyman of the Campbellite faith, and for many years a missionary in Jerusalem. He is best known as the author of The City of the Great King, a description of Jerusalem. He died in 1874.

BARCLAY, ROBERT, physician, was born May 8, 1857, in St. Louis, Mo. In 1883 he was elected assistant aural surgeon in the New York Eye and Ear infirmary, serving until 1885, when he resigned, and removed to St. Louis, Mo. By the St. Louis Medical society he was appointed a delegate to the American Medical association in 1888 and in 1893.

BARCLAY, SHEPARD, lawyer, jurist, was born Nov. 3, 1847, in St. Louis, Mo. He received his education in the public and high schools, St. Louis university, university of Virginia and Berlin university. He began the practice of law in 1872; in 1882 was elected circuit judge in St. Louis; and in 1888 was made a judge of the supreme court.

BARCLAY, WILLIAM FRANKLIN, physician, was born Feb. 13, 1842, in Jacksonville, Pa. He discovered and applied gold compounds in 1893, in which he successfully combined gold with bromine, mercury, arsenic, and other metals, in the face of the decree of chemistry that such compounds were impossible.

BARD, DAVID, congressman, was a graduate of Princeton college in 1773. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1795 to 1799, and again from 1803 to 1815. He died in 1815, in Virginia.

BARD, JOHN, founder of St. Stephen's college, was born June 2, 1819, in Hyde Park, N. Y. He was the founder of St. Stephen's college, at Annandale, N. Y., a diocesan training-school for students for the ministry of the Protestant Episcopal church, preparatory to entrance in the general theological seminary in New York city.

BARD, WILLIAM, was born in October, 1777, in New York. He was a pioneer in life insurance in the United States, and for twelve years from its foundation in 1830 the president of the New York Life Insurance and Trust company. He died Oct. 17, 1853.

BARGER, SAMUEL F., lawyer, financier, was born Oct. 19, 1832, in New York city. He is a director of the Central Railroad company; Harlem road; Lake Shore and Michigan Southern; the Chicago and Northwestern; Union Telegraph company; and many other business corporations. He was one of the founders of the Manhattan club, and also of the Casino and Reading room at Newport.

BARGHOORN, CHARLES D., lawyer, was born Jan. 1, 1860, in Holland. During 1883-87 he served as a school trustee; during 1884-86 was a justice of the peace; and since 1892 has been prosecuting attorney in Luther, Mich. Since 1885 he has been in the active practice of law, in which he has been eminently successful.

BARHAM, JOHN A., educator, lawyer, congressman, was born July 17, 1844, in Missouri. He removed with his parents to California in 1849, and was educated in the common schools and at the Hesperian college, in Woodland, Cal. He taught in the public schools of California for three years; studied law and was admitted to practice in 1868, and has practiced his profession since. He was elected to the fifty-fourth and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress.

BARHYDT, THEODORE WELLS, railroad president, banker, capitalist, was born April 10, 1835, in Newark, N. J.

He received an academic education in the Lyceum academy of Schenectady, N. Y. In 1855 he moved to Burlington, Iowa, where he became one of the principal clerks in the post-office. In 1859 he entered mercantile business; and since 1870 has been president of the Merchants' National bank of Burlington, of which institution he was one of the organizers. He was one of the organizers of the Burlington, Cedar Rapids and Northern Railroad company, and is now president of the Burlington and North Western and of the Burlington and Western Railroad companies. He is the owner of the Delano hotel and several other fine business buildings; was instrumental in establishing the Burlington water works; and was one of the principal promoters and builders of the first street railroad in his city. He has been president of the Board of Trade, and a member of the city council, and filled various other public positions of honor.

BARIGHT, MARIE LOUISE, educator, elocutionist, was born Aug. 12, 1864, in Poughkeepsie, N. Y. She received her education in Cook's Collegiate institute of her native city; subsequently attending the Boston university, and the School of Expression of Boston, Mass.; and finally studied in the Chicago university. She has been professor of Elocution and English Literature in the State Normal schools of West Chester, Pa.; and filled the same chair in the university of Oregon.

BARKER, ABRAHAM A., merchant, congressman, was born March 30, 1816, in Lovell, Maine. Mr. Barker was a delegate to the Chicago convention of 1860; and in 1864 was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the thirty-ninth congress.

BARKER, DAVID, lawyer, congressman, was a lawyer by profession. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1827 to 1829. He died April 1, 1834, in Rochester, N. H.

BARKER, FORDYCE, physician, author, was born May 2, 1819, in Wilton, Maine. He was a New York physician of prominence and a professor in the Bellevue hospital from 1860; and the author of On Sea-Sickness; and On Puerperal Diseases. He died in 1891.

BARKER, GEORGE FREDERICK, educator, author, was born July 14, 1835, in Charlestown, Mass. He has been professor of physics in the university of Pennsylvania since 1873. He is the author of Correlation of Vital and Physical Forces; and Text Book of Elementary Chemistry.

BARKER, JAMES NELSON, author, poet, was born June 17, 1784, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a Philadelphia poet and playwright, and was comptroller of the United States treasury in 1838-50. His dramas include Marmion; The Indian Princess; Superstition; and Smiles and Tears. He died March 9, 1858, in Washington, D. C.

BARKER, JAMES WILLIAM, merchant, was born Dec. 5, 1815, in White Plains, N. Y. In 1859 he established an extensive house in Pittsburg, and transacted annually a very large business. In 1854 he was the Knownothing candidate for mayor of New York city, but was defeated in a closely contested election by Fernando Wood. He was very active in the founding of the Order of the Star Spangled Banner, a secret organization, having for its object the prevention of the political ascendancy of the foreign-born inhabitants of the United States, and was its principal officer in 1853. From 1867 till his death he was president of the Eclectic Life Insurance company, New York. He died June 26, 1869, in Rahway, N. J.

BARKER, JOSEPH, clergyman, congressman. He commenced his classical studies at Harvard university, and graduated at Yale college in 1771. He was an ordained preacher of the gospel; and was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1805 to 1809. He died in 1815.

BARKER, JOSIAH, shipbuilder, was born Nov. 16, 1763, in Marshfield, Mass. He was United States naval constructor about 1810, and built the Virginia in 1818, the Warren in 1826, the Cumberland in 1842, and other men-of-war. He also rebuilt the Constitution in 1834, and furnished the plans for the Portsmouth. He died Sept. 23, 1843, in Charlestown, Mass.

BARKER, LORENZO ABEL, soldier, journalist, was born Aug. 16, 1839, in Naples, N. Y. He is the editor and owner of The Clarion of Reed City, Mich. At an early age he learned the printing business; and in 1861 enlisted in company E, thirteenth regiment Missouri volunteers; which afterward was changed to company D, sixty-sixth company Illinois Western Sharpshooters. He fought gallantly during the war and was promoted sergeant. In 1884 he was a presidential elector in the Blaine and Logan campaign; and in 1896 was again a presidential elector for William McKinley. He served as postmaster of Reed City during President Harrison's administration. He is a prominent member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and various other fraternal orders.

BARKER, REUBEN H. W., farmer, soldier, state senator, was born Aug. 31, 1846, in Iredell county, N. C. He was educated at Rutherford college; and was for many years engaged in merchandising, but later became a successful farmer and stockraiser. He served two years in the confederate army as a member of the twenty-ninth regiment North Carolina troops. He is the son of the Rev. J. N. Barker, who for nearly fifty years was a traveling methodist clergyman. He has taken an active part in public affairs; has been a justice of the peace; and in 1896 was elected a member of the North Carolina state senate.

BARKER, SAMUEL ALPHONSO, lawyer, was born July 26, 1833, in Kennebec, Maine. In his youth he taught school, and in 1857 was admitted to the bar in the supreme court at Augusta, Maine. For ten years he practiced law in his native state, and in 1867 moved to California. He settled in San Jose, where he is known as one of the foremost lawyers of his adopted state.

BARKER, WHARTON, financier, was born May 1, 1846, in Philadelphia. He was one of the four who organized in Pennsylvania the republican revolution, of 1881. He was the founder of the Investment company of Philadelphia, and also of the Finance company of Philadelphia.

BARKER, WILLIAM MORRIS, missionary bishop of Olympia, Wash., was born May 12, 1854, in Towanda, Pa. For two years he was an assistant master in the Bishop Scott grammar school, of Portland, Ore. Until his consecration he was in charge of St. Paul's church, of Duluth; and president of St. Luke's hospital in that city.

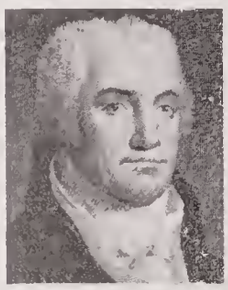
BARKLEY, DAVID WRIGHT, journalist, legislator, was born May 21, 1842, in Fairfield, Ill. He has been president of the board of trustees of Hayward Collegiate institute of Fairfield, Ill., and a member of the Illinois legislature. He is the editor and owner of The Enterprise of Rocky Ford, Colo.

BARKLEY, HENRY L., educator, clergyman, legislator, was born March 19, 1858, in Adams county, Ind. He received a thorough education in the public schools of Ohio, and graduated from the high school of Bryan. He has been a successful educator, clergyman, and is now bishop of the Pacific coast district of the United Brethren church at Woodburn, Ore. He served with distinction for two terms as a representative in the Oregon legislature.

BARKLEY, JAMES, soldier, was born in Kentucky. He enlisted as private in the one hundred and fourteenth Illinois infantry in 1862, and made a capital record as a brave soldier. He started in as a private and worked his way to brigadier-commander. He is senior brigadier-general in the service; was for a time captain of battery B; and was elected colonel of the fifth regiment in 1877, holding that position until 1891.

BARKSDALE, ETHELBERT, journalist, congressman, was born in Rutherford county, Tenn. He received a classical education; removed to Mississippi at an early age, and adopted the profession of journalism. He was a representative in the confederate congress for four years; was a presidential elector, and president of the Mississippi college of electors, in 1876. He was elected a representative from Mississippi to the forty-eighth and forty-ninth congresses.

BARKSDALE, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 21, 1821, in Rutherford county, Tenn. He pursued a partial course of studies at the Nashville university; was a lawyer by profession; held a commission in the staff of the second Mississippi regiment, in the Mexican war, in 1847. He was a member of the Mississippi convention called in 1851 to discuss the compromise measures of 1850; and was elected representative from Mississippi in the thirty-third, thirty-fourth, thirty-fifth, and thirty-sixth congresses. He was killed July 2, 1863, at the battle of Gettysburg.



BARLOW, BRADLEY, merchant, banker, congressman, was born May 12, 1814, in Fairfield, Vt. He was engaged in agricultural and mercantile pursuits until 1858; removed to St. Albans, Vt., and engaged in banking and other pursuits. He served six terms as a representative in the state legislature, and two terms as state senator; was twice a member of state constitutional conventions; and was county treasurer for several years. He was elected a representative from Vermont to the forty-sixth congress.

BARLOW, CHARLES AVERILL, merchant, farmer, congressman, was born March 17, 1858, in Cleveland, Ohio. He removed to San Luis Obispo county, Cal., where he acquired land and engaged in wheat farming. He was state lecturer of the Farmers' alliance one term, and was elected to the state assembly from San Luis Obispo county in 1893 on the straight people's party ticket. He introduced a number of important bills in the legislature and conducted them to a successful passage. He was elected to the fifty-fifth congress, and took an important part in the deliberations of that body.

BARLOW, FRANCIS CHANNING, soldier, public official, was born Oct. 19, 1834, in Brooklyn, N. Y. In Grant's campaign he captured the whole division of Gen. Johnston, and in the final struggle and pursuit of Lee's routed army he rendered essential service. He was secretary of state of New York.

BARLOW, HENRY C., railroad president, was born Aug. 15, 1850, in Niles, Mich. Since 1894 he has been president of the Evansville and Terre Haute railroad.

BARLOW, JOEL, patriot, poet, was born March 25, 1755, in Reading, Conn. As an author he belonged to the first class of his time in America, and was one of the celebrated Hartford Wits. His Vision of Columbus, a poem in imitation of Milton, obtained great popularity, and Hasty Pudding, a humorous poem dedicated to Martha Washington, was much admired. His most elaborate work, Columbiad, an epic poem, is considered by critics to be a failure. He died Dec. 24, 1812, near Cracow, in Poland, while serving as foreign ambassador.

BARLOW, SAMUEL LATHAM MITCHELL, lawyer, author, was born June 5, 1826, in Granville, Mass. He was educated in New York city, where he practiced law for forty years. He gave much time to the collection of rare and curious books. His library of Americana was among the largest in the country. In connection with Henry Harrisse he edited Notes on Columbus, an invaluable work for the biography and bibliography of the discoverer of the new world. He died July 10, 1890, in Glen Cove, N. Y.

BARLOW, STEPHEN, business man, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1827 to 1829, and was a member of the committee on agriculture.

BARLOW, THOMAS HARRIS, inventor, was born Aug. 5, 1789, in Nicholas county, Ky. He settled in Lexington, Ky., in 1835, and in 1851 finished his first planetarium which is now in Transylvania university in that town. This ingenious and useful piece of mechanism is now in use at West Point, the Washington observatory, and other institutions. He died in 1865, in Cincinnati, Ohio.

BARMM, FRANK HERMAN, lawyer, was born Jan. 25, 1864, in Chicago, Ill. He is a recognized expert on real estate values; his own holdings in the city of Chicago being very extensive and valuable.

BARNAM, CURTIS FIELD, lawyer, legislator, was born May 24, 1820, in Richmond, Ky. He graduated from the law school in 1842, and became prominent as a representative in the state legislature of Kentucky.

BARNARD, CHARLES, journalist, author, was born Feb. 13, 1838, in Boston, Mass. He is a journalist, and the author of The Tone Masters; The Soprano; My Ten Rod Farm; Farming by Inches; A Simple Flower Garden; The Strawberry Garden; Legilda Romanoff; Knights of To-day; Co-óperation as a Business; A Dead Town, a Romance of the Old Country; Talks about the Weather; and Talks about the Soil.

BARNARD, DANIEL DEWEY, lawyer, congressman, author, was born July 16, 1797, in Sheffield, Mass. In 1826 he was elected district attorney for Monroe county, N. Y., and in 1827 was elected representative to congress. He was again in congress from 1839 to 1845, when he was chairman of the judiciary committee. From 1850 to 1853 he was United States minister to Prussia. He was the author of numerous reviews and speeches. He died April 24, 1861, in Albany, N. Y.

BARNARD, EDMUND K., educator, was born in 1863, in Sauk county, Wis. His life has been devoted to educational work; he has been county superintendent of schools, and has occupied the positions of principal and professor in various schools of Oregon and Washington.

BARNARD, EDMUND M., state senator, was born May 28, 1860, in Hudson, N. Y. In 1891 he was elected a representative in the Michigan state legislature; was a member of the senate in 1893-94, and received the re-election in 1895-96, and again in 1897-98.

BARNARD, EDWARD EMERSON, astronomer, author, was born Dec. 16, 1857, in Nashville, Tenn. Since 1883 he has had charge of the astronomical observatory, and he is also assistant in practical astronomy at Vanderbilt university. His publications consist of astronomical contributions to the Sidereal Messenger, Observatory, Science Observer, Astronomische Nachrichten, and other technical journals.

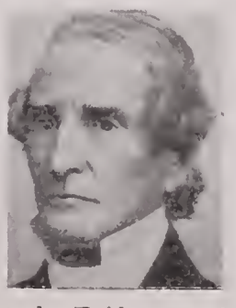
BARNARD, FREDERICK AUGUSTUS PORTER, college president, author, was born May 5, 1809, in Sheffield, Mass. He was an educational writer, and was president of Columbia college in 1864-89. He was the author of History of the United States Coast Survey; Imaginary Metrological System of the Great Pyramid; The Undulatory Theory of Light; and Letters on College Government. He died April 27, 1889, in New York.

BARNARD, HENRY, educator, author, was born Jan. 24, 1811, in Hartford, Conn. In 1837 he was elected a member of the legislature of Connecticut, and was twice re-elected to that office, during which time he effected a reorganization of the state common school system. He was superintendent of public schools in Rhode Island from 1843-49; state superintendent of school architecture from 1850 to 1854; and began the American Journal of Education in 1855. He became president of the American association for the advancement of education. He is the author of several educational works, including Story of Education in Connecticut, and Educational Biography.

BARNARD, ISAAC D., soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born July 18, 1791, in Aston, Pa. He was distinguished at Lyons Creek and at the capture of Fort George in 1813; and left the army in 1815. He was admitted to the bar in 1816, and was soon made deputy attorney general. He was chosen state senator in 1820; secretary of state in 1826; and was United States senator from Pennsylvania, from 1827 to 1831. He died Feb. 28, 1834, in Westchester, Pa.

BARNARD, JAMES ELLERY, lawyer, was born Jan. 29, 1863, in Franklin, N. H. He graduated in 1884 from Dartmouth college; and from the Boston university law school in 1890. He has attained prominence as a successful lawyer in his native town, and in 1892 was appointed justice of the police court of his city by Gov. Smith. He is very prominent in various Masonic bodies.

BARNARD, JOHN, clergyman, author, was born Nov. 6, 1681, in Boston, Mass. He was a congregational minister of Boston who was among the earliest New England dissenters from Calvinism. A robust and logical thinker; and the author of Version of the Psalms; Sermons; and The Strange Adventures of Philip Ashton. He died Jan. 24, 1770.



BARNARD, JOHN GROSS, soldier, author, was born May 19, 1815, in Sheffield, Mass. He was a major-general of the United States army; and the author of Survey of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec; Phenomena of the Gyroscope; Dangers and Defences of New York; Sea Coast Defence; The Peninsular Campaign and its Antecedents; and Problems of Rotary Motion. He died May 14, 1882, in Detroit, Mich.

BARNARD, OLIVER W., farmer, business man, poet, was born Aug. 4, 1828, in Economy, Ind. He is a successful farmer and business man of Manteno, Ill.; and is the author of a number of poems which have appeared in Poets of America and other standard works.

BARNARD, WILLIAM STEBBINS, naturalist, inventor, author, was born Feb. 28, 1849, in Canton, Ill. His reports as entomologist have been published by the government, and he has contributed to the proceedings and transactions of the scientific societies of which he is a member. He has made inventions of harvesters, both for corn and cotton, and also of means and appliances for the destruction of injurious insects. He also devised the Harvard book-rack, improved paper-file holders, and similar articles.

BARNES, ALANSON H., lawyer, jurist, was born in New York. He removed to Wisconsin and practiced law, and in 1873 was appointed United States associate justice for the territory of Dakota.

BARNES, ALBERT, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 1, 1798, in Rome, N. Y. He was a leader of new school presbyterian thought and an able scriptural commentator. He was a clergyman of Philadelphia, and was at one time tried for heresy. He was the author of Notes on the New Testament; Scriptural Views of Slavery; The Atonement; Life at Three Score; Prayers for Family Worship; and Evidences of Christianity in the Nineteenth Century. He died Dec. 24, 1870, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BARNES, ALFRED C., was born Oct. 27, 1842, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was elected colonel of the thirteenth regiment in 1884, and in 1886 retired from military service. He founded the Astor Place bank, of Brooklyn, N. Y., and in 1891 became its president. He planned and supervised Barnes' Brief History of America.

BARNES, ALFRED SMITH, publisher, was born Jan. 28, 1817, in New Haven, Conn. In 1840 he went to Philadelphia for four years, and built up a profitable publishing business, which he then removed to New York city. His brother, five sons and a nephew were associated with him under the title of A. S. Barnes and Co. The firm attained eminence in the publication of school books. His son, Alfred C. Barnes, now represents the house in The American Book company. He died Feb. 17, 1888, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BARNES, AMOS, hotel proprietor, was born Aug. 15, 1828, in East Lebanon, N. H. He established the firm of Barnes and Dunkle in 1879, and leased the Hotel Brunswick in the famous Back Bay district of Boston. The Brunswick is now known as one of the finest and most successful hotels in America.

BARNES, ANNIE MARIA, editor, author, was born May 28, 1857, in Columbia, S. C. For many years she edited and published a juvenile paper, and is the author of Some Lowly Lives; The Life of David Livingston; Scenes in Pioneer Methodism; The Children of the Kalahari; The House of Grass; and The Atlanta Ferryman.

BARNES, CATHARINE WEED, artist, was born Jan. 10, 1851, in Albany, N. Y. She is one of the editors of the American Amateur Photographer, besides writing for other magazines on camera work. She built a fine portrait studio at Albany, N. Y., containing a laboratory and printing room.

BARNES, DEMAS, journalist, banker, congressman, was born April 4, 1887, in Canandaigua, N. Y. In 1866 he was elected as a democrat to the fortieth congress, where he served on the committees on banking and currency, and education and labor. He was active in procuring legislation for the construction of the Brooklyn bridge. The Brooklyn Eagle at one time belonged to him, and of the Brooklyn Argus he was the founder, continuing publication until 1877. He died May 1, 1888, in New York city.

BARNES, EDWIN H., poet, was born May 13, 1849, in Marathon, N. Y. He is the author of a volume of poems entitled A Wild Bouquet, which contains many rare gems of verse. He is engaged in business in his native city, where he filled the office of postmaster for eleven years.

BARNES, GEORGE T., lawyer, state representative, was born Aug. 14, 1833, in Richmond county, Ga. He was educated at the Richmond county academy and at Franklin college, University of Georgia, Athens, where he graduated in August, 1853. He studied law, was admitted to the bar, and has since practiced in Georgia. He was a member of the state house of representatives of Georgia in 1860-65; was a member of the national democratic committee from Georgia, 1876-84, and was elected to the forty-ninth, fiftieth and fifty-first congresses.

BARNES, JACOB B., journalist, was born July 11, 1839, in Freeport, Ill. He is the editor and owner of the Peoria Journal, one of the leading newspapers of the west.

BARNES, JAMES, author, was born in 1865 in Maryland. He is the author of For King or Country, a Story of the Revolution; Admiral Farragut; Naval Actions of the War of 1812; and A Princetonian.

BARNES, JOHN A., lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born Jan. 3, 1859, in Marion county, Ky. He has been master in chancery for Clay county, Ill., and is a successful lawyer of Louisville. In 1897 he became a member of the Illinois state legislature.

BARNES, JOSEPH K., physician, surgeon, was born July 21, 1817, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was present at the deathbed of Lincoln, attended Secretary Seward when he was wounded by the knife of a confederate assassin, and attended Mr. Garfield through his long confinement. He was a trustee of Peabody educational fund, a commissioner for the soldiers' home, and the custodian of other important public trusts. He died April 5, 1883, in Washington, D. C.

BARNES, LEMUEL CALL, clergyman, was born Nov. 6, 1854, in Kirtland, Ohio. He is a prominent clergyman of the baptist church, and is now pastor of the Fourth Avenue church, of Pittsburg, Pa.

BARNES, LYMAN E., lawyer, congressman, was born June 30, 1855, in Weyauwega, Wis. He began the practice of law in Appleton in 1876; was district attorney of Outagamie county, and as a democrat was elected to the fifty-third congress.

BARNES, MARY SHELDON, educator, author, was born Sept. 15, 1850, in Oswego, N. Y. In 1874 she graduated from the University of Michigan; and has filled the chair of Latin and Greek in the Oswego state normal school, and later in the Wellesley college. She is the author of Studies in General History; Studies in American History; and Teachers' Manual.

BARNES, PHINEAS, engineer, was born Jan. 10, 1842, in Portland, Me. He studied at the Lawrence Scientific school, Cambridge, Mass., and at the Rensselaer Polytechnic institute, Troy, N. Y. Mr. Barnes has made a specialty of the construction of iron and steel works, and for some time has been associated with the American Iron and Steel works in Pittsburg, Pa. He is a member of the American Institute of Mining Engineers, to whose transactions he has frequently contributed papers of technical value.

BARNES, SARAH . ISABELLA, poet, was born March 18, 1867, in Dexterville, Ohio; is the author of a volume of poems. She has contributed extensively to the periodical press, and her poems have been incorporated into several standard works.

BARNES, THURLOW WEED, president of corporations, was born June 28, 1853, in Albany, N. Y. In 1876 he graduated from Harvard university. His life has been devoted to literary work and politics. He is the president of corporations in New York city. He was chairman of the Albany general committee in 1886; traveled in Europe in 1882, and made the tour around the world in 1884-85. He is a grandson of Thurlow Weed, and is the author of the second volume of the Life of Thurlow Weed in two volumes, and of Souvenir of Albany Bicentennial.

BARNES, WILLIAM, educator, lawyer, was born May 26, 1824, in Pompey, N. Y. He started life as a schoolteacher, and in 1843, in connection with his father, who was county superintendent, he successfully conducted one of the first normal schools or teachers' institutes in New York state at Baldwinsville. In 1845 he was admitted to the bar, and became noted as one of the foremost lawyers of his state at Albany.

BARNES, WILLIAM, journalist, is the youngest son of William Barnes, the celebrated lawyer of Albany, N. Y. He is the editor of The Albany Evening Journal, and contributes extensively to current literature The Evening Journal is published every evening except Sunday, and also issues a semi-weekly and weekly edition. It is one of the foremost journals in the state of New York, and always advocates the principles of the republican party. It is published by The Journal Publishing company, of which he is one of the largest individual stockholders.

BARNES, WILLIAM H., lawyer, jurist, legislator, was born in 1843 in Hampton, Conn. In 1866 he was admitted to the bar and commenced the practice of law at Jacksonville, Ill. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1871 and 1872, and was a delegate to the democratic national conventions of 1876, 1880 and 1884. He was a member of every democratic state convention held in Illinois between 1865 and 1885, and in 1885 was appointed an associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of Arizona.

BARNES, WILLIAM HENRY, railroad president, was born July 12, 1829, in Philadelphia, Pa. Since 1892 he has been president of the Allegheny Valley railway, and also various other railroads.

BARNETT, EDWARD H., clergyman, journalist, was born Oct. 8, 1840, in Montgomery county, Va. He has filled various pastorates in Virginia and Georgia; has been for five years editor of the Presbyterian Quarterly of Richmond, Va., and is the author of a work entitled Life's Golden Lamp.

BARNETT, JAMES, soldier, merchant, banker, congressman, was born June 21, 1821, in Cherry Valley, N. Y. He received his education in the public schools of Cleveland, Ohio, and is a successful hardware merchant of that city. During the civil war he served with distinction, and attained the rank of brigadier-general. In 1882 he was elected a member of congress from Cleveland by the republican party. He has served as president of the First National bank, and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his city and state.

BARNETT, ORVILLE MARION, lawyer, state legislator, was born Aug. 14, 1870, in Knox county, Mo. He is a successful lawyer of Sedalia, Mo., and in 1897 was elected a member of the Missouri state legislature.

BARNETT, MRS. RACHEL PRICE, educator, poet, was born March 30, 1837, in Freeport, Ohio. For nearly ten years she taught school in Ohio and Iowa, and is now a writer and poet of Dexter, Iowa.

BARNETT, SAMUEL, journalist, author, was born March 6, 1824, in Washington, Ga. He was president of the Washington bank; in 1871 was commissioner, and in 1872 was secretary of the Georgia State Agricultural society. He was editor of the Chronicle, and author of Interest Table; Buckle's Outline View of Georgia; and many other works.

BARNETT, WILLIAM, congressman. He was elected a representative in congress from Georgia from 1812 to 1815, when he was appointed one of the commissioners to run the Creek boundary line.

BARNETT, WILLIAM ALLEN, merchant, was born Oct. 8, 1822, near Hamilton, Ohio. He has attained success as a merchant miller. For over half a century he was proprietor of the same mills.

BARNEY, EDWARD MITCHELL, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 28, 1811, in Lynn, Mass. He was educated at the Harvard college and Tufts Divlnity school and received the degree of B. D. from the latter institution. He has filled a pastorate in the First Universalist church of Marion, Mass., and now fills a pastorate in the First Universalist church of Beverly, one of the largest churches in his denomination.

BARNEY, EVERETT H., inventor, manufacturer, was born Dec. 7, 1835, in Framingham, Mass. He has attained success as a manufacturer and inventor, and the Barney and Berry skates have a world-wide reputation.

BARNEY, JOHN, congressman. He was a member of congress from Maryland from 1825 to 1827. He left behind him an unfinished record of Personal Recollections of Men and Things. He died Jan. 26, 1856, in Washington, D. C.

BARNEY, JOSHUA, naval officer, commodore, was born in 1759 in Baltimore, Md. He entered the naval service of the revolution in 1775, and was active during the whole war. He bore the American flag to the French national convention in 1796, and entered the French service. He returned to America in 1800, and took part in the war of 1812. He died in 1818 in Pittsburg, Pa.

BARNEY, SAMUEL S.,lawyer,congressman, was born Jan. 31, 1846, in Hartford, Wis. He was educated in the public schools and at Lombard university, Galesburg, Ill., and taught the high school in Hartford for four years. He has practiced his profession at West Bend, Wis., since 1873. He filled the office of superintendent of schools of Washington county from 1876 to 1880, and was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

BARNFIELD, THOMAS P., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born March 25, 1844, in Boston, Mass. He was admitted to the Rhode Island bar in 1870, and was city solicitor of Pawtucket for eleven years. He was judge of the probate court for three years, and was a member of the legislature of Rhode Island for three years.

BARNHART, JACOB S., lawyer, poet, was born Jan. 19, 1828, near Bellefonte, Pa. In 1849 he became a daguerrean artist, and subsequently a photographer. For many years he was the editor and owner of the Democratic Watchman of Pennsylvania. In 1871 he was admitted to the bar, and since 1877 has practiced law in Charles City, Iowa. He is a stenographer and a teacher of shorthand, and a natural musician. He has contributed extensively to the periodical press, and his poems have been given a place in several standard works.

BARNITZ, CHARLES A., congressman. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1833 to 1835. He died in March, 1850, in York, Pa.

BARNS, WILLIAM, clergyman, was born in 1795, in Ireland. He was very successful in his preaching, and during his various pastorates large accessions were made to the churches under his direction. Among these charges were several of the largest in Philadelphia and Harrisburg. He died Nov. 25, 1865, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BARNUM, MRS. FRANCES COURTENAY, author, was born in 1848 in Arkansas. She is a novelist now living in Savannah, Ga., and the author of On Both Sides, an international novel; Behind the Blue Ridge; Juan and Juanita, a juvenile tale; and Claudia Hyde.

BARNUM, HENRY A., soldier, was born Sept. 24, 1833, in Jamesville, N. Y. He was brevetted major-general in 1865. In 1866 he resigned, having declined a colonelcy in the regular army, and became inspector of prisons in New York. He was deputy tax commissioner from 1869 till 1872, and was for five years harbor-master of New York. In 1885 he was elected as a republican to the New York state assembly.

BARNUM, PHINEAS TAYLOR, showman, author, was born July 5, 1810, in Bethel, Conn. He was the son of a farmer and tavern keeper, and became a successful showman of world-wide fame. He was the author of Humbugs of the World; Struggles and Triumphs, or Forty Years' Recollections; Lion Jack, or How Menageries are Made; and Autobiography. He was the best known and most popular circus showman ever engaged in that business in America. He died April 7, 1891, in Bridgeport, Conn.

BARNUM, WILLIAM H., manufacturer, congressman, United States senator, was born Sept. 17, 1818, in Columbia county, Conn. His firm of Barnum, Richardson and Co. built large works in Lime Rock and East Canaan, Conn., and finally added a car wheel shop in Chicago. In 1851-52 he sat in the state legislature, and from 1868 attended every national convention of his party as a delegate. He was a member of congress in 1867-76; and Connecticut then made him United States senator. He died April 30, 1889, in Lime Rock, Conn.

BARNUM, ZENAS, civil engineer, capitalist, was born Dec. 9, 1810, in Wilkesbarre, Pa. He was a civil engineer, but became proprietor of Barnum's hotel in Baltimore, in the management of which he acquired a large fortune. Later he became president of the Baltimore Central railroad. He died April 5, 1865, in Baltimore, Md.

BARNWELL, JOHN, soldier, was born about 1671 in Ireland. Barnwell's force overtook the depredating Tuscaroras and killed 300 in the first engagement. The survivors were driven into their fortified town, besieged, and finally reduced to submission. Nearly 1,000 of them were killed or captured, and the remnant abandoned their hereditary lands and joined the Five Nations of New York. This was the first crushing blow dealt against the Indians by the white settlers in the Carolinas, and Barnwell is to this day known to his descendants as Tuscarora John. He died about June, 1724, in Beaufort, S. C.

BARNWELL, ROBERT, soldier, congressman, was born in 1762 in Beaufort, S. C. He volunteered for the revolutionary war when sixteen years old. He was afterward a member of the convention in South Carolina on the adoption of the federal constitution; and was a representative in congress in 1791-93. He died in 1814.

BARNWELL, ROBERT WOODWARD, college president, congressman, was born Aug. 10, 1801, in Beaufort, S. C. He graduated at Harvard university in 1821; studied law; was a representative in congress from South Carolina from 1829 to 1833; was president of the South Carolina college from 1835 to 1843, and was a senator in congress in 1850 by appointment to fill a vacancy. After the war he was again president of the South Carolina college. He died Nov. 25, 1882, in Columbia, S. C.

BARR, ALBERT J., journalist, was born Jan. 12, 1851, in Pittsburg, Pa. Upon the death of his father he became president of the Pittsburg Post Printing and Publishing company, and editor-in-chief of the paper. The work he has since done on the Post has made that publication one of the best known newspapers in America. In 1893 he was appointed a commissioner to the World's Fair, and in 1894 was appointed surveyor of customs of the port of Pittsburg.

BARR, MRS. AMELIA EDITH [HUDDLESTON], author, was born March 29, 1831, in Lancaster, England. She came to America in 1854. Her books exhibit many excellencies of construction and characterization, are wholesome in tone, and have been deservedly popular. Among the best of them may be named Jan Vedder's Wife; Paul and Christina; A Daughter of Fife; A Border Shepherdess; The Bow of Orange Ribbon, a tale of colonial life in New York; Between Two Loves; Friend Olivia; Bernicia, a story in which Whitefield, the famous preacher, is a prominent figure. Other works by Mrs. Barr include: Scottish Sketches; Flower of Gala Water; Romance and Reality; Young People of Shakespeare's Time; Cluny McPherson; The Hallam Succession; The Lost Silver of Briffault; The Last of the McAlisters; Scottish Sketches; The Squire of Sandal Side; Master of His Fate; Christopher; Remember the Alamo, a story of Texas; She Loved a Sailor; A Rose of a Hundred Leaves; Michael and Theodora; A Sister to Esau; Feet of Clay; The Household of McNeil; The Preacher's Daughter; Love for an Hour is Love Forever; A Singer from the Sea; and The Lone House.

BARR, BERZELIUS L., lawyer, college president, author, was born Sept. 29, 1846, in Tremont City, Ohio. He graduated in law from the University of Michigan, and as civil engineer from the National Normal university, Ohio. For twelve years he was president of the Western Normal university, and now practices law in his native city. He served as a union soldier during the civil war in company F, second Illinois light artillery, and was in the sieges of Atlanta and Jonesboro, and Nashville, Tenn. He is the author of Outlines of Oral Grammar Teaching; and Complete Inductive Grammar.

BARR, CHARLES, educator, was born April 8, 1860, in Watertown, N. Y. In 1887 he accepted the chair of natural science in Baldwin university of Berea, Ohio, and in 1888 he became professor of astronomy and applied mathematics, and acting professor of biology in Albion college, of Albion, Mich.

BARR, G. WALTER, physician, lecturer, author, was born Oct. 25, 1860, in Medway, Ohio. In 1880 he graduated from the Indiana Asbury university, and in 1884 from the Jefferson Medical college of Philadelphia. He is professor of materia medica, therapeutics and hygiene in the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Keokuk, Iowa. He has been a public lecturer on popular science; was lecturer on hygiene in the Training School for Nurses in the Blessing hospital of Quincy, Ill.; is post-surgeon Illinois division Sons of Veterans, U. S. A., and a prominent member of many leading medical and pharmaceutical associations. He is the author of Idiosyncrasy and Drug, and other works.

BARR, GEORGE TILLOTSON, banker, state senator, was born Feb. 4, 1851, in Terre Haute, Ind. He is a successful banker of Mankato, Minn., of which city he has been mayor. In 1889 he served as a representative in the Minnesota state legislature; was a state senator during 1891-97, and president pro tem of the senate during the sessions of 1895 and 1897.

BARR, JOHN W., lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 17, 1826, in Versailles, Ky. In 1847 he commenced the practice of law at Versailles, Ky., and soon afterward removed to Louisville, where he continued to practice his profession until 1880, when he was appointed United States district judge for the district of Kentucky.

BARR, SAMUEL F., journalist, congressman, was born June 15, 1829, in Ireland. He emigrated with his parents to the United States in 1831; received a common-school education; engaged in railroad and commercial pursuits; was editor of the Harrisburg Telegraph from 1873 to 1878, and was elected a representative from Pennsylvania to the forty-seventh and forty-eighth congresses.

BARR, THOMAS C., capitalist, was born Feb. 2, 1858, in Wellsboro, Pa. He has been president of several railway companies, and has also organized and put in operation the omnibus general of Philadelphia. He was elected president of the New Jersey Traction company in 1893.

BARR, THOMAS J., state senator, congressman, was born in 1812 in New York city. In 1853 he was elected a member of the New York state senate, and was elected a representative in congress from New York to the thirty-fifth and thirty-sixth congresses.

BARRAS, CHARLES M., actor, author, was born in 1826. He was the author of a well-known spectacular play called The Black Crook, from which he derived a large income. His eccentric character and unconscious drollery made him popular. He died March 31, 1873, in Cos Cobb, Conn.

BARRERE, GRANVILLE, lawyer, congressman, was born in Highland county, Ohio. He commenced practicing law in Illinois in 1856, and was elected to the forty-third congress.

BARRERE, NELSON, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1851 to 1853.

BARRET, ALEXANDER BUCHANAN, tobacco merchant, was born March 18, 1811, in Louis county, Va. He established branch stemmeries in Henderson, Louisville, Owensboro, Cloverport, and other points in Kentucky, at Clarksville, Tenn., and in Missouri, and was, in his time, without doubt, the most extensive tobacco merchant in the world, controlling annually many thousands of hogsheads in the markets of England. He died June 15, 1861, in New York.

BARRET, JOHN HENRY, merchant, was born in 1835, in Henderson, Ky. His firm is known under the style of Jno. H. Barret and Co., and they retain, both in America and in Europe, the extensive and influential prestige which was once the high and peculiar distinction of the original house in the Kentucky tobacco market.

BARRETT, BENJAMIN FISK, clergyman, author, was born June 24, 1808, in Dresden, Maine. He is a Swedenborgian clergyman of Philadelphia who wrote extensively in behalf of his faith. Among his many books are A Life of Swedenborg; The New View of Hell; Swedenborg and Channing; Heaven Revealed; and a Popular Presentation of Swedenborg's Disclosures about Heaven. He died in 1892.

BARRETT, EDWARD, naval officer, was born in 1828, in Louisiana. In 1864-65 he commanded the monitor Catskill, and captured the Deer, the only blockade-runner captured by a monitor. He was in the first expedition that ascended the Yangtse-Kiang river as far as Hangkow, and took the first man-of-war through the Eads jetties at the mouth of the Mississippi. He died in March, 1880.

BARRETT, FLAVIUS J., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Oct. 22, 1835, in Giles county, Tenn. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools, and graduated from the Baylor university of Independence, Texas. During the war he was captain of company B, fifteenth regiment, Texas cavalry, in the Confederate states army. He has attained eminence as an able lawyer of Henrietta, Texas, in which city he has been chief of police, superintendent of public schools, and held other offices of trust. He has served with distinction as a member of the Texas state legislature, and is now county judge of Clay county, Texas.

BARRETT, GEORGE HOOKER, actor, was born Jan. 9, 1794, in England. He made his debut as an adult as Belcaur in The West Indian at the Parke theater, New York, in 1822, and at once became one of the favorite actors of the day.

BARRETT, HARRISON D., spiritualist, was born April 26, 1863, in Canaan, Me. He has been a teacher in the public schools of Minnesota, and in 1889 graduated from the Meadville Theological school, Pennsylvania, but has never been ordained. In 1891 he was co-editor of a work entitled Cassadaga, Its History and Teaching; and is the author of Life Work of Cora L. V. Richmond. In 1893 he was elected president of the National Spiritualist association, and in 1897 was appointed editor of The Banner and Light of Boston, Mass., the oldest spiritualist paper in existence.

BARRETT, J. RICHARD, congressman, was born in Kentucky. Removing to Missouri he was elected a representative from that state to the thirty-sixth congress.

BARRETT, JOHN ERIGENA, journalist, state legislator, author, was born May 10, 1849, in Ireland. He entered journalism as a reporter on The Republican, of Scranton, Pa., and became its managing editor. In 1884 he began the publication, in conjunction with J. J. Jordan, of The Scranton Truth, an independent daily newspaper, which they still publish. He is one of the foremost editorial writers in America, and has attained note as a brilliant orator. In 1878 he was elected a member of the Pennsylvania state legislature as a republican, and took an important part in the deliberations of that body. He is the author of a number of stories, the most notable of which are Love and Labor, or All the Perils of the Poor; The Black List; Worse Than Death; A Knight of Labor; The Rising Tide; and the Curse of Innisfail. He is also the author of a volume of poems entitled The Fugitives and Other Poems.

BARRETT, JOSEPH HARTWELL, journalist, author, was born April 15, 1824, in Ludlow, Vt. In 1845 he graduated from Middlebury college. In 1851-52 he served as a representative in the Vermont state legislature; in 1853-54 he was secretary of the Vermont senate, and in 1861-68 was commissioner of pensions. During 1857-61 he was editor of the Cincinnati Gazette, and editor of the Cincinnati Chronicle and Times during 1868-79. He has contributed to reviews and other periodicals from 1846 to the present time, and his writings have been valuable acquisitions to current literature, and have, in many instances, been incorporated into standard works. He is the author of Biography of Abraham Lincoln.

BARRETT, LAWRENCE, actor, was born April 4, 1838, in Paterson, N. J. His first appearance was in 1853. On the outbreak of the civil war in 1861, Mr. Barrett accepted a captaincy in the twenty-eighth Massachusetts infantry and served with distinction. Afterward he acted at Philadelphia, at Washington, and then at the Winter Garden in New York, where he was engaged by Mr. Booth to play Othello to his Iago. He died March 20, 1891, in New York city.

BARRETT, WILLIAM E., journalist, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 29, 1850, in Melrose, Mass. He was educated at the public schools, and graduated from Dartmouth college in 1880. He began at once as assistant editor of the St. Albans Daily Messenger; joined the staff of the Boston Daily Advertiser in 1882, and was Washington correspondent of the Boston Advertiser 1882-86; he was recalled to Boston to become editor-in-chief, and in 1888 he became chief proprietor and manager of the Boston Daily Advertiser and the Boston Evening Record. He was a member of the Massachusetts legislature in 1887-92, and a candidate for congress in April, 1893; was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

BARRICKLOW, JOSEPH P., lawyer, legislator, was born Feb. 7, 1867, in Rising Sun, Ind. He is a successful lawyer of Arcola, Ill., and served with distinction as a member of the thirty-ninth and fortieth general assemblies of the Illinois state legislature.

BARRINGER, DANIEL L., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 1, 1788, in Mecklenburg county, N. C. He served in the legislature of North Carolina in 1813, and from 1819-22. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1826 to 1835; and was a presidential elector in 1844. He subsequently removed to Tennessee, and was elected speaker of the house of representatives of that state. He died Oct. 16, 1852.

BARRINGER, DANIEL MOREAU, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in 1807 in Cabarras county, N. C. He commenced practicing law in 1829, and in that year was elected a member of the state legislature, in which position he continued for a number of years. He was a representative in congress from North Carolina from 1843 to 1849, when he was appointed Minister to Spain. On his return home he was elected to the state legislature. He was elected a delegate to the peace congress of 1861, and also to the Philadelphia national union convention of 1866. He died Sept. 1, 1873, in Green Brier Springs, Va.

BARRINGER, JOHN E., farmer, state senator, was born July 16, 1841, in New York. He was elected to the Michigan state senate of 1887-88, and took an active part in that body.

BARRITT, FRANCES FULLER, poet, was born in 1826 in Rome, N. Y. When only fourteen years old she began writing for publication, and at twenty-two was a favorite contributor to the Home Journal, under the management of N. P. Willis. Azlea, a tragedy, was written about this time, and published in 1851 in a volume entitled Poems of Imagination and Sentiment, by herself and her sister Metta (Mrs. Victor), and edited by Rufus W. Griswold.

BARRON, ELWYN ALFRED, journalist, dramatist, was born in 1855, in Tennessee. He has been a Chicago journalist on the editorial staff of the Inter-Ocean since 1879, and has written The Viking, a blank-verse drama, and A Moral Crime, and other plays.

BARRON, ERNEST R., inventor, was born May 23, 1844, in Meadville, Pa. He has made many important inventions now used on typewriters. He superintended the construction of the first caligraph, and witnessed its success as rival of the Remington.

BARRON, JAMES, naval officer, was born in 1769 in Virginia. He is chiefly known to the present generation from his encounter when in command of the Chesapeake with the British frigate Leopard in time of peace, and the duel in which he killed Com. Decatur. He died April 21, 1851, in Norfolk, Va.

BARRON, JOHN C., surgeon, capitalist, was born Nov. 2, 1837, in Woodbridge, N. J. Returning to civil life at the end of his enlistment, he became a member and surgeon of the famous seventh regiment of New York city from 1863 to 1871, and after his resignation he was appointed surgeon-general of the first division of the national guard of New York, with the rank of colonel. He is president of The Carpenter Steel works of Reading, Pa.; The Kentucky Coal, Iron and Development company; The Lyons and Campbell Ranch and Cattle company, and The Gila Farm company.

BARRON, SAMUEL, naval officer, was born Sept. 25, 1765, in Hampton, Va. He was distinguished for gallantry in the revolutionary navy of Virginia, in which his father, his uncle and his brother also participated. He died Oct. 28, 1810, in Hampton, Va.

BARRON, SAMUEL, naval officer, was born about 1802 in Virginia. He entered the navy as midshipman; attained the rank of lieutenant in 1827; commander in 1847; and captain in 1855.

BARRON, WALTER J., inventor, was born June 27, 1846, in Meadville, Pa. He invented many improvements now in use on leading typewriters, and in 1888 he invented the Universal typewriter. In 1891 he perfected the Densmore and Barron typewriters.

BARROW, ALEXANDER, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born in 1801 in Nashville, Tenn. He served a number of years in the legislature of Louisiana, and was a senator in congress from Louisiana from 1841 to 1846. He died Dec. 29, 1846, in Baltimore, Md.

BARROW, DAVID, clergyman, was born Oct. 30, 1753, in Virginia. He held various pastorates in Kentucky, and in 1803 published an able pamphlet on The Trinity. He died Nov. 14, 1819, in Kentucky.

BARROW, MRS. FRANCES ELIZABETH, author, was born Feb. 22, 1822, in Charleston, S. C. She was a writer of juvenile tales which have been widely circulated. Among them are The Night Cap Series; The Pop Gun Series; and The Six Mitten Books. She died in 1894.

BARROW, POPE, soldier, lawyer, United States senator, was born Aug. 1, 1830, in Oglethorpe county, Ga. He graduated from the University of Georgia in 1859, and in the law class of that institution of 1860. He served in the confederate army, and at the close of the war of the rebellion resumed the practice of law at Athens, Ga. He was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1877, and was a representative in the state legislature in 1880-81. He was elected a senator of the United States from Georgia to fill a vacancy, and served from 1882 to 1883.

BARROW, WASHINGTON, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 5, 1817, in Davidson county, Tenn. He was a lawyer by education and profession, and in 1841 was appointed American charge d'affaires to Portugal. He was a representative in congress from Tennessee from 1847 to 1849. He died Oct. 19, 1866, in St. Louis, Mo.

BARROWS, CHARLES C., physician, was born June 5, 1857, in Jackson, Miss. He is assistant obstetric physician and gynecologist of Bellevue hospital of New York city.

BARROWS, ELIJAH PORTER, educator, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 5, 1817, in Mansfield, Conn. In 1853 he was appointed professor of Hebrew language and literature in Andover theological seminary, retaining the office until 1866. In 1872 he accepted a like appointment in Oberlin, Ohio, theological seminary. Besides twenty-five articles in the Bibliotheca Sacra, he has published A Memoir of Evertin Judson; Companion to the Bible; and Sacred Geography and Antiquities. He has also been one of the editors of the American Tract society's Bible with Notes.

BARROWS, HENRY FRANCIS, manufacturer, was born in Attleborough, Mass. He is the builder and president of The Attleborough Branch railroad; manager of The North Attleborough Gas company; and president of The North Attleborough National bank.

BARROWS, JOHN HENRY, clergyman, author, was born in 1847 in Michigan. He is a presbyterian clergyman of Chicago, and the author of The Gospels are True History; I Believe in God the Father Almighty; Henry Ward Beecher, the Pulpit Jupiter; and Life of Henry Ward Beecher.

BARROWS, JOHN OTIS, clergyman, author, poet, was born Aug. 4, 1833, in Mansfield, Conn. He has filled many important pastorates in the congregational church, and is the author of On Horseback in Cappadocia and many poems of merit have appeared from the pen of this eminent divine.

BARROWS, SAMUEL JUNE, clergyman, congressman, author, was born May 26, 1845, in New York city. He was fifteen years chaplain of the fifth regiment Massachusetts militia, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican. He is the author of The Shaybacks in Camp; The Baptist Meeting House; Science and Immortality; Isles and Shrines of Greece; and various other works.

BARROWS, WILLARD, civil engineer, author, was born in 1806 in Monson, Mass. He accomplished the government survey of the Choctaw purchase, in Mississippi, finishing that work in 1835. Later he explored Cedar river, which at that time was scarcely known, and in 1837 was engaged on the first surveys of Iowa. In 1840 he surveyed the islands in Mississippi river between Rock Island and Quincy. He published several accounts of his experiences, including Barrows's New Map of Iowa, with Notes, and Historical Sketch of Scott County. He died Jan. 3, 1868, in Davenport, Iowa.

BARROWS, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1815 in Massachusetts. He was a congregational clergyman of Massachusetts, and the author of The Church and the Children; The Indian's Side of the Indian Question; Oregon, the Struggle for Possession; The United States of Yesterday and To-morrow; and Twelve Nights in the Hunter's Camp. He died in 1891.

BARRY, BELLE B., poet, has contributed many poems of rare merit to the periodical press, which have been incorporated into several standard works. She is the wife of Isaac E. Barry, a prominent business man of Knoxville, Tenn.

BARRY, F. G., soldier, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born Jan. 15, 1845, in Woodbury, Tenn. He served in the confederate army during the civil war, and engaged in the practice of law at West Point, Mississippi. He was a state senator from 1875 to 1879; was a presidential elector in 1880, and was elected a representative from Mississippi to the forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses.

BARRY, HENRY W., soldier, state senator, congressman, was born in New York city. He entered the union army as a private early in the war; organized the first regiment of colored troops raised in Kentucky, and commanded a brigade and for a time a division of the army. He was brevetted twice for gallant and meritorious conduct, the last brevet being major-general. He was elected a member of the state constitutional convention of Mississippi in 1867; was elected to the state senate of Mississippi in 1868; and was elected to the forty-first, forty-second and forty-third congresses. He died June 7, 1875, in Washington, D. C.

BARRY, JOHN, naval officer, was born in 1754 in Ireland. He served through the revolutionary war as a naval officer, and at the close of the war, the United States established a new navy, and Barry was named senior officer. In 1776 he commanded the brig Lexington, the first continental vessel which sailed from the port of Philadelphia, and with which he made the first capture of a British war vessel accomplished by an American cruiser. He subsequently commanded the Effingham, Raleigh, the Alliance and other war vessels. He died Sept. 30, 1803, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BARRY, JOHN DANIEL, author, was born in 1866 in Massachusetts. He is the author of A Daughter of Thespis; The Intriguers, a novel; Mademoiselle Blanche; and The Princess Margarethe, a fairy tale.

BARRY, JOHN STETSON, clergyman, author, was born March 26, 1819, in Boston, Mass. He was a universalist clergyman, and the author of The Stetson Genealogy; and History of Massachusetts. He died Dec. 11, 1872, in St. Louis, Mo.

BARRY, JOHN STEWART, state senator, governor, was born Jan. 29, 1802, in Amherst, N. H. Upon the organization of the Michigan state government he was elected a state senator, and in 1841 chosen governor of the state. He was re-elected in 1843, and also in 1849; and was also, on two occasions, a presidential elector. He died Jan. 14, 1870, in Constantine, Mich.

BARRY, NICHOLAS J., physician, was born in 1865, in La Crosse, Fla. Is a prominent physician and drug merchant of Yular, Fla. He received his education in the schools of Lebanon, Ohio, and at colleges in Cincinnati, Ohio, and Atlanta, Ga.

BARRY, PATRICK, horticulturist, author, was born in May, 1816, near Belfast, Ireland. He edited the Genesee Farmer in 1844-52; and was editor of The Horticulturist in 1852-54. He wrote extensively on subjects connected with pomology and flowers, and in 1851 produced a Treatise on the Fruit Garden. His most important book is the complete and valuable Catalogue of the American Pomological Society, which has long been a standard work. He died June 23, 1890, in Rochester, N. Y.

BARRY, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 10, 1805, in Boston, Mass. He was a congregational clergyman of Chicago; and the author of Rights and Duties of Neighboring Churches; Thoughts on Christian Doctrine; History of Framingham; and Antiquities of Wisconsin. He died Jan. 17, 1885, in Chicago, Ill.

BARRY, WILLIAM FARQUHAR, soldier, was born Aug. 8, 1818, in New York city. In 1865 he was made brevet brigadier-general, United States army, for his services in the campaign ending with the surrender of the army under Gen. J. E. Johnston, and on the same day was made brevet major-general for gallant conduct in the field. He was the author in conjunction with Gen. Barnard, of Reports of the Engineer and Artillery Operations of the Army of the Potomac from its Organization to the Close of the Peninsular Campaign. He died July 18, 1879, in Baltimore, Md.

BARRY, WILLIAM T., legislator, state senator, congressman, was born Feb. 5, 1785, in Lunenburg, Va. He served in the state legislature as speaker; during the years 1810-11 was a representative in congress; was a senator in congress from Kentucky from 1814-16; and was also a member of President Jackson's cabinet, as postmaster-general. He died Aug. 30, 1835, in Liverpool, England.

BARRY, WILLIAM T. S., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 10, 1821, in Columbus, Miss. He was a member of the legislature from 1849 to 1851; was a representative in congress from Mississippi from 1853-55; was speaker of the state legislature in 1855; seceded from the Charleston convention in 1860; and was president of the Secession convention of Mississippi, and member of the Provisional congress. He entered the confederate army in 1861, and commanded the thirty-fifth Mississippi regiment from 1862 until captured at Mobile in 1865; he afterward practiced law in Columbus. He died Jan. 29, 1868, in Columbus, Miss.

BARRYMORE, WILLIAM, actor. He came to the United States in 1826, and was stage manager of the Bowery theater. His first appearance here as an actor was Jan. 28, 1832, at the Walnut street theater, Philadelphia, in the pantomime of Mother Goose. He died in 1847, in Boston, Mass.

BARSTOW, GAMALIEL H., business man, state senator, congressman. He was treasurer of the state of New York from 1825-38; served three years in the assembly of New York; four years in the state senate; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1831-33. He died in April, 1865, in Nichols, N. Y.

BARSTOW, GEORGE EAMES, manufacturer, state legislator, was born Nov. 19, 1849, in Providence, R. I. He was educated in the public schools and at Mowry and Goff's English and Classical school of Providence. For four years he was a member of the common council; and for fourteen years was a member of the school board, being president thereof during his last year of service. During 1894-97 he was a representative in the Rhode Island legislature. He is a successful manufacturer; and founder of the town of Barstow, the county seat of Ward county, Texas. He is a member of the Rhode Island Historical society and other institutions; and his descriptive and other writings frequently appear in current literature.

BARSTOW, GIDEON, legislator, congressman, was born in Massachusetts. He served in both branches of the legislature of that state; and was a representative in congress from 1821 to 1823. He died March 26, 1852, in St. Augustine, Fla.

BARSTOW, JOHN L., soldier, legislator, state senator, governor, was born Feb. 21, 1832, in Shelburne, Vt. He served in the union army from 1861 to 1864, rising to the rank of major; and was made brigadier-general of state troops at the time of the St. Albans raid. He was a representative in the state legislature in 1864-65; a state senator in 1860-68; and was United States pension agent at Burlington, Vt., from 1870-78. In 1880 he was elected lieutenant-governor for the term of two years; and in 1882 was elected governor of Vermont for the term of two years.

BARSTOW, WILLIAM A., soldier, governor, was born in 1811. He was governor of Wisconsin from 1854 to 1856. When the rebellion commenced he raised a regiment of cavalry for the war, and was appointed its colonel. He rendered important service on courts-martial at St. Louis. He died Dec. 14, 1865, in Leavenworth, Kan.

BARSTOW, WILSON, soldier, was born in 1830. He served from the first year of the war until its close with zeal and ability, entering the service as a lieutenant, and, passing through the successive grades, attained the brevet rank of brigadier-general in 1865. He died March 16, 1869, in New York city.

BARSTOW, ZEDEKIAH SMITH, educator, legislator, author, was born Oct. 4, 1790, in Canterbury, Conn. In 1818 he became pastor of a congregational church in Keene, N. H. He continued to teach the classics after his settlement at Keene, and the late Chief-Justice Chase was one of his pupils. In 1868-69 he was a member of the New Hampshire legislature, and chaplain of that body. He published many sermons, dissertations, and essays, and was a frequent contributor to religious periodicals. He died March 1, 1873, in Keene, N. H.

BARTEAU, CLARK RUSSELL, soldier, lawyer, was born April 7, 1835, near Cleveland, Ohio. He received his education in the Wesleyan university of Delaware, Ohio. Prior to the war he went south, and became principal of the Male academy of Hartsville, Tenn., in 1856; and two years later became the editor and owner of The Hartsville Plaindealer. During the war he was colonel of cavalry, known as Barteau's Second Tennessee, in the confederate service. He was known as a fighter; was cool but impetuous in action, and was wounded in many battles, including Shiloh, Murfreesboro, Franklin, Harrisburg, and Okolona; and on Dec. 6, 1864, was disabled for the rest of the war. In 1866 he was admitted to the bar; and in 1870 removed to Bartlett, Tenn., and practices law in Memphis.

BARTH, WILLIAM, capitalist, was born in 1829, in Germany. Foreseeing the great future of Denver, he at an early day bought a large amount of local real estate. He took an active part in building The South Park railroad and The Denver, Texas and Gulf railroad. For ten years he was president of the City National bank, of Denver, Colo.

BARTHOLDT, RICHARD, journalist, congressman, was born Nov. 2, 1853, in Germany. He came to this country when a boy; received a classical education; learned the printing trade and has remained a newspaper man ever since. He was connected with several eastern papers as reporter, legislative correspondent, and editor, and was at the time of his election to congress editor-in-chief of the St. Louis Tribune. He was elected to the board of public schools of St. Louis, and in 1891 was chosen its president. He was elected to the fifty-third and fifty-fourth congresses and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican, by over 16,000 majority. In the fifty-fourth congress he was chairman of the committee on immigration, and reported and passed the so-called Bartholdt-McCall bill which provided an educational test for immigrants.

BARTHOLOMEW, EDWARD SHEFFIELD, sculptor, was born in 1822, in Colchester, Conn. Among his best-known works are Blind Homer led by his Daughter; Eve; Campagna Shepherd Boy; Genius of Painting; Youth and Old Age; Evening Star; Eve Repentant; Washington and Flora; A Monument to Charles Carroll; Belisarius at the Porta Pincinia; and Ganymede. The Wadsworth gallery, Hartford, Conn., contains a large number of his works. He died May 2, 1858, in Naples, Italy.

BARTHOLOMEW, MILES MARSHALL, inventor, was born Feb. 3, 1844, in Vienna, Ohio. He invented a typewriter and took out his first patent in 1879.

BARTHOLOMEW, PLINY WEBSTER, lawyer, jurist, was born Aug. 4, 1840, in Cabotville, Mass. He graduated in 1864 from the Union college of Schenectady, N. Y., and has attained success as an able lawyer of Indianapolis, Ind. He has been commissioner for New York and Connecticut, in Indiana; trustee of the American college of Indianapolis; and judge of the superior court during 1892-96.

BARTHOLOW, ROBERTS, physician, author, was born Nov. 18, 1831, in Howard county, Md. He is a physician and medical professor of Philadelphia. He is the author of Materia Medica and Therapeutics; Practice of Medicine; Medical Electricity; and The Antagonism between Medicines and between Remedies and Diseases.

BARTINE, HORACE F., soldier, lawyer, journalist, congressman, was born March 21, 1848, in New York city. He enlisted as a private soldier during the civil war in the eighth regiment of the New Jersey volunteers, and was severely wounded in the breast at the battle of the Wilderness. He was subsequently in nearly all of the principal engagements in which the army of the Potomac took part. In 1869 he moved to Nevada, and resided there until 1895. In 1888 he was elected to congress, and received the re-election in 1890. He is now the editor of The Bimetallist of Washington, D. C.

BARTINE, JOHN D., lawyer, jurist, was born in 1836, in Princeton, N. J. In 1865 he moved to Somerville, N. J., where he was appointed law judge in 1885, receiving the reappointment in 1890 and again in 1895. Although he has been twelve years on the bench, such decisions of his as have been taken to higher courts have not been reversed in a single instance, which proves his wisdom and intimate knowledge of the law.

BARTLETT, A. EUGENE, clergyman, lecturer, author, was born Dec. 23, 1873, in Boston, Mass. He graduated from Tufts college, and received the degree of bachelor of theology. He has been secretary of the Boston Ministers' association; is an earnest advocate of woman's suffrage; is prominent in many reform movements; and is the author of Thought Pits.

BARTLETT, ALICE ELOISE, author, poet, was born Sept. 24, 1848, in Delavan, Wis. She is widely known by the pen name of Birch Arnold. In 1872 she began to write for the Toledo Blade; and is the author of two novels entitled Until the Daybreak, and A New Aristocracy. She has written numerous meritorious poems, which have appeared in current magazines and in several standard collections.

BARTLETT, ASA, jurist. He was appointed chief justice of the United States court for the territory of Dakota.

BARTLETT, BAILEY, congressman. He was sheriff of Essex county, Mass., for many years, and a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1797 to 1801.

BARTLETT, CHARLES G., soldier. For many years he served his country as a soldier, and is now a colonel in the United States army.

BARTLETT, CHARLES HENRY, naval legislator, was born Oct. 15, 1833, in Sunapee, N. H. He served with distinction in the New Hampshire state senate in 1883; and was made president of that body. He resides in Manchester, and his portrait hangs in the new library building of the state capitol.

BARTLETT, CHARLES L., lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born Jan. 31, 1853, in Monticello, Ga. He removed from Monticello to Macon, Ga., in 1875, and has resided in Macon since then; was educated in the schools at Monticello, the university of Georgia, and the university of Virginia; and graduated at the university of Georgia in August, 1870. He studied law at the university of Virginia and was admitted to the bar in August, 1872. He was appointed solicitor-general (prosecuting attorney) for the Macon judicial court Jan. 31, 1877, and served in that capacity until Jan. 31, 1881; was elected to the house of representatives of Georgia in 1882-83, and again in 1884-85, and to the state senate in 1889. He was elected judge of the superior court of the Macon circuit in 1893; and was elected to the fifty-fourth and fifty-fifth congresses.

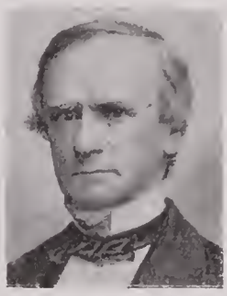
BARTLETT, CLARENCE, lecturer, was born May 22, 1858, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He attained prominence as a lecturer on neurology in many prominent colleges; and is the author of a work entitled Farrington Clinical Materia Medica.

BARTLETT, DAVID LEWIS, manufacturer, was born Dec. 6, 1816, in Hadley, Mass. His firm are among the most extensive manufacturers of architectural iron and gas works in the United States. They have erected gas plants at Milwaukee, Wis., Brooklyn, N. Y., Newark, Hoboken, and Morristown, N. J., Boston, Brookline and Haverhill, Mass., Washington, D. C., Montreal, Canada, and Havana, Cuba.

BARTLETT, EDWIN JULIUS, educator, was born Feb. 16, 1851, in Hudson, Ohio. He was graduated at Lake Forest academy in 1868, and at Dartmouth in 1872, after which he studied at Rush medical college, receiving his degree in 1879. From 1879 till 1883 he was associate professor of chemistry in Dartmouth college, and in 1883 he became full professor.

BARTLETT, ELISHA, physician, author, was born in 1805, in Smithfield, R. I. He was a Rhode Island physician; and the author of The Fevers of the United States; and Simple Settings in Verse for Portraits and Pictures in Mr. Dicken's Gallery. He died July 18, 1855, in Smithfield, R. I.

BARTLETT, ELIZABETH COLLIS, author, was born Nov. 5, 1838, in New Haven, Conn. Mrs. Bartlett's husband was editor of the Scientific American. After his death she became a writer of short stories, and at present is writing stories on English history.



BARTLETT, FRANKLIN, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 10, 1847, in Worcester county, Mass. In 1890 he served as a member of the constitutional commission of the state of New York; in 1892 was a delegate from New York to the democratic national convention at Chicago; and was elected to the fifty-third and re-elected to the fifty-fourth congresses.

BARTLETT, HOMER LYMAN, physician, was born in Jericho, Vt. He was consulting physician to Kings county hospital; and in 1881 was a delegate to the Physicians' Mutual Aid association. He has contributed freely to medical journals; and also written a series of Sketches of Long Island.

BARTLETT, ICHABOD, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born July 24, 1786, in Salisbury, N. H. He was a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1823-29; was also frequently in the state legislature, and was a member of the convention to revise the state constitution. He died Oct. 19, 1853, in Portsmouth, N. H.

BARTLETT, JOHN, journalist, author, was born June 14, 1820, in Plymouth, Mass. He was formerly a Boston publisher, well known as the editor of Familiar Quotations, which reached a ninth edition in 1891. He is the author of The Shakespeare Phrase-Book; and A Complete Concordance to Shakespeare.

BARTLETT, JOHN RUSSELL, public official, author, was born Oct. 23, 1805, in Providence, R. I. He was at one time secretary of state in Rhode Island; and was the author of Records of the Colony of Rhode Island; Memoir of Rhode Island Officers in the War of the Rebellion; Primeval Man; Genealogy of the Russell Family; Dictionary of Americanisms; and Progress of Ethnology. He edited the Letters of Roger Williams. He died May 28, 1886, in Providence, R. I.

BARTLETT, JOSEPH, poet, was born June 10, 1762, in Plymouth, Mass. He was a satirical poet whose New Vicar of Bray once attracted considerable attention. He died Oct. 20, 1827, in Boston, Mass.

BARTLETT, JOSEPH J., diplomat, was born about 1820, in New York. In 1867 he was appointed minister resident to Sweden and Norway, where he remained until 1869.

BARTLETT, JOSIAH, jurist, governor, was born Nov. 21, 1729, in Amesbury, Mass. He was educated for the medical profession; held commissions, both military and civil, under the royal government; accompanied Stark to Bennington as medical agent; was a delegate from New Hampshire to the continental congress from 1775 to 1779, and signed the articles of confederation and declaration of independence. He was appointed, in the latter year, chief justice of the court of common pleas; justice of the superior court in 1784, and chief justice in 1788. In 1790 he was appointed president of New Hampshire, and elected by the people in 1791 and 1792. In 1793 he was elected governor of New Hampshire under the constitution, serving two years. He was the president of a medical society established by his efforts in 1791. He died May 19, 1795, in New Hampshire.

BARTLETT, JOSIAH, physician, congressman, was born in 1768, in New Hampshire. He was a physician of extensive practice; a representative in congress from New Hampshire from 1811 to 1813; and a presidential elector in 1792 and 1825. His father, bearing the same name, was a man of note, and the first governor of New Hampshire, after the adoption of the federal constitution. He died April 14, 1838, in Stratham, N. H.

BARTLETT, MARY RUSSELL, author. She is a graduate of Wellesley college; and her poems constantly appear in current publications.

BARTLETT, NAPIER, soldier, journalist, author, was born in 1836, in Georgia. He was the author of Clarimonde, a novelette; Stories of the Crescent City; and A Soldier's Story of the War. He died in 1877.

BARTLETT, PETER MASON, clergyman, banker, was born Feb. 6, 1820, in Salisbury, Conn. In 1850 he graduated from Williams college; and in 1853 from the Union Theological seminary of New York city. He has been general agent of the American Tract society; and has filled pastorates in Circleville, Ohio; Lansingburgh, N. Y.; and Windsor Locks, Conn. He served as chaplain of the first New York mounted rifles during 1862-63. In 1868 he was elected president of the Maryville college, Tenn.; and for nearly twenty years filled the chair of Mental and Moral Philosophy, and of Didactic Theology in that institution. He has been president of several business firms of Tennessee, and is now president of the bank of Maryville.

BARTLETT, RALPH W., lawyer, educator, was born June 13, 1865, in North Brookfield, Mass. He is a graduate from Amherst college and the Boston university law school; and is a member of the bar. Since 1894 he has been instructor of real property at the Boston university school of law.

BARTLETT, SAMUEL COLCORD, eighth president of Dartmouth college, was born Nov. 25, 1817, in Salisbury, N. H. In 1836 he graduated from Dartmouth college; then began educational work. In 1843 he became pastor of the congregational church in Monson, Mass.; and three years later assumed the duties of the professorship of intellectual philosophy and rhetoric in the Western Reserve college. In 1852 he returned to the ministry; filled pastorates in Manchester, N. H., and Chicago, Ill.; and became one of the editors of the Congregational Herald. In 1858 he was chosen professor of biblical literature in the Chicago Theological seminary; was elected president of Vermont university in 1866; and in 1877 became president of Dartmouth college. After fifteen years of service he resigned in 1892. He is the author of Life and Death Eternal; from Egypt to Palestine; and other works.

BARTLETT, THOMAS, JR., lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in Vermont. He adopted the profession of the law; and was a representative in congress from Vermont from 1851 to 1853. He served three years in the state legislature, in both houses.

BARTLETT, THOMAS EDWARD, contractor, genealogist, was born April 17, 1838, in Smithfield, R. I. He received his education at the Maine Wesleyan seminary, and the Quaker school of Providence, R. I. He is a successful contractor of Worcester, Mass., and the author of a genealogy of the Bartletts.

BARTLETT, THOMAS ELLIOTT, clergyman, author, was born Sept. 20, 1853, in Newburyport, Mass. He graduated from Brown university and Newton Theological institute, and since 1880 has been pastor of South Baptist church, of Providence, R. I. He is the author of several books.

BARTLETT, WASHINGTON, governor, was born Feb. 29, 1824, in Savannah, Ga. He published the first book printed in California, entitled California as It Is and as It May Be. In 1886 he was chosen governor of California, and held that office until the time of his death. He died Sept. 2, 1887.

BARTLETT, WILLIAM, philanthropist, was born Jan. 31, 1748, in Newburyport, Mass. Entering on a mercantile career, before the revolution, he succeeded, with economy, in amassing a fortune, which he largely spent in charity, and for the advancement of religion and morals. At the foundation of Andover theological seminary, in 1807, he gave it $30,000, endowed a professorship, and built a house for the use of the incumbent. His gifts to this institution reached $250,000, and he also gave largely toward temperance work, missions, and the education of ministers. He died Feb. 8, 1841, in Newburyport, Mass.

BARTLETT, WILLIAM FRANCIS, soldier, was born Jan. 6, 1840, in Haverhill, Mass. He served in the civil war as captain of the 57th Massachusetts volunteers, and was promoted brigadier-general for gallant and meritorious conduct. He died Dec. 17, 1876, in Pittsfield, Mass.

BARTLETT, WILLIAM HOLMS CHAMBERS, scientist, author, was born in 1809, in Lancaster, Pa. He was a prominent scientist, who was from 1834-71 an instructor at West Point. He was the author of Treatise on Optics; Analytical Mechanics; and Spherical Astronomy. He died in 1893.

BARTLETT, WILLIAM PITT GREENWOOD, mathematician, author, was born Oct. 27, 1837, in Boston, Mass. He became one of the corps of computers for the Nautical Almanac. He published several papers on the elements of quaternions in the Mathematical Monthly, and on interpolation in the Memoirs of the American Academy. He died Jan. 13, 1865, in Cambridge, Mass.

BARTLEY, ELIAS HUDSON, chemist, author, was born Dec. 6, 1849, in Bartleyville, N. J. In 1882 he was appointed chief chemist to the health department, Brooklyn. He is also consulting sanitarian to the hospital for nervous diseases, and visiting physician to the sheltering arms nursery. Dr. Bartley is a member of numerous medical and other scientific societies, and president of the American Society of Public Analysts. He has contributed several articles to Wood's Household Practice of Medicine; and is the author of A Text-Book of Medical Chemistry.

BARTLEY, MORDECAI, soldier, agriculturalist, governor, was born Dec. 16, 1783, in Fayette county, Pa. He was captain and adjutant, under Harrison, in the war of 1812; and was a state senator in 1817 and 1818. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1823 to 1831; and governor of Ohio from 1844 to 1846. He died Oct. 12, 1870, in Mansfield, Ohio.

BARTLEY, THOMAS W., lawyer, jurist, state senator, governor, was born Feb. 11, 1812, in Jefferson county, Pa. He served two years in the house of representatives, and four years in the senate of Ohio. In 1851 he was elected judge of the supreme court of Ohio, and served in that position two terms, three years of the time as chief justice of the court. In 1844, when Governor Shannon resigned to become minister to Mexico, Mr. Bartley, as president of the senate, became the governor.

BARTOL, CYRUS AUGUSTUS, clergyman, author, poet, was born April 30, 1813, in Freeport, Maine. His first and only settlement in the ministry was as colleague with Rev. Dr. Charles Lowell, at West church, Boston, in 1837. In 1861 he became and still remains sole pastor, having rendered distinguished service of more than half a century over one of the oldest and most influential societies of Boston. This noted unitarian clergyman is promiuent as a leader of radical religious thought; and has always been active in philanthropic movements. He is the author of Pictures of Europe; Christian Spirit and Life; Radical Problems; The Rising Faith; Principles and Portraits; Church and Congregation; and Christian Body and Form.

BARTON, MRS. ANNA, pastor, poet, was born Oct. 26, 1842, in Western New York. After engaging in active church service for many years, in 1886 she assumed the position of pastor of the Free Baptist church, of Paw Paw, Mich. In 1882 she published a volume of poems, entitled For Friendship's Sake.

BARTON, BENJAMIN SMITH, physician, author, was born Feb. 10, 1766, in Lancaster, Pa. He was a noted physician of Philadelphia; and the author of Observations on Some Parts of Natural History; New Views on the Origin of the Tribes of North America; and Elements of Botany. He died Dec. 19, 1815, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BARTON, CLARA, philanthropist, was born in 1830, in North Oxford, Mass. She was educated at Clinton, N. Y. She founded a free school at Bordentown, N. J.; was clerk in the United States patent office from 1854 to 1861; devoted herself to the care of sick and wounded soldiers during the civil war; went to Europe and did hospital work in the Franco-German war; aided the Red Cross movement; assisted the poor at Paris and Strasburg; returning, she became the head of the Red Cross society, and in 1896 went to Turkey to aid the persecuted Armenians. In 1898 she went to Cuba, and had charge of distributing supplies furnished by the United States government.

BARTON, DAVID, congressman, was born in 1785, in Boonville, Mo. He was one of the first emigrants to the territory of Missouri; president of the convention which met to form a state constitution in 1820, and was a senator in congress from Missouri from 1821 to 1831. He died Sept. 28, 1837, near Boonville, Mo.

BARTON, HUBBARD ALONZO, journalist, poet, was born May 12, 1842, in Croydon, N. H. This well-known New Hampshire editor was educated in the schools of his native town and by private instruction, and for many years was superintendent of schools. Early developing a literary taste he contributed much, both in prose and verse, to the public press. In 1879 he became the editor and senior proprietor of the New Hampshire Argus and Spectator, a well-known democratic newspaper published at Newport, N. H., which was established in 1823, by his great uncle, the Hon. Cyrus Barton; and for the past twenty years he has been continuously connected with that publication.

BARTON, RICHARD W., legislator, congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1841 to 1843; also served in the state legislature; and was the first president of the Valley Agricultural society. He died March 15, 1859, in Frederick county, Va.

BARTON, SAMUEL, congressman, was born in New York. He served three years in the assembly of that state; and was a representative in congress from 1835 to 1837.

BARTON, THOMAS, clergyman, was born in 1730, in Monaghan, Ireland. He was for nearly twenty years rector of St. James church, Lancaster, Pa. He died May 25, 1780, in New York.

BARTON, WILLIAM, soldier, was born May 26, 1748, in Warren, R. I. He was a soldier in the revolutionary war; and received the rank of colonel and a sword for his services. He died Oct. 22, 1831, in Providence, R. I.

BARTON, WILLIAM PAUL CRILLON, physician, surgeon, botanist, author, was born Nov. 17, 1786, in Philadelphia, Pa. He organized the United States naval bureau of medicine and surgery, and was known both as botanist and surgeon. He was the author of Vegetable Materia Medica of the United States; Flora of North America; Medical Botany; and Compendium Floræ Philadelphiæ. He died Feb. 9, 1856, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BARTOW, A. A., educator, journalist, poet, was born Sept. 3, 1851, in Huron, Ohio. Until 1889 he was engaged in educational work; and then became editor of the Cincinnati Public School Journal. At the age of twelve he was a drummer boy in the union army.

BARTRAM, JOHN, botanist, author, was born March 23, 1699, in Darby, Pa. He was a shrewd, careful observer whom Linnæus termed the greatest natural botanist in the world, and was called the father of American botany. He was the author of Observations on the Inhabitants, Climate, etc., as made by Mr. John Bartram in his Travels from Pennsylvania to Onondaga, etc. A similar record of travels in eastern Florida appeared in 1766. He died Sept. 22, 1777, in Kingsessing, Pa.

BARTRAM, JOSEPH BURR, merchant, was born May 17, 1839, in Black Rock, Conn. He is extensively engaged in the importation of sugar from the West Indies, having plantations on the islands of St. Croix and San Domingo, and controlling the product of several others.

BARTRAM, WILLIAM, botanist, author, was born Feb. 9, 1739, in Kingsessing, Pa. He was a botanist and traveler of Pennsylvania; and the author of Travel Through North and South Carolina, Georgia, etc.; and Observations on the Creek and Cherokee Indians. He died July 22, 1823, in Kingsessing, Pa.

BARWIG, CHARLES, merchant, congressman, was born March 19, 1837, in Germany. He emigrated to America with his parents in 1845, locating at Milwaukee. He graduated from the Spencerian business college in 1857; located at Mayville in 1865; and was elected to the fifty-first, fifty-second and fifty-third congresses.

BARZEE, CLARK LOUIS, educator, college president, poet, was born Jan. 5, 1864, in Marion county, Ore. He has been president of the Jefferson institute, Oregon; president of the Mineral Spring college, of Sodaville, Ore., of which institution he was the founder; and is now president of the state normal school, of Drain, Ore. For several years he was the editor of the Oregon School Journal; is the author of a work entitled X-Rays on the Public Schools; and is the author of a number of meritorious poems.

BASCOM, HENRY BIDLEMAN, bishop, author, was born May 27, 1796, in Hancock, N. Y. He was a bishop of the methodist church; and the author of Sermons from the Pulpit; Mental and Moral Science; and Methodism and Slavery. He died Sept. 8, 1850, in Louisville, Ky.

BASCOM, JOHN, author, was born May 1, 1827, in Genoa, N. Y. He is a philosophical writer, and from 1874-87 was president of Wisconsin university, and subsequently professor of political science at Williams college. He is the author of Elements of Psychology; Æsthetics; Political Economy for Colleges; Science, Philosophy, and Religion; Natural Theology; The Science of Mind; The Words of Christ; Philosophy of English Literature; Comparative Psychology; Problems in Philosophy; Sociology, Social Theory; Ethics; The New Theology; Historical Interpretation of Philosophy; and A Philosophy of Religion.

BASHFORD, HERBERT, author, poet, was born in 1871, in Sioux City, Iowa. A poem written at the age of fifteen was accepted by the Critic, and his poems have appeared in several standard works.

BASHFORD, JAMES WHITFORD, clergyman, college president, was born in 1849, in Fayette, Wis. He has held various pastorates, had frequent calls to take up educational work, and in 1889 was elected president of the Ohio Wesleyan university.

BASHFORD, ROBERT McKEE, lawyer, legislator, was born Dec. 31, 1845, in Fayette, Wis. He graduated from the state university of Wisconsin in ancient classics in 1870; and in law the following year. During 1880-85 he was city attorney of Madison, Wis.; a delegate to the national democratic convention in 1884; and in 1890 was mayor of that city. During 1884-85 and since 1893 he has been professor in a law school of the state university of Wisconsin. During 1892-96 he was a member of the Wisconsin state senate, and served with distinction in that body.

BASKERVILL, WILLIAM MALONE, educator, author, was born April 1, 1850, in Fayette county, Tenn. He has been professor of Latin and French in Wofford college, S. C.; and of English language and literature in the Vanderbilt university. He is the author of Joel Chandler Harris, a biographical and critical study.

BASS, EDWARD, bishop, was born Nov. 23, 1726, in Dorchester, Mass. He was consecrated in Philadelphia in 1797, and his jurisdiction extended over the churches in Rhode Island and New Hampshire. He died Sept. 10, 1803, in Newburyport, Mass.

BASS, JOHN H., soldier, business man, financier, was born Nov. 9, 1835, in Salem, Ky. During the war he served the union cause in the thirtieth regiment Indiana volunteer infantry. He established the Fort Wayne Machine works, and in 1869 extended his operations by founding the St. Louis Car Wheel company, of which he was president. Since 1880 he has owned a plant for the manufacture of pig iron in northeastern Alabama, whence that commodity is shipped to his establishments in Fort Wayne, Chicago, and St. Louis. He is the president of the old national bank of Fort Wayne; owns the Brookside farm; and nearly twenty thousand acres of valuable mineral land in Alabama. In 1888 he was a delegate at large to the democratic national convention, and was the same year nominated one of the presidential electors.

BASS, JOSIAH LUSTER, merchant, was born Feb. 20, 1853, in DeKalb county, Tenn. He established a large dry goods house in Griffin, Rome and Atlanta; and has been a prominent leader in public industrial affairs.

BASS, LYMAN K., lawyer, congressman, was born Nov. 13, 1836, in Alden, N. Y. He was elected district attorney for Erie county in 1865, for three years; and was re-elected in 1868; and served until 1872. He was renominated and was elected to the forty-third and forty-fourth congresses.

BASS, WILLIAM C., clergyman, college president, was born Jan. 13, 1831, in Augusta, Ga. He entered the ministry of the methodist church in 1852, and has given his later life to the work of education in Georgia. He became a professor in the Wesleyan Female college in 1859, and succeeded to the presidency in 1874.

BASSETT, ALLAN LEE, soldier, journalist, insurance president, was born Feb. 28, 1827, near Birmingham, Conn. For twenty years he was a successful merchant of New York city. He served with distinction through the civil war in the twenty-third New York regiment. In 1866 he established The Northern Monthly and New Jersey Magazine, of Irvington, N. J., which subsequently became Putnam's Magazine. In 1873 he organized the Prudential Insurance company, now one of the most important institutions of its kind in America; and he became its first president. He died Dec. 4, 1892, in Newark, N. J. His son, Carrol Phillips Bassett, still resides in Newark, N. J.

BASSETT, ARTHUR, merchant, was born Jan. 17, 1851, in Fairfield, Mich. In 1882 he was elected great commander of the Order of the Knights of the Maccabees, at Port Huron, Mich., where he is a wholesale druggist and successful man of affairs.

BASSETT, BURWELL, congressman, was born in New Kent county, Va. He was a representative in congress from that state in 1805-13, from 1815 to 1819, and from 1821 to 1831.

BASSETT, CARROLL PHILLIPS, civil engineer, author, was born Feb. 27, 1862, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He was president of the New Jersey Sanitary association from 1892-93; is chief engineer of the Commonwealth Water company; and has designed and constructed the waterworks, the sewerage, and sewage purification works of many towns in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Delaware. He is the author of The Conservation of Streams, and Inland Sewage Disposal.

BASSETT, HOMER FRANKLIN, librarian, was born Sept. 2, 1826, in Florida, Mass. In 1872 he was appointed librarian of the Silas Bronson library, of Waterbury, Conn.

BASSETT, J. ANTHONY, educator, was born Dec. 25, 1850, in Denmark, N. Y. He received a thorough education in the Lowville academy and the Rochester university. For twelve years he was in charge of the departments of science and mathematics in the old Gouverneur Wesleyan seminary; and in 1887 assumed the principalship of the Richfield Springs Union schools.

BASSETT, JAMES, clergyman, author, was born Jan. 31, 1834, in Canada. This eminent clergyman has filled various pastorates in Pennsylvania and New York. He is the author of a number of works, and has contributed extensively to church literature.

BASSETT, RICHARD, jurist, United States senator, governor, was born in Delaware. He was a member from Delaware of the convention which formed the constitution, and signed that instrument; and was a senator in congress from 1789 to 1793. He was a presidential elector in 1797, and was the first man who cast his vote for locating the seat of government on the Potomac. He was chief justice of the federal supreme court, and governor of Delaware from 1798 to 1801. He died in September, 1815, in Delaware.

BASSETT, SPENCER JOHN, educator, author, was born Sept. 10, 1867, in Tarborough, N. C. He is a successful educator and the author of the following works: The Constitutional Beginnings of North Carolina; Slavery and Servitude in the Colony of North Carolina; The Regulators of North Carolina; Suffrage in North Carolina; and Anti-Slavery Leaders in North Carolina.

BASTIN, EDSON SEWELL, educator, author, was born in Wisconsin. In 1893 he was elected to the chair of materia medica and botany in the Philadelphia College of Pharmacy. He is the author of Lectures on Botany and Materia Medica; Elements of Botany; The College Botany; and Vegetable History.

BATCHELDER, JOHN PUTNAM, educator, physician, surgeon, author, was born Aug. 6, 1784, in Wilton, N. H. He was a successful surgeon, and performed many operations of great importance, and requiring extraordinary skill and daring. He was president of the Academy of Medicine, and of the New York Medical association in 1858. He published Thoughts on the Connection of Life, Mind, and Matter, and other works. He died April 8, 1868, in New York city.

BATCHELDER, SAMUEL, manufacturer, inventor, author, was born June 8, 1784, in Jaffrey, N. H. In 1808 he began the manufacture of cotton at New Ipswich. Among his inventions, that of the dynamometer, for ascertaining the power for driving machinery, first used in the York mills in 1837, is perhaps the greatest. He is the author of History of the Cotton Manufacture in the United States. He died Feb. 5, 1879, in Cambridge, Mass.

BATCHELLER, GEORGE S., soldier, statesman, was born July 25, 1836, in Batchellerville, N. Y. He reorganized the militia of New York and served as inspector-general from 1865 to 1869. He was appointed to represent the United States at the international tribunal of Egypt, and in 1883 was elected president of that body. In 1889 he was appointed consul-general to Egypt by President Harrison.

BATCHELOR, GEORGE, clergyman, author. He was born in 1836 in Connecticut. He is a unitarian clergyman, and the author of Social Equilibrium and Other Problems, Ethical and Religious.

BATE, HENRY C., soldier, was born July 28, 1839, in Bledsoe's Lick, Tenn. He served in the civil war as a confederate, and attained the rank of major.

BATE, WILLIAM B., soldier, lawyer, governor, United States senator, was born Oct. 17, 1826, in Castalian Springs, Tenn. He received an academic education; served as a private throughout the Mexican war in Louisiana and Tennessee regiments; and a year after returning from the Mexican war was elected to the Tennessee legislature. In 1854 he was elected attorney-general for the Nashville district for six years; was a presidential elector in 1860; was private, captain, colonel, brigadier-general, and major-general in the confederate service, surrendering with the army of Tennessee in 1865; and was three times dangerously wounded. After the close of the war he returned to Tennessee and resumed the practice of law; was a delegate to the democratic national convention in 1868; served on the national democratic executive committee for Tennessee twelve years; was an elector for the state-at-large on the Tilden and Hendricks ticket in 1876; in 1882 was elected governor of Tennessee, and re-elected in 1884 without opposition. He was elected to the United States senate in 1887, and in 1893-99.

BATEMAN, EPHRAIM, physician, state senator, congressman, was born in Cedarville, N. J. He was well educated, and adopted the profession of medicine. He was a representative in congress from 1815 to 1823; and a senator in congress from 1826 to 1829. He died Jan. 29, 1829, in Cedarville, N. J.

BATEMAN, ISABEL, actress, was born Dec. 28, 1854, near Cincinnati, Ohio. Her family moved to England in 1863. Two years later she made her début in a child's character in London. For six years after 1872 she played the leading characters with Henry Irving. Most of her acting has been done in the theaters of London.

BATEMAN, KATE J., actress, was born Oct. 7, 1842, in Baltimore, Md. Her father became the manager of the Lyceum theater in London. She was introduced to the London public by P. T. Barnum in conjunction with her young sister, as the Bateman Children. Her married name was Crowe. Her best character was that of Leah in a play of that name.

BATEMAN, NEWTON, educator, college president, was born July 27, 1822, in Fairfield, N. J. He came to Illinois in 1833, and graduated from Illinois college in 1843. He assisted in organizing the State Teachers' association of Illinois in 1854. In 1858 he founded the Illinois Teacher, and was its first editor. He became state superintendent of public instruction of Illinois in 1859, and to this office he was re-elected four times. In 1860 he issued the first of the series of reports, which are recognized as classic authority concerning Illinois pedagogic law. In 1874 he was chosen president of Knox college. He died Oct. 21, 1897, in Galesburg, Ill.

BATES, ARLO, educator, author, was born Dec. 16, 1850, in East Machias, Maine. He is professor of English literature in Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He is the author of Talks on Writing English; The Pagans; Patty's Perversities; A Wheel of Fire; In the Bundle of Time; A Lad's Love; The Philistines; A Book o' Nine Tales. His verse includes Berries of the Brier; Sonnets in Shadow; A Poet and his Self; Told in the Gate; and The Torch-Bearers.

BATES, BENJAMIN E., philanthropist. Bates college, of Lewiston, Maine, was controlled by the free baptists; founded in 1863, and named after Benjamin E. Bates, of Boston, who contributed $200,000 to its endowment fund.

BATES, CHARLOTTE FISKE, author, poet, was born Nov. 30, 1838, in New York city. She has published a volume of her collected verses, entitled Risk, and Other Poems. She has edited the Longfellow Birthday Book and The Seven Voices of Sympathy, compilations of Longfellow's prose and poetry, and the Cambridge Book of Poetry and Song, a volume of poetical selections from English and American authors. She has also written some prose, which has not yet been published in a collected form. Miss Bates assisted Longfellow in compiling his Poems of Places, making ten translations expressly for the work.

BATES, MRS. CLARA [DOTY], author, was born in 1838 in Ann Arbor, Mich. She is a writer of juvenile tales and the author of Classics of Babyland Versified; Child Lore; On the Way to Wonderland; and Heart's Content. She died in 1895.

BATES, CYRUS S., an eminent clergyman of the episcopal church, was born Dec. 31, 1840, in Chester, Ohio. He was among the first to volunteer in the northern army in 1861, and was distinguished for his bravery. He was severely wounded at the battle of Chickamauga. In 1865 he graduated from the Cincinnati Law school, and later from the Theological seminary at Gambier, Ohio. During six years he was professor of divinity in this seminary, and professor of philosophy in Kenyon college. For the last twelve years of his life he was rector of St. Paul's, Cleveland. He was a vigorous thinker and a speaker of great power, indefatigable in labor, and prominent in many lines of philanthropic work. He died April 19, 1896, in Cleveland, Ohio.

BATES, DAVID, author, was born about 1810 in Philadelphia, Pa. He was the author of the well-known poem Speak Gently, about which, shortly after its publication, there was a notable controversy and counterclaims as to its authorship. Childhood is another of his best known pieces. A complete edition of his poems was edited by his son. He died Nov. 25, 1870, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BATES, DEWEY, painter, was born in 1851 in Philadelphia. At an early age he went abroad to study art, first entering the schools of the royal academy of Antwerp, and subsequently spending several years as a student in the Ecole des beaux arts in Paris and as a pupil of Gérôme.

BATES, EDWARD, lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born Sept. 4, 1793, in Belmont, Va. He was elected a representative in congress from Missouri, serving from 1827 to 1829; and in 1830 was elected to the state senate. In 1834 he was again elected to the lower house of the legislature; in 1850 was appointed secretary of war, but declined the office; and in 1853 he was elected judge of the St. Louis land court, which office he resigned in 1856. In 1861 he was appointed attorney-general in President Lincoln's cabinet. He died March 25, 1869, in St. Louis, Mo.

BATES, FREDERICK, jurist, governor, was born June 23, 1777, in Belmont, Va. He was appointed by President Jefferson in 1805 the first United States judge for the territory of Michigan, and having subsequently become a citizen of Missouri was elected governor of Missouri, serving from 1824 until his death, Aug. 21, 1825.

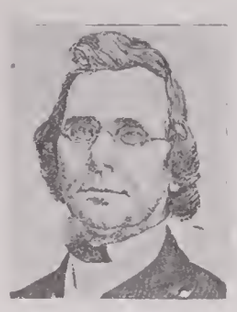
BATES, MRS. HARRIET LEONORA [VOSE], author, was born in 1856. She was the author of A Woodland Wooing; Old Salem; and Prince Vance. She died in 1886.

BATES, ISAAC C., state senator, congressman, was born May 14, 1780, in Granville, Mass. He graduated at Yale college in 1802, and studied law and attained a high position as an advocate. He was frequently in the state legislature and a member of the executive council; was a representative in congress from 1827 to 1833; and was a senator in congress from 1841 to 1845. He died March 16, 1845, in Washington, D. C.

BATES, J. WOODSON, jurist. He was an early emigrant to the southwest, and while residing at the post of Arkansas was appointed a United States judge for that territory.

BATES, JAMES, physician, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Somerset county, Maine, from 1831 to 1833.

BATES, JAMES W., congressman, was born in Goochland county, Va. He was a delegate to congress from the territory of Arkansas from 1820 to 1823.



BATES, JOHN LEWIS, lawyer, legislator, was born Sept. 18, 1859, in Easton, Mass. He received his education at the Boston Latin school and the college and law departments of the Boston university. He has attained success as one of the foremost lawyers of New England, and is the senior member of the law firm of Bates and Bradish, of Boston, Mass. In 1891-92 he was a member of the Boston common council; in 1894-97 served with distinction as a member of the Massachusetts house of representatives, and was speaker of the house in 1897.

BATES, JOSEPH CLEMENT, lawyer, author, was born in July, 1836, in Richmond, Maine. He is a successful lawyer of San Francisco, Cal. He has published a work, Forms and Use of Blanks, and a paper entitled Horace Howes's Will Case.

BATES, JOSHUA, educator, college president, was born March 20, 1776, in Cohasset, Mass. In 1818 he accepted the presidency of Middlebury college, Vt., which position he filled for twenty years. He died Jan. 14, 1854, in Dudley, Mass.

BATES, KATHARINE LEE, educator, author, poet, was born Aug. 12, 1859, in Falmouth, Mass. She received her degrees of B.A. and M.A. from the Wellesley college, in which institution she has been instructor of English literature for many years. She is the author of the Student's Series of English Classics, numerous stories, and two volumes of poems.

BATES, LAURENCE WEBSTER, educator, was born Nov. 10, 1819, in Burlington county, N. J. He received his education in the Medford Quaker school of his native county. For several years he was the editor of a prominent church paper, and has contributed extensively to current literature. He was president of the Maryland conference in 1860-61; president of the general conference in 1874; president of the general church convention in 1877; and he has filled numerous high positions in the methodist episcopal church. During 1893-96 he was professor in the Westminster Theological seminary. He was chairman of the committee to compile a new hymn book; and is first president of the Christian Endeavor union of the methodist protestant church.

BATES, MRS. MARGARET HOLMES, author, poet, was born Oct. 6, 1844, in Fremont, Ohio. She is the author of two novels entitled Manitou, and The Chamber Over the Gate, and her poems have appeared in several standard collections.

BATES, MARTIN, lawyer, legislator, United States senator, was born Feb. 24, 1787, in Salisbury, Conn. He was educated for a physician, and taught school for a time, but afterward studied law and removed to Delaware, where he practiced in Dover. He served several terms in the legislature, and was a member of the state constitutional convention of 1850. After the death of John M. Clayton he was chosen to the United States senate as a democrat, and served from 1858-59. He died Jan. 1, 1869, in Dover. Del.

BATES, SAMUEL PENNIMAN, educator, historian, poet, was born Jan. 29, 1827, in Mendon, Mass. In 1851 he graduated from the Brown university, and the following five years he was engaged in teaching the ancient languages in Meadville, Pa., which city has since been his home. In 1857 he was elected superintendent of public schools of Crawford county; received the re-election in 1860, but resigned to accept the office of deputy state superintendent of education, which position he held for six years. In 1866 he was appointed state historian, and the result of his seven years' work was published in five volumes entitled History of Pennsylvania Volunteers. He next wrote the Lives of the Governors of Pennsylvania, which was followed by the following works: Martial Deeds of Pennsylvania; The History of the Battle of Gettysburg; The History of the Battle of Chancellorsville; and a Condensed History of Pennsylvania.

BATES, WILLIAM W., journalist, shipbuilder, was born in 1827, in Calais, Maine. From 1854-59 he helped to conduct The Nautical Magazine and Naval Journal; in 1875 he took part in a council of shipbuilders to improve their rules; in 1881 he built a large dry dock at Portland, Maine; and in 1889 was elected commissioner of navigation. He is now engaged on an elaborate work entitled The Shipping Question Investigation.

BATESON, JOHN C., physician, lecturer, was born July 25, 1854, in Iowa. He graduated from the University of New York, and has attained eminence as a great physician and surgeon. He was the founder of the organization known as the United Christians; and has lectured extensively on Christian union hygiene. He has been health officer of Scranton, Pa., where he has filled many public positions of trust.

BATTELLE, GORDON, clergyman, was born Nov. 14, 1814, in Newport, Ohio. His influence in western Virginia was very great, and at the beginning of the civil war in 1861 he was appointed an official visitor to the military camps. The needs of the time demanding attention to the political situation, he became a member of the convention that met Nov. 24, 1861, and framed the constitution of the new state of West Virginia. To him, more largely probably than to any other man, was due the abolition of slavery in that region. He died Jan. 7, 1862.

BATTELS, S. M. E., philanthropist, was born Nov. 17, 1839, in Hudson, Ohio. She was a prominent worker member of the first Ohio Soldiers' Aid society; and was for three years president of the Woman's Relief corps of Ohio. She has done inspective work through the state, soliciting, purchasing and distributing sanitary and hospital supplies to the Ohio Soldiers' and Sailors' home.

BATTEN, JOHN M., physician, was born April 19, 1837, in East Brandywine, Pa. He graduated from the medical college department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1864, and prior to graduating was a medical cadet in the army hospital at Philadelphia. In 1864 he was appointed acting assistant surgeon in the United States navy, and served at different times on the United States steamers Princeton and Valley City.

BATTERMAN, HENRY, merchant, banker, was born Nov. 5, 1849, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He employs 500 clerks, and conducts the most important trade in the eastern district of Brooklyn. He is president of The Broadway bank of Brooklyn.

BATTERSHALL, JESSE PARK, chemist, author, was born May 26, 1851, in Troy, N. Y. In 1879 he entered the government service, and since that time he has had charge of the analytical department of the United States laboratory at New York. He has contributed papers to chemical journals, and is the translator of Naquet's Legal Chemistry, and the author of Adulteration of Food and Drink.

BATTERSON, HERMON GRISWOLD, D. D., priest, poet, was born May 28, 1827, in Litchfield county, Conn. He has been rector of the St. Clement's church, and the Church of the Enunciation, of Philadelphia, Pa. He is the author of the following works: The Missionary Tune Book; The Manual of Plain Song; Sketch of the American Episcopate; Christmas Carols; The Pathway of Faith; Vestal Bells and Other Verses; Daily Rule for Busy People; Remember Your Dead; and other works.

BATTERSON, JAMES GOODWIN, insurance president, was born Feb. 23, 1823, in Bloomfield, Conn. He owns and operates extensive granite quarries at Westerly, R. I., and Concord, N. H. He has been the moving and controlling force in the management of the Travelers Insurance company since its inception in 1863.

BATTEY, ROBERT, physician, surgeon, author, was born Nov. 26, 1828, in Augusta, Ga. He has been successful in the execution of a number of difficult surgical operations on the urinary organs of both sexes. Of the methods used, several were original with himself. From 1873 to 1875 he was professor of obstetrics in the Atlanta Medical college, and from 1873 to 1876 he edited the Atlanta Medical and Surgical Journal. He is a member of the Georgia Medical association, and was its president in 1876. He has written numerous papers and reports of cases, which have been contributed to the medical press both in America and England.

BATTEY, SUMTER BEAUREGARD, physician, surgeon, was born near Louisville, Ga. In 1885 he began the practice of medicine in New York city; made a specialty of surgery; and has done unique work in that field.

BATTLE, ARCHIBALD J., clergyman, college president, author, was born Sept. 10, 1826, in Powelton, Ga. He was president of Mercer university from 1871 to 1879, and in 1879 was pastor for an interim of the First Baptist church of Macon. He is the author of a volume entitled Human Will.

BATTLE, BURRILL B., jurist, was born July 24, 1838, in Hinds county, Miss. In 1885 he was elected to fill a vacancy upon the supreme bench of the state, and in 1886 was re-elected to the same position for the full term of eight years. He was elected associate justice of the supreme court of Arkansas in 1894.

BATTLE, KEMP PLUMMER, lawyer, educator, college president, was born Dec. 19, 1831, in Franklin county, N. C. He is the son of the late Judge William Horn Battle. He graduated from the University of North Carolina, of which institution he has been president, and now fills the chair of history. He has been state treasurer of North Carolina, and has filled various positions of trust in his county and state.

BATTLE, WILLIAM HORN, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Oct. 17, 1802, in Edgecombe county, N. C. He graduated from the University of North Carolina; and was reporter of the supreme court decisions. In 1839 he was a delegate to the convention that nominated William Henry Harrison for the presidency of the United States. During 1840-52 he was judge of the superior court of North Carolina, and during 1852-68 was judge of the supreme court, North Carolina. He was the author of several valuable works on the common and statute laws of his state. He died March 14, 1879, in Chapel Hill, N. C.

BATTLES, W. S., physician, was born May 12, 1827; attained eminence as a physician in Shreve, Ohio. He contributed extensively to literature, and his poems can be found in various standard works.

BAUDER, EZRA, educator, was born April 7, 1824, in Indian Castle, N. Y. In 1879 he established a boarding and day school known as Brentsville seminary; and has been engaged in the profession of teaching in Virginia for many years.

BAUDER, LEVI F., lawyer, poet, was born Jan. 28, 1840, in Cleveland, Ohio. He is a learned lawyer and has served as a justice of the peace in Cleveland, Ohio. In 1880 he published a volume of poems entitled Passing Fancies.

BAUGH, DANIEL, manufacturer, was born Oct. 22, 1836, in Chester county, Pa. His business has been incorporated as The Baugh and Sons Co., capital $1,000,000, Daniel Baugh becoming its president. He is president of the Girard National bank of Philadelphia, Pa.

BAUGHER, HENRY L., educator, author, was born about 1805 in Abbottstown, Pa. He was licensed to preach by the Maryland Lutheran synod; was chosen pastor at Boonesboro, Md., in 1829, and took charge of a classical school in Gettysburg in 1830. The school expanded into a college in 1832, and Mr. Baugher became professor of the Greek language and belles lettres; was elected to the presidency of the college in 1850, and continued in that office until his death. He died April, 1886, in Gettysburg, Pa.

BAUGHER, HENRY LOUIS, educator, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Aug. 6, 1840, in Gettysburg, Pa. For twenty-four years he was professor of Greek in the Pennsylvania college; and has also filled the same chair in the Howard university of Washington, D. C. He has filled pastorates in Morristown, Pa.; Indianapolis, Ind., and Omaha, Neb. He is now the editor of the Augsburg Sunday-School Teacher, and The Lutheran World; and is the author of Annotations on the Gospel According to St. Luke.

BAUMBACH, MORITZ WILHELM HERMAN VON, diplomat, banker, was born Jan. 13, 1834, in Prussia. He has been the imperial and royal consul of Austro-Hungary; consul of Saxony; and imperial German vice-consul. He is now the president of the German Exchange bank of Milwaukee, Wis.

BAUMGARDT, BERNHARD RICHARD, astronomist, was born May 19, 1862, in Liverpool, England. He was educated in Sweden, and after graduating spent five years in traveling around the world. From a love of mathematics he took up astronomy, and devotes much of his time to that science in his private observatory in Los Angeles, Cal. He gives public lectures on astronomy, mathematics and philosophy, and has attained a national reputation. In 1891-93 he was secretary of the Oregon Academy of Sciences; and since 1894 has been secretary of the Southern California Academy of Sciences, in which institution he is also chairman of the astronomical section. He is also a successful business man, and is interested in many public enterprises.

BAUVAIS, A., governor. He was acting governor of Louisiana in 1830.

BAWDEN, JOHN, manufacturer, banker, was born April 10, 1827, in Cornwall, England. He began business for himself in Freehold, N. J., but in 1858 he formed a co-partnership with Gilbert Combs. He is president of the board of health and director of the Central National bank of Freehold.

BAXLEY, ISAAC RIEMAN, poet, was born in 1850 in Baltimore, Md. He has traveled a great deal, but since 1878 has made his home in California. His published books are The Temple of Alanthur, with Other Poems; The Prophet and Other Poems; Songs of the Spirit; and Beyond the Bank of Mist.

BAXTER, DELOS W., was born July 29, 1857, in Rochelle, Ill. Since 1881 he has practiced law in Rochelle, Ill. In 1884 he was elected state's attorney of Ogle county and held the office for twelve years—until his election as Illinois state senator in 1896. He also has been mayor of Rochelle.

BAXTER, ELISHA, governor, was born Sept. 1, 1827, in Rutherford county, N. C. He was governor of Arkansas during a part of the years 1874-75.

BAXTER, FELIX JOSEPHUS, lawyer, state senator, was born Aug. 10, 1830, in Sutton, W. Va. He has served with distinction as a member of the West Virginia state senate.

BAXTER, GEORGE A., educator, college president, author, was born July 22, 1771, in Rockingham county, Va. In 1829 he became president of Washington college; in 1832 he was inaugurated professor of theology in the Union Theological seminary; and in 1835 was chosen president of the Hampden Sidney college. He is the author of Abolition of Slavery; Parity; and the Scriptural Order of Christian Ministry. He died April 14, 1841.

BAXTER, HENRY, soldier, diplomatist, was born Sept. 8, 1821, in Sidney Plaine, N. Y. During the civil war he was made lieutenant-colonel of the seventh Michigan infantry, and in 1866 was appointed minister resident to Honduras.

BAXTER, HORACE HENRY, railroad builder, was born Jan. 18, 1818, in Saxtons' River, Vt. He built the Cleveland, Norwalk and Toledo railroad. At the outbreak of the civil war he attended the peace congress as a delegate from Vermont, and when that meeting failed of its object he became adjutant-general of Vermont. He died Feb. 17, 1884, in New York city.

BAXTER, JAMES PHINNEY, artist, author and philanthropist, was born in 1831 in Maine. He is well known as the Poet of Maine; and is the author of more than a dozen popular works. He is the honored president of the Maine Historical society. He built and presented to the city of Portland its magnificent public library building, the most beautiful structure in the city. He has served as mayor of Portland, and has been foremost in the development of that city and its institutions. His principal works are George Cleves of Casco Bay, 1630-67; Sir Ferdinando Gorges and His Province of Maine; and Idyls of the Year, a collection of verse.

BAXTER, JOHN, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born March 5, 1819, in Rutherford county, N. C. In 1842 he was elected a representative in the state legislature; was a presidential elector in 1844 and 1848; was again in the legislature in 1846, and from 1852 to 1857, serving as speaker of the house in 1852. In 1857 he removed to Knoxville, Tenn.; in 1870 was a member of the state constitutional convention; and in 1877 was appointed United States circuit judge for the sixth judicial circuit. He died April 10, 1886, in Hot Springs, Ark.

BAXTER, KATHARINE SCHUYLER, author, was born Feb. 22, 1845, in Oswego, N. Y. She is a great-granddaughter of Major-General Philip Schuyler, of the revolutionary army; a member of the Daughters of the Cincinnati, Colonial Dames of America, and the American Authors' guild. She is the author of In Bamboo Lands; A God-Child of Washington; and other works.

BAXTER, LYDIA, hymn-writer, poet, was born Sept. 2, 1809, in Petersburg, N. Y. She is the author of Gems by the Wayside, a collection of poems, and the hymn, The Gates Ajar. She died Jan. 23, 1874, in New York city.

BAXTER, PORTUS, merchant, legislator, congressman, was born in Brownington, Vt. He was elected a representative from Vermont to the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth and thirty-ninth congresses: was also a delegate to the Philadelphia Loyalists' convention of 1866. He died March 4, 1868, in Washington, D. C.

BAXTER, SYLVESTER, journalist, author, was born in 1850 in Massachusetts. He is a journalist of Boston, prominent in exploiting the Metropolitan park system, and is the author of The Cruise of a Land Yacht, a Boy's Book of Mexican Travel.

BAXTER, WILLIAM, clergyman, author, was born in 1823, in England. He is a clergyman of Cincinnati, whose War Lyrics as originally published in Harper's Weekly were once widely popular. He is the author of The Loyal West in the Times of the Rebellion; Pea Ridge and Prairie Grove, or Scenes and Incidents of the War in Arkansas.

BAXTER, WILLIAM M., lawyer, was born Aug. 30, 1850, in Alexander, S. C. He is a prominent lawyer of Knoxville, Tenn., and in 1882 became general solicitor of the legal department of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia Railroad company.

BAY, WILLIAM V. N., congressman, was born in New York. Having become a citizen of Missouri he was elected a representative in congress from that state from 1849 to 1851.

BAYARD, JAMES ASHETON, United States senator, was born July 28, 1767, in Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated at Princeton college in 1784; after studying law at Philadelphia, commenced the practice in Delaware. In 1796 he was elected a representative in congress from Delaware, serving from 1797 to 1801, when he was appointed minister to France. In 1804 he was elected to the United States senate, of which body he continued a member until appointed, in 1813, a commissioner to negotiate a peace with Great Britain. He died Aug. 6, 1815, in Wilmington, Del.

BAYARD, JAMES A., lawyer, congressman, United States senator, was born Nov. 15, 1799, in Wilmington, Del. He was the son of the United States senator bearing the same name, and a brother of Richard H. Bayard. He was a senator in congress from Delaware during 1851-54; and in 1863 he was elected for the third term, but resigned in January, 1864. In 1867 he was appointed to a seat in the senate to fill a vacancy, and subsequently received the election to that office. He was a delegate to the New York convention of 1868. He died June 13, 1880, in Wilmington, Del.

BAYARD, JOHN, congressman. He was a delegate from Pennsylvania to the continental congress from 1785 to 1787.

BAYARD, RICHARD H., lawyer, United States senator, was born in 1796 in Wilmington, Del. He was a senator in congress from Delaware from 1836 to 1839, and again from 1841 to 1845; and was appointed charge d'affaires to Belgium in 1850. He died March 4, 1868, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BAYARD, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, author, was born Jan. 11, 1767, in Philadelphia, Pa. He was one of the founders of the New York Historical society, organized in 1804. In 1806 he purchased an estate at Princeton, N. J. For several years he was a member of the New Jersey legislature, and for a long period presiding judge of the court of common pleas of Somerset county. He was one of the founders of Princetou Theological seminary, and joined with Elias Boudinot in establishing the American Bible society and the New Jersey Bible society. He was the author of several law compilations. He died May 12, 1840, in Princeton, N. J.

BAYARD, SAMUEL, president of the Evansville National bank, was born in Vincennes, Ind. In the early part of the year 1873 he aided in organizing the German National bank of Evansville, of which he is at present a director and one of the largest stockholders.

BAYARD, THOMAS FRANCIS, statesman, was born Oct. 29, 1828, in Wilmington, Del. He was chiefly educated at the Flushing school. His early training was for a mercantile life; studied and adopted the profession of the law; and came to the bar in 1851, and has always practiced in his native city. In 1853 he was appointed United States district attorney for Delaware, but resigned in 1854. He was elected a senator in congress from that state in 1869. On the same day of his election his father, James A. Bayard, was also re-elected to the senate from the same state —the only instance of the kind which ever occurred. He was re-elected in 1875, and again in 1881. In 1885 he was appointed secretary of state in the cabinet of President Cleveland, and resigned his seat in the senate. He died Sept. 28, 1898, in Dedham, Mass.

BAYARD, WILLIAM, public official, was born Jan. 1, 1729, in New York. He was a delegate from New York to the colonial congress, held in New York city in 1765. He died in 1804 in Southampton, England.

BAYARD, WILLIAM, merchant, was born about 1764 in New York. He was a large ship owner; traded with all the world; was for many years director of the Bank of America; and in 1810-27 was president of the Chamber of Commerce. He died Sept. 3, 1850, in New York city.

BAYLES, GEORGE, physician, was born Aug. 7, 1836, in New York city. He graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and from the medical department in the Columbia university in 1859. He has held many important positions, and is president of the board of education of Orange, N. J.

BAYLES, JAMES C., soldier, lecturer, journalist, author, was born July 3, 1845, in New York city. In 1870 he became editor of the Iron Age; and in 1874 established The Metal Worker. He has delivered lectures on sanitary topics in New York, and in all of the prominent cities of the Union, and is the author of the first standard American work on the Mechanics of Hygiene, House Drainage and Water Service. In 1883 he was elected president of the New Jersey State Sanitary association, and was appointed a commissioner to devise a system of sewers and sanitary improvements for the city of Trenton.

BAYLEY, JAMES ROOSEVELT, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 23, 1814, in New York city. He was a clergyman who entered the Roman catholic church from the episcopal and became archbishop of Baltimore. He was the author of History of the Catholic Church of New York; Memoirs of Bruté, First Bishop of Vincennes; and Pastorals for the People. He died Oct. 3, 1877, in Newark, N. J.

BAYLEY, RICHARD, educator, physician, author, was born in 1745 in Fairfield, Conn. The causes of yellow fever were very carefully studied by him, and in 1797 he published a work in which he contended that its origin was due entirely to local causes, and therefore that it was not contagious. He died Aug. 17, 1801, on Staten Island, N. Y.

BAYLEY, THOMAS, congressman, was born in Somerset county, Md. He was a representative in congress from Maryland from 1817 to 1823.

BAYLEY, THOMAS M., legislator, congressman, was born in 1775 in Virginia. He entered public life in 1798; continued therein until 1830; and served in both branches of the state legislature. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1813 to 1815. He died in 1834 in Accomac county.

BAYLEY, WILLIAM G., civil engineer, railroad manager, was born Sept. 2, 1865, in Hollidaysburg, Pa. Since 1884 he has been in the railway service; during 1890-94 as engineer maintenance of way; and since 1894 as division superintendent of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago and St. Louis railway.

BAYLIES, FRANCIS, lawyer, congressman, author, was born Oct. 16, 1783, in Taunton, Mass. He was register of probate in Bristol county, Mass., from 1812 to 1820; was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1821 to 1827; and was a member of the state legislature from 1827 to 1832, and in 1835. In 1832 he was appointed charge d'affaires to Buenos Ayres. He was the author of A History of the Plymouth Colony. He died Oct. 28, 1852, in Taunton, Mass.

BAYLIES, NICHOLAS, jurist, author, was born in 1772 in Uxbridge, Mass. He was graduated at Dartmouth in 1794; studied law, and practiced in Woodstock and Montpelier. From 1831 to 1834 he was a judge of the supreme court of Vermont. He published a Digested Index to the Modern Reports of the Courts of Common Law in England and the United States, in three volumes; and an Essay on Free Agency. He died Aug. 17, 1847, in Lyndon, Vt.

BAYLIES, WILLIAM, legislator, congressman, was born Dec. 5, 1743, in Uxbridge, Mass. He graduated at Harvard college in 1760. He was a member of the provincial congress in 1775; often a member of the Massachusetts state council; served many years in the state legislature; and was a presidential elector in 1801. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1805 to 1809. He died Jan. 17, 1826, in Dighton, Mass.

BAYLIES, WILLIAM, lawyer, congressman, was born Sept. 15, 1776, in Dighton, Mass. He was a representative in congress from Massachusetts from 1813 to 1817, and again from 1833 to 1835. He served in the state legislature in 1830 and 1831. He died Sept. 27, 1865, in Taunton, Mass.

BAYLOR, FRANCES COURTENAY, author, was born Jan. 20, 1848, in Fayetteville, Ark. Her writings have been principally for periodicals, in which two of her short stories—The Perfect Treasure and On This Side—attracted wide attention, and were published in book form as one narrative, On Both Sides. Her other works are: Juan and Juanita; and Behind the Blue Ridge.

BAYLOR, GEORGE, soldier, was born Jan. 12, 1752, in Newmarket, Va. He served continuously throughout the revolutionary war. He participated in the surprise of the Hessians at Trenton; carried the news of the victory to congress, and was presented by that body with a horse, and advanced to the rank of colonel in the dragoons in 1777. He died in March, 1784, in Bridgetown, W. I.

BAYLOR, ROBERT EMMETT BLEDSOE, clergyman, lawyer, jurist, legislator, congressman, was born May 10, 1793, in Lincoln county, Ky. He served in the war of 1812. He was elected to the Alabama state legislature in 1824, and in 1829 was sent as a representative from Alabama to the twenty-first congress. Subsequent to his career in congress he emigrated to the republic of Texas, where he was immediately elected a judge of the district and of the supreme court, and held the office for twenty-five years. Baylor university was named as an honor warranted by the gifts of land and money made by Judge Baylor. One of the counties of Texas was also named for him. He died Jan. 6, 1874, in Gay Hill, Tex.

BAYLY, THOMAS HENRY, soldier, legislator, jurist, was born in 1810 in Accomac county, Va. While a member of the Virginia legislature he was elected by that body a brigadier-general of the militia of eastern Virginia; and subsequently was elected judge of the circuit superior court of law. In 1844 he was elected to the national house of representatives from the Accomac district, and continued, by successive elections, a member of the house for twelve years. He died June 22, 1856.

BAYNE, THOMAS M., soldier, lawyer, congressman, was born June 14, 1836, in Allegheny, Pa. He took part in the battles of Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville. He was district attorney for Allegheny county in 1870; and was elected to the forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, forty-eighth, forty-ninth, fiftieth, and fifty-first congresses. He died in Allegheny, Pa.

BEACH, ABEL, lawyer, poet, was born Feb. 7, 1829, in Groton, N. Y. In 1849 he graduated from the Union college of Schenectady, N. Y. He then taught school in Ithaca and Westfield academies, N. Y.; and was a professor in the State university of Iowa. He next entered into the practice of law; and has attained prominence as a successful pension attorney of Iowa City, Iowa. He has served as deputy auditor of Iowa, and has held various public positions of trust in his town, county and state. He was one of the principal founders of the Theta-Delta-Chi fraternity, and is a prominent member of various societies. For many years past he has given frequent contributions of poetry to the press, and is the author of Western Airs from the Prairies of Iowa; and several poetic brochures.

BEACH, ALFRED E., inventor, journalist, was born in 1826 in Springfield, Mass. He received an academic education, and in 1846, with Orson D. Munn, founded the firm of Munn and Co., and they became proprietors of The Scientific American. For almost fifty years he has been active in the editorship of this newspaper and in the extensive patent business of the firm. In 1847 he invented a typewriting machine.

BEACH, CHARLES FISK, clergyman, journalist, author, was born Sept. 5, 1827, in Hunter, N. Y. During 1851-54 he attended the Auburn Theological seminary, and was ordained to the ministry on Jan. 8, 1855. He at once entered active work as pastor of the presbyterian church; and for nearly twenty-two years successfully followed that vocation. During 1874-95 he was editor and publisher of The National Presbyterian and Expositor; and also of the International Sunday School Lessons. Since 1897 he has given his attention to law, with an office in Indianapolis, Ind. He is the author of Commentaries on the Law of Trust and Trustees; and other works.

BEACH, CLIFTON BAILEY, lawyer, manufacturer, congressman, was born Sept. 16, 1845, in Sharon, Ohio. He removed to Cleveland in 1857, where he has since resided; was educated in the common schools and Western Reserve college, class of 1871; was admitted to the bar in 1872, but retired from active practice in 1884, having become extensively engaged in manufacturing enterprises. He was elected to the fifty-fourth, and re-elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BEACH, DAVID NELSON, clergyman, author, was born in 1848 in New Jersey. He is a prominent congregational clergyman of Cambridge, Mass., and since 1895 of Minneapolis, Minn. He is the author of The Newer Religious Thinking; How We Rose; Plain Words on Our Lord's Work; and The Intent of Jesus.

BEACH, HENRY HARRIS AUBREY, physician, was born Dec. 18, 1843, in Middletown, Conn. He was educated at Cambridge, and was graduated at Harvard Medical school in July, 1868, settling in Boston soon afterward. He is a member of many medical associations, and in 1873 was president of the Boylston Medical society. He became assistant demonstrator of anatomy in Harvard Medical school in 1868, and surgeon in the Massachusetts general hospital in 1872. He has contributed many papers to medical periodicals, and was at one time assistant editor of the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal.

BEACH, JOHN N., merchant, was born Aug. 1, 1837, in Lodi, N. Y. He located in New York city; entered the dry-goods business; and has been a member of the present firm of Tefft, Weller and Co. since 1879. He is vice-president of the Mercantile Accident Insurance company, and president of the Dry-Goods Chronicle Publishing association.

BEACH, LEWIS, lawyer, congressman, was born March 30, 1835, in New York city, N. Y. He graduated at the Yale Law school in 1856; was admitted to the bar, and commenced practice in New York city the same year. In 1861 he removed to Orange county, N. Y., and engaged in farming and the practice of law. He was also a contributor to the press; was supervisor of the town of Cornwall in 1869; and was treasurer of the democratic state central committee from 1877 to 1879. He was elected a representative from New York to the forty-seventh, forty-eighth, and forty-ninth congresses. He died Aug. 11, 1886, in Cornwall, N. Y.

BEACH, MYRON WALTER, soldier, lawyer, was born Aug. 27, 1844, in Lagrange, Mich. During the civil war he was a member of company I, first regiment Michigan sharpshooters. In 1870 he was admitted to the bar, and has attained success in his profession at Carroll, Iowa. He has been county superintendent of schools and mayor of his city; and has filled various other public positions of trust.

BEACH, WILLIAM AUSTIN, lawyer, was born Aug. 22, 1842, in Baldwinsville, N. Y. He has attained success as a prominent lawyer; and in 1885 received the appointment of collector of internal revenue for the twenty-first district of New York.

BEADLE, JOHN HANSON, journalist, author, was born March 14, 1840, in Parke county, Ind. He was educated at the university of Michigan, and served as a Union soldier during the civil war. He traveled extensively in America and Europe, and for many years was editorial writer for the American Press association. He was the author of Life in Utah; The Undeveloped West; Western Wilds; and other works. He died Jan. 15, 1897, in Rockville, Ind.

BEADLE, WILLIAM HENRY HARRISON, soldier, legislator, educator, college president, was born Jan. 1, 1838, in Parke county, Ind. He graduated from the university of Michigan in 1861. He served during the civil war from first lieutenant to brevet brigadier-general United States volunteers. He was a member of the legislature of Dakota territory; and served as superintendent of public instruction during 1879-85. He is the founder of the school system of the territory and state; and his most distinguished and enduring service was in securing the constitutional protection to the school lands and school funds of the state. He is the author of the provisions on education in the state constitution, and the upbuilder of the State Normal school of Madison, S. D., of which he has been president since 1889.

BEAKMAN, DANIEL FREDERICK, soldier, was born about 1760 in New Jersey. He was the last surviving soldier of the revolution on the pension list. In 1778 he was enrolled in the militia, and then served in the war. His married life extended over eighty-five years, and his wife reached the age of one hundred and five. In 1867 congress passed a special act giving him a pension of $500 during the remainder of his life. He died April 5, 1869, in Sandusky, N. Y.

BEAL, ABRAHAM, philanthropist, was born about 1803 in Chatham, England. He became very familiar with the criminal laws of New York and other states, and in 1863 assumed the general agency of the New York Prison association. He was for many years an efficient officer of the New York Port society. He died Feb. 25, 1872, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BEAL, C. W., journalist, state senator, was born April 25, 1860, in Audrain county, Mo. In 1890 he assumed editorial control of the Custer County Beacon, with which paper he is still connected. He was elected to the house of representatives of the legislature in 1893, and was elected to the state senate on the populist ticket in 1896.

BEAL, FOSTER ELLENBOROUGH LASCELLES, naturalist, author, was born Jan. 9, 1840, in Ayer, Mass. He was graduated at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1871. During 1874-75 he was assistant professor of mathematics in the United States naval academy at Annapolis, Md., and from 1876 till 1882 professor of civil engineering in Iowa Agricultural college, where from 1879 till 1882 he was also acting professor of zoölogy and comparative anatomy, and in 1883 professor of geology. His writings, principally on topics of natural history, include the articles, Birds of Iowa; Value of the Seed-Eating Birds; and similar contributions to scientific journals.

BEAL, GEORGE LAFAYETTE, soldier, was born May 21, 1825, in Norway, Maine. He left Portland in 1861 as colonel of the tenth Maine regiment. He was appointed by the president brigadier-general of volunteers in 1864, and was mustered out of the service in 1866.

BEAL, WILLIAM JAMES, educator, botanist, author, was born March 11, 1833, in Adrian, Mich. He has taught natural history, science, botany, and horticulture in the leading agricultural colleges in America; and since 1870 has been professor of botany and forestry in the Agricultural college of Michigan. He has filled numerous positions of honor; is the author of The New Botany; Grasses of North America; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

BEALE, CHARLES L., lawyer, congressman, was born March 5, 1824, in Canaan, N. Y. In 1858 he was elected a representative to the thirty-sixth congress from New York; in 1864 was a presidential elector; and was a delegate to the Philadelphia national union convention of 1866.

BEALE, CHARLES WILLING, was born in 1845 in the District of Columbia. He is a successful writer, and the author of The Ghost of Guir House.

BEALE, EDWARD FITZGERALD, soldier, diplomatist, was born Feb. 4, 1822, in Washington, D. C. In 1875 he was appointed United States minister to Austria.

BEALE, JAMES M. H., congressman, was born in Virginia. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1837, and from 1849 to 1853.

BEALE, MRS. MARIA, author, was born in 1849 in Virginia. She is a novelist of Arden, N. C.; and the author of Jack O'Doon.

BEALE, RICHARD LEE TUBERVILLE, general, lawyer, congressman, was born May 22, 1819, in Hickory Hill, Va. He was a representative from Virginia in the congress of the United States in 1847-49; and was a member of the convention to form a constitution for Virginia in 1851. He was a member of the state senate of Virginia in 1858-60. He was in the service of the confederate states, and became a brigadier-general. He was elected to fill the vacancy in the forty-fifth congress caused by the death of B. B. Douglas. He had previously been elected to the forty-sixth congress as a democrat.

BEALL, JOHN YATES, adventurer, was born about 1833 in Virginia. He entered the confederate army at the outbreak of the civil war, and was commissioned acting paymaster in the navy. He was captured by the federals; tried and found guilty of being a spy; and was executed Feb. 25, 1865.

BEALL, REZIN, soldier, congressman, was born Aug. 10, 1770, in Pennsylvania. He was an officer in Wayne's army, with Harrison and Van Rensselaer; occupied various public stations in Ohio; and was a member of congress from that state from 1813 to 1814, when he resigned. He died Feb. 20, 1843, in Wooster, Ohio.

BEAMAN, FERNANDO C., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 28, 1814, in Chester, Vt. He was prosecuting attorney for Lenawee county, Mich., six years; was judge of probate four years; and was presidential elector in 1856. He was elected to the thirty-seventh, thirty-eighth, thirty-ninth, fortieth, and forty-first congresses as a republican.

BEAN, BENNING M., state senator, congressman, was born in 1782 in New Hampshire. He occupied a seat in the state legislature for five years, and was president of the senate in 1832; was a state councilor in 1829; and a representative in congress from 1833 to 1837. He died Feb. 9, 1866, in Moultonborough, N. H.

BEAN, CURTIS C., lawyer, congressman, was born Jan. 4, 1828, in Tamworth, N. H. He was appointed attorney-general for the eleventh judicial circuit of Tennessee; and was a representative in the state legislature in 1866 and 1867. In 1868 he moved to Arizona territory and settled at Prescott. He was a member of the upper house in the territorial assembly in 1879, and in 1884 was elected delegate from Arizona to the forty-ninth congress.

BEAN, IRVING M., soldier, banker, was born April 27, 1838, in Essex county, N. Y. He attained the rank of provost marshal in the civil war. In 1863 he was elected president of the Forest City bank; and in 1867 president of the Northwestern Iron company.

BEAN, MARY P., educator, was born about 1818. She opened a seminary for young ladies, which for twenty-four years was one of the most prominent in New York city. She died in New York city.

BEAN, SAMUEL, physician, clergyman, lecturer, was born March 24, 1842, in Canada West. For many years he was engaged in school teaching; has been a successful public lecturer and a physician and clergyman of Bronson, Fla., where he has also been justice of the peace and a successful merchant.

BEAN, WILLIAM, the first white settler west of the Alleghanies. He was a companion of Daniel Boone in his visit to Kentucky in 1760, and returned in 1768 and settled with his family on Boone's creek, a small tributary of the Watauga.

BEARD, ANDREW, inventor, was born in 1849 in Alabama. He went into millwrighting in Hardwicks; built his first mill there; and three years later succeeded in building four more. In 1889 he discovered the rotary engine.

BEARD, DANIEL CARTER, artist, author, was born June 21, 1850, in Cincinnati, Ohio. In 1878 he removed to New York as an illustrator, and there studied art. He is the author of American Boy's Handy Book; Moonlight; Six Feet of Romance; and American Boy's Book of Spirits.

BEARD, FRANK, artist, author, the third son of J. H. Beard, was an artist for Harper and Brothers during the civil war. He devotes himself particularly to character sketches, in the production of which he has attained remarkable facility. He lectures on various topics, accompanying himself with crayon sketches on the blackboard. He was for a time professor of the fine arts in Syracuse university. He has published The Blackboard and the Sunday School.

BEARD, GEORGE MILLER, physician, author, was born May 8, 1839, in Montville, Conn. He was a New York physician, and the author of American Nervous Diseases; Causes and Consequences; The Scientific Basis of Delusions; Clinical Researches in Electro-Surgery; Medical Uses of Electricity; Physiology of Mind-Reading; Stimulants and Narcotics; Psychology of the Salem Witchcraft and Its Practical Application in Our Own Time; and some works of lesser note. He died Jan. 23, 1883, in New York.

BEARD, HENRY, soldier, artist, the son of J. H. Beard, was born in 1841 in Ohio. He was a captain in the thirtieth Missouri volunteers at twenty-one years of age. He painted genre subjects in oils and water-colors, and made the designs for many of Prang's publications. He died Nov. 19, 1889, in New York city, N. Y.

BEARD, JAMES CARTER, lawyer, artist. He is a lawyer by profession, and has made spirited drawings of birds and animals, which are to be found in the best illustrated books and periodicals of the day.

BEARD, JAMES HENRY, painter, was born in 1814, in Buffalo, N. Y. His family removed when he was a child to Ohio, and he eventually settled in Cincinnati, where he devoted himself for many years to portrait painting; Henry Clay, John Quincy Adams, and other distinguished persons being among his sitters. Of late years he has devoted himself chiefly to animal painting, in which branch of art he has achieved success. Among his best known works are: Peep at Growing Danger; The Widow; Mutual Friend; There's Many a Slip; Consultation; Don't You Know Me; Heirs at Law; Which Has Preëmption; The Mississippi Flood; Barn Yard.

BEARD, JOHN SHEPARD, lawyer, was born June 14, 1859, in Tallahassee, Fla. He received his education in his native city and the university of the south. He has attained prominence as an able lawyer of Pensacola, Fla., where he has filled several public positions of honor.

BEARD, RICHARD, educator, college president, author, was born Nov. 27, 1799, in Sumner county, Tenn. He was graduated at Cumberland university, Tennessee, in 1832; and became president of the university in 1843. On the founding of the Theological school of the university in 1853, he resigned the presidency of the university and took the chair of systematic theology, being in reality for the next twenty-five years both principal and professor. He was a leader in the Cumberland Presbyterian organization, and published Systematic Theology; also Biographical Sketches; and Why I Am a Cumberland Presbyterian. He died Dec. 2, 1880, in Lebanon, Tenn.

BEARD, WILLIAM HENRY, inventor, was born Oct. 12, 1839, in Richmond, Mass. The Beard hydraulic shield was used in the construction of the great railway tunnel under the St. Clair river at Port Huron and Sarnia, between the United States and Canada, as well as in excavating the underground railway tunnels in London and Glasgow, the Hudson river tunnel, and other similar works. He is the designer of many other inventions.

BEARD, WILLIAM HOLBROOK, artist, was born April 13, 1825, in Painesville, Ohio. He studied art abroad, and he is widely known for his pictures of allegory and humor portrayed by animal and human creatures. He has written a textbook on art entitled Action in Art. Humor in Animals is another book published a few years ago, besides various magazine articles. The Spirit of the Storm is considered his greatest work.

BEARDSLEY, ALONZO, lawyer, manufacturer, was born July 11, 1820, in Venice, N. Y. He was elected secretary of the Oswego Starch factory, and continued in this position until 1858, when he became treasurer. In 1866 he entered the Cayuga Chief Manufacturing Co., and carried on the manufacture of the Cayuga Chief mower and reaper.

BEARDSLEY, ARTHUR, engineer, was born Nov. 1, 1843, in Esopus, N. Y. During 1867-68 he was assistant engineer at the Hoosac tunnel, Mass., and from 1863 till 1872 professor of civil engineering and industrial mechanics at the university of Minnesota. In 1872 he became professor of civil and mechanical engineering in Swarthmore college, where he organized a manual training department, of which he is director.

BEARDSLEY, CHARLES, physician, journalist, state senator, was born Feb. 18, 1830, in Knox county, Ohio. He practiced medicine at Oskaloosa, Iowa, until 1861; was editor of the Herald of that place from 1858 to 1865; and of the Burlington Hawkeye from 1865 to 1874. He was a member of the state senate in 1870, 1872, and 1873; and in 1879 was appointed fourth auditor of the treasury at Washington.

BEARDSLEY, EBEN EDWARDS, clergyman, author, was born in 1808 in Stepney, Conn. He is an episcopal clergyman of New Haven; and the author of History of the Episcopal Church in Connecticut; Lives of Samuel Johnson, the First President of King's College, New York, William Samuel Johnson, president of Columbia College; and Samuel Seabury, Bishop of Connecticut. He died in 1891.

BEARDSLEY, HOSEA L., soldier, clergyman, was born June 11, 1838, in Delaware county, N. Y. He served with distinction during the civil war; first in the eighteenth regiment, Iowa volunteer infantry, and was promoted to first lieutenant of the second regiment, Arkansas infantry. Since 1866 he has been clergyman of the Methodist Episcopal church; and since 1885 has been pastor of the Simpson Methodist Episcopal church of Denver, Colo.

BEARDSLEY, ISAAC H., clergyman, author, was born Oct. 1, 1831, in North Harpersfield, N. Y. For nearly fifty years he has been a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church; and has filled pastorates in New York, Ohio, and for the past thirty years in Colorado. During the civil war he was a chaplain in the Union army. He is the author of Echoes from Peak and Plain; and a Genealogical History of the Beardsley family.

BEARDSLEY, LEVI, lawyer, state senator, jurist, was born Nov. 13, 1785, in Hoosic, N. Y. In 1825 he was elected to the state assembly that passed the first railroad charter in the United States. He was elected to the state senate in 1829; reelected in 1834; and was president of the senate in 1838, and for many years judge of the court of errors of New York. Besides his legal opinions, he published an autobiographical volume entitled Reminiscences. He died March 19, 1857, in New York.

BEARDSLEY, MORRIS BEACH, lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born Aug. 13, 1849, in Trumbull, Conn. He graduated from Yale university and Columbia college law school, and has been judge of the Bridgeport probate court for sixteen years; and member of the general assembly of Connecticut since 1893.

BEARDSLEY, NELSON, manufacturer, bank president, was born May 30, 1807, in Southbury, Conn. In 1848 he became one of the incorporators of the Oswego Starch factory, and in 1883 its president, and held the office for the rest of his life. He gained a fortune of seven millions. He died Jan. 15, 1894, in Auburn, N. Y.

BEARDSLEY, SAMUEL, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Feb. 9, 1790, in Hoosic, N. Y. He held the post of attorney-general of the state. He was a representative in congress from Oneida county, N. Y., to the twenty-second, twenty-third, and a part of the twenty-fourth and twenty-eighth congresses. He also held the office of state senator in 1823, and was assistant justice and chief justice of the supreme court of the state, and the federal appointment of United States district attorney for New York. He died May 6, 1860, in Utica, N. Y.

BEARDSLEY, SAMUEL RAYMOND, lawyer, soldier, was born Dec. 31, 1814, in Cherry Valley, N. Y. He was elected mayor of Oswego in 1852; appointed postmaster in 1853; and was defeated as a candidate for the assembly in 1858. He was commissioned lieutenant-colonel of the twenty-fourth New York volunteers in 1861; was wounded at Chancellorsville, and was promoted to the colonelcy in 1863. He died Dec. 28, 1863, in Stevensburg, Va.

BEASELEY, NATHANIEL, pioneer, state senator, was born in 1751. He was a large and powerful man; a noted Indian fighter, and performed valuable services in the St. Clair and Wayne campaigns. He afterward settled in Chillicothe, Ohio; was a member of the general assembly in 1819-20 from Adams county, and senator from Brown in 1820-22. He was also canal commissioner and major-general of militia. He died March 27, 1835, in Knox county, Ohio.

BEASLEY, FREDERICK, clergyman, author, was born in 1777, near Edenton, N. C. He was an episcopal clergyman who was provost of the university of Pennsylvania. He was the author of An Examination of the Oxford Divinity; Search of Truth in the Science of the Human Mind; and Reply to Dr. Channing. He died Nov. 2, 1845, in Elizabethtown, N. J.

BEATTIE, ELISE, author, poet, was born Feb. 27, 1858, in Newbury, Vt. She is the author of a volume of poems entitled Echoes, which was published in 1873.

BEATTIE, HAMLIN, manufacturer, banker, was born May 6, 1835, in Greenville, S. C. In 1859 he established the mercantile house of H. Beattie and Co.; and in 1872 organized and became the president of the National bank of Greenville, S. C.

BEATTIE, JAMES HENRY, civil engineer, state senator, was born Jan. 17, 1847, in Maidstone, Vt. He is a successful farmer and land surveyor of Brunswick, Vt. In 1872-74 he was a member of the Vermont house of representatives; and in 1896 was elected to the state senate.

BEATTIE, JOHN, contractor, was born June 18, 1824, in Scotland. In 1855 he purchased the Harrison quarry at Fall River; and a year later opened another quarry at Niantic, Conn. Among the most notable structures he has built are the stone towers for the suspension bridge across the Kentucky river; bridges on the Wabash railroad in Indiana; and the great bridge across the Ohio, between Cincinnati and Covington.

BEATTY, HARRY L., lawyer, state legislator, was born April 4, 1865, in Ravenna, Ohio. He is a successful lawyer of Ravenna; has filled numerous public offices; and served as a member of the seventy-second and seventy-third general assemblies of Ohio.

BEATTY, JOHN, physician, congressman. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1783 to 1785; and a representative in congress from New Jersey from 1793 to 1795. He died April 30, 1826, in Trenton.

BEATTY, JOHN, banker, general, congressman, was born Sept. 16, 1828, in Sandusky city, Ohio. He entered the third Ohio infantry and became brigadier-general in the civil war. He was elected a representative from Ohio to the fortieth congress to fill a vacancy, and was re-elected to the forty-first congress.

BEATTY, MARTIN, congressman. He was a representative in congress from Kentucky from 1833 to 1835.

BEATTY, ROBERT MUIR, attorney-general, was born March 4, 1850, in Mount Morris, Ill. In 1873 he moved to Eureka county, Nev., where he served as district attorney during 1887-88, and continued to reside there until his election to the office of attorney-general in 1894.

BEATTY, SAMUEL, farmer, soldier, was born Dec. 16, 1820, in Mifflin county, Pa. He served nearly two years in the Mexican war as first lieutenant in the third Ohio volunteers. He was made brigadier-general of volunteers in 1862, commanded a division in the battle of Stone River, and was brevetted major-general in 1865. He died May 26, 1885, in Jackson, Ohio.

BEATTY, WILLIAM, congressman, was born in Ireland. He was a representative in congress from Pennsylvania from 1837 to 1841.

BEATTY, WILLIAM HENRY, lawyer, jurist, was born Feb. 18, 1838, in Lucas county, Ohio. He received the rudiments of his education in the common schools of California and Kentucky; and attended the university of Virginia. During 1864-75 he was judge of the district court of Nevada; justice of the supreme court of Nevada during 1875-81; and since 1889 has been chief justice of the supreme court of California.

BEAUCHAMP, JAMES T., lawyer, was born March 13, 1864, in Morgantown, Ky. He graduated from the Ogden college of Bowling Green, Ky., where he has attained eminence as an able lawyer, making a specialty of equity practice in federal and state courts. After graduation he taught school for awhile, and for two years was clerk of the quarterly court of Warrenton, Ky.

BEAUCHAMP, JENNIE B., reformer, author, was born July 9, 1833, in Nelson county, Ky. She is the author of Maplehurst; Digest of Parliamentary Laws; and A Collection of Responsive Bible Readings. The pen of this writer has been especially devoted to reform work, and in 1883 she was elected state president of the Texas Woman's Christian Temperance union.

BEAUCHAMP, LOU J., journalist, lecturer, author, was born Jan. 14, 1851, in Cincinnati, Ohio. He has been telegraph, news and literary editor of the Cincinnati Times-Star, and has been connected with various leading dailies. Since 1877 he has been principally engaged as a temperance lecturer, and has been called The Western Gough. He is the author of two books: This, That and The Other; and Sunshine.

BEAUMONT, ANDREW, congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from that state from 1833 to 1837; and was appointed, in 1846, commissioner of public buildings for the District of Columbia. He died Oct. 30, 1853, in Wilkesbarre, Pa.

BEAUMONT, BETTY BENTLEY, merchant, author, was born Aug. 9, 1828, in England. She was the only child of Joseph Bentley, the great educational reformer, and author of thirty-three books to improve the methods of education. She became a successful merchant of Woodville, Miss.; and is the author of Twelve Years of My Life; and A Business Woman's Journal.

BEAUMONT, JOHN G., naval officer, was born Aug. 27, 1821, in Pennsylvania. He was engaged as commander of a monitor in attacks on the fortifications in Charleston harbor during the civil war, and took a prominent part in the capture of Fort Wagner. He died Aug. 2, 1882.

BEAUREGARD, PIERRE GUSTAVE TOUTANT, general, author, was born May 28, 1818, in St. Bernard parish, La.

As a commander of the confederate army he was very popular. He is included among Louisiana's distinguished authors, in virtue of his Commentary on the Campaign and Battle of Manassas, and his Summary of the Art of War. He died Feb. 20, 1893, in New Orleans, La.

BEAUSAY, RICHARD FAUSTINUS, educator, lawyer, clergyman, was born Feb. 15, 1859, near Greenville, Ohio. He was a printer and newspaper correspondent in his youth, attended school at the Ohio Normal university of Ada, Ohio, and followed educational work for fifteen years. In 1895 he was admitted to the bar at Columbus, and practiced law for a brief period at Upper Sandusky, Ohio. In 1896 he became a clergyman of the methodist episcopal church, entering the Central Ohio conference at Bellefontaine, and was appointed to the pastorate of Dixon circuit.

BEAUVAIS, ARMAND, sixth governor of Louisiana, was a creole of that state. He became governor by constitutional right, being president of the state and ex-officio lieutenant-governor at the time of Governor Derbigny's death. He was justice of the peace in 1810; was elected to the state legislature in 1814, to which position he was afterward twice re-elected. During 1822-30 he was a continuous member of the state senate.

BEAVER, JAMES ADDAMS, soldier, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Oct. 21, 1837, in Millerstown, Pa. In 1856 he graduated from the Jefferson college. During the civil war he served with distinction and was mustered out on account of wounds received in battle Dec. 4, 1864, as brevet brigadier-general United States volunteers. During 1870-87 he was a member of the national guard of Pennsylvania, in which he served as brigadier-general and major-general. In 1880 he was chairman of the Pennsylvania delegation to the republican national convention. In 1882 and 1886 he was the candidate for governor of Pennsylvania, and filled that high office during 1887-91. In 1895 he was appointed judge of the superior court of Pennsylvania; and the same year was elected to that office to serve ten years from January, 1896.

BEBB, WILLIAM, governor, was born in 1802 in Butler county, Ohio. He was governor of Ohio from 1846 to 1848. He died Oct. 24, 1873, in Rockford, Ill.

BECHTEL, GEORGE, manufacturer, philanthropist, was born in 1840 in Germany. After graduating from the Columbia college, he became identified with his father's brewery, which was established in 1853 at Stapleton, Staten Island. In 1870 he became sole proprietor; and was one of the largest taxpayers on Staten Island. He filled numerous public offices of trust; was four times elected delegate from Richmond county to the state convention; and in 1888 was a presidential elector. Shortly before his death he erected Bechtel's hospital on Staten Island, which his widow subsequently donated to the Smith's infirmary. He was extremely charitable, and foremost in all benevolent works on Staten Island. He died July 16, 1889, leaving an estate worth two million dollars.

BECK, CHARLES, educator, legislator, was born Aug. 19, 1798, in Heidelberg, Germany. In 1832 he was elected to the chair of Latin language and literature at Cambridge, and, on his retirement from that professorship in 1850, he devoted himself to literary pursuits and classical studies. In 1863 he published The Manuscripts of the Satyricon of Petronius Arbiter, described and collated. He was for two years a representative of Cambridge in the state legislature. He died March 19, 1866, in Cambridge, Mass.

BECK, ERASMUS W., lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 21, 1833, in McDonough, Ga. He was educated at Mercer university, in that state; was admitted to the bar in Georgia in 1856; and practiced his profession there. He was elected to the forty-second congress to fill a vacancy.

BECK, GEORGE, poet, was born in 1749 in England. He wrote short poems, made poetic translations from Anacreon, Homer, Virgil, and Horace, and in 1812 published Observations on the Comet. In 1795 he served as a scout in Wayne's campaign against the Indians. He died Dec. 24, 1812, in Lexington, Ky.

BECK, JAMES B., lawyer, United States senator, was born Feb. 13, 1822, in Scotland. In 1867 he was elected a representative from Kentucky to the fortieth congress, and was re-elected to the three succeeding congresses. He was elected a United States senator from Kentucky for the term of six years, from 1877; and was re-elected for a second term of six years. He died May 3, 1890, in Washington, D. C.

BECK, JOHN BRODHEAD, physician, author, was born Sept. 18, 1794, in Schenectady, N. Y. He was the author of Medical Essays; and with his brother, T. Romeyn Beck, produced the great work on Medical Jurisprudence. He was also the author of Infant Therapeutics; and Historical Sketch of the State of Medicine in the Colonies. He died April 9, 1851, in Rhinebeck, N. Y.

BECK, LEONORA, educator, author, was born in Georgia. For five years she was the president of the Capitol Female college of Atlanta, Ga., and now fills the chair of Latin and Greek in the Gardner institute of New York city. She is the author of a work of prose and verse.

BECK, LEWIS C., chemist, author, was born Oct. 4, 1798, in Schenectady, N. Y. In 1830 he was appointed professor of chemistry and natural history in Rutger's college, and, at the time of his death, was professor of chemistry in the Albany Medical college. He published Account of the Salt Springs at Salina; On Adulterations; Botany of the United States, and of the United States North of Virginia; Mineralogy of New York; Illinois and Missouri Gazetteer; and Chemistry. He died April 20, 1853, in Albany, N. Y.

BECK, PAUL, philanthropist, was born in 1760 in Philadelphia, Pa. He acquired a large fortune in the wine trade, and for several years filled the office of port warden of Philadelphia. He was one of the founders of the Philadelphia academy of fine arts, a benefactor of the deaf and dumb institution of that city; president of the American Sunday School union; and a contributor to various other charitable and religious undertakings. He died Dec. 22, 1844, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BECK, SAMUEL, educator, clergyman, was born Nov. 3, 1832, near Richmond, Ind. He received his education in the public schools and academies of eastern Indiana; and received the degree of doctor of divinity from the DePauw university. For ten years he was engaged in educational work in the common and special schools. He has attained success as an eminent clergyman; has filled pastorates in the methodist episcopal church in Covington, Attica, Crawfordsville, Greencastle, Thorntown, Terre Haute, and Brazil; and for the past twelve years has been presiding elder of the Valparaiso district.

BECK, THEODRIC ROMEYN, author, was born April 11, 1791, in Schenectady, N. Y. He was a medical writer of Albany; and the author of Elements of Medical Jurisprudence, with J. B. Beck, his brother. He died Nov. 19, 1855, in Utica, N. Y.

BECKER, CYNTHIA ANN, poet. She is a successful writer of Lincoln, Neb.; and her poems constantly appear in the western press.

BECKER, GEORGE FERDINAND, geologist, author, was born Jan. 5, 1847, in New York city. He is a geologist in the United States service; and the author of Geology of the Comstock Lode; Atomic Weight Determinations; Geometrical Value of Volcanic Cones; A New Law of Thermo-Chemistry; Geology of the Quicksilver Deposits of the Pacific Slope; and several lesser works.

BECKER, HARRY WILLIAM, was born June 18, 1868, in Girardville, Pa. He was educated in the common schools of his native place and at Ashland, Williamsport, and in a business college of Philadelphia. He built the Palace theater in Girardville, of which he is owner and manager. He has been engaged with and interested in numerous theatrical enterprises; and is the owner and editor of the Footlight, a theatrical paper, and The Weekly Stem. He is an accomplished musician and leads a band numbering over one hundred men. He is a member of the board of trade of his city, and is interested in various business enterprises.

BECKER, PHILIP, merchant, public official, was born in April, 1830, in Germany. He attained success as a merchant in Buffalo, N. Y., and has retired from active business. He served three terms as mayor of the city of Buffalo; and since 1869 has been president of the Buffalo German Insurance company. He was a delegate to the republican national convention of 1876.

BECKER, THOMAS A., Roman Catholic bishop, was born in 1832 in Pittsburg, Pa. He was appointed professor of theology, ecclesiastical history, and sacred scriptures in St. Mary's college, Emmettsburg, and was one of the chief secretaries of the plenary council assembled at Baltimore. He was then stationed at the cathedral of Richmond, where he remained until created bishop of the new diocese of Wilmington, Del. He has contributed largely to reviews and periodicals, and his series of articles in the American Catholic Quarterly on the idea of a true university attracted wide attention.

BECKETT, SYLVESTER BREAKMORE, author, poet, was born in 1812 in Maine. He was a publisher of Portland, Maine; and the author of Hester, the Bride of the Islands, a Poem; and Guide Book of the Atlantic and St. Lawrence. He died in 1882.

BECKHAM, CARL H., lawyer, state legislator, was born July 3, 1860, in Henry county, Ohio. He studied law in Toledo, was admitted to the bar in 1886, and has been ever since engaged in the practice of his profession in that city. He was elected to the seventy-first Ohio general assembly as a republican, and re-elected to the seventy-second general assembly. In 1888 he was a candidate of the democratic party for congress. He has been a member of the board of city school examiners for about eighteen years.

BECKLEY, JOHN NEWTON, educator, lawyer, railroad president, was born Dec. 30, 1848, in Clarendon, N. Y. From 1870-71 he became principal of the public schools of Lanesboro, Minn.; and at Rushford from 1871-72. In 1882 he was elected city attorney of Rochester, N. Y.; and in 1889 was elected president of a railroad; and in 1892 became president of the street railroad association of the state of New York at Rochester.

BECKNER, WILLIAM MORGAN, lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born June 19, 1841, in Nicholas county, Ky. He was elected city judge without opposition March, 1865; county attorney without opposition in 1867; was nominated without opposition and elected county judge in 1870; was appointed prison commissioner in 1880, and wrote report of commission with reference to system for managing state prisons. He was appointed railroad commissioner in 1882 and served until February, 1884, when he resigned. He was nominated and elected member of the constitutional convention without opposition in 1890; and was elected to the legislature without opposition in 1893. He was elected to congress as a democrat in 1894, to fill a vacancy.

BECKWITH, AMOS, soldier, was born in 1830 in Vermont. He was graduated at West Point in 1850, and served in the Seminole war. He was brevetted brigadier-general in the United States army in 1865, and promoted lieutenant-colonel on the general staff in 1874.

BECKWITH, CHARLES D., manufacturer, congressman, was born Oct. 23, 1838, in Saratoga, N. Y. He was educated at private schools in Troy, N. Y.; Philadelphia, Pa.; Worcester, Mass.; and at New Haven, Conn. (military). He is engaged in iron manufacturing; served as alderman and mayor, each four years; and was elected to the fifty-first congress as a republican.

BECKWITH, EDWARD GRIFFIN, soldier, was born June 25, 1818, in Cazenovia, N. Y. He was graduated at West Point in 1842, served in the war with Mexico at Tampico and Vera Cruz. In 1865, he received the brevet rank of brigadier-general, United States army, for faithful and meritorious services during the war. He died June 22, 1881, in Clifton, N. Y.

BECKWITH, EMMA, reformer, was born Dec. 4, 1849, in Cincinnati, Ohio. She received her education in the public schools of Toledo, Ohio, and was the first woman going into business life in lower New York, at 66 Nassau street. She was nominated for mayor of Brooklyn, made a genuine canvass, and obtained a large vote. She is an earnest advocate of woman suffrage, and has entered the regular lecture field, in which she has attained eminent success. She has also been foremost in all charitable works and philanthropic movements.

BECKWITH, JAMES CARROLL, painter, was born Sept. 23, 1852, in Hannibal, Mo. He is a son of N. M. Beckwith, who was United States commissioner-general at the international exhibition of Paris in 1867. He studied art for two years in the national academy, New York, and for five years in the Paris school of arts. His works include Judith, portraits exhibited at the New York academy of design, and The Falconer, sent to the Paris exposition of 1878. He received a medal from the Universal exposition in Paris in 1889.

BECKWITH, JOHN WATRUS, bishop, was born Feb. 9, 1831, in Raleigh, N. C. At the close of the war he became rector of Trinity church, New Orleans, and while there was elected protestant episcopal bishop of Georgia. He died Nov. 24, 1890, in Atlanta, Ga.

BECKWITH, PHILO DANIEL, was born March 6, 1825, in Pike, N. Y. In 1871 he invented the Round Oak stove for heating purposes, which has since revolutionized the stove trade of the United States. He was elected mayor of Dowagiac, Mich., four times.

BECKWITH, MRS. SUE E., poet, was born in 1843, in DeKalb county, Ill. She is a writer of Audale, Kan.; and the author of the poem entitled A Legend of Arkansas.

BECKWITH, WALTER PARKER, educator, was born Aug. 27, 1851, in Lempster, N. H. In 1871 he graduated from the Kimball Union academy of Meriden, N. H.; and from Tufts college in 1876. For two years he was principal of the Chicopee Falls high school; and during 1878-96 was superintendent of schools at Adams, Mass. Since 1896 he has been connected with the State Normal school of Salem, Mass.

BECKWOURTH, JAMES P., pioneer, was born about 1800 in Virginia. He was a mulatto. About 1850 he discovered the pass through the Sierra Nevada mountains that bears his name. During his adventurous life he was at one time chief among the Crow Indians, and he figures in many books of western travel. He died in 1867.

BEDEL, JOHN, soldier, lawyer, legislator, was born July 8, 1822, in Indian Stream territory, N. H. His father was Gen. Moody Bedel. The son enlisted as a private in the Mexican war in 1847, and became a captain in 1849. He was admitted to the bar in 1850, and practiced in Bath. He was made a brigadier-general of United States volunteers, by brevet, dating in 1865, for gallant and meritorious services. He represented the town of Bath in the legislature, and was several times the unsuccessful democratic candidate for governor. He died Feb. 26, 1875, in Bath, N. H.

BEDEL, TIMOTHY, soldier, was born about 1740 in Salem, N. H. He served as a lieutenant in the French war. In 1775 he was appointed captain of rangers, and in 1776, colonel of the first New Hampshire regiment, joining the northern army under Schuyler. He died February, 1787, in Haverhill, N. H.

BEDELL, FREDERICK, physicist, electrician, was born April 12, 1868, in Brooklyn, N. Y. He graduated from Yale, and later received the degree of Ph. D. from Cornell, where he was appointed assistant professor of physics in 1893. He is the editor of the Physical Review, is well known by his scientific writings, and as the author of Alternating Currents; A Laboratory Manual of Physics; and The Principles of the Transformer.

BEDELL, GREGORY THURSTON, bishop, author, was born Aug. 17, 1817, in Hudson, N. Y. He was the third protestant episcopal bishop of Ohio, and a valued writer of the evangelical school. He is the author of The Divinity of Christ; The Profit of Godliness; Pastoral Theology; Principles of Pastorship; The Age of Indifference; Episcopacy; Fact and Law; and a few minor works. He died in 1892.

BEDELL, GREGORY TOWNSEND, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 28, 1793, on Staten Island, N. Y. He was an episcopal clergyman of Philadelphia, and once famous as a preacher. He is the author of Renunciation; Ezekiel's Vision; and Sermons were his chief works. He died Aug. 30, 1834, in Baltimore, Md.

BEDELL, LOUIS, lawyer, state legislator, was born Oct. 1, 1864, in Coxsackie, N. Y. He is a successful lawyer of New York city; and in 1896-97 served with distinction as a member of the New York state legislature.

BEDFORD, GUNNING, soldier, congressman, governor, was born about 1730 in Philadelphia, Pa. He was a lieutenant in the French war in 1755; major in 1775; lieutenant-colonel in Hasler's regiment in 1776; was wounded at White Plains; and subsequently appointed muster-master-general in 1776. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1783 to 1785; and governor of Delaware in 1796 and 1797. He died Sept. 30, 1797, in New Castle, Del.

BEDFORD, GUNNING, JR., lawyer, legislator, jurist, was born in 1747, in Philadelphia, Pa. He graduated at New Jersey college in 1771; practiced law at Dover, and at Wilmington, Del.; was a member of the legislature; attorney-general of the state; and a delegate to the continental congress in 1785 and 1786. He was a member of the convention which formed the federal constitution; was a presidential elector in 1789 and 1793; and was United States district judge from 1789. He died March 30, 1812, in Wilmington, Del.

BEDFORD, GUNNING S., physician, author, was born in 1806, in Baltimore, Md. He was the author of Lectures on Diseases of Women and Children; Midwifery; and has translated from the French several medical works. He died Sept. 5, 1870, in New York city.

BEDFORD, MRS. LOU S., poet. Her first work, A Vision and Other Poems, was published in 1881, and by permission was reproduced in London. This volume elicited many fine encomiums from such men as Oliver Wendell Holmes, Longfellow, and Paul Hayne. In 1888 appeared Gathered Leaves, a very fine collection of her later poems.

BEDINGER, GEORGE M., soldier, congressman, was born about 1750 in Virginia. He was one of the earliest emigrants to Kentucky. He served as adjutant in the expedition against Chillicothe in 1779; as major at the battle of Blue Licks in 1782; and did good service throughout the war as an Indian spy. He was major of the United States infantry in 1792-93; was a member of the Kentucky legislature in 1792; and a representative in congress from that state from 1803 to 1807. He died in 1830 in Lower Blue Licks, Ky.

BEDINGER, HENRY, lawyer, diplomatist, congressman, was born in 1810 near Shepherdstown, Va. He was a representative in congress from Virginia from 1845 to 1849, where he was distinguished for his eloquence as a debater. In 1853 he was appointed charge d'affaires to Denmark, afterward minister resident. During his residence in Denmark he was successful in bringing about the treaty abolishing the sound dues. He died Nov. 26, 1858, in Shepherdstown, Va.

BEDLE, JOSEPH DORSET, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Jan. 3, 1831, in Mattawan, N. J. In 1865 he was appointed a judge of the supreme court of New Jersey, and was reappointed in 1872. In 1874 he was elected governor of New Jersey, and served three years.

BEDLE, JOSEPH DORSETT, lawyer, jurist, governor, was born Jan. 5, 1821, in Middletown, N. J. In 1865 he was elected justice of the supreme court of New Jersey; and in 1875-78 was elected the twenty-sixth governor of New Jersey.

BEDLOW, HENRY, capitalist, was born Dec. 21, 1821, in New York city. In 1868 the island to which he gave his name, came to him by purchase, and there he made his home. He also served in 1848 as assistant physician of the American expedition to the Dead sea. While thoroughly a New Yorker, Mr. Bedlow long ago made Newport, R. I., his home, and held the office of mayor of that city in 1875, 1876 and 1877.

BEE, BERNARD E., soldier, was born about 1823 in Charleston, S. C. He served as captain on frontier duty in Minnesota, on the Utah expedition, and in Dakota until March 3, 1861, when he resigned and entered the confederate service. He held the rank of brigadier-general, and commanded a brigade of South Carolina troops at Bull Run. He died July 21, 1861.

BEE, HAMILTON P., soldier. He was a general in the confederate service during the civil war. He is a brother of Bernard C. Bee, who at Bull Run said: There is Jackson standing like a stone wall, thus giving to that officer a name that would live for all time, while he was to die that day himself.

BEE, THOMAS, jurist, congressman, author, was born in 1729 in South Carolina. He was a revolutionary patriot of South Carolina; member of the assembly; speaker of the house of representatives; member of the privy council; judge of the state courts; member of the council of safety; and lieutenant-governor. He was a delegate to the continental congress from 1780 to 1782, and finally district judge; and published Reports of the District Courts of South Carolina in 1810.

BEEBE, BEZALEEL, soldier, legislator, was born April 28, 1741, in Litchfield, Conn. As one of Rogers' celebrated rangers, he was engaged in the bloody fight where Putnam was captured, and he was also at the capture of Montreal in 1760. He was appointed to the command of all the Connecticut troops raised for seacoast defence, with the duties and pay of a brigadier-general. After the war he was frequently a member of the legislature. He died May 29, 1824, in Litchfield, Conn.

BEEBE, GEORGE M., journalist, lawyer, congressman, was born Oct. 28, 1836, in New Vernon, N. Y. In 1859 he went to Kansas; was elected to the territorial council, appointed secretary of the territory, and was acting governor. In 1872-73 he was president of the democratic state convention at Syracuse and Utica, N. Y.; was elected to the legislature of New York in 1873-74; and was elected a representative from New York to the forty-fourth and forty-fifth congresses.

BEEBE, JOHN W., educator, journalist, poet, was born Aug. 2, 1853, in Georgetown, Del. He is a successful educator and journalist of Kingman, Kan.; and the author of a number of meritorious poems.

BEEBE, MILTON EARL, architect, was born Nov. 27, 1840, in Cassadaga, N. Y. He is one of the leading architects in the city of Buffalo, and has built and designed many of the most important buildings of that city. In 1879 he was elected alderman, and in 1881 mayor of Buffalo.

BEEBE, WARREN LORING, physician, surgeon, was born March 16, 1848, in Belpre, Ohio. He is one of the foremost physicians and surgeons of Minnesota at St. Cloud; has been president of the Minnesota State Medical society; and surgeon to the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railroad companies.

BEECH, MRS. MARY TURNER, poet, was born in Homer, N. Y. She is a poet of Beechville, Ill.; and has contributed extensively to current literature.

BEECHER, CATHERINE ESTHER, educator, author, was born Sept. 6, 1800, in East Hampton, N. Y., and is a daughter of L. Beecher, a New England educator of much celebrity at one time, who wrote with the ardor of sincerest conviction. She was the author of Domestic Economy; Physiology and Calisthenics; Letters to the People; Religious Training of Children; and Domestic Service, True Remedy for the Wrongs of Woman. She died May 12, 1878, in Elmira, N. Y.

BEECHER, CHARLES, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 7, 1815, in Litchfield, Conn., and is a son of L. Beecher. He is a congregational clergyman; and the author of Patmos; Pen Pictures of the Bible; The Eden Tableau; and Redeemer and Redeemed. He edited his father's Life and Correspondence.

BEECHER, EDWARD, clergyman, author, was born Aug. 27, 1803, in East Hampton, N. Y., and was a son of L. Beecher. He was a congregational clergyman of Illinois, and later of Brooklyn, whose attainments must be considered as the most solid of those of any of the famous children of Lyman Beecher. In his Conflict of Ages (1853) was struck the earliest note of the liberal theology now dominant in the congregational churches. The more important of his other works include Papal Conspiracy Exposed; Baptism; and History of Opinions on the Scriptural Doctrine of Future Retribution. He died in 1895.

BEECHER, MRS. EUNICE WHITE, author, was born Aug. 26, 1812, in West Sutton, Mass., and was the wife of H. W. Beecher. She was the author of From Dawn to Daylight: a Simple Story; Motherly Talks with Young Housekeepers; All Around the House, or How to Make Homes Happy; Letters from Florida; and Mr. Beecher as I Knew Him. She died in 1897.

BEECHER, FARY BUCHANAN, educator, lawyer, was born June 2, 1856, in Steuben county, N. Y. He received his education in the common schools and at Rogersville Union seminary. For several years he was engaged in educational work, and became principal of the Atlanta Union Free school. For five years he was a justice of the peace; and is now a successful lawyer of Atlanta, N. Y. He is a prominent member of various orders. He has also contributed both prose and verse, as well as law articles, to current literature.

BEECHER, GEORGE, clergyman, was born May 6, 1809, in East Hampton, N. Y. He was a clergyman of Chillicothe, Ohio, and a devoted pastor, and an inspiring preacher. He died July 1, 1843.

BEECHER, HENRY WARD, clergyman, author, was born June 24, 1813, in Litchfield, Conn., and was a son of Lyman Beecher. He was a congregational clergyman widely famous as the pastor of Plymouth church of Brooklyn in 1847-87. He was an earnest, large-hearted man, though not a deep thinker, and his cheerful influence upon middle-class American thought was very extensive. His literary work can hardly be said to possess enduring excellence, and much of it is already forgotten, graphic and picturesque as it often is. He was the author of Eyes and Ears; Life Thoughts; Star Papers; Yale Lectures on Preaching; Lectures to Young Men; Speeches on the American Rebellion; Doctrinal Beliefs and Unbeliefs; and Life of Jesus the Christ. His only novel, Norwood, is a collection of successful character studies rather than a finished story. He died March 8, 1887.

BEECHER, JAMES CHAPLIN, soldier, clergyman, was born Jan. 8, 1828, in Boston, Mass. He was graduated at Dartmouth in 1848, studied theology at Andover, and on May 10, 1856, was ordained a congregational clergyman. He was mustered out of service in 1866 as brevet brigadier-general. He died Aug. 25, 1886, in Elmira, N. Y.

BEECHER, LYMAN, clergyman, author, was born Oct. 2, 1775, in New Haven, Conn. He was a congregational clergyman of wide fame. While in Boston he was a zealous opponent of unitarianism, and as president of Lane Theological seminary at Cincinnati was noted as an outspoken enemy of slavery. He was a bold thinker, much in advance of his contemporaries. He was the author of Sermons on Temperance; Views in Theology; Scepticism; and Political Atheism. He died Jan. 10, 1863, in Brooklyn, N. Y.

BEECHER, PHILEMON, lawyer, congressman, was born in New Haven, Conn. He was a representative in congress from Ohio from 1817 to 1821, and again from 1823 to 1829. He died Nov. 30, 1839, in Lancaster, Ohio.

BEECHER, THOMAS KINNICUT, clergyman, author, was born Feb. 10, 1824, in Litchfield, Conn., and is a son of Lyman Beecher. He is a congregational clergyman of Elmira, N. Y.; and the author of Our Seven Churches.

BEECHER, WILLIAM HENRY, clergyman, was born Jan. 15, 1802, in East Hampton, L. I. For many years he was a home missionary on the Western Reserve, and since has held charges in Putnam, Toledo, and Chillicothe, Ohio, and in Reading and North Brookfield, Mass.

BEECHER, WILLIS JUDSON, educator, author, was born in 1838 in Ohio. He is a professor of Hebrew in the Auburn Theological seminary; and the author of Farmer Tompkins and His Bible; Drill Lessons in Hebrew; and Testimony of the Historical Books.

BEEDE, JOHN E., lawyer, was born Feb. 2, 1834, in Sandwich, N. H. He received his education from the common schools and the Friends school of Providence, R. I. He was a millwright before he entered the practice of law. He has been justice of the peace in Arizona and Idaho, master of the grange, and delegate chairman and president of numerous movements and conventions in Idaho.

BEEKMAN, HENRY RUTGERS, lawyer, jurist, was born Dec. 8, 1845, in New York city. Previous to his election as judge of the superior court, he was a member of the law firm of Ogden and Beekman. In 1886 he was elected president of the board of aldermen, for which office he was nominated by the united democracy. In 1888 he was appointed counsel to the corporation of the city of New York.

BEEKMAN, JAMES WILLIAM, state senator, was born Nov. 22, 1815, in New York city, N. Y. He was chosen state senator of New York in 1850, and served two terms. In 1861 he, with Erastus Corning and Thurlow Weed, was appointed by a meeting of conservative men in New York to go to Washington and urge President Buchanan to relieve Fort Sumter. He died June 15, 1877, in New York city, N. Y.

BEEKMAN, THOMAS, congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1829 to 1831.

BEEMAN, JOSEPH H., business man, legislator, congressman, was born Nov. 17, 1835, in Gates county, N. C. He received an academic education; and was elected to the legislature from Scott county, Miss., in 1883, 1885, 1887, and 1889. He has been connected with the Farmers' Alliance since its organization in the state, having served during this time as chairman of the state executive committee. He was elected to the fifty-second congress as a democrat.

BEERS, CYRUS, congressman. In 1838 he was elected a representative from New York to the twenty-fifth congress to fill a vacancy.

BEERS, MRS. ETHELINDA, author, poet, was born Jan. 13, 1827, in Goshen, N. J. She was the author of General Frankie, a juvenile tale; and All Quiet Along the Potomac, and other poems. She died Oct. 10, 1879, in Orange, N. J.

BEERS, HENRY AUGUSTIN, educator, author, was born July 2, 1847, in Buffalo, N. Y. He is a professor of English literature at Yale university; and the author of The Ways of Yale; A Suburban Pastoral and Other Stories; From Chaucer to Tennyson; Life of N. P. Willis; Outline Sketch of English Literature; Initial Studies in American Letters. Verse: Odds and Ends; and The Thankless Muse.

BEERS, ROBERT WELSTED, clergyman, author, was born Dec. 3, 1860, in Easton, Pa. He graduated from Lafayette college in 1880, and entered Princeton seminary in 1882. He is a successful clergyman and the author of Mormon Puzzle.

BEERS, WAYLAND L., clergyman, was born Dec. 15, 1867, in Montana, N. J. He graduated from the Peddie institute in 1890; from the Brown university in 1895; and subsequently from the Union seminary and Columbia university. He has attained success as a unitarian clergyman, and now fills a pastorate in Union Springs, N. Y.

BEESON, HENRY W., congressman, was born in Pennsylvania. He was a representative in congress from his native state from 1841 to 1843.

BEESON, JASPER LUTHER, educator, chemist, was born Aug. 31, 1867, in Keener, Ala. He graduated from the university of Alabama, with the degree of M. A.; was assistant professor of physics in his alma mater, and later chemist to the Alabama Geological Survey. In 1893 he graduated from the Johns Hopkins university in chemistry with the degree of Ph. D., whereupon he was elected professor of agricultural chemistry in the Audubon Sugar school of New Orleans. He is the inventor of standard chemical apparatus for agricultural analysis, which are in use both in America and Europe. He is a prominent member of various scientific bodies and has published several pieces of original investigation work upon sugar and the sugar cane.

BEESON, JOHN WESLEY, educator, college president, was born March 31, 1866, in Keener, Ala. This eminent educator received his education at the university of Alabama. He became president of the Arcadia college of Louisiana, and subsequently was made president of the Marengo Female college of Demopolis, Ala.

BEGOLE, JOSIAH W., educator, business man, congressman, governor, was born Jan. 20, 1815, in Groveland, N. Y. He received a public school education; removed to Genesee county, Mich., in 1836; taught school during the winters; became a farmer in 1839, and followed that occupation until 1856. He was elected county treasurer from 1856 to 1864; and commenced the lumbering business in 1863. He was elected to the state senate in 1871; was an alderman for the city of Flint for three years; a delegate to the national republican convention at Philadelphia in 1872; and was elected a representative from Michigan to the forty-third congress. In 1882 he was elected governor of Michigan for the term of two years from January, 1883.

BELCHER, HIRAM, lawyer, legislator, congressman, was born in Augusta, Maine. For four or five years he was a member of the Maine legislature; and was a representative in congress from that state from 1847 to 1848. He died May 7, 1857.

BELCHER, JONATHAN, merchant, governor, was born Jan. 8, 1681. He was graduated at Harvard in 1699; and spent six years in Europe. Having returned to Boston and become a merchant there, in 1729 he was sent to England as the agent of the colony, and on Gov. Burnet's death in 1730 he was appointed governor of Massachusetts and New Hampshire, which office he held for eleven years. He died Aug. 31, 1757, in Elizabethtown, N. J.

BELCHER, JOSEPH, clergyman, author, was born April 15, 1794, in Birmingham, England. He was a baptist clergyman of Philadelphia, who came thither from England in 1844. His complete works number over two hundred volumes. Among them are The Baptist Pulpit of the United States; The Clergy of America; History of Religious Denominations in the United States; and Hymns and Their Authors. He died July 10, 1859, in Philadelphia, Pa.

BELCHER, NATHAN, manufacturer, lawyer, state senator, congressman, was born June 23, 1813, in Griswold, Conn. He was a member of the house of representatives of Connecticut in 1846 and 1847, and of the state senate in 1850. He was a presidential elector in 1852; and was a representative in congress from 1853 to 1855.

BELCHER, SAMUEL CLIFFORD, soldier, lawyer, was born March 20, 1839, in Farmington, Maine. He graduated from Bowdoin college in 1857. He was captain and major in the sixteenth regiment of Maine infantry in the civil war; and in 1879 was inspector-general of the Maine militia, with the rank of brigadier-general. He has practiced law for nearly thirty years, and his reputation as an astute lawyer is widespread.

BELDEN, ALBERT CLINTON, surgeon, was born Sept. 14, 1845, in Castile, N. Y. He settled in the practice of his profession in Akron, Ohio; and had one of the largest practices in the city. He was made surgeon of the eighth regiment Ohio national guard. He died Dec. 20, 1890.

BELDEN, ELLSWORTH BURNETT, lawyer, jurist, was born in 1866 in Racine county, Wis. He graduated from the law department of the Wisconsin State university; and in 1889 became county judge, and was thrice re-elected without opposition. He is a director in the Racine Building and Loan association; a trustee of Racine college, and is prominently identified with the business and public affairs of his native county.

BELDEN, GEORGE O., congressman. He was a representative in congress from New York from 1827 to 1829.

BELDEN, JAMES JEROME, business man, banker, congressman, was born Sept. 30, 1825, in Fabius, N. Y. He is a charter member of the order of the Founders and Patriots of America, and has been elected councilor-general by the societies of New York, New Jersey, and Connecticut. He has been extensively engaged in business pursuits for forty years, having been largely interested in and director of several national banks; is president and principal owner of the Robert Gere bank of Syracuse, which he founded, and has been trustee of the Syracuse university since it was founded. He was elected mayor of Syracuse in 1877, and re-elected in 1878 without opposition; was a delegate to the republican national convention at Chicago in 1880; and was elected as a republican to the fiftieth, fifty-first, fifty-second, fifty-third and fifty-fifth congresses.

BELDEN, JOSIAH, merchant, statesman, was born May 4, 1815, in Cromwell, Conn. When Captain Jones, of the frigate United States, took possession of California for the government, Mr. Belden was appointed alcalde of Santa Cruz, and with his own hands raised the American flag in California for the first time. He was the first mayor of San Jose in 1850. He died April 23, 1892.

BELDING, MILO MERRICK, manufacturer, was born April 3, 1833, in Ashfield, Mass. In 1866, with his brothers, he started a silk factory in Rockville, Conn. In 1874 they built a second silk mill in Northampton, Mass.; and later one in Belding, Mich.

BELFORD, JAMES B., lawyer, jurist, congressman, was born Sept. 28, 1837, in Lewiston, Pa. He was educated at Dickinson college; studied and practiced law; and was appointed a judge of the supreme court of Colorado in 1870, and served five years. He was elected a representative from Colorado to the forty-fourth, forty-fifth, forty-sixth, forty-seventh, and forty-eighth congresses.

BELFORD, JOSEPH McCRUM, lawyer, congressman, was born Aug. 5, 1852, in Mifflingtown, Pa. He received a classical education, graduating from Dickinson college, Carlisle, Pa., in 1871; and engaged in academic work for some years. He removed to Long Island in 1884; was admitted to the bar in 1889, and was elected to the fifty-fifth congress as a republican.

BELKNAP, CHARLES EUGENE, was born Oct. 17, 1846, in Massena, N. Y. He removed with his parents to Grand Rapids, Mich., in 1855; was educated in the common schools of Grand Rapids, left school Aug. 14, 1862, and enlisted in twenty-first regiment, Michigan infantry; was promoted to different positions, and received a captain's commission Jan. 22, 1864, at the age of seventeen years and three months; and served until June, 1865, with the army of the Cumberland. He served eleven years in the fire department of Grand Rapids as captain of a company, assistant chief, and chief; seven years on board of education; served two years as alderman; served one year as mayor; has been a member of the board of control of state school institution for the deaf for the past four years; and is engaged in the manufacture of wagons and sleighs. He was elected to the fifty-first and fifty-second congresses. In 1892 he was appointed chairman of the Chickamauga, Chattanooga and Missionary Ridge Military Park commission for the state of Michigan. He has contributed war stories and Chippewa Indian myths to current literature.

BELKNAP, GEORGE EUGENE, naval officer, author, was born Jan. 22, 1832, in Newport, N. H. Since 1847 he has been in the United States naval service, and in 1875 was commissioned post-captain; was made commodore in 1885; and is now rear-admiral. He is the author of valuable papers on Deep Sea Soundings; is a member of the American Geographical society; and has received a silver medal as a recognition of merit from the Geographical society of France. His portrait hangs in the new Library building of the New Hampshire state capitol.

